~27th June 1994—first ever communication from Salumet~

(General greetings)

Please to stay a little way back. I am Salumet. I have waited a long, long time to come to you.

Les: We're very pleased to welcome you.

I don't have complete control yet, but I am happy to use this one now. (Eileen)

Les: Thank you very much, we're all grateful to you.

Forgive me if I seem distant, but it feels a little uncomfortable at the moment.

Les: I'm sure it would do, I quite understand.

I am clearing some vibrations from me, do you understand this?

Les: Yes I do thank you, and we take it that you will now be giving the information that has been promised?

That is why I have come. You can expect more now we have sorted out what we need to.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. We look forward to hearing—we have been promised much wisdom.

It has taken some time to, how would you say, 'weed out unsuitable peoples.'

Les: Yes, so we were told last time.

But now we are happy to use what is available to us. It is a necessary part of the work and now we are able to use you all.

Les: Thank you—we do thank you most sincerely for your coming. We have been waiting a long time, as you know.

Many changes have been taking place, as we have told you. All aspects of communications, you will find to be different in the future. Bridges have been built between us, to make things more simple than of the past. We are happy to know instruments are prepared to be used more all over your world—all over your world

Les: Yes, it is necessary, it is badly needed.

It is happening. We are reaching the point, where your world will, WILL be a better place.

Do not doubt those words. It may seem that cannot be so. I am here to say it will be, WILL BE!

Les: Yes we understand, note your words and believe in them.

We have much to teach you. Your world is still in its infancy when it comes to communications.

Les: Yes, we think we're clever, but we know we're not.

That is indeed words of wisdom. We shall endeavour to teach, to guide, to inform and to show you great Love.

Les: Thank you, you should know everything will be recorded, to pass on to others.

We know this will happen and I can tell you now, areas of communication are finding new pathways to connect us. We will use any means available.

Les: Good, that's splendid to hear. And we will certainly do all we can and continue to work in this way.

I can see that some people will call it, let me find the proper text, 'high-psi,' ('psi' stands for paranormal psychic phenomena) is that correct?

Les: Yes, that is correct.

But not so! There is much your Earth has to learn.

Les: Thank you. Well we have one gentleman here in particular, who will be interested to hear that.

I will leave you for this time, but we will be returning now on a regular basis.

Les: Good, well that really is wonderful news. May I ask you once again to give us your name please?

Salufet—fat (power fading) I will give again, my command of language not always so good, but I have been learning for a long time now. But all will be confirmed for you.

Les: I can't tell you how happy we are. Thank you and God bless you.

~4th July 1994~

Les: Good evening to you, thank you for joining us.

I feel your welcome once again, thank you.

Les: Am I too close to you for comfort?

I ask please for some room. I hope it is all right by you to ask.

Les: Yes of course.

I wish to say I am happy to be here again.

Les: That's very nice of you, we do appreciate it.

My mission here is to extend our Love and to bring new knowledge. This I reiterate once again. We have told you in the past, that there would be happenings when your flower the rose was in bloom.

Les: Yes that's quite true you have and each year I have recalled it.

Now I tell you that this is the time that we have chosen for a good many reasons.

Les: Thank you. It certainly is gratifying to know that this is the year that it's going to happen.

We must take things slowly to begin with. Mainly for the sake of the channel (Eileen) we are using, but with use, will come greater competence—yes.

Les: That's very good news.

I want to say to you all, you are all treading the 'Pathway of Light.'

You suffer from some doubts, some of you, but we will encourage you all to take each step slowly, slowly.

Les: Yes, we do realise these things can't be rushed.

Each one of you is at their own individual pathway of development, each one has to be used to their own capability and that which we can help with, will be given. I am happy to answer any questions you would like to put to me.

Les: Thank you, would someone like to ask a question?—Brent?

Brent: Um—not at the moment.

This one of many questions, does not have one?

Les: (Chuckles) He does ask many questions, doesn't he?

No matter, we have much time ahead.

Les: Well, I'm going to ask a question relating to something we were discussing earlier. Often one can be told what is going to happen in the future. Am I right in presuming that if that is possible, then the event has already happened, otherwise it could not be known.

Your presumption is partly correct.

Les: Partly—

Yes, all things are known, all things have been. But do not forget, you are on a cycle of time. Therefore, without being too complicated in my explanation, I will say only this: (Pause, before voice becomes stronger)

What is to come, is past, what is past is the future; we are on a never-ending cycle of events.

Can you follow? (Yes) It is difficult for you earthlings to understand this—Time—Time is a complicated matter. But I will say, there are those of you who can see what is ahead, not because it is the future, but because it is there, it is past, it is the present, it is the future. It is one whole, a never-ending cycle of events.

Les: Yes, this is the conclusion I had come to myself and I mentioned it earlier this evening, when we were talking, because I could see no other explanation, even though we cannot ever understand it.

It is possible for you to understand, only once you have been conjoined into that—how shall I say, 'Time capsule.' It is always the problem of explaining to you, in understandable terms, what we know.

Les: Quite, and sometimes it is just not possible to give an explanation which we can understand and accept.

Of course. I will always endeavour to do my best, but I cannot guarantee you will understand the explanation.

Les: We do appreciate this, we know the difficulties—we can imagine the difficulties—

It is one of the difficulties of trying to explain, when it comes to 'time.' Past, present, future; all is known. All is not a certainty when it comes to future events, I must say. I will elaborate another time on that matter.

Les: Thank you, so there are limitations? (On predicting the future)

Yes, you are correct.

Les: What led me into this train of thinking long, long ago, was that in the Christian Bible, and the Islamic Koran, it is frequently said, 'It is written, ' or 'So-and-so is written.' And you wonder if it is in fact written as such and you have just explained it.

Yes indeed, indeed—many things are 'written,' if you want to use those words. It is rather more complicated than that, but that simple explanation will do for now.

Les: It was what we here refer to as 'destiny' or 'fate.'

You call it what you will—(Amused) I will leave the explanation as it is. But perhaps in time to come, we can delve more deeply into that.

Les: Well, we look forward to that. And I repeat that everything is being recorded, your words are never wasted.

Thank you. For that is the purpose of our work, that it should be spread; that the wisdom that we give should be used for the good that it is meant to be used for.

Les: Certainly it is for the good of all, we know.

Brent: May I ask a question now?

Les: Certainly—

Brent: Just following on from what you have just said, does it mean that our positive or negative thoughts have an influence on the future. Because you've said to us that our thoughts have more power than we realise.

Thought, THOUGHT is the most powerful thing that you have. There is always positive and negative. You must have the difference. Of course, the power of your thought has a great deal to do with the 'influence' which goes forward. Yes, the answer is yes.

Sara: Can I ask a question? Are there seven energy centres in the body, which respond to different colours, the seven different colours?

Yes, I have heard this—there are many more centres in your physical body, but for ease of purpose, you have chosen to pick seven energy points. I can tell you, there are many, many, many more. But if it suits the purpose of your healing, then let it be, yes.

Sara: Thank you.

Your whole spirit being is one energy. Do you understand? So, to say, 'Are there seven energies?' That is not quite correct, but at the same time, it is, because I know what you are speaking of. But, you must see yourself, as a whole, one whirl one mass of energy. Does that seem clear to you?

Les: Would it be realistic to suggest that those 7 centres of energy are as of the 7 'facets' of the one diamond?

Again, my friend, there are more facets to a diamond—but yes, I agree with you. Again, we are delving into complicated issues, but I don't want to be too—too deep at this particular time. Let us take each step as it comes. But yes, yes, the question is a good one and yes, it is partly correct.

Les: Thank you, I would like to say we are finding this most interesting.

Are there any more?

Les: Any more question? Debbie, you said you had a lot.

Debbie: But I can't think of them now. (Chuckles)

Don't be concerned.

Sandra: Can I ask one? As you're sitting here with us, do you know what the life ahead is for us?

I'm sorry if I smile.

Les: That's all right, I was smiling too—

Yes—of course you all have a 'Life plan.' You do not come to this Earth, without a life plan. Yes, your future is mapped out, as we have spoken before. But, I am not here to tell you your future! (Smiles) You my dear, must live your own life. You must make your own mistakes and learn from them. But yes, your future is known.

Brent: May I ask another question? Is it sensible for us to ask whether children who are born today, are likely to be more spiritually 'aware' than people have been in our past?

Not necessarily—the world as a whole, is more spiritually aware, today than it has been in the past. But children being born today are not. They take up their positions to learn. Therefore what they have gained spiritually, is 'blocked,' when they are born. Does that make sense to you?

Brent: Do you mean when they are conceived, when they begin life?

We have to go further back, before birth. No, the answer is they are not more spiritually aware when they are born today, than in the past.

Brent: Thank you.

Spirit, today, has not altered from the past. It is each era that is more spiritually aware—

Les: Yes, I was going to suggest that perhaps a further answer to that, is that there are many more opportunities in the world nowadays, for newly-born people and children, to have an awareness of the spiritual necessity.

That comes once they are born. It makes no difference before they are born. That is the point I am trying to make. Does that answer your question sufficiently?

Brent: Yes it does, thank you.

The opportunity to become more spiritually aware, is greater in this day and age. I know the question you are trying to put—yes.

Les: Thank you, I'm going to suggest that our friends here should prepare some questions for each meeting now, if that's agreeable to you?

Of course.

Les: Thank you, then at least we shall not be wasting your time by not having questions to ask.

My time is never wasted.

Les: You're quite right, it isn't.

Brent: Is it useful for us to think of life as a sort of 'battle,' or 'tension' between good and evil. And are we to work for the forces of good? Is it sensible for us to think that way?

A battle between good and evil? Always you should look towards the 'Light'. Call it 'good' if you will. Sensible to think of it as a battle? No, that is not sensible. You should strive always for good; good in your everyday lives, good for the future, good for all the peoples of your Earth. No, do not think of life as a battle. You were sent here to learn, but not to consider it a battle.

Sandra: It's not easy though is it?

Les: No—I was told that long ago when I was—in a depressed mood at one time. I said this life here is like a prison and I was very soundly taken to task for that remark. And I was told quite pointedly that it is not a prison, it is a college of learning.

Indeed, think of yourselves as pupils, to learn, not as prisoners in a cage.

Les: No, I have done that ever since. It was quite right, I was thinking along the wrong lines.

Yes, if you think of life as a battle, let me reiterate what I said previously: Thought is the most powerful thing that you possess.

Sara: Can I ask a question? Can I assume that it's possible to create a heaven on Earth, with the power of positive thought and service?

You are quite correct. 'Heaven' can be on Earth. That is what we are all striving for. You are quite right young lady.

Les: But it's going to take a tremendous amount of positive thought on behalf of everybody. It must emanate from everyone.

George: Yes, can I ask a question? I think love is the most important factor on Earth. Sometimes we feel that, as a whole, we're just not generating enough of it. Would you care to comment on that?

I will:

Love is the most important thing, not only on your Earth, but in everything. You speak of 'God,' who or what is God, if it is not the universal power of Love? Love is indeed the most powerful thing that anyone can possess. It is that element of spirit that shines forth from each and every one of you to varying degrees. Love, Love is what you are about.

Les: Thank you, and would I be right then, in assuming that one's ability to emanate the power of thought and love, would affect the 'aura' which is seen around us as physical beings?

You would be correct. What you are, 'shines' out in your auras, as it does from every living thing.

Les: I'm glad you confirmed that, because I have told other people, that their own thoughts are projecting love, even if they are not aware of it. Provided they are aware of the importance of love, then automatically, they will be emanating those forces to others—

Yes. Yes, the aura that surrounds each and every one of you, tells you what you are. Those of you who can see the auras, and there are many of you on this earthly plane who can, can see exactly who and what you are. It can be used in healing, it can be used for guidance, it can be used as a force for good. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, thank you. Any more questions please?

Sara: What do you think of the aura-photographing machines? Do you know them?

I am aware of them—whatever brings knowledge to you, whatever inspiration we bring you, whatever use can be made of it, is important. In that respect it is a good thing. Sara: Thank you.

Les: Any more?

Brent: I would really like to ask who you are? And I realise that's not an easy thing to answer, but I often hear communicators say, 'We.' I often think to myself, well who are you, in relation to us, and who are you in yourself?

My friend that is just the type of question I would expect from you. (Smiles)

Les: It's been bothering him for a long time. (Laughter)

I will try to explain to you. I—'I' come to you as a single entity, because it is easier that way, to communicate. We are using one body, but 'I' as you put it, I and not 'I' as you would know it. I am a combination of many beings. Are you following me?

Brent: I'm trying yes.

I come to you, because that is the way of communication that you on Earth understand. I am a 'conglomerate' of beings.

Les: Might I extend that question, by asking, and I think that is in the enquirer's mind too—by asking, did you at one time live on this Earth, as a physical being?

(Pause) You have to understand, my friend, things are not all they seem. Part of me, yes, has lived on your Earth at one time. We are getting into deep subjects again, but I will endeavour to answer. We spoke earlier of a diamond. I am one facet of a diamond, who has chosen to break from the rest to come to you, at this time, to teach and to instruct you. Therefore I am not the 'I' alone; I belong to the 'We'. That is the simplest way I can find to explain to you. I am more than 'I.'

Les: I do understand what you are trying to tell us, and I do appreciate the explanation. If I might follow that one step further please, if there is the power—is there?

We are running down, but please continue.

Les: We'll make this the last one then. You've heard us no doubt, talk here, and your colleagues have heard us talk about 'highly evolved beings.' Are we right in assuming that you, in our minds, in our vocabulary, could be classified as such? Knowing that 'I' is not 'I'—we accept that, but you as the entity that visits us, we look upon as a very highly evolved spirit.

I understand the question and yes, I suppose you would consider me to be that. But of course, I cannot say that is true, (Smiles) because—yes, your knowledge is a little more extended than the others, I know. But yes, for all intent and purposes, yes, you would consider me to be that.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. And we're grateful and I know you won't want to hear the word, but I'm going to say it, we are honoured that you should have visited us like this. We look forward to many more visits.

I look for no honour, no thanks, no gratitude.

Les: Well, let me say it is our love then for you.

I hope that you will all benefit from what I will try to bring you all.

Les: I'm sure we shall.

We have much to bring you—(Voice fading as if with sadness)

Les: Thank you very much. God bless you and our love goes with you.

~July 11th 1994~

It seemed that a couple of rescues were about to happen, but as they did not develop, attention turned to Eileen:

(General welcome)

Would you like me to wait, while you finish what you have started?

Les: No I think the gentleman hasn't anybody wishing to come through him and I think it is important that we should hear from you, thank you. And our friend who last week had no questions, has two for you tonight, if he might put them to you?

Yes, but first I would like you all to join me in a prayer please.

Les: Certainly, yes by all means.

For the purposes of your understanding, we shall use the word you are familiar with—(Referring to the word 'God,' probably)

Les: I understand thank you.

Oh great and gracious God,

We gather here before you,

In peace, in love and understanding.

You have granted me this day

To be your emissary,

To teach, to comfort,

And to instil some knowledge to

Our friends here on this earthly plane.

Oh Great God, we offer ourselves to you,

This day, to be used as you will.

Amen

Before we begin the questions, I want to say to you all about the power of prayer. It is only through your meditations and prayer that you begin to open up spiritually. I know some people dispute this, but it is an eternal truth. And so, I say to you all, please use the power of your prayers. I will teach you all the proper way of prayer another time.

Les: Thank you.

Now, let us have your questions.

Brent: I know that you will understand this question properly, in the spirit in which it is intended. But we recognise that we have spiritual problems on this Earth and we also have problems that are purely material. And I'm not asking for any answers now, but I would just like to know whether you are able to give us answers about the material world. Like, for example, new methods of medical practice, or new methods of food production for the poor and starving, or things of that nature?

You have a specific question on these matters?

Brent: No, I'm asking whether you would, now or later, be able to give us answers to questions of that nature.

I will try. Don't you have one now?

Brent: No I haven't. I am more trying to understand whether it's right for us to ask that sort of question, or whether that knowledge would come privately to experts on Earth, or whether the information would come publicly in the form of pronouncements?

I think I touched on this subject last week, when I said to you that you are influenced by us in spirit. Your doctors, your scientists, your philosophers, they all are inspired, whether they know it or not. I do believe I said this last time. But, if you have specific questions, I will try to answer them for you.

Les: Would it not be that if our scientists, our food producers, our philosophers, any who wish to help in a material way, those who live on this Earth, would they not be receiving help, by using prayer, as you've suggested?

That's not necessarily so. They can be inspired, without the need of prayer, if, if they are working for the right purposes.

Les: Yes, your inspiration would only be given if you could see the result of their labours.

Yes, we would only give it to those who would use it for the best purposes of mankind. It matters not if they pray. If the intention is good, then that is a spiritual thing to do and therefore we would use what inspiration we can give them.

Les: I have always said on many occasions, that the fact of doing a good deed, is in itself a prayer.

Yes, I would agree with you.

Les: You have another question Brent?

Brent: Yes, I have a question concerning healing. Here in this room and elsewhere, spiritual healing takes place, by means of contact between a healer and a patient. But other types of healing with which we are familiar, sometimes referred to as 'psychic surgery,' involve the cutting of the body and repair, with no blood and no pain. Can you tell us first of all, does this happen? And if so, give us any idea how it happens?

I will try. Always (there is) the problem of spiritual happenings to be explained in a material way. Yes, psychic surgery—that is occurring there is work on the spirit body. When that is whole, then the effect passes to the physical; then and only then. Mind-spirit-body must be one. When you talk of psychic surgery, we are talking on a completely different level from your understanding of physical happenings. When a problem manifests itself on the physical body, the problem lies within. That is the part that has to be dealt with. Sometimes the problem is with the 'etheric body.' That is the part that is put right. Does that answer your question?

Brent: Yes it does. But I think we all wonder how that can affect the physical in such a dramatic way—

First, let me say you are not a physical being—you are spirit; mind-body-spirit are one.* If one level is not right, then everything is not right. The mind affects the body, the spirit is affected and very often it is the etheric body, which needs treatment. There are those of you on this Earth plane, with the ability to be used by us in this way. To us it is nothing extraordinary, but to explain to you is difficult in your terms. It is the etheric body, which is worked on, which produces the result in the physical. I cannot explain to you more at this time, about the methods used, for the simple reason you would not understand. It is a spiritual happening and, therefore, a spiritual thing, to explain is very, very difficult. But I will come back to you on that one at a later time, if that suits you.

Brent: Yes, thank you.

I will try to explain. Do you want an explanation of what is happening physically? Is that what you're trying to ask?

Brent: Yes, I can't understand how bleeding can be stopped and blood can disappear and scars can heal, because our doctors can't do that.

Your doctors are working only on the physical body. I'm sorry I cannot be more explicit than that.

Les: I have a rather complex question. Whether you can answer it, I don't know. But the population of this planet, is increasing rapidly. And knowing that each physical inhabitant is imbued with the essential spirit, where are the spirits, if I can use that term that will eventually occupy the increased physical population? Are they created by thought, when it is necessary for a new physical body to be imbued by a spirit?

No, no.

Les: You understand my question I hope.

I understand. Let me say, spirit has always been and always will be. The increase in your population goes with the evolution of your planet. You have to think of the Spirit world. Again, we get into deep water in trying to understand spiritual matters on an earthly basis. Spirit always has been, there is not just one unit. You have, as I have tried to explain, we are all like facets of a diamond. Each unit can be incarnate, or reincarnate, one unit at a time. If (in) the increase in population, we need more spirit beings, then it is taken from, how do I say, a 'pool' of beings?

Les: I thought it must be like that.

What you must understand my friend, we are not single units.

Les: So part of the whole is utilised for the benefit of the new physical body.

Yes, that is true. It may be more than one unit, from that whole that is being used at one time. That is exactly what is happening. That is why you have 'twin Souls' in one incarnation at a time. That is how that happens. Do you understand?

Les: Yes we do. And that would also account for what we call 'prodigies.' Because the ability is already existing in that spirit and it passed the ability into the physical body, when it occupies it.

You are quite correct. We are delving into deep matters again, but I will try to answer simply.

Les: You have explained it fully, so far as I'm concerned. And one further question: Does the spirit inhabit the physical body at the time of physical conception?

There is much dispute in this matter, I know. I can only speak the truth as I know it. What I say to you, only accept that which you do not find insulting to your own intellects—this is acceptable—but I say 'yes', at the time of conception, the spirit enters that being.

Les: Thank you. So an embryo is already a spiritual being.

The spirit is from that first spark of unity.

Les: Yes, thank you. It does have quite a bearing on the abortion controversy, which rages here at the moment.

It also goes on in our world.

Les: Does it really?

There are many discussions—I will not say 'arguments,' but discussions.

Les: May I continue on this?

You may.

Les: In the event of an embryo being aborted, it returns to the spirit world, let's call it that, or the pool of spirits, as you put it. Does it continue to live as a spirit being again, without any ill effects?

It would depend on the situation. If that spirit being entered to be aborted, it has fulfilled what it has come for. If it is aborted—let me find the correct terms for you—if that spirit is aborted too soon, it would return to that pool of beings to find another body to re-inhabit.

Les: But it is not affected by the experience?

Yes, I have to say, yes. If the abortion takes place too quickly, then it is like being thrust back when you are not prepared. It is like, how shall I say, like a shock that you can feel. That is the reaction on the spirit being.

Les: Thank you. That clears up a point in my mind. I thought there must be a reaction, since the spirit is a very sensitive 'condition.' I can only say, 'condition,' to use that word for it.

Words, my friend, are always the problem.

Les: Yes, we must experience these things.

When I considered coming to you, I vowed to use only simple language.

Les: Yes, thank you. Yes, I'm sorry we are such simple people, but one day we shall understand better.

(Chuckles)

We will all understand more. As the awareness grows, so too does the understanding.

Les: I'll ask any of my colleagues if they have a question.

Certainly.

Debbie: What would be considered too soon, or too early or on time?

Always remember that you are imbued with free will. When a spirit chooses to reincarnate into a body, it is—'forward looking,' if you like. But, although your life plan is mapped within certain boundaries, the free will of the person can change, to abort that foetus. There are 'accidents,' let me state that here and now. We have been asked the question, 'If everything is planned and known, how come things happen?' But remember free will. So, you can have a foetus, whose life plan was longer. Therefore when an abortion occurs, it is a shock to that spirit being. Do you understand?

Debbie: Yes, so free will can—

Can interfere—yes.

Les: You did say on your last visit, that the future is not planned in intimate detail. There are 'accidents' you said.

It is planned within guidelines. But of course, you are all given free will. And that is why I don't really like the term, 'accident,' but it will be appropriate for now.

Les: Thank you. You used the word there, I noticed, you said, 'when the spirit CHOOSES to enter the body.'

That would imply to me, that reincarnation is not obligatory. I have been told by other communicators that reincarnation occurs, when permitted, if that reincarnation is going to be of benefit to humanity at the time of the reincarnation. Would you agree with that?

Yes, let us talk a little on this. It is another subject well-spoken on. The Soul is the one who chooses to reincarnate, but only if there is a lesson to be learned, a wrong to be redeemed, something like that. No one makes the Soul reincarnate.

Les: So it's not obligatory?

It is not obligatory.

Les: Thank you very much.

But it does happen. Remember, your earthly life is a school of knowledge. If you leave this Earth plane with very little knowledge of spiritual things, you may feel that you need to return, say—(for) a particular lesson for your spiritual growth. It may take a long, long time in our spiritual realms, before that Soul becomes aware of the necessity to return.

Les: I see.

But always it is the Soul's choice.

Les: Thank you. So that confirms another thing, which I have said many times here when dealing with 'rescues,' as we call them, that the condition of life in the next plane—which is the only way I can put it—can be of indeterminate time. Progress depends entirely on the individual's wish to progress from that next plane of life. There is no compulsion for them to move on.

Again, let me reiterate what I said last week: Thought is the most powerful energy you can possess.

Les: I was very interested to hear that.

You have to consider that when you leave this plane of existence, to join the spirit world, your thought patterns remain the same; you do not alter your viewpoints. Therefore you can be against all manner of things. If you were sceptical here, you will be sceptical when you come to us. Therefore the thought patterns of the Soul must be of its own making. Until that recognition comes then it will continue to learn, to be encouraged. It is not obliged to do anything it does not want to do. So, when the Soul is ready, we do have, how would you say—counselling? The Soul is 'counselled' as to the way of its best progression. But ultimately, it is the Soul's own choice.

Les: Thank you. That leads me to another question, which I think I can put on behalf of my colleagues here, who have asked it of me, on various occasions. When we deal with 'rescues,' often people come back, who have been departed from this world, for many of our years, a hundred years perhaps. And the question has often been asked, whether they've been suffering all that time, from the traumas with them, when they come back for rescue. My reply has always been 'No,' they are in a condition of 'limbo.' They are not aware of the suffering which caused them to pass on, until their mind shows a desire to move on. Then they are brought back here. Is that correct?

Yes. They are buffeted from the pain of their earthly existence. It is difficult to explain. They are 'cocooned,' if you like, in a 'vibration' of love. And all the time, we are trying to reach them, to encourage them, to love them. But like all things, they are still individuals in their way of thinking. Therefore, it can be many aeons of your time, before the realisation comes to them. It depends too, on the knowledge they have obtained in their earthly lives; that which they bring with them. We can work on the knowledge that they bring, but we are not allowed to intrude, even in our spirit world. There are laws to abide by and we do abide by them. But, to answer your question, no, they do not suffer for lots of time. They are cocooned.

Les: Thank you very much for that. I'm sure that gives a lot of comfort to my companions here, who I know have been worried about it. That has cleared a lot of doubts and I appreciate the answer. Sorry I'm taking up all of your question time. Anybody else like to ask a question?

George: Yes. Could I have a question which is quite different? It's a great privilege to be able to put questions to you like this. Some of us have a fascination for the great stone circles of our country, like Stonehenge and Avebury, (Yes) which were built perhaps 6000 years ago, in our time. They may have energy connections, they may have communication connections, we don't really know. Is there anything that you can tell us about the stone circles?

Yes, I understand. Yes, first let me say, there have in past times, been groups of people, with extended knowledge far beyond your own comprehension. We can devote more time on another occasion to that. But first, picture these people with that extended knowledge, of energy patterns, of all kinds of vibrational energies, on your Earth plane. You are quite correct to say it has to do with energy. It also was a form of worship. Each and every group of people, have worshipped in their own individual way. The stone circles were erected for this very reason, many, many thousands of years ago. I hope I can bring one of those people one day to speak to you. May I?

Les: That would be wonderful.

They were a people, really not of this world, but of an extended knowledge, which helped them to create what you term, these wonderful stones and masterpieces. But, let me say, I will try to bring someone, who can give you so much detail.

Les: We would greatly appreciate that, because I've many times been amused at the theories put forward as to how the stones were erected. When to me it is a simple matter of understanding forces that we are unable to understand.

Yes, that is the problem. The energy forces that exist on this Earth, are not comprehended by the normal human being.

Les: And that would apply also to what we call UFO's. But that must be a subject for another time, I know.

Debbie: That's what I was going to ask.

Well I did try to answer simply. But yes, you have many questions (Seemingly amused) I can answer. Yes.

Les: We have indeed. I hope you don't lose patience with us, with all these questions?

No, I will not. I am happy to be amongst you, to answer as simply as I can, in an understandable way to you all. What was the question?

Les: Did somebody ask a question then? Debbie?

Debbie: No, I was interested in UFO's really, as to what explanation there was. I mean are they from another planet, or is there life on other planets, or what really—

Yes, there are other life forces beyond this galaxy. There are beings of extremely high knowledge and wisdom. They are not as you would know, a human being, but they possess the qualities of love and great spiritual awareness. They come, yes you are correct. There is much spoken about UFO's as you call them. But yes, within the whole universe, there are people who exist, who to you, would seem to be Masters of travel and knowledge.

Les: Yes indeed. And that would apply to 'corn circles.' They are formed by entities invisible to us.

George: Yes, the crop circles may connect with UFO's; they form in the crops that are grown at this time of year, forming very beautiful circular patterns. There may be a message in those patterns for us. Perhaps that's another question—

I can categorically tell you now, there is the connection. I am not prepared to tell you what the message is—that is for mankind to become aware of in his own time. But yes, there is a connection.

Les: There must be, because they are geometrical patterns too.

Again, we get into the earthly vibrations; the coming together of both. But I will not tell you what the message is meant to be. If mankind does not have sufficient awareness, then who am I to interfere?

George: It is nice to know there is a message, thank you.

Les: And thank you very much again for your kindness in coming and for your answers, which really are invaluable. And on behalf of everyone, I do thank you most sincerely.

I have one more thing to say before I go. There gentleman who has a high intellect, I speak of our friend there—

Les: Oh yes, the one who asked the questions about healing.

We are happy to answer all questions. But, be careful that your intellectual mind, does not become like a cancerous growth, where it stunts the ability to grow spiritually. Do you understand that?

Brent: Yes I do understand that very well.'

Yes you can—there is nothing wrong with a high intellect. It is good to see, it is good to see people question. We don't want anyone to accept anything that insults them. But, be careful that you don't stunt your own spiritual growth, because of your intellectual mind. There will always be some questions that even we cannot answer for you, simply because of the difficulty of expression. Please keep this in mind. Allow yourself to become a vessel for good. Keep your inquiring mind, but temper it also with those inner feelings.

Les: Thank you. Back to the little 'inner man,' Brent—thank you. God bless you.

There followed a brief message for Lilian via Eileen, about fearing the future:

—Don't be afraid, fear is negative. You are surrounded by great love. Many, many come close. Do not be afraid—(Thanks expressed)

Let us begin. I know your time is short.

Les: Yes unfortunately. Right, let's begin with a rather complex question, if I may, partly to correct my own thinking, which I understand may be wrong. I have always considered the Soul to be a 'spark' of the ultimate divinity. And I have thought that the Soul uses the spirit, which is intangible also, as a vehicle, whilst it is on or close to the Earth. The spirit, in turn, inhabits the etheric body, which of course, covers itself with a physical body, to live in the physical surroundings. Now, is that escalation correct, or am I wrong in my thinking?

I believe we touched on this subject last time.

Les: Yes, I was thinking of what you said and you mentioned the Soul—(Yes) and that is why I thought I would ask this question, because words are often used loosely and sometimes incorrectly and I thought it would be of help to everybody to have clarification on this.

Let me try to do that for you. (Thank you.)

The Soul is indeed the spark of divinity that you speak of. It is, as I said last time, one unit of a whole. It manifests in many ways, from that spark of divinity, down through the realms of consciousness. We get to deep matters once again, but I think I shall come to expect that of you. The soul—the soul is the one who makes the decisions in which way to incarnate. The soul, the spirit, the etheric bodies, the physical—you are correct, there is more than one etheric body; call it spirit, call it soul, but ultimately, it is all one—the soul. Do you understand? (Yes—) So whether you have a particle of one, or the whole unit, incarnating makes no difference.

Les: I follow. So if I might progress on that question then, you are no doubt aware that in our rescues, I have to tell many, that when they go into the next plane of life, they are endowed with a fresh body, a fresh mind—Would that be the 'etheric body,' as we call it now?

Yes, you pass through different stages, let me say. The etheric body is closest to your physical—yes, you are correct. You pass from the physical into an etheric body.

Les: Which, to all intents and purposes, to those occupying it or using it, is just as 'physical' as the physical body, which they left on Earth?

Yes, that is true.

Les: Thank you.

You see, you have to do it slowly. It would be too much and it would not be allowed, to take such a great leap from one energy to such a higher one.

Les: I quite understand. So the etheric is merely one step more?

The etheric body is the second stage, if you so like to call it.

Les: Yes, this is the first stage. And there is another point. It may sound stupid, but I have often thought that this physical World is a 'shadow,' of the next world—the etheric World. The etheric world really being the positive world, of which this physical habitation is only a shadow.

Yes. As the etheric body is the next stage from the physical body, so too is your planet Earth. All things are living. Therefore, there is also a 'shadow' if you like, of each and every thing that exists. You are correct.

Les: Thank you. And I have often read of the so-called 'primitive' peoples worshipping rocks and trees, soil, flowers and so on, believing them to be inhabited by a spirit peculiar to that particular plant, or tree or rock. I can well understand their thinking on this matter and I would agree with it. That leads me to another question: Are there higher powers, whose job it is, to look after plants, trees, rocks, rivers, water and so on? Does each have what could be called, a 'Guardian Angel'?

You find this a difficult subject?

Les: No, I can understand it. But I just wanted to confirm, whether there are those whose purpose is in the scheme of things, to be responsible for various aspects of nature.

Yes—as all of you here will probably know, you are guided by a higher being. So, too, do all the elements of your earthly plane. Each one is dedicated to that task, whether it be water, trees, whatever; the list is endless. But, yes, there are those of us higher beings, who dedicate themselves to these matters. We must talk about energy when we go to these subjects. (Pause) If you all are a spark of divinity, so too is each element on the Earth; the seas, the plants, the mountains, whatever. Each has its own spark of energy, of God love, shall we say. Yes, they are looked after by higher beings.

Les: They definitely are?

They are indeed.

Les: Yes, I've held that opinion for a long time. I'm glad to have it confirmed, because it did occur to me, that that was what the so-called 'primitives', were aware of, without being able to explain it.

They were much more aware of Nature Spirits that is true. Unfortunately, as your evolution has taken place, a lot of this has disappeared.

Les: It is unfortunate that it has disappeared.

We know of the ridicule that this causes, but it is a fact.

Les: Good, I have always found it quite easy to believe, that they did worship the spirits, because the spirits in fact existed.

Exactly—why should it be so strange?

Les: Not to me, but many people think it is strange.

Yes, we are aware of this, and we are trying to put matters right.

Les: Good. Now that brings me to another rather complex subject and it's one I could quite understand, if you didn't want to answer. But I have long held the opinion that the story of Jesus as the son of God, was fabricated, if I can use that word, to reach the limited intelligence of people, of that day and age. That he was no more or less a son of God, than any of us is a son of God. He was a man imbued with marvellous ideas and a desire to be of service.

Let me say this:

When Jesus walked your Earth, he was only one more incarnation, of many who taught before. He indeed was not 'the' son of God, he was 'a' son of God.

Let me say, I have difficulty with the word 'God.' Creative Force, Universal Consciousness—much better words. But Jesus did walk the Earth. He was a Master who came to teach the Earth people at that time. His gifts were great and these he tried to display. But he was not 'the' son of God; never did he use those words. I'm afraid the words came from the people who wrote the words.

Les: Well, I'm glad to have confirmation of that, because I've long thought it, that the stories were fabricated to get into the limited intelligence of the people of those days and for the facts to be presented in a way that they could understand. (Yes) Because they could never understand it, as we can understand it in these days.

Yes—much has been done that is wrong in the teaching of those days. He was denied what he came to do, to a certain extent. But, no, he was a humble Master and still is.

Les: Yes, I've often told people that, that the way the church parodied what he came to do, was diabolical, because he expressed and taught humility in all forms, yet the church never has.

Yes, much of what he taught has been denied. Throughout the ages, we have had many Masters tread this Earth plane, to teach exactly the same lessons if you like, that Jesus the Christ came to teach.

Les: I've always known that he wasn't a one and only, there were many like him. And equally, many were denied what they tried to teach, because of mankind's greed and ignorance.

Let me also go back a little way to our conversation. He too, (Jesus the Christ) is a spark of divinity; not a whole. Let me leave it at that.

Les: Yes, thank you. One point, if I may. The resurrection was not a physical resurrection. I believe it was a materialisation of the etheric body, to become visible to mankind.

Yes, why is there so much doubt here?

Les: I don't know—it's pitiful.

It was a natural happening. He did that. He told his followers that he would do it. It still happens today and still it is denied.

Les: Yes, that's why we keep pressing on with this work. That's why we hope to get the information and in due course, we shall begin trying to publicise it. (See website: www.salumetandfriends.org)

We find it difficult that after all these many years, we are still trying to teach the same things.

Les: Yes, it is appalling, isn't it, that it's not accepted? Now, I have another question, which I have been asked to put to you. It is said that the Chinese word for life is 'Chi,' and that by exercising knowledge of that Chi and by acknowledging and indulging in exercises, they can heal their bodies themselves and give themselves longer life upon this Earth. Would you say that's a possibility?

Of course! Of course! We go back to energy once again. They are a race of knowledge, when it comes to these matters.

Les: They are indeed. We have many (Chinese) who visit us.

What is your healing, if it is not an energy that is being used? So why is it so difficult to understand? Call it by any name you wish, it makes no difference. Yes, to use the energy for self-healing, is of course, quite possible and to us, is nothing, nothing unusual.

Les: And the exercises they indulge in, which are gentle in their movements, are only a method of meditation and relaxation.

It is no different if you sit still and meditate, or if you do a yoga exercise, or if you sleep and let your mind be free. Let me say, it matters not what you call it, it all comes down to the same thing—using the energies that are available to you.

Les: And being aware that they are there to be used. (Yes) That is the important thing I think.

And you see, by these movements that they use, they are attuning themselves to the higher realms. It is something as simple as that.

Les: And now may I continue questioning please? (You may.) I'll open the floor to somebody else in a moment—I am told that often during our sleep state, I emphasise often, not always—we are permitted to come into the next plane, into the etheric world, and help with the work there, and benefit from the experience. Is this so?

That is so. You see, another matter which is quite normal, but people find difficult to accept.

Les: Yes, This is why I wanted it confirmed or denied, for the benefit of my colleagues. Thank you for confirming it.

Your sleep state raises your consciousness, which makes it easier for you to leave your physical body. So, yes, there is no difficulty with that.

Les: And we do in fact work in the etheric World, during our sleep state?

You can do, I would not say that you all do—of course not.

Les: We can do if we wish?

Yes, it would depend on the individual of course and the desire to wish to do that.

Les: But we are not for some reason, permitted to retain a memory of our visit—

Yes, you are permitted—it depends on the individual again—yes. It is not that it is not permitted, it is permitted. But for some it is easier to recall.

Les: I see. But others have the ability, but can't use it?

The ability is there in all. As I say, it is a very individual thing. You can have two musicians, both knowing the same tune, but one has a better memory. It is simple, it is as simple as that.

Les: So it's something, presumably, which we could educate or train ourselves into accepting and developing?

It is something you can develop if you wish.

Les: Thank you. Right, now I think I'll let somebody else have the opportunity. George? Brent?

George: Can I ask a question about nuclear weapons? (Yes) There are those on Earth, who make nuclear bombs, nuclear weapons. I feel this has to be bad news for planet Earth, and bad news for the people. The situation is not so clear as regards the development of nuclear power for industry and production. My feeling is that this can pose such huge problems for future generations, it might be better left alone. Would you care to comment on this please?

I will—Nuclear energy has been misused by you people on Earth. It would not, I think, be wise to leave it be. It has been given to you, the knowledge of it, for a very good reason, for the betterment of mankind, but it has been misused. We are trying from our realms now, in a concerted effort, to influence world leaders in these matters. On that I can say no more, other than we are trying to put the thoughts, right thoughts to the right people, that these things will and can be changed.

George: I think you are inferring that knowledge of things nuclear could possibly be of benefit to—

Not could be, SHOULD be.

George: Thank you, that's very helpful.

Jackie: When people die and they go to the spirit world, we have often heard that they're happy in the spirit world. How can they be, when they've left loved ones behind?

Yes, of course we have touched on this before too. When you leave the physical body, you do not suddenly change. You take with you, all those thoughts and feelings that you have gathered in your earthly life. Of course, there is sadness in the spirit realms, but this has to be dealt with. That is why you as a group, are doing 'rescue' work, or did do rescue work. The feelings of the departed one, are still very close to the Earth, to the people they have left behind. That is why it is important for those of you left behind, to be happy for that loved one, and not to grieve, so as you all seem to do so much of. Can I elaborate more for you?

Jackie: Yes please.

There are those souls who come to us tormented. We draw close to them in a 'tube' of love and light—but still having their free will (?)—and sometimes they are tormented and unhappy for some time. That is their choosing. We can only try to influence and guide them. But you are correct—No, everything is not brightness and light to begin with.

Les: Another question?

George: I have one, which may sound a little strange. It is about the nature of prediction. A long time ago, in our time in the year 1503, a man known as Nostradamus, or Michel de Notre Dame, a Frenchman, was born. And he is regarded as one of the best seers or prophets of his day. He wrote many things and he appears to have written a number of good predictions, for the present time and for our future. He talks in particular of 3 periods of Anti-Christ uprisings, against the teachings of Christ. The first Anti-Christ was named as Attila, a long time ago. The second Anti-Christ, he regarded as the period of World War II, which began in 1939. He also talks of a third Anti-Christ, which has not yet happened. Perhaps—there are indications he was predicting a third World War, with nuclear forces? With our free will and positive thought, perhaps this can be averted, perhaps it already has. Would you care to comment at all on that?

I will. Let me place the question back to you. What is Anti-Christ?

George: I would think Christ stands for love and creation and Anti-Christ would be the opposite, hate and destruction.

Let me comment please: Nostradamus, as you call him, was indeed a man of vision, a great scholar of his time. But a man reared with religion. That is where the term 'Anti-Christ' comes from. Do we know what 'Christ' means?

George: I take Christ as Jesus Christ and Jesus Christ being—

Let me put you right, my friend, before we go further. It was not exclusive to Jesus, the word 'Christ.' He should have been known as Jesus 'the' Christ.' Let me explain a little further. What do you think it meant? Teacher—that is the true meaning of the word 'Christ'. Therefore let us go back to Nostradamus. He was influenced by the religions of his time. He was a great visionary and of course, with his extended views and knowledge, he could predict events to come. You speak of nuclear disaster. Your world has been heading towards that, for some considerable time. Let me say to you all: There has come the time when many of us, and I speak as, let me say, a Master—Does that make sense to you please?

Les: Yes.

(Loud/emphatic)

Many Masters have come to tread this Earth plane, at this particular time. There will not be a nuclear holocaust. That is our mission at this time in your evolution! That will not occur.

But let me tell you, the Earth is changing. And now we get to deep matters again. We spoke earlier of the Earth having an etheric, an etheric body. That is the one that will be filled with love and change and that is why we have descended at this time, to bring forth the knowledge to help that transition. Does that answer your question?

George: Yes and that is wonderful to know. Thank you very much for that.

Les: Yes, to comment on that George, we were told, Ruth and I years ago, that they were preventing it, that it would be prevented—nuclear war.

Man, man has knowledge, but the Creative Force has all knowledge.

Les: Do you see nuclear power being used as it was many, many years ago, and has been lost to us? We call it 'Nuclear Power,' but the direction of energy, the absorption and direction of energy, for peaceful usage.

That is why the energy was made known to man, to be used for the good of mankind. We also at this time, as I have said, are trying to influence those people in power, and I think you see it happening with nuclear disarmament. It is a stepping stone in the right directions. We are working on this.

Les: Good, and am I right in saying that such power, was used many, many generations ago, and the secrets lost?

You would be correct in saying that. Nuclear energy has been known to past civilisations. It is still being used, not on this planet, but elsewhere.

Les: And that enables many to visit us, without our knowledge.

Yes. We will discuss that one time, I think.

Les: Any more questions?

Dawn: Can I ask a question about pyramids please? In the pyramids, there have been drawings of people in 'space helmets', as if the people had been flying. Did they fly at that time and why were the pyramids set up please?

Much is spoken of pyramids and pyramid power. Pyramids were sources of direction. Let me explain.

(Pause/deep breath) There was (sic) indeed those who could travel at that time. Pyramids pointed to other galaxies, other stars, if you like. I will try to keep it simple. Each point of the pyramid, pointed to a direction of the universe, to the open skies. That is why you had a civilisation, who could indeed 'fly,' as you put it. This is a little known thing about the pyramids. They were not places of worship, they were used for a directional function.

Les: So the fact that they were used as tombs, was secondary?

They were not there as tombs. That is not what the function of them was. That was not the intention and I can say to you now, there was a much more complex reason for them.

Dawn: Can I follow that up with just one more question, which is probably rather silly? But I've often wondered if people came from outer space and then bred with the people here, to produce a certain kind of intelligence, but could never attain that higher intelligence?

That never did happen. That is not what happened. No, that is a definite 'no.'

Les: Anybody else?

Debbie: Can I just ask what are dreams exactly, because sometimes we remember them, and sometimes we don't.

What are dreams? You can dream—your dreams are your subconscious mind possibly going through events of the day. Or it can be, as we have spoken, that you have travelled in your sleep and you are actually recalling what you have done. It can be two things—do you understand that? Or do I need—

Sandra: Yes. We can actually make ourselves dream bad things, by worrying about them. Can our subconscious make ourselves dream them?

Again, we go back to what I have said. Thought is the most powerful thing. You create your own demons, you create your own happiness, you create—Let me say when you go to the spirit realms, that is what you will have, THOUGHT. And eventually, the use of words are not necessary. Always remember thought. Be careful in your way of thinking, because you can create that thought.

Les: I believe thought can be strong enough, if we indulge in negative thinking and worry about something happening, it's possible for thought to be so strong, as to induce that happening, which we are hoping would not happen.

Of course you create. Thought is a creative thing.

Les: So thought can create a passage, for the very events, which we are trying to avoid, if we constantly worry about them?

Yes, the thought in your mind can become a reality.

I cannot be more specific than that.

Les: A reality externally. Yes—you follow Debbie? (Yes)

I know these things are difficult for you to understand, but they happen. They happen. You must always be careful in your thinking, in your thinking habits, in what you think of other people. Because not only do you create that thought, but it also rebounds back to you. Do you understand that?

Les: Yes, I have tried to teach that to people in the years gone by, that their own thoughts create troubles for the thinker, if the thought is not correct, not a good one.

It is cause and effect again, to use the term that is widely used here. It is that and that only.

Les: Thank you. Anyone else? Brent?

Brent: Well, quite a few of my questions have been answered, but why don't I ask whether you can tell us, or in some way explain, the purpose of the universe? Because many of us wonder why are these incarnations necessary and what we see as 'turmoil,' necessary for the progression of the soul. We can't understand it.

No, and neither will you, while you are in your physical body.

First, let me say your Earth, is a very small particle, in a Universal Consciousness.

I don't think if I tried, you would understand what I would be trying to say. The Earth, as far I can explain to you, is a small area, where teaching takes place. (Pause)

The Earth is one small part of one small galaxy. We have many 'earths' in many galaxies, all doing and teaching differing things.

I don't think I can go into these things now. We need to go a little more slowly, at this particular time. I say only to you, accept that you do not understand—One day the knowledge will grow and expand, and so too, will the knowledge of your Earth—it also is in a learning phase, as far as the universe goes. Can you begin to see that just a little?

Brent: Yes, I understand that and find it easy to visualise. I don't expect an answer much further than that. I appreciate it.

Good. We are going into very big subjects, but we will come to them in more detail, I'm sure.

Les: Yes, we look forward to it—any more questions? (None) As we say here my friend, the floor is yours, if you wish to talk to us about anything in particular. I'm sure there is a great deal you could relate to us, if you wish.

Yes. There are no more questions?

Les: Not at this time. There will be many more, of course. But if you have teaching for us, we shall be happy to accept it.

We will not continue too much longer this time. The channel, the voice-box, is beginning to become a little dry and we don't wish any distress. So, let me say this time that I will close with a prayer to the Great Creator of all, if you all will join me. (Yes—) I would like that you could all cultivate this habit of prayer, or talking if you prefer, to that inner voice, that you call God.

Les: Yes. Thank you.

*'Beloved Father, Creator of all,
We thank you, we thank you so
For this group of people gathered here this night.
We are grateful that they have been influenced to be here.
Father, cloak us all in your protective light,
As we go our separate ways this night.
Let us all feel in our physical beings your love and your light.
Let us offer ourselves to you as open channels
That we might be used as you will.
Father, keep us safe and well until
The time comes that we meet again.
May many blessings be placed upon you.'*

Les: And upon you—God bless you all.

~July 25th 1994~

Salumet's channel, Eileen was ill with a virus and could not be present. But another through Sue gave a discourse about the importance of the Salumet communications:

I will you good evening.

Les: Thank you. It's nice to welcome you here.

We are aware that one of your sitters cannot be here.

Les: Yes it is unfortunately she's unwell. I hope she'll soon recover.

We are with her. She will be taken good care of.

Les: Yes, I quite thought you would be, but thank you.

We hope that there will not be too great disappointment with your friends here.

Les: Oh no. They will quite understand. Obviously there is disappointment, but it's unavoidable occasionally. We just have to accept it.

It would not be suitable for such power to try another channel.

Les: It wouldn't be suitable, no. Perhaps you could try them in another way this evening?

We will gather power from each one, for purposes which would not be able without. You understand me? (Yes—) I have trouble with words.

Les: That's quite all right. We'll have to leave it to you. And hope you can use one or two of the other people here, even in a lesser way. We know you won't waste the opportunity anyway.

No time ever, ever wasted, no.

Les: No—I've become aware of that over the years.

The great power you have experienced lately, never, never stops working in different forms. Do you understand me? (Yes—) This power which lately has been used for as speech, is also used for the greater good of your world, yes? (Thank you.) You understand me?

Les: I certainly do and it is certainly needed these days.

Can you understand that this power who you have had talks with, is of such importance, that this meeting of people, have such privilege? You understand?

Les: Yes. Oh we are privileged. We would say so to the gentleman, but we know he prefers the words not to be used.

That is why I speak to you tonight. We know each and every one here is working together, and if this continues, then each person will be cloaked in more love and protection, than they would ever realise.

Les: Thank you for that. We do appreciate and I've always considered it a privilege to work with you. And I'm sure the others do nowadays too.

But in saying that, without such as yourselves, this work, this information could not be broadcast. Is that the correct word?

Les: Yes, quite. That is our intention, to broadcast all the information we shall receive, in the future. It's so necessary that it should be done, and I have such good helpers now, assisting in the broadcasting, that we're hopeful it will reach many other people.

So although (I) used the word 'privilege' in association with the Master, we are also privileged to have you working with us. Therefore may I say to all here, many thanks—many, many thanks to all. (Thank you.) When the new work continues, when our friend is recovered, then more information will come.

Les: Thank you, we look forward to it. Yes, we are hoping we shall get a great deal of information and wisdom given to us for broadcasting to others.

Some will not be available until the time is right and conditions on your world are right, but we will supply as much knowledge as we can.

Les: Thank you, that's kind of you. And we shall always endeavour to see that it is used in the right way.

We hope to expect (?) knowledge by using another sitter in this way.

Les: Well that would be marvellous if you do.

If this one (Sue), is agreeable, but the method would be slightly different, yes?

Les: Yes, I'm sure I can answer for anybody you choose to use, that they would be perfectly willing to work in any way you wish them to. We have worked together so long now.

This we are aware of; each one's commitment.

Les: Yes, I've been very, very lucky over the years, in having such dedicated helpers and colleagues.

Power not strong now—(Voice fading)

Les: Thank you very much for what you've said and bless you.

We will continue with quiet (?) work now.

Les: Yes, I'll see if you wish to use anybody else. Thank you.

~1st August 1994~

I thank you for your welcome.

Les: We're delighted to have you back with us once more—we look forward to having your answers again to our questions, some of which have been prepared for you. But do you wish to open with prayer first?

We can begin and we will finish with a blessing.

Les: Thank you. The questions I would like to ask tonight, if I may, all have relevance, because of the constant controversy in our physical world. Some, I appreciate you may not be able to answer fully. Others you may prefer not to answer. This I do understand, but I just have to accept what you give us with gratitude. The first question is, and it is frequently discussed in this world, that Jesus was not in fact crucified. That he somehow escaped to the near east of Middle East and lived out his life there, though there are various other theories. And it is thought that the crucifixion death was fabricated, as many others were, because it was the most heinous form of punishment given at that time. If you can give us information, I would appreciate it.

You have asked more than one question.

Les: Yes I have unfortunately.

Yes, I understand. Let me try to elaborate for you. We are aware of the many stories that have circulated your Earth—Jesus the Christ was in fact crucified, as was the punishment at that time. It was not an unusual form of death, it happened to many. But we understand the stories of escaping to other lands. We understand the stories which have circulated. Let me say, Jesus the Christ travelled to many lands not mentioned in your Bible.

Les: Is that so?

The full story of his life has not been fully written. He indeed travelled east. In fact he travelled as far as India, came back and travelled through many lands to give his teachings. (Yes) But he was in fact crucified, at the time you are speaking of.

Les: So in that sense, the Bible is correct.

In that sense, you are correct.

Les: Another question which is often mooted here—and it's usually followed by the statement 'there cannot be a God, otherwise he wouldn't allow these things to happen.' And I refer to natural calamities, such as earthquakes, disastrous floods, tornadoes and other violent aspects of nature. You did say at our last meeting, that there are 'guardians' for all natural things on this Earth.

Yes I did.

Les: And thinking over your answers, this is what prompts my question tonight. Is it possible for the 'guardians' to make mistakes, which creates these havocs, or is it a method of reducing the population, for various reasons?

Firstly, let me say, why does 'God' and I use the term loosely—why does God take the blame for all these natural disasters?

Les: I can't understand that, so I'm hoping to get some clarification, which will disabuse peoples' minds of this.

Let me explain simply. You are placed on this Earth as a learning place. As I mentioned previously, the Earth too, is in a very, very minor part of the 'Cosmic teaching house,' if you like. Therefore as you humans can make mistakes, so too occurs disasters within the vibrational forces of the Earth. You are not correct to say the guardians of these natural things, make 'mistakes.'

Les: Well I couldn't understand them doing so, but I had to ask.

That cannot happen. The natural laws cannot be broken by you, by us, or by anyone else. (Yes) Let me put it this way to you. Your Earth is naturally evolving. As you too make mistakes so can the formation of the Earth crust. It all comes down to the vibrational forces of the Earth. That is why you have your earthquakes, you have your floods. They are natural disasters, nothing more. No blame to anyone, or to God.

Les: Just a natural part of the development of the physical Earth—

It is the natural part of your earthly evolution.

Les: Yes—so it is incidental then that humanity should be allowed to develop upon an imperfect Earth?

That is the scheme—that is the plan. You cannot be upon a perfect Earth.

Les: I see—

Does that make sense?

Les: Yes—um—

The imperfections of humanity and the Earth as a whole, is the scheme. That is the scheme that is God's plan, if you wish to say that. It cannot be changed, it cannot be altered.

Les: So in that case then, when people say 'God is to blame for these things,' they are correct. They are not correct in saying, 'there cannot be a God, otherwise it would not happen.' Am I right?—If one is going to attribute blame anywhere—the plan is God's—I'm not being sacrilegious, I'm just trying to discover the answer to these things.

You cannot be sacrilegious. Let me answer this for you. I will try to simplify it. (Thank you.) You can only apportion blame, when the blame lies in a particular area. (Yes) You are looking upon a God—you are trying to personalise God—there is no such God. All laws are natural—they cannot be broken, they cannot be changed, they are and always will be. That is not to say they are perfect. By using the word 'perfect,' I don't mean it in your earthly term—am I being clear? (Yes—) What is 'perfect?' Your definition of 'perfect,' means, am I correct, that nothing can go wrong?

Les: Yes, that would be a correct definition. And of course, I have often said that perfection lies only in a person's thought.

That is true—again we get to explanations, which are difficult to put to you, because of your understanding. All these natural things happen. There is no 'blame.' You cannot apportion blame to God, to anyone else.

Les: Yes, because there's no existence to attribute them to—

Yes, you have said the words correctly. That is exactly so. You cannot apportion blame. There will always be natural disasters. You cannot have otherwise. (No) The Earth is not a perfect place, as you would wish to see it.

Les: But it is a melting pot. I have thought in the past and tried to explain, it is a melting pot for the development of the spiritual self, of the people inhabiting the Earth, at the time of those disasters. Like any disaster, and wars too, often, to use our expression, 'bring out the best in people.'

Let us talk of disasters. The soul 'comes into its own,' in troubled times. Thank not God, when all things are well, but when you have troubles, when you have woe, because spiritually, that is when the soul grows. We know you find it difficult to accept all these disasters; the earthquakes, the floods, the loss of life in wars—I can only say it is the Plan, it is the scheme of things. I cannot explain to you in earthly terms that would make you understand.

Les: No, I accept that.

But, it has to happen. It is something that will make all those people, ALL those people who are involved in these so-called 'disasters,' come into their own.

Les: Yes, so, one can assume that they might well have to be born for the sake of acknowledging of one's own spiritual being, because of the kindness that can be shown in such disasters to other people?

Yes, I have said the Earth is a learning point. Not only the people who are involved in disasters, but all of you left, you all learn from it. I know it is difficult to understand. We are questioned very often on these matters, yes—

Les: In your world?

On your Earth.

Les: On our Earth?—in other places, other times—yes, I follow.

Yes. I can only say to you, with more awareness will come more knowledge.

Les: Quite—this I do accept and this is partly behind my questioning now, so my colleagues here, can know the answers to things, to questions, which I'm sure they have put in their lives at various times. Your answers will be interesting to them, I know.

But you cannot apportion 'blame' to God.

Les: Of course not—I have tried to explain that, much as you have said, it is a necessary part of the 'scheme of things.' Not only when people have talked about the suffering of a particular person, I have said forget that particular person, child, or whatever it may be. Think of the reaction upon the parents when a child dies. They have to find other depths within themselves, to cope with it.

You will only find the answer, when you have a wider view of what is going on. I cannot answer more clearly than that for you. I only wish I could, but the limitation of your understanding, make that impossible.

Les: Yes I do accept that. We are so limited in our understanding.

But we understand the feelings and the distress that these things cause you.

Les: Yes—on a question entirely different, on a different track altogether. Our scientists, as you probably know, consider that the universe started as a Big Bang, as they call it, but we won't go into that—They've comparatively recently come to the conclusion, that it is an expanding universe. Now that I can accept quite easily, in view of what you have told us before, about the galaxies of which we have no knowledge. So, can one assume from the scientific evidence that they now have, or say they have, that it is going to be a constant expansion of the universe?

How can they know? How can they know the whole of the universe? They cannot. They are correct in part. What they are talking about, is a very small part of the whole. Let us take a few grains of sand within a circle. Let us take another group of circles with grains of sand. What happens when the wind blows? In the one section of the grain of sands, do they not blow and make the circle expand? Yes they do, and that is what the scientists are seeing now, within your own galaxy. But they cannot possibly know what is happening in the whole of the universe. Their knowledge, too, is very, very limited.

Les: I'm sure it is.

That analogy must explain it simply to you.

Les: Yes, it does explain it. So we can have no conception of the magnitude of the universe as a whole?

Of course not, no.

Les: But the only explanation that could be accepted, perhaps, is that it is constantly expanding, even beyond what our scientists can visualise.

Yes. Yes, movement, vibration, energy, yes, you have it my friend. It is always moving, it is never static.

Les: As you emphasised last time, energy and thought are the two dominating factors, if I can use that expression.

Yes, yes. That is the true expansion.

Les: Which of course is unlimited; (Yes) there can be no confines on it.

There can be none at all.

Les: Difficult to assimilate, but nevertheless true and it must be accepted.

Yes, I ask you only to accept within your own boundaries of understanding. Has that satisfied your question?

Les: Yes, thank you very much. I'd better let somebody else ask one, I think. I have others, but I mustn't be greedy of your time. Would anybody else like to ask a question?

George: Could I ask a question, which follows from your crucifixion question. There have been a number of visions recorded, concerning Mary, the mother of Jesus. And there would appear to be visionary and other evidence that she travelled after the crucifixion, to a place called Ephesus, and spent her last days there, where she lived on the top of a pine-clad mountain. Can you confirm that? Ephesus in Turkey—the country that is now Turkey.

(Long breath) Let me say, as I have said, Jesus the Christ travelled far and wide, Turkey being one of those countries that was widely travelled, not only in his adult years, but in his younger years. Mary, his mother, would also have known of these places. And yes, I can tell you she did travel there, but she did not end her days there.

Les: Does that answer your question George? (Yes thank you.) Anybody else? Do you have another question George?

George: Perhaps continuing the question regarding the expanding universe—yes I see that we can only have knowledge of a very tiny part. It would appear from our examination of the light that travels to us from the distant galaxies that our part of the universe, the part that we may observe, is expanding. And a limiting factor in our knowledge would be the speed of light itself. Perhaps—well yes, is that a clear picture, that the speed of light is bound to limit our conception of the universe? Can you say any more on that?

Yes. Let me say you are indeed limited by what you know and understand. There are other galaxies. Let me say this to you, how do you suppose there were space travellers, or are space travellers, if they do not travel quicker than the speed of light, as you know it? That must answer your question simply and straightforwardly.

Les: I have had that opinion for many years, that there are unknown 'vibrations,' if we can call them that, far beyond our conception and the speed of light is not the ultimate speed.

The speed of light is only the Earth's conception of speed. There are many things, which the Earth is not aware of, as such, but you will become more and more knowledgeable in these matters, as time progresses.

George: And beings who are able to travel faster than the speed of light, would be concerned with a more 'rarefied' state of matter than atoms and molecules, with which we on Earth would be more familiar.

They indeed operate on a much higher vibration than you at present understand. Yes that is true.

Les: Thank you. Any others? Nothing from you Brent?

Brent: I have a certain amount of training, I suppose, in philosophy, but I'm not asking the questions to be 'tricky.' Everyone uses the term 'spiritual,' and you use it quite a lot. And surely if you know what is spiritual, then you must be able to contrast it, with things which are not spiritual. I just wonder if you could clarify the term 'spiritual.' We equate it, in a simple-minded way, with doing something that is 'good,' or perhaps doing something that is 'unselfish.' Could you say a few words about the meaning of spiritual?

Let us take one step backwards. Let us not say 'spiritual' but 'spirit.' What is Spirit? It is the very essence of life. It is all that you can conceive. Spirit is the very breath of your being. Therefore spiritual, I would say to you, is indeed the ultimate goal that you search for in goodness. And, yes, you must always have the opposite. Spiritual is what each individual conceives to be good. Good, the very highest degree of goodness, for them. And here we get to difficulties, because each individual is different. Their idea of goodness varies. Am I making sense?

Brent: Yes, that's why you have the problem of ethical relativism. There are those who say, basically, that anything goes. But I don't believe that myself. So the question is, if it's not true that anything goes, how do people find what is the right path—what is the right thing to do?

The right path, the right thing to do, can be found in your very quiet meditative moods, when you will be 'inspired,' if you like, as to what is good and what is right and what, as you term, is 'spiritual'.

You all have an innate knowledge of what is good, and what is wrong. It is all within each of you, that knowledge. How you use that knowledge depends upon each one of you and your own judgement.

Les: Thank you. That confirms what I have frequently said—it is within us, for us to be aware of.

Brent: I have another question, of course. During 'rescues,' it's quite often said, the soul will probably be 'counselled' and helped to overcome the problems to do with the transition from physical death, and will then go on to learn in various ways. But you've also said that we're here to learn. So I'd be interested to know, what is the distinction between the things that we learn here and why do we have to come here to learn them, versus the things that we presumably will learn as the soul progresses later?

Yes—Let me place it back to you. Why would you place a five year old in a junior school? And why would you place a teenager in a higher grade? Because simply of (for?) their understanding, you must start somewhere. When the soul is here on the Earth plane, as we have said before, it comes for a particular purpose, to learn particular lessons, if you like. Only that soul knows what it needs to learn. But you are all endowed with free will. Let me take you back to the class of the five year olds—you have a group of children; you have a teacher. Some of those children will be eager to learn the lessons they are being taught. You may have another group, who are slow, whose understanding fails them. Therefore, already you have the differences. And then you may just have the naughty child, who refuses to accept any discipline at all. So, too, when you leave the Earth plane, there are these varying differences amongst the people. Some come to us with awareness, as you all will, when your time comes. You have 'knocked' on the door, if you like. There are others who, perhaps, want to believe, but won't allow themselves. And there again, you have the others who plainly refuse to believe in anything at all. Therefore, the last group are the ones who need to be 'rescued.' Are you following me? (Yes) They are the ones who have learned very little. They are the ones who need to be helped, who need to be shown the correct pathways. So, it is much more difficult for them to begin again, as it would be your teenager, being placed in a higher stream of education and expected to start from the very beginning. Do you see the difficulties there? (Yes) So, in the rescue work, it is sometimes necessary to return that soul through a physical being, to have an explanation, as you are all aware, as you already have done this work. The explanation needs to be done in physical terms. It may take a long, long time for them to be encouraged or 'counselled,' to use your words. As I have said, no one suddenly changes when they come to our world. They still retain their free will, they still retain all of their feelings, all of their prejudices; all remains the same. So, in our world, as in yours, some move on more quickly than others. It all depends on the soul.

Brent: So, are we correct in assuming in a simplified way, that this is the starting point for most of us, remembering you said that occasionally Souls will come back again. But, for most of us, this is the first step?

This is the beginning of your learning process, yes.

Brent: Thank you.

Les: May I ask a question? I know of your concern for your instrument's (Eileen's) voice.

Yes—we are concerned for her this time.

Les: Right, then I'll defer the question until next time.

You can ask one more before we close.

Les: There are beliefs, as you well know, held by people who will not knowingly kill an ant or other insect, lest they should have to return to this Earth in the guise of that insect. I can't believe for one minute, that it would be necessary for anybody to return in what we call a lower form of life, once they have begun here as a human.

I am sorry for a smile. Yes—no, that does not happen.

Les: I couldn't imagine it.

What would be the point of evolving if you would take a step backwards? No, no, that is not the case.

Les: I have always denied it emphatically, that it would be necessary, or even possible.

It is a belief of many, we know, but we are trying to put these things in their proper perspective. It is difficult to break the thoughts and ideas of many lifetimes.

Les: Quite. And again, it is mis-teaching by those responsible.

I would have to say, that if that was the case, you would be over-run by insects. (Much laughter)

Les: Well, we do appreciate your being with us, and the information you have given. Now I'll leave you if you'll be kind enough to finish up with prayer.

I have one more thing. I wish to speak to the young gentleman.

Les: Yes. Which one? Andy? Are you with us Andy?

It matters not. You can tell him. Here we have a great potential. I want you, if you will, and if he is willing, to help him to develop. There is much we can give through this one. But of course, as we have spoken earlier, free will comes into this, but we don't intend to let him go. But, can I leave that with you?

Les: Thank you for telling me.

And now I want to close:

'Eternal Spirit, we thank you once more,

For this gathering, for this meeting of like Souls.

I thank you for using me as your vessel,

To speak amongst them.

I ask that a blessing be placed on each and every one

That they safely be returned to their homes this evening.

That your light and your love look over them

Until we meet again.

God bless you all.'

Amen

~8th August 1994~

General greetings

We wish to apologise to the instrument, for any discomfort she may have felt. We try to join with her as gently as we can.

Les: I'm sure you do. I'm equally sure she quite understands it's not always possible to do precisely what you wish, it takes time.

We are happy with the way things are moving.

Les: Good, that's very nice to hear.

This evening because of the slight difficulties with the instrument, I ask that you take things a little more slowly.

Les: Certainly.

I am happy that you have all gathered here once again and now I think we can begin.

Les: I want to say first, I think it would be difficult to stop them gathering now, they look forward to your company.

I want to say first, forgive us if some of the questions sound trivial, they are not intended as such, but we have to get the message across to the man in the street. Therefore it has to be couched in terms that the man in the street can understand. We may already know some of the answers, but since we are beginning recording afresh, this is why I may repeat some questions if that's agreeable with you? (Of course.) Thank you. This is all done with the best intent for propagation of the knowledge and the wisdom that we know is coming, but it has to begin slowly as you'll appreciate.

I have been asked many times about sex and men and women in the next World. It is understood that they do retain their physical sex or semblance of sex—men and women. I don't know the precise reason for that but I assume that ultimately there would be a coalescing of the two and eventually the beings are sexless?

Yes, let me answer for you. Again we have touched on what happens when you leave your physical states. Of course you retain all that you have been, except for that physical part of your being. Why then would it seem that you should discard what has been an important part of your being?

Les: No I don't think it would be wise to do it, because it is a personality thing, is it not?

Yes, of course it is necessary for considerable time. In fact what you are speaking of, the merging of the sexes, to become 'sexless' if you like, you are speaking of eons of time. It is not something that happens quickly.

Les: No, I ask because it's something that's been asked of me many times. People seem to think the 'Etherians,' as I'm going to call those in the next World, for the sake of clarity, suddenly become puffs of diaphanous material. It's quite amusing—

Yes I don't wish to minimise what you are saying, but yes that is an idea of many. You must remember, whether you are male or female, in your physical being, you are in fact the essence of both.

Les: Of course we are and the division is just for physical purposes.

Yes that is true. Yes you procreate while you are in the physical being that is a necessity. But you do not suddenly discard that element of yourselves when you come to our side of life.

Les: Thank you. Following on from that, we understand that procreation is not possible in the next world, but should a couple wish to nurture a child from birth, if I can put it that way, is it possible for them to acquire the spiritual child in order to satisfy that longing.

It would depend on the motive for the longing.

Les: The motive again comes into it.

Yes. It is possible, but the motive would be the utmost reasoning behind it but, yes, it is possible, if you can see that it would further your spirituality. (I see.) For no other reason!

Les: So, if the desire was solely for the benefit of spiritual progression and for the development of the child, also, (Of course.) then no doubt, it would be permitted.

It would be permitted only on those grounds. A longing, in itself, is not reason enough.

Les: I see. Thank you! Now, tell me if I am going too quickly, won't you?

We think that the instrument is comfortable now.

Les: Oh good—thank you. I believe we flatter ourselves, that we have in our museums and our galleries what are called originals, Old Masters and so on which are sold for fabulous, absurd prices. Am I right in thinking that they are only copies of the originals which are in your world—that the originals exist in your galleries and ours are only copies, even though they have been painted by a physical person?

Again, we touch on a subject we have discussed. We have discussed the power of thought, of inspiration. Yes you are partly correct when you say they are copies. What would happen—the inspiration comes from us, not necessarily that the original exists. I don't say in all cases—(No) I am trying to explain as simply as possible. The inspiration is given to one here—that is painted. Let us take a painting that is painted by the painter. (Yes)—Then perhaps a copy, a copy of the inspired one is in our world, but originally the inspiration comes from us.

Les: Yes—because the original physical one is here, but the original thought and inspired one is with you. (Yes) Thank you! That explains that. I had a strong feeling that you did retain what I regarded as originals, because it was an original thought.

Sometimes—not always!

Les: Not always.

Not always—again, there are many reasons which I will not enter into now, but, yes, mostly you are correct.

Les: Thank you. I believe too, that in your world, if an artist wishes to continue, he can do so—that is if he is provided with materials, always with the understanding that he will be working for others and not for his own personal satisfaction alone?

What would be the purpose of working here, of being inspired, if you cannot carry on? There would be no reason, no usefulness—there would be no growth. So of course, the desire and the motive come into play. And of course, they would be encouraged to continue and of course, with materials that they would not be familiar with.

Les: So, they are able, I should think, to produce much more magnificent work, than would ever have been possible on this Earth.

And they too, in turn, can inspire.

Les: Yes. I'm sure!

You see the follow on—the follow on effect!

Les: Quite—they can inspire others here. Good!

Yes. That is what we would expect them to do.

Les: I had the pleasure once of speaking via my lady (Leslie's wife, Ruth, was a medium) to somebody who said he was Michael Angelo. I have no reason to doubt it, because of other factors. He said that since he has been with you, (spirit world) he finds his vision—he was blind or almost blind when he left here—isn't needed for his work. He can see by thought, even far distant vistas. I found that a most interesting comment.

Let me say, all of you, close your eyes—see the beauty that is within you. What matter it that you do not have sight—

Beauty is a THOUGHT. Again I come back—always I will teach you the power of thought.

There, there lies the beauty. Sight is not necessary to be able to visualise—that is what he was telling you, that beauty lies within.

Les: So he could imagine without even seeing it, and, presumably, correct any misinterpretation.

Do you know of anyone who is without sight?

Les: I know someone who is partially sighted, but not completely.

Speak to them, listen to them, listen to the beauty that comes from within them. (Yes) They have a knowledge, perhaps that all you sighted people have lost.

Les: That I can accept and agree with—

That they retain the beauty that they have lost with the loss of their vision!

Les: Thank you. Now we come to another factor—the marvellous things which happen in our physical world, such as the migration of birds from one country to another, without any visible means. There are many theories advanced as to how this is done. Are they following lines of energy in the Earth, as you have spoken of? Do they have the power to do that?

Let me first say, all of the animal kingdom, like you, are following their own evolution. All life is energy. Our feathered friends have a sense that no other human, animal, living thing possesses. It is something original to them. (I see.) Yes—some do follow energy lines—others have an innate sense of distance of travel. It is difficult to find words to describe. Without being the bird, it would be too difficult for you to understand.

Les: I do accept that. It is something beyond our comprehension again.

Yes. I am struggling for the words to explain to you. Yes, they have an innate knowledge of where they are going. They know exactly where they are going. It is part of their growth, if you like.

Les: Yes—it's interesting, thank you. I thought it must be something like that, because it is so incomprehensible to us and so repetitive, year after year.

I would say, it is almost like you would follow radar, except theirs is an innate knowledge, used only by them.

Les: Yes, so our inventions are commonplace compared with what they have in the natural world.

Yes, yes—I am afraid so. Much has been lost to humankind.

Les: Yes, I hope that our work here and others like us will be partly instrumental in getting it back to humanity one day.

It lies within your own hands.

Les: Of course. It is there to be nurtured, if we wish.

Exactly, exactly.

Les: Again staying with those for a moment if I may, am I right in saying they have telepathic powers also? I'm sure they must—the movements of a flock of birds performing movements without hitting one another—thousands of birds together who perform the same gyrations, instantaneously—I can only put it down to a telepathic sense.

Yes, I understand what you are saying. Perhaps, telepathy is not the correct phrase to use. They have an understanding—a 'community mind,' if you like. That is the simplest way I can express it. It is not exactly telepathy as you would understand it to be.

Les: Right. They all work on the same common wavelength—

Yes, now we are getting a little closer—yes it is an energy—it is a wave.

Les: Energy again inherent in them all. (Yes) I thought it must be, because, even young fledglings follow the pattern.

It is an innate thing within them.

Les: Yes—it's a pity we don't have it.

You think you do not?

Les: No. I think we have, but we have neglected it.

That is true. If only humankind could realise their own potential. You would be so much better for it.

Les: I'm sure we would. I know that years ago, I used to go into my garden early in the morning, in the summer, and I could literally feel the new energy of the new day coming through the Earth, through my feet into me. It was a tangible thing, but I tuned into it. I never told anybody about it, because they would probably think I'm mad.

Let me—I don't like to, but I have to disagree. The energy is not tangible. (No) It is not tangible, but I understand what you are saying.

Les: Yes, I could feel it, in a way and I was aware of it.

Yes. The awareness was there, but energy is not a tangible thing.

Les: Yes, you are quite right about that. I just used the wrong word.

I am sorry to correct you. I just wanted things to be clear.

Les: No, no—thank you—so do I, and I appreciate you doing it. Another thing which I have often been asked is that in the next world is it possible for the inhabitants to suffer—I was going to say physical—but it's not physical, but bodily damage, as we do here. Can they hurt themselves as we do?

You mean physically?

Les: Physically, yes.

Of course not, physically—they do not possess a physical body. They can damage themselves, yes, but it is not a physical damage, it is a spiritual/emotional damage that they can create for themselves.

Les: I see. So, they wouldn't break a limb or anything, as we would here?

No, that is not possible.

Les: No—as I say, it may sound trivial. But it is not meant in a trivial way.

In their minds they can, but of course, if they don't have a physical body, they cannot have a physical brain, but the damage can be there mentally, emotionally, and that is why you do the 'rescues'. You are dealing with emotionally damaged spirit beings. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, I do, and I am told too that—I was going to say, insects (in the spirit World)—butterflies come under that I believe, are much more pronounced, much larger, much more beautiful, than in this world. Butterflies, for instance, I am told, have gorgeous colours, and become very friendly, if you wish them too.

It would depend. Yes, all things are, shall we say, larger than life, as you would know it. But when you are speaking of insect life—butterflies, bees, flies, whatever you wish to speak of—unless they have the contact here in a physical form, then what would happen is they return to a group soul. There are a few, and this I know, this is what you are speaking of—those would appear to be much larger, much brighter, than you would find here on your Earth, but the majority return to the group soul. Is that clear?

Les: Yes, thank you, it is.

In the same way, we are asked about pets, the animals, the dogs, the horses, the cats—the same applies.

Les: Yes, so they would not have souls as we would imagine them to have.

They do, if they have been in touch with humankind—if they have found the expression of love. That is what singularises them.

Les: I see. So if a former owner comes over to you and wishes to have his or her pet returned to them, then that can be achieved?

If the pet has gone before, then it will be waiting for that owner—always remember it is the Love tie—that cannot be extinguished.

Les: Right, so they are in suspense, as it were, until the one who loves them, calls for them again.

Not necessarily so. They will have the freedom of the fields. They will have the love of other people, if that is what they so wish, but yes, they will be there—they will wait for that love tie when the time is right.

Les: I am told that there are other areas where other animals as we know them, also exist.

Yes, let me say this to you:

When you leave your physical beings, all, all THOUGHTS become reality.

You can have whatever you want to. If you wish to see a field of horses, a field of sheep, whatever—the thought will make that materialise for you.

Can you understand?

Les: Yes I can, I can—I accept that.

So again, we come back to the power of your thoughts.

Les: Yes. I have thought about this a lot myself and I can fully appreciate that the power of thought can produce those phenomena, if you can put it that way, which would then disappear, once the thought disappeared, presumably.

That is quite right. It is the power of the thought that makes it the reality. When you no longer need, shall we say, that thought, then, of course, why should it exist?

Les: Quite, it has no reason to do so has it?

Yes, that is correct—your thinking along those lines is correct.

Les: Thank you. And now we come to rather deeper things—the question of eating meat on this Earth. Of course, there is a lot of controversy, as you no doubt know, between vegetarians and meat eaters. What are your feelings—what are the feelings in your world about that? Are animals put here for any reason other than a food supply and are we at liberty to use them as a food supply, provided we thank them for what they are giving us?

Yes, this indeed is a subject that is much discussed in your plane. Let me speak, as I know. Let me say this to all of you: You should have a regard for all life. Once again, let me say, you have all been endowed with your own freewill, but I say to you—respect all life forms whatever that may be. Examine your conscience. If you wish to kill an animal that is up to you but remember this: (Long pause)

All forms of existence were put onto this Earth for their own development, their own growth, their own evolution. Provided the reason for killing is a ‘good’ one, and I use that phrase reservedly, reservedly—provided it is a good one then your own spirituality will not suffer. But to kill, to kill an animal cannot be said to be good. I know this may go against the thinking of many of you, but it has to be said.

Les: Of course.

Let me speak of past people: They killed animals to exist, to feed themselves, but they had a respect for their life. They did it—how can I say, in a loving way. Again, I speak reservedly. They would kill one animal with love to feed their families. Can you see the difference?

Les: Yes, I can indeed.

Can you see the motive—the cause behind it? (Yes) In that way their own spirituality would not suffer.

Les: Again, it’s the motive, isn’t it?

But today there is too much killing and with a senseless hatred behind it. That can never be deemed to be right.

Les: And so-called sport?

Sport—sport does no good, for the one who calls it sport. I have to say again—the cause, the cause and effect are so important in your lives here. So, if you wish me to give you an answer, then I would say it is wrong to kill animals to feed yourselves.

Les: Yes. Thank you, I would like to follow that up with another question before I ask other people to take some time. Let us assume, to quote your analogy of a man killing for his family, and apologising for having to do so, you would regard that as a satisfactory motive. Would that have an effect on the animal’s development?

In what way?

Les: Well, if the animal is developing, one assumes they are part of a communal soul, would it affect the animal’s development in that communal soul.

I see. If the animal has been looked after with love, with respect, then although the ultimate is death to the animal—no, the animal will not suffer, no.

Les: Thank you, because, I think, in the past, the North American Indians, and other tribes, of course, were aware of this, and always gave apologies to the animal before they killed it.

That is what I am saying, they had respect for life. And although, they killed—in a way, they redeemed themselves. I am saying, although it is not right, can you see that sometimes, there is a reason for doing these things.

Les: What we would call extenuating circumstances.

Well, partly, if you wish to put it that way.

Les: But I do understand, thank you.

Those people had a great respect for life—all forms of nature, not only the animals, but as you were saying earlier, the ground they walked upon, the rushing of the river, the sun in the sky, the moon at night—they respected many things, and so they did not affect their own soul's growth, because of the love that they extended. Does that make sense to you?

Les: Yes, it absolutely does, thank you. It confirms my own opinion on these things. As one American said, when he was asked to sell some land, many years ago, when asked how much it was worth, said who can set a price on the sparkle of the water, or the scent of the trees.

Yes Exactly.

Les: It has no physical price at all, only a spiritual value.

Who are we to judge what is of value? We do not have that right. We were endowed with all of these things for the good of all people therefore it has been entrusted to us, if you like. And so, you must show that love and respect to all things. But, again, as you know, people are at different stages of awareness, and so they cannot always be blamed, if you like, for their actions.

Les: No, they are becoming much more aware of the need to respect nature, fortunately. Various organisations are now springing up, to try to educate the populace into these things.

That can only be for the good.

Les: Of course. I think I must give some time to others now to ask questions. Thank you very much. Brent, George, does anybody have a question?

George: While we are on that topic, could we add to it the position of fish? Some people who are vegetarian, will eat fish, as well as vegetables, but would it be proper to see fish with the animal kingdom and avoid killing fish?

It applies to all—fish are not exceptions they are still the pattern of life. It should make no difference whether it be fish, a chicken, a cow or a sheep—it all applies in the same way.

George: Thank you.

George: This is something quite different. There is some evidence that there was an Atlantis, an Atlantean continent, where the Atlantic Ocean is now. There is evidence that it had a civilisation, that it submerged and that the last island submerged some 12,000 years ago. Would you be able to confirm any of this? If so, would those people in spirit realm influence us today?

Let me say I am aware of the story of Atlantis, and I must say to you, there have been many changes on your Earth, going back many, many thousands of years. More than one island has sunk in the time of the Earth's existence. Many people have come, lived on this Earth, and disappeared as, too, have the animals at different stages of evolution. Yes, there was an island, with a people with much knowledge. Yes, they would influence people, but no more than any other, once they have joined us in the spirit realms. You are speaking, only of one race of people—let me say to you, there have been many. They were not an exceptional, people. Does that answer your question?

George: Thank you, yes. My further thought was they may have excelled at working with stone, and possibly left wonderful stonework, in other parts of the world.

There are many areas in your world today, which are largely still undiscovered. I do not come here to tell you where these places are—that is up to mankind to discover. I am not here to interfere with the working of the world. But let me say this: There have been many races, who have trodden your Earth, who have had superior knowledge in many aspects, on different things, not only stonework, but on precious gems—on many things. But one day, these places will be discovered. Is that useful to you?

George: Yes, thank you very much!

Les: Just to confirm what you have been saying to us—there were gold artefacts found, manufactured, or hand-worked gold artefacts, found in seams of coal, which were laid down thousands of years ago, buried in the coal. Have you read that George?

Remember I am speaking of a very early time on this Earth. Much is still to be discovered.

Les: Yes, I'm sure it is.

Those people were not as unusual, as you would like to believe. Do we have someone in distress in the room?

Les: Is somebody in distress within the room?

No matter. Let us continue.

Les: In your previous visit, when you were talking about reincarnation, you said that one would not come back, unless there was, quote, 'A 'wrong' to be redeemed.' Now, when we come back, we have no knowledge (memory) of that wrong. What is the reason that we are not given that knowledge, so we can begin to take steps to rectify whatever it is we have come back for.

What would be the purpose of having the knowledge?

Les: To know that if we had mistreated somebody, say—I appreciate that person may not be alive when the reincarnation happens.

You would be placed in the situation that would be apt for you to learn whatever it was you were to learn. It would be too simple for you to return with the knowledge of what you had to do. Do you not see that it would? It would make things too awkward. There would be no purpose to it, if you knew why you returned.

Les: I agree it would be defeating the object, probably, (Yes) but we would be placed in the position, even unknowingly—we would be placed in the position, where we could redeem that wrong, would we?

Not unknowingly—you would come into the situation that you need to have to redeem the wrong, but you come knowingly, not unknowingly.

Les: I see. So the knowledge, in effect, would be given us at the appropriate time?

The knowledge is there—where it is forgotten is when you return to the physical being, but the knowledge is there within that soul.

Les: And that will be triggered at the right opportunity?

At the correct moment, it should be triggered. Each and every one of you here, is given more than one opportunity, more than one opportunity to know, to accept what is going on, in this particular lifetime. It is entirely up to you whether you accept or reject.

Les: Yes, so that is where our freewill comes into it, then, (Yes) the opportunities are given us for redemption.

You are placed within the correct opportunities.

Les: Then it is up to us to use our freewill. (Yes) Thank you that answers that one. Good, any more questions?

George: Could I ask a question about the Christian religion? We've had several. I'm looking at the good parts of Christianity—the prayer, the love—and I'm particularly looking at the Laws of Moses, the Ten Commandments, which indicate that we should love God, that we should love our neighbour as ourselves, we should not kill. Can you advise that these laws are still a good set of laws for us to observe?

It is the Eternal law. You have used the ultimate word—LOVE. The word love is the be-all and the end-all, of your existence—there is nothing more important for you to learn.

That does not mean to say it is a love encircled in its own way of thinking. You can have a love, but still have the freewill to disagree. What is the brotherhood of man, if it is not an eternal love that you need to learn—but at the same time, you can learn to disagree, without any hatred, any malice. Love, love is the eternal law. It is what you should all strive for. I can say no more than that. It is the very highest thing that you can strive towards.

George: Yes. Thank you.

Les: Any more questions?

Brent: I've got a question about belief. When I first got involved in so-called spiritualism, what was appealing to me was that I wasn't required to believe anything in particular. I didn't have to believe in Jesus as the son of God for example, in order to be saved, with the threat of the punishment of hell. It was presented to me as a way of thinking, a way of life, that relied on a lot of open mindedness and that appealed to me very much. Now what I'm wondering is, you just said we are given opportunities to believe and to understand what is going on, as though that's a condition for progression and I just wondered if you could clarify this.

Yes, I have said you are placed here with freewill—true. Why do you suppose we were given freewill? Let me say, you can only grow. We ask that you don't believe—we ask that that you accept only that which is true to your own nature, your own conscience—whatever. I don't particularly like the word 'belief.' To me, it has many connotations. As I have said, 'love' is the essence of all being—it is what you must strive toward. The more open-minded you can be, the more aware you can become. I am saddened still when I know and hear how much religion has a hold on the people here. It is a string, if you like that needs to be severed, but that is difficult when it has had such a strong holding for so many, many years. (Pause)

All that we ask you to do—follow your heart, listen to your inner voice or conscience, if you prefer—follow that and you will not go far wrong.

Each and every one of you has a pathway to tread. We can try to influence you, we can try to guide you, but ultimately, the choice is yours. Follow your own heart, and you can ask no more. And, now I have to say we come to an end, this time.

We don't want to distress the instrument.

Les: No, of course not—I was just about to ask you that, actually. I do thank you for what you have told us and we look forward to your next visit.

Next time, I wish to speak on the people within your group. And now I will leave it to you to close this time.

General greetings

It is good to be here again.

Les: Thank you. It is good to have you. We really look forward to these meetings now. We always have done, but it's even more nowadays.

I feel the love from you all. For that I thank you.

Les: We know you bring a great deal with you, you and your colleagues who work with you. And we appreciate that too. There's so little of it in our physical world—real love.

This time I would like to speak to some of you individually.

Les: Yes, please do. You did tell us you would wish to.

Sometimes it is good to know a little more. I am happy to provide it for you. Is there anyone who wishes to speak to me personally?

Les: Other than questions?

Whatever—I would be happy, but I wish to be a little more personal this time.

Les: Thank you. I think I'll just go around the circle and ask each individually. Debbie?

Debbie: No, nothing Les—

Les: Nothing? You do remember that everything of course, is absolutely confidential in this room. Jackie? Sandra? Andy? Mark? Anything you would like to know about yourself?

Mark: I'm not quite sure what I'm supposed to be doing at the moment actually.

Les: In what way, spiritually or materialistically?

Mark: I don't know if this is the right thing to talk about, but—

Les: You'll soon be told if it isn't. (Chuckles)

Mark: About the direction of my life. I'm in a funny situation at the moment really.

Les: So basically, you would like to know if there's any information, which can be given about your future life?

Mark: Yes.

Here we have a young man who has trodden many pathways—Let me say that to you first of all—You, I know, are very confused at this time in your life, but I can say to you, you will move forward, away from the difficulties surrounding you at this present time. Your future life is taking another course. I am not making predictions, let me make that clear to you. I am giving you a little more foresight, so that the choices can be the correct ones, if you like. Put up with the conditions as they are at the moment. Go with the 'flow' of life, if you like, for the time being. You are moving into a new era of your time here on the Earth. You, my friend, have an inner knowledge of spiritual things, but as of this state (stage?), they have not been used to the very best that you could have used them. So, in a way, you are spiritually rather poor. Do you understand me?

Mark: Yes.

As you become greater in your age, so too, you become greater in your wisdom. Eventually, materially and spiritually, things will balance. Please do not make that spiritual side of you suffer, for the materialistic pleasures of life. That is not the way to go. Within the coming two years, you will have an offer made to you, which may surprise you, but if you are wise, you will accept that offer. And I think I don't wish—who, who do they know who is called Kate within their family? Going back—she has said Colin, 'He will be all right.'

Les: Do you know Kate at all?

It goes back some time.

Mark: Is it about 16 years?

Les: The name is familiar to you, though?

Mark: Yeah.

Les: If you recognise it, it helps with our friend, to continue with the work, rather than create a blockage, you see?—so you do know Kate, or did know Kate?

Mark: Yes.

We will leave that one now.

Mark: Thank you.

Les: Margaret? No question? George?

Excuse me please—the lady (Margaret) needs to be careful with her legs. Yes, we recommend you take good care of them.

Margaret: Thank you.

Les: All right George?

George: Yes please. I feel I have a mission here and it is to write a book, which I have started. It has taken me many years to become adequate for the writing of it, and to research it. I feel it is the kind of book that might help to make the world a better place. You may wish to comment on that—

You wish to know whether the book will be completed, I take (it)?—(Smiles) Let me say you have always been adequate. You doubt yourself, my friend, let me say that. I say only to you, be a little more discerning, in the reading matter, the knowledge, that you pick up. All that is written, all that is spoken, is not necessarily the truth. Be true to your own feelings. Continue with the book. I say to you, look a little deeper—re-read what you have written and I say to you, if you feel it is right, then I say, re-write in certain places. That is what we say to you—be a little more discerning in your research. Is that helpful to you?

George: Yes, thank you.

You, my friend, are rather like a sponge. You retain many facts, but all are not true. That is why I say, be a little more discerning. But yes, continue with that line and you will have success.

George: Thank you.

Also, please, before we go—this one, (George) needs to watch his eyes. You rather 'burn the candle at both ends.' That is true, is it not?

George: Yes.

Yes, please be careful.

Now, rather than ask someone, may I speak to the two ladies?

Les: Yes, I'd be pleased if you would. I feel they are in need of it. (Yes) Sandra, Jackie?

I rather hoped they would speak out for themselves, but, you know—sometimes we may seem a little 'pushy,' if that is the word. But we only give good advice, I think.

Les: Yes, you do.

Let me say to these ladies: Although they are twins, they are not as close as most twins would be normally. They are very close, but there is an individuality in each, which rather yearns to be a single unit at times. Is that not true?

Sandra: I don't know really—

You don't know? Yes, it is true.

Les: Don't be afraid to admit things please.

Don't worry, don't worry, we don't want to embarrass at all. We wish to help. The difficulties surrounding this lady, (Jackie)—don't be concerned, things will straighten themselves out. I don't need to go into detail, because you know. (Yes) Yes, don't be concerned. It will be all right. Sometimes you feel you are living under a cloud, yes? (Yes) Yes, we know and we are trying to help you. Let me say this:

Around you, around you, there lie many problems, but you my dear, are capable of rising above them.

(Pause/deep breath) Your future is bright and you are treading the path that you were meant to take.

Sometimes life is difficult, but it is difficult for a very good reason. Always you cannot see this, but we who have a wider vision, see that you are going in the right direction. There is a problem with some child around you, is there not? (Yes) Yes—I say be patient, be patient. This one will be all right. You know what I mean? (Yes) Don't worry but, of course,—I say these words, but of course you will carry on worrying (Smiles)—that is your nature. But rest assured we are helping you every step of the way. (Okay.)

The lady, the other lady—

Les: Sandra?

Sandra. This one has a talent that as yet has not been touched upon—are you aware? (No) You, my dear, are very artistic. It should be expressed. Take up the paint brush, please do—please try. You will find that all the emotions will come out onto the paper. In fact, if you were to use that artistic brush, you would find that your life would have meaning, great meaning. Please try it and see what I mean. Can you try it and see what we mean? (Okay.) Good—good.

Les: I suggest you really following the advice Sandra.

Sandra: It surprises me though.

Les: It may do, but our friend knows us better than we do ourselves. I say it because I've heard these comments to people so many years now, that they never give them, unless they are right. If they are not sure, they will say so.

Sandra: My daughter can draw. She's quite good.

Where do you suppose the talent comes from? Where does your daughter get it from?

Sandra: We didn't know.

Now you do. Of course, all that I give you comes down to advice, but you are entitled not to follow it. That is entirely your matter, but I try only to help. (Thank you.) I think this time we will leave the personal things and, if you wish, go onto more general subjects.

Les: Yes, as you wish, if you're happy to do that.

I don't wish to intrude on anyone's privacy, by being too personal, or too detailed, but we know, let me say, we are very much aware of all that goes on within your lives. I say to you, if you need my help, call out to me and I will always be with you. Do you all understand that? (Agreement + thanks)

Les: Thank you and that is a very great privilege, because normally we are not given names to contact and we very much appreciate your offer in that. And I'm sure it will be taken up.

I know it will not be abused. The offer would not be made if I felt that it would be abused in that way. We know, we know the people within this room very well and we hope to help you all for the dedication that you are giving.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: Right, we will perhaps continue with the personal things at the next meeting maybe and continue with a few questions now as you suggest.

I will let you know whenever anything personal can be given. As I said, I don't wish to embarrass anyone by giving too personal details. If they wish, I am happy to do it individually.

Les: Thank you. I'm sure they would like to take advantage of that at the next meeting; those to whom you have not yet spoken.

As I say, I will indicate on which evenings we will do that.

Les: Right, I'll be guided by you. Thank you. May I start questions now? (You may, yes.) Thank you. We did speak about unknown forces building the pyramids and other extraordinary buildings. It has often been discussed the methods of construction and building and the erection of those stupendous blocks of stone. And as I've said before, stupid ideas have been put forward. So far as I'm concerned, there could only be two answers, either de-materialisation of the fabric and re-materialisation in a new position, or actual levitation. Are you able to let us know which, or whether both of those methods were employed? I think of the Incan and Aztec nations particularly and their stupendous monuments.

Yes. Let me speak on that. Let me say firstly, materialisation, de-materialisation, they are possibilities. It continues today. But as I have spoken previously, there were races upon your Earth, much more knowledgeable. And yes, the simple answer is levitation.

Les: I thought it might be.

I needn't go further on this subject. Materialisation, de-materialisation, this basically is what happens with healing today when you speak of your 'psychic surgery,' but that is a different matter. These ancient peoples, as you call them—I call them 'very young,'—but let me say their knowledge far, far, outweighs anything that you have today. And yes, levitation was a way of constructing these huge, huge monuments.

Les: I thought it must be one of the two.

Is that satisfactory for you, or do you wish more?

Les: Well, if you can elaborate further, we're always very interested in the details, certainly.

At that time, there were people who, very much like today in your African societies, where you have the doctors who heal, the 'wise men,' if you wish to call them. There were people who had these powers, if you like. They were the architects of the time, they were the ones who would have, how do you say—the 'blueprints,' the 'blueprints?' they would have made the blueprint of the construction of the building, or the temple, or the pyramids, whatever we are talking about. You would have a group of people, as you have a group here tonight, to build up power. It is no different. They gathered together, they made the blueprint, and they instructed the people, on how they should go about their tasks. We are speaking, we are speaking of powers not known today. So, to go into the details of how it worked, would be rather confusing to your mind, but I will say this: One time I will bring someone, who will explain in detail how this happened. But we are talking of times to come.

Les: Yes, we look forward to that.

But, yes, levitation was the manner in which they were built. I don't say everything, every brick, every stone. But that in the majority of the building was how it was done.

Les: Thank you very much. Again we come back, as I say, to the power of thought.

Of course—what is levitation?

Les: Yes, just the power of thought.

I must stress to you all again, the Power of Thought. It really, it really is an incredible thing. I wish I could express to you in words, just how powerful it is. In fact, I think one time we might try something within this room.

Les: That would be wonderful.

I don't say we will be successful, but I am happy to try it with you.

Les: Well, we appreciate that very much indeed.

I can't tell you how powerful thought can be.

Les: Well we certainly look forward to that in the future.

Do you know of the men who can lift themselves, just by a thought?

Les: Yes, I've heard of them.

So why, when you think of the mass, the weight, of the human body, why would anything like a block or a stone be any different?

Les: Not a bit, because the mass ceases to exist as such.

Yes, yes—I have to say we have been impressed with the rate of your knowledge while in this lifetime.

(Les) That, my friend, should make you feel honoured, because it is given to you in love.

Les: Thank you—and that leads me into the next question which I was going to ask, again, on the power of thought. And I fully accept what you have told us about the power of thought in the next world, in the next dimension. But how is that thought controlled from being a destructive thought against another, if somebody was so inclined to issue that thought? There must be a curtailment of ability somehow—

Well, let me talk a little on this. No, no, if the thought is sent, it must reach its target. But what can happen is that it rebounds back to the sender. The sender—this is what you must realise—If you are sending out a thought-wave, it has to travel, it has to travel to the point to which it has been sent. But what the sender must be aware of, is the rebound action. It may not be immediate, but it will, if that thought pattern is destructive, it must come back. But I see what you mean. You're trying to say, something has to interfere, if the thought is destructive. I'm afraid, no, my friend, that does not happen. That would be classed as 'interference.' We are aware of what is happening, but no, we cannot—we can try to influence the thoughts of the sender, but we cannot intercept once the thought-wave has moved forward. Is that satisfactory to you?

Les: Oh yes. It does implement what I have told people here, to be very careful in their thinking. Because destructive thoughts are destructive to the issuer, not to the person to whom they are issued, or against whom they are issued.

Not quite correct. You can harm the other person, you can. But then that would be classed—that would be taken into what you term your 'Karma.' I don't like the word actually, but for recognisable means, we will use it this time. You cannot stop that thought-wave from travelling. Do you see?

Les: Yes I do. And would the recipient of the thought-wave be aware of it?

Not always. In that way, they are partly protected. But it can be destructive to them. But, as all things, it has to be evened out eventually. It may not be in this lifetime, but it has to be paid for.

Les: Yes of course. What prompted it was the realisation that the power of thought in many African tribes, for instance, does have a very positive effect, inasmuch as the one who is aware of the thought directed against him, lies down and dies.

Yes, of course. Let me say this: If you are aware, which some people are, of destructive thoughts against you, you can protect yourself against them. In that way it can change, does that make sense?

Les: Yes it does.

If the person on the receiving end becomes aware of the destructive thoughts, he, and he alone, can change it.

Les: Presumably, by having faith in the powers of good, he can call upon.

He can protect himself in whichever way he finds more suitable, whether it is thinking good thoughts—and good thoughts, my friends, for the sender of the evil thoughts. Do you see? It kind of is like a circle.

And always, let me say, 'good' always conquers the 'evil'—which has to be—that is the law of the universe. Always good will conquer the evil.

Les: In other words, Love will triumph, as is said.

If you wish to say it that way.

Les: It is just a confirmation of another expression, since we have talked quite often about love.

We are saddened sometimes when we see what is happening in your world and sometimes we feel helpless, if you like, that we cannot do more. But always, we will strive to encourage you, even those who you term 'evil.' They too, are being given help. We leave no one out.

Les: Of course. I have often thought how frustrating in some respects, it must be for you, who are aware of what goes on here, and are not permitted to interfere against the Law. It must be very disturbing and frustrating.

Well, there comes a time when frustrations die away. There comes a time in the development, awareness, call it what you may, when these things leave you and you become wiser to the laws—you recognise them. I don't say there is no one body who has full knowledge, but there comes a time when you are much more aware of the wider, the wider view of things and your acceptance comes with that.

Les: So it comes to a state where it doesn't impinge adversely on your own feelings?

Yes. That, I have to say, is where some of the guidance that is given, it sometimes contradicts itself. It depends on who is speaking, who is giving the advice. It depends on their own development, if you like, as to how they react.

Les: That answers a question before I ask it, because we have been told by members of the other world, that they are not infallible. So therefore, one would accept that all that they say, if they are close to this Earth, and are not developed sufficiently, they could be fallible in what they say.

I will say this to you: I say it again, there is no one group, one person, who has full knowledge. How can we, how can we have full knowledge? We are all growing, we are all learning, we are all developing. Let me say there are many, many stages of guidance. Listen—I don't say 'doubt,' but what I do say to you, 'listen.' If there is something within the advice you cannot accept, don't dismiss it out of hand. Reject that part you find unacceptable, but keep an open mind on the whole thing that is said. No, we are not infallible. We cannot be.

Les: Otherwise you would be the 'God head.'

Yes, my friend, you take the words from my mouth.

Les: I'm sorry if I interrupted.

No, please, please, no—bare this in mind, it is where some of your awareness groups fall down. They accept every word that is given. It is difficult to understand, because the guidance is given to the very best of their own knowledge—and as I said, there are many, many stages, many stages of differing guidance.

Les: Yes. Do I have time for another question, or are you concerned for your instrument?

Yes, we always are concerned, but we will allow one more.

Les: On the question of guidance, how often it is said here, that I have a guide so and so and so and so—and I always to dispel that, because I can't see that one person from your side, would be given the ability to guide someone here, through the whole of their existence here. I feel that if there are guides, or 'helpers,' as I think they prefer to be called, they change according to the requirements of the person and the development of the person.

Let me answer that for you: It matters not what you call them—guides, helpers, 'inspiration,' some people call it—those who do not accept that they have an outer helper, guide or whatever. Let me say, it matters not what we are called. But there are very few individuals, yes there are a few who have one guidance throughout their lives, but, but let me stress, they are few and far between. You are correct, in differing stages throughout your earthly lives, you need different help at different stages. So it would seem of course one person cannot supply all of that.

Les: No, I would never accept that theory anyway.

But, there are individuals who come into your earthly world, with the knowledge, with the knowledge and with a mission. They and they alone, are attached to one individual from our world. But they are few and far between. All of you, all of you, have many, many people who surround you, who come to teach you different things—are all on different levels. It cannot be that you just have one, apart from those few I have just spoken of.

Les: They are the exception rather than the rule.

They may be aware of only one helper of guide, whatever you call them. But let me say, there are, how can I say, 'background workers?' (Yes) Forgive me, I sometimes find it difficult to express myself in your earthly tongue. But I am trying very hard in fact sometimes, but I am trying to make myself clear.

Les: You do indeed and I complement you on your language, which you said you've been learning for a long time.

(Tape fades/unclear—Eons?) ...of time let me tell you, but let us not talk of that, that is not why I'm here.

So yes, you are mostly correct, but there are individuals who only have one guidance—

Les: I see, well I won't ask further questions now. On behalf of everyone here I do thank you most sincerely for what you've taught us tonight. It makes us look forward even more to the next meeting and I'm going to ask you please to close for us.

I am always happy to do it. (Thank you.)

Good and gracious Spirit,

Once more we thank you for this gathering.

I thank you for this opportunity,

To speak with all here once again.

Good, gracious Spirit, father of all,

Keep us safe this today,

And all the days of our existence here on Earth.

Help us in our development,

Help us to come to know you in our hearts.

Father, we ask for your help and your wisdom.

Let us come before you in honesty and in grace.

May a blessing be placed on all within this room,

Until we meet again, God's blessings be with us.

Amen

~22nd August 1994~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

I would like to begin with prayer:

Les: Thank you. (Tape faint/unclear at first)

We stand before you once again,

We thank you once more as we gather together,

Let us feel your power and your light,

Let us feel it within this temple of light.

That each and every one of us make use of it,

For the furtherment and the betterment of our fellow man,

That as we leave this room we will have a better knowledge, a better wisdom of all that you stand for.'

Amen

General thanks

This evening I would like to say a few words on prayer please. (Yes) So often we hear your pleas, your cries for help, your distress, your sorrow. But that is not true prayer. Could I ask you what do you think prayer should be? Can you tell me anyone?

Les: May I answer first? (Of course) I've always considered prayer primarily to be one's actions for good, towards one's fellow man. Not necessarily spoken words, but when the words have to be spoken, then I think one should ask for knowledge and wisdom, in how to better one's own life, for the benefit of others. And that others should also be guided to do the same so the line is complete.

Yes. Firstly, let me say prayer should be a very individual thing. You cannot, you cannot encompass it into a sentence or whatever—it needs to be individualised. Prayer should be—I don't want to say honour, but it should be the asking of the knowledge, for the love of that light, that power that you call God. In searching for that love, then you have all other things—Love, wisdom, knowledge; all these things will come. Therefore prayer should be an offering, if you like, of yourself to that higher power, to be used for the good and the betterment of others. You have expressed it well, my friend. I wish the others to know that words, although I have said your thoughts are powerful, words can also be meaningless, when we speak of prayer, I mean. Prayer, therefore, is ultimately the offering of yourselves to that higher power, to be used for the good of mankind. Use it for the betterment of others, ask for help if you like, but firstly, firstly offer yourselves for good—that is prayer. Please bare it in mind always, when you speak to that higher power. I don't mean by that, that there should be any reverence, like there has been in the past to idols, to false Gods or other people. That is not what I am speaking about. Please keep in mind what I have said, and try to cultivate that way of prayer. In that way you will have in the fullness of time, a much better knowledge of all that surrounds you.

Les: Thank you. And I imagine that if we follow what you suggest, as of course we should, then it will help you to bring that knowledge and wisdom to us, because of the power generated here.

Once you have offered yourselves to be used, then of course we can come closer to you. Yes—(Thank you.) (Coughing is heard) Is the lady all right?

Les: Yes, I'll just deal with that if I may.

Thank you. Are there any questions you would like answered tonight?

Les: Yes, I was going to ask whether you would take questions, or whether you wished to speak to the other people here. But if it's questions, yes, if I might begin. It's going to be a very difficult one, I'm afraid and you might well say, there is no adequate answer that I can understand. We have heard quite often and you have told us, that past, present and future, are all one; there's no difference actually. We have heard and it is stated in the Bible, 'World without end.' We have been told that the universe has always existed. Now, if it has always existed, was there ever a beginning, because I have also heard statements to the effect that there was no beginning. And this of course, is quite incomprehensible to our physical minds. I can only speak my friend, from my own small knowledge and indeed it is small, let me tell you, in comparison to what can be achieved and known. If you universe is, how you term, the 'World without end,' that I should say, is only words. As far as I am aware, I don't know of a beginning, I don't know of a beginning. I am only aware that it has always been and always will be. That is the state of the teaching as I know it. I cannot say that is the ultimate truth, because I can only say of what I know. But as far as I am aware, there has been no beginning as such. There always has been.

Les: Thank you for that answer.

I am aware of what you are speaking of. I am aware of the talk of 'Big Bangs,' and all of the other things, but I can only state to you as far as I am aware, there cannot have been a beginning. How can you say it always has been, and then say well, there was a beginning?

Les: This is what has always confused my thinking, because the two are contradictory to our physical thought.

And I can only say that all life is progressive. Perhaps one day my knowledge will be greater, but as of now, I state to you, it always has been. I cannot say more.

Les: Well, thank you for the answer. This is why I said when I posed the question, that you may say it is really not answerable. But I do accept what you say. Thank you.

It rather indicates that there is a higher being, who suddenly says, 'Let us make a big bang.' It does not make sense to me and so, I have to say I too would reject that way of thinking.

Les: Thank you. The next question is that you have told us that there are those upon this Earth, who have one 'guide' or 'helper,' whatever we like to call them, for the duration of their stay upon this Earth. Does that mean that currently there are 'Masters' walking the Earth, unknown to us?

Of course!

Les: Yes, I thought there were.

Of course—many Masters walk your Earth. There is not one, there is not two, there are many.

Les: And if we were sufficiently developed spiritually, I presume that we would be aware of them much more than we are now.

There are many people, who are aware of them.

Les: Yes I'm sure.

They are drawn towards them. Their 'Light' if you like, draws people to them—that is part of the plan. But, yes, many Masters walk your Earth at this time. In fact, we have been gathering for a long, long time—there is a plan. I would say to you, if you looked into all of your continents, you would find many.

Les: Yes, and it's all part of the overall plan, that they should be here now?

Yes. We have been gathering, as I have said, for a long time. And the part of the plan is there should be many at this particular time.

Les: Well then we should consider ourselves fortunate that we are living in this time then, when the changes are due to occur.

Let me say this to you. Let me speak a little more, on what has been happening.

Les: I'd be very pleased to hear it.

In this last century of your earthly lives, much knowledge has been imparted to you. That is why we have to gather, we have to make ourselves known. Many masters have walked your Earth, throughout the earthly time, as you know it. But always, always the knowledge has been rejected. We have had few groups, if you like, who have listened and tried to spread the word and the knowledge. Throughout your history, these people have been trodden under. So the time came when something more had to be done. We have gathered at this particular time, partly because of the knowledge that you have gained in this last century. You have been on a destructive path. We cannot let that happen. It will not happen. Therefore, our plan is to come closer. We are happy that people are now beginning to listen. Gradually, gradually, but still they are listening. We are trying to influence all men of power, as I have previously said. It has to be done in a subtle matter, if you like; we cannot rush in. We have to influence, we have to guide. So we decided that we had to come in greater numbers at this particular time, to prevent, to prevent the destruction that man has been doing towards himself. I can say to you, it is going forward and we are happy with how things are taking place.

Les: That certainly is good news—thank you. I had suspected it, but I wanted to ask the question so my companions here could have the answer. Now, is it part of your plan that other—I'm going to say other 'people,' entities if you like, from other galaxies or planets, are going to be able to make themselves known physically, to those upon this Earth, as part of the plan? (Yes) In other words, to give a 'jerk' to the people here and really make them sit up and take notice.

Well, we have discussed in part what I have said before, when we discussed entities. Let me say again, your Earth is a very, very young planet, as far as spiritual growth goes. There are those entities from other planets who have far, far superior knowledge. Of course, they will be involved in the plan. But to say they will actually manifest themselves amongst you is not quite true. I would rather refrain from saying what their part in the plan is—

Les: Yes I understand.

Do you? Thank you for that. But of course, they are involved.

Les: Yes, I have often wondered what could be done from your side, and obviously you have thought about this with your colleagues, what could be done really, to put a 'jerk' into humanity here; to give them a good shaking mentally and to make them realise the existence of other factors and powers. (Chuckles)

I understand your impatience, yes—But, no, we cannot shake and jerk like that. It has to be done more slowly.

Les: I'm sure you're right.

But I understand your human frailties. But, now, we are gathering momentum. We are happy with how things are progressing, slowly but surely.

Les: Well, that is the main thing, to be sure—Thank you.

But yes, can you see us all descend upon you, thoroughly shaking you? No, that will not happen.

Les: (Laughing) I'm sure some people could do with it. That's why I'm very grateful for my young colleagues here, because obviously I am not going to be here all that number of years and the younger people do have to take over and continue what is being taught.

Yes, of course, that is our aim, that all people should listen, listen with their hearts, not with their thoughts, their rational thoughts. Let that inner voice come forth.

Les: Thank you very much for what you've said, any questions from anybody else? George?

George: Yes, thank you. I have heard that Glastonbury in Somerset is developing as a very nice spiritual centre. And I have been there this weekend and it does seem to have a lovely feel. I wondered if you could say anything about that—Glastonbury as a spiritual centre?

Why do you need to choose and pick particular places, as being spiritual centres? You ARE a spiritual centre—SHE is a spiritual centre. What you are talking about my friend, are places within the Earth—we know of. You speak of your ley-lines—you speak of your holy places. People-power have made the place you call Glastonbury, a mystical spiritual place. It is the presence of the people that have created this. I would say one thing to you. A spiritual place—what do you suppose a spiritual place should be? Is it just a feeling, is it a gathering of the people? What is it?

George: A gathering of people of good spirit, I guess.

I am saddened sometimes to see these places, as you call them, that once were spiritual places, have now become commercialised—yes, that's the word, commercialised—that cannot be good. I'm sorry but that cannot be good. This room, this gathering, is more of a spiritual temple, than the place you call Glastonbury. It once was so, but I cannot say that is so now.

George: Thank you, I do understand, yes.

I'm afraid*, I'm afraid commercialism is taking away that element of spiritualism, spirituality, call it what you like. It is not good—

Les: No it isn't. I was there about 10 years ago I suppose, with my wife. And I was very strongly aware of the spiritual nature, not of the place itself, but the energy of which you spoke to us recently. There is a tremendous spiritual energy there still, if one can tune into it.

The energies lie within the Earth, if you like, of the places. There are many spots within your country alone, that you could call spiritual places. It is a build-up of the energies of the Earth, which create these places. But once man gathers for the wrong reasons then you disperse that pure energy. Do you understand what I am trying to say to you?

Les: Yes, and I agree with you completely, and the word we would use is 'sinful,' that these places have been so commercialised.

Imagine pure clear water being tarnished by dirt. That is what is happening to some of these places.

Les: And to the stone circles, about which you were going to talk to us another time?

Yes, I have promised to do that for you. Yes. The energies lie within your Earth. The build-up of the energies, by the gathering of the people, can enhance, but it also can destroy.

Les: Again, it's just like everything it should be put to the right use.

Unfortunately, there are too many people who go for pure interest and not for the real true reason that they should. (Yes) Is that sufficient for you?

George: Thank you. That's very nice, thank you.

Les: And of course, the expression of energy is often demonstrated, by what we call diviners and dowsers here, who use various implements—there are a number of different sorts, and are able to locate water, oil, metal and so on and so on. That, I imagine, is all part of the energy trapped within the Earth. And these people have a particular affinity with that energy, because there are only a few people who can do accurate divining; only a few that we know of, anyway.

Not necessarily, not necessarily so. You all have the ability, the ability is there—it has been lost. It has been lost over the centuries. You all have the abilities you all have spiritual 'gifts,' as you like to call them. There is no reason, none at all that all of you in this room, could not divine or dowse. But, let me say this, there is no need for the instruments that they use. To cultivate the spiritual gifts, is something within you. Everything is within you, if only you could see it. That is what I am trying to teach you all. There is so much within you that has suffered, that you have lost. Man has lost so much that has been given to him. That is why you are here; you should all be using these gifts. They should be used—what would be better than in the lands where you have the droughts? You do have men who know, who know where to find the water, who can do these things without the use of the rod, and the other articles that are being used. They have that inner knowledge, that gift that they allow to come to the surface.

Les: So, we can all develop it if we give it time—

I say to you all, you all are capable of it.

Les: Well that's very interesting to know, but it would mean development and awareness and acceptance of what we have within us, and time given to the development of the factor.

You need to redevelop all of your senses—your eyes, your hearing, your smell, your taste, your touch. There is so much you need to relearn and it would take such a short time of your day to do that.

Les: Right. Could I ask you what you would recommend? You'll probably say meditation and quiet, which I understand. Is there anything else you could recommend to guide us into the best way to develop these lost things within us?

You, of course, could not regain all so quickly. You need to do it a stage at a time. Let me take the eyes for looking. How often do you really look, stop and look? Let me take for example, a flower. Can you really describe a flower to me? Can you close your eyes, can you smell it, can you feel it? If I was going to bring a flower into this room, were you blindfolded, if you had gloves on your fingers, if your nostrils were blocked, that would be the state of your senses. You could not tell me what the flower was like. That flower is a living energy, as you too are. Take a flower from the garden. Sit, hold it, there goes the development of the touch. Look at it with your eyes, study it. Look at its shape, its form, its colour. Feel that living energy from it. Then you begin to develop. Can you see what I'm getting at?

Les: I'm fascinated that you should take that particular example, 'cause that's precisely what I've been doing for the last week.

Then you begin—you sense by the feel, by the touch. You begin to have the knowledge from the vision of your eyes. The nostrils, the smell begins to develop. You can do it with many things. Take a piece of rock from the ground, hold it within your hand, feel the living energy. Study it with your eyes. Smell it, smell it, because let me tell you, even something as dull as you may think a rock may be, has its own smell. That is the way to develop your senses. Use all that is around you, simple, God-given things. I suggest that if you want to develop these senses, you spend some time each day with this exercise. Take even a candle. I suggest you try a candle. Look at the flame, smell the wax, feel it. It is so simple, so simple—I leave it to you all to decide whether you wish to follow what I say.

Les: Thank you. Yes, I began doing it about a week ago, because I was cutting some flowers to bring into this room, and I thought what a miracle a flower is. Then I began to think of other miracles which we take for granted mainly; that made me begin to examine flowers and foliage much more closely.

Have you learned anything from that?

Les: I've learned how much I didn't know.

I leave it with you.

Les: Thank you—and how much there is we still can learn—Yes, I astonished myself.

Don't be astonished. There may be many things in the coming weeks that may astonish you. But please try, each and every one of you, to develop your senses a little more. I will try to influence you in your times when I feel you are open to that influence.

Les: Thank you. You have just said something which gives me, and possibly my friends here, another avenue of thought altogether. You have said about all being one and one being all. You just used an expression, I will be with you, when I am with you—logically, one would say, well, you can't be with all of us at the same time, but from what you have said, I imagine it is a possibility.

Not a possibility, it can happen.

Les: A fact.

It is a fact.

Les: Yes, which we can't understand, but which you are able to do.

Yes, I can be with you all at the same time. I know this would be too difficult for you to comprehend, but yes, I would be able to come to you, whenever you call me. It matters not, but yes, the possibility—not even the possibility—it is a fact as you say, it can be done.

Les: That is most interesting.

Remember what I have said to you previously; I am not a whole unit. Perhaps that has given you some food for thought.

Les: Yes, I can see it a little more clearly...Dimly, because we can't understand it, but we can begin to see and accept that it does happen, which is the important thing.

I cannot think at the moment, how to explain it further to you. I can only say, I am available to you all. (Yes)

Sara: Can I ask a question? Would you advise me to develop my singing further?

You wish to know? (Yes) Yes, it is an important part of your life, we know. It is something that you have come as part of your chosen life. But, of course, with your free will, it is up to you. But I would say to you, yes, develop it. I would not say that it will be the 'main stay,' if you like, of your whole life. But please, yes, go ahead and develop it as much as you wish, because as I have said, it is one of the chosen things that you plan to do. Does that answer your question? (Yes)

Dawn: May I ask a question? (Of course) This is about mercury. We've heard a lot about mercury fillings in the teeth, aren't good for us. And if we have them taken out, it would still be there. Is there anything we can do to counteract the fact that mercury is not supposed to be very good for us?

Do you mean, is there anything to replace it?

Dawn: Something we can just take, to counteract the reaction.

I see. You want to know whether the reaction can be counteracted—is that what you are saying? (Yes) I see. I would say to you, if there is a problem with a mercury filling, I would say these things are not good to be used within the mouth. And that knowledge is now becoming available to most who deal, your dentists, your orthodontists, as you call them. That knowledge is being made—we have many problems when you speak of such things. I would say to you, to cleanse the mouth, cleanse the mouth with something that is natural, something like elderberry juices—that would be very good. Is that helpful to you? (Yes, thank you.) Rinse continually daily and that should counteract the problem from the mercury.

Les: Any other questions?

May I speak before we carry on—there has been a turning towards all things natural. Again, it is something that man has turned away from. Is it not natural that all things should be supplied to you, on your Earth, for all things that man has to have?

Les: Yes, everything is here, if only we accepted the fact.

Now, with our influence, man is beginning to realise. Yes, I'm sorry, I interrupted you.

Les: No I hope I haven't disturbed what you were going to say. May I ask now, if there are any more questions?

George: Yes, a less attractive question. There is a disease which we call Aids, which affects the immune system. And it seems to be spreading at an alarming rate. Is there any special significance can you say to this disease, or is it just another disease we have to combat—or does it have a special significance?

There is no special significance. There always have been diseases while man has roamed the Earth. Firstly, let me say, man is the creator of many diseases. They are not things to suddenly appear from the sky. We hear so often the pleas and the cries, 'Why does God allow this?' I say to you, why does Man allow this? Disease is exactly the word that it says, dis-ease. There is an imbalance when it comes to disease. It means that somewhere along the life of man, something has gone wrong. Again, we get to cause and effect, or 'karma,' as most of you wish to say. I know these things are difficult for you to understand. You say, why is this allowed to happen, why is that allowed to happen? We don't allow it to happen, Man does. We often hear for prayers saying why does she suffer, why are there disasters? Man must look to himself, for the answers to his problems. The responsibility lies with him. We don't say there are too many people on the Earth, we must get rid of some. Would that not make our work all the more harder, when they come to spirit? We do not say that. Man and the Earth must take responsibility for its own problems. Man has interfered with nature; that is the basis of most epidemics. It is simple, it is clear, but to you, you find it a problem. Man, man has interfered too much with nature. There will be a cure for this disease. (Aids) Not yet, but it will come, as it has come for many diseases, that have been around on your Earth. But until man allows that inner knowledge, wisdom and love, there will always be disease. Does that answer your question?

George: Yes, that's very good to hear. And yes, I think many of us are feeling in our hearts, that that is the status quo. Thank you.

Les: Would you wish to close now?

I would like to say one last thing, before I leave you.

Les: Thank you. We're quite happy to continue, but I felt you were thinking it should be brought to a close. I don't wish to go longer this time. I wish to say next time we want the young gentleman (Andy) to be used. I will indicate it to you, when to speak with him. But I say it is still, still difficult times, but we wish to try. (Certainly.)

And for this time: (Voice very faint on tape)

May you feel the love, which is being brought to you all. Feel it in your hearts, spread it all around, give of yourselves as much as you can.

Les: Thank you. Please accept our love and gratitude for all that you are doing.

Please, no gratitude—

~29th August 1994~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Always happy to come.

Les: It's very nice of you to say so.

As we begin this evening, is there one of you who would like to open with prayer?

Les: Anyone like to open with prayer? If not I will do it for you:

'Heavenly father, we thank you once again for the opportunity we have, of being in your presence and in the company of each other, united as we are in the work we are privileged to do and which we wish to continue, to the best of our ability. We thank you for the help you give us; for those who come from the other side, to give us their knowledge and wisdom. And we ask that we may always treat it as it is given, with humility and sincerity.'
Amen

Thank you. Can I say before we begin this evening, the work would not be given to you, if we were not sure of that humility. So we thank you for those words, but they are unnecessary. (Thank you.) I wish to say once again, how important it is to pray. That is the common word, but I would rather, as I have said before, say to you, to offer yourselves, to be of use to mankind. It may be a good exercise if each one of you, at the beginning of each session, could manage to offer a prayer to the almighty and gracious God.

Les: Thank you. I'll ask my colleagues if they will do that. We used to do that always, but there is always a great diffidence amongst people, when they are asked to do that. But we will try.

If they don't want to, or feel uncomfortable, I understand. But I feel the exercise would be good for all of you, but of course, they can decline if they so wish.

Les: I had been hoping that they'd been praying in their own way silently before the meetings.

Shall I say yes, for them?

Les: Thank you—you know more than I do—

Now, let us begin. I am happy to answer any questions, but I want to devote some time this evening, to trying something a little different; I will say a little later. Firstly, let us have your questions, if there are any.

Les: Yes, I have one which springs from what you told us last week, about the need to learn how to recognise energy and beauty, and so on. And you did mention having no sight, that being unnecessary to appreciate beauty. Of course we can understand that somebody who has had sight and lost it, still has thoughts to draw on and memories. But in the case of a person who is blind from birth, are they given any particular sense, to enable them to appreciate the beauty that they cannot see? I know they develop all sorts of wonderful powers—

Yes, let me speak on this. Of course, their other senses are more developed if they are without their sight. And, if you can imagine, closing your eyes in your dream state, are not things as vivid as they are in your awakened state? Something similar occurs to those who have been without vision from birth. As the sight is denied them, so too, is that sense within their mind developed. So, in effect, they can see pictures, if you like. They are almost 'inspired,' perhaps that is a better word, with vision, vision without sight. It is almost another thought process; something you would find difficult to understand in your everyday terms. But they do see colours, they do see visions, they do see pictures. So the development of their touch, their smell, their hearing, is enhanced, and so too comes the inspiration for the pictures within their minds. Is that sufficient for you?

Les: Yes thank you. I thought there must be something like that, because there would have to be some compensation for what they're losing in having no sight. And when you spoke of being blind but still appreciating beauty, that's the only way I could imagine that it would be done, by impressions from your world.

It is what I was speaking of last week. When your senses are enhanced to their highest degree, you are feeling the energies that are around you. Do you understand? (Yes) So, if the one who is without sight is to touch, let me say, a newspaper, that person is picking up those vibrations of energy, within that paper; something that most of you have lost. But that is why those senses are developed, to such a great degree. They develop—it's a natural development; it should be a natural development for all of you, but of course it is lost, as we have spoken of.

Les: Yes, thank you. That's answered that one. Next question before I offer to anybody else. We are, or many people here, are becoming very concerned with the approaching over-population of the Earth. Not only because of the lack of room there will be for people, but because of the lack of facilities, such as water. There's a limited amount of water from which we can draw from the natural processes. Also, there's a limited amount of Earth, to provide us with food. And the more we develop the population, the more we have to give ground to houses and roads, and so on. Do you see an answer to the over-population problem?

Can I say to you, there is a decrease now in population; do you not see it? No, you do not.

Les: No, so far as the figures—I was listening to a discussion of this only yesterday and the general consensus of opinion, is that the Earth is becoming much more over-populated than it should be.

Let me say this to you. Peoples that you call 'Third World' people are already receiving instructions on how to keep down their numbers. Is that not true?

Les: Yes, that is true.

If that is true, then why do you fear an explosion in numbers? The education, the knowledge is already being given to them, for the very reasons you state. So, if the education, the knowledge is being given and it is being heeded, there will be no explosion of population. I also say to you, resources on your Earth are not limited. They are 'unbound,' but not limited. I have to say this to you.

Les: That's extremely interesting, but is there not a limitation on the availability of water?

My friend, as I have said, much in your world has yet to be discovered. There will be ways and means for all of these things to come to you, when the time is right. I have to say this to you: Resources are not limited—the only thing which is limited at the moment, are your minds, as to what is available. That is the only limitation placed upon you.

Les: I can accept that. (Chuckle)

Yes, I don't wish to seem to, how do you say, 'put you down,' but yes, there are more resources to be discovered on your world.

Les: That's most interesting.

Again, it is the time factor. But the inspiration, the knowledge, will be given at the correct time. (Good.) But let me reassure you, there will be no explosion of population.

Les: Thank you. And you can see further ahead than we can, so I accept that happily. It doesn't really affect me, but of course, it does, inasmuch as one is concerned about the generations to come.

Of course—and that can only be a good thought.

Les: Thank you for the answer. It's certainly very encouraging.

There is much on your Earth, still not inhabited, is there not? There is much land that is not lived upon. So, let me say as far as the area of land is concerned, you cannot be over-populated within many hundreds of years. But, as I say, the resources will come to light, when the time is right.

Les: And could I ask a supplementary question to that? Do you see our deserts being made cultivable areas? There has been much talk about it. But the cost is said to be so astronomical, that it can't even be considered. I'm wondering if, in fact, the deserts can be made to produce food?

It is one of those areas that can be developed, yes. You are touching on one of the things I am speaking of. When the knowledge is available, all of these things can happen. Yes, that is true, much has yet to take place upon your Earth. You sometimes send up these thoughts of despair, of destruction. If only you could be a little more outward-looking, a little more forward in your thinking, then more could be given. Sometimes we see a whole area of pessimism—is that the correct word to use? (Yes) It is almost like a shadow that covers your World. It is something that you should guard against. But, I speak not only of the individual man, but of all the powers of all the countries of your world. There is this pessimism, that seems to continue and which we must dispel.

Les: Well, I'm glad you're helping to do that, because the average well-thinking person, does despair because of the greed, which is so prevalent, in the destruction of the rainforests, the denuding of the oceans of fish, and so on and so on—(Of course.)—destruction all the time.

You must do an 'about turn,' if you like, in your thinking on these matters. But, again, these things are beginning to happen. (Good.) We see a light there. It is a struggle, it always has been, but we can see a 'Light' of hope and encouragement. (Splendid.) And of course, remember the whole geology, the whole structure of your Earth, is one moving mass. There will be times when new lands appear, and some will disappear. It is all part of the evolution of course. But these things will be for the better.

Les: What you say is certainly comforting and my questions are partly because I'm hoping to get the benefit of your knowledge to our fellow man. By publicising it, publishing it, to those who are willing to read and to learn.

Of course, we can only hope that this time man will listen. So many times down the centuries, has man listened and then put to one side. It has been a great struggle for us, to maintain that TRUTH, that SPIRITUAL TRUTH.

Les: I'm sure it must have been and it's all because of greed and the desire for money and material objects. That is why at this time, there is a concerted effort among us, to walk, to talk, to do all we can to instruct you upon your Earth at this time.

Les: That's very comforting and encouraging, thank you. There's one other question, if I might put it—not of any material significance, but many people here are still discussing the reason for the disappearance, apparently in a short space of time, of the dinosaurs. Are you able to give an explanation as to what calamity caused that?

Yes, I think I can—

Les: If it's not encroaching on your time. It's not a trivial question, though it hasn't any great significance.

At the time the dinosaurs roamed your Earth, they were magnificent creatures—powerful, strong, with everything there to sustain them. Their food, the Earth all around them, made them strong. At that time there was, how shall we say—an explosion from space, which hit your Earth at that time, destroying mostly the food that these animals survived on. It in fact changed the structure of the whole Earth, which meant, because they could not survive without their foodstuff, and of course they lived in lush, lush green lands—with the explosion of your Earth, so too came climatic changes. From hot, it became much, much colder. So gradually, these great animals could not exist. It was a natural happening that was meant to be. And so, too, down the ages, each species has reigned supreme. I may say too, at the moment it is mankind, but he too, is on a destructive course. (Yes) But the reason behind the destruction of all the animals, was a geological one, an atmospheric one, a loss of food and other animals, which helped to sustain these great, great dinosaurs. They roamed the Earth for a great, great time.

Les: Yes they did. Well thank you very much for that answer. It's most interesting, because our scientists had developed a theory that it was a climatic change, an Ice Age, as they call it, which destroyed them. But you've given further information. Thank you.

It was climatic, but also a little more than that.

Les: Yes, you've made that quite clear now thank you. And on that same subject, and that will be my last question, because I know you want to do something else.

Are we still having to find what we call a 'missing link,' between the animal and human kingdom? We keep discovering bones, which are given pride of place for a time, as a missing link, but I feel that there is still something missing, before the whole picture can be painted?

As much as your scientists think they know, let me tell you, they've only scratched the surface. Even on their timing, which today they are very proud of, I can say to you, their timing is very much wrong—they need to go further, further back. I will discuss this another time, because time is short this evening. But when they go back, thousands, millions of years, they date such a bone, they date such a rock—I'm afraid most of the knowledge that they have, is not quite correct. You are true when you say there is a missing link, but it will not be discovered just yet. We need to go further and further back in time. I, as I have said, will speak more on this subject.

Les: That will be most interesting. We look forward to it.

It is something that will interest you all, I am sure. But there is a 'missing link.'

Les: I thought there was. Thank you very much.

But let me say, the scientists really are 'out,' on their dates.

Les: I'm not surprised, thank you.

Right, I'm going to leave it to you, because you wish to do something else and I must let you get on with that, I'm taking up too much time. I'm sorry, it becomes so interesting when you're here, that I forget time.

What is time?

Les: Only something on loan.

Yes, it is such a short time I am here—But I am sure we can give much—This evening I want to try something with all of you. I want you all to be quiet and still. I want you to see, as if you are looking into a mirror. And if you will after say, ten, fifteen minutes of your time, if you would go around each one. If they are able to speak, and there may be one or two who cannot, I would like them quietly please, to say what they are seeing. What I am trying to achieve, is to show them their true selves. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, I do indeed. I will do that now. Thank you.

Les then checked that all the group understood. We then sat in silence for about 5 minutes before one came through Andy. NB: Andy seemed to have the ability to be used in the rescue of people, who were deeply lost in the 'mists' of darkness/negativity.

Les encouraged this one to speak, giving reassurances, that there would be no criticism/judgement/blame and that they were being helped—

After several minutes, Salumet joined in:

You are forgiven my son. You are forgiven—

Les: Thank you. I knew he was wanting forgiveness—God bless you. Now you can be happy. Now you can face the world. You heard what was said, you are forgiven.

(loud) I heard.

Les: You heard, that's fine—

(Spoken with great compassion) Speak to us, my son. Let it come from the heart. Let yourself be free. We love you, we want to help you. Speak to us.

Les: Please do—

I didn't mean to do it.

We know. All we want is to embrace you in our love and light. But first you need to learn to forgive yourself, forgive yourself—it is the hardest thing that you must do. But we love you my son. You are surrounded by much, much love, but don't you see, you cannot go forward until that forgiveness is given to yourself—

Les: You can make amends if that's what you wish, by helping many, many others.

I wish to go with the others.

Les: You can go with the others, once you have done as you were asked, forgive yourself. Then you can go with them; they'll accept you. But they can't make you forgive yourself. That is something you have to do.

It is very hard.

Les: Of course it is. That's why you've been brought here tonight, for us to offer help, to assist you to do it. But we can't do it for you.

There is something he wishes to ask, but he is afraid—Don't be afraid of me my son. Ask what you will. I will endeavor to help all that I can. What is it you wish to ask me? Don't be afraid.

It is difficult.

Les: Of course it is. We understand that, but we can't ask it for you. Give yourself the pleasure of asking, will you? Then you can go with the others, when these things are dealt with. Isn't it worth it, if you want to follow them and go with them?

You want to help, don't you?

Yes.

Yes. Are those words too difficult to say to me? It is what we have waited to hear from you. The desire, the wish to help others. That is what you want, is it not?

That is correct.

But first, my son, we need to show you a little more of yourself, before you can do that. By speaking with us, to us, by asking to be forgiven, you have taken that first step. Now I say to you, go with those who have brought you. And I can say this to you with an open heart, you will be guided by those who love you, who want to help you. And you can take it one step at a time from there.

Les: You understand?

I do.

Les: Good.

May God's blessings be with you, encourage you, help you and give you the love you need to sustain you. God bless you my son. Now go, go with those who brought you.

Les: You walk backwards to go forwards.

(Les then checked that Andy was back with us, before continuing with the evening.)

Before you go, let me say, there are so many of these souls, who find it so difficult to forgive themselves. They think their transgressions are worse than anything that could be known. Of course, they are wrong. We only want to help and to love them. But sometimes, they imprison themselves in their own prison.

Les: Again, the power of thought.

Again, the power of thought—

Les: And of course at any time you wish for one to be brought here like that, we're only too happy to help. There will be many times, I have to say to you. There will be many times when the unusual will happen. It is not 'unplanned,' let me say—I don't want you to think that. But this gentleman (Andy) has much to give. Tonight we wanted to show that element of the soul, who needed to ask for forgiveness. Forgiveness is within themselves, but it is when they see someone like me, they feel they need to ask for forgiveness. And sometimes we need to give it to them, before they can continue onwards.

Les: I can understand that.

It has been a long time for that gentleman, let me say. He has been a lost soul for a considerable time. I thank you all for the help he has been given.

Les: We're privileged to have been able to and we thank you for giving us the opportunity, as part of what we have to learn.

Again, no thanks, please. No thanks—Now, let us see if anyone can recognise themselves.

Les: Did you get any reflections Debbie?

Debbie: No, just myself.

Les: Just yourself and no alterations?

The lady's mind is too active. Don't worry, we will sort that for you.

Les: George?

George: My mind is too active as well.

Les: Paul?

Paul: It's difficult to get a mirror, but maybe a few animals, like cats, a bird or something.

Les: Getting clairvoyance rather than a reflection of yourself.

Paul: I suppose it was, yes.

Margaret?

Margaret: My concentration went.

Les: Don't worry. Mark?

Mark: I think I was too active as well.

Les: Busy lot of individuals, aren't you? Jackie?

Jackie: I wasn't sure. There's someone in a blue and white striped t-shirt. I couldn't see myself, then I saw Sandra come into it.

Les: Probably getting clairvoyance, rather than a reflection of yourself. Sandra?

Sandra: I'm sorry Les, I don't know what you're on about.

Les: Were you dozing?

Sandra: Must have been.

Les: Never mind, doesn't matter, don't worry.

We will try it again sometime. But the gentleman who you said was having clairvoyance (Paul)—In actual fact, he was seeing a true reflection of what he is. I don't mean physically, I mean what he is.

Les: Do you mean the one who saw animals?

Do you not see, it's the goodness that flows from his soul—that is what he is seeing. I am not asking that they see a mirror image of themselves—that is what I was trying to get to and that is what the young gentleman was seeing. He has an affinity with animals, although he is unaware of it, at this particular time in his life. But in his years to come, he may even have more to do with them. And I say at some stage in his life, will care for them.

Les: You heard that Paul?

Paul: Yes, thank you very much.

Les: I misinterpreted what he had seen.

No matter. I did not want to say too much, because then it would influence the minds of those who are in the room.

Les: Of course. I can only thank you once more, for what you have done for us and what you have given us. I would ask you if you would kindly close for us.

I will:

'Great and gracious Spirit, as we have gathered here this evening, we give thanks for all that has been done. We ask that we be enfolded in your love and light again, as we depart our separate ways; that each and every one of us offer ourselves to you, to be used as a vessel. Until such time as we gather here in this earthly temple, may your blessings be placed on each and every one of them, that when we come together once again, as we surely will, great and gracious Spirit, grant us that wisdom and knowledge, which only you can impart to us.'

Amen

This evening was devoted to working with the 'instrument' (Eileen). We have not included the brief communication to that effect. It was necessary on this occasion for those in spirit realm to work quietly with the sitters, particularly Eileen, in order to facilitate future communications.

~12th September 1994~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

It is good to be back with you, thank you. (Thank you.) It is good to see so many here once again.

Les: Yes, our meetings are certainly growing in numbers, aren't they?

I thank you for your attendance here. It is most warming. And I feel the love from each of you. For that I am grateful. And of course, it helps as you know, with that that needs to be done.

Les: I am sure.

It is good to see so many, who are becoming interested in this line of work.

Les: Yes, it is certainly spreading, not only in this country, but in other countries also. As you well know—and we have yet another newcomer tonight.

The lady is quite comfortable within the group.

Les: Good. She has had some experience.

Yes, I know. We are pleased that she has attended. There is no reason why she should not be here.

Les: Fine. She'll be pleased to know that.

In fact, I think she would like to ask me something, is that not true?

Les: Would you like to ask a question Sheila? Don't be nervous, just ask it.

Sheila: I just hope I can be some help in this group.

Les: The lady hopes that she can be of help within the group.

Provided her intentions are true, there is no reason why she should not. I would tell you if the link was weak within the group. But it is not so. I am happy that she is here.

Les: That's your answer Sheila.

Sheila: I'm very happy to be here.

I would like to speak a little on what it takes to have a good 'link' with us.

Les: I'd be pleased if you would.

You don't mind if I speak on that?

Les: On the contrary, I'd be very happy to hear you.

We listen often and we hear you speak of personalities, of how he, she, blends with one another. We do not look at it like that. We look not at the personalities, but we look at the true nature of the being. That is what makes people 'gel' together to form groups that can work well together. It is the true inner self that is accountable to the light of the work. Does that make sense to you?

Les: Yes, I quite understand.

Each one of you radiates your own light, your own energy. It is the energies that blend, not the personalities; that is a human thing. The personality of the person comes from the human entity and is not of the spirit, as such. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, I do. And in fact, I have frequently said that in this group, personalities are, if I can say it without disrespect, of no importance. It is the work which is important. All have heard me say that more than once. Yes. You all retain your individuality of course. But that is not the most important point for a group of this calibre. We look beyond that, we see the energies bonding, although I'm afraid many of you in this group, are not aware of it at this present time. But I can tell you now the energies are blended and blended very well. That is why I have been able to come at this time, because the setting and the timing is right.

Les: That's very good news, thank you.

Sometimes people say, 'I'm not comfortable sitting next to that one.' It is not because of any disagreeable thing with the person, it is that the energies do not blend, and so it is felt in the physical. Do you see?

Les: Yes, and each one would interpret it as a physical discomfort.

Yes, that is what I am trying to say to you. But you have to look inwards and that is what we do. That is what we try to do, to influence the correct people, to come together at the proper time, so that we can be used, and use them correctly, to the very best of their abilities, because after all, each one is individual and on a different pathway. (Yes) Now then, would you like to ask anything on this subject?

Les: Yes. What you have just said, reminds me of something, which came through my lady many years ago now, that individuality is important, only when it ceases to be of importance to the individual.

Those words are very true. Individuality, as I have said, belongs to each and every one of you. But it is not important. It is the whole that is important, not the individual. Yes, you are correct when you say those words.

Les: Thank you. Yes, there may be other questions, but I would like to start off, with something for the benefit of all my colleagues here, which is bound to be of interest to them. I was speaking last night to a person (communicating through a medium) who was responsible for many, many people, during his stay on this Earth, and he still now is responsible for them. They continue to look upon him as their leader. I was chatting generally to him and he did surprise me rather, by saying that in his land, as he put it, they still are able to have seasons like on Earth. When I questioned him about winter, he said they are able to have snow and frost if they wish, but of course they do not suffer from the cold, as they did on Earth.

Yes, I think we have touched on this subject before, have we not?

Les: Just vaguely, yes.

Yes, let us go back to what I am always going to refer to, the importance of THOUGHT. If you wish the seasons, that is what you get. (In spirit realms) If you wish the winter, the summer, the spring, if that is your desire, then it can be achieved. But yes, you are quite correct. You don't have the intensity of the cold or the heat. You have the changes, you have the colours, but not the intense feeling, if you like, that the human physical being can express and feel. But yes, of course, all things are possible, with the THOUGHT. If it is desired, then it is there. It is as simple as that.

Les: Yes, I was particularly interested, because nowhere in all my reading, have I ever come across it as specifically mentioned as that. So I was very intrigued at what he said. I can quite understand it, but I wonder why it has never been written before. If it has been written, then I haven't come across it.

I think you would find the words written, if you were to search long enough. It is written, yes, yes.

Les: Yes, I've probably not read that particular book or books.

The information has been given to others, but yes, it is written down.

Les: And he said that they liked the winter, because of the beauty and the snow, which to them, in the season, was as beautiful as the summer landscapes. That, too, I can understand. But would it require, as I imagine, a communal thought, to produce the season they like?

Not at all.

Les: Not at all?

Not at all. A single thought can create that vision.

Les: A single thought from a normal person?

I cannot stress to you too much, how important thought is—I always will teach you that. Thought, THOUGHT is the most powerful thing that you possess.

Les: So, if one person were to think that there should be winter scenes, he or she would be able to see them, and others would also be able to see them?

If they so desired.

Les: Ah, they have to desire also.

You cannot intrude on other people's thinking patterns. I know it's difficult for you to understand that a single thought can create what you want to create and yet not intrude on another person's thinking.

Les: Yes, it is rather difficult for us to understand.

Yes, yes, it is too difficult for your mind to understand.

Les: But it's nice to know it can be done. (Yes) I look forward to it.

In fact, I would suggest you cultivate the habit, while you are still in the physical body. It can be done.

You can create many things with your thoughts. It would be a good exercise for you.

Les: Yes, true, it certainly would. Right, I'll ask if there are other questions now. George? Brent?

George: Last time we talked about our very distant ancestors. About two million years ago, there were people we now refer to as 'Homo erectus.' Perhaps longer ago—our timing isn't always accurate. The fossils indicate that their voice boxes, were not as developed as ours, but would there have been a similar type of spirit communication between them, and spirit realm in those days?

Let me answer that for you. Spirit has always been—and of course, even with man in his younger days, if you prefer to say it that way. Spirit communication has always existed, because Man is Spirit. I wish you could all understand that. You are spirit first you are a human being second, if you like. So of course, spirit communication has always been. How could it not exist?

George: That is put beautifully clearly, thank you.

Les: If I might follow that George. Apparently you've not read, or if you have, it may have escaped your memory, that the back of the craniums of those people, were much more developed than ours are, because that was the seat of psychic expression and communication. That is why it was so developed. I'll let Salumet correct that, if it's not so.

I was going to say, it is the one area of your evolution, which has gone backwards in man, rather than forwards, as you think you have. The psyche has always been there and in earlier man, it was much more advanced. Yes, you are correct.

Les: Brent, any questions?

Brent: Well I don't have a question, as much as a comment. I'll tell you a little story.

I'm always happy to hear stories, thank you.

Brent: I mentioned to a friend, that we'd been having communications and I said, it might well be that if you (He) had a question we could put it for you. And he said: 'My question is what is the weight of the moon?' And the reason I'm asking that question, is that I could check on it, if it's true, or if it's false. He's enough of a sceptic, to want to do that. But it brings into focus really for me, the whole problem of being able to 'check on' the information you give to us, and scientific validation. But I just thought it was amusing that he wanted to know the weight of the moon. So I'm not really asking you to tell me the weight of the moon—

I can tell you the weight of the moon—(Pause)

It is weightless! (Smiles!) Shall I go further?

Brent: Well I know that! The mass of the moon, is what I think he meant to say, but in any case—

Yes, I understand, I understand that we have many sceptics and you are always seeking for proof. I am not here to always give you proof. That is not what I have come for. But of course, I understand that many of you seek that element of communication. I will try, I will endeavour to give you proof, as we go along on these meetings. I think I can promise you that you can look, judge and see for yourself, that what I tell and give to you, is true and can be judged. Is that fair enough?

Les: Yes, thank you. We look forward to that.

I think I have said we must go slowly. But the time will come and you will have your evidence.

Remember that I am not quite in control of the instrument I am using. (Eileen) But I am very happy at the way we are progressing along.

Brent: If I could just say one more thing on that. You've said we will have our evidence. Now, there's personal evidence and then there is public evidence. And of course, the only evidence that the scientists admit, is evidence which is public and repeatable and all of that. I don't expect to have that sort of evidence; I only expect to have personal evidence. But what do you mean by evidence, I wonder?

By evidence, I mean whatever the individual finds acceptable to themselves. That is the only evidence that is acceptable. You are all individuals, you are all endowed, endowed—I'm sorry, my words are being rather mixed tonight. Forgive me if I seem a little hesitant with my words. You are all individuals, endowed with individual mind and thought. Of course, what would be evidence for one person, would not be acceptable to another. You see that, don't you? So it is much more important to me, that I give you individual evidence that satisfies each and every one of you. We are not too concerned with your scientific world. As I have said before, many of their facts and figures are wrong in any case.

Les: Yes, I was going to say that Brent's friend would have to prove that the instruments with which he was measuring the weight of the moon, would have to be proved correct, and he can't do that!

Yes, of course. It works two ways—evidence. You prove and can you disprove? What is the balance? You prove it to me, you disprove it. What do you do? You have to meet in the middle, do you not? You have to be acceptable to both sides; for the evidence to be good, both sides have to agree. Is that not true?

Les: That's right. And I have said to Brent before when we have discussed this that so many people, scientists in particular, are looking always for physical evidence. They will not go into your field to discover what is to be discovered.

Brent: Well yes, but in fairness to the scientists, they have decided that public evidence is the only evidence that can be allowed.

Les: I disagree completely.

Brent: Under those rules of the game, it's not surprising that they might be quite limited in what they discover.

Les: Well yes, they're postulating the wrong rules. But if they wish to do that, it's their misfortune.

Can I say, that the scientists here on your Earth, have many times been given what you would term, 'good evidence'. They have rejected that evidence. That is not good. How many times can you try to prove to somebody that they are speaking the truth? The quality of the evidence that they have received, especially in recent years, has been great and yet they still reject it. We cannot make people accept evidence, if they do not wish to. But, yes, again it is their mind, which is rather closed to what they are seeing and feeling; they lack the feeling. Do you understand? They have the understanding, but they don't have that inner feeling, which is necessary, to understand your own selves, your own spirit. It is something which is within you and I'm afraid that is what the scientists lack. They are too concerned with the world of figures and facts and that cannot be good.

George: Yes. Could I ask—a particular stumbling block with science, has been the great reluctance to regard space as anything at all. Because space is non-material, it has been regarded as nothing, for many, many years. This is something which I found I could not accept.

You see, we go into deep matters once again. The problem with the human species, is they can only understand what they see and what they feel. And I'm afraid that they have to go much deeper into themselves, into that inner knowledge and feeling that exists within each of you. That is why they cannot accept what is in front of them. They are too involved in material ways, facts and figures. Let me say to you, reach out your hand. What do you feel? What do you feel when you put your hand out? Nothing—but if I tell you, you are touching energy, what would you say to me?

Les: I personally would agree.

But your scientists would not. He would say there is nothing there, because he cannot see, he cannot feel. And so, as far as his intellectual mind goes, there is nothing more.

George: Yes, that is what we call the 'establishment' scientist. There are a few who would say otherwise; a very few.

Of course, and it is the scientists of your world, that we are trying to influence at the moment.

Brent: I'm not here to disagree, but surely scientists would say there is energy all over the place. And what's required is either the sense to detect it, or instrumentation to detect it. They wouldn't say there is nothing. They would say there's plenty of energy there. Astronomers look at all sorts of energy emanating from all sorts of places. I'm not trying to contradict you—

No, I agree with you—

Brent: I think what you mean by energy is something different to what we mean by electromagnetic energy.

Yes, I think that is the problem. With electro-magnetic energy, it is something your scientists have discovered, that they can test. I am speaking of something, which is not within their knowledge, within their grasp, at this particular time, and so they deny it. Until they can prove to themselves that it exists, then everything else does not exist in their minds. And that is the problem, I agree with you, yes. They know that energy exists. Your quantum physicists have done much work in the field. Of course they have much knowledge, but what I say to you, their knowledge is still very, very limited, as to what really exists in this universe—

Les: And since you like stories, may I tell you one, which is utterly true. There's a scientist living next door to me; a very clever man no doubt and I was talking to him one day. I forget how the subject arose, but I said about Australians, are they upside down, or are we upside down, or what. He said, they're not really upside down and I said, no, the Earth's proven to be a sphere, beyond any doubt. They must be upside down in our estimation. Oh no, he said, that position is only relative to an angle to the centre of the Earth. That's a typical science answer.

Let me tell you a little story, shall I?

Les: Yes please.

We are often amused by the stories that circulate here on your Earth. Sometimes we too, laugh at what is said. So we too, like a good story.

Dawn: Changing the conversation, I do hypnotherapy. Can you give me some tip for reinforcing the hypnotherapy I give to people, to stop smoking?

Yes, I know what you are speaking of. Let me say this to you. Individuals—let me speak of individuality again—and I understand your hypnotherapy and the work that you do. But everything you do, you may be successful, you may not; if the individual mind is not ready to accept—let me say their 'Higher Selves,' that is a better way of putting it—if they are not ready to accept whatever the problem is, be it smoking, be it weight, be it whatever it may—you will not have success with that person. There is nothing more you can do, if the Higher Selves do not accept the reasoning, the talking that you do with your hypnotherapy, then it cannot be successful. Do you think there is a fault with what you do? Do you feel that there is something more that you should do?

Dawn: I think sometimes some people need extra help. I had someone today, who's come back again for various reasons.

Yes, of course, and that is how it would be. But let me speak of those persons. They sometimes are not even aware of what is held within their own subconscious minds. And sometimes with some individuals, you will never reach that point. I know that is difficult for you to accept, but ultimately each individual holds the key to their own way of living and if they are not ready to accept that, then whatever is done in the form of hypnotherapy, hypnosis, whatever—it will not be achieved. So, too, we can speak of the healing energies and rays. If subconsciously, that person is not ready to accept it, then there will be no healing. If the spirit is not touched, how can there be a healing? And that is what we are speaking of. What you are doing basically with your hypnotherapy, is a form of healing.

Dawn: Thank you.

Les: The same thing applies to evidence of course. If people are not ready to accept, then no manner of evidence is going to make them sit up and listen.

Of course. It is the same in all areas of your life. It matters not, you all have what you term a 'Higher Self'—that spiritual aspect of each one of you. If the Spirit is not touched, in healing, in the hypnotherapy, in the work that the doctors do—because sometimes they too are healers, without actually being aware of it—then there cannot be 'cures,' as you like to call them. Is that satisfactory for you? It applies to all, all aspects of your lives.

Les: Thank you—any more questions from anybody?

Debbie: Each of us is born under a different star sign. And supposedly each day we get little articles in the paper, written about what sort of mood we should be in, due to the positions of the moon and the stars. Could you explain a little more on this please?

You wish to know if it is correct? Yes, I know. There has been much talk about Astrology and all aspects of work in that field. I can say to you, to a degree it is quite true. Your Earth is governed by the rest of the galaxy, the moon, the stars. Yes, each aspect of the universe is intermingled with each other. You can see that, can't you? (Yeah.) But of course, when we speak of the human being, what you are speaking of, is a 'grain,' that exists within the Earth. I don't want to call you a grain, I don't wish to be derogatory, but I am trying to explain it simply to you. If you considered yourself a grain of the Earth, which is what you are, then imagine how the moon, the other planets, have an effect on the Earth. So, too, you are affected. But of course, when you speak of your newspapers, you cannot all be doing the same things, feeling the same things, at the same time. That is rather trivial and I would say to you that cannot be. But on a wider aspect, then Astrology is a science. It is indeed a science, although many people rather say, it cannot be. I can say to you, it is a science, but on the wider aspect of things. The Earth is just one small globe within the universe. How, how could it not work together, if you are not affected by each other? Are you not as individuals, affected by everyone that is around you? Can you see that, that each one you come into contact with, leaves its mark upon you? And that is what happens with the planets, the sun, the moon, the Earth. We have to go to deeper matters to discuss this, really, and I hope that will come as time goes on. But, yes, the Earth and all upon it, including your plant life, your seas, everything upon your Earth, is in fact affected by the stars, the Moon and the Sun. So, in the wider aspect, your answer is 'yes,' but as far as your newspaper goes, 'no,' that is trivia.

Debbie: Does that mean that people born under similar signs, have similar personalities?

I would say that has to be. I would say 'similarities,' but not exactly the same. How can you be? You are all individual, you are spirit, you are all individual. Is that helpful to you? (Thank you.) But you cannot take it as a daily newspaper reading. You cannot look at everyone grouped together under one sign and say you are all the same. That is not true.

Les: It's quite impossible, isn't it?

But I will say, 'yes,' the stars, the sun, the moon, do affect the Earth. And the times—it is the time of the birth, that has the effect upon you. I hope that is a little helpful to you.

Les: You can stop buying newspapers now. (Laughter) Any more questions?

Paul: In everyday life, we quite often get coincidences happen and I always get quite excited when two things occur, apparently unrelated and yet there is some kind of connection. And I think they're like pointers, or beacons, that maybe you're on the right track sometimes. What can you say about coincidences?

Coincidences—what do I think?

Paul: Yeah, are they often pointers?

I would say to you, listen to that inner self. If you feel guided towards what these coincidences are pointing towards, then go forward and take heed. I know what you are speaking of. Many of you say life is fated, it was meant to be, meant to happen, such and such. It was a great coincidence, yes.

Coincidences—many things in your life that happen have a mirror image. That is a coincidence. It is like if you look in the mirror, you see an image of yourself. And sometimes within your time, these coincidences, as you call them, happen. It is like a mirror happening. Can you understand that? Am I making sense?

Paul: Mmm, I think so, yeah.

Les: Say if you're not satisfied Paul. Salumet would rather that you were—

George: Some of these coincidences may relate to your power of thought—you think of a friend and that friend appears the next day.

That, my friend, is exactly what I say when I speak of thought. Your power of thought can create so much, it can. It also can create what you want to happen. And sometimes with coincidences, it is because the thought has travelled. Can you see? It is not an easy thing to explain to you.

George: One of our scientists, Carl Jung, called it 'synchronicity,' that rather special coincidence, through power of thought.

It is another name for it, yes. If you are happy to use that name, then so be it; that is fine by me.

Les: What is difficult to establish, is whether your thought is producing your friend, or your friend's thought has targeted you, to let you know he's coming.

George: Yes, I've had some lovely coincidences in my life like that.

And do not forget that your thoughts rebound. That too, can be a reason for coincidences. It is the thought that rebounds and creates the mirror image. That is what I am trying to say.

Les: And I have personally never been able to decide, whether a coincidence is such, or whether it is spiritual impression.

It is both, actually. It can be both.

Les: Thank you—any other questions?

Brent: I've always wondered, and I was speaking to other people about this and I think everyone wonders—why is it that some of us, not me, not myself, but some of us, are very deeply sensitive and can act as mediums? Others of us, just don't seem to be at all. Is it something to do with the original soul, or is it something to do with the person's course in life? What accounts for that difference?

We have rather touched on this subject before too. I have spoken of when you come to the physical being, when you come to this earthly life the choice is the soul's. Everything is 'spoken of,' before you actually arrive. That may be difficult for you to understand, but you do not come here, without the knowledge of why you have come. Many people retain the memory of the 'gifts of the spirit', as you like to call them sometimes—many people retain them, others do not. In fact, your memory is blocked when you are born, but some still have the ability to remember. And some in fact come with the memory full intact, but that is usually for a very good reason. And so you have your mediums, as you call them, from birth. It also, too, depends on the evolution of the soul. Always, we must go back to the soul. You are all 'mediums,' each and every one of you are mediums. How can you not be? You are spirit. What is a medium, if it is not someone who is able to have communication, with the spirit side of life? So, you are all mediums. But the difference lies in the ability to use the knowledge that is inherent within you all. That is where the evolution of the soul comes into play. Some of you, some of you I will say, have trodden this pathway before. The knowledge that you have attained, stays with you. And so you see, some are more advanced than others. And of course, too, you have to want to develop the gifts that you all have, once you are here. And development lies, as I have said before, in the power of your prayer and in your quiet moments and in your gatherings as a group, as you are here. (Long pause + deep breath) You, my friend, find it difficult to accept that you are more, more than just a human form. Let me say, you are one within this room, who has trodden this way many, many, many times. (More emphasis) You have this time been endowed with much intellect, (Pause)—for a very good reason. You must in this lifetime, use your intellect for the good of spirit. That is why you are here, my son. Use that intellect, but develop your inner feelings. In time to come, you will work with us and you will do much to enlighten those of intellect, who have many doubts. You, my son, have much work to do and I say to you, stay on the pathway that you now tread, because in this time, you can do much good.

Brent: Thank you.

I wish you to know we know of your worries. We are helping you all that we can. You will have your evidence this time.

Les: On behalf of everyone here, we thank you most sincerely and our love goes with you.

Until we meet again.

Les: We look forward to it. God be with you.

~19th September 1994~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

I thank you for your welcome.

Les: We're delighted to have you again.

It is good to be here again. (Thank you.) I am happy that so many have attended once more.

Les: It is nice to see them all, isn't it?

I have been aware of the thoughts that many have been sending me since the last meeting.

Les: Have you? Good.

Let me say, it is not always necessary to keep your questions for me on this evening. I will endeavour to help each one of you, as I have already said to you, if you need me, I will try to help.

Les: That's extremely kind of you. We do appreciate it.

But I have been aware of the thoughts being sent up to me. So if there is one who wishes to speak to me now, please let them do so.

Les: Somebody who would like to speak to Salumet? Any special query or problem you have been hoping to be answered?

As I have said, it does not always need to be asked in this room. I will help them, even if it does not happen quickly, I will always tend to the thought that is sent to me.

Les: Thank you very much. I'm sure they'll begin to recognise that in the future and deal with it more easily, than they can at the moment.

It may take some of them a little time to recognise my presence with them, but no matter, I will be there if I am needed.

Les: Thank you, I'm sure everyone does appreciate that and will look forward to becoming aware of your presence with them.

I would like to say to you, before we continue further, next time, next time within the room, I would like to try something different. It will involve the young man who we have asked you to help. (Andy) If he is so willing, I will ask that he be seated in the centre of the room.

Les: Certainly. I'm sure he will be, because his progress is much greater than I had anticipated. I've been pleased—

Did I not tell you so?

Les: You did—

But of course, it is imperative that we have his acceptance to do (it).

Les: Yes of course. Do you wish to ask him now?

It matters not. You can inform me at the beginning of the next meeting.

Les: Right, I'll do that, but I'm quite sure he'll be agreeable.

I hope we can achieve what we want to, but let me reiterate my words: Things must go slowly.

Les: Yes we quite understand.

But we will not be disappointed, will we, if it does not happen as we think it should?

Les: No, we know something else will be done instead.

I, too, am limited in what I am allowed to do, unfortunately.

Les: (Chuckle) Yes, we'd all like to have a lot more power, wouldn't we? But we shall certainly try as you suggest.

Now, are there any questions for me?

Les: Are there any questions tonight for Salumet?

(Pause)

It would seem they have lost their tongues. Let me say then, if you wish, we shall sit quietly and see what we can do.

Les: Certainly, unless you would like to talk to us, on any particular topic. There is much we all have to learn.

Of course, would you like me to speak on any particular thing?

Les: Would someone like to suggest a subject?

Brent: I would, yes. I'd like to ask what your advice is, to someone who would say, I'm a spirit being, I'm never going to die. I realise there's a law of cause and effect that applies, but suppose I decide I'll be the adulterer, the thief, the ne'er-do-well in this life, and that things will simply work themselves out over time. What would be your message to someone who chose to do that sort of thing? What would happen to them in general? Does that make sense?

Of course, we come again to free will, do we not? If they wish to continue throughout their lifetime here, doing as they wish, neglecting that spiritual side, that aspect of themselves, then of course, cause and effect come into play. They can, of course, when they leave the physical body, continue with that train of thought. I believe I have said, you will not instantly change. You are still spirit, you do retain your memories and thought patterns. If the spirit being wishes to continue in that manner, then what we would do is try to influence him for the better—but, of course, with the free will, that still remains with him. When he passes to our side of life, there is not so much we can do. Only time, only time, will change his way of thinking. He can remain what he is now, do you see? You do not suddenly become spiritual beings, as such, and in that sense, I mean you do not become 'goody goodies,' I believe you say.

(Chuckles) So do you see, we can help, we can try to influence, but ultimately, the decision remains with that being. We have groups who still, still, after many, many years of your time, retain the same thought patterns, that they had whilst they were in an earthly body. Does that answer your question?

Brent: Yes. The reason I'm asking that question, is that most traditional religions that we're aware of in the West, have sought to induce good behaviour through the threat of punishment, through the threat of eternal damnation. Now, as I understand your teachings, there is a form of punishment in a sense, even if it is in the form of an individual awareness of the consequences of those acts. It is still, really—in a sense, there is an element of doing good to avoid punishment. But there is also presumably, something positive, doing good for a positive reason, as well.

Yes, I understand. Of course you can do good. But what is important, is the reason behind the doing good. You can do a good act, but (if) the reason behind it is self-aggrandisement—that cannot be good. When you come to our side of life, of course the self-awareness is much magnified. You are your own punishment. You have to face the true self. You have to look into that eternal mirror and see the soul as it really is. You cannot escape it; no one can. The punishment you speak of, is something that comes from within. You see your whole life-span before you. You see the true Spirit being. Not the one that you have shown to the earthly people, the one that says, 'I am a good person, because I give this, I do that.' If the reasoning behind that goodness is not for the good of the other people, then it is not good. Do you see?

Brent: Yes.

Les: Again, we come back to motives, don't we?

It is always the reason, yes. It is why you do something, not the act itself. Can you not put a smile on your face, can it not be a trick? The smile is not always genuine. So, too, are your acts and your deeds. That is what I am trying to say to you. But when you leave your earthly body, then of course there is no way you can hide from your true natures. Each and every one of you has to stand and be counted, not by any body of men, not by someone in a high chair, but by your own selves. It is the hardest, hardest thing you will ever have to face. We see many, many who weep—many who weep at what they have done and what they have failed to achieve on this Earth; the opportunities that have been wasted. They see it all and for that, they can weep. That is the punishment that is the punishment that is spoken of in most religions.

Les: So there is no external application of punishment to say soul. The punishment, in effect, is self-inflicted?

You create your own punishment, yes. I don't particularly like the word 'punishment.' It is a judgement upon yourself. I would like to refrain from the word punishment.

Les: Yes, I quite agree. It isn't such—it is a judgement, a self-inflicted judgement.

But, of course, we must use the words that you are familiar with. Is that useful to you?

Brent: Yes, that's very, very useful. Thank you.

Les: If I can follow that through a bit. Am I right in saying that those who continue to try to live a useless life, a life of ne'er-do-wells, as they did on Earth—they can't satisfy their physical desires in the next world, but they are able, under the right conditions, to latch onto people here and try to satisfy them in a vicarious manner?

You are correct in that way of thinking. Unfortunately this does happen. These people are the ones who tend to stay closer to your Earth plane. They do indeed latch onto weak and vulnerable people here. We do our utmost to try to avoid that happening, but we are not always successful. We cannot always bring ourselves down to a level that they are able to achieve, to interfere. It is difficult for us, and that is why we need you people, who have been doing help, help, help for these beings. ('Rescues') That is why we need your help.

Les: Yes, one of the first things I do, is advise any person who wishes to go in for development of the spirit self, is advise them never under any circumstances, to sit on their own and try to develop in their own time, in their own company. Because they must realise they are opening a channel for communication, which can be misused.

It can, indeed. I would say to you, though, it does depend on the individual. There is nothing wrong with opening yourself, but of course, if you are new to such things, then I would advise you sit within the group, where there is someone who knows exactly what is happening, because as you say, there are always beings who are willing to latch on. I'm afraid it is not always even (Adults)—it happens too with the purity of young children. They are attracted to their 'white light.' Do you understand?

Les: Yes I do, indeed. That's why we would never entertain any work in the company of young children.

And also, too, as the being becomes older, so too do the energies deplete and oft times will they be attracted to them, for the very reason that energies are depleted, and they find it easier to 'latch on.' Yes, we have all kinds—we have many sorry, sorry beings, who need to be helped. But don't scorn them, feel pity for them. They have to be pitied.

Les: Yes they do, indeed. That's why we try to continue with the work we do here.

And we are grateful; you will never know how grateful we are to all you people, who involve yourselves in these 'rescues.' It is a job of work that needs to be done, and not all can undertake it. So, it is important that those of you who wish to do this work, be strong within yourselves. Link yourselves daily, to those who can help you, guide you, train you. But, of course, some individuals can develop on their own. I would not say it is always necessary to be within a group. If they are strong enough, and the reason, again, is good, then they will not attract those who wish to latch on for the wrong reasons.

Les: If their goodness is of sufficient calibre, they will in fact reject them, won't they, automatically? They will rebound from their light.

Les: Just as they always rebound on Earth.

That is true; it is the same thing. The energy, the love, the light they send out, will protect them.

Les: I think perhaps you could answer another question for me, for the benefit of everybody here. I'm sure some don't realise it. There is sometimes a mistaken impression, that the next world is 'all roses,' and milk and lovely things—I have said repeatedly, that that has to be earned. That their arrival into that particular sphere of life has to be earned, by actions on this Earth. Equally, they would not be expected to mix with people of a much 'baser' intellect or spiritual development. They are segregated automatically, by their lack of development. I think this worries people sometimes, when they hear of the bad influences, which exist in your world; that they might be in contact with them—

Why should they be afraid? Would they be in contact in their earthly body, with those who are wicked or cruel, as you would say? Would they be in that same place as them?

Les: No, I have pointed this out.

Well, it happens too, when you come to our side of life. These people are attached to each other and sometimes it can create quite a strong bond, let me say. But how you live your lives here, once again, let me say to you, you can only do your very best. After all, you are human, with failings. We don't expect you to be perfect, and neither have I met one who has trodden this Earth plane, who has been so. But if you endeavour to do the best that you can, then you will go to the place that is suited to you. There are many spheres within our world and of course, you will go to the one most suited to you. Let me say, all of you in this room, may not necessarily go to the same place, because of course, it depends too, on your own spiritual development. I don't mean to say some of you are 'higher' or 'lower.' I don't really like those words either. But you will be in differing degrees of development. Therefore where you go in our world can be different. Those of a wicked nature as you speak of, are together and they cannot, cannot interfere with those in a higher state of life. (Thank you.) But of course, once they are gathered together in our world, and they are away from the earthly vibration, there is more we can do to help. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, and I believe I'm right in saying that those in what we call the 'lower' spheres, the really diabolical people, as would be called here, have constantly the ability to progress if they wish. And those in your world have a duty to be close to them all the time, waiting for that wish to be seen.

There are those amongst us, who do the work for helping these 'lost souls.' It is not an easy task, but it is part of their own soul growth, that they do the work. It is difficult. We keep close by, but often they need to remove themselves, to regenerate, if you like, that 'pure light,' that they need to survive. It is difficult, and something I will speak on at a later stage. When you 'lower' your vibrations, into a lower one, it is always difficult; it cannot be easy. But there are those of us, who are willing to do it, to help those lost souls. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, thank you. I had heard that.

It is the same as I would not be able to stay with you for too long; too much of your time at once. I have to return to where I am from—I will use the word 'regenerated;' it is the only one I can think of, that is apt.

Les: Yes. I personally am aware of that and it's what makes me so appreciative of you coming. I know it is difficult for you.

We are always happy to come and so too, it is difficult, even in our world, when those of them, (sic) who are prepared to work and help those lost souls, go to those darker realms. And let me say, it is indeed a sad and sorry state to be in.

Les: I'm sure it must be.

It would make you weep.

Les: Yes. Well, on a more cheerful topic—Conversely, I believe there are those in the immediate next plane of life, if I can put it that way—I think you will understand me. They, after a period of duty, they can be taken a step higher, as it were, for regeneration in turn, and then come back for continuation of the work they are doing.

Yes, I understand. Very often when people leave your earthly existence, they need a time of recuperation. They are cared for and of course, we have our hospitals in the spirit world. Do you know of them? I suppose you do—

Les: Yes, yes we do indeed.

They are places of Love and Light. They are helped to recuperate and then they are taken to the places, where they are meant to be, where they can live. But then they are helped to decide what is best for them. They are guided, if you like. Then of course, they can return to a lower sphere, if that is what they wish to do, but only if it is to help others. But, of course, the same applies; they have to return to the state that is intended for them. They cannot stay permanently in any lower state. I know it is difficult for you all to understand these things. It is like asking you to say, do you know what it is like on the moon—of course you cannot. But I am here to dissolve any doubts that you may have. And of course, it is difficult to find the correct words, but I am doing my best.

Les: Yes, you are certainly succeeding, anyway. And I think too, that those who, in the next plane, who have a desire to travel a little, are quite unable to reach a higher degree of existence, if they are not developed for it. There is a barrier, I believe, which prevents them entering another 'realm,' if I can use that expression, of higher spirituality, and a greater light, until they have developed sufficiently to do it. Let me put it simply to you. You can go up and down a ladder, so far, but you can't continue upwards. There is a barrier. Only on occasions will you be allowed to go further. You may have an insight of a higher realm, but you cannot be allowed to stay there. It happens to a few; they are shown what is there, but they cannot stay.

Les: No, quite. They can only enter in company with a guardian.

And only if there is a very good reason for doing so. Yes, you are correct. You can be in one state and go down to another lower, do you see? But you could not possibly go—you could not stand that vibration, because it is so much purser, you see? You could not stay there, but in the company of those of a higher vibration, a purer light if you like, then that is permitted at times. But always there is a reason for this.

Les: Thank you. And we hear frequently that there are seven planes of existence. I find this difficult to believe. I can't imagine that there is a limitation to the planes of existence, merely our own mental application of that limitation.

Forgive me if I smile—I hear this so often. I would like to know who first said there are seven planes of existence.

Les: It's one of those statements, which are constantly repeated, without any checking whether it is so.

I believe I have said there are many, many spheres, spheres within spheres, within spheres—it is never-ending. How can it be? How can you have seven stages? Who could know that, unless they had reached the highest peak? I'm sorry, but I have to dismiss that.

Les: I have never been able to agree with it, or accept the statement.

I think what has happened, that someone, or perhaps you would like to say a 'communicator,' who has been that far, has come and said yes, that is what exists. Always reason with what you are given. I have told you this before, and I wish to repeat it to you now. No, there are not seven planes of existence.

Les: Yes, it's a statement, which I could never accept. And I was amused to hear on the radio this morning, that some scientist—somebody has now discovered—I forget what it was quite, but they're talking about ten vibrations of the Earth now.

Have I not said they will discover more?

Les: Yes. I thought of you actually, when they were talking about this. And I had to smile to myself and I remembered what you had said about there being much undiscovered. And the excitement they are generating in their discoveries—

I will say a little on this. Vibrations—you too can have vibrations within vibrations. Does that not amuse your intellect? Does that not make you think a little bit?

Les: It does indeed.

But I leave it there. There are vibrations within vibrations, but that is too complicated now, to go into.

Les: But that has to be discovered.

I have said I am not here to tell you what must be discovered naturally; I would be interfering too much. But perhaps I can give you a little more later.

Les: Since you have been speaking, I have had several amusing moments, listening to scientists on media channels, now discovering things, which you said have been known for a long, long time.

Let me say, there are some scientists on your Earth, who know a little more than they have actually spoken of. They are a little afraid of ridicule at the moment. But they will be encouraged to speak out, to speak forth to the media, and they will be proud that they have done so. That is to come. We are doing our utmost to influence many people, those in power, those in the scientific world, many, many people.

Les: Good. Right, are there any more questions?

George: Well, something that was touched on earlier. Sometimes, when we feel we have to do something to help a cause on Earth, we may get a little confused as to what best to do. Going back a few years, when we had far too many, we still have—but we had far too many nuclear weapons on our soil—The Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament (CND) was active and many of us marched and held banners and openly objected to what was going on. Now you may say, it would have been better to use entirely the 'power of thought,' to try to improve the situation. Have you any comment to make, on openly going against what one feels is wrong in that way, as against power of thought? But then again, power of thought would also have been there—

Was it not the power of thought, that instigated the marching, the banners?

George: Yes, I'm sure it was.

If the thought was good, then it cannot be wrong. If the thought behind the movement was good, then it cannot be wrong. What I find wrong, are movements whose reasoning behind them are not good. They do it for their own reasons. And let me say, there have been many. Let me speak of the movement you have in your world at the moment. Ultimately, it should be good, but it is wrong. I speak of the animals—the groups who have gathered, who speak out against your scientists, who are torturing the animals in your laboratories. That cannot be good. But what they are doing sometimes is wrong. How can they risk the lives of another human being, and say they are wanting 'good' for the animals? Do you see what I am getting at?

George: Yes, and I must say—

Of course, they should stand up and save these animals. It is not good for any reason. But the way they are dealing with it, is wrong. If for the march in respect of nuclear weapons, if people did it to follow the crowd, and not because they truly felt that they were doing good, then that too is wrong. Always, I say, listen to your heart. Follow always what is good. And, of course, the power of thought can indeed change much in your world, but we understand that you have lost these things. But, of course, the marches against (?) the power of the people will always do good. But it comes down to each and every individual's own thought pattern. I cannot say more. If it achieves something for good, that cannot be wrong, can it? But then you have to each answer individually, for those things that you have done. Do you see? Do I make sense to you?

George: Yes, you've covered a number of aspects. Thank you very much for that. And some of us have had the same thoughts I'm sure, that—

If the thought is for good, then it is good. And once again we come to thought, do we not? Always I will tell you of your power of thought—I feel you now all thinking about Thought. (Smiles)

?: Can I ask a question? Have we all lived before, walked this Earth before, in this room?

Within this room? I can answer that simply. Yes you have. And may I say, that is why you are here. But I will say to you, not everyone does. I have spoken on this subject too, previously. But, yes, each and every one of you, have indeed been here before.

Les: Any more questions?

?: If when we pass over, we go into different stages, according to our development, does that mean that all our loved ones that have passed on, would be in different stages as well, so we wouldn't actually meet them?

It would depend on the loved ones. It would depend if they wish to go further, if that is their desired state. But of course, the love bond is a strong one and it is usual that they remain behind to wait for those loved ones. So if, for instance, a loved one was going first and should be in a higher vibration, it is his choice to remain behind, perhaps to greet you, then that is his right. It all depends on the strength of the love bond. If there is no love, then there is no bond to be united with. That is another subject I think perhaps we can talk of—Are you afraid that you may not meet up with those that you have loved? (Yes) Do not fear. If the love bond is true and deep, that cannot be. They will remain with you in your earthly life and of course, you will not be abandoned. You will be greeted by those, not only those you have known, but those you are not aware of, you will be greeted by them. Never fear that you will be on your own. That will not happen. (Okay.) I would like to speak on that a little more. (Deeper, more forceful voice) All of you, even those in the deeper states, have someone whom they love, or are loved by. So many of you on this Earth, fear that when the loved ones go, and a span of years divide you, that all is lost.

LOVE, like THOUGHT, is such a strong bond, it cannot be broken. What is your life all about, if it is not to encounter and to give LOVE?

Let me speak some of the words in your Christian Bible. What is God? God is love. Fear not. You will never be alone. You will be comforted. You will be uplifted. You will be picked up when you fall down. Never fear about your earthly lives. I want you all to know, you are all surrounded by much love—I think that I must withdraw this time, communication a little difficult now. I leave you with much love, and many blessings.

Les: Our love goes with you too and we are all grateful for what you have told us this time. God bless you. Until we meet again, God be with you all.

Good evening my friend.

Les: Good evening again and thank you for joining us. Does the lady's coughing disturb you at all? (One of the sitters was coughing)

Would someone like to give aid to her?

Les: Yes, we have done what we can, but she said she would go out, if you find it disturbing.

No bother.

Les: No bother?

Don't be concerned for me.

Les: Thank you very much.

We will help her. (Thank you.) Thank you for doing as I suggested last time. (Andy was sitting in the middle of the room) For that I am grateful.

Les: It's our pleasure.

I would like to suggest that the group as a whole focus their attention to the centre of the room. I would like them all to focus the thought of love—that is all. Try not to imagine what may or could happen. I have said to you, we are trying something different, but of course, we must go slowly, slowly. I would suggest no sudden noises, whilst this is taking place. By that I mean certain bangs, loud speech—you know what I mean. We must take care of the instrument, which is being used. I, of course, will encompass him in protection, but outward noises can be very distracting.

Les: Thank you for your protection for him.

Once again, I say to you all, focus your minds in love. That is all I ask of you. Let us see what can be achieved. I will tell you towards the end if it has not been achieved this time. But try to keep your minds focused, giving love to the instrument in the centre.

Les: Everyone heard that, I imagine?—

There was a long silence for perhaps 5 minutes, before a communication came through Andy. This turned out to be a difficult rescue and it was agreed that it would not be published, in order to protect the family connected to it. Salumet then returned to talk about what had been achieved:

Before we continue, may I speak?

Les: Certainly, yes, please do. I'll just bring this instrument (Andy) back properly.

He, (Andy) will be fine. Do not be concerned. I wish to say to you all, this has been no ordinary 'rescue.' It takes much, to bring someone who has been enveloped in a cloak of darkness, for such a short period of time. It is difficult for the instrument being used, and that is why I have cloaked him in protection. I thank you all for the love extended to him. It has been felt. To bring someone from the depths of darkness, in which he has been entombed, is no mean feat. We are pleased it has happened and I hope you all can understand what has been involved this time. I shall endeavour to bring you many more people, not of a 'rescue' nature, but of an informative one. But I wished you all to see what can be done, by the power of your thoughts, by that love that encompasses all, and for that, I truly thank you.

Les: We thank you for your trust in us.

The instrument will be well cared for. Do not have any concerns on that matter. (Thank you.) I feel some of you asking, 'why is there not more information given?' let me say to you this: It is difficult enough for them to return, without giving too much information. I know you sometimes find this hard to understand, but if only you could see the effort involved, that would not be a query. But I can say to you, there will be those who come, who will bring you all the information that you seek. It is difficult for those of a 'lower nature,' shall I say, to express themselves, because of course, they are held back by their own emotions. Surely this is understandable to you?

Les: Yes, I'm sure it is.

I want to thank the instrument, who has been used. (Andy) We are grateful for letting us use him, because that was not an easy one to bring. He will be looked after and will be used so much more.

Les: Thank you. Salumet is asking whether he is ready for me.

Andy?: Yes.

Les: You are? Thank you.

Let us then continue. I ask again, no sudden noises, bangs or loud noises of any kind.

(5 minutes later)

Les: Hello—Hello to you.

Hello.

Les: Would you like to tell us why you've come to see us?

I don't know why I've come. They brought me here.

Les: You've no idea why they've brought you?

No, I just followed the light and now I'm here.

Les: Where have you come from, can you tell us that?

I don't know.

Les: You don't know?

No.

Les then addresses Salumet:

Les: Do you wish me to continue as a usual rescue?

Allow him to continue please. As he speaks, so should the knowledge come to him.

Les: Thank you. Right—now, let's see if we can find out where you've come from and why you've come, shall we? Is that agreeable? (Yes) What do you last remember?

I remember swimming.

Les: You remember swimming? And where was that?

It was out in the sea.

Les: It was out in the sea? And that's the last thing you remember? Except that you remembered you had gone too far out. You hadn't allowed for the tide, had you? Is that right?

That's why I couldn't swim back.

Les: You'd made a miscalculation in your timing.

I remember getting weaker and weaker.

Les: That's it—and then?

And then I remember waking up here now.

Les: You remember nothing in between? (No) Well, you can guess what happened to you, can't you? You drowned. And had you ever thought what happened after death, in whatever way it might occur?

Not really, no.

Les: You'd never thought about it to that extent? (No) Did you go to church? (No) Well, that's not a bad idea, to keep away from it anyway—well, what happens, my friend, is that when the physical body dies, as yours did, the essential being, which is the spirit, is released. And that takes on itself another body, living in the next plane of life, because the spirit is indestructible. And the spirit is the essential 'you,' or 'I.' The body is only a physical shell that the spirit occupies, whilst it is living in the physical world. So you have to keep on living. And that is why you have been brought here, to make you realise this, that you are very much alive. You're talking to me, aren't you? (Yes) Shake hands, will you? You can feel that, it's not a dream. I'm going to press your hand a bit. That wouldn't happen in a dream, would it? (No) Right, so you know you're alive. What sort of living did you make on this Earth? What did you do for a living?

I was unemployed.

Les: You were unemployed. Did you enjoy it? (No) You'd rather work? What would you like to do, if you had a decent job to go for? Ever thought about it? How would you like to occupy yourself?

I'd like to teach people to swim.

Les: Would you? Well, how would you like to be able to do that? To do it actually, without it being just a thought—would that appeal to you? (Yes) You wouldn't require any payment, because you don't need money in the next world.

Why? Why don't you need money?

Les: Because you just don't need it. What you need for your existence there is provided in rather different ways from what you have in this world. But do take my word for it, that you will be provided for. You won't have hunger or thirst, and if you do, you can satisfy that without any need for money. It's all provided free, whatever you need, just as the lessons you'll give in swimming, will be given free; you won't be given any payment for them. You will have the pleasure of seeing others learn to swim. Is that going to satisfy you?

Yes, it is.

Les: All right. Then, any questions you'd like to ask?

Yes, how I find this place?

Les: Well, you don't remember being brought here, do you? (No) You'll be taken away in the same way. You won't remember the journey, but you'll wake up in a few minutes, in the next plane of life, where you'll now have to live. You'll be shown where the pupils are, you'll be shown where the water is, for teaching them. And when you get tired of teaching them, there are plenty of other occupations you can take up.

I shall have to watch the turning of the tide.

Les: There won't be tides as there were here. (No?) No—so you don't have to worry about that. In any case, you would know when they were going to turn, and you could get back to shore, quite safely. You will have a great deal more ability in your mind, than you have, than you had, when you were on Earth. You will be aware of much more, of things around you, and what is happening around you. Also, your pupils won't be able to drown. The water is quite different. That's another surprise for you, isn't it?

Yes it is.

Les: So you should be able to teach many of them, very quickly. (Thank you.) You're welcome. Are you ready to go back now, to start lessons?

I hear someone calling me.

Les: That's right. Time is up. Well, we all wish you a lot of joy in your swimming and teaching of others.

(Thank you.) Goodbye to you.

Salumet then returned to say that this had NOT been the intended communication:

That, my friend, is a lesson in how easy it is for someone to slip in, even under very controlled conditions.

Les: Yes—

He was not meant to be here.

Les: Really?

I apologise, but no matter, he came and has been dealt with. But you see how easily and even we who have strict control, cannot always stop those people who are eager to come.

Les: Quite. And possibly because of the great power you provide, when you come here.

It is an attraction to them. But he should have been prevented. But when the will and the thought is strong, so they can, how do you say, 'slip through?' It is a good lesson for us all to have learned.

Les: It emphasises what I have always said about the need for protection and care.

It has not harmed the instrument, but it is not what had been intended. But, no matter, I am grateful to you, for your help.

Les: Well, we would never refuse anybody who comes here, whether they should be here or not; we would always try to help them.

We know, your light attracts many. But that is not the purpose why I am here. That work can continue other times.

Les: It goes through my mind that he might be a good 'guardian.'—

(There was a change of guardians/gate keepers recently, to a more powerful group. It seems they are in the process of taking on their new responsibilities.)

No doubt, no doubt. I will speak with him. (Good.) But let me say, it is not my intention this evening. But, you see, does it not prove that even with my long experience, I too am not infallible?

Les: A very interesting lesson.

What I wished to achieve has really not taken place this time. But I hope the first communicator was interesting to you.

Les: It certainly was, very.

And I will say, is there anything you wish to say, before I draw this meeting to an end?

Les: Anybody like to say anything to Salumet?

Margaret: Just to thank him very much for a lovely evening.

I thank the lady. Let me say to her, she has a big and a generous heart. Sometimes, too much for her own good. But let me say to her, take care around your solar plexus area. Will you listen to me? Be careful, especially over the coming months. You are rather prone to chills, are you not?

Margaret: I do sometimes get an awful cough.

No, don't worry about the throat area. Be concerned here. (Indicating solar plexus) But you are a good and generous spirit. (Thank you.)

Les: Anybody else?—It only remains for me to thank you once more, on behalf of everybody, for a very instructive and enjoyable evening.

There is much we can do together. For that I am eternally grateful to you, for allowing me into your room, into your hearts, into your thoughts. I leave you this time, as usual, with my blessing and ask you to LOVE one another.

Les: Thank you. And our love goes with you, of course. We look forward to our next meeting. Thank you.

~10th October 1994~

Good evening to you.

Les: Good evening again.

Thank you all for your warm thoughts and welcome. I thank you all.

Les: Yes, I must admit we missed you last week. It couldn't be helped, but nevertheless, we missed you.

I thank you for those words. It was necessary, but of course, it has not been too long in your time.

Les: That's true.

I would like to begin this night, with a few words to you all. May I begin? (Yes please.) I want to say to you all, I cannot change your life patterns for you. I am aware of your thoughts and your wishes, but I cannot change what is to be. I hope you all can understand this. What I can do, is try to influence each and every one of you, towards the right pathway, but I cannot alter things for you. That is part of your life plan here and it is not for me to interfere. So when you send your thoughts to me, please understand these few words. Do I make myself clear?

Les: I think it's clear for everybody, isn't it, that you will be given what help is possible, but not to influence the final course of events?

I am aware sometimes you find your lives difficult. But be assured, it is all for a good cause, for the cause of your own soul growth. Therefore, do not be despondent when times are hard, but look upon it, look to the light, be strong, give yourself to that everlasting power of love, and you cannot go wrong. I would like to say a few words to the young lady across the room.

Les: Yes, it's you Sara.

You sometimes are very confused about which direction your life is taking. (Yes) Yes—be still. Listen to that voice which will come to you. We know your disappointments, we know your hopes and wishes. But you must make the choices. You are rather like a tender flower, which is easily bruised. Pick yourself up, be strong, follow that inner voice and your life pattern will follow that way which it was meant to take. We will try to uplift you, because at the moment you are feeling a little down. Would you like to ask me questions this time?

Sara: I can't think of any at the moment, thank you.

Is there anyone who would wish to ask me something? I cannot believe your tongues are so still!

Les: I was just about to say, if you have been getting all those thoughts, it's surprising that there are no questions to follow them.

Dawn: Could I ask, is there anywhere in the world, which is doing an artificial limb, for a hind-quarter amputation successfully?

Let me say, there is always new technology being developed. But at this particular time, I would say to you, no, there is not one available that is of any use. But all of these things are being looked into and I would say to you, look to the West of your Earth, as you are here now. So I would say, look to the country of America.

Dawn: Thank you very much.

Les: The lady who just spoke and myself, were talking earlier about crystal healing. I think I'm right in saying that the various human ailments respond differently to different crystals. Is that so?

We go back again to the term 'ENERGIES.' Of course the crystals are natural parts of the Earth. We have spoken a little of how your Earth is affected by the moon and the stars; so too is the Earth affected in many ways. The crystals that are taken from the Earth, have their own energy, which interacts with different complaints, different problems. So, yes, you would be correct in your assumptions.

Les: So if the lady wishes to practice crystal healing, she should make herself aware of the different affinities between the ailments and the crystals.

Let me say the crystals are only the 'middle man,' can I say. They are not necessary, but they can be of help if the person involved is not suitably attuned.

Les: Yes—so we come back to spiritual healing, basically then?

Of course, it is a development of the energies used. The crystal is—how can I say—I am at a loss for the words to use. The crystal is a tool that can be used, but the better part, would be to develop the person, their own capabilities—the interaction between the two. Healing comes from spirit, through spirit, to spirit—so the use of crystals is really not a necessity, but there is no harm to be done by their use.

Les: Thank you. I've always considered that to be so, that the basic spiritual healing, is really all that is necessary. But I've also thought that perhaps the application of a crystal, may have a psychological effect on the patient and make them accept more readily, the power which can be given to them.

No, it is not only that. There is a transference of energy from the crystals. But what I say to you, it is better that the person develop their own powers of healing, of opening as a channel, rather than to use the energies of the crystals. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I do. Thank you very much.

It is a transference of energies—that is all.

Les: George, you were going to ask a question?

George: Yes, thank you, I have several questions about past events. The Noah's Ark story may have a truthful source. And there does seem to be some evidence for a boat-shaped structure on Mount Judah in the Ararat range, which has had some investigation. Are you able to comment as to whether that actually is Noah's Ark, in that position?

At the time you are speaking of, there was indeed a—how can I say, a 'vessel' made. But if you are speaking of the story as a whole, then no, it is rather a figment of someone's imagination. The story comes from an older—how can I say, story, if you like, although there is an element of truth. There was indeed a vessel at that time, which for all intent and purposes, was called Noah's Ark. There has been found this vessel, I believe, the one you are speaking of, which has been dated back to those times.

When Jesus the Christ was alive, many stories circulated. When these things were re-written, many centuries afterward, how will I say—they were elaborated. Much was added and much was left out. So if you want to believe the story as a whole, then I say to you, that vessel is the one that it is intended to be. But the whole story of Noah's Ark, gathering the animals two by two, is rather a fairy tale.

George: Yes, thank you. That's a lovely explanation.

Les: Very useful for the toy-makers, that one—

But yes, there was a vessel around at the time, but it comes from an older, older version of another story.

George: Yes, I think there was another account of that story written in the epic of Gilgamesh?

Yes, it goes back much—Let me say to you, your Christian Bible holds many things, which have been put together; sections from here, there and everywhere. It made very good reading, I think. But as far as truth goes, you cannot accept it all. But, indeed, the vessel you speak of, is a genuine one.

George: Thank you.

Les: So that would mean then—that story does appear, I know, in a number of religious beliefs. (Yes) So it does indicate that there was at some time, a calamitous flood on the Earth. Is that so?

There have always been floods on your Earth. There have always been calamities. These stories have been taken to make one book, if you like. Not all are particularly true. You must be discerning in your reading. But yes, there was a flood at that time. Let me say this to you, when you read your Christian Bibles, look at the stories with a discerning eye, look beyond the written word, look for the 'TRUTH'. I will try to help you in these things, if you so wish. I will try to tell you what is an absolute truth and what has been fiction.

Les: Thank you. That leads me to another question, if I might ask it. If a vessel was built, that would indicate that a certain number of people wished to survive that particular flood. Would that have any bearing on the fact that some believers are still convinced that they are the chosen few, to be salvaged as it were, when the end of the world occurs? We know it's absurd, but would that be the origin of the beliefs that such and such are the chosen few?

I am afraid to say that in many religions, all believe they are the chosen ones. Let me tell you here and now, there are no such people.

Les: No—

I must be firm on this point. (Long breath)

Les: No, I couldn't imagine it from what we have learned through our association with you and your colleagues, it was impossible that there would be 'chosen people,' as such.

That is the message behind the Noah's Ark story. What could be simpler? Save all the animals and individual people make their own choosing to be saved. It cannot be; it is nonsense.

Les: Yes, it is nonsense.

Unfortunately there are many who tread your Earth, who have this viewpoint, that they are the chosen ones. I have to say they will be rudely awakened when they come to our side of life.

Les: They do call at our doors still and try to convert us. And we find it very difficult to exercise for them, the love which you say we must exercise them, because they are so dogmatic—

Yes, yes, you must feel pity for them. They know no better.

Les: No, we do feel sorry for them actually, because, as you say, they are in for a rude awakening unfortunately.

It is coming to pass now, that people who read the Bible, and many other sources of different religions, are today absolutely more discerning in the way they think. That can only be good.

Les: Quite, yes it is. It's beginning to become apparent in our clergy. Another question George?

George: Yes. In the year 1908, there was a large explosion in the atmosphere over Tunguska, in Siberia.

There have been many theories about this. But I think the most plausible theory is that a comet approached the Earth and exploded in the atmosphere. Can you tell us anything about that?

Let me say to you this: It was an atmospheric explosion. It was not a comet, it was merely nature taking her natural course. (Pause)

George: Hmm—Thank you, that's surprising.

Is that enough for you?

George: I'm always interested, because this particular explosion, which flattened hundreds of acres of trees, has been a puzzle to those who like to think about problems of this kind.

They need to look to the Earth, to find the answer, not the skies. It was a combination of atmosphere and Earth together, which created that particular disaster.

George: I would imagine a build-up of energy of some kind.

Yes, a 'clash,' I think you would call it, in that particular area. You have to look down underneath the Earth and you have to look to the atmospherics in the sky, in the air. Together, they can create, how would you say, a 'bang.' A bang? Am I faltering in my words?

Les: Yes, you're quite right—

Yes, but they would need to investigate more, deep under the Earth, to find the answer. It was not from the skies.

Les: Another avenue for you to explore George?

Mark: Could I ask a question about marriage, about contractual marriage, and you know, making a life plan with someone? The idea is often—well, it worries me really.

In what respect?

Mark: I suppose fixing the future. I'm not very happy about fixing the future.

Let me say, then follow your heart. If you are not happy to do something, then I say 'do not do it.' If it does not feel right for you, it is not right for you. Once again, I say listen to your inner voice and you will be guided correctly.

Mark: Thank you.

Les: That I think, is what Salumet meant earlier too, about trying to influence you to take the right path. So if you call on him, as he has suggested, he can't alter the predetermined plan, but he can influence you to the extent of listening to your 'inner man.' Do you follow me?

Sandra: I mean, do they know who the right person for someone is then, the right partner?

Les: Well, I've just answered that before you asked it. You would get help in making your decision, if you feel it is the right decision.

Sandra: Yeah, but have they got someone planned out for you already, as such?

I think we have spoken on soul-mates before. They do exist, but mostly your life plan does not include your soul-mate. So, it is up to you, to make the very best of what life has given to you. There are situations placed before you. I can say to all of you, there have been times and places—I don't like to use the word 'planned,' but if it is suitable to the explanation, then let us use it. Situations, people and places come together, usually for a good reason. Then your free will comes into play. It is then up to you, what you do about the situations in which you are placed. Listen always to your hearts and your inner voice. Then you cannot go wrong.

Les: Would I be correct Salumet, in suggesting that the meeting of two parties would necessarily be for the benefit of the one who hopes to make a success of that marriage? But it may be required of that particular one, to give help to the potential mate. Perhaps that is why they have to meet?

Let me go back a little, to what I have previously said. You have all come here for a good reason. You all know beforehand, before you are born into these physical bodies, what that life plan is. You have been shown beforehand, what you have to achieve. But again, we come to your free will. There is a goal to reach, but whether you take the straight path, or whether you meander off in other directions, is entirely up to you. We cannot live your lives for you. You are here to learn and learn the lessons, which are necessary for your soul's growth. Remember if you are returning in another body, which some do, as I have previously spoken of, then there is a reason behind it. Yes, you are correct, your journeys this time, may be to help someone else. It may be that your soul growth, needs some lesson to make it grow. Do you understand? So, always your life is not mapped out just for you. There are many people involved, many who you will meet, that you are meant to meet and all for very good reasons. I wish you could all move away from the idea that you are all 'single units,' travelling one way only for yourselves. Try to open your eyes to the wider view of life, and why you are here. I know it is difficult, but remember you are just—how can I say, a small star in all of the galaxies. Each one intermingles with the other, each one shines as much as the other. All are important, but you need all of them. Is that satisfactory for you?

Sandra: Yes, thank you.

Dawn: Could I ask a question? How do you feel about second marriages?

How do I feel? What is wrong with second marriages?

Dawn: Is there anything wrong?

No, of course not, provided it is a love bond, it matters not, how many times there are marriages. I sometimes smile when I see the heartaches and the troubles that these thoughts create. Marriages were not meant to last for a lifetime, if they were not meant to be. It is possible to love many people in one lifetime and how can that be wrong? You are all rather afraid and influenced by the teachings again, of your Christian Bibles. Are there not peoples who roam this Earth, who have many wives and many husbands and who are quite happy in their lifestyles? Providing each loves the other, there is nothing wrong with that.

Andy: Can I ask a question? Is it true, will the world end in fire?

I think we have discussed this. There will be no holocaust. There is much for this Earth still to do. And I have said we have gathered at this time, to prevent the pathway, which you on the Earth have created, for such a long time. Eventually the Earth will be extinguished, but that is a physical thing. It will not end in fire, but in time to come, in the natural course of life, then the Earth will be extinguished. But fear not, that is a very long way off. You all live with so much fear. Let me say, lighten your hearts, lighten your outlook. It will not happen. There always has been good and bad upon this Earth, but you are not coming to a close just yet.

Les: Brent, anything from you?

Brent: No, thanks.

George: Could I ask about the Nazca plateau in South America, which is a large, flat region, where there are huge lines running across it, and huge pictures, which can only really be seen from high in the atmosphere. We feel that may relate to a previous, older civilisation, or to extra-terrestrial beings. Can you tell us anything about that region?

Let me speak on that:

I have said before, there have been civilisations upon this Earth, who have had superior knowledge, far superior to that which you have now.

The lines on the plateau that you speak of, were in fact directional lines for those people who travelled in space. I think I have spoken before that there were travellers from this Earth, because of their extended knowledge. This also applies—it did not happen in just one area of your Earth, but in many. Particularly, we have spoken of the Egyptians, the South Americans, all over. And I too can say, around your North Pole area, there was a civilisation with much, much knowledge. And still there is yet to be discovered the ruins of that civilisation. It was a directional point, if you like, for space travellers to home onto. Is that helpful?

George: Thank you. Can you say if the space travellers were from Earth, or from elsewhere, or both?

I have said, they were of this Earth.

George: Thank you.

Mark: Was there civilisation on Mars?

I don't believe there has been—(Pause)

I'm sorry—it's gone very quiet again. (Chuckles)

Les: I was just thinking about the travellers and how to put the question to you, actually. You say the travellers who used those directional signs were from this Earth?

Some, yes.

Les: Some? Those who were, then, have they been integrated into civilisations here, or have they migrated to other planets?

I have said before, there has been no intermingling of people on the Earth and of space travellers—that has not happened. People who travelled—you have to remember, we speak of a long time ago, when knowledge was so great. I have to say, you people on the Earth now, have really gone back to, how will I say, times of 'babyhood,' in your growth. You have gone backwards, instead of forwards. It has been such that these peoples have been 'wiped out,' I think you say, because of many things—because of Earth tragedies, because of nature herself, because of what you call 'progress,' which many thought was the way forward and was, in fact, the way down.

Les: So in part, they were destroyed by persecution?

They destroyed themselves, partly, partly by nature, partly because they became too egotistical in their outlooks. I would say mainly they destroyed themselves.

Les: Thank you. So you are now gathering to try and prevent a similar happening, then?

You are heading towards a similar disaster. That is why we have gathered, so that this cannot and will not happen. It will not happen. It cannot be allowed to happen this time.

Les: Thank you for that. We can never thank you enough for what you are doing, of course.

Many times throughout your history, we have gathered, we have tried to impart our knowledge to you, which mainly has been rejected. This time, it has been decided that the force of the gathering, must be so, that you cannot turn backwards.

Les: And you have the advantage that many people on Earth nowadays, are much more willing to listen to outside influences, and be controlled to some extent, by their knowledge of outside influences, though they will not often admit it tacitly, yet they are aware of it, through their own 'inner men.'

That is true. We see that people now are prepared to listen, listen to that influence that is imparted to them, although they are loath rather to speak about it. But slowly, slowly we are gaining momentum.

Les: That's certainly very encouraging for us to know. Any other questions for Salumet?

Brent: Yes. You seem constantly to be repeating to us, that we are in a long, steady state of decline. Most of us feel that in many senses, society is improving. I find it very difficult to understand how, for example, there is this original knowledge, which was lost, and where that knowledge must have come from. And why it is that we lack this original knowledge. I would be willing to say, I think all of us find it very difficult to understand where the source of this original knowledge arose. Why we ought to be in such a state of depravity, from the point of view of knowledge?

Yes. When man came, when man originated, he started off with very little knowledge. But always on your Earth plane, there have been, I would like to say, 'Masters of knowledge.' They are people who have come to this Earth plane, not as simple people, but as people with already extended knowledge, if you like. Originally, some of the people (that) settled here, came from another time. We are beginning to go into difficult subjects, but I will try to say as plainly as possible, how this occurred. In earlier times, there have been people on this Earth plane, who have travelled through space. Let me say your Earth is very young, as far as the planets go. I think you would agree on that, would you not?

Brent: Yes, I'm sure.

I have said there are other places who hold, I don't want to say 'superior' beings, but beings with knowledge who far outshine your own. (Voice more forceful)

They were placed upon your Earth, to guide, to impart the knowledge they had already obtained. So, you see, although you had man, who knew very little, you had Masters of knowledge too.

These are the people who inhabited those places that you find difficult now to recognise. It was nothing for them to travel in space. The object of their lives here, was to teach, was to encourage, was to help mankind gain the knowledge that they already had.

So, you see, that was the beginning, but what happened was that these settlements became greedy, became egotistical, and wanted to outshine each other. So in the end what had to happen, was that they actually destroyed themselves with their own superior knowledge. In the same way that man now has gained sufficient knowledge, that he too, can destroy himself. I speak of your nuclear energy. They have the knowledge, they have been guided to use and they have misused. So, although you think you have gained in knowledge, you have in fact done the very same that those previous settlements of people had done also. The knowledge they had, became too great for them. They misused it and it was taken and they lost all that they had gained. That is why we have gathered, to prevent the same thing happening. You have been reaching a peak of knowledge. You had already started to travel in space. You were beginning to reach the point of extended knowledge, and I am sure if you spoke with your astronauts who have travelled in space, they could tell you much, much more than they have already divulged to the ordinary people on your Earth. So, you see, it is almost like something that is repeating itself and we cannot allow it to happen.

Brent: So, it's a question of having the spiritual maturity to be able to control what we have invented and learned.

Yes. The knowledge that is given to you, must be used for the well-being of all of the peoples of the Earth. Not for segregated communities, not for the people with the knowledge. Knowledge that is given to you is meant to be used for the good of the Earth. Man has increased his intellectual power, but that does not mean he has grown in his soul growth. In fact, very often it can mean the very opposite. Life should have progressed, when these people of knowledge lived on your Earth. It should have been the beginning, it should have been a paradise on Earth as you like to call it sometimes. But unfortunately that did not happen, and I have to say once again, their own egos, power and greed, lost all of their knowledge, until they extinguished themselves. Is that helpful to you?

Brent: Yes, thank you.

Sara: Can I ask a question?

Les: It would have to be quick, the power is going.

Sara: Can I ask what you think of David Icke, who gives lectures on spiritual matters and economic matters.

What I think?

Sara: Of his message—David Icke.

Mainly it is all right, but he has rather diverged a little. He is rather lost in his way, I would say. But there is nothing wrong if he feels it is the right thing for him. What he must not do, is be adamant in his teachings. By all means, he can speak of what he feels, there is nothing wrong with that. You all have been endowed with free thinking, you are all entitled to think and feel as you will. But you cannot force your views onto another person. I would say of this one, he basically is a good person, but rather confused—or shall I say, being influenced along the wrong path sometimes. But he is good at heart and that is what matters. I would say to you all again, listen, listen to what your hearts and your inner voices tell you, and you will not go wrong. And now I must close for the instrument's sake. (Thanks expressed)

Les: God be with you and our love goes with you as well.

Before I depart, I want to say, look after your eyes please.

Les: Me?

Yes you. Don't be surprised. I look after you too.

Les: Thank you very much. Yes, I'll do that.

General greetings

Good evening my friends. Again I am happy to be here with you. We need to begin just a little slowly this time. As time goes on, I am beginning to have more control over this instrument. I am instructing her, as to what she needs to do to help.

Les: Thank you. I know she'll be very pleased, when you are able to take full control of her and so shall we all be.

Let us continue this time, with some questions if you like, but advise you go slowly.

Les: Certainly. The first question I'd like to ask, on behalf of one of the sitters, is if you can elaborate on what you term, soul-mates.' You have spoken about soul-mates at a previous meeting, and the lady wasn't sure what is meant by the term.

Of course. It is unfortunate that we need to use these words, but let me try to explain to you. Soul mate is an element of your own spirit, if you like. I need to go a little deeper than we have so far. I have said to you before, that you are not single units. Can you understand that, firstly? Do you understand what I mean, when I tell you that?

Les: Yes I think so, we don't say that we can understand fully, but it has become clearer, as the meetings progress.

As your soul develops, so you gain in knowledge and love, throughout the many ages and developments of your many lifetimes. Your soul-mate is in actual fact, a part of the original spark. Can you understand that? It is like the pea that is split in two. It cannot ever be divided, in a sense. When the two come together, they form as a whole. Remember, I am trying to explain in simple terms. You separate the two parts of a pea, they can go in their separate ways, but when they reach the point they can be joined together, they become as one. Soul mates are intimately one whole. It matters not what their sex is, male or female, that is not important, but the meeting, the joining of the two 'Sparks', I would prefer to say, when the joining comes, nothing or no one can separate them. They can in actual fact, meet down through many lifetimes, not always as soul-mates, but in other degrees of relationships, can you follow me?

Les: Yes, so the two individual sparks, have to exist as such, for their own development, do they?

Soul mates will develop at the same pace, otherwise they could not be joined as one.

Les: Yes, that was what I was going to ask. They develop separately, but both within a predetermined plan. Exactly. When they meet in a lifetime, which I have said is not usual, it is not the norm for you to meet always with your soul-mate, but when it happens, nothing, nothing or no one can keep them from coming together.

Les: I see and are they then indivisible, in the lifetime during which they've come together?

Of course, if they come together, then they will not be parted. But that does not mean there will be a continuation, as the souls move forward. We are on to deep matters again, but I hope I have explained it more this time. You could have mother, with a child, who are actually soul-mates, it is not necessarily always true, that it is female and male together. You have this idea that it is man and it is woman that is not quite true.

Les: That's something new for us, yes. Thank you for that explanation, it's certainly cleared it.

Is it sufficient for you this time?

Les: I'm sure it is thank you. Which brings me to the next question I was going to ask anyway—we have discussed planes of life and they are unlimited, as you've told us, but let us for simplicity's sake say, when a person goes into the next plane of life, immediately following this, is there any stipulation as to how long they stay there? Does there come a time when they have to leave it, just as on Earth, there comes a time, when we have to leave, owing to death?

There are many deaths and many births. It is the continuation of your soul's growth, as I have said. But no, there is no time limit. Until the soul is ready to move forwards, by all accounts, with its own knowledge and foresight, it will not be moved onwards. It matters not, time is irrelevant to these matters.

Les: So there is no external influence to make that soul move on, until it itself is ready?

There is influence, but ultimately the soul makes his own decisions. Always, always there is influence help and advice, but we cannot interfere, as we cannot with you. We can try to help, to help them to see what they must do, but time is another subject that we must speak on.

Les: Yes thank you, that certainly clarifies it for all of us I'm sure, because in all I've read over the years, I've never come across a positive statement, such as you've just given, it has always been inference and ambiguous remarks, as to the length of time a person or being spends in the next plane and the inference has often been, that there comes a time when it has to go on and I couldn't accept that.

Why—it does not make sense, if you use your logical mind, why should it be so? And time is not of your making, as it is here. We must speak on that another time.

Les: Thank you. Now we had a very interesting happening last evening. Just as you asked me to ask you to assist in the development of a gentleman, who's not with us tonight, there's another lady who comes on Sunday evenings and she's having individual development. Last night she was being used for individual rescues and then a gentleman spoke through her, saying that he had been asked to come to me for advice. Well, I knew almost instinctively what the advice had to be, because two ladies here, are very interested in horses; it is their business, their means of living—but they also love the animals and have both expressed a wish, to heal them. They've both been told of course that they can do so and have started, in fact. This gentleman who came through as a rescue wanted advice and I suggested that he might help these ladies in the healing of animals, because he'd been a vet on Earth and was disappointed he couldn't follow his calling, because the horses were virtually perfect, when he sees them in the next world and he was quite frustrated. So I've asked him to help these two ladies—I presume he'll be given special powers to help them, since this is his desire?

If the desire is a genuine one, then it will be looked at. I cannot say now, it will happen, it will depend on the gentleman's own development. If the desire is genuine, it will be taken further; he will be advised and it will be seen to be done, if all things are suitable. You cannot just give things to people who desire them, if they are not entitled to them. Can you see that?

Les: Yes, we were told long ago that the desire in itself, is not sufficient in this work.

Exactly, but if his desire is genuinely to help not only the animals, but the ladies of whom you speak, then there is no reason I can see, that it should not happen. I would suggest they do not call on him just yet, the situation will arise, when they will become aware of him, if that is to be. But I would say refrain from calling his name, for the time being.

Les: Right, thank you very much for that advice.

I must say, although we have spoken of the power of your thoughts, when you desire something, it depends also, on how much and how genuine that desire is. Of course you can desire, but for the wrong reasons and we must be concerned, for the growth of the soul of the being.

Les: Yes, I have no doubt myself, from the way he spoke, and his obvious pleasure of the fact that he'd be able to do the work, if permitted, that he's genuine, just as the ladies are genuine, in their love of the animals.

The fact that he was brought to you, is a good indication that he was being—how can I say—not tested, but helped in his desires. But it does not necessarily mean that it is clear cut and he will be able to do such a thing. It will be discussed with his, how can I say, I don't like the word mentor, but it is the only one I can think of at this time. He will be helped, I am sure.

Les: Thank you very much indeed, the ladies will be very grateful for that answer.

But please do not call on him, you could be doing the wrong thing, at this particular time.

Les: I see, thank you. There's a lady here, who wishes to ask a question about her daughter, may she ask? (Yes)

Margaret: It's my daughter in law. She lives in Hong Kong, she phoned me today about my grandson. He's sort of hyperactive and intolerant to certain foods. I've been trying to convince her about the power of thought and that, but she's wondering if there's anything else she can do to help him?

Let me have a moment. Yes, yes this child you speak of is rather frustrated. He needs to have more outlets for his intellect. He is an intelligent child, is he not?

Margaret: Yes, he's not 5 yet, but he is at school and he is intelligent, yes.

No matter what the age, we are speaking of an individual. I see sometimes, that children are not given full scope, when it comes to matters of their intellects here, their feelings and their desires. Children rather have a hard time of things, I think. This one needs to be guided a little. He has a deep thinking mind, although so young. Your daughter in law, you say would be advised to sit and speak to the child, more often, on matters that concern him, rather than the parents. He has foresight this child. It needs to be encouraged. I can tell you now, he is someone who will development along the road of life, with many problems, but he will indeed be very lucky in his lifetime here. But he needs the encouragement now, as well as looking at what he is, in the way of his eating, but this you already know, do you not?

(Yes) Look to that aspect, but look too to the inner child, look to that intelligent force within him. He needs to be spoken to, not spoken at, do you understand?

Margaret: Yes I do yes.

He needs more outlets, for his active mind. I cannot say what that should be, that is up to the parents. But I am sure if they look at the child closely, then it will come to them. He has some problems with his sleep patterns too, does he not?

Margaret: I don't know, he doesn't when he's at my house.

It is his mind, which is over-active. The foodstuffs contribute, but that is not the whole problem. They need to know what he is about.

Les: Would it be as well, if his parents spoke to him, as if he were older than he actually is?

I think that would help yes. They see him only as a child; he is in fact a very intelligent soul. He needs an outlet for that intelligence. Children are so often put down, as being only children and in fact they are so much more.

Margaret/Les: Thank you.

Jackie: That's typical, because they want to do much more, they want to go places and do their own thing, but it's not entirely safe for them, I'm talking now about an older child.

Of course you need to stay within the boundaries that you set, I don't mean that, I mean the intellectual side needs to be expressed and I would say with the child in question, let him express himself on paper, if he can. It matters not, whether you think it is intelligent or not, it is what he is feeling. The praise and the guidance he gets now, will stand him in good stead, in future years. I hope that will be helpful to you.

Margaret: Yes, thank you very, very much.

Les: Your comments will go actually to the lady in question, on our recordings.

Are there any more questions?

Les: Yes, if I might, before I ask further questions, I wonder if you have yet been able to contact anybody whom you've proposed bringing here, to give us information on other subjects, or is it a little early? Am I being impatient?

I quite understand your impatience to speak to others. Let us wait a little longer, so I can be sure that conditions are perfectly right. I know it probably seems long to you, but again, it is only a very short time. I will tell you in advance, when I intend to bring others. But I said I would bring them and indeed I will.

Les: Oh I'm sure you will, I wasn't doubting that for a minute—right I'll cancel my impatience and thank you very much.

I thank you for that service.

Les: Now, anybody else has questions for Salumet?

Brent: Yes, I always come back to this problem in life of how much is determined and how much is up to our free will. It almost seems impossible to resolve the two things, because it seems to me if someone goes for—has an illness and goes for healing, and is healed, that's a huge change in the person's physical life; it would seem to be a form of interference and yet you say you are not allowed to interfere. So I suppose you'd have to say that his going for the healing is predetermined. So I just wish you could say some more about that?

I see, always the questioner, yes? When someone goes for spiritual healing, do you not see that it is his own free will that drives him there? That is not interference—that is the spirit's own free will.

Healing will only occur when the spirit part of you is 'touched'.

I believe I have touched on this matter before, but obviously you need to have it clarified once more. Why do you suppose there are cures, as you say, and some are not cured? The problem lies within. If the spirit part of you is touched and that is what spiritual healing is all about, then there is a cure. But to receive spiritual healing, you must first use your own free will, to go to a healer. Can you understand that? (Yes) But you feel healing is interfering? How can it be interfering, when the spirit itself has asked to receive help? Are we to say you have come to us for help, you cannot receive it? Would that not seem wrong to you?

Brent: No, that would seem to be wrong to me, but it often seems to me that you can see and predict the future and at the point of which the individual exercises his free will, it would seem to me it would be impossible to predict the future. I totally agree that if someone asks for help, they should be given help, I only chose healing as one rather large change that appears in the physical world. I don't know if there are other changes that can be made in the physical world, but if you take the case of free will, it does seem that it is really indeterminate, what the soul will decide.

I think we need to discuss what you human beings are about. You are more than physical matter, you know and understand this, yes? (Yes) You know as you come, what you need to achieve, this I have said also, you see that? (Yes) With your free will, you determine which pathway to take. You can keep on the pathway that you should take, or you can meander in all directions, you understand that? (Yes) Let me speak then of illness. What is illness within the human form? It is a disease of spirit, which manifests itself through the physical body. How can the physical be cured, if the spirit is not touched? We agree on that do we?

Brent: Yes I accept that.

Your physical being is a covering for the spirit—that is all. So when something goes wrong, you leave the straight and narrow, as you call it, you take the meandering pathways. You in the human form create your own illnesses. It is not the pattern of your life usually, I don't say in all cases, because sometimes that is the path that you choose. Some choose to have some form of disability, some choose to have some illness. When that is the pathway of the spirit, then no spiritual healing can change that. Do you understand that?

Brent: Yes, that's consistent with other things that I've read.

But on the main I would say, all illnesses are manmade. Therefore how can you say, it is foreseen, it is caused by the free will of man, in his human form. Does that make sense to you?

Brent: Well, it's a bit difficult to understand all of this, I'm sure everyone else has the same problem, but yes, I follow you I think.

I'm trying to keep it simple, as always these matters are not straight forward. Man comes in many forms. Spiritual healing comes from us, to help you along life's pathway, but it is mainly to touch that spirit, to spark that side of you that needs to be expressed, can you see that? (Yes) Man is responsible for his own life. Although it is known what the ultimate end will be, we cannot hold him—you cannot hold us responsible, for how you live your lives, whilst on Earth. I know it is a difficult subject for you, but you are endowed with the free will, to do with your life, to make the best of it and go forward and unfortunately, we see so many, who reject what they know and take the wrong pathways. Have I been helpful to you?

Brent: Yes, but I don't think I'll ever understand how the ultimate end can be understood, if free will is allowed to operate, I don't think it's possible for us to understand that, because we think that either things are determined, or they're not.

They are only determined within a structure. Your free will allows you to do much that is not within that structure. If we have—let me try to simplify it, if you have a playing field, with how many players shall we say—let us take the number ten for now. We have a playing field with ten players; the ultimate goal is to reach the other end of the field. Three or four of those people will go directly to the other end of the field; they are the people who are following their true destiny, if you like. Let us take another three, who may meander all over the field to the left, but ultimately they too, will reach the other end of the field. They may have more obstacles to go over, but ultimately they too, reach the end of the field. Let us take the other four. Perhaps they think they know a shortcut. They leave the field entirely and for some reason, they find it difficult to find their way back, but they do eventually. You see, all of those players within the field, have their own free will, but at the end of the day, there is a destination, which they must reach and within the structure of the field, it is up to them, to decide which way they go, towards their end. Can you understand that?

Brent: Yes.

Does it make a little more sense? I know it is very difficult for all of you to understand these things, but somehow you seem to think, you are all placed within this Earth—that the knowledge is known, everything is known, which of course it is, but there have to be some guidelines, you must agree on that, otherwise there would be chaos and there cannot be chaos, within a perfect structure. Does it make sense to you?

Brent: No, but I think it's a little bit clearer, thank you.

Les: I had this problem Brent, just as you have, many, many years ago. I found this helped: I was looking at a point-to-point race at the time, and drifting away in these thoughts, it occurred to me that you could compare it to the rider being the soul and the horse, our physical self. The rider knows that after a gruelling race, there is a stable and adequate feed for the horse, so he tries to direct him, through the various motions of the point to point, and the various places. The horse is wilful and keeps deviating and going off track and has to be pulled back each time. Now that to me was fairly symptomatic of what happens, that the soul is trying to direct the body, the physical being. The physical being is exercising free will, by careering off course quite frequently. So, how does that sound? It helped me—you're welcome to it.

I think the fear lies within this one that he really does not like to feel controlled. I am sure you would agree with me there.

Les: I can imagine that too.

I don't hear the gentleman's voice.

Les: Is that so Brent?

Brent: No, I think it would be very comforting to know that everything is going to be under control and that though I might make errors, I'll ultimately end up in the right place.

I don't think the words speak as his heart does. But I hope it is a little clearer. It is a difficult thing for all of you to understand, but yes of course free will is a powerful thing; the thought again, is such a powerful thing.

Sandra: You say that we've all lived in this room before. Why have we come back, is it that we didn't fulfil what we were supposed to do?

Let me speak a little on that subject. I have said it is not obligatory to come back to the physical being, but of course there are times when the soul feels, it is the only course open to him, for his own growth. It can be for many reasons. It may well be that he did not learn a lesson, that he was meant to, and he wishes to return.

Sandra: So it's the same soul?

Not necessarily, we must deviate a little from this. Let me say, you are body and spirit, the spirit part of you moves on, the soul I prefer to call it. Your soul will never change, it needs to grow. But an element of your soul has the need to return, I believe I have spoken on this also. Again, we are into deep waters.

Sandra: Will we have travelled near enough the same path, or will it be a totally different life?

I'm not clear what you mean?

Sandra: If we'd lived before and come back again, would we be learning by our mistakes now, would it be a similar time again?

You would know what you had to achieve, let me repeat that to you. But when you return to a physical body, that memory is wiped out, if you like. You would not learn, if you knew exactly what you had to do now, would you? What would be the exercise in that?

Sandra: But would we be totally different personalities, or the same personalities, the same characters?

You would choose that for yourselves, it would depend on what needed to be learned. You may return in another gender. If you had been female, you possibly could return as male. You may return as a baby, who has to be returned quickly, to our side of life. There are many possibilities.

Sandra: So it's not just failure as such, why you come back?

I don't like to use that word failure. It is not considered failure.

Sandra: Well—that you have to learn more then, learn by your mistakes perhaps.

Not necessarily, you have to learn—you may return to help another. There are many reasons why you may wish to return to a physical body. Not always that you need a lesson for yourself, it may be that you have agreed with another soul, to return with them, if you like, to help them in their soul's growth.

Sandra: So because I'm a twin, were we twins before?

Not necessarily. It is a decision that was taken. Once again I must say, you need to move away from the idea that you are always a single unit. I think always you are going to find this difficult to understand.

Sandra: I would love to know what I did before though.

Brent: Could I just ask, you speak of the lessons, a soul might want to learn. What would be an example of that? Would it be to learn compassion, or something of that sort?

I will try to give you an example. Let's say you had lived a life of cruelty, depravity and a life full of non-love for your fellow man. It may be, that when you have faced yourself and let me say, you are your own judges—it may be that you feel you need to learn love, to give love to someone else. So you may decide that you would like to return again, to be able to express yourself in a much better way. It may be that you would decide, to return as someone who cares for another person, let's say for example, someone who is unable to care for themselves. You would then redeem the life you had led previously, by looking after and giving love to someone who badly needed it. In that way, you would help your own growth and also another soul. Do you see, it is not always what is just for the betterment of yourselves, but always, always you must be thinking of others. There are many reasons for returning.

Brent: Thank you.

Sandra: One of them must be for us coming here, there's a reason for us all ending up coming here? It sometimes takes many, many years to bring together, people who should be meeting. Yes you are correct in your assumptions there. You, at a particular time in all your lives, are meant to be together, that is quite true.

Les: If I might amplify that, it was you Jackie was it?

Sandra: No it's me.

Les: If you knew how many people had been through this house, sitting in circles, but not staying the route—there have been dozens who've started and fallen by the wayside, as I say. But at last there's a cohesive whole. Of course you haven't known the past and how many have been through here and believe me there have been dozens. Some have started on their own, but many just gave up, not having the patience to stay the course.

Sandra: But we haven't come back just to do this have we? I mean they say to do healing with animals, have we come back just to do that?

Les: I don't know, I can't answer that for you. You have to make your own decision on that?

Sandra: Well yeah we will, but I wondered if it was planned that we come back and do this?

Les: Well as I say it's your decision, you may have wished to come back to do it, as part of your own growth of the soul.

Sandra: I'm sure there're lots of people who wish to come back that can't.

Les: What makes you say that?

Sandra: I would have thought, because not everyone has—

Please let me speak. It is not always necessary to return to a physical body. I have said previously, that is not a happening that always occurs. It is possible, that you can go forward in our side of life, without actually returning to a physical body. If the decision is used to return, then all, all of us would help that to take place, provided as I have said earlier, the desire is genuine. Always you must keep in mind the motive behind all things.

Sandra: I found it difficult that I made the decision to return, when it sounds so nice over there anyway. You are speaking as Sandra: A person, not as a soul.

Yes, this is the problem, you must try to see yourselves, all of you, as spirit first. The human form that you are now, is only a covering for that spirit, which is eternal, the real you, that part of you which will continue. So that is why you find it so difficult. Always you must try to see the wider scope of things. I will have to tell you this many times I think.

See yourselves not as just a physical being, but that spirit, that eternal spirit, which will go on and keep growing.

It is the spirit part of you that makes the decisions, which helps you along life's pathway, which eases your trials and tribulations, whilst you inhabit this physical being. That's why I say to you all, listen for that inner voice that is the part of you that will guide, guide you whilst you are here.

Sandra: Did you say that it didn't have to be the same spirit, when you come back?

How can you be the same? The spirit remains the same, but you will not be the same in the physical. You may return as a gentleman, you may return as a young child, who may remain for only a few months of your years, on this Earth. It depends on the reason behind why you needed to come. It is another subject which is difficult to understand. We hear so often, 'They were only babies, why did they need to be taken?' those babies you must remember in the wider sense, are spirit beings, who made a decision to do just that. I know it's difficult for you all, but you must look on a wider scale.

Sara: This is how we would explain the Third World poverty and the children who die very young.

Always we have to speak of cause and effect. Sometimes it depends—we have to look back, before we can look forward, we have to see what has happened within that area as a whole, of how the people have used and abused the land. There are many factors which govern these things, it is not one solitary thing, which decides, it is a multitude of things and that is why it is so difficult for you to comprehend. Cause and effect are important words. Do not grieve, do not grieve for children who go on. I know how your hearts burst when this happens, but you should rejoice, because in fact they are returning home. Too often we see you grieve. If only you could look on the wider views of things, your lives would be much more simple, you would have less problems, you would be able to cope with life's trials. I hope that has explained it a little more to you all. (Agreement + thanks)

Les: Are you able to take more questions?

I think just one more this time.

George: It might be fitting, can I ask a question about our limited understanding—take an example, 'Time.' I like to visualise a model and I think it helps me a little to understand things. I see time as a circle and we on Earth plane are travelling this circle. We can see a little ahead of us, and we can see a little way behind us, but if we are in spirit realm, I guess it's a little more like being at the centre of the circle and being able to see it all, being able to see the whole circumference. And as it is a circle, it goes on forever and time becomes eternity. Does that seem a sensible sort of model that might help us to grasp the meaning?

I understand your words, but I would say, within a circle would be a limitation. I would rather say to you, be outside the circle. That is your eternal growth. Do not enclose yourself within the circle. Although you could see the circumference, would you not see much, much more, if you were outside, looking around?

George: Yes indeed.

And don't you have the expanse?

George: Yes, could I add to that, that in trying to understand light and the way light travels, it seems to have some of the properties of sound in air, so I'm using sound as a model, for trying to understand light, so that light seems a little bit like a compression wave, travelling at a very much faster speed than sound. Does that model strike you as being at all reasonable?

Light is in fact of a very much higher vibration than your sound. Yes, when you speak of sound, you are speaking of a vibration which is denser.

George: Yes, yes but I was wondering—I realise there is an enormous difference between the two, but there seems to be a slight similarity of principal, between the two.

There are similarities within each and every vibration that exists. You cannot separate them, as single units, like you cannot separate yourselves, as single units. All things counterbalance each other. So of course there are bound to be similarities, although they are separate. Can you see this? (Yes) Everything that exists must be in balance with each other and if you have vibrations which are higher, vibrations which are lower, ultimately they have their line—lines, if you like, of structure. You have the lower to the highest, but each has its own individual reason behind it, if you like.

Les: You did explain to us a little while ago, that there are vibrations within vibrations.

Yes, this again we must speak on, on a more deeper level. The word vibration in itself is not an adequate explanation. We need to go into much deeper matters. But all I say to you, there are many levels of vibration, but each interacts with the other, although you see them as separate things. We will discuss this too, on another occasion.

Les/George: Thank you.

Les: Well, from everybody I wish to give you our thanks once more; a very interesting and enjoyable meeting with you.

Thank you all for your warm welcome, until we meet again, I wish you love, happiness and more knowledge.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: And our love goes with you, God be with you.

~31st October 1994~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening and welcome to you once more.

I thank you for your warm welcome once again.

Les: Yes, we missed you last week, but your colleagues gave us a very interesting and educational evening.

There will be times when I need to depart from this plane.

Les: I see.

But of course, there will always be contact with us. I am happy that your evening went well.

Les: Yes, it was quite instructive actually. A very interesting talk on the auras, and the effect it has in your world—which pleased us, I must say.

These times are unavoidable, but in future, to save you concern, I will forewarn you.

Les: Thank you, it's very kind of you. I do understand that you must have many more important things to do, which will take you away.

I would not necessarily say, 'more important,' but of course, important. It is necessary sometimes for those of us who come down so low, to travel back to whence we belong, for our own rejuvenation, if you see what I mean—

Les: I do quite understand it.

It is rather 'heavy,' sometimes, and we need to return for our own sakes. But, this time it was for a meeting of importance, as you say—(Pause) It is necessary sometimes that we gather as a group.

Les: Yes I can understand that too.

And that was the reason this time, but I will forewarn you next time.

Les: Right. And what would you like to do this evening? Do you wish to give us a talk on any subject? Or would you prefer questions?

Let us have a little of both. (Right—) I would like to talk a little more on the senses that you possess, while in these bodies. (Pause) I suggested before that each of you try to develop the senses that you have been endowed with. Can you remember? (See session: 10/10/1994)

Les: Yes I do. And I expect everybody else will.

I don't think you have been trying too hard. (Smiles), but for that, I will say no more. But I think it is imperative to your group that you all endeavour to do so. (Right—) Let me talk about your sense of taste. (Yes) This is a sense that all of you have very poor knowledge of. If only when you are young children, you could be allowed to develop your taste buds naturally, your sense of taste, it would be much more helpful, in how you develop along your life's pattern. So often, children instinctively know what is good for them, when it comes to nourishing the physical body. But so often they are forced to eat what the parent has decided is good for them. You must all be aware of the child, who spits forth the food that is offered to them.

Les: Yes, we are indeed.

Not only are they using their sense of taste, but of smell too.

Les: Is that so?

All of you instinctively know what is good for you. And unfortunately, it is abused to such a degree, that you sometimes become gluttonous in your appetites. That is why the more primitive forms of people on your Earth, and they still exist, have much better ideas of what is good for them. It is how it was developed, the sense of plant life that became your medicines, because of the people, who were highly developed in their sense of taste and smell. In primitive times, there was one person within your groups, who actually tasted new foodstuffs.

Les: I've often wondered about that, how they discovered the various differences.

He, and I say 'he' reservedly, because mostly, it was a male—his job was to find out whether new plant life was suitable, either for food, or for use as medicine within the group of people. It became necessary for this one to taste on a very gradual basis, each new food. Otherwise, how could they have known what was poisonous, and what was not? What I am trying to say to you is this: These senses have gradually become lost down the ages. But that does not mean they cannot be found again. It is a matter of discipline, in trying to develop those taste buds, which also includes that sense of smell. I will stay with these two senses for this time, because they are so closely connected. If only the parents of your children would look and see, and see for themselves what the child is trying to say to them, things would be so much better. The child has an instinctive knowledge that he brings with him, in these matters.

Les: That's very interesting.

Of course, we realise the worry of the parents. They are concerned only for the well-being of their offspring. We understand this, but these senses are retained and they should not be dismissed so easily. What I would like you all to do, is to take one of your senses; I will leave it entirely to each individual. And I wish you would try to develop that one sense. I know in your busy lifestyles, you find it not always convenient to give time to such matters. But I say to you, these are matters of importance, matters of importance for your own growth. And of course, I cannot make you do these things, but I would advise that you all try.

Les: We certainly do value your advice and opinion. And perhaps at this stage, I could mention that the gentleman who has questioned you quite a bit, is adopting what I would call a natural way with his children. I believe they don't have salt, I believe they don't have much sweet stuff. Is that right Brent?

Brent: We try yes.

I say only, follow what the children are telling you. Do not make plans. Do not lay down hard and fast rules. They know instinctively what is good for them, what is good for their bodies. Do not be concerned about the child who will not eat. He will eat when he needs to and he will eat what is necessary for him. Remember always, each of you are individual, individual in your personalities, and in your spiritual growth. I have told you this before, and I say it to you again. Treat the child as the individual soul that he is. He brings with him the knowledge from within. And although he may not be able to speak in words, to say what he feels, he can tell you from his gestures and his actions. But, of course, I am speaking of small, small children and I know as age progresses onwards, it becomes more difficult for you, because of the habits that you have acquired over a lifetime. But that is not to say you cannot change. And in fact it is good for all of you, that you do not allow your minds full reign over what you do. I again would stress the word 'discipline' in all matters.

Les: Well, I have frequently spoken about diets, with various people. I have always suggested they do not adhere to a specific diet, if they feel it's not suitable for them. But let their own body dictate what it needs. I follow this principal myself.

Of course. You must always follow that inner voice. It will see you much better off, than all of your diets as you call them.

Les: I do vary my own eating quite a bit. I go by what I feel I need at that particular mealtime.

By following all of your senses, what you in fact are doing, is quickening all of your vibrations. Of course, it cannot be achieved fully, whilst in your physical bodies, but a great deal of it can be and no reason why it cannot be. I will leave it there for now. Perhaps the group will think upon it. And I trust perhaps act upon it.

Les: I'm sure they will begin to give it a lot of thought and probably will begin to act upon it as you suggest. It is sensible advice, I know from my own eating experience.

If you are taking in, what is instinctively right for you, then you are going a long way towards keeping good health within that teaching physical instrument. Now, shall we continue with your questions?

Les: Yes certainly. Well continuing along the same line, if we might for a start, I think you have a question on diet, George, haven't you?

George: Yes, I believe Jesus taught something about diet. He advocated the importance of raw food in the diet. Now this teaching does not appear in the Bible, but is something that was recovered from the Dead Sea Scrolls. Would you care to comment on that, the importance of raw food?

Yes, I will comment for you. Let us go back to Jesus the Christ and his teaching. We know he was a Master who walked your Earth. We know too, much was written that was untrue. That we have discussed also. Yes, you must remember at the time that he trod this Earth, much of the food that was eaten, was consumed raw in any case. They did not have your utensils and your ovens and whatever else you may use nowadays. So food was consumed raw very often. But I will say to you this: The reasoning behind that, is that when food is eaten raw, it contains its natural elements, its natural energies. We have spoken a little of this, too. Although you think when things die, they lose a certain amount, for a little time, they retain that essential energy, that essential vibration. That is why it is always good to eat food while it is fresh and while it is raw. Once it is cooked, it loses all of those elements. And that is why it is written, like most things. All of your foodstuffs which are not cooked, would you not agree, are very much better for you? I think within your diets, most of the foods that are 'good for you,' that they say are good for you, are natural foods, your fruits, your pulses, your nuts—all of those things, they are natural foods and of course, need no cooking. But essentially, that is why it has been written thus, that it retains that vibrational energy, which is good for the physical being.

George: Yes, thank you. I thought it might relate to the energy—

But of course, if it is left too long, then that energy would disappear in any case. It would only remain for a short period of time.

George: Yes, I felt it was more than just the vitamins and the enzymes. It is the energy—Remember always that you are spirit and you are speaking of spiritual matters. Also, all things have their own energy, as I have said before, also your foodstuffs, always remember. So, of course, it is better for you, if your foodstuffs remain uncooked. But, as we have spoken of a little while ago, your pallets have become used to food that has been 'tampered' with, that has been—how shall I say, 'molested,' in a way. And so your pallets have become used to food that is essentially dead. It is also a reason why you sustain so much disease within your physical bodies.

Jackie: Can I ask a question? You get some people that are terribly overweight and yet they eat hardly anything. Is it the metabolism? Do some people burn up food more than others? I mean, people have their jaws wired, and go to great lengths, but just can't seem to lose weight—

I would say to those people, if it is not a physical problem—by that I mean, if there is not a complaint of the physical body, which prevents them from losing that weight, then I say, 'look within.' Look within to find what the true problem is. What disease there is within that being that is creating the quite unnatural forces of making fat within the body.

Jackie: You don't think some people burn food quicker than others?

Of course, people's metabolisms differ. That is a physical fact. I am speaking more on a spiritual level. And of course, that applies to all of you. Here we come back again to thought. Your physical being is just a covering. It should be in fact, a perfect specimen. You have been provided with all that is necessary for your physical well-being. You need to look to nature for it. She provides all that you need. Of course, each of you are different in your make-up, but that is a physical thing. Of course, some of you do have physical problems. For example, if the thyroid gland is not working efficiently, then of course there is a problem. Eliminate the physical problems first. If they do not work for you, then I say, look within and use that 'mind force.' Remember the power of your 'THOUGHTS'. What you see, is what you express through your physical being.

Jackie: Do you believe that people should be vegetarians?

I think we have spoken on this subject and yes, if you want my simple answer, then I would say 'yes.'

Les: It would follow your previous remarks about food being eaten raw. One would have to be vegetarian to do that.

Yes, I don't wish to intrude upon your innate sense of what is right, but the question has been asked of me, and I have to say 'yes,' it would be better for all of you, if you could refrain from your meat-eating, for the reasons that I have given to you before. But I know, like everything else, your life patterns are all different, your viewpoints are all different and you must follow your hearts. But I would say your physical bodies would be much healthier, if you would follow what I have said. (Thank you.)

Les: To confirm what you have said Salumet, there was some years ago now, a case widely reported in our press, of a building labourer, who of necessity, had to do very hard work every day of his life, living solely and completely on milk and honey.

Yes, of course, you will say, some of you, some people are allergic to these things. Always I must say to you, you are individuals. Follow those instincts, which are innate in all of you. You will not go wrong if you do this, because your own inner voice will only tell you of those foodstuffs, which will help and which will nourish and keep healthy, that physical being that all of you carry.

Les: And to achieve that awareness, we come back to your previous suggestion, that we all make the effort to devote a little time each day to meditation.

I don't think I need to even put that into words. It should be part of your lives. How else can you reach that which is DIVINE, if you are not prepared to give the time to it? It will not come to you. Nothing is easy. You must work and strive for that which is so good. I do not say the pathway of anyone is easy. You can only strive and achieve what is good, ultimately, by hardship and by dedication.

Les: Yes, that's true. As we say, nothing worth having is come by easily.

If it is, it is not fully appreciated.

Jackie: No, but you can work hard and you can be so dedicated, but at the end of the day, it's really left to your children. Then they work hard and it's left to their children, isn't it?

You are speaking of material things. Yes, of course you can work hard in that sense. I am speaking on a spiritual level. To achieve that spiritual growth, you must devote your time as we have said. Time in quietness, in stillness, in 'meditation,' as that is the word you tend to use—reserve that quiet time each day. It matters not when it is, but allow yourselves that quiet time—offer yourselves to that greater consciousness and you will be surprised how quiet, how tranquil and how peaceful your lives can become. I do not speak those words lightly, but it is something that you all can achieve, but it must be worked for. It will not come to you over night, it is an ongoing process.

Les: And if we attempt to do that and succeed in doing that, I think I'm right in saying that it makes your 'control,' of us, in such instances as this tonight, much easier?

Of course, because what happens is, your own vibrations are raised. And as you probably know, 'we,' of us who come to you, need to lower ours to a very great degree. That is why sometimes, it is rather uncomfortable for some who come, especially if it is a new experience for them. So, of course, if your vibration is raised, it makes it so much simpler for us to 'blend' with you. But that should not be the reason why you sit in quietness—it should be to blend with that higher consciousness, that all of you can attain—all of you can develop, and all of you should do. After all, it is the reason why you are here on this Earth. It is not to see what you can gain materially, what interaction you have with other people, although that is important, but it is to raise that vibration ever onwards to a higher plane. That is the true reason for your lives here. Is that helpful?

Les: Thank you. Any more questions please?

Brent: Yes, I have a question. Two weeks ago, I tried to get to this point, but didn't quite explain it very well. We were talking about healing and whether healing is interference. You said that if the person's free will requests healing, then it's not interference and I agree with that. But my point was that when the healing takes place, it's a change in the physical body, somehow. And so I'm coming to the point of view that the physical is really a rather secondary thing, and that the physical can change—there can be discontinuities in physical 'law.' Is that correct?

You are becoming wider in your knowledge. Your physical being is indeed secondary. You are spirit first and the physical being is nothing more than a covering. Your physical being is nothing more or less than an expression of your spirit. And I believe I said that only when the spirit is touched will a physical healing take place. So you need to forget, really, the physical being in any case. You have to think of it on a higher level, a different level. Do you see what I'm getting to?

Brent: Yes, I think so, gradually.

Illness is really an expression of what is going on within. We know it takes many forms and probably it is most difficult for you to understand, but it is a 'dis-ease' within the spirit, which shows itself in the physical being. So, when the physical being asks for help, indeed it is the spirit which is being helped, which then manifests the result in the physical body.

Brent: Could we take a specific example. Say, someone who has cancer, who is diagnosed as suffering from a progressive terminal illness. But if that is not essential to the person's life (plan) here, and the person asks for healing and receives healing, then there is a fairly radical change in the body. The cancer cells are changed, moved, de-materialised or something of the sort, so that it disappears. Is that correct?

The change, my friend, is within the spirit body. What is cancer? Shall we speak a little on what that disease is all about? I have spoken before, that each one of you is individual, but part of a whole. Do we agree on that? I think so. What is a cell within your physical body? It is one part of a group within an organ. One organ is a part of other organs within a body. The body is an individual that is attached to other individuals. So let us go back to the one cell. (Stronger voice) As you as human beings have free will, a mind of your own, what happens when a cell within the body, within the organ, begins to change? Let us make a comparison here. The cell is in fact saying, 'I want to do my own thing.' I am keeping this simple, because again we get to difficulties, in trying to explain—when we start to speak of structures as cells, it is difficult. But one cell decides it wants to do its own thing. Who can stop it? So it progresses onwards, onwards, onwards. When it reaches the stage that it invades other organs, then we have the disease called cancer. And you all know that it is a disease, which spreads throughout the body. When it has invaded the body, then the physical being dies. So, in fact, your cancer disease has won. You have the power within your spirit body, to change these things. That is why you have the cases, especially through your spiritual healing, when these things can be changed. It is not so much that the cells are de-materialised, and made whole again, it is the fact that the spirit body accepts, accepts that there is something wrong within. (Spoken slowly and with great clarity)

The individual cell is reacting in the way that the person himself is reacting.

Can you see the comparison there? It is almost like the cell is that individual person, within the body structure. (Pause/breath + strong voice change)

Cancer is a disease of human kind that should not exist. It has been the scourge of mankind, for many, many years now. I say to you, it is a disease which is unnecessary, like so many of your diseases have been, but unlike many, cancer is a disease of the mind—the mind. The spirit body can alter the way it reacts and the way that it feels. I can make comparisons with many illnesses that exist now. For example, let us take the person who suffers from back problems. What would you say the comparison would be for that? It shows that the person is rigid, is unbending in his way of thinking. I could continue with so many comparisons, but let us say this: Cancer is a scourge of the times, which only when mankind realises what he is truly about, will the disease be eliminated. I know you will tell me it has many physical, physical beginnings, but I say to you, 'no, it is not.' For the cells to become rogue cells, then the problem begins within the spirit body. Is that helpful to you?

Les: Yes it is, thank you.

Try to compare the cell, to you as an individual. I know these matters are probably new thoughts to you, but if you can think along these lines, you will see that it begins to make some sense.

Les: Yes indeed it would.

You see, you beings only see yourselves as flesh and blood, with feelings, emotions and so you are so much more. You have to see yourselves on a wider, deeper scale.

Les: What you have been telling us, would imply that those who spend a great part of their life in meditation, often in solitary conditions, ought not to suffer from any physical illness at all. Is that so? If the meditation is pure, it should result in a perfect physical body. (Thank you.) Of course, there are, how can I say, 'outer' influences. But basically I say to you, those of you who raise yourself to that greater consciousness, should not suffer from physical illnesses. You were all meant to live your lives, where the body becomes older and goes naturally—that when the time comes, your spirit should leave that physical body easily, without trauma and without disease.

Les: And does that mean, too, that in the next plane of life, the one to which we go immediately following this existence, unless those living there learn to control their thoughts and their spirit aspirations, as you have said—would they too be liable to suffer from illnesses? Because before, when we spoke of this, you said the power of thought would prevent it. Is that what you were meaning?

The power of thought is all-invading. When you leave these bodies, if you leave with disease and a sick mind, shall we say, then of course you take it with you for some time. You must of course, know of our 'spirit hospitals,' where people go to recuperate. They do not possess a physical body, so of course it is a sickness of spirit that is being treated. I do not always think that you understand these things fully. I sometimes see thoughts of people who think: 'All right, you have a counter-part of your physical being and so within our hospitals it is still that physical being.' That is not so. It is the SPIRIT that is being helped. Can you see that?

Les: Yes, I do indeed. And once they have been helped to the point of recovery, then it is unlikely that they would bring upon themselves any further illness?

Of course, once they are helped and it is accepted, then there would be no more illness of that kind.

Jackie: But would they look the same? I mean, if someone's been in a horrific road accident and you say that they go to your spirit hospitals—

It depends on what they have known whilst in their physical being. If they have the knowledge, then of course they leave behind that tortured body.

Jackie: Yes, but if they get a new body, would it be—what I'm saying is like when you read books, they say that when they come over to your plane of life, they see familiar faces, don't they? (Yes) So, say, like my dad's over there. Would he look the same to me?

How else would you recognise him?

Jackie: Yes, so if they were in a horrific accident, then, and then went to your side—

No, let me explain to you. If they had a physical problem whilst in the physical body, of course they do not retain that. The etheric body is not physical, so it cannot have your physical problems. But what is the restriction, is within the mind. Of course, I thought you would know of this with your rescue group. Are you not aware that that is what is happening? It is the limitations of the mind, that keeps them trapped, not the actual physical problems. It remains within their mind—that does not change. Once the spirit is released from the body, then it leaves behind all those problems. But, for example, if we have someone who has no knowledge of spirit, then they will retain the pain of their last moments probably, of their physical problems. And they hold onto that. Can you see?

Jackie: Yeah, until they are released, or—

Until they become aware of what is happening to them.

Jackie: When they become aware, like there was one girl in a fire—So when they are rescued and they become aware of what's happened to them—say like she wanted to meet her mum there, would she be the same girl to her mum? Look the same? That's what I'm trying to say. It's difficult to explain.

Let me speak a little on this. Perhaps we could have another time on this subject. (Stronger voice) For recognition sake, you would meet the person who you loved, you would meet them as you recognised them last. They may show themselves to be a little younger, they may show themselves to be as you last saw them. That would be their choice. But always you will recognise those loved ones. They will not have the physical ailments that they had whilst here on your Earth plane. You will see them 'whole' if you like. But you would certainly recognise them, because of course, you have a counterpart of the physical being, which is the etheric body.

Les: And apart from that, the recognition of the etheric and the physical, it would also be, I imagine, an awareness of spirit to spirit?

Yes, that is a subject—I must come back to that one time, to explain a little more fully. Of course it is the spirit that is recognising spirit. But for purposes that we will discuss at a later time, it is necessary to have a physical being, to be recognised. But in fact, it is of course, yes, you are correct, spirit to spirit. After all, when you have passed on through this veil called death, you are of course spirit, even if they are not aware of it at that time. They are spirit, whether they want to be, or whether they do not. That cannot be changed.

Debbie: Can I ask a question? In this book I read, and I think a few other people have read it, she said that apparently, spirit actually leaves the body before—like when the physical body dies, before it actually dies, like in a road accident. Sometimes the spirit actually leaves just before the accident would happen, if it was going to be a tragic accident.

You leave your bodies all of the time! Your spirit comes to our side of life to be, how did I say, 'rejuvenated,' before, did I not?—Rejuvenated. You are not always aware of this process, but it happens in your sleep states. So, of course, it happens. And when you become able enough, in touch enough with that higher consciousness, you can in fact do it with your own will. It is something you could all achieve, if you so desired. It is nothing unusual.

Debbie: When sometimes, like when you do a certain journey, and are driving, a lot of the time, you don't remember doing parts of the journey. I do it frequently, I drive to work and I don't remember going down certain places. I come back and I'm in a certain road, but I don't remember doing the rest of the distance.

Please, do not put everything down to spirit. I must say this to you. That is just a lapse in your brain pattern. It is nothing to do with that spiritual aspect of yourself. So many people want to say that everything that occurs is down to spirit intervention. I tell you here and now, that is not so. I think you would all agree that at certain times you have all done these things. It is just a lapse in your brain pattern, if you like, in your thinking. But certainly, it is not spirit-controlled.

Jackie: No, I think we've all—Also, I think things that happen now, and I think a few people do, we tend to think it's what's 'meant to be.' If something happened you think, 'Oh! It's meant to have happened.'—It's here to try us, it's there to try us, or we learn from it, yeah—

It may well be that it is, but always look for another reason behind it. Do not put everything down to being fatalistic, or spirit-involved, as so often we see you do. But try first always to find a physical explanation first. Very few incidents, I can tell you, are spirit-influenced, and if they are, I am sure you would be much more aware of it being so. There would have to be a very good reason for it being so. We are not here to interfere in your lives. This I have told you before too, and I say it again. We cannot interfere in your lives. We can influence, but of course, we have our lives to live also and we cannot be here with you every second of your days. Do you not see that? It would not be feasible. So often we have this vision of you all, thinking we are hovering about over you, every second of your lives. That is not true, that is not true. We are busy people, who are leading lives of our own. Some, very busy, some do not even wish to return to your earthly planes. So you see, try always to keep your minds open.

Les: Thank you.

Now, for this time, I think I will withdraw.

Les: Thank you and from all of us, thank you once again, for what you have told us and for your presence here tonight.

May God's blessings be with each and every one of you,

May you go about your lives in love and peace until we meet again.

Les: And we give you our love and ask God's blessing be upon you and all those helping you.

~7th November 1994~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

I ask please may you lower the light a fraction this time?

Les: Is that satisfactory?

Thank you. My purpose for that is that I am trying to use instrument (Eileen) on a deeper level this time and I think for comfort, better to have lower light.

Les: Yes, of course.

I am so happy that you have all gathered once more, to meet again, to listen to me.

Les: We're very, very happy to have you, and I have quite a number of questions, mainly arising from what you have previously told us.

I will be pleased to answer for you.

Les: You have spoken to us in the past about UFO's and we were very interested in what you said. Recently, in the last few days as a matter of fact, there has been a marked increase in UFO's, in the North of the country, in Scotland, to be precise. So much so that a community has organised a gathering to discuss it further and ask the government for further information, which they believe is being withheld. Can you give us any further information on that?

I will try—I think what you speak of is nothing new in that area of your country. But of course, what is different is that awareness has become much more profound. It is not that suddenly there are more craft. It is just that people's awareness, as I have said, (has) become more profound—they have become aware. It is not unknown to your government here, or in other countries. It is not something new, but something they have been aware of for quite some time. I would say to you, even from the beginning of your century.

Les: Is that so? So long as that?

I think if you were to face your governments, and I say that is now happening, because of the interest shown by the ordinary person, your governments can no longer deny what is happening.

Les: I'm very pleased to hear that, because I and many others like me, have been of the opinion for a long time, that there has been what we call a 'cover up,' in these matters.

It is understandable, only in the way that your governments have been afraid of the fear it would cause amongst your communities. But, of course, they deny the intelligence of the common person. But no longer can they deny what is known, because as you have said, the 'people power,' will insist upon the truth. As I say, not only in this country, but in all of your world, these sightings have taken place. It is not uncommon and it is not new.

Les: So there has been a general consensus of opinion throughout the World, by the government leaders, that nothing should be published?

I say they have been afraid.

Les: Yes, this is what I thought. They're afraid of 'panic stations,' to use our expression.

I believe I have said to you, if you were to speak to the people who have travelled into space, they could tell you much, much more than has already been spoken of.

Les: You've certainly said that. And the inference was that they have seen a great deal more than they have been allowed to tell.

They have been instructed not to speak, but I can tell you, amongst some, it has caused some major problems.

Les: Has it?

It is an awareness that cannot be denied.

Les: Quite. And can't be covered up for very much longer, I would imagine.

Because of the increased awareness, then it will all become much more open and people at last must make their own judgements and they must stop and think.

Les: Good, we're very pleased to hear that.

But, it is nothing new.

Les: No. It's just that it's coming much more into the purview of the population as a whole.

It is what we have been striving towards, that this time, the knowledge that is known, will never be denied. It cannot be allowed as it has in past ages, to be put down. It will come out (Louder) and so it will remain. The time has come for people, for people to know what life is all about.

Les: Splendid. Yes, you did comment on that before. And another piece of media news, made me think of you this week, too. The French government is now apparently being much more concerned about a 'religious attitude,' towards their politicians. In other words, they have to be much more answerable to the people than they have been. And that also made me think about what you had told us about 'people power.'

Yes, you have seen a great increase in this, have you not, over the past few years in particular?

Les: That is quite true. Yes, we have.

It is something that must happen. For too long have your peoples been kept down, have been denied the right to serve and speak as they wish. It could not continue. That, as I have said previously, is one of the reasons we have gathered, and that we must now spread the word, so that it cannot be denied. It is happening all over your world. Of course, there will always be those leaders, who will try to keep down their peoples, but that will only happen for a very short time. I speak in particular of those rulers, those men of greed and want. But eventually, the people must speak, and follow their hearts.

Les: Good. That's most interesting, thank you.

I cannot say to you, 'All will be rosy,' in your near future. That is not true. But we are working intently on the changes that are afoot. At this time, as you can see from your televisions and your radio communications, these things are happening.

Les: Yes, they are indeed. And we feel very privileged to be part of this group, in at the beginning of the 'explosion,' if I can put it that way. As I'm sure it will be an explosion when it really begins—an explosion of opinion.

Yes, perhaps the word is a little unfortunate. It has been a gradual build-up towards knowledge. It has been happening mainly throughout this century of your time. Too often, as I have said, it has been denied, but this time we work towards the truth. The truth can never, never be extinguished.

Les: Yes, perhaps the word 'momentum,' would have been a better one for me to use.

I would agree with that one, thank you.

Les: We are certainly delighted to hear this, because once it does begin, I am sure it will open up many, many more avenues of knowledge, learning and interest. And I have said many times in the past, a moral revival. I'm not going to say a religious revival, but a moral revival.

I am unhappy sometimes to hear that this word 'religion,' is still so important in your world. It would be much better to use the, 'love of mankind,' that he could bond together from every area of society, to make a unified 'religion,' I say reservedly; the religion of love and of brotherhood. I know that your world religions have served the people well. If it has caused them to have comfort, so be it. But now is the time to place it all to one side and everyone to join together, to seek for that God-consciousness, which is within you all. But it is coming—

Les: Good. We look forward to it. Now, my next question touches on other things you have told us before, deviating from this subject. But I know some people in this group are still concerned about some 'rescues' we have, because they consider that those who come back for help, have been in their traumatic state and aware of it for many, many years sometimes. I believe I am right in saying that somehow, they are 'cocooned' from that, and they do not suffer the pain or the mental torment, which caused their death.

Let us speak a little on this again. (Thank you.) You know you all are clothed in a physical body. You have an etheric body, which is closest to the physical. We all understand that, do we not? That is the part, which 'departs,' if I may use the word, when the physical being dies. It retains that part of the personality that showed itself in the physical being—goes with the mind, which belongs to the spirit part. The brain part of the physical being dies, but the mind is retained. Within that mind, lies all the experiences of your earthly lives. Is that clear to you all?

Les: I believe so. Has anybody any questions on that, before we go further?

I would like to explain as we go along, if there are any problems.

Les: Anybody any question on that? You understand that the mind activates the physical brain and is free on the death of the physical brain. That is quite clear to you all, is it?

So, the spirit takes with it the experiences of the earthly lives. If the knowledge of that being is limited, then of course when the spirit is freed, then he is in 'shackles,' if you like, by his own mental knowledge. Can you understand that? (Affirmed) How can it be so, you do not suddenly become 'Angels.' You carry with you all that has been felt, all that has been learned, all that is 'you.' Some unfortunately, are not well-equipped in the ways of spirit, they are spiritually 'poor.' So, this is where the problems arise. If you have knowledge of spirit, of what you are about, there should be no problems. You will leave that physical being behind and you will go to that place that you are meant to be. You will be greeted and helped on your way. That is the normal pattern of things. You understand that?

Les: Yes we do, thank you.

Now we come to the group of people who have problems. Let me firstly say to you, there are many views on what you expect to find, when the spirit leaves the body. Let me take an example. If you are deeply religious, in any of those religions of your world, you will expect to find, what those teachings have taught you. So, in actual fact, what you expect is what you find. That sometimes is difficult for people to comprehend. But it should not be so, because again we come back to that very powerful thing called 'THOUGHT'. What you think, is what you are. We come to the people, of course, who have a traumatic passing, where they are almost 'shot,' from their physical bodies, perhaps rather too quickly and they are lost. Or you have the people who have suffered from illnesses, and they too retain their pain. But all are met by someone. But whether they accept that person's greeting, is entirely up to them, because, you see, you still retain that free will. It is something you carry with you. You do not lose it on your physical death. That free will is still active. Do you understand that? (Affirmed) So, of course, if the free will remains, you are in fact still 'individualised.' The problem lies then, when people cannot or will not accept help. They are lost and sometimes we cannot reach them to bring them forward and that is where your rescue circles help. I believe we have spoken a little on that.

Les: Yes, we have in the past.

But, let me say to you here and now: No one suffers. It is where the word in your teachings comes from, the word of 'limbo.' It is a grey area, if you like, where people come. They neither can come back, nor can they move forward, because their own mind is blocking it. Does that make sense?

Les: Yes, we have used the word (Limbo) frequently in rescues.

But let me say—try to explain a little simply for you. You may be in pain, you may have worries, but when you are in your sleep state, does not all the knowledge and the pain disappear from you?

Les: True.

Try to imagine a state of sleep, where you are cushioned from all those troubles, those daily troubles that you suffer from. This is a simplified way of explaining what happens to those souls in distress. They are 'buffeted,' from their pain and their anguish, until such time as they are ready to accept that they need help. I do not mean they are forgotten or neglected. We have souls in our world, whose 'job,' if you like, it is to help and protect these souls. They do not suffer for years and centuries sometimes. They are 'cocooned' from all that. But they are being influenced, if you like, in that time, until such time that the realisation comes to them, that they must be helped. They are either brought back to your 'rescue circles,' or they move forward with those souls in our side of life, who are there to help them.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. That is going to give a great deal of comfort to many of our members, I know, who could not quite grasp that they are not suffering. Not so much in this group, but in others, where we still deal largely with rescues.

I think perhaps the problem lies in the fact that when they return to your rescue circles, their last memories come back with them. That is for identification purposes and so that you too can help them. How otherwise can you know what you are dealing with? You do not have the mental fortitude to cope with it, unless you know the physical problems and what ails that soul.

Les: That's right. Good. I'm very happy to hear that, because it does confirm what I have told people. But coming from you, it is going to give them even more assurance that these poor people do not suffer for many, many years.

No, we could not have that.

Les: I couldn't imagine it for a moment, but neither could I explain fully, how they were protected. But you have now done that. Thank you very much indeed.

It is the simplest way. It is almost like a sleep state that they are put in. That is the closest I could come to tell you.

Les: That's adequate, thank you.

Are there any more questions on that?

Les: No, I can tell rescue circle members that—they'll be very pleased to hear it. No, I think that wraps that one up quite nicely. The next one I was going to ask, is we are having a great deal of anxiety in this world at the moment, about what we call 'global warming.' And now and then, the subject of the melting ice caps raises its head and there are 'panic stations,' about borderline cities and towns on the coast, being flooded by a rise in water etc. Then we have further anxieties, because of man's use of chemicals and so on. You know it as well as I do, I'm sure, causing a hole in the ozone layer, which gives us this global warming. Are we in fact responsible for global warming, and is global warming occurring?

Let me answer that for you. First of all, let me say man is an instrument of fear. So much fear within your souls, within your hearts. That is why we have gathered. That is the reason behind this interest, this awareness that is taking place. Yes, global warming is happening and yes, man is responsible. But in saying that, let me tell you, that the world is not static, it will not stand still. There will always be the natural occurrences within your world, which will create problems. That is nature—that cannot change. Speak to your astronomers and they will tell you that also, The world as you know it, your Earth, will not stay the same—it has not stayed the same, since it began. You agree? Your continents have split, islands have sunk, islands have raised from the sea—it is all part of nature. So, to a great degree, it is a natural occurrence. But what is more worrying, as you have said, is the chemical aspect of your Earth, the misuse of these chemicals in your world, the severance of the forests, the abuse of the land, the killing of your animals on land and within the seas, the pollution. I can name so many things—and yes, I have to say, mankind has much to answer for. But I say to you also, be optimistic, because we see the change of attitude, which is coming. It has already started and it will continue. At last, in all of your earthly countries, man is beginning to see what he has done and is now beginning to redeem himself. So, you see, be optimistic—fear not, it is not too late to change the attitudes of your governments, of your peoples—and I say to you, it is coming about.

Les: Well, that's certainly very good news, because the majority of information we get about these matters, is very worrying in the way that it is put over. There never seems to be any hope in it. But from what you say, and from what we know ourselves, of the emergence of factions interested in preservation of the world, does give us hope. And we must try and exercise positive thought, I imagine, in all these things.

I was about to say to you, rather than your world all fearing what is happening, why not try your positive thoughts and see what can occur? It should be a worldwide thing, if only you could see what you could do, with your own powerful thought patterns, you would see such a difference in the whole of your world.

Les: Well, we can certainly begin it here, and hope to pass it on to others.

But the fear is understandable. It is one of the reasons for our space travellers coming here, to try to help you. There is nothing to fear from them. They mean only good, and that will become apparent.

Les: I'd love to be able to see one. I'd be happy to welcome them, I'm sure we all would.

Continue with your thoughts—(Smiling?)

Les: Thank you, now, one other thing, which is rather nearer home. A few evenings ago, you told us to give special opportunities for development, to a certain gentleman. (Andy) We did this, and he did attend for some time. It was said that he would work closely with two ladies. But he's recently had various problems, which have caused him not to continue coming. We're hoping that he will resolve these problems and return once more, because we are all sure that he had great potential. Can you confirm he'll be back?

I think you will see him return. I think there will be no doubt upon that. He will return, but give him time. You cannot force these things, but he does need time at this particular time. Uh—whatever the problems may be, and I don't wish to elaborate, they will subside and he will return, if only by the influence which we are about to help him with.

Les: Good. Well, that's encouraging and I'm sure the ladies will be very pleased of what you've said.

But you know we cannot interfere with his free will. We can only influence, but you will see him return.

Les: Thank you. Let's just exercise patience—I think I've had my quota of time and questioning. Has anybody else questions?

George: Yes. I wonder if you could tell us something about war and peace. Out of love must come peace, not war. And yet, war is a condition which may bring the best out of people sometimes. So, it's slightly confusing, but some of us feel that peace is the only way in the world. Can you say something on war and peace?

I will try. Of course the perfect world should have perfect peace. That is why, when I speak of religion, it has caused more problems, than it should have done. Wars are caused by man's inhumanity to his fellow man. They are caused by greed and many other things. There can sometimes be good from these wars, but I would say to you, ultimately they are bad and not much good comes from them. Perhaps the fellowship of man, together on one side, is an area of good, which results from wars. But of course, that is something that should be taking place in any case. Man, as I have said, has much to answer for. So often we hear the cries of the people, 'Why does God allow such things to happen?' I put it back to you, why does man allow these things to happen? They have moved away from all that is good and noble. Their lives have become one of greed, of hatred and anger. Too often through your ages, have we seen the results of your wars all over your Earth, not only in your times, but in times gone by, men killing men. What do these actions show? It shows how poor in spirit you have all become. It causes great sadness in our side of life, when we see how much hatred abounds. You were not placed upon this Earth, to hurt another human being. But you will say to me, I know, what of these people who wish to steal another's lands? What of those tyrants? They cannot be allowed to roam free. (Voice becomes more forceful)

I say to you once again: PEOPLE POWER - THOUGHT POWER. You have within yourselves, the power to change your whole existence upon this Earth. Wars are damaging not only to people, to the countries, to your world as a whole, but the repercussions rebound within the space that surrounds your world.

You cannot see these 'waves of hatred,' as they travel through your space. This is perhaps another subject we can go into—but wars are damaging. They can never be good, and even the peace that follows, is one of false hope. If only you could see those people, who come to our side of life, those who have suffered because of wars, each and every one of you, would strive, would do your utmost to be peaceful. Peace, really should be your heritage, whilst upon this Earth. And that is what we, too, are striving towards—Peace for all of mankind.

George: Thank you—a wonderful answer.

Les: Any other questions?

George: Yes, if I may. There is someone I know who lives in the village of Hook, who about a year ago, fell out of a tree and broke his neck. He has been to hospital and his condition has stabilised. He now lives in a wheelchair. He has no use of hands or legs. Umm—given that his higher self agrees, can he in principal be helped by a spirit surgeon?

It depends. I think we have spoken too, on this matter. If it is a part of what he has to endure, whilst here in the physical, then it is something he must endure whilst here on Earth. But of course, if he is in touch with his higher self, as you say—if the higher self, I prefer to say that soul aspect of himself, agrees, then he can be helped. It is a case of cause and effect again. There is no reason why he should not be helped, if it is meant to be. What has he tried to do?

George: I know that he has had healing, but apart from that, only conventional surgery, only the material approach.

Les: Has he had any spiritual healing?

George: He has had channelled healing, but—

Let me say this to you. This one can be helped to a certain degree, but he will never be fully mobile. This I can tell you. But if he wishes to reach within, reach within himself, link to that higher aspect of himself, then he could achieve a greater improvement than he now has. But I would have to say, it will not be a full recovery. I think you could yourself offer him words of encouragement—help him. I will come again to say, sit in those quiet times, to meditate and reach that higher aspect within himself. He may be astounded as to what can be achieved. I will say to you, I will see what I can do to help him.

George: Thank you so much and I shall certainly speak with him and encourage him.

Les: Thank you Salumet. Any other questions? I think we are probably running out of time now—any other quick questions?

Sara: Can I ask a question? The little girl that I see at the weekends, Ashlea—I think she's quite frustrated at the moment. Can you give me advice on how to help her?

(Pause) Let me see—the child, does she complain of her legs at times?

Sara: I don't think she has, but I have wondered about her legs, yes.

This child is gifted with animals. Has she shown that aspect of her nature yet?

Sara: Definitely, yes. She wants to pretend to be them, yes.

She is very gifted with them. I would say, try to help her, by listening to her and encouraging her to speak with the animals, because I tell you, she does have that ability. It is an outlet that may help in the frustration that she feels. It may be that she does not fully understand the feelings that she is experiencing at this time. But her gifts with animals are very much to the fore. So I say to you, encourage her, all she may. If she speaks to you sometimes, in language that seems nonsensical, do not laugh at her, take her seriously and you will find that you will help her, in the way that she most needs.

Sara: Good. Thank you.

The more animals that she can be surrounded with, or be in contact with, will only be to her benefit.

Sara: Thank you.

And ah—now I say to all of you, thank you for gathering, for listening to me. Thank you all. I say one thing please, before I leave you, that the instrument needs a little longer quietness this time.

Les: Thank you.

Until we meet again, God bless you all.

(General thanks + fond farewells)

~14th November 1994~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you, and welcome from us all.

It is good to be amongst you again.

Les: Thank you for that. It does please us to know, you find it agreeable to be here.

There is a mission and a purpose, as you know, and so it must be that I continue to come to you.

Les: Thank you. But you could do it for duty. We hope that you do it also for pleasure, or that it gives you pleasure to do your duty here.

I feel love shine from all of you—for that I am truly grateful. It makes my short stay with you, a little more comfortable, each time I come to you.

Les: That's good to know. Thank you for telling us.

The spirit of each one of you shines forth in a different pattern. Together it makes me much more comfortable, in the mission I have to achieve. Each time the bond is becoming much stronger. (Good.)

For this I am eternally grateful to you all.

Les: And we are very grateful for what it is doing to us, even though we are not aware of it perhaps.

Yes, of course, in return, you are endowed a little, with what is left behind. This you are not aware of, but I assure you it is so.

Les: Yes, we believe you absolutely. And as we hopefully develop as we should spiritually, we shall become aware of it.

Of course—each step is a tender one, but it is being taken, step by step by step, until the link is so strong, that it cannot and will not be broken. It is a link which will be strengthened and strengthened, until such time as all that you hope for can be achieved.

Les: That's splendid information.

But it is a tender thing and it must be worked towards—

Les: And cannot be rushed—

And, of course, cannot be rushed, as you say. There is too much at stake.

Les: Thank you. And I'm sure we shall all exercise the utmost patience in this, because we do realise how important it is.

This evening, I wish to bring a little upliftment to the young lady, not next to me, but the one next to her. She is in need of a little upliftment and so it is given.

Les: Thank you. Hear that Debbie?

Debbie: Yes, thank you.

I say to all of you, be strong in your search for light. Do not despair from your everyday pitfalls, but lift up your hearts and smile, even to those things that you feel must bring you down. Look to your hearts, let it shine forth from all of you. Know that you are loved, each and every individual one of you, that you are being supported in your daily lives. I can assure each of you that although I cannot say your life will not have any problems, what I do say to you, 'You are not alone at any time.' Become aware of those around you, and as I have said to you previously, call upon me, when you are in much need. I can only offer myself to you, when the call is given.

Les: I thank you very much for that, because it is very opportune as it happens. I know there are people here tonight, I'm not mentioning names, who are a little puzzled as to the receipt of help, because they are aware of a person who feels warmth, when help has been asked for. But they themselves do not have any awareness of it being given to them.

It matters not. The help is there, that is what is important. The awareness may not be there for them to see. It may not be a tangible thing to them, but it is there.

Les: So they can rely upon that then, all the time, when they call for it.

And let me say, it may not always be the results that they so desire, but it is ultimately what the soul needs at that time.

Les: Quite. Thank you very much for that Salumet.

Now, shall we have your question this time?

Les asked a question on behalf of Brent and Soisy, who were moving to America. The answer involved personal information, which has been edited here and we start with a question from George:

George: Could I come back to a further question about corn circles. Looking at a field of corn, we know that each flower, or each ear of corn, has its energy field, or aura. So a field of corn is really a sheet of energy—perhaps one could see it in this way—a little above the ground. And if one is writing in it with energy, it's a very nice writing tablet. And the formation of crop circles is an indication that there is another intelligence beyond Earth plane. It is also an indication that there is another energy, which mankind does not know of. Would you care to comment on that?

I think I have already commented on that.

Les: Yes you have actually. You've had the answer to that, in the past—

Yes. It is not a new question. There are many energies as such, which have not been tapped into, if you like. There are many unknown energies, which have yet to be discovered. I believe I have told you this previously. (Yes) Is there something specific you want me to talk about? You wish me to name the energy that is being used?

George: Well, you may say there is a more subtle message in the corn circles, than simply indicating another energy and indicating a 'beyond Earth' intelligence. Or would those factors be the main message in the crop circles?

The message you seek within these circles, as I have said, are left by those space travellers, who come to your Earth plane. I have told you, that is why we have gathered at this particular time. (Voice getting stronger)

Of course, these space travellers have knowledge, which far exceeds your own. The energies used within your corn circles, is one that is not known at this present time. But of course, there also lies the energies of your Earth, the energies of your Earth, plus the corn, plus the energy used to flatten it. It is a combination of each energy—it is not one single energy being used. If all that exists is energy, does it not make sense, that each energy is an individual energy in its own right, as each of you are individual? Can you see that?

George: Yes, thank you.

So, I say it is a combination, but the energies used by the space travellers, is an energy as yet unknown to you Earth peoples. I have said to you, I will not say what it is at this present time, because I intend to bring someone to you, who will give you much, much more detail.

But I wish you all to see that all of life is indeed ENERGY.

Do you understand that?

George: Yes, that does make it clearer, thank you.

Les: I'm hoping that when you are able to bring these other messengers that it may be possible the physical experiments may be carried out here.

We shall see. Of course experiments within your scientific groups are already taking place. They have already shown that the effect on your corn is that of something they have not experienced in the past.

Les: Quite and they still deny it.

The corn is indeed imbued with a new energy. That is something which they will discover for themselves. It cannot be denied.

Les: And this energy will be apparent in the usage of the corn?

It already is.

Les: It already is?

They have the knowledge. It is being denied at this time. But the experiments have shown that the energy within the corn, is that of one which is, until now, unknown. And indeed, if the seed of the corn is re-planted, it should be, and will be, a much stronger strain.

Les: Is that so? Thank you—sounds as though you better get in touch with some of your chemist friends

George. And get them to find out what is going on, because the government won't admit it. Nice little side-line job for you?

It is a simple thing, for someone who is in touch with one of your corn circles, to take for themselves, to test for themselves, if they have the knowledge.

Les: This gentleman is a retired chemist. (George)

There we have the one who can test what I say to you—

Les: Good, I thought I'd drag him into it. He's been sitting there very quietly saying nothing. (Laughter)

I will be interested to hear what he has to tell me.

Les: George, you have a mission.

George: Thank you for that.

Les: I think he has the knowledge and the correct contacts probably, to follow this right through to the end now.

There then followed further personal information and the names have been edited for privacy:

Sitter: Could I ask something? Can I ask what X should do about Y's 'hyper-mania,' and how you see it going?

Yes. Yes, we have many problems with this one. But I have to say to you, she cannot be responsible for another's life. She can offer support, she can try as she may, but indeed this one needs help. (Stronger) I would say to you, here we have a troubled soul. Indeed it is something which goes deeply within him. She should not in any way feel responsible, should feel guilt, because she cannot do more to help him. Let me try to explain it simply to you—Any type of neurosis, any type of craving, no matter what it be, whether it is his problem,(hyper-mania) whether it be alcoholism, whether it be drugs, no matter what the problem. This one needs to be in touch with that aspect of himself that can help. By that I mean he needs to see one who can help him spiritually, because until that part of him is fully expressed, and he can admit to himself what the underlying problem is, then physically he will be barren. He needs to speak to someone like our good friend who stands before me. (Les) He can help and I too am willing to try to help. Even I cannot interfere, if he does not wish it to be. I would say, tell your child to encourage him to come to one who can bring forth that understanding of spirit. He is like an animal, who is trapped on a 'merry-go-round.' He wants to stop, but he does not have the means or the knowledge. Can you understand that? (Yes, thank you.) He could be helped, if he so desires, but the desire must come from him. We cannot interfere in anyone's life, I have told you all this before. He has to come to that inner knowledge. He has to expose his soul, if you like, before the help will be available to him. I say to you, I say to your child, to think long and hard. Again, her free will is uppermost in what she decides, but I would say to her, he really is at a loss to be helped, until he comes forward and realises what life is truly about. He will continue on this merry-go-round, until such time as that can happen. Your child is having her own energies depleted by this man.

Sitter: May I ask a further question? Is it a good thing to stay with him?

This is what I say, when I said her free will comes into play. I would say to her, think long and hard. Think of the child, who is the creation of this bond. Do what is best for the child, because sometimes in your lives, what you see as being cruel, is in fact being kind. You have to know the balance, you have to decide for yourselves, what is best for you. I would say to you, continue to allow her to speak to you, let her make her own choices. She has to have that choice. But she must not allow herself to become overwhelmed by guilt. If she should decide that he is, I don't like the word, a 'lost cause,' then she must move forward with her own life. But he can be helped. He needs a little guidance towards the correct help. Please see if you can do anything for them, Please. And I will see what can be done. She has shed too many tears already. (Thank you very much.) I would say to you, much more than healing is needed this time. He needs to become aware of that inner soul. He needs to lay bare that side of him, that aspect of him that is causing the problem.

Les: Well the lady knows that if she can persuade him to come here, that it will be treated with absolute confidence—

The lady, too, can help, by keeping the situation quiet, by not allowing any situation to become explosive, because then you see, spiritually, damage is being done. Try always to maintain that composure, that quietness, that gentle healing voice, because you see, all these things have a 'boomerang' effect. But I say feel pity for this one. It is not as bad as you all feel. Too often do I hear criticism, when instead what is needed is understanding and love. I hope that has been helpful to you.

Sitter: Yes, thank you very much.

The child is suffering too at this time. But don't be concerned. It will right itself. Don't worry about the child too much. (Thank you.)

Sitter: Can I say something Les? Seeing that it's becoming a personal evening tonight—I feel that at the beginning of the year, I made a big decision in my life. I feel that it was the right decision, but since then, it seems everything is going wrong. It's as if I'm being punished for making that decision. Whether I'm just feeling sorry for myself, I don't know. It just seems like everything—my sister and her husband, it all comes down onto them as well. They feel slightly responsible—

Let me say this to you, my child. Who do you think is punishing you?

Sitter: Well, me probably.

Yes, let me say you are your own worst enemy. There is no being who stands to one side and says, 'They are too happy, they must be punished.' No, no, no. (Chuckles)

Sitter: Well it just seems like everything is going wrong.

Let me say to you, there cannot be good, there cannot be the good times, unless you too experience bad times. Always you will have positive and negative. It is all to do with the pattern of your lives. I can say to you, all right, you have suffered problems, it may not be what you want to experience, but because of them, you are becoming a much stronger person. I know that is not what you wish me to say to you, but I must...Each and every one of you, go through these hurtful experiences within your lives, cry out, 'Why me?! What have I done to deserve this?' I say to you, thank that God consciousness, that you have had the opportunity to learn, because you see, it is a lesson of life. Instead of saying, 'Why am I being punished?' Thank God. Say, 'Thank you for the experience. I have come through it, and now I am a stronger person.' It does not make the hurt in the heart go, and that is what we are speaking of; it is the heart within your heart that we are speaking of. Let me say to you, put yourself a little to one side, stand back from all that has happened, put things into perspective. (Stronger voice) What has happened to you, is just a 'hiccup.' I think I can say to you, within the next six months of your life, instead of the unhappiness, you will be smiling. Note my words to you. (Okay.) Fear not. Ask for help and guidance. It will come to you. Your family should not take on the responsibility, the pain, of another. Because of the bond between you, I can understand why it happens, but they should not feel responsible. The person concerned will return. You do not believe this at this time, do you?

Sitter: Sometimes, sometimes not.

But I say, the person will return. You can begin on a new footing and I say six months from now, I will see your face aglow. (Thank you.) Try not to be so negative. Sometimes you cause your own problems.

Sitter: I was wondering whether it was because I was feeling sorry for myself lately that everything seemed to happen to me.

It is a natural feeling in your world. But the very fact that you have recognised it, is very good. Once the recognition comes, of course then you can deal with it. All of you go through bad times. That is natural. But do not blame yourself, and do not blame who everyone blames. 'Why am I being punished?' No, no, no. No one punishes you, but yourself. Send out your thoughts of love. Use that very powerful thing, thought. Again, we come back to it. All of you could transform your lives if you so wished. Remember your thought waves rebound. In the same way too, do those negative thoughts rebound. So which would you rather have, the thoughts of goodness and love, or those negative ones, which are so destructive? Listen to your heart, my child. Be guided, be still. All will be well. (Okay.)

Lilian: Can I say thank you too? Your words have helped me as well.

My child, I am aware of all that goes on within your lives. Sometimes my heart is heavy when I see you so despondent. And all of you, each and every one of you, have times when your hearts are heavy. You would not be human, if that was not so. All of you have days of loneliness, of sorrow, of heartache, and I say to you all, the same as I have said to the dear child I have spoken to. Thank God for the very act of the despondency, because in those very dark moments, that is when your soul comes into its own. That is when the soul's growth is at its very best. That may be a difficult thing for you to understand, but believe me when I say you are never, never alone. (Thank you.) Your family, my child, will sort themselves out. (Thank you.) No more tears please. (Right.) No more tears—

Lilian: Thank you, I'll pass the message along.

Now I say, enough this time.

Les: Yes.

My blessing to you all.

Les: Our words are quite inadequate to thank you for these meetings. We just hope you can feel it from our hearts. God be with you.

~21st November 1994~

Good evening. I feel the warmth of your greeting once more. (Thanks expressed)

Les: Yes, we love having you with us.

I bring with me tonight, these rays of unbounding love, which tie you all together. (Thank you.) We need to begin just a little slowly this time.

Les: Thank you. From what you have just said about the unbounding love, is of particular interest, because I've felt as soon as I sat down this evening, that there was a great deal more power than usual.

Yes. I am still working with this one, in many ways. She is being instructed in what she needs to do, from her side. But tonight I am trying to usher forth, more of myself. But I have said to you, it takes a little time.

Les: Yes you have said that. It's very interesting to feel the differences which are occurring.

You should all be aware, that within the room, there is differing energy. I hope that the sitters are becoming more aware, as the weeks go by.

Les: I feel I can say, I'm sure they will be much more aware of it. Perhaps they might even experience what I have tonight. I quite thought I was being elevated physically.

If you are unaware of these energies within your physical beings, worry not. Your spirit selves are aware of it. I want to say this time, about the instrument here, (Eileen) how pleased we are, with the way that she too, is making progress.

Les: Good, she'll be very pleased to know that.

At one time, we rather thought that her own will, created too many blockages. But I can say, that has cleared and we owe her our gratitude for what she is doing now.

Les: We would certainly second that. We appreciate it too.

I don't wish to say the others are not progressing, but this one has spent many years of your time—perhaps to begin with, a little doubtful, a little confused—but now her mind is open to all that can be given.

Les: Good. As you've said before, patience, patience.

I will say, because of the development that is beginning with her, she also will find that her life here, begins to fall into place.

Les: That's splendid. Thank you.

If there are moments of quietness this time, forgive me, but it is that the instrument is being used, rather differently this time and it will become necessary for speech to cease momentarily.

Les: I understand.

So do not worry if it goes quiet. I will continue, when it is right, you understand me?

Les: I do indeed and we shall not break the silence, we shall leave that to you.

Now, I am sure there must be some questions.

Les: Yes I think there will be, but I would like to ask something, in which I think everybody will be particularly interested—this is the power of thought, about which you have often spoken. In the next plane of life, how does thought govern creativity? Are there special groups of people, who undertake training, to use their thoughts for particular purposes, such as building specialised places for learning, for hospitals, for learning, for instruction, for libraries and so on? And are there others, who specialise in the production of literature, or painting, or similar matters?

Let me speak on this. As you are here in your earthly bodies, people who need other people, thereby following your groups, your doctors, your architects, your scientists—many thoughts created by each group, so nothing changes. When you come to our side of life, what is different? There are of course groups, who because of their awareness, their development, naturally will graduate together. Of course, we have groups who use their thoughts for good. But let me say, each soul is their own powerhouse of thought; that is not unusual, it is normal, normal. But as you have here your groups who gather, so too must we. The collective power of thought is stronger—you can understand that, rather than one single THOUGHT wave?

Les: Yes, indeed we can.

Thought is used as you have said, to create our spirit hospitals, for use of all knowledge that is useful to mankind. I don't like to use the word 'superior beings,' but I cannot find another suitable word, therefore I will use it. We have beings who together create much, much goodness. They are the teachers if you like, within the spirit world. They use the power of their thought, for many, many things. And so it comes to be, that when an individual shows he is ready to be taught, in the way of creative thought, then we have, how you would term, schools of teaching and learning. It matters not what the learning is for, but if the desire is genuine, then they can be helped. These beings are also used much for the work of influence. You have heard me speak of the people upon your Earth planes being influenced, have you not? (Yes we have.) We have people who work solely for that purpose. They would work through another. This may be difficult for you to understand. They would use another soul, who then in turn would influence the person here, because of course it is difficult to come from whence they belong.

Les: We quite understand. An intermediary would be necessary.

Yes, sometimes it is rather like a ladder, taking step by step downwards.

Les: Yes. That to me is quite logical.

But we have many halls of learning, we have many groups, yes, and I say, the power of all thought, is so powerful, so creative and also so destructive. It is an energy that needs to be harnessed correctly. And those in our world too, need to learn just that. Is that helpful to you?

Les: Yes, it answers the question fully, thank you very much. I can see there is unlimited power to the thought, and what it can create within your world.

You see that the thought, can of course, I think you would say, 'run haywire?' So sometimes it needs to be channelled correctly. I am afraid that whilst in these bodies, the power of your thoughts, are not fully appreciated. Therefore, therefore you lack the control of it. How often do each of you, try to exercise your thought processes? Do you have full control? I would say to you, you do not.

Les: I would agree with you entirely. I can only speak from my own thinking, but I know, much as I try to control my own thinking, it does become a random affair. Very seldom can I concentrate for any appreciable period of time.

That is why it is important to learn to exercise control. That is why it is necessary for us to have these teachers in our world, who can teach when it is necessary. Do we have more questions?

Les: Yes, has anybody questions?

Sara: Yes, I've got a question. Can you tell us if there is any truth in palmistry and numerology?

As each of you are unique beings, you come to this life as such. I would say to you, your palms are your blueprint, if you like. You will not find any two hands the same. They too, are unique. It shows what is meant to be, but the other hand, shows what you have made of life. All is marked upon, not only your hands, but the whole of your casing. Your feet, your head, your eyes; each part of you, is unique to each person. That is why it is possible for people, I think you say, to read, to read. (Affirmed) It is only because they have made study of these things. You know of course, all of you, that in your time, your finger prints can be used, because they too are unique. Let me say, you have two hands, one left, one right. The whole of your body, is positive and negative. You all are polarised to a certain degree. I can say to you, if you wish to study these things, do not dismiss it as trivia—it is not, it is your own unique blueprint, of what your life is about. I can say, your left hand denotes all those aspects of your life that can happen. But then look to the other one for the balance and there you will see what you have actually achieved. And like many things, it does not stay the same, it changes throughout your lives. The lines you have one day, may alter in the future.

Les: This is the lines on the right hand?

The right hand will change, as your life progresses. (Thank you.)

Sara: Thank you, that's what I thought actually, it confirms what I thought.

Les: I would like to add one question if I may to that please, does that apply equally to everybody, whether they are right or left-handed? Would it always be the left hand that is the indicative one?

Yes, it matters not, how they use them, we are talking once again—I always have to go back, that basically, you are energy. You see? (Yes) These physical 'clothings' create some problems, but the left hand shows all you are capable of, the right one will tell you how you have used, or even abused—

Les: What a mess we've been making of things! (Chuckle)

I leave that to you.

Les: Thank you very much for that explanation. That's a great help to everybody, because there has been a lot of controversy about these things.

I would not say—I will continue with the lady's questions. Numerology is partly superstitions. Of course if you think again, we come to thought, if you think your number is lucky, what in fact are you doing? You have created the thought of luck. Can you see? (Yes) You can I tell you, create your own disasters, create your own luck, create all that is around you. But basically, how you look at the numbers, I would say, is mere superstition.

Sara: Thank you.

Let us continue.

Les: Thank you. Are there any other questions for Salumet?

Dawn: Could I ask one. I'd like to ask a question about eyesight. One has eye tests for glasses—do you believe that regardless of age, that you can get good eyesight by doing exercises? Or should one have a stronger pair of glasses?

Those are true words. There is no reason why anybody should need support in any of their senses—any function, should until the last breath of your physical being, be sharp and acute. There, you can see by those words, that you can in fact help yourselves greatly and I know what you speak of, when you say 'exercise the eyes.' Like everything, your eyes can become used to being used, with glass upon them. Because the body becomes older, I believe I have said previously, the ideal is, that the physical being, should remain healthy, provided it is taken care of, not only by means of being fed, but by your mental attitudes. There is no reason why you should not depart this life, fully equipped with all that you were born with. So you see, it is unnecessary for your eyesight, to deteriorate. I know you will say, but we all become older, it is natural. I say to you, it is NOT natural. What is natural is that you should leave your physical being in a good state, that the soul should discard that physical being, quickly, quietly and easily. All of your physical malfunctions are indeed created by your own doing. I feel you all saying, 'We find this hard to accept.' Is that not so?

Dawn: Yes—

Les: It is difficult to accept, yes.

Yes, I feel it from you. But there—if you look around, you will find the people who never need to use spectacles, who never have deficient hearing—all of their senses are intact. I have said to you, and I will say to you again, find those senses once again, it is never too late. Because you have allowed all of your senses to be depleted, what happens is, that gradually they become more and more useless. You would agree with me? (Yes) That is why I have said to you, develop those senses; taste, smell, hearing, eyes. All that you have been endowed with and there would be no reason, for these things, these glasses, your hearing aids, your loss of smell and taste—all these things need not be.

Les: I must say that though many in our animal kingdom live to extended ages, I've never seen one with glasses. (Chuckles)

You speak true words. I would not say that all animals retain everything perfectly, that is not true, but in general they are much, much better off, than you human beings.

Les: Yes, there's bound to be a little deterioration, I agree.

Not bound, but there is.

Les: I mean with the animals.

Yes. You could do much to help yourselves. Develop those senses that have been lost. The lady is correct, your eyes can be strengthened and you should all adopt the practice. (Salumet mentions ways to develop our senses in sessions 10th and 31st October 1994)

Mark: Do we carry our physical defects from other lives into this life—from being 'lazy' and not using the senses properly, in another life, do we carry that defect into this life?

It would depend on how deeply imbued it was, on that part of the personality. It can be, but usually, you do not carry forward these things. It would be an exception, rather than a rule. But it can happen.

Les: If it can happen, would that be, by the will of the person concerned, or because of other influences or factors?

It becomes like a split part of the personality that breaks away and is imbued upon the consciousness. It is so strongly imbued there, that when the soul returns, if they do, it can go forward with them.

Les: Thank you. But that would only apply to a physical rebirth and not to an etheric body, living in the next world?

It is part of what is past, to put it simply. Of course it cannot stay within the etheric body, but it is retained within the mind. It is split from the personality, because of the strength of the conviction, whatever the problem may be. Can you see?

Les: Yes I do, thank you.

It's rather difficult I know, for you to understand when I say, 'split away,' but remember I have told you, you are not one unit. This is where the difficulties arise when we speak of spirit. Most of you know only of an etheric body, which travels onwards. You are in fact much, much more; much, much more.

Les: Yes we obviously have a great deal still to learn.

I think this time, just one more question please.

Les: Thank you—anyone with a final question?

Dawn: I have another, if nobody else has—I'm afraid this is about an animal actually, a dog I have. It keeps coughing and the vet said it's the heart. Would you know if this is so, because I think in a way it may not be?

You say your animal (Pause)—your vet, you call them, is partly correct. There is strain being put upon the heart, but that is not the problem. I would say, look to the kidney area, that is putting strain on the heart. But the problem lies in the kidney area of the dog. The dog also is a little unsteady, is that true?

(Yes) Yes—don't be too concerned about that. The problem you find, is that you don't know what to say to the vet, is that not so? (Yes) Yes, I say to you, you, you can help this animal if you so wish. Would you be prepared to do what you have to, to help? (Yes)

Les: To give healing you mean?

Dawn: Not to have the operation—

Les: No, well try the healing, Dawn? (Yes)

This animal has a very great rapport with the man in your life. Although he is a little loathe to understand this work, he too could be of much help. I would like you in times of quietness, to place your hand between the two front paws, two front legs I mean, of the dog. (Yes) The other hand upon his head. (Yes) You may find your hands being guided. Do not be afraid to let this be. This animal will recover. (Thank you.) Please use your hands to help the dog. (Thank you.) I wish to say one last thing about the animal. Will you gently sing to it? (Yes) It will respond much to that. (Thank you.) I leave you all, with my blessing. (Thanks expressed)

To you (Les) I say, don't be surprised if within this room, there is some phenomenon. It may come suddenly.

Les: We look forward to it. Thank you for telling us.

Don't be alarmed or concerned.

Les: No. We know it will only be for good, and for our help. God bless you.

~28th November 1994~

Warm welcomes

Good evening my friends. I listened with much interest, on your talk about your MEDITATION.

Les: I hope I was right in what I said. If you can amplify it, we'd appreciate it.

Yes, you must begin somewhere, yes. It is an exercise which must be done, if you wish to raise that consciousness, to that which is your very selves. I would say to you, it is a very individual thing. You cannot be guided by another, only in the elementary stages. But I say to you all, find that element, which you find is LOVE, and focus upon that area. It may be, as you have spoken upon, beautiful singing, if that is your heart's desire. Many have found the peace and stillness, within the background of beautiful music. (For) others, this would be too intrusive, so I say to you all, find that quietness and stillness, which suits you best. Sometimes it is better to, say, focus your attentions upon the flame of a candle. This serves more than one purpose. With this exercise, I can say to you, so too would the use and development of your 'auric vision' be expanded.

Les: Thank you, that's interesting.

For another, it may just be that they focus upon something as simple as one of your beautiful earthly flowers. I say, find your own thing. Do not be concerned, if at first you find, not very much happens, this is not to be worried about. Take it slowly, slowly and you will find that that consciousness will be raised. There are many around you, who wait only for such opportunities to occur. But this is not new to you, but to some within the group, it is an exercise that should be followed. You see, once you begin to meditate, then you have control over your everyday thoughts; your thoughts are used at your will. I have spoken on this before, have I not?

Les: You have indeed.

How can you exercise full control, if you do not know how? It must be done and I say to you, please endeavour and stick to it.

Les: Yes, I wish I could make everybody here experience what I have experienced by doing that and I can only agree with you absolutely, in what you say and I hope that each person here, will experience the upliftment, which I have had.

It is better that they do not go into their meditations, with such thoughts of expectancy. It is much better, that they develop in their own individual ways. You are after all, unique, therefore so should your experiences be such. That is why I say, you cannot be guided by someone else's experience. Of course you can listen, you can listen and you can take it in, but that does not mean, that is the way forward for yourself. Do you see what I mean?

Les: Yes I think everybody does and I have frequently said at these meetings and to newcomers, that we would never presume to say that we could 'train' a medium, we can only offer the 'opportunities,' for their own development.

There is much spoken of training. I would rather that you all, each and every one who treads this Earth plane, remain as individualised as you all are. We have people who wish to use them. How can they come close, if they are using exercises to be trained? It creates blockages, it cannot be right. So I say, listen and look always to that individual part of yourselves and thereby will come your individual guidance's.

Les: Am I right in thinking that you said just now, 'there are people wishing to use them,' meaning everybody in this group?

I mean not only in this group, I speak generally of your world. Each one of you, comes here not alone, not to be left to fend for yourselves. How could that be? Each one, when the time is right, has helpers, has guidance at hand. It is only when you become aware of it that it can become sufficient help to you. If you do not open the door, you cannot go forward, can you? (No) And that is what in fact you are doing, with your meditation.

Les: So you would agree no doubt, if I said to everybody here, that though they are individuals, they should always keep in mind that there is always somebody close to them, willing to help?

I say to you all, there will be throughout your lives here upon the Earth, many who'll stand close by, many who will come and go. But to each and every one of you, there is someone who remains with you, throughout your lives. But although you may not be aware of them, they are your inner helpers and guidance. Can you understand?

Les: Thank you. Everybody clear on that? (Affirmed) Everybody can accept it, without difficulty? (Affirmed) Good.

So much could be given to help you all, if only you will open those doors.

Les: Thank you. May I ask the first question?

Of course.

Les: Thank you. You did tell a lady here, a couple of meetings ago, a lady who was going to take a trip on holiday, you suggested that she should not go. She took your advice, but nothing happened to the vessel, so she was wondering whether the warning was given, to avoid anything untoward, happening to her individually.

Of course, it was given personally to the lady. It was not meant as an action to be prevented for the vessel. No, no, that was not why it was given.

Les: So it would have been unwise for the lady herself to have gone? By not going, she avoided something unpleasant, did she? She has asked me these things, that's why I am asking.

Here we speak again of the fear in your lives. Why must it always be assumed that tragedies and disasters will occur, when any warning is given to you? It does not necessarily mean there would have been a dreadful disaster in her life. But it could have been a preventative measure, that not just keeps her safe, but happy. We have to go into something rather deeper here, so let me try to explain. (Thank you.) You know you all are endowed with your free wills. It is an important part of your make up. If I say to you, do not use something, because it may break, you naturally would assume something more dramatic, would you not?

Les: Yes, I suppose we have conditioned ourselves into that way of thinking.

Always your minds are fearful. (Yes) Let me return to the lady. We do not speak lightly when we give advice. I don't to put thoughts into her mind that I do not want to do. But shall we say, if the lady had embarked upon that journey, there could have been an accident. By that I don't mean her life, but an accident, say of slipping—I will tell her what would have happened, because obviously she needs to know. If she had travelled on that particular day, she would have slipped and she would have broken her leg.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. Does that satisfy you Sheila?

Sheila: Thank you, yes.

It did not mean there would be a dreadful loss of life. That is what (why) I say to you, you people live with so much fear.

Sheila: I did worry about my friends.

Yes, perhaps I should have made it clear to you. But you see, when you gather together, when we come to give advice and guidance, we look out for those who are 'special,' shall I say, to us; who are helpers in our work. We try to help them along life's road. I have said before, I will always try to influence you all.

Les: You have and we do appreciate it and what you have told us—when you did let the lady have the warning before, I suggested to her that she would be wise to seriously consider it, because I have never known any such warning to be given lightly. And fortunately she did heed it.

I hear some of you say, why is that? Is it not interfering? Again we come to that question. No, sometimes these things are allowed, for the very reasons I have given. For the work to continue, we need to love, cherish and try to protect you when we can.

Les: Well it is really lovely news for us all to hear and to be aware of.

In an instance as this was, it is not interfering with her life pattern as such.

Les: No, I quite understand.

So therefore, we can influence and guide.

Les: Well I repeat, we do all feel very grateful, that we are guarded to that extent.

If you would exercise with your meditation, there would be no need for me to say it in words. You would instantaneously have that knowledge. Do you see? It would have come naturally to the lady that she should not go on that particular day. Or you should not do that, because it comes from within.

Les: Well that's certainly an incentive for us all to learn meditation.

I hope it will be.

Les: I'm sure it will be. You're quite satisfied with that Sheila, are you?

Sheila: Yes, thank you very much.

Les: Good. The other question I've been asked to put to you tonight, concerns the two ladies who give power to you, and to your colleagues of course, on each of these meetings. The one who is usually on your left, who unfortunately is sick and not with us tonight, sits very quietly and often goes far away I believe. The one on your right, is always I think I could say, 'pressurised,' is the word perhaps, to make all sorts of motions with her arms hands and body generally, which she believes is transferring power from somewhere, to you. Is that so?

It is not—I know exactly what she means, but no, it is not a transference of power to me. (Smiles)

Les: It isn't?

No. Let me explain a little. Each of you are used of course within the group—this you know, I am sure.

(Yes) The lady who we are speaking of, is being used rather like a battery, as you all are. Because she sits so closely to me using this instrument, she feels it a little more than perhaps the others. What she is doing, is raising the vibrations with the hand and the body movements. It is not a transference of power to me, it is helping things in general, if you like. All of you, shall we say, are keeping the battery charged. The instrument I am using, being the battery, do you see? (Yes) And each and every one of you, are a lead towards the battery. The fact that she feels her arms, her body being used, is good. It shows that her awareness is certainly increasing, as time goes by. This lady has much to give and it is only in recent years, that she feels the full potential, of what she has to give. But it is nothing unusual, I have to say. But certainly, it is not a transference of power. If anything, the transference of power, would come from me. Do you see? Does that make sense?

Les: Yes of course. Yes, I should have realised that, of course. I put it rather clumsily.

Not at all. I hope that satisfies the lady.

Lilian: Yes thank you.

Les: Are there any other questions for Salumet? Yes, well I will ask one of yours Brent. Our American friend has been trying to arrange for a camera, hopefully to collect any, to us unseen manifestations around you, during your visits here; in other words, psychic photography. He has not continued with it tonight, because the light was considered to be too bright for you. If he wishes to do that, has it got to be in a dull light, like this?

Brent: Could I clarify the question. It's not clear to us why red light is used, but it's probably because it's the lowest of the frequencies that we can see. But what I was intending to use is infrared light and I was wondering whether that would be less intrusive?

Yes, I see. I think that would be acceptable. Conditions could be made right for it. I have had the question and I will say the answer is yes, it will be all right. The only stipulation I will make, is that it is not too close to me, but as far away as possible.

Brent: Could I just ask, is keeping the light low, like it is now, more of a protection for the medium or for you? Could you explain why that is?

It is a protection mainly for me, I must say. It is rather complicated, when we come to vibrations, we are speaking of vibrations that are not known to you on Earth, at this particular time. It takes much work for us, to use instruments in this way. That is why it is better to have the lights dull, if you like, because of course with full daylight, you know how much more energy there is, within the daylight vibration, do you not? Do you understand that? (Yes) That is why it is better that the lights remain dull. But I see no problem, if you wish to try.

Brent: But what concerns me, is if red light energy, is a possible interference, then infrared is just a bit lower and that also could interfere—

No, it has been used before, do not be concerned about that. It is perfectly acceptable to me at least. (Thank you.)

Les: We would of course, stop all action, if it did inconvenience you.

I would tell you of course, if there was any discomfort, or I was afraid for the instrument I am using.

(Thank you.) Of course, I would expect you then to stop what you were doing.

Les: We would do, instantly.

And I know, I know I can trust you to take my advice and listen to me.

Les: We would certainly not work, except under that stipulation.

Yes, I will let you know as soon as I come, whether things are comfortable, and if they are not, then I will ask you to abandon the idea.

Les: Certainly—

But I don't think there should be a problem.

Les: Thank you very much for your help.

Brent: I have another question, but it's on a completely different subject. Because George is not here, I'll ask the Historical question. (Chuckles) It just so happens that there was a feature on television last night, about the Sphinx in Egypt. The Sphinx lies in the middle of the pyramids and Egyptologists believe that the Sphinx was made at the same time as the pyramids; about 4500BC or something like that. But there was a claim, the Sphinx was possibly made 5000 years prior to the pyramids. I wonder if there's anything you could say, to verify that statement?

Yes, I think we have spoken a little on the subject before, what the pyramids were. Let me speak about the subject you have raised. Indeed the Sphinx was earlier in time. It was a development that was made, prior to the pyramids, as you call them. I believe I have said to you, they were actually directional forces, have I not? (Affirmed) Yes. They were. The Sphinx—let me go back to the civilisations that existed then and I remember that I too, will bring someone to speak to you on the subject, who has more knowledge and can give you dates and facts. (Thank you.) But I can tell you, it is much older in your time. It was built in the same way as the pyramids were, by a civilisation, with much greater and extended knowledge. The Sphinx was in fact erected, if you like, rather like you erect monuments today. It was in fact, 'built,' if you like, to celebrate the existence of that civilisation and the civilisations before. It is rather like a badge that you wear, if you like, to say, 'this is what I am, this is where we've been.' Are you following me? (Affirmed) So if you like, it was the beginning of much knowledge. It was something that was achieved, because they wanted to show how much knowledge they actually had. It was a monument to that civilisation. There is no great mystery to the Sphinx. That is all it was. It was meant to be a monument to a great civilisation, as I say, in the way you would erect monuments to people who have been brave, or something that is built, let me say, like the monument in your country America that was given by the French people. What is that?

Brent: The statue of Liberty.

Yes, what do you think people in 5000 years' time, will say about it? Will they not look and say, 'What a magnificent thing? What did they use this for?' do you see? (Affirmed) It is not used for anything, it is there, it exists, but it is nothing special. And I say, that is why the Sphinx originally was put there. I know much is spoken of it. Always you Earth people like your mysteries, do you not? (Agreed)

Les: Yes, the archaeologists particularly, are up-in-arms, now, about the new theory, aren't they Brent? (Yes)

Do not put them down, it gives them pleasure. (Chuckles) It gives them pleasure. But there are no mysteries. The pyramids now, are a different story. They were used, they were directional forces, and were used for space travellers, as I have already said.

Les: Yes, I suppose the Sphinx would be on a par with Cleopatra's needles. There's a few of those Brent, aren't there? (Yes) One in London and one in the USA I think.

Is that helpful to you?

(Agreement + thanks)

You must remember, the Egyptian civilisation, had a very deep-rooted feeling, for all forms of cats. Can you see the association?

Les: Yes they did. Ah! So the Sphinx was based on their feeling for cats being immortal?

It was yes—if you like, a religious thing for them. I don't like the word 'religion,' as you know, but that is as close as I can come to it.

Les: I was going to ask, why they chose that particular effigy. So it was based on their worship of cats, was it? That's interesting too.

It is no different than other civilisations. You had your American Indians with their buffaloes, you have your Indian race who worship the cattle. It is no different. It is a form of their religions.

Les: It is a form of worship, yes. And it is very interesting, thank you.

I hope that is helpful to you.

Les: Indeed it is. Because I was watching the documentary as well and I was trying to imagine the consternation, among all the archaeologists if they were proved wrong in their previous assumptions, as they will be no doubt.

I believe they are used to having their ideas and their dates changed. I don't think that is unusual for them.

Les: No, they still don't like it.

No, but it must be so. It is good that these people look into your 'past,' if you like. What is your future, without the past? You are on a never-ending cycle. If there is no beginning and no end, then you see, all must join together.

Les: Thank you for that—any more questions for Salumet?

Debbie: Can I ask, is there such a thing as human combustion, or is it just a myth?

Yes, I have heard of this. I really cannot speak too much on this matter. I think you have to go to the energies of the human being. But perhaps I can come back to that for you.

Les: Yes, that's usually associated with poltergeist activities, isn't it?

Debbie: There's been quite a lot of talk about it—

Sara: It's the question I was going to ask too!

I will say just this to you. If you are all energy—I need to go a little deeper please. If you are all energy, you are ever-moving. Like the speed of light, which is an energy, which is fast-moving, thereby there are energies, within the human body, which too are speeded up. There are many reasons and many conditions for this. It is an energy, which is not known to you, but it is within each and every one of you. If you can imagine the power of energies gathering in force—can you imagine? You have to use your vision, for what I am trying to say to you.

Debbie: Right—

Within the body, energies gather. They twist and turn and bubble up, almost like a volcano. That is why these people, this combustion you speak of, is so puzzling, because it comes from within, not from without. Is this difficult for you to understand?

Debbie: No, I can understand—

It is an energy which is of such high degree, that it is almost like an inner explosion. Energy so great, that it burns from within. That is why it is puzzling to your Police, to your scientist, because it is something they cannot fully understand, as yet, because they do not understand the real make-up of the human form. (Thank you.) This energy, we call 'peera.' It is not something that is normal, it is not widespread, but I tell you here, it is known as 'Peera' energy. Note that please, because it is something that will become known eventually.

Les: But there is no need for anybody here, to be concerned that it might happen to them?

It happens, but let me say, it is not something that will happen just like that. There are many, many reasons, which I will not go into now. It is something more than just human living. I don't wish to go into it now, but perhaps I will come back to it, on another occasion.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. Satisfied with that then Debbie?

Debbie: Yes thanks.

I have to say, you are all energies; living energies. And as too your human forms fail, with disease, with bitterness, with fear, so too is it possible, for all these things to go deeply within, rather than to come outwards, to show themselves outwardly. Can you see?

Les: Yes, rather like the internal tumult, preceding the eruption of the volcano, I would think.

It is like, let me say, let us take the element of gas. If you blocked off gas, both ends, it has to go somewhere, does it not? It would build up and what would happen? There would be an inner explosion. Can you see? That is a very, very simple equation, but it is as simple as I can put it for you.

Sara: Repressed energies, possibly—

Yes, very much so. But energies, energy you do not know of, but I have said to you, we call 'Peera' energy.

Sara: Can I ask another question? Is there something within the human being, which attracts a poltergeist, to his or her home, or is it something external?

I would say to you, mainly, it is the attraction from another human being. It is attracted by negative forces, within the home, or wherever. Poltergeists are negative forces at work—thought. Another reason for your meditations, to help that higher aspect of yourselves to come forward, to reach towards that purity, that each soul should be, and if you try, can be attained. This time, we must leave it there. I am overwhelmed by the love and the welcome that you have shown to me again. I leave you all with my love and those blessings from all who surround you. (Thanks + farewells)

~5th December 1994~

General greetings

All of your lights shine brightly this time. For that I am grateful. Again, I am happy to be with you.

Les: That's very nice to hear, because we're always extremely happy to have you.

Before we begin, I would like to say to you all, there will be a time when I must withdraw from you, but only for a short spell. I promised I would do this, so I tell you now, this time, will be the last, until you reach your year, your new earthly year.

Les: That's disappointing, but we quite understand and thank you for telling us.

Please do not be disappointed. It is a short withdrawal.

Les: It is short, but it's still a disappointment. You've become a very valued friend.

I thank you for those words. But in my place will come one who promised to return, to speak to you about colours.

Les: Thank you. That should be very interesting. I didn't think your place would be left vacant, with so much needing to be done and so much to learn.

As you draw close to your holiday times, so too do we gather at such times. Not of course for the same reasons, but we take the opportunity as do you, to gather together for important issues.

Les: That's interesting to know. I have been told that in your world, you do in some measure celebrate as we do, but not to the same extent and not for the same reasons and certainly not in the commercial way that we do. It's unfortunate that it's becoming such a commercial celebration these days, on Earth.

As you have an etheric counterpart to your bodies, so I believe I have said, does each and every thing—that includes of momentum. They create their own counterpart.

Les: Is that so? (Yes, so—) Even the events do that?

Why not? Is it not a gathering of love and people and energy, coming together?

Les: Yes—oh, I see what you mean. Yes, I understand, thank you.

Thank you. But of course, there are no physical celebrations, as you say. And it gives us the opportunity to return to whence we belong.

Les: I see. It must be a pleasant time for you then?

It is how I would say, a 'COMING HOME'. We too, who return to this plane, need to 'rejuvenate,' if you like, at certain times. This is a necessary part of what we do. Therefore one of the reasons why it is necessary to withdraw sometimes—

Les: I follow and I quite understand the reason. I would imagine it is an essential thing for you, after having been in contact with the greyness of this Earth—the greyness that surrounds the Earth.

Of course, there comes a time, when it is a little easier for those of us, who come a little further from you. Do you understand? (Yes) But even so, we do still need to return to that place for which we belong, not only for the energy, but for the 'contact,' not physical, but the contact of those of like-mind. As you who are here gather together at such times, so too is it necessary for us. I can tell you, I will not be idle, there is much to do and I can assure you, we do not think of it as a holiday. (Smiles)

Les: No, I can believe that, because with the unusual prevalence of love and kindness on the Earth, at this time of the year particularly, it must be easier for you to influence people on this Earth?

There is much to do, I can tell you. Not only does it come forth here on your Earth, but it rebounds in waves, to the people on this side. It is like a boomerang effect, if you like. The love and the thoughts that are travelling forth, reach those who are loved. At these times on your Earth, those who have gone before, are remembered, are they not?

Les: Yes, they are indeed.

So too are the thoughts reached by them. And so you see, it carries forth, throughout many, many planes. (Yes) It does not stay still.

Les: Yes, I'm very pleased to hear that—I'm sure we all are, knowing that our thoughts at this time, are received in this way. It's a great pity our thoughts produced, just because it's a Christmas period, are not prevalent throughout the year. Maybe one day they will be.

I wish you all could see how those THOUGHTS of Love and goodwill of course, how they should be harnessed, should be used in your everyday lives. It should not be something that happens only at specific times of your lives.

Les: No, I would agree absolutely and I'm sure everybody here would agree also. It ought to be a constant ongoing thing. We can only hope that one day it will be so.

As we speak of love and goodwill, so too must you remember the great divide, for those who are alone at such times. Their pain, their loneliness is ever-increased. As the love-bond for many of you grows stronger, so too does their pain and their agony, grow stronger. They are the ones who need our help the most. (Yes) If only you all could give your thoughts to those who are destitute, who are lonely, who are ill, those who feel forgotten at such happy times of your year, the world could be a much, much better place.

Les: I think we must all at this particular Christmas, having told us that, we must all make an effort to project our thoughts in the way you have suggested, to some of those lonely ones.

Again I return to the power of your thoughts. It is not always necessary to offer shelter or food to these individuals, but as you have said, the thought is the best thing you can give, because along with power of your thought, carries the love energy. Can you see?

Les: Yes, and I shall certainly be doing it and I hope that everybody else here will and I shall mention it to our other group on Wednesdays, and ask them to do the same thing.

If only you would, I feel I could withdraw, so much full of hope and joy, with the feeling that I have at least reached the hearts of some of you. It indeed would be a great blessing to me and for that I thank you.

Les: I'm saying on behalf of everybody, to avoid them all answering individually, that we shall definitely be doing that.

I am most humbled at those words. Now shall we have your questions?

Les: Yes certainly. I would like to begin on behalf of the two ladies, who as you know, have started healing on their animals and they are currently working on a very large dog, which has a bad heart. They are concerned that they don't feel any physical power coming through them. I have told them they won't feel it, because that is not the purpose of it, it is the object of the healing that may feel the power. But they are wondering if the animal that they are healing, will be able to recover, or if it is beyond healing?

Let me speak on this. I am pleased they are using that ability which is within them. Firstly let me say, when there is a love-bond, it is a little more difficult to give healing. Let me explain to you. I have said to you, healing comes from spirit, through spirit to spirit, have I not? (Yes—) When the bond, whether it be a physical bond of a human to human, or a bond between human and animal, there comes into play emotions; emotions of love, sometimes duty, many, many aspects of love. Sometimes this can create barriers, because the longing in the heart of the one who is giving the healing, creates blockages for that healing energy. Am I making sense? (Yes) Please stop me if you do not understand.

Les: No, it might be difficult for some, with all respect to them, to understand—

They are very new, so I am trying to make it simple for them. You really need to cut the emotional ties. Perhaps that is a simpler way of saying it.

Les: I have frequently said that one must be compassionate, but not emotionally involved.

Sandra: To the animals? They're not our animals—

It makes no difference.

Sandra: We're not emotionally tied—

I am trying to say, although you are giving the healing, your emotions, whether you be aware of them or not, are involved. This is something that will come with time. You as you have been told by our friend here, you will not always feel a physical, a physical bond of healing—some who heal for many years, are not aware of how the healing energy works, but they are prepared just to place their hands upon whoever, or whatever animal. You have to put to one side, all your own thoughts and emotions. You are after all being used, merely as a channel. You understand this I know. Now let me come to the animal, in this particular instance. I say to you, although you are not aware of the healing energy, it is being used through you. Continue—it matters not, whether the animal will recover fully, or whether the time has come for that animal to go onwards—that should not be your main concern. You cannot see the full extent of what is being given. The animal may respond, but you will not have what you term a cure. I think that answers your question simply, but let me say, you cannot see the good that you have achieved by the healing energy. That will only become known when the animal has passed to our side of life. I hope this is not upsetting to you. It is something all of you who are used as healing instruments, need to go through and question. I'm sure our friend would agree, would you not?

Les: Absolutely, because we've had it frequently with human patients.

It is after all quite natural, because you are human, that these feelings come into play. I say to the ladies, continue, continue with the healing. Eventually, you will begin to feel those energies flow through you. Don't make judgements about healing and how it works. That really it not up to you to do that. (Pause) These ladies in time to come will be much sort-after for their animal healing.

Les: Is that so? Good. That's nice for you to keep in mind ladies. I know it won't happen tomorrow, but be patient.

Do not try to make judgements on what you are trying to achieve. You must always remember, you are only the channel. Try to keep that spiritual aspect of yourselves, in the very best order that you can. By that I mean, try to live your lives well and truthfully. Unfortunately there are those amongst you, who use healing and are given the opportunity of being channels, who do not use it, for its very best purpose.

Jackie: What do you mean 'truthfully'—try to do it truthfully?

Not the healing, to live your life truthfully. Do you see? If you live your lives to the very best of your abilities, so you become a clearer channel to be used.

Jackie: I hope we're doing that.

Les: The word 'truthfully,' in this context, is used as an abstract, not as a factual. You see the difference? We're not suggesting you're liars or anything like that.

Of course I—it is a failure of my words I think.

Les: No you're quite right, it's just our different connotations of the same word

Yes I beg your pardon, if I have failed to express myself fully.

Les: No, many other people would have not known quite what it meant. You couldn't have expressed it any other way, actually. (Thank you.) It is our interpretation of the word. Normally 'truthfully' is applied, because by using that it's implying that the other person is in the habit of telling falsehoods.

I see, no, no didn't—I don't wish to, of course I don't of course—

Les: Of course you wouldn't no. This is why I wanted to clear it. I hope I'm not interrupting—

Of course not, I am very pleased for your help.

Les: Thank you. No more questions on the healing?

Jackie: I suppose the more we try with the healing, practice makes perfect?

I am sorry I am smiling, I don't think you will ever be perfect while you remain in these bodies. No, no, forgive me, no, no, but I know what you mean.

Jackie: It's just that we are working with a few animals and it would be quite nice to see a result, for our own confidence.

Yes, I understand. It will come. Continue to use the healing. Don't worry if you don't see results immediately. As I have said, the results are not always seen within the physical aspect of the work. Can you understand? (Yes) It may be that you feel healing has not been successful. You cannot know just how much you have done. So that is why I say to you, do not judge, because you do not know. As you continue along life's road, you will become aware, greatly I might add, of all that is around you, all those who wish to work with you.

Les: Spirits, do you mean?

Of course.

Les: Is it permissible for them yet, to call on that vet Alan, who wished to help them?

I would say for the time being, to refrain from calling on any one particular personality. I say to you offer yourselves only as open channels for the time being. The time will come, when these people will make themselves known to you more fully. When your understanding is greater, when you feel the power and the energy of the healing lights, then and only then—I would not advise anyone to call upon one person in particular. I do not think that is good practice. They will make themselves aware, when the time is right—you will be aware of them. But please do not call to them (Okay.)

Les: What I would suggest ladies, as the power gets stronger, you will certainly find the animals will go to sleep, the horses heads will droop and they will literally go to sleep. I had that with Shetland ponies—

Jackie: Sometimes their stomachs rumble—

Les: I would think that's just normal digestive noises. But they do, you will find their heads drupe and they go to sleep and you will come to know then that your power is in fact working on them.

The healing power has many ways of working. Of course the lady is quite correct when she speaks of the stomach noises. What is happening, is that the animal is relaxing under the healing influence. Which creates—do you see, the stomach becomes relaxed also?

Les: Thank you. There you are you've got your answer. It's working.

Jackie/Sandra: We get that a lot/We hope so/Just keep trying—

Les: Not 'hope so,' it IS.

Margaret: Think positively.

Les: Well, thank you very much for all that information. There's one other assurance, I don't know whether he'll thank me for it, but our American friend is going back to his homeland within the next few days and he might like to have an assurance, that you are still available to him, if he should wish to call on you.

I will say, I will travel with him.

Les: Thank you very much. You don't mind me giving you a passenger, do you Brent?

Brent: No. Thank you.

Let me say to you all, your world is not as big as you like to think. Although you find the difficulties and the time in your travelling, for me shall I say, it is a little simpler. (Yes!) You could not imagine that to cross the ocean, I could be there now. So don't be concerned, we will not let him fade from sight. I have already spoken to him and there is much to come his way. He will not be let loose.

Les: That's nice, because he's done so much for the work, since he's been here. Thank you for that. Anybody any more questions for Salumet?

Dawn: Could I ask one? Which type of massage do you think is the best, the normal sort of English massage or the Shiatsu—either Japanese or Chinese, please?

Well, let me speak a little on this. It really matters not. Whatever your body feels is most suitable, then that of course, is the best thing for it. I would not distinguish between any of these things. You are as I have said, all individual and I believe you have a saying, what is good for one, isn't necessarily good for another. (Agreed) So you see, whatever suits one, may not suit another. I think that is as simple as I can be with that question.

Dawn: Thank you.

Les: How are you progressing with your dog by the way?

Dawn: Umm—slowly. I haven't done as much as I should be doing—but she's a little bit better—

Let me speak a little bit about your human body. I would say to you, whatever each one of you feels is good for yourselves then it can only be good. You all have an innate knowledge of what is good for you. I have said it before I believe, you know instinctively, what is good for you to eat, what is good for you to use. So always just follow your inner voice. You will not go wrong, you cannot go wrong, if you do this. These things you speak of, your health problems, how you look after your physical bodies, they are all very material things.

It would be much better, shall I say, if you would 'MASSAGE your MINDS'.

That would be a much more useful exercise. Now I hear you say, 'How can you do that?' Not so easily I say to you. But again we come to the word 'THOUGHT.'

Do you follow me?

Les: Would I be right in saying Salumet that the massage really is immaterial and it is again back to spiritual healing? If the thought is strong enough, the power of thought directed into the patient is strong enough, then the massage itself is irrelevant?

It is a comfort for the physical body, in the same way that people find comfort in their eating, or in their drinking, or in their sports leisure's. All these things are material comforts, for that covering you call your body. That's why I say it is an individual choice. Do you see? (Yes) But when we speak of massage, massage the mind. Keep it active, keep it supple; all the things you do to the physical body—that would be much, much better. Always try to look, to endeavour to keep that spiritual side of yourself in tip-top condition. That is what is important, that is what I would say to all of you:

If you wish to give yourself a gift for this Christmas time, that is what I would say, give to yourself a massage of your mind.

Les: Thank you.

Sara: Can I ask a question? Is there a kind of healing that you would recommend I should do, if I got the opportunity?

There my dear, is only one kind of healing. You can give it many names, but when it comes to it, all healing comes from the one source. I believe you are asking me to name one particular aspect of healing? I would say to you, that choice is entirely yours. But remember there is only one source of healing.

Jackie: If there's only one source, why were we told to work on animals only and not humans?

It matters not what the subject is, what I say is the healing comes from one source. It matters not who it is given to, whether human or animal.

Jackie: But we were chosen just to give it to animals?

I would say, no you are not chosen—each and every one of you has the ability. Whether you have the inclination towards animals or human, is an entirely immaterial point. You have to look at these things on a wider scale. Each of you are capable of healing. You are not chosen, when you use those words you imply that somehow you are special. I have to say, if you like, all of you are 'special,' in that respect, in as much as the very fact that you all can heal. There is nothing unusual in healing. It is an aspect of your spirit being, if you like. Always you are trying to equate spirit, with your human form. (Spoken slowly/carefully)

All healing comes from the universal consciousness that you call God. There is no mystery about that, no mystery at all.

Les: I have actually told quite a few of our patients, when they have thought that we are special people, I have told them that they too could do healing, if they would like to give themselves to it.

All of you, all of you, the only reason some of you are healing, others are not, is that their awareness has been touched—that is the only difference. It is not because they have been chosen, not because they are special, but because their awareness has reached a point, where it must be expressed.

Les: Yes, it's possible ladies that you prefer animals to humans—(Chuckles/general agreement)

So you see what draws you, is the love-bond—always we will come back to that. That is why you wish to heal the animals. It does not mean you cannot use the healing source on humans; that would be nonsensical, if I may use that word. If healing comes from the one source, then it must be used for all people, all animals, all of nature. Let us not forget your plant life. Healing is an energy that can be used for many, many purposes.

Les: Yes, you mentioned plant life. It has been proved many times on Earth that plants which are spoken to in a certain way, are much better able to survive and become stronger, than plants which are left to their own devices.

Of course.

Les: So again, it's the talk of energy being transferred to them, by the physical human voice. And that is well authenticated.

Try it yourself! Try your healing energy against the Earth of your garden. Feel the interaction that is there, with those two energies. Then I say to you, try to plant a seed. Watch what will happen. Try it for yourself!

Les: Yes, that's interesting—I will do that in the planting season. Well I do, do it now actually, but I shall take more note of it. I always tell them what I expect them to achieve.

A little more than that please—that is instilling your thoughts on what they should do. (That's right.)

Remember too, that all things, plants included, have an energy of their own. So do not impose your will on any one or any thing. Does that make sense?

Les: Yes, I'll do it in the way you suggest at our next planting.

Speak gently, wisely and kindly.

Les: I'll follow that.

I will watch closely. (Laughter)

Les: I shall be glad if you would—(Laughter)

Don't worry, I will not make myself aware to you—don't be concerned about that.

Les: Pity—I wouldn't be concerned, I'd be delighted.

I promise no interference.

Les: Any more questions for Salumet?

Paul: Yes. Talking about animals, why is it that sometimes large groups of whales seem to get washed up? They beach themselves. Quite often it happens in Australia, and they can't swim back out to sea. Sometimes it's 30 or 40 whales.

Let us speak on this. In the animal kingdom, as in the human species, there are those, shall we say, who do not always follow what they should. As you have in the human species, those men and women who do not follow how you would term the 'norm,' so too do you have these whales, who decide, if you like—they have their own means of communication—who decide they will be different from the norm. Again I am using simple words. Animals have their instincts as do you humans. They do not always use them for their very best use. So you see, it is rather like the human form who uses their own free will, to decide on what they must or must not do. Do you follow?

Paul: So, they're consciously—

It is a conscious thing, within their way of communication with each other. You would presume that they would have the intelligence to go outwards to the sea, rather than to be washed ashore. The ability is there, the communication exists, but as in you human beings, to a certain degree they have free will. I use that word lightly, but can you see the comparison? As you have human beings who inwardly know what is right and what is wrong, so too do these animals. It is their own 'wrong' judgement if you like. (Yes)

Les: So the group or the school, could have as it were, a 'dictator' leading them astray?

Yes, to put it simply, that could be.

Les: I had wondered whether in those cases, the animals were following dimly-remembered routes, when the whole of the seas were free to them, before the continents had emerged and they were still following the memory of those routes through the sea.

You would be speaking then of past memories. (Yes) I do not see that, no. Because remember of course as each generation develops, their knowledge, their update of knowledge is therefore passed down, in the same way as a mother would teach a child now, not to play with sticks and matches, because you have learned over the time, that that is a dangerous practice. At one time, it would have been 'normal,' yes to light your fires, but today that is unnecessary. So that knowledge has been passed down to youngsters, in the same way it happens with your animals.

Les: I follow, thank you.

Sandra then asked a personal question, which has been edited.

Now, as I leave you, I leave with my love and my blessings to you all. I hope that your holiday times will be filled with love. Try to remember the words I have spoken to you tonight, about giving yourselves a present. Please think seriously on those words. Although I will not be with you for a few weeks, I eagerly await my return, in your new year.

Les: And so do we. And in the meantime we wish you a very happy return and very pleasant company. God be with you.

~9th January 1995—first meeting of New Year~

Good evening my friends. How pleased I am, to join you once again.

Les: That's very kind of you, we're delighted to have you back. It's been very interesting speaking with your colleague, during your absence.

I told you last time, you would not be idle.

Les: Yes you did.

I am pleased that that is so. I hope since our last meeting, that you all now, are beginning to feel my influence upon your lives.

Les: I am. I can't speak for the others, of course, but I imagine they are in some degree or another, as you did tell them to call on you if they needed help.

I know when I spoke those words to you all, that they would not be taken lightly. For this, I am grateful and of course, I have listened to your thoughts that come to me.

Les: So you have been aware of the thoughts from my friends?

Of course.

Les: Good. I ask that, not that you would not have been aware, but the fact that they have been speaking with you. So it would seem that they have taken advantage of your offer of help.

As I have said previously, the answers may not always be what you expected to be, but I would never disregard any request, from any one of you.

Les: I'm sure you wouldn't. And of course, you know what is ultimately best, for our development. As you say, it is not what you think we should hear.

Of course. This time I want to go slowly again, only to re-establish ties with this one. So tonight, I ask you please, only a couple of questions, then I will remain with you, working with each one of you and let us see what develops from that. So, while we are able, do you have any questions?

Les: I have a comment, rather than a question. It was stated a few days ago, on one of our media channels, that the scientists who have been dealing with the beginning of the universe, so called, are now rather perplexed, because they are realising that what they thought was the beginning, was not in fact the beginning and they seem to be, from their statements, to be very confused about it all.

Yes. I agree with you. I have said to you, that the missing link of knowledge that man searches for, will be discovered. But I have to tell you that time is not now. So of course, all new information that your scientists come upon, of course confuses them. That is natural. They will discover always new and differing evidence. That is part of their lifelong work.

Les: Apparently contradictory evidence, it would seem, sometimes.

It is not unusual, within scientific fields, for this to be so. So they should not be too concerned.

Eventually the time will come, when Truth, full Truth, and knowledge, will there. Of course, there will always be those who doubt that even evidence before them, cannot be. For them, that is their problem.

Les: That is their loss too. Yes, there always will be the doubters. And another very interesting departure, is that during this present week of our time, there will be a commentary, on one of our television channels, about UFO's. Pressure is beginning to be put on the government, to release information, which they have and not to keep the population in doubt any more. This also, you have said will happen.

Of course. It is why we are gathering. I believe I have said to you, there is a purpose behind all that we do. And as I have said before, 'people power' speaks volumes. People, in the end, will force your governments to be truthful. It will teach your leaders, to speak out the 'TRUTH' that they know. I have said to you in the past, your space travellers, who have left this Earth behind, have far more knowledge, than has as yet been divulged. It will come to be. It will come to light and the people must judge for themselves.

Les: Quite. Because I think the average person is intelligent enough nowadays, in these days of higher education, to judge for themselves, not to be overawed by the unknown.

Unfortunately, your world leaders still see themselves as superior people. Of course, they are not. They are leaders, we must give them that. They have the education and the knowledge that has taken them thus far. But it does not mean they are superior in their intelligence.

Les: Not in the least. And the general population is beginning to understand and accept that fact.

Wait, my friends. Give your earthly time, of between two to five years and you will see such an influx of knowledge on this subject, as will stagger you.

Les: Good. We'll look forward to that.

It is coming. It cannot be kept quiet, for any longer.

Les: One very interesting thing that has happened to me, since you were last here—at our other meeting, we had a communicator, who I knew to be one of the abbots, also gathering probably, in continuity with what you're doing—also gathering for the benefit of mankind. And this, I was told, many, many years ago would happen. I did query whether he was in fact, one of the abbots and he agreed that he was for the group, also dealing with the same matters.

Let me speak a little on this. We have many groups, who have formed, who have gathered together. Of course, the ultimate aim, is the same. We all have our work to do—that is why we have gathered. I say to you only this: Do not accept any communicator, without first judging him fairly. You know only too well and we have had one instance within this very room, while I have been here, where it has been possible for one to come through, without permission. So I say only this to you, accept what comes, if it feels right to you, then please listen to it. But remember, you are endowed with your own free wills, your own judgement. Use your hearts and your judgements well. I say no more to you than that.

Les: Thank you—yes, I have felt, on various occasions, that I have been given the requisite information, to enable me to make a judgement, on a communicator. And I have found that very helpful and comforting.

Whilst you have such strong energies surrounding you, it is most unlikely that the information you would be given, would be of a negative nature. So happily accept what has been given to you. Take my assurance that there are many, many, who are gathering at this particular time. Many who are still as yet unknown, that too, you can take from me.

Les: Thank you, that's interesting. And one other thing, finally, then I will leave you to do what you wish to do. The gentleman (Andy) whom you said would be back with us, is back with us tonight, as you probably have noticed.

I have no doubt. I have said he would return did I not?

Les: You did indeed. And it's very nice to see him with us again.

I must say, that I am most fortunate, that I do not have your earthly doubts. (Gentle laughter)

Forgive be, I don't mean to put you down.

Les: Of course you don't, I know that. We enjoy your humour.

Thank you—it helps, do you not think? It is good that you all sometimes should laugh. Do you know, each time you laugh, you smile, it actually raises your vibrational energies. Did you know that?

Les: Yes, I could imagine that.

Yes, so please all of you, 'laugh,' especially in your times of troubles. That is when it will be of more benefit to you.

Les: We do have a lot of laughter at our other meeting, quite often.

I'm sorry I interrupted.

Les: No not at all. Now, you wish us to be quiet, whilst you work with everybody, do you?

I would appreciate it this time. It helps me also, because I need to re-establish myself, with the instrument and also for the instrument's self too.

Les: Would it interrupt your work, if I speak to the gentleman who is back with us, I think there is somebody with him.

No, you continue and with your permission, I will remain here, but I will withdraw somewhat, so there will be no interference from me. I say to you all, God bless you, love be within your hearts and until we meet again, I say love one another.

Les: We shall certainly try to do that and thank you very, very much and bless you too.

There then followed a rescue through Andy. This appeared to be a man with excellent oral skills, who had been highly sceptical of certain spiritual truths. Les encouraged him to now accept these truths and begin to use those excellent oral skills to help others.

~16th January 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you. We do thank you for being here once more.

I am always pleased to come.

Les: Thank you.

This time as last, perhaps we can begin with your questions and end the time on other things.

Les: Certainly.

Then let us begin please.

Les: Right. Well, the first question I would like to ask you is about so called 'ghosts'. There are various theories existing on this Earth about ghosts. Some are said to be the residue of thought imprints upon matter, which recur from time to time, sometimes at regular intervals. Another theory has it that they actually are a physical manifestation of people from your world. Of course, the two are entirely opposed—references. I wondered if you could give us some information about these so called 'ghosts'?

Yes. Let me begin with that please. These two theories are not as opposed as you may think.

Les: They're not?

Not at all—there are of course, events which happen, that leave their stamp upon your etheric world. I believe this category, would be your first answer. You have such instances, not only of ghostly figures, but of ghostly 'things,' shall I say?

Les: Yes, you're quite right, we do.

For example animals, solid objects such as trains, as aeroplanes and such like. These things are 'residue', as you call it, that have been left behind, caused by a surge of energy at the time, whenever the occurrence took place. Can you see?

Les: Yes, I understand.

It has such an impact on the energy levels of your etheric world, that it is almost 'stamped', if you, on it.

Les: I see.

When you speak of ghostly figures as beings from our side, let me talk a little on this. Of course, you will be aware that people from our side of life, can be seen as whole, can be touched, can be spoken to, are seen as they should be, as they were if you like.

Les: Yes, I personally have had that experience.

But also, you can have almost a shadow of that self. It comes down to the usage of the energies, once again—that the person trying does not have the knowledge or the help available to them. So, instead of the solid form, you have almost an image, mirror image of that solidified form.

Les: I follow.

Again, we come to the energies, the higher and the lower energies. Do you follow me? (Yes) Also, when we talk of ghostly images, then again we talk of the thought patterns, stamped upon the etheric. Always these thoughts are in the etheric energies, not in the physical. But of course, they transform themselves through to the physical. Are you following me?

Les: Yes I am—thank you.

So perhaps you can see, that the two thoughts are not actually opposing, they are two separate ways of using energies.

Les: Yes I suppose a parallel would be a better description.

That is a much better word.

Les: Now going back to the images imposed upon our etheric, of 'non-persons', do they ultimately disappear, does their energy pattern lessen over a period of time, as we know it?

It can do. It would depend on thought that keeps it alive. This can be—how can I put this to you? I am lost for the word. If the thought patterns are built enough, to encourage this image to remain, then it shall, but eventually of course, the energies must subside. It may take a little or a longer time. As I say, you people on the Earth, can in fact hold onto these things, by your own thought patterns. So you see, in a way you are instigators of the energies that are showing themselves to you.

Les: I was going to ask that actually. If somebody does experience one of these 'sightings,' let's say, would his or her own thought patterns, enable that apparition, whatever it might be, to build energy from the thoughts of that person seeing it?

The energy will feed from the thought pattern, yes that does happen.

Les: So that would enhance it and therefore enable it to stay longer.

It enables it to remain longer.

Les: I see, that's interesting.

If the thought, if the person who sees the images upon your Earth, were to see and let go, then there would be nothing for the energies to feed upon. Thus the time that it would remain, would be much lessened.

Les: I see. And I suppose also it depends upon the impact, upon the viewer, as to how much the image is able to replenish itself, from that thought and sighting.

Exactly, you have almost a boomerang effect.

Les: That would explain then why some images, many hundreds of years old, are seen very, very clearly, quite frequently.

Yes, of course.

Les: Thank you. Well that clears some of the controversy there has been about these images and so called 'physical' ghosts.

It applies also to the phenomenon you call 'poltergeist.' What is that but thought patterns? The energy feeds upon it, the pure energies and of course is able to use and create these things.

Les: I believe you did mention, in an earlier meeting, that poltergeists use the lower forms of energy.

Of course, they use lower, but also they can use the very pure. Always remember positive and negative.

That is an important aspect in your world.

Les: Yes. But I think poltergeists are often associated with the appearance close by, of young children.

Would they therefore be using pure energy patterns from those children?

In the case of very young children, then the energy patterns would, of course be pure.

Les: Yes. I thought they would be.

As we get to the older children, then the energies are changing. They are almost coming to a peak—perhaps that would be the way to describe it to you. And so they can be used and misused.

Les: And misused, yes. And whilst we are on this subject of poltergeists, would that be ascribed to the rare occasions, when a physical body is actually consumed by fire, for no apparent reason?

No, no, it is an inner energy. I have told you, the energy that creates that, is an inner energy. It is an energy that has, to put in simple terms, gone wrong.

Les: I see. And would the person so consumed, have been responsible for that burning?

They are totally yes, they may not be aware of that, but yes. Let us take the word 'consumed,' that is exactly what has happened. The body has been consumed by the overpowering energies.

Les: And the person so consumed has been responsible for it?

Yes. It may not be from one lifetime. It has to be a build-up of abused energy. That within the physical, becomes contorted, and has to have an expression, if you like.

Les: Yes. What would be the result to the etheric body of the person so consumed?

The etheric body would of course, be shocked. But ultimately would face up to the fact that they are responsible. So therefore would go from there, to counteract, if you like.

Les: Therefore would have to begin the process of progression.

Would have to, yes, yes.

Les: That certainly gives a most interesting answer to it. One I've never seen or read before. Thank you, I appreciate that.

We are talking of energies not known widely, to man.

Les: And of course, there cannot be any physical explanation of it, because the person has been consumed and is therefore unable to give the explanation.

The word is very apt, to be 'consumed.' That is exactly what has happened. We are talking of difficult things again, when we talk of energy, because your knowledge of energy is very limited. I would feel you would find it difficult to even imagine what energy feels or looks like. But it is something that can be felt, as you realise it can be felt in many ways. So it is something that has to be spoken of later in your time.

Les: Thank you. Yes, we look forward to some of these people that you are going to bring to discuss these things.

Yes. I don't say you will understand them, but I will be happy to bring them along.

Les: Thank you. No, it will be, even if we don't understand them, if will give us a better inkling of these things. We can't hope to understand them all in our physical awareness.

All too often, you physical beings are looking for physical explanations. Once again I say to you, the power of your thoughts. Look always to that and you will find many, many answers.

Les: Good. Yes, this is what I try to emphasise when I try and describe the next world, to newcomers here, who wish to learn.

You cannot. There are many, many ways of describing the next stage of life. And of course, your own minds will create that which you will encounter. So you see, there will be no 'standard,' if you like.

Les: No, you are quite right, there won't be.

So it would be wrong to say you will see this, do that, meet this one. Only the soul itself, will know what to expect.

Les: Yes, to follow on what you said and for the sake of all our sitters here tonight, the other evening we had a communicator, who said quite emphatically, that he still enjoyed meals, (Yes) such as he had on Earth, and he knew he had to think of them and they were there. (Yes) Now that would to many people, seem strange and impossible. But it does illustrate what you were just saying. That he thought of the dishes he liked and would still like to have, and was therefore able to have them.

Remember always, that our side of life is a life of 'THOUGHT'. All of life works upon thought and mental communication. So it would seem only natural that these should be developed. It would be best for all of you, as I have said before, to try to develop these things, whilst still in your physical overcoats. It would make your emergence into our side of life, so much easier for you.

Les: It will indeed, I agree. It is very difficult for people to understand that thought can operate in that way.

How often do you 'sensitives' feel the thoughts, the feelings, that come from those you love, or others who are close to you? It would seem natural to you, yes? (Yes) So you have to think of it on a wider scale, that instead of those you love, or who are close and near to you, that with all peoples, this is possible. And we have said that thought travels much, much more quickly than the speed of light. It is instantaneous.

Les: Absolutely instantaneous—

So if you wish to have something to eat, to drink, to see someone, to do something, provided these things are within, shall I say, your 'allowances,' then they will be yours.

Les: Yes, until such time as we realise the so called, 'physical' requirements are no longer necessary.

Sometimes we have the thoughts from people still in their physical being saying, 'What will happen if I cannot do it?' Don't be concerned, you can still use the physical words, which will be understood, by those who are there to help you, until such time that they are not necessary, then you can discard them.

Les: Of course. Thank you very much for all that—very enlightening. Now, to an entirely different subject, you did tell me last week, when I was speaking about somebody—one of the abbots, I'll reiterate—and you suggested that it should always be checked in case there is a mistake, or somebody has got in when they shouldn't. Well, we had during the week, a request that a certain person should be asked to sit on the floor, if that person was agreeable at the next meeting. Is it all right to accept that as a factual request, which will have benefits? It has happened before, several times in the past and I know communicators have preferred to sit on the floor, rather than a chair as we know it and I understand the reason. But I thought I would like clarification in this case.

There is no reason why that should not be so.

Les: Thank you. I accept that, thanks very much. Now, I've occupied a lot of time, has anybody else a question?

Dawn: Could I ask a question please? I did understand that if I did healing on my dog, I thought it would get better. But he didn't. Could I have your comments on that please?

Yes, of course. Let me say this to you: Everything that is said is spoken as we see it. I have said we have more foresight, which is of course very true. But let me say this to you: As you physical beings have your own free will, let us go to the animal kingdom, which is next in line to you human beings. They too have a life force, a spirit being, as you are well aware. At the time I spoke to you of this animal, he should have recovered, is this not what I said to you? (Yes) The animal was ill, but the information I gave to you said he would be well. Now we come to the equivalent of your own wills. It is not quite the same thing, within the animal kingdom, but they too are aware of the thoughts and feelings of others, you understand? (Yes) When the life force is depleted, as it was with this animal, the healing that you gave should have brought the animal back to full health. As you are aware, this did not happen. What in actual fact happened was that the spirit aspect of the dog, actually gave up, gave up on his own life force. The dog was picking up negativity from others who surrounded it. I am not saying you, but there were others who were around the animal, who were giving off negative thoughts and feelings. Can you accept this? (Yes) You can. So you see, the animal, especially in the state of a lowered life force, did not in fact have the will to struggle onwards, in the same way that you human beings sometimes, I believe you say, 'Give up the ghost?'

(Yes) Yes, so too this can happen within your animal kingdom. I did not speak untruth to you, but of course the animals too, have the right to make their own choices. The animal should have recovered but did not. I know these things are painful for you all to accept, but it should be a major part of your spiritual instruction, to know that each and every one of you, that all animal, all plant life, have their own choice, can create their own structures, whilst a part of your physical Earth. So you see, the animal actually made the decision. (Yes) I hope that has been comforting to you. I know it is always painful when you lose loved ones, but remember that they have really gone to a better way of life.

Dawn: Thank you.

Les: If I might add, you of course, can be reunited when you go on Dawn.

The love bond cannot be broken. Many people believe the animals do not have a soul. That is entirely wrong. Those animals upon your Earth plane, who have united themselves with a physical being, create a love bond, an energy that will not be separated. So rest assured, in the knowledge that you shall meet again.

Dawn: Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much—any more questions for Salumet?

George: Yes, You've answered many of our questions lovingly and patiently—many different types of question. Do you enjoy answering some more than others? Do you have a preference for a certain type of question?

Forgive me if I smile. Of course not, I have come to try to inform you of many aspects of many questions and answers that you seek. I do not have any preferences as you put it. I am only happy to do what I can. I am grateful that you have allowed me into this place, wherein you all sit patiently, devotedly, searching and seeking.

George: Thank you. It is we who are most grateful.

I am always humbled by such kind words and I accept them graciously. (Thank you.)

Can I say, this time to continue to see what else can be done within this room and I must say that always I am happy with the way each unity is progressing.

Les: Thank you, that's very comforting for us to know.

I only wish you were aware of all the background work. But for this time, my friends I say thank you.

Les: Oh we thank you and all our love goes with you and we look forward to our next meeting. God bless you.

There then followed a quiet period, followed by a communication through Sue:

I have been waiting for this opportunity. I present to this room, the ball of life. It means little to you now, but is to be of enormous importance in the coming time. Much power will evolve from its centre. Power which will enable more highly evolved work and communication. We intend this place to be of importance, not just for these people here, but for others unknown to you at the present time. Do you understand what I am trying to express?

Les: Yes I do indeed and we're privileged—we shall do our best to ensure it is used wisely and for the benefit of others—

More information regarding the use of this project will be told to you, when you next converse with our friend. For now, accept it into this room and await its purpose.

Les: Yes we do accept the honour—

Now, may God and the light be with you.

General goodbyes/blessings

~23rd January 1995~

The group is comprised of a wide range of individuals. Sara Martin is a musician, who sings and writes piano pieces, sometimes likened to Einaudi. Les often played one of her CD's at the beginning of meetings, which Salumet refers to:

I thank you for your greeting on the musical vibration—it helps a little when returning to this dense matter.

Les: Good, I'm glad it's of assistance.

This time I would like to speak to the young lady across the room.

Les: Sara? (Yes) Would you like to come across please?

Let her be before me please.

Place your hand in mine. Now child, why do you allow earthly matters to cause you such despair? You cannot let it be. You need to become stronger. Do not let worldly problems trouble and upset your spiritual self, because in allowing these problems to cause you despair, you are affecting that spiritual aspect of yourself, almost like, I think you call them circuit boards, (Yes) that are running haywire. Those very fine threads of your spiritual being become tangled, your light becomes dimmer, so I tell you child, become stronger.

Sara: In what respect?

You tend to allow the whole World to weigh heavily upon your shoulders, you cannot do this.

Sara: So be less concerned about other people's problems.

Firstly you must be strong in yourself, before you can help others. You rather allow trivial matters to take too much hold upon you. Listen to the guidance around you and you will be stronger. At this time in your life, you seem to be thrown from one extreme to the other. Be quiet, be still and listen to what we tell you.

Sara: Yes, right. Do you think my work is appropriate at the moment?

You see what I mean when I say you allow too much to concern you? I would say to you, go with the flow of life.

Sara: Mm, yes, all right.

Do you understand me?

Sara: I think so yes, don't worry so much.

I know it is difficult because you see, you are so artistic, your whole being is sometimes overly sensitive to others. I don't say that is a fault, but it is something you need to guard against. You, you are surrounded at all times by many who care for you.

Sara: Thank you, yes that gives me strength to know that. Thank you.

Les: Thank you. (Les then whispers to Sara about knowing the difference between compassion and emotion.)

This time, as last time, I will answer anything you need to know, but I would like us to devote some time at the end to see what else can be developed. I think we should do this for some time, with your permission.

Les: Yes certainly. Whatever you think is most desirable for the development of everybody.

That is what we want for you all. Now can I help you with your questions?

George: I would like to ask one question about the last book in the Bible, the 'Book of revelations,' which I believe Saint John wrote, while he was on the Island of Patmos. Chapter 10, verse 10, describes him being given a small roll, which he ate and it was sweet to the taste and bitter to the stomach. He then had visions and he prophesied. I think he was taking a potion/drug to raise his consciousness. Would you be able to comment on that?

Let me speak on that. We have said before, much that has been written within your Christian Bibles, a lot of it was made up, a lot of it in actual fact, comes from older religions, in fact I think you would say, 'Paganism.' There is a lot within your Bible, which has been exaggerated. But let me say this to you: Indeed there was the man you know as John. At the time that we speak of, there were indeed many substances, which today you would find unacceptable. The substance you are speaking about, in those days, was taken from a bush, not here in your country, but a bush that produced berries. This was not an unusual thing to do. Many berries, many powders, many foodstuffs were used, that were considered normal, but which within your age, would be called a drug and would be banned from people using it. Are you following me?

George: Yes, I'm aware that it was an ancient tradition.

Yes, so you see, the substance that was taken by John was not unusual within his peer group. Even now there are peoples on your Earth, who take substances, which they have many explanations for, but what they do is simply raise their consciousness. This is all that happened with John, but the difference with him was that his psychic abilities were much to the fore in any case, as too were all those followers.

George: So his true psychic abilities could be enhanced?

Exactly—the followers of Jesus the Christ were chosen for that very reason. So by using the substance—the berry crushed, he was enhancing his own psychic abilities.

George: Yes that's very interesting. I thought it must be something like that and I also felt—

That is one of the stories within your Christian Bible, which is indeed fact. Has that been helpful to you?

George: That's been very helpful. It's nice to have that confirmed, because I had wondered about it.

There's also the idea that it can be a good thing in certain circumstances, to enhance one's own ability in that way.

I would have to disagree with you there, not because I feel you should not enhance your abilities, but because you can create dangers and I stress the word 'danger,' for those people who are not wise to their own abilities. To thrust forth that spiritual aspect of yourself, without full knowledge and understanding it, can be dangerous. We would have to speak about the etheric realms and what you are releasing that spirit self too. So you see, that element of danger should not be there. Your psychic opening, your spiritual unfoldment, should be a slow and natural thing. You all have it, you all have the ability to use it to unfold, so I would say to you to refrain from all these methods, that thrust your spirit forward—but of course we come again to your free will.

Les: I would suggest it could be a very dangerous procedure, because the channels to the uninvited would be opened no doubt.

That is why I said we would have to speak more on the etheric realms, because within that realm, there lie many dangers, many dangers that you are not aware of. I don't wish to frighten people, but they should know that to throw their spirit forward without any forethought, is indeed a dangerous thing.

George: Thank you very much.

Les: I'm sure it would be—thank you. Surely the best way to enhance one's psychic awareness, or spiritual awareness, I prefer to say, is by music. We all know there is certain music which gives us enhanced feelings, and this I imagine would be a safe procedure.

Even within the realms of your musical vibration, depends (on) the state of development of the being.

Can you see? (Yes) Even with the very best, the very highest vibrations of music—of course it would counteract any negative, any negative beings around, it cannot fully protect, do you see? The spiritual aspect of yourself, far outweighs any musical vibration. Can you see what I'm getting at?

Les: Yes I can indeed Salumet.

So I would suggest to you as I have said before, think of yourself as—you can take many examples, and the one we hear most of is the beautiful flower your rose. Peel back each petal slowly to expose that beautiful inner centre. Or imagine yourself as an orange, slowly peel back the skin and take each segment slowly. Compare yourself with these things and you'll see that each stage must be done slowly, slowly. And this I suggest to you, find your quiet time, offer yourself for good, feel your love and protection each time you sit and I can promise you, your spiritual unfoldment will come.

Les: Thank you. In answer to your first question, you made a comment, which I found very interesting, because I have wondered in the past—you said that Jesus chose his disciples, because of their psychic ability. (Yes) That was so in each case was it?

Each and every one had that ability, that he knew could be used, used for the betterment of men. They were ordinary men as you probably know. There was nothing particularly educated about them, but you see, that is not necessary.

Les: No, I had wondered why he chose such a mixed bag as we would say. That's the only thing I could think of—there must have been a common purpose amongst all of them.

Remember always, Jesus the Christ was looking at the soul and not at the physical covering of these men.

Les: Good, thank you, that does confirm what I have suspected.

Now, I think we should see what can be done.

Les: Yes certainly. Before you go I would like to thank you for allowing your colleague here at our last meeting, the one who has promised information about space travel.

I said I would bring them and I will, but of course as I also have told you, we need to go slowly, but I can tell you, he was overjoyed to have made the connection with you and rest assured he will return.

Les: That's very nice to know thank you, we did appreciate it.

Andy: Is it too late for me to ask a question? Last night I experienced something I haven't experienced for a long time and that is seeing colours, specifically a bright green colour. Can you tell me what that means and why me?

Why you my son? Why not you? Do you feel it was special for you? Let me say this to you: We have spoken a little of unfoldment, that is what is happening to you now. We have waited for you to place yourself in the position of being used; that you have done—you have accepted what has been given. Now let me tell you the colour of green that you are seeing, is a colour of healing. Most green is healing. You must be a little careful at this time, because in your development, you can begin to unfold, to open a little too quickly and what you must do is completely close yourself down. I hope this has been explained has it?

Andy: Yes it has, thank you.

What the green colour was in fact doing was almost cocooning you against yourself. You must take control at all times. But the green colour is a healing colour. It is not special to you, but as you become more and more aware, then more colours you will begin to see. I suggest when you have these colours that you allow it to flow completely through every atom of your being. (Okay.) Does that help you?

Andy: Yes, thank you.

You have explained to the young man about opening himself?

Les: Yes and the need to go slowly and to ask for protection.

Thank you—that is all that is needed.

Les: I have also warned him I'm quite a bully. (Laughter) We shan't let him run away! (Chuckles)

I would not call it that, but of course you are allowed your free words.

Les: Yes I feel I am sometimes, but it's for everyone's benefit when I do that.

Yes, and I am sure they—

Andy: I just thought it was someone trying to get through to me for the two ladies sitting to the side of me, because they do healing on animals, so I thought it was power for me to give to them.

No, it is for you. What you must not do is make assumptions. What I would say to you, accept what comes, try not to put an explanation to it, but to accept it for what it is. Can you see that?

Andy: Yes I can, thank you.

I would say that you felt a great quietness and peace afterwards did you not? (Yes) Yes, that was the healing phase. (Thank you.)

Les: Right, if you'd like to relax and see if anybody is going to be used.

It would be beneficial if each could tell you what they are experiencing. Quietly speak amongst yourselves if you wish, but please be open on what is coming to you.

The rest of the meeting was dedicated to personal development.

~30th January 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening. Thank you again for joining us.

I'm happy to be with you once more.

Les: Thank you very much.

Are you aware of how busy you have been since last I came?

Les: Yes it has been very busy. You are aware if it, you say?

Are you aware?

Les: Yes I have been very—

I speak of you personally.

Les: Yes. I have been very busy and I am aware of it.

I do not speak of the work you do on this earthly plane. I am speaking of your trips to us, in your sleep state. Have you not been aware?

Les: No, I must be honest I can't say that I have.

My friend, you should be endeavouring to keep that knowledge with you, when you return here.

Les: I shall make a further effort to do so.

Your communication skills are well known on our side of life. There are many who offer you their thanks. If only you could feel their love surround you, it would uplift you in all your daily tasks, whilst remaining in your physical body.

Les: Yes. I do feel that sometimes, I must agree. I must make more effort to try and remember what happens during my sleep state though.

Perhaps you would feel more tired. (Gentle laughter) No, I only joke a little with you—of course you would not.

Les: No, no I will try and do that and concentrate more. I'm sure it will be most interesting.

You have all within these last months, come to me in your spirit bodies.

Les: So everybody here then should make an effort to remember what has happened during their sleep?

The exercise would be very worthwhile to you all, to your development and I am here to help you with that aspect of yourselves, as you well know.

Les: Yes, true. Can you suggest any particular mental exercise that would be beneficial, for the remembering of our visits to you?

Yes, if you wish—I would suggest before you go into your sleep state, and here once more, we come to what I will always tell you, the power of your 'THOUGHTS'. If you would mentally say to yourselves, in the state between being awake and being asleep—you know of the state I speak of—(Yes)—when you are, how can I say, half here, half with us—mentally make the thought, TO REMEMBER ALL THAT OCCURS IN YOUR SLEEP STATE. Do this each night and eventually you will come to the state of remembrance. It must be thorough, it must be done continuously, if you wish to achieve results. Also on your awakening, perhaps you would write down what you remember.

Les: Yes, that's certainly a good idea.

Gradually you will see a 'FORMATION of THOUGHT'. To begin with, it may seem rather jumbled up. But no matter, it will all eventually come together. You will realise what is natural dream state and what is an occurrence in the Spirit realm.

Les: They can become confused, can they?

They will be to begin with.

Les: Then perhaps I have been remembering some things, because I've been puzzled at some of the peculiar dreams I have had. Not unpleasant dreams. So maybe I have been remembering, but putting them down to physical dreaming.

Yes, this is what happens. Your physical brain tries to interpret what is a spiritual happening, which sometimes causes confusion. But if you endeavour to continue each evening, each morning, you will find a pattern emerge. I hope that will be helpful to you and I say to you all: Please do these things, for your own unfoldment.

Les: Yes. I have been trying to be aware of coming over to you, but perhaps as I say, I've been accepting it as physical dreaming, rather than an awareness of what has happened over there. So I must pay more attention to that.

Yes. Write it down. Then you will see the pattern emerge. It is much easier to look back, when it is written down, than to try to use your memories, which can fail you.

Les: True. It often does. I know in the past I have had very pleasant experiences on awakening, recalling what has happened and I can only assume that I have been over to you, but lately, I don't appear to have done that. But as you have said, it might have been confused with physical dreaming.

I can assure you that you do come to us, as you all do. It is not an unusual event. You all leave your physical bodies, while in your sleep state, all of you.

Les: So it might be helpful also then, to concentrate on coming over to you, would it?

You need not concentrate, it will happen in any case. What you need to concentrate on, is the remembrance of the visit, do you see? Because then you can remember what has been taught to you, to the spiritual aspect of yourselves. That is what you need to remember. Do not try to force yourself—that will not work.

Les: No, I have for some time now, before I've gone to sleep, tried to get interested in meditation, because that's the best time of day for me. So I have been semi-prepared to come over, I suppose, without concentrating on it.

It is slightly different when you speak on meditation. When you sit for your meditations, what you are doing is of course, raising your consciousness, yes we know. When you are in your sleep state that spirit aspect of yourself returns home, to be rejuvenated. Although you can sit in meditation and raise your consciousness, the spirit remains within the physical being. Can you see the difference? (Yes) So you don't necessarily leave your physical body, when in your state of meditation, unless you are in a very deep state of raised consciousness. There is a slight difference, but people assume it is the same, it is not.

Les: Right, that leads me to a question. Perhaps you can give me an answer to something that happened many years ago. It may seem a bit humorous, but it's quite serious. A communicator through one of our ladies, was astonished and I quote her words, 'To see me here in the group.' Because she thought I belonged in your world. So I said, 'Well what makes you think that?' Her reply was, 'Well I've seen you here in your pyjamas.'

And that confused you—

Les: It did yes.

Yes, it was the mirror image of you as you slept. Mainly, what would be seen would be your colour, your light in the spirit world. But for recognition purposes, your own higher self, decided that you needed to be clothed. And so it was you were seen in your pyjamas.

Les: I see. I've puzzled over that a number of times, but that certainly gives a comprehensive answer now—makes it much more acceptable.

It was that part of you, that was a little unsure and needed—not protection, but assurance that you would return. You see, things are not always so clear cut as people would expect. But that was the reason why.

Les: Oh good, thank you. I'm glad to have that resolved, because it did seem rather confusing. Now, might I ask my sitters if anyone else has questions on what you have just been telling me?

Of course.

Les: Does anyone have a question they would like to ask on this subject?

I am always amused because in the times leading up to my being here, many questions are posed. I try to give help to answer them. But here we are, with the opportunity and we are at a loss.

Mark: I've got a question actually.

Sometimes when I meditate, I feel a noise in my ears, almost a ringing, but very high (Yes) and I wonder what that is about. And I get the same noise when I'm on a ley-line.

Let me speak on this. When you meditate, there are many degrees of meditation, you would agree?

(Yes) One of the first things you will notice, when you become used to meditation, is I believe, some of you call it the 'audible sound.' I believe you may know what I am speaking of sir? (Yes) It can take many forms. It can sound like a hum, sometimes a ringing as you have described it. All it means is that you have reached a particular level of meditation. What happens next is that the consciousness becomes raised even higher and all these sounds, which are within you, not without, will stop and from the 'AUDIBLE SOUND' you go to the 'DARKNESS WITHIN.' I'm sure you can explain this to him a little fuller, if he so wishes. It is just a different level of meditation. You are reaching along that power line, if you like, of sound—you are tapping into it. The sound is within your head area, is it not? (Yes) Yes. Don't be concerned, it is, I would say, the SECOND STEP of meditation. Most people would not even be aware of it. The very fact that you are, shows your own sensitivity to that audible life force. I say to you continue, allow these noises to happen—be happy about it, and eventually you will be taking that one step further.

Mark: Thank you.

When these noises stop, it does not mean that you have not meditated properly, it means that you have moved forward. You see, you are all rather like the radio waves—the frequency of the radio waves, and you are tapping into that sound power—that is all. Is that helpful to you?

Mark: Yes thank you. I do quite like it actually, I enjoy that state.

Yes, because you see you are raised, you are slightly away from your physical being. It is the second stage of meditation.

Mark: Which is the first stage?

The first stage of meditation is to go within and try to rid yourself of all everyday thoughts. The first stage for anyone beginning this meditative state, is I think probably the most difficult.

Les: Yes I believe you are right in that. I found it so.

But he has moved beyond that now. And you are—you are just a power source, tapping into an even greater power. It is as simple as that.

Mark: There are some places that are easier to meditate in than others, aren't there? I wondered if being on the ley-line helped.

There is much power within the Earth structure, as I have said before. If you find that your meditation is greater within these areas, then please do so. But I would say to you all, it really should make no difference to the progress that can be made. After all, you need to go within, within—that is the true answer, to finding the answers of life. But if you feel happier to meditate upon the Earth's ley-lines, as you call them, please do so. I would say to all of you, find your own little niche, be happy with what you are doing for yourselves. That is what is important, that each and every one of you, seeks and finds that inner spark, no matter where—that is not the important issue. The important issue is that you find that quiet time, to find, find that stillness, to find that love that is there for all of you.

Les: Thank you. Whilst you have been talking, I have been going back over my dreams and I realise now that I probably have been aware of what has been happening, but have been assessing it as a physical dream, because I do know that I have often been talking to people and giving them much help. But I thought it was all on a physical basis. I think I obviously was wrong in that and I have been helping them in your world, but construing it as physical dreams.

Let me speak a little to you. When you came upon this Earth plane, you had made the decision that when the time came in your life that you would work for spirit, that you would help in as many ways as you could. You my friend, are a very old soul, with knowledge that goes back many aeons of time. You made the decision in this lifetime that you would return to this Earth plane to help others, but mainly your task, was to teach. Part of your decision was that regularly you would return to that home of love, where you would continue to help those on the other side, our side of life. This was to be a difficult life for you, at many stages. You wanted to make recompense for that which was left undone last time. So you see, from the very beginning of your earthly life, you have returned to us to work—not for pleasure, not to see others whom you love, but to work. You can say you work on both sides of life.

Les: Thank you for that explanation, it certainly has cleared a lot of points, which have been not exactly a worry, but which I couldn't quite understand. I do appreciate what you've told me.

I hope it has made life for you a little clearer.

Les: It certainly has Salumet and I do thank you very much. It was something I hadn't realised, I must admit.

I wish to say a few words to one of the ladies here and then I will leave the rest of the time, as we have agreed, to see what occurs.

Les: Certainly. Which lady would you like?

I wish the one who is known as Debbie please.

Les: Debbie, could you come in front please.

My child, I feel discord and disharmony with you. I will not go into detail here, but you know of what I speak? (Yes) Yes you do. Take heart child. Things will change for you. I know at this particular time, you feel that the tide is turning against you, but no one says that life was meant to be easy. I will help you all I can and I say to you, think positively, use that power of thought that I have told you all about. Use it wisely. I will be with you and you will see the clouds disperse. Now all that is love go with you.

Debbie: Thank you.

I leave you all with my love and my blessing.

Les: Our love goes with you Salumet and we thank you most sincerely, for what you have told us. God bless you.

~6TH February 1995~

Les: A very warm welcome to you once again.

Good evening my friends.

Les: Hello once more. And as usual we are delighted that you could be here.

Your words do me great service. This time, may I request the light just a little lower please.

Les: would that be sufficient for you?

If it is comfortable to you all, then I am happy.

Les: Yes, I think it will be comfortable for everybody, thank you.

This time, before we go on to our discussions, I wish to say just a few words to this one.

Les: Which one is that? On your left here, Dawn?

Yes. I want to say to you, whatever discord, whatever injustices you feel are directed towards you, in your day to day living, you must rise above them, you understand me? (Yes) You cannot allow those fine threads to be entangled with thoughts of resentment. You must rise above it all. You can do it, you know how to do it and for your very existence, I would suggest that you do so.

Les: Do you understand Dawn?

Dawn: Yes. Is there anything else I can do?

You sometimes feel almost like a spider caught in a web. But that spider knows how to disentangle himself quite successfully. So too do you have that knowledge.

Dawn: Maybe.

Not* maybe, you do.

Dawn: To disentangle oneself?

Rise above it all. Let your thoughts flow freely to those who you feel are against you. Use the power of that thought to help them and in return you are helping yourself. You understand? (Yes) I am trying to help in that direction.

Dawn: Could I ask you a question, should I change my surroundings? You know what I mean by that?

I would say to you at this time, I would say stay and be still and the answer will come to you—but for the moment, stay where you are. Do not despair my child, I will do what I can. There will be a time coming shortly, when you will be in contact with an old lady, who you can do much to help. You will be aware of her need for companionship and an ear to listen. I ask you please, help her. (Yes) Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much Salumet

Dawn: Thank you.

It pains me so, to see you all with your life's difficulties. But I can only say to you, I cannot remove all your trials and tribulations. I have told you this before, but that does not mean that it does not affect us so. I wish I could comfort you all, in times of troubles and I will do my best, but of course you know that the difficulties in your lives are what make you grow.

Les: Of course.

So, I say all of you, do not despair. Be positive, give out 'Love' and in return, you will receive it threefold.

Les: Thank you very much for all you do, in the way of helping us.

I have been with you all since last we met and I say to you all, continue with your thoughts of love to all mankind. Do we have questions this time please?

Les: Thank you. Yes, unless you wish to talk about anything else, I would like to discuss a little further, the power of thought, if that's convenient for you.

Of course.

Les: I have no difficulty in understanding the application of the power of thought in the etheric world, when we get there, but I have several times wondered how two thoughts can affect each other. To quote a simple example: Two people are standing looking at a pool of water. One wishes to see the surface rippled, so presumably he would do so. The other wishes to see it quite calm, with the reflection of light in it. He, I imagine would see that. What is happening to the actual water, is it rippling or is it calm? And would those thoughts interfere with each other, as they are issued by the two people respectively?

I see and understand your question. Let me say, I have told you how powerful your thoughts are. They are individual things, 'energies', yes. You understand? (Yes) As each and every one of you are individual. The only way, the only way these thoughts can materialise, if you like, is to be sent directly along the energy line, the thought of energy. So when you speak of two individuals looking at the same pool of water, why should they clash? They would not clash, they are individual thoughts, for the individual person.

Les: So each would see what he wished to see, by projection of that thought energy?

Exactly. The only way there could be interference, was if the thought was directed towards the other individual.

Les: That is the question I was going to ask next actually. (Yes) To stay with the pool for a moment, each is seeing what he wishes to see, by projecting their thought energy? (Yes) But would the actual water be rippled or calm, or would it not be affected, would it merely be a mental seeing.

Yes, you cannot—when you say, would the water be calm, would the water be rippled, you are thinking along physical terms. You have to remember that the thought comes from that spiritual aspect of yourself. You are confusing physical with a spiritual happening—that is where you are becoming confused. They will of course see what they want to, if the thought is strong enough. If not, the thought energy is dispersed within the etheric. You understand?

Les: Yes, I do.

The only way that thought can be interfered with, if you like, I'm not sure about that word, but I will use it this time—is if the thought is directed directly to the individual, you see? Then there could be interference of the thought energy.

Les: Yes, so it would be a question, in that case, of the strength of thought, from one of the individuals? Of course.

Les: And he or she could interfere with the thoughts of the others?

The same as it applies here. (Yes) Your thought patterns here apply, the same rules apply. The strength and power of the thought is what controls it, if you like. How could your ideas—frivolous ideas—they would be dispersed. They do not have the power to be put forward, if you like. You need the strength of the thought to carry it along, you understand?

Les: Yes. So would there be much interference, or are people, as I believe, mixing with others of similar thought pattern, who would not wish to interfere. None would wish to interfere with the thought processes of another. Would that be the right assumption?

If you were at a stage of interference, you would be with like-minded people. You wouldn't really be allowed to interfere with pure thought.

Les: That's what I have always considered to be the case. So there would be harmony of thought, (Exactly—) or disharmony of thought, (Yes) until those with disharmonious thoughts learned that it was not necessary and they would in effect then have to progress to the better conditions.

Of course—but when you first come to our side of life, there are many trials, many, I don't say 'errors', that is the wrong word, but people need to find themselves.

Les: Many adjustments to be learned and made.

Yes, that is natural and it is expected.

Les: And this same thought pattern would be instrumental presumably, in affecting the feeling of warmth or excessive warmth, or cold, if necessary?

Let me speak a little on this thought. When you leave these physical bodies behind, when you come to our side of life, then it is thought that you find sustains you through that stage of your life, shall we say. It is the next stage of your life. Thought is all that is needed, but of course, you cannot change instantly.

As you 'think' now, so you will 'think,' when you pass to the next stage of life. Then the adjustments are made, when individuals realise that 'words' that 'food,' that 'drink,' that all the things you have become used to on your earthly plane, are no longer necessary. Then they will be instructed in the use of their thoughts.

Les: So there will be instruction in the direction of those thoughts?

There will be a 'grading,' I think that would be a better word—a grading of those individuals, into the use of their thought patterns. Because, let me say, each one of you within this room, are even now using thought, but it cannot be seen by each of you. But when you come to our side of life, all is known. You cannot hide with your physical overcoats, what is being 'THOUGHT', because it is exposed for all to see.

Les: So we would automatically be segregated into 'thought' environments, where each person would be comfortable, in the company of another?

Yes. There has to be balance, there has to be harmony. It could not be, how could you survive, with people with thoughts that are not pure, which are not good? You have to have the separation.

Les: So it is as I have said, I think to most of my colleagues at one time or another, we are in effect, 'fitting ourselves,' in our daily lives, by our thought, for the place we shall occupy, when we come over to you.

Yes. I have heard said many times, 'it is the good deeds that you do,' 'it is how you present yourself whilst upon this Earth.' Let me say to you here and now:

YOU WILL BE JUDGED UPON THE THOUGHTS THAT YOU HAVE SUSTAINED THROUGHOUT YOUR LIFETIMES HERE.

You can outwardly do good deeds, but the thought within can be wrong.

Les: So again it would confirm what I have many times said, 'consider the motive, rather than the action.'

Always, always that is important. You will be judged by that.

Les: So it would be impossible for one group of thinkers, who were directly opposed to another group, even to meet each other in your world?

Yes, you have it.

Les: Thank you. I am pleased about that, because it does confirm what I have said at various times and it's nice to know that I have been correct in that. And that would also account for the phrase in the Bible no doubt, allegedly made by Jesus that in my father's house there are many rooms. (Yes) I suppose that is a simplification of what you have been saying?

There is much for you to know. It is difficult for you, as you are now individuals mixing, with thought patterns so different. But you see, once you come to our side of life, there has to be balance, harmony and love. It cannot be otherwise. So be careful in your thinking, and I have said to you, how your thoughts rebound. Remember too, that is an important point.

Les: Yes you have said that more than once, I quite agree. That is the law of 'cause and effect,' again isn't it?

Yes, if you wish to call it that.

Les: It is our physical term for it, that's all. (Yes)

Sara: Is it possible to cancel a thought?

Les: Just a moment, I was just about to ask Salumet, if you have nothing further to say, I would ask my colleagues if they have any questions on the subject?

I would be happy to answer for them.

Les: Thank you. Yes that was Sara was it?

Sara: Yes, sometimes if I feel a little angry and a feel an unpleasant thought, I want to cancel it. Is that possible?

You cannot cancel the thought, but it can be dissipated. But you cannot actually cancel what has been thrown out into the ether, you understand?

Sara: Yes. I have to practice more self-control.

I would suggest that would be a very good exercise for all of you. Self-control in all aspects of your lives.

Les: We have a phrase in our language, don't we: 'The spoken word is like the arrow sped.' It can't be brought back. So it behoves us all not to issue these thoughts, I know I've had problems for many years, I'm still trying not to.

Of course they can be transmuted, if you use your thoughts wisely, to alter the thought that has been sent—your 'cause and effect' again.

Sara: Yes, if you send love after, yes?

Yes, it can be transmuted then.

Les: And to send a sincere mental apology, for having issued the original thought.

Yes, but the actual thought cannot be changed.

Les: No, because they are living things, Sara and nothing that lives can be destroyed. It can be altered/transmuted, but it cannot be destroyed. So that's why we have to be so careful.

I am sure you must all be aware of going to places where thoughts have been harsh, or bad or evil and at once you would sense these things. Have you not all been aware of this?

(Affirmed)

So you see, these are vibrant things that stay in the atmosphere. That is why I say to you, your thoughts can easily rebound back to you. It may not be instantaneously, but it will come to be.

Dawn: Can I ask, can you read our thoughts?

Can I read your thoughts? (Yes) Yes, if thoughts are living energies, then of course they can be seen. Yes of course we can. Those of us who have extended vision, if you like, of course can see your thoughts.

Dawn: Can you see my thoughts at the moment?

Yes. (Gentle laughter) If thoughts are living energies, when your awareness becomes heightened, then of course they can be seen. What is telepathy, what is all the things you already know of on your earthly plane, where people can pick each other's thoughts? It is nothing unusual, and it can happen here, whilst in your physical bodies. Have you not oft-times, been able to almost see what someone close to you is thinking? As do those beloved animals that you have. They sense and what they sense are your thought patterns. So can you see how important your thoughts become?

(Agreed)

Sara: Can I ask a question? If we can feel negative thoughts being directed towards us, what do you think is the best way to deal with it, is it to simply try to think a loving thought?

Yes, you must surround the sender of those thoughts, much love—you must. By doing that, the thoughts they receive back, will be good, not only for you, but for them. You will indeed be helping them.

Mark: So there isn't a place for angry thoughts then? They shouldn't really be there?

I would say, sometimes your anger can be justified. But what I will say to you: Do not direct anger towards another human being. Allow the anger to be expressed, but not towards someone. You understand?

(Affirmed)

Sometimes the expression of your anger is good for your own soul, but definitely not, if it is directed towards another. Do you understand that?

Mark: Yes, I do. But I've had to learn it very slowly, I think.

Les: We all have to.

It is human. I would not expect you all to be, how would you say, 'Angels?' I believe that is your expression. We do not expect that from you. But what you should do, is try to exercise control, in all aspects of your daily living.

George: Yes, could I suggest that wartime propaganda, is a really terrible thing, because it encourages people to think hateful thoughts.

Of course, what happens there, is that the peoples become brainwashed, brainwashed. (Yes) It becomes almost like mass hysteria. It happens wherever you have large groups, large crowds of people. It happens too, even at musical gatherings, where your young people are almost entranced by the beat from the music. So too, that is how thought works in the mass of the people. If every one of those people, who are caught within the terrors of war, would retain their own individual thinking, then that could not happen. But people are human, are gullible and so these things do happen.

Margaret: Can I ask a question? (Yes) I have a problem with a neighbour who is very ill at the moment.

They don't expect her to live very long, but she seems to be taking over my life. I've tried very hard not to be unkind, but I find it very tiring when I get six to eight phone calls a day, to go round and see her. Can you give me some advice please?

Yes. Let me speak. (Short pause/change in breathing) Yes, this person finds you a great comfort. She really is holding on to life. She is most fearful. Can you not find it in your heart to continue for the short time that she has left, to bring comfort to her? Is it really too much for you?

Margaret: The problem is, I am going off to see my son and his wife in Hong Kong on the 28th of this month and I don't seem to be able to get through to the people in authority, to give her any help. I feel as if I'm knocking my head against a brick wall. And I really think she should be in a nursing home, because she lives alone. Her son and his family live quite a long way away and can only get here weekends and I feel guilty having to say I'm going away.

No, please give her all you can, but please rid yourself of the guilt. You have to move forward with your life. The responsibility of this person should be with the family. Provided you have given of your heart genuinely to her, then you can do no more. I would say to you, speak to the family, tell them of their responsibilities. Go forward with your life, with an easy conscience. But whilst you can, please find it in your heart to give her as much time as you can. She is afraid.

Margaret: Yes, I know that but she doesn't believe and it's very difficult to try and tell her something.

Do not attempt to do that. All you can do is to comfort her.

Margaret: I'll do my best.

Do not, do not put guilt onto yourself. I will see what can be done.

Margaret: Thank you very, very much.

Les: Any more questions for Salumet?

George: Yes I have a different question, if I may. I'd like to ask about Mary mother of Jesus. There have been a succession of visions reported; at Lourdes, at Fatima in Portugal, at Garibandal in Spain, I think these are important ones. Are you able to confirm the visions and that Mary has a message for mankind?

Let me speak on that. When I first came to you, I told you that many masters have trodden this Earth, yes? (Affirmed) Many are in existence today. Not in the form you would expect them to be in. There are some who live daily lives as you do now, who have come to help, to guide, to teach and as you say, to bring a message to mankind. I can say to you that these visions of Mary are indeed aspects of her, in the same way as I have told you that I am one unit of a whole. Are you following me?

George: Yes, thank you.

When you reach a particular stage of development, it is possible to appear in many different places at the same time. You may find this difficult to believe, but it is the truth. The vision at Fatima, is indeed a genuine one. As many of us agreed to come to this Earth plane, to teach and instruct, so too did Mary, who indeed, you would term a Master, although she is of female energy. There exists today, a living form of Mary, who lives amongst you. And that part of her being, which can appear to these crowds of people, is only another unit of that whole being. Do not dispute these sightings, because I can tell you, indeed they are real, but of course the people who flock to these places, will not all receive cures. But it does remain that these are genuine visions. They are not visions really, they are materialisations, belonging to one divine unit. Do you understand?

George: Yes, that's very nicely put, thank you, I do understand. Could I add one more small part to that question? There is one Vasula Riden, who writes books and is said to channel Jesus Christ and Mary. Are you able to confirm that?

I would say to you only this and I have said it to you also when I first came to you: Accept only what you find to be reasonable. There are many channels who claim to have names from the past. And of course Jesus the Christ and Mary, are amongst the most used of them. Do you not see that it would not be feasible for them to be using so many channels?

George: Yes, I do see that.

What is happening sometimes is this: These channels are aware of being used, but because of their own religious backgrounds, very often they see what they desire and what they desire is not always the fact. So I have to say, I would say to you, this channel, I would not say is deceiving, but is a little deluded as to who is using him. Too often we see people almost wanting a particular being to use them, when instead they should be open to any energy, which is compatible with them and there are many, many ready to do good work. Always go by your reason.

George: Thank you very much.

Les: Are you able to take any more questions, or is that sufficient for this evening?

I will answer one short one this time and I say to you before I leave, that next time I hope to bring with me someone you may find of great interest to the group.

Les: We look forward to that. Thank you very, very much. One short question for Salumet from anybody?

Debbie: Can I ask one please? This is a personal question: A friend of mine's baby has been diagnosed as having cerebral palsy. This friend has asked me if healing would help this baby. Is this a particular baby who could be helped by healing, or is this just meant to be?

Let me say this to you: Healing is always beneficial, there can be no doubts on that. But I think what you are asking me, is whether healing will benefit on a physical level. (Yes) It can help to a degree, but I would say to you, this child came to this time, with the problems it has and no healer can change those circumstances. But healing can help, but not to the degree that you are wishing for. I know these things seem harsh to many of you. But of course we have spoken about the soul's decision before it takes the physical body. So I hope you understand fully, why this must be.

Debbie: Yes I do, thank you.

Les: Well thank you very, very much for all you've told us tonight. It's been a wonderful evening for me again and I'm sure for the others.

(Strong agreement)

My blessings go with you all, until next time.

Les: Thank you—God bless you—our love goes with you.

Good evening friends.

Les: good evening once more.

I will stay just a short time this evening, because as I said to you before, I would try to bring another.

Les: Yes, we are looking forward to it.

There will have to be slight adjustments, but I do not see a problem. When I leave you, continue as you would do normally, until such time as your visitor arrives. I want you to say to this lady, the one I am using, that we would like to make adjustment to her way of eating. I am trying to help her, but perhaps you will mention to her afterwards?

Les: Thank you.

If she sits quietly, like we know she does, she will know what to do. But please do say afterwards to her, it is nothing drastic, just a little thing to help her.

Les: Right, thank you, yes I will see that she has that information. Are you able to take one question, it's something I have been asked to put to you?

Quickly, this time please.

Les: There was a documentary as we call it, on our television last night, I am told, saying that what is now considered positively to be the Ark, has been found in Turkey. I wondered if you'd know if this is so?

I believe I have said before to you, that such a vessel did exist.

Les: Yes you have.

Yes, I think no more need be said on that matter.

Les: Right. Thank you. We shall wait and see what develops. Thank you very much.

I would say just one last thing: When you speak to the one who is to come, will you please speak very softly to begin with.

Les: Certainly.

My blessings go with you all.

Les: Thank you and our love with you.

Now let us continue.

Les: Thank you.

After a few minutes the expected quest arrived, channelled through Eileen:

Can you hear me? Can you hear me?

Les: Yes, we can hear you. Thank you, quite clearly.

I can wait if you like.

Les: No, please speak now, we look forward to hearing you.

Please be patient with me, until I make adjustments please.

Les: Yes of course.

I am very happy to join you.

Les: That's very nice to hear and we are very happy to have you with us.

I am happy that the one you know as Salumet, has allowed me to speak.

Les: Yes, indeed, he is a very good friend of ours now.

Although I knew what I had to do, it is not easy.

Les: No, it must be very difficult I imagine. That's why we do appreciate it so much, you taking the trouble to visit us like this, because it cannot be easy for you.

Salumet is helping me, because you see, I have not done this before—never before.

Les: Is that so? Well we do feel very honoured that you should be doing it for the first time with us.

Salumet is telling me to get on with it. (Laughter)

I must say, it is easy for him to speak. I hope I leave the lady comfortable.

Les: Yes, I'm sure you will do. You're always very considerate of the instrument. That is why they are very pleased to be used by you.

All right, let me tell you why I have come. For a long, long time—forgive me it is not easy to speak word—be patient please. I have been aware that this is possible of course, but until this time, I have not even considered doing such a thing. I am not of your Earth life. I never have been, but I am still aware of it.

Les: That makes your visit extremely interesting to us, when you say you are not of our Earth life.

Like Salumet, I too go forward teaching, but I teach in spirit.

Les: I understand.

I am what you call a 'keeper.' I am a keeper of records. I am aware that you know it by other names.

Les: Yes we do have other names for it, but we know what you mean.

I help, forgive me, be patient—a little uncomfortable—we are making adjustments—communication is becoming simpler, as your earthly time passes by, but still we have problems. I am a keeper of records, as I said. I think you humans are under some misapprehensions about these things.

Les: Yes, that's quite possible that we are. We have certain knowledge, but we have no means of saying that that knowledge is correct and accurate.

You are aware that there are different levels of existence in our side of life.

Les: Yes, we are aware of that.

Salumet has told you this much?

Les: Yes, he has.

I believe that you think there is one hall of records, do you not?

Les: No, my own opinion is that there are many such halls.

Exactly, and I am one keeper of one such hall.

Les: It must be a very exacting job?

It is work that instructs and pleases me. It is not given lightly to anyone. As you have many libraries in your world, so too we have halls of records.

Les: I believe your records go from the beginning of known time, do they not?

They always have been and always will be. I will explain to you a little.

Les: Thank you. We are all very, very anxious to learn all that we can, of the lives to come.

I believe Salumet has told you all that you come to our world in your sleep states. Therefore to all of you, this hall of records is available.

Les: We have been trying to make ourselves become aware of what we do, in your world, during our sleep and hopefully shall be bringing back memories with us. We know it is not easy, but we would like to be able to do that.

You all have been within the hall of records. Let me tell you how we work. When someone has the awareness to want to seek more growth, they are allowed to approach the hall of records. But they would not automatically be allowed to enter.

Les: Yes, so I understand. There are necessary restrictions.

That is where I come into the picture. Hence I am known as the keeper of the records.

Les: So you have to give permission, before we could be granted entry into the hall. Is that so?

I will look at the one who wishes to enter, to see whether they are worthy of it. Once that has been granted, they are allowed to come and enter the hall of records.

Les: And then they would have help in tracing, whatever it is they wish to find, would they?

Firstly, they have to enter with my permission. Inside let me say, they are usually overawed by what they encounter.

Les: I can well believe that. It must be an incredible sight.

I am not sure if Salumet has told you that, how can I say, we have a board of beings, who will guide you, make suggestions to you, to ensure the knowledge you seek will be used wisely.

Les: That was what I was about to ask, we would only be allowed to acquire that knowledge, if it was going to be used for the benefit of others, is that right?

That is part of my work that only those who I think you would term, 'genuine' would be allowed to enter.

Les: I follow. And how would the records appear to us? As a library full of books, parchments and papers, or are they kept in another way?

There is not one way, as the person would expect to find his life's history, then he would find it to be that way. But I would say, normally, they see in front of them a shelf full of books, each one devoted to a life, which they would be allowed to look at and to study.

Les: Would they be able to study a volume dedicated to another person's life, or would they be restricted to their own life?

They would only be allowed access to their own records, unless there were exceptional circumstances and they are very few and far between.

Les: So, if I am getting correctly what you are saying, if I were to come into the hall tonight and wish to see the whole record of however many past lives I had spent on this Earth, and if I was allowed in, I could have access to all those records, could I?

You can.

Les: So the whole of our previous existence, is recorded and available for us to examine?

All is available to you.

Les: That's most interesting.

But as I have said, you would be advised wisely, as you enter into this great hall. As you know, free will is still active, but not many would ignore the great advice given.

Les: No, of course not. I think they would be very foolish if they did.

Most people who enter, also would like to know what is to come.

Les: That is also possible from the records, is it?

It is possible, but that is not always allowed, there are restrictions there.

Les: I can imagine that, because we could presumably, if we were allowed to see what is to come, in one of our particular lives, however far ahead, we could perhaps not want to take that life. Is that right?

Your wanting or not wanting, is not really a consideration. What is written, would have to be.

Les: We wouldn't be allowed to opt out of it?

You would not be allowed to opt out, as you say. It would perhaps give you some insight into what was necessary. Remember that you all choose anyway, what you come to do. So only the outline structure could be changed.

Les: Yes, but what we have to do, is already written and must be observed then?

Yes, the whole pattern of your existence already exists.

Les: And that applies to everybody on this Earth in the past, present and who will be on this Earth. There are no exceptions, I imagine.

Past, present, future, all are one.

Les: This is what we find extremely difficult to understand. We don't doubt what you say, but our understanding is so limited, that we cannot comprehend fully.

Yes, of course, but looking at, excuse me one moment. (Pause) Always understanding is the problem. Let me try to make an analogy for you. Take yourself an orb. Start at any point, whichever direction you take, where will you end up?

Les: Back at the same point, of course.

Yes. So always the beginning is the end. Always continuous in whichever direction you take. If you stand at a point on this orb, how far can you see round?

Les: Not very far at all.

But still it exists does it not? (Yes) So can you see, although your awareness is only so far, it is still continuous, it is still there.

Les: Quite, and these records for which you are responsible, do they relate only to this planet Earth.

Of course not.

Les: This is what I was thinking. They take in other galaxies as well, do they?

Let me tell you this:

You humankind are only one lot, in all of CREATION.

Why do you think you would be an exception?

Les: I didn't know whether there would be halls of records applicable to each planet, such as ours, or whether they were all congregated under one roof, as it were.

I see, I see, I am sorry. I think I misunderstood you. Yes, I have said many halls of records, yes of course, I see what you mean. When you enter these halls of records, of course there are sections, sections separated where different records would be kept. Only the keeper would know what existed within the hall, but all life, all of creation has their own record. So you see, all are separate, in a sense. Your records would not be mixed with anyone else's. Each is a separate unit.

Les: And does a similar pattern have to be followed in each of the cases, where the halls of records operate? I mean are they all able to see their past and their future if permitted? Does the same system apply to all other worlds?

Let me say this: I can only speak of what I know, but I have been told that those of a higher existence have a different method. Whereas my hall of records would appear to look like a library, or what you would perceive it to be. As the state of awareness and growth is there, so it is condensed to one volume. Rather like a refinement, if you like.

Les: So all extraneous matter is disposed of.

Yes as all excesses are disposed of, so too are all of the records.

Les: Yes, because they would not be applicable any longer, because of the development of the person concerned.

Exactly, you have it yes. That is what I am saying to you.

Les: Thank you. That makes it much clearer. And of course, that in our conception of time, is infinitely far away.

We are speaking, yes, to areas that are beyond my knowledge, but I have been told of them and hopefully one time, as I grow, perhaps I will be allowed to be keeper of one of these.

Les: Well, I hope so too. It must be a most rewarding job to have.

It teaches me a great deal. My love of people has become enormous. To help one soul find himself, to know what he is about, is indeed a great joy. And to be within the presence of the 'Board of Beings,' is something I feel humbled by, and also honoured too.

Les: I can understand that. And a number of us here can, because we have been fortunate enough to have experienced a visit, albeit a short one, from higher beings, and we have felt just like that, honoured and humbled. So I do understand your meaning.

Of course—these beings radiate great love, great love.

Les: We were told a little while ago, of your halls of light, which we didn't know about.

You didn't know. Well, perhaps someone can come and tell you more.

Les: We would be most grateful for any other information we can get. And tonight really has been beyond our thanks, for what you have told us.

Salumet is saying to me, you have not told them about the structure of the records. (Gentle/kindly laughter)

I apologise, but perhaps he will allow me another visit.

Les: Well I certainly hope so. We shall certainly look forward to it. It's been immensely interesting—and has taught us a great deal also. We all thank you most sincerely.

I hope the visit has been as worthwhile for you, as it has been for me.

Les: It's very nice of you to say so, and I'm sure it has been even more so for us. We do thank you again for making the effort to be with us.

And I want to thank the instrument sincerely, for all my difficulties in using her, if you would be kind enough to say this for me.

Les: I certainly will do. It will be my pleasure to do it. And I'm sure it will be hers to know that she has been such help. God bless you and our love goes with you.

Salumet then returned briefly:

My friends, I hope you found that interesting.

Les: We can't tell you how interesting.

I will of course, bring him another time.

Les: We just can't, I think I'm right in saying we are overwhelmed Salumet. I think my colleagues would agree with me. Overwhelmed by what we have been told tonight. It is so much to think about.

The effort made on his part was indeed a great one.

Les: We do appreciate it so much, we can't say fully.

I would not have brought him, if it had not been so. Now for this time, I leave you. May love surround you all as you go about your daily duties.

Les: And you Salumet and our friend the keeper. We look on him as a friend now.

I'm sure he does too.

Les: God bless you.

~20th February 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you again.

As always, I am happy to be with you once again.

Les: We're very pleased to know that. We are certainly very happy to have you with us. And I would like to thank you for bringing your colleague last week, before we start any questions this time. It was greatly appreciated and most interesting—the keeper of the records.

I will bring him again, as I will many others.

Les: Thank you, that is lovely to know. It is certainly becoming more and more interesting at each session now.

As time goes by, so too will be our ability to use you all, to a much greater degree.

Les: Good. That's very nice to know also.

As I told you at the beginning of our union, slowly, slowly and that is the way we must approach each meeting.

Les: I do quite understand.

But there is much promise.

Les: Good. And I would like to thank you too, personally, for the information and guidance you have given us all, on concentrating on remembering what we do, when we come over to you. And I have had two very delightful experiences. I won't waste time by going into all the details, because they won't be of interest to others much. But, I do appreciate the information you gave, that enabled that to happen.

I am always grateful that you think what I give is useful to you. I am deeply humbled by those words. I hope that the words I speak to you all, will bring you advancement of a kind. Of course, each individual will have their own awakenings.

Les: Yes that's understandable. Now, I send copies of your replies to our questions and to your other speaking, to my daughter in a far country. She has asked me to put a question to you on her behalf. So with your permission, I will do that.

Of course.

Les: She has noticed in the recordings, that frequently you say, 'Let me speak on that.' Then there is a short silence before you do begin to speak. She has an enquiring mind and is very interested in what you have been saying and she asked me to ask you, does the silence mean that you are searching for information, in some sort of record, or does it mean that you are being fed the information, before you give it us? Or thirdly, does it mean that you are receiving information in your own language and translating it into simple words that we can understand? I hope that's clear.

It is clear to me. Let me answer you please. I have to tell you, none of those statements are correct. The reason for the hesitancy on my part, is to do with the use of the instrument and the power available. It is nothing to do with seeking further for information. The information I come with, is all-knowing and all-giving.

Les: I thought it would be actually.

So you see, I need not seek further for the answers, unless a question was posed with which I had no knowledge. In such an instance I would retreat until another time, to bring forth the answer. So while I pause, it is nothing to do with seeking or searching, it is merely a functional thing.

Les: Right, well thank you very much for that answer.

I hope that will be clear for her.

Les: Oh yes, I'm sure it will. It is for me too. But we do like to know the reason for some of these things as you'll understand.

Yes. This time, before we continue, I want to say something about the young gentleman within the room.

Les: Yes, would you like him to come nearer to you?

Not necessary. But I wish to say this to him. His awareness is becoming greater as the time passes by. He is capable of much, much deep thought and feelings. I would suggest to him that his feelings and his thoughts be placed upon the paper.

Les: You hear that Mark?

Mark: Yes, thank you.

It may seem to begin with that I feels it is his own mind thinking. Let me assure him, it will not always be so. He is ripe now, to be used. I of course can only suggest and the rest is up to him.

Mark: Is there anything I should do to get it going?

I would say to you all, as I have said before, cultivate your time of meditation, or quietness, whatever word you tend to use. That is all. Give yourselves the time to meet that mind consciousness, where we can reach you, it is so simple. Nothing—(Pause) He has a full heart, this one. There is much help he can give with his words, if he will make himself available to us.

Les: I wonder if I might make a suggestion here. I used to find when I wanted to do some thinking, that writing my thoughts was a distraction. And frequently when I used to speak on the subject at various churches, I made copious notes, which having got there, I never even looked at and I was aware that I was being impressed in my speech. Would it be helpful to the young man to speak his thoughts into a recording machine? Would you be able to influence his thinking in that way?

I see no problem in that direction. You may well be aware that around your Earth plane at this time, many are using such instruments for communication with us. I see no problem if this is what the gentleman wishes. He will be guided as to what is most suitable.

Les: Yes, I'm sure he will.

But let those thoughts and those feelings flow freely, because there is much this one can do. You see, I think you would say, he is a poet at heart. It needs to be expressed, for the benefit of all. After all, your life's work, for all of you, is to express that aspect of yourself, to help others. That applies to all of you, you see?

Les: Yes. So whatever abilities we have, in whatever way they may begin to show themselves, they must be used for the benefit of others.

You all have these gifts. I have said to you before, you are capable of so much, but you must allow yourselves those quiet moments. You must, otherwise how can we reach you?

If you have more questions this time, I will be happy to answer them, but I would like to say to you, for part of this time, I would like you all to be still and allow what comes to you, to be expressed. Would you permit this please?

Les: We should be pleased to do it, yes. Does anybody have any questions before we begin? Any questions you'd like to ask from what you've been told Mark?

Mark: No I don't think I've got anything actually.

Les: It's clear enough is it?

Mark: Yeah, there's no point in me asking about it. It's supposed to come, isn't it—I've got to meditate really.

Les: Yes, just start the quiet periods and if you begin speaking, you'll soon know whether you are being used for that speech or not. Anybody else with a question? (No comments) Right then we'll do as Salumet suggests. Sit quietly and please give out whatever comes to you, whatever you receive.

There then followed some clairvoyance from different people. Eileen 'sees' a leper receiving treatment involving the venom of a particular type of snake—yellow and black and quite large. Others picked up various images.

Good evening friends.

Les: Good evening to you.

Again I am happy to join with you.

Les: Thank you—very pleased to hear it.

This time, we would wish to devote some of your time, to the use of other vessels. For those who are open to us, we can bring much. So this time, that is what we intend to do. So I will begin, as usual, with your questions, if you so wish.

Les: Yes, I have one I would like to ask. It relates to what we were told a couple of meetings ago, by the 'Keeper of the Records.' We found him a most interesting person and I've been thinking over what he said and I'm quite puzzled of course, as I expect my colleagues are. I can understand and accept that we have to have various lives planned for us, but are they all planned? He said that we are able to see the lives which we shall have to live in the future, as well as those which have passed. And I wonder how those lives are planned, who or what plans them? Because he said that we cannot opt out of them, though we have free will to use, during the progress of that life, on this Earth. (Yes) I hope I've made myself clear.

I understand that you find this difficult. It is a difficult subject for all of you. Let me try to explain further for you. (Thank you—) When I speak of your future life, what is there is the outline structure. I have said to you before, you choose, the soul chooses its life, but within that free will there lies an outlined plan, can you see?

Les: Yes I can and this is what puzzles me. How does that outlined plan, which I fully accept and understand, how does that begin in the first place? Who or what decides what the plan should be?

We are speaking here on deep matters. I have said, all has existed, all is, will be and is already past. You cannot look upon these matters, with your physical thinking. It is not a judgement placed upon each soul. When I say it is set out for you, it is something that has always existed. I know not the beginning of these matters, I can only tell you it has always been. If you are looking for me to tell you that there is a beginning and an end, then this I cannot do.

Les: Yes, you have told us this before, that you are not aware of a beginning.

As far as I am aware, there is no beginning, there is no end—‘All is one.’ I cannot tell you more upon this matter, because I do not know more. But I see the point you are coming to. You cannot think of it as beginnings and endings—that is not the way of it.

Les: I follow, so my thinking has been wrong.

I would not say wrong. You are right to think on these matters. But I cannot be more helpful than the words I have spoken.

Les: Thank you very much for what you have said. The Keeper did tell us that he would be speaking to us again, so I might be able to ask him for a little more information if he has it to give.

He will tell you no more than I have told you now.

Les: Is that so—because he doesn’t understand the full complexity of it either then?

Let me speak to you. There is no one who can come to you, who can explain, what you term ‘the beginning,’ because there is no beginning. Or it may be that we have not advanced enough, because of course, all consciousness is ever expanding. So you see the problem?

Les: Yes, that creates another problem, doesn’t it?

That is another topic we must touch upon. But I see the point you are bringing to me. It is a difficult subject, but I cannot offer you more.

Les: So obviously, if we see another life that we have to lead, we are not able to opt out, because, from what you say, it has already existed and happened.

Yes. What you see is the structure. What you choose, is the pathway. The structure cannot be altered, but your choice, can change the way you travel that pathway.

Les: Yes, that is the free will—

That is your free will. That is something you are responsible for. But you cannot opt out of those things you need to know, to go forward in your growth.

Les: It certainly is a complicated procedure.

I don’t think you can fully comprehend these matters, until you have grown a little more.

Les: I can quite see that now.

It is too vast for your physical brains, your thoughts and your conceptions of time, space, of all that ever-expanding consciousness.

Les: Yes, I would agree with you absolutely—

It is too much for you to take now. I am sorry I cannot answer it more for you, but I have told you, I am not infallible either.

Les: No, but perhaps that’s part of the plan, that it is too difficult for us to know, in case we try to analyse it too much and make a mess of what is intended, as we probably would do.

There will always be questions and doubts. That is normal, because you are humankind. It is not a fault, it is something that is unique with you and of course, you will not find all of your answers.

Les: And I don’t suppose I’m the only one who has these questions.

Not at all, not at all. There are many, many who seek to find answers to these questions. But only so much can be given to you, that you can fully understand and accept. I am sure I have been telling you many things that have created doubts, but that matters not. It is entirely up to you, your own choices, your own free will, whether you accept or deny that which I give to you.

Les: Oh, I would certainly never dream of denying and I do accept it, because I know you are telling, so far as you know, what is the truth that we should know.

I come only with truth, with love for you all.

Les: Quite. Well we fully understand and appreciate that.

But there will be times, when it will be difficult for me to find words for your questions.

Les: Yes. Never mind—one day, we shall know a little more of the answers; until then, as you have said so often, patience, patience.

My son, you will never find all of the answers. I still am seeking my own answers. It is a never-ending pathway.

Les: Of course, it must be, particularly, with an expanding universe and consciousness.

Yes you see, you are thinking within a very, very small minute area of the whole. It is difficult to place these small questions within that huge, huge area, you see?

Les: Yes I do see, and we do appreciate what you have told us and we look forward to hearing much more from you and your colleagues. At least it will give us something to think about and hopefully improve our own development.

That is what we wish, that you can listen to us, take what you can from us, so that you are able to expand that knowledge, which all of you have, because after all, you are each and every one of you, on your own individual pathways. So you must take from us, that which you can accept.

Sara: Can I ask a question? It's a personal question. Is it possible for you to tell me some of the things I agreed to do before incarnating?

No my child, I am not prepared to do that for you. It is not that I do not know, but why should you need to know.

Sara: Only so that I can fulfil what I came to do.

That is not the purpose of your task. You need to encounter each part of this lifetime as it comes along. So you see, it would be like jumping a high fence too soon. The problem could be that you would stumble and fall. Can you see the comparison? (Yes I can.) So it is better that you fulfil that part of yourself, which you have agreed to do in this lifetime, one step at a time. (Yes, I understand.) Don't' be concerned, you are travelling on the right pathway, so fear not that you will not succeed in what you have come to do. I can tell you that much, (Thank you.) but I will not individualise each and every deed that you have come for.

Les: Thank you very much. Are there any more questions?

George: Yes could I ask one? Would it be possible at this stage to tell us something more about yourself? You've told us the analogy of the diamond and the facets and we understand that. You have told us that part of you has had Earth life. It would be interesting to know something of the other parts perhaps. Would some parts have had entirely spirit plane life? It would be nice to know more about you.

Well I am honoured that you find me that interesting, but let me say for this time we will leave that. But I promise you to come another time, when I will discuss a little further with you, some of the aspects of my being.

George: Thank you.

Les: We have talked about it—

I am aware that it is natural for you to be curious. I accept that fully and I will spend some time with you to try to explain a little more, of what I am about.

Les: That's very nice of you, thank you Salumet.

Now, I think for this time, we must proceed with what has been planned. I ask all of you to allow yourselves to be open, to offer yourselves in love, to be used wherever you can. There are those who are waiting to use you. It will not be anything to do with the work you are familiar with. These are people who wish only to have the opportunity to speak—to speak through these vessels. But they must allow themselves that openness.

Les: Of course. So it's in order for me to speak with them?

You speak please. It will not be your 'rescue,' that you have been so used to, in the past and still are doing. That is not what this meeting is for.

Les: Good, thank you. I look forward to greeting them when they come. Thank you very much.

I will remain within the room, within the instrument I am using, until the end of the meeting, if you will allow me this.

Les: Yes, we shall be pleased that you are here.

There then followed a communication through Sue:

May I speak with you please?

Les: Yes please do. I should be delighted if you do.

My name is Ninahara. (?) My purpose here is to tell you something of the love that surrounds you all.
(Thank you.) Within your room, there are the colours of love, each a never ending movement, do you understand me?

Les: Yes we do. We are very happy to know those colours are surrounding us, so constantly.

You have much surrounding you. You are the lamp, the lamp of such power, but the power you have is wisely used. And for that reason, the colours surrounding you are bright, much brighter than you possibly understand.

Les: That's very pleasing to know and I regard it as a privilege to be able to work as I do.

You are a modest man. The others in this room are hand-picked, do you understand me when I say 'hand-picked?' (Yes) It is not by chance that these lovely people have this room. Everything as you know, is for a purpose. And we fulfil that purpose and are so happy when everything falls completely into place.

Les: That's why we all regard this work as a privilege, I think, to be able to draw nearer to you all, who come to give us such love.

You are more than near. You are a part of us and we are a part of you all.

Les: Yes, I think we have reached the indivisible stage.

Words are difficult when the understanding is so limited. I feel that what I am saying is not strong enough, but other words would be difficult for me to put into the language, you understand?

Les: Yes I do understand what you mean. We too find difficulty in expressing what we feel sometimes, when we know we are close to you and when you draw close to us as you are now. It is a spiritual awareness, that's all we can say, the only way we can describe it.

May I ask each one here, to take into their mind's eye, the image of their favourite flower?

THINK OF IT. BECOME PART OF IT. FEEL THE STRENGTH OF EACH PETAL. HEAR/LISTEN TO WHAT IT HAS TO SAY. THIS IS A LESSON TO BE LEARNED.

Les: Did everybody hear that? (Affirmed)

It may seem unintelligible, but in time this lesson will be of great value, not only for yourselves, but for nature as a whole.

Les: Thank you. Yes, we don't usually think of a flower as having strength, but I do understand what you mean and if we think of the effort needed and strength required, to push up through the soil, we can get better understanding of your symbolism.

You are wise beyond your years. Now I leave you. I do hope a little of what I have said is understandable to you.

Les: Oh it is indeed. And we do appreciate what you have said.

It is a privilege also for me to be amongst you.

Les: Nice of you to say. You may not admit it, but we do know how difficult it is for you to enter our atmosphere again, from your beautiful land.

It has to be done and we do it quite—(Keenly? tape very faint) Now, I send such love to everyone here and to their families and people close to them.

Les: Thank you and our love goes with you.

Remember the flowers.

Les: Yes we certainly shall.

Feel the power of the flower.

God bless you all.

Les: God bless you too. And thank you again.

Some time for individual development followed.

Then we had a visit from a well-known author from our past, through Sue:

General welcomes

Thank you for your welcome.

Les: We are glad to have you.

I have never done this before.

Les: You haven't? Well congratulations. Many people try and are not able to say one word. But you're doing quite well and the more words you speak, the easier it becomes you'll find.

Words used to be the purpose of my life.

Les: Did they—in what connection? Were you a Teacher, an Orator?

I wrote.

Les: An author, were you?

My name is familiar to you.

Les: Would you care to tell it to us? You don't have to, but we would be interested to know, if you are allowed to tell.

My name, the name you would recognise, is 'Dickens.'

Les: Really! Oh this is very, very nice indeed! And how do you like now, being able to write after mental communication and not having to bother with the verbal speech? You must find it a great advantage?

Charles: I have used that communication and find it so very beneficial.

Les: I'm sure you would.

Charles: When I was alive, I used to read my work out loud. To now read, no not read—to allow myself—no I am sorry, the words do not come.

Les: No, I think I know what you are trying to say. That though the mental communication is beneficial in many ways, you are able to form plots for the plays you still write, which you do I know, you still are aware for the need of the physical impact of the words. Is that right?

Charles: Yes. My life was spent speaking and writing. Now the thought process means I have a wider audience. But the work that comes from me now, has a greater purpose, which is why the audience is so much greater, than on this plane.

Les: Of course it would be, because your thoughts can reach so many, many more, than the written word could, or the spoken word on the stage.

Charles: My works here, I believed contained a message for people that were able to read between the lines.

Les: Yes, it had to be didn't it, otherwise you would have been in serious trouble, quite often.

Charles: Part of my work provided a balance—(?—tape very faint) I understand that now.

Les: Yes, and do you still write on the same subjects?

Charles: No. My works, I believe are still widely read, on this plane. Therefore the work I try to do in spirit, has a different meaning.

Les: Yes of course. And you were aware largely, of the continuity of life you now enjoy, when you were upon this Earth, weren't you? It was a very real thing to you.

Charles: In part yes. But even now the learning process is very slow.

Les: Yes of course. We all find that. And have you met any of the major characters about whom you wrote?

Charles: My writings contained many characters which existed only in my head.

Les: I see. Not based on any physical person?

Charles: Some. But if I have met them in spirit, then they have not been able to tell me.

Les: You must be grateful now, with your new knowledge, of what you did do when you were on this Earth and the information and pleasure you gave to all those who could read and relay your words. I know there were many still illiterate in your day, but those who could benefit, did benefit I'm sure.

Charles: I am humbled in the knowledge that my writings are still read and understood.

Les: Oh they are still read. They will never die.

Charles: They are just mere scratches, compared to the works I am privileged to see now.

Les: Good. It must be very gratifying for you?

Charles: And in the mental processes which enable me to influence in a small way, in part of this work. I am truly grateful for it.

Les: As are we, in all we learn. Do you try to influence potential writers here?

Charles: A part of me is with someone, who is writing on your plane, at this time. I find it difficult to explain. I am no longer one whole person. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I do. We have had some speech on that very matter, from our friend Salumet.

Charles: Yes, it is through the one you know, that I have been summoned here with you. If I say to you that on your Earth, when someone shows rare abilities in writing, music, artistry, then part of their spirit is guided by part of another. And so it will continue as time goes on.

Les: Good. And I'm very pleased to hear, because the influence from your plane, on the writers on this one, can only do good. And the world certainly needs a lot of better treatment. Well, thank you very much for having come here and telling us who you are, we do appreciate it.

Charles: I am more privileged to be here and you all to receive me. Thank you for your time.

Les: Thank you for having taken the trouble to come to us. It is a rare pleasure to have you.

Charles: I am privileged to have spoken—I leave now, thank you—

Les: Thank you. Perhaps you'd like to come again and talk to us. We'd always be interested, if you did wish to.

Charles: I believe I am to return to read to you, some of the works I am involved in—

Les: Yes, well thank you very much. Our love goes with you. God bless you.

Salumet then returned briefly, after a short pause:

Is it not good that so many wish to use others, for the betterment of all?

Les: It certainly is good. It's been really remarkable this evening. And we do appreciate it and thank them, all of them.

I want to say it warms me greatly, that the last speaker should feel so comfortable with you. Because I tell you, he came to our side of life, full of resentment and a little anger, because he felt cheated. He needed more time, he felt he was the mouthpiece at that time, for the common people.

Les: Yes, I can understand his feeling that.

Although he had an awareness of life, he felt cheated that he was taken at the time he was. But now, he can see the wider plan, and that his work continues in a different manner. But for some considerable time, his anger and his anguish did much to hurt himself.

Les: That's a pity. I'm glad he's overcome it now.

You have seen a completely different character, to the one who first came to our side of life.

Les: It must be satisfying for you to see the change too. You and those who work with you I mean, of course—all of you.

There has been a purpose for his return this time. I have spoken to the gentleman about the use of the pen. (Yes) I wish him to think carefully on what has been said this night. I want him to find the connection in the words spoken.

Les: Right. I think that applies to you George, doesn't it?

No, the other gentleman. (Mark) If he will pick up the pen, the connection is there. Before I leave you this time, I want to speak to the people I have been speaking to. There is within their circle, a young child. Salumet then gave a message regarding Ashlea, Sara's daughter:

—this child has an awareness and she needs to be nurtured carefully and you, my child, are the one who can help her. She seems a difficult child. At times very quiet and how you would say, a little sulky? This child is sometimes put down rather harshly, for her sensibilities, you agree with me? (Yes I do.) You my child, must help her. Just listen to the child. She is not physically abused, but her sensibilities are.

Sara: Yes, because she is very imaginative.

Yes. Her awareness is great. Please listen to her, she will confide in you. You will find the right words, the right action. But please nurture that child.

Sara: Yes I will. She's very special.

You have said the right word. In that child there is a great deal that can be brought forth. You know she can see and she can hear.

Sara: Yes, I know she's very bright, very aware.

Les: I think Salumet means spiritually, clairvoyantly/clairaudience. That is right I believe, isn't it?

Yes. Listen to her—she needs someone who will listen to her.

Now I say to you all thank you, thank you.

Les: Thank you very much for allowing us to work with you all.

I hope this evening has been instructive to those who have been used. And to those who have not voiced any words, don't be concerned, because your contribution is just as great. My love goes with all of you.

Les: And our love with you and all your colleagues. 'Thank you' is such a simple thing, but it does mean so much from us.

To the young people, the future will get 'BRIGHTER'. (Thanks + fond farewells)

~6th March 1995~

Good evening my friends.

Les: Good evening again. Thank you for joining us. I'm sorry we're a small group again tonight, but two of our sitters have become married and are having a little break. Another one is in Hong Kong and a third one is looking after some children, a fourth one I should say. Still, I'm sure this won't affect things very much.

It is good when the numbers are full, but it matters not what number is here, provided the love and the genuineness is here with those who come.

Les: That is the important thing, isn't it.

How many of you within the room, are aware that you have been with me, since our last meeting.

George: Yes, I think at fleeting times—

There lies within you many doubts, when you feel that perhaps something special is happening to you.

Firstly, let me say to you, that is good, that is good that you should have these doubts to begin with. But I would say, look deeply to the matter I hand and when you are sure within your own hearts, then please accept it. All of you have been with me this past week.

Les: Good, that's very pleasing to know.

I want to know from the gentleman, what he has retained please. What do you remember?

George: I have very limited recall, where my dreams are concerned at the moment, but I seem to have a half-awareness. I awakened one morning, knowing that I had had a dream concerning my father, but I couldn't remember what the dream was.

Have none of you awoken to find yourselves feeling a little 'down' this week? (Affirmed) Yes, you know why, don't you? Because coming back to this existence, is rather like a shock to your system. And so the feeling of being a little down, is natural. I am happy that you have felt this, because it indicates that what you have experienced is good, can you see? (Affirmed)

Les: That would account for my feeling very down about a fortnight ago and I just couldn't understand why, there was no obvious reason, but I awoke in the morning feeling really down.

It is because you all have been elevated to a higher plane. You see, if your awareness had been greater, you would have retained a memory. But I am happy for you, because there is continuity and you all have felt it.

Les: Good. Is there anybody else who is aware of having been with Salumet? Any unusual/pleasant dream?

It matters not. The fact that all have felt this feeling of being 'down,' as you say, is good. It shows that you all have experienced the same feeling.

Debbie: Can I ask a question? You said for us to remember our experiences when we are asleep. Should we be putting it into our heads when we go to sleep, that we must remember what we dream? Because I try to think before I go to sleep, subconsciously to remember what I've been dreaming. And I tend to find now that although I'm asleep, I feel like I'm awake.

That is good. It is your awareness coming to the surface. I believe I have said to you, before you enter your sleep state, then reaffirm to yourself what you wish. It is the power of your thought once more.

Debbie: That's what I've been trying to do, because if you put in your head, before go to sleep, a certain time you want to wake up, you will automatically wake up at that time.

Continue as you are and you will be granted that that you wish. You see, the power of your thought will create, that is how it exists in the spirit side of life. The thought is projected forward, therefore it becomes an actuality, do you see? (Yes) Good, good. I am so pleased for you all. Please continue to open up all of your senses.

Les: If no one else wants to make a comment, I have been doing as you suggested Salumet, and jotting down my dreams or visits, to see if I could sort out which was which and I did have two quite interesting experiences. I was standing on a beach and someone was giving me some very large fish and I had an awareness that this was symbolic of spiritual feeling, which would be given. The other occasion was that I was at the front door of what would appear to be a normal house, but it was all white. The front door was opened without my knocking, by a lady in white and I just went in and that was the end of that.

Good, good, let me explain for you, shall I? Let us take the second part of your question. The white house, of course, is symbolic of a house, as you would know it, because here on your Earth plane, that is where you feel secure and comfortable. (Yes) Yes. You entered freely, because you knew within yourself that you would be welcome, you would be safe, you would be secure. The lady within, with the white robes, is one of your own teachers. The fact that you do not remember or recognise her should not be a concern for you—as your visits become more frequent so too will you gain more knowledge, more teaching, to bring back. Your visits there are of an instructive nature; this I have told you before, but the very fact that you remember entering and seeing the lady is good. Continue as you are. Do not have any doubts that what is happening to you is all in your mind, as you say. These things are taking place.

Les: Good. I must admit, I awoke each morning after those two incidents, feeling very, very happy, for no apparent reason.

It of course brings me to the first part, which will explain why you felt so. The fish was symbolic, as you say. It was a gift given to you. But what is more important is the location. To stand by the sea, denotes strength. You were being given help and strength. It was a simple gift, to be accepted simply. And you did so in that manner. So you see, that spiritual strength sustains you. That is why on awakening, you could feel and sense that spiritual strength.

Les: That's very, very interesting. Thank you for the explanations.

Please all of you continue, we can give you so much more, on our side of life.

Les: Yes I certainly look forward to my visits now.

But remember, if you awaken and you feel a little down, rejoice in the very fact of that feeling, because know within your hearts, you have been elevated to those higher realms. If the feeling remains with you throughout your daily tasks, then please by all means, ask for it to be removed. Would anyone like to ask me anything this time?

Lilian: Could I ask one? It's on behalf of the instrument that you are using. (Yes) She wonders where she goes when you are using her.

Of course—I will say, you know of course that the physical shell is still within your room. But to be able to use an instrument as we do, we have to put them to one side. I don't mean physically, or even spiritually. What happens is, the energy from the etheric body, is elevated, raised if you like, far above the physical being. We then are able to use the instruments without harm. It is a very technical thing for me to explain to you. But simplistically, it is the energies of the etheric body, which is placed to one side. The physical being remains intact. I hope that satisfies you.

Lilian: Yes. I'll tell her.

Sara: Can I ask a question? The artist who was known as Claude Monet, is he continuing to inspire with his paintings in spirit world?

I will speak a little. On the whole when people, no matter what their professions or their inclinations were, whilst they were in the physical bodies; if that love, that gift that they have is strong enough, then that very love will be carried forward into spirit. Those beings will then, if they so wish, continue on with what they have started with. We have spoken briefly on these matters. But I can tell you that this particular artist, is now involved in other things. He had expressed fully whilst on the Earth all that he wished. He has now moved forward to other things that involve people and helping others. (Thank you.)

Les: Any other questions for Salumet.

Debbie: Yes, can I ask one? Over the centuries there have been loads and loads of superstitions. Is there anything actually in these, or is it just like a myth?

I'm sorry can you elaborate a little.

Debbie: Well people say its bad luck to walk under ladders and that if you break a mirror its seven years bad luck, that type of thing, where do they come from?

Oh, who am I to say, how your minds work—

(Laughter) Forgive me—yes, yes, yes, yes. Please—people are so buried in their thinking, you see. I'm sorry if I seem amused, but so often we see these failings. And you see, basically superstition stems from fear. It is a fear of something, of the 'unknown' usually. But eventually these superstitions are dispelled. But I would say to you, FEAR NOT, fear nothing whilst in your physical bodies. After all, what is there to fear? You know life is eternal. Let go of all of your fear and you will find that your life plan falls into place. I hope that has satisfied you.

Debbie: Yes.

Yes, I beg your pardon if I should seem so amused.

Les: We could have a chat about it afterwards if you like Debbie, because there are some physical reasons for all of them, if you want to know afterwards.

Debbie: Yes, it seems strange doesn't it?

I have to say to you, the human brain conjures up many, many of its own devils, if you like to call them that. I know it is a term that is thrown around lightly and that is what it is, fear.

Les: For instance Debbie, to us black cats are lovely, aren't they—whereas in other countries they're unlucky? So you see as Salumet says, it's purely our minds.

The power of the thought—always we will return to that statement. You have the power for good, you have the power for bad. It is all the same energy, but used in a different way, you see?

Les: We use black for morning. The Chinese use white for morning. So you pay your money and take your choice.

Debbie: It seems funny, where do they come from—

Les: Just as Salumet says, from fear of the unknown really.

Debbie: But I mean, walking under a ladder, it seems so—

Les: Well that's logical because supposing a chap's on it and drops a paint pot—that's why you don't walk under a ladder. It doesn't mean it's going to be unlucky. It might be unlucky for somebody, but not as a general rule. Why do you throw salt over your shoulder? Because the Devil was supposed to be looking over your shoulder and he was after the most expensive thing: salt. Do you see how they derive? (Yes) It's all physical. Sorry Salumet, I got carried away a bit.

Not at all. I am always pleased to listen. I come here, I speak many words, so it is good sometimes I listen. I wish to say to you this time, how grateful, how delighted were those who came last time. If only you could be aware of the joy that you have given to those who came. Indeed, you would be beaming.

Les: Very pleased to hear that, thank you. We're always very happy to welcome anybody as you know.

For the rest of this evening, we want to try to bring one other, through this one here. (Sue.) It may or may not happen, but be patient. I will work with this instrument I am using. I thank you for your love and your patience and I wish to say next time, I will bring someone who wishes to speak to you, on a particular subject.

Les: We look forward to that.

So my visit next time will be very, very short.

Les: Well thank you for what you have told us tonight and for your teaching.

The love be with you all, until next time.

Les: Thank you, God bless you.

There then followed someone through Sue, who was connected to Les:

(Faintly)—I am part of the spirit that you know as Lesley Bone. But I have been part of the spirit of different names, different earthly characters.

Les: This is incredible. So, on a logical basis then, would it be correct for me to say I am speaking to part of myself?

Yes. It's difficult for you to comprehend, but that is the easiest interpretation of what I am. We are connected by such a thread of love, I have been with you, I am still with you, I will be with you in our future.

Les: Thank you very, very much. It is difficult to comprehend, from what you say, but I am effectively, my own guardian and councillor. It is something we cannot understand. But from what your friend Salumet, my friend Salumet has told us, when we do achieve higher development, we have many paths, many facets and can be in many places at one time. I presume that this is what you in fact have been confirming to me, during this speech.

Your understanding is greater than was first imagined. This is a lesson to everyone here. We are many, many facets.

Les: Thank you. I will tell them that. And that presumably is why we are all congregated together as one now, for these meetings. It was so written that it would happen.

Let me say that one person here, is just a small part of a large and amazing whole.

Les: Yes, I can see that now, from what you say and from what Salumet has said.

There is no such thing as 'one person.' Individuals are in the earthly plane, because it would not be possible to exist without one physical body. Do you understand me?

Les: Yes I think so.

But remove the physical and everything multiplies.

Les: Yes I understand what you mean: Removal of the physical gives freedom to the spiritual. To take it's particular place, among the myriad of parts, of which it is composed.

In speech I leave you, in thought I will always be with you. In thought I will speak with you, during your sleep time.

Les: Thank you I should be glad if you would. I shall look forward to that.

Now let everyone here ponder upon my words.

Les: I'm sure we all shall do that and try to come to a greater understanding of them. And we are all very grateful to you for having visited us tonight and for the words you have spoken to us. Could we hope that you might one time return to speak with us further?

It may be possible. I am constantly with you.

Les: Thank you. And we all give you our love and great appreciation once more, for having been with us this evening. God bless you.

Then a lively/lighter spirit came through Eileen to close. She had a message for Dawn about taking care with her ankle.

Good evening. (Welcomes)

I feel your love, thank you. This time, I hope to bring someone to speak with you. I will ask you only that you lower your light a little and whilst we wait for the arrival, continue as usual. Speak amongst yourselves quietly and you my friend will know when they are her. (Thank you.) It may be that more than one of the instruments can be used this time, but we have to wait and see. You will be able to deal if that should be so, yes? (Yes—) So for this time, I leave you with my love and my blessing.

Les: Thank you very much. I have been speaking to you this week, I don't know whether you are aware—on a couple of occasions I thought it advisable to, so I did.

Let us talk upon it next time, shall we? Let us see what we can do this time, because I did promise you other people to come.

Les: Yes of course, thank you very much. God bless you.

A 'rescue,' then followed, which we generally do not transcribe, though a selection can be listened to freely on our website:

<http://www.salumetandfriends.org/7.html>

Salumet's guest then arrived:

Do you hear me! (Very loudly)

Les: Yes we do thank you, very clearly. And we'd like very sincerely to welcome you here.

I am trying to temper voice.

Les: Yes it must be difficult for you.

It is primitive way of communication. But I am doing best.

Les: Yes, I do appreciate that and we thank you for your effort. It is not your usual method of communication, I know.

All please focus thoughts to me, to help with this noise please.

Les: Yes, we will all focus our thoughts on you, send you our love and such strength as we can, to assist you in using the instrument's voice. Will everybody do that please?

Please do allow a few more minutes your time, I think please.

Les: Certainly—as long as you wish.

This is so strange for me, but I think I have it now, more gently.

Les: Yes you have and much clearer too. Are our thoughts helping you?

Always good thoughts. Salumet told me what I was doing wrong. With his permission, I am here.

Les: Good. We are very grateful to him, for having brought you.

Firstly let me say how sorry I feel for you humans that you have this to do each time you communicate. It all seems rather primitive, but I suppose to you it is normal.

Les: Yes it is normal to us, but I'm sure we all look forward to the time, when we shall be able to communicate in the way you do and regard that as normal. But until then, we can only thank you, for the effort you make, in communicating in our physical way.

I have visited Earth before, but never to use words. So you can say, this is great honour for me, to be brought to you.

Les: It is a great honour for us to have you and I mean that most sincerely. We always feel it an honour when Salumet comes to speak with us and for him to bring one of his friends, is another honour for us. Each time we hope that we shall be enabled to learn more of the world, which awaits us in due course.

I wish I could call him friend, but for me and those with me, he is a teacher.

Les: Is he, I follow. He must be a very great teacher, I imagine? From the knowledge brought to us during his visits, we all believe him to have great wisdom.

He not only teaches here, but in cosmos.

Les: Yes, he has the cosmos to teach in, does he?

That is where I come from. I am what you would call a traveller of cosmos.

Les: Really. Do you visit other planets as you are now visiting us, in order to teach the inhabitants?

I do not teach, but I visit.

Les: You don't teach but you visit other inhabited planets, do you? (Yes) What might be the purpose of your visits, may I ask, if you do not teach?

I am what you would term, 'Caretaker' of Earth planets, not only this galaxy in this time, but much further than you'll ever know.

Les: Is that so—that's most interesting. And your travel from one to the other, it is solely by thought and virtually instantaneous, is it?

We don't travel between planets. There is one energy, which overlaps all energies from planets, which enables us to enter.

Les: Is that so—so distance as we imagine it, has no meaning at all to you?

Your time, your energies are nothing to us.

Les: You are beginning to make us feel very, very primitive.

My friends, you are like—let me find name, a whirlpool, you are at bottom! (Chuckles)

Les: Thank you very much! (Smiles) At least we know where we are!

You are in matter so dense, so heavy.

Les: Well this makes us even more grateful to you for taking the—I was going to say ‘time,’ it’s the only expression I can use, for taking the time and making the effort, to visit the bottom of the whirlpool.

You would need to speed up your speed of light 10 thousand fold, to even climb a little way.

Les: Yes, I can believe that. And are we, in doing the work we attempt to do now, are we treading the right path, in order to climb?

Within your time-scale, you can do nothing else, other than what you are doing with your limited knowledge.

Les: Good. So at least we are making a comprehensive effort, to better our knowledge of what is to come and of other planets and galaxies.

Your past century of Earth life, has seen many forms of communications with others from other dimensions, whether you know of it or not.

Les: No, we don’t know, we have recently begun to know of it, through our friend Salumet. Many have suspected it on this Earth, but there has been no specific definite knowledge, only assumptions so far. Our scientists have conflicting views about the beginnings of the universe, even now. So there is no certainty about anything.

On that I will not speak, I will leave our teacher to speak on that for you. I am only privileged this time, to come to communicate with you.

Les: Thank you. What was the specific object of your coming to us tonight, could I ask that?

The object of my visit here with you, is to show that closer communication is possible, without fear.

Les: Yes, thank you. I ask, because I don’t know whether you are aware of the fact that everything spoken here, is recorded and passed on, to many other people outside this room.

That is our intention. It should not be kept, it should be made known.

Les: Yes. Each of us, in our own way, relays this information that we get, to as many others as we possibly can, not only in this country, but in countries abroad.

My dear friends, we see the lights on your Earth.

Les: Yes, I’m sure you must do and of course, in meeting as we do here, we also are trying to improve our own spiritual awareness, of the world to come for us and the universe in general. We know it is going to take a long time.

I believe where you humankind are failing, is that you are developing your brain power, instead of mind power.

Les: This is what we are trying to do here, develop the mind power, which to us is synonymous with the soul and ignore to some degree, the commercialism of developing the brain.

That is what we are trying to bring. It is the work Salumet and other Masters are endeavouring to do.

Les: Yes, well I can’t say how grateful we are, for the privilege of having you here and Salumet, as a teacher also. We do really feel greatly honoured by it.

I can tell you, as time progresses, there will be much brought to you. He would not have made his appearance, unless that was to be so.

Les: Good. We look forward to others he will bring to speak to us. As well as looking forward to the information and knowledge that he himself will I’m sure be giving to us in the future.

Perhaps I can come another time, when I have better command of words and use of energies.

Les: Well we look forward to hearing from you again. One thing I would like to ask, because I feel it will be in my colleagues’ minds’ at the moment, or in their brains anyway. Where would you consider yourself as being based or living, if you do have any particular spot, which you would call ‘home,’ in the universe?

You will find this answer difficult to comprehend: I am a child of the Light, of the cosmos. I don’t have home base, as you say.

Les: And am I right then in assuming, that all languages are of equal comprehension to you, you would be fluent in any language, whatever planet you visited?

I am instructed on the languages of each, but I have to tell you, not all are as base as you.

Communication in other spheres is easier, because of mind contact—communications not with words.

Les: What we would call telepathic communication, between mind and mind.

Mind power—your Earth within your galaxy, only a baby, as far as your development goes.

Les: Yes, I'm beginning to understand and realise that.

You are tiny dot.

Les: Yes, we have always considered ourselves to be just a speck in the cosmos.

You are indeed that.

Les: But as long as we are now in the work that we are trying to do, beginning to fit ourselves for a better position within the cosmos, forgetting the physical life or material life, but at least we are beginning to look for the light which one day will come to us, we hope.

It will come to you, believe me. It will come.

Les: Thank you—and now we often talk here about the spirit world and beginning life anew, after physical death, in the next plane of existence. And we believe that to be as physical to the people who live there, as the Earth is physical to us who live here. Are we right in that opinion?

You my friend, have many realities to journey through.

Les: Yes, that is a better word. So the reality of this Earth is in effect repeated as a reality, when we enter the next phase of life.

There are many stages, each one becomes more of a reality than the previous ones, until you reach such levels, that the baser energies are left far behind you. The only reality becomes the one ahead of you.

Les: Yes I can understand that. And as we progress through the realities, and I like that phrase, thank you for it, as we progress through the realities, so the past which we leave is automatically shed from our minds, is that so.

That is good, you have captured my meaning. As you past through each stage of reality, you become more and more refined and that which you have known as a body or even a mind, ceases to be.

Les: Thank you, so we don't have to carry that past affliction with us, through each progress?

You are reaching to the very top, the very refined. Each step becomes more and more refined. You leave behind all earthly reality and so too Galactic reality, until you enter the Cosmic flow, then we begin to get somewhere.

Les: I see and TIME as a conception then, would cease to exist. We cannot possibly imagine time as we know it, being applied to the progress, through the realities.

It would be unsatisfactory to you all, to try to even explain it to you, because you are too far behind that reality, to even begin to understand.

Les: We are beginning to have a very low opinion of ourselves, you know. (Laughter)

No my friend, don't. Salumet is appearing, saying: 'Do not allow him to say such a thing.'

Les: But I think so from what you tell us, we obviously are right at the bottom of the pile (smiles) and have such a tremendous amount to learn, not that we are going to give up the attempt to learn, please don't misunderstand me. But at the same time, we are aware of our limitations and all of us now, after what you have said, will be making greater efforts, to become aware of those limitations and so enhance our progress.

I would say to you, develop your minds. That is my message to you.

Les: That is certainly what we shall endeavour to do. Now, one thing I would like to touch upon, I don't know if you are aware of our medium we call television—I have no doubt that you are aware of it. In that media often are shown what are called galactic wars, or star wars. The whole emphasis seems to be on destruction and alien forces waiting to battle with each other. Why is it that humanity cannot be made to begin this media advertisement of space, to have it shown in a much more sensible light and peace-making rather than war mongering?

That's because my friend, you are primitive people. Your brain overrules your hearts. We have been trying for many, many years of your time to change such things, but you ultimately have your own primitive brains, which you have allowed to become contaminated.

Les: True. Well I seem to have monopolised the conversation from this side. Are you able to accept a question from my colleagues?

It is becoming difficult, so I would say farewell to you all and perhaps you can see if someone else can communicate.

Les: Thank you. I'm going to use an expression, the only one I can think of, which would convey what I feel, maybe my colleagues do too, we do thank you most sincerely for what you have said, and personally and I think you would understand this, I feel cleansed.

(There was a very brief reply to this, but unclear on tape)

There then followed another short one through Eileen, to lighten things and close the evening. She relayed a message about the child known as Ashlea. Les then asked her if she could finish with a closing prayer, which she was happy to do:

*'Oh great and divine saviour of love,
Let us go forward with our daily tasks.
Keep us protected in your love and your light.
Let us feel your presence as we go about our daily duties.
May each and every person within this room,
Be blessed with your love.
God bless you all.'*

~20th March 1995~

Good evening my friends.

Les: Good evening.

Much has been going on since we last met.

Les: Yes it has. I know it has on our side, but did you mean on your side?

Remember always it is a joint effort. (Yes—)

Let me begin with just a few words this time please.

(Yes—) I have been aware of your many thoughts, your many questions, all of you. I want to say to you all, as I have done previously: I cannot live your lives for you; I cannot change your lives for you; I can only influence and try to guide you. That does not mean your thoughts and your desires are thrown to one side. I know there are among you some who have doubts—and I don't mean that unkindly, you understand?

Les: No, we accept it as a statement of fact.

I will do all I can to help you all, you realise this?

Les: Yes I'm sure we do.

And I know you will understand that the reply to your questions and your thoughts, will not always be what you want.

Les: No, we understand that too.

Therefore, let me say to you: I gather all of you within my thoughts, within the help and the boundary, with which I am able to give to you. I hear your cries for guidance, your cry for wisdom, your cry for many things—and let me say, all of those thoughts are here.

Les: Thank you. You take them to your heart—

I want to speak to the lady at the end.

Les: Right—Dawn? (Yes)

Within her group of acquaintances, she is in contact with an elderly lady.

Les: Is that so Dawn? Answer please, keep the voice contact going.

Dawn: Yes it is.

I want you to be a little more attentive to this lady. She is not forthcoming with her speech, but she is in need of some comfort and you my dear, can supply it. Just listen to her. Look behind the words that she speaks to you, because you see, there is a lonely soul, you understand who I am speaking about?

Les: Yes I think so

Yes you do. Send forth your thoughts of love to this one, she is in much need. Although the front that she presents to the world is an entirely different one, you would agree? (Yes) Yes. That is all I have to say this time.

Dawn: Thank you.

I want to say this time that there are many who would like to use your instruments; and so I am prepared to devote some time to this, because the more aware each instrument becomes, the more we can bring you.

Les: Thank you.

So I would say, is there any questions before I leave you for this time?

Les: I will ask in just a moment, but before I do, I would like to thank you on behalf of all of us, for your colleague who came to speak at our last meeting. It was most interesting and we are grateful to you for having brought him to us.

I am pleased that you found it to be so.

Les: We did indeed and we hope that he will be able to return one day, to speak again.

I wish you could see the many who wish to come and perhaps you would realise the difficulties therein. There are many to come my friend; many, many, many interesting peoples. But knowing him, I do not doubt that he will return to you.

Les: Good. We are glad to know that, but of course we also do accept that whoever you bring, will be of benefit to us and so whoever it is, we shall welcome them and be glad to hear them speak.

I can say to you, I will bring only those of an informative nature. I trust you will find it so, indeed I know you will.

Les: Oh I'm sure we shall, thank you very, very much again. Now, any questions for Salumet?

Always I am surprised! So many questions when I am not here and when the opportunity comes, silence.

(Smiles)

George: Well, I do have one. I'm continuing to write my book and I'm about half way now and I quite often feel I'm having some help with it and I feel there are perhaps spirits not far away. Ideas come and go and I don't think it's all me. Would you like to say something about whether there are spirits not far away during our consciousness, as opposed to in our dreams?

I believe we have touched upon this subject a few times. Let me say you are all guided by many—there is no ONE guidance around you—all of you have more than one helper. We have spoken before on many things, about your scientists, about your writers, about your musicians. All are inspired from our side of life. I said to you previously, continue with your writing and you would be helped. Of course by that I meant you would be inspired, at the correct time. I am not saying all your thoughts are inspirational ones, but at certain times, when your awareness is heightened, then of course we come close to you. So your assumptions are correct.

George: It's very reassuring and I'd like to say thank you.

I do urge you to continue with your task.

George: Thank you.

Les: Thank you. Any more questions? (Pause) I have just one short one. You asked us some time ago, to give time to one of our sitters, a gentleman. I'm sure you are aware we have been doing that with very good results and we were asked that he should be sitting next to you at this meeting. This has been arranged.

Let me say to you, you may find that this evening will tell you why that was to be.

Les: Thank you very much again. God bless you, our love goes with you.

Please to lower your light for those to come.

Les: Yes certainly.

We then sat in silence for a time, before one came through who needed some assistance from Les, in realising that they no longer needed to hold on to the pain, now that they were no longer on the physical Earth plane.

One then began through Sue:

—I come to say that while instrument is being used, then instrument is experiencing some extraordinary feelings. This is to show the difference between the physical and the spiritual being. The instrument is of course human form, yes. I have to tell you that I am not of the human form, as you know it.

Les: You are not of the human form as we know it?

No, can you understand?

Les: Yes I can. Does that mean that you normally inhabit another planet?

If that is an easy explanation.

Les: And have you ever lived upon this planet?

Not this time, no—not this time, but in what you would call the future, I will walk your lands. But that is not for some time yet.

Les: I see. You will walk upon this Earth at a distant time in the future.

That is the future plan, yes. But it will depend on whether your planet improves and becomes less hostile place.

Les: Yes I understand. So am I right in saying that you're what is known on this primitive Earth, as an alien being, from another planet?

Yes, but that word brings to mind in your minds, little green creatures. I am neither little, nor am I green—(Laughter)

Les: I do hope I have not offended you, but in our minds, no such things exist.

No, that's right. It would take longer than I can afford here to explain my appearance, but as you are aware, after the physical appearance, becomes THOUGHT only, yes you understand me? (Yes) Therefore I can say I have no real physical attributes, you understand me?

Les: I do understand.

My words are being given to me by another. Therefore the words I use are not easily recognised by me. You understand?

Les: Yes I do indeed and I appreciate the effort that it must be causing you, in order to communicate with us; primitive beings that we are.

That is your word, I would not be so unkind. I say not primitive, but unworldly, yes you understand me?

Les: Yes. But we do consider ourselves to be primitive, in many respects. We have so much to learn.

Yes, but it all takes time—not one lifetime, but a whole universe of lifetimes.

Now instrument needs rest from my words and personality—yes is that right, 'personality'—needs to return to herself, yes. I leave with many, many thoughts of L-O-V-E for future and trust and hope for this planet in time. Farewell, farewell to you all.

Les: We do thank you for your visit. There is much of course we cannot understand, but we are very grateful to you for what you have explained and for your interest in our Earth. We can only hope that the future will be much less hostile for your intended visits—so that you will be able to come. We would like to see you tomorrow—that is how we feel about these things. In the meantime our love goes with you and we say God bless you all.

One more thing: This one here, tell her much to come from this one here.

Les: Much to be done with her, good. I'm very glad she's come back to us.

I leave you now.

Les: Thank you very, very much. Goodbye.

There then followed some fairly short 'rescues,' followed by a visit from one called 'Fayre' through Sue, who Les recognised from a previous meeting. She came partly to show how she had learned to speak English fluently now and partly to welcome someone back to the group, who had been absent.

~28th March 1995~

Good evening my friends.

Les: Good evening once more.

I am happy to be with you once again. My joining with the instrument this time is not easy, because she is a little physically and mentally tired. She of course, presents a face to the world that all is well, but she must recognise that sometimes she needs to rest a little more. I will work with her this evening, when we have spoken. So because of this I will bring at the end of this meeting, others to speak with you. It will not be rescues this time, but people who will be of interest to you.

Les: Good. Thank you very much indeed and I am very grateful to you for taking care of your instrument in this way.

I have said I will look after you all and I will do this. So when I need to stop I will let you continue and I will do what I can. This time I would like to speak to you on some matters that are often spoken upon in your world, but which are in fact not quite true. There are some myths about the work that your groups do. For example, we here many times your groups say, we must have one man one lady, one man one lady. You are aware of this?

Les: Yes and I've ignored it, because I didn't think it was necessary.

You are correct in your thinking. Let me speak a little on this matter. The misconceptions lie, when we speak about the energies. These people think male energy, female energy, as if each are an individualised thing. Let me tell you, male and female energy is within you all, you understand?

Les: Yes, you have touched on this earlier.

Yes, you all possess these many energies within you. It is nothing to do with your gender. You see, these people are fooling themselves about these matters.

Les: Yes, unfortunately there are many who do that and still adhere to those misconceptions.

Yes. I know that you do not, but I think you should know that it is wrong, in any case.

Les: Yes, it adds weight to our arguments, if ever they do develop into arguments, about procedures at groups.

Yes, it is good that all of you, who will one day go in their own direction, should remember these things.

Les: Of course, it is very important, to avoid falling into the same trap of misconception.

Of course. Are there questions upon matters of his subject that anyone would wish to discuss with me? Or shall I continue?

Les: Please continue, unless there are questions, are there?

Mark: Could I ask about what the real difference is between male and female energy?

You are speaking as human beings?

Mark: Yes.

There is no difference. I have just said, each person possesses male and female energy within them.

Mark: So it's in the same balance?

It should be. But in certain persons, this is not so. But that is another subject that perhaps we could go into another time.

Les: Yes, I have questions branching off onto that, but not this time.

We can devote more time to the subject.

Les: Yes, please continue then, if you will.

Of course. Let me speak on another matter, where there lies many misconceptions. Let me take the groups that feel they must hold their hands together. Of course, it is the same thing—they feel that their energies are linked. In very few cases, this does help, but on the whole, it is unnecessary, because you see, we do not draw the energy from your hands.

Les: I have never wanted that to happen, because I've always been of the opinion that it could be a distraction.

Yes, it is. You see, we draw the energies from the spiritual aspect of each sitter. So whether they be holding hands or not, really does not make the difference—I say this to you. Of course I would say to those groups who do this, if they feel better for it, if it helps them in their quietness and their meditation, then do it. But do not become obsessive about it. Do not bar anyone who feels it is not right, because then you see, they start to build negative energies themselves.

Les: Yes, I can understand that.

I wish you could all be more open in your pursuit of spiritual matters.

Les: Another peculiar thing I have come across in the past, in groups, is the placing of a glass of water, under each sitter's chair, on the rather to me, peculiar assumption, that it will condense power into that water and it can then be consumed afterwards.

I have to say there are a multitude of happenings, which are so unnecessary. Look to those people who have trodden your Earth planes. You do not see them practice these things, because it is so unnecessary. Take them as your examples, if you please. Try to approach these matters, only with an open heart and an open mind. That is all I would ask of you.

Les: So basically, we are following the correct requirements in the way we approach these meetings?

I have been happy with the way you have conducted yourself, over these many years. I have said to you, when I first approached you, that I have waited a long time to come and I would not have said those words, had they not been true.

Les: Thank you. I am pleased to know that we are following the right principals.

Let me say, too many of these groups, are too urgent in their needs, too urgent in their ego, too urgent in what they desire, rather than what should be the needs of the whole. You my friend, have stood back on many occasions and for this you will be rewarded. I don't wish the word 'reward,' to seem a huge thing in your eyes, but it is the only word I can find this time. And I want to say before I go, because this time must be short, because of the explanation given to you, I want to welcome back the young gentleman to the fold, shall I say.

Paul: Thank you.

Let me say this to him: This one is a seeker of Truth. He is a seeker of what is life all about. He will find in his own time, his own answer. He is not so easily convinced, are you my friend? But let me say, there is much more travel ahead of you; not only in your physical person, but in your consciousness. There are many, many roads for you to travel, you understand what I am telling you?

Paul: Yes—umm.

You will never find all of the truth, all of the reasons for life as you would wish to know it. But along your life's journey, you will discover much. And that, my young friend, is no mean matter. There are many within many lifetimes, who discover very little.

Paul: So I'm not going to be like a tree and put down roots, I'm going to be on the move—

I did not say that. I said you would travel far and wide. But yes, you will one day find your roots, you will be stable in your life, but you will travel many, many roads.

Paul: Right. I'll have to find what the next road is.

Your future my young friend, is 'rosy.' I don't often say that to many people, but to you, I can say these words.

Les: That's nice for you Paul.

Paul: Yeah, Thanks. That's a nice word to use!

Now my friend, before I depart, I want you to take a little more care of yourself please. You must because there is much work still for you to do.

Les: Right. I thought I was taking reasonable care, not over-working.

Yes, but you must remember, you are not always the best judge of what is best for you.

Les: Quite. I accept your recommendation. And I shall do something about it.

Do what I have told you all previously. Listen to your bodies, listen to that quiet voice within you and you will not go far wrong.

Les: Thank you. I shall take heed of your comments. Thank you for them.

Now I will leave you this time, to continue. My love goes with you all, until we meet again next time.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. And our love goes with you. God Bless you.

There then followed one known as Moon Feather, through Sue; one of several Native American Indian speakers/friends, who had been before:

Come to say 'Moon Feather' come to look after brother.

Les: Thank you very much Moon Feather, I appreciate it. It's a long time since you visited us.

Will take care of my friend.

Les: Thank you. Yes, I do try to take care of myself, but I'm always grateful for any extra help.

Cannot stay here now—too difficult for Moon Feather, but brother know Moon Feather here to help him.

Les: Yes, I shall keep that in mind, thank you. And I'm sure I shall feel you nearer me. And I very much appreciate you coming to give me strength.

Then another followed through Sue:

Was that a happy reunion for you?

Les: It was a very happy reunion. It's a long time since I spoke with him and I'm very happy to know he's still with me.

These links always have a purpose. Now this time, we will not prolong speech. Our teacher is requiring energy for his instrument. I was to speak on subject, but have been advised that we will concentrate power as a healing time. I ask all friends here, to give love into the room, do you understand?

Les: Yes I do indeed and I'm sure we will.

Thank you—you will know when the evening will come to a close.

Les: Thank you. We shall sit quietly, while the healing goes on.

Please to lower the light.

Les: Yes, I will.

If we could all concentrate on Salumet's name please, it will assist him to help Eileen.

~3rd April 1995~

General greetings

My friends, I am happy to see so many of you gathered here once again.

Les: Yes unfortunately there are absentees which couldn't be helped.

I would ask you please, to lower light a little.

Les: Certainly.

Thank you. It is comfortable for you all this way? Because we lack some energies this time, it is more beneficial for communication.

Les: I follow thank you. Yes, any alteration you require at any time, please say. Of course our concern is that you should and all those from your world, be comfortable when you come here.

We are indeed grateful for all that you do to make us so welcome in your world.

Les: We can't know what an effort it must be, but we do appreciate your taking to trouble to visit us. So the least we can do is make conditions as favourable for you as possible.

Yes thank you. Before we continue this time, I want to tell you that next time, I will bring you another visitor.

Les: Good. Thank you, we look forward to that, because we know it will be very interesting again.

I hope it will be informative for you.

Les: I'm sure it will be, because everything has been so far.

I wish to say to you this time, that a few of you in the time since we last met, are a little depleted in their energies. I am sure some have felt this in their physical being.

Les: Has somebody felt depleted?

George: Yes I think I've probably been lacking in energy this last week.

Sara: I've had a throat problem, but that was two weeks ago really, I didn't come last week.

Mark: Yes I've been very tired, but I think that's been from work really.

Les: Yes you are quite right of course Salumet, you've heard the answers.

Yes I am grateful to them for the acknowledgement, but of course, whether they wish to say or not, I am aware. Let me say to you, at times in your physical lives, these happenings occur. It is not so much that it is a physical tiredness, but more of a spiritual tiredness.

Les: Is that so? And that is reflecting itself on the physical awareness, is it?

I have told you that the spiritual aspect of yourselves will reflect onto your physical beings. So I will reiterate to you, that those who are feeling depleted, must devote more of their time, to that quietness please. They will then feel that upliftment that is necessary for good health and growth.

Les: Thank you again for the advice.

Now I would like to speak on something common to you all. I speak upon judgement of others. You have many feelings, many thoughts on this matter. All of you are individuals in your thoughts. Let me speak to you on a wider scale. 'Judge not lest ye be judged.' Those are words, I believe you are familiar with.

Les: Yes we are.

Why do you think that you judge others? Can you answer me?

Les: I think possibly it is because of the domination of our physical reactions, rather than us looking into our spiritual reactions to any given circumstance.

Yes my friend, you are right. You judge mainly on your emotional feelings. The emotions are so strong within you humans, that sometimes it clouds your true spiritual judgement.

Les: Yes I would agree and I expect everybody would agree with that, because I'm sure it has happened with me in the past and I'm sure it has happened with everybody else, that having formed a judgement against somebody, for whatever reason, we almost invariably wish we had not done so and regret having done so. I think most people would agree with that, would you not? (Agreed)

There is no need to feel shame that you feel these things, but all I would say to you is, next time you wish to judge another, place yourself within their shoes. See if your judgement would be the same.

What you must do is look deeper, look deeper into each soul—look behind the veneer.

Les: I think it would be as well if we reintroduce the old saying which we all know: 'Count ten before you act.'

I think that would be very wise indeed. Look to your small children. Look to the forgiveness in those young hearts, watch them in play. They do not judge each other, they are much more accepting.

Les: That's true.

So I say to you all my friends, look first to your own failings, because in judging another, shows that within you, there lies that same failing. Can you understand that?

Les: Yes I think we all do. Does anybody have any query on that, or do you understand all that Salumet has said?

Paul: It's like the saying: 'The finger that points has three pointing back.'

George: Yes and observing the error in others, may help us to observe the same error in ourselves.

Those are wise words, yes I do not expect any of you to become like saints, as you would say. That would not be possible, whilst you inhabit these bodies. But to have the realisation, that is what is important, you understand?

Les: Yes. I think too that many people do not recognise the importance of the various phrases in the Lord's Prayer, with which we finish each meeting. That is: 'Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us.' Many people I am sure, say the prayer in a rhetorical way without thinking of the importance of the phrase, 'As we forgive those who trespass against us.' If we don't offer forgiveness, how can we expect forgiveness?

Of course—and what is forgiveness, if it is not love offered to your fellow man. It is simply put. I beg you all to think upon these words this time. And next time a situation arises, when you are aroused to judge others, step back, take a good look at yourself and then make your judgements.

Les: Yes, I'm sure we shall all do that, having heard what you have said on this occasion. Unfortunately we do succumb to the human emotions far too often. That is why I and I expect all my colleagues here, are grateful for the teaching we are receiving.

None of you are infallible, that is not expected. What I have come to try to make you aware of, is your own higher self, to look to that aspect of yourselves. Because in doing so, you become better people. I want you to express the 'innate love' that all of you possess, it is as simple as that.

Les: Can we acknowledge Salumet's talking to us, by all agreeing to that, everybody?

(Affirmed)

Paul: Yes, that's the way I want to go.

You will my son, don't be concerned upon that matter. You, as I have said previously, have far to go. There is a kindness about you that few possess.

Paul: Thank you. Sometimes I don't know what to do though, or where to go. It's difficult to make decisions.

I cannot make them for you, you must choose your own path. But we have said before, take those quiet times and you will be guided.

Paul: Yes, thank you.

Les: That does mean quiet Paul, away from all other distractions.

Paul: Yes.

Too much noise in your world today—too many people rushing through their lives, without ever becoming aware of that 'inner voice'. It saddens me so, that such a thing should be. But it has to be accepted and that is why we are gathering at this time, so that these conditions can be changed.

Les: Yes. I have found Paul, continuing that—I relax completely lying on my back in bed and arms straight down—I find I completely relax and that is the time, when I do feel upliftment, there is no question about it. Because there is no extraneous noise, no phone call, no likelihood of anybody coming, so the mind is clear of expectation of interruption. And that is an important thing to remember. Often the mind, the brain, is anticipating interruption, you follow me? (Yes) Will the phone ring, will so and so call, will this that and the other happen; well late at night it's unlikely that any of it is going to occur. So the mind is clear of expectation.

Paul: Right, yeah.

Les: As I say, I find that work's for me, you may find it too for you.

Paul: Up until now I've found that last thing at night, or first thing in the morning is the best time. Definitely I'll have to find more time for it, I keep putting it off.

Les: I know the feeling.

Always you will find other things, but you must become a little more disciplined, I think. Of course the ultimate would be that contact could be made amidst the hustle and bustle of everyday life. But unfortunately very few people are capable of such a thing.

Les: It is unfortunate, isn't it.

If you were skilled shall I say, in all matters spiritual, your physical ears would be closed to all that was around you. But we know that is difficult for most people. But it can be attained, if the desire is strong enough. That is why so often, you have to come to our side of life in your sleep state (Pause) to grow, because you do not have the ability whilst clothed in the body, you see?

Les: Yes I do.

Now I think we have spoken enough on that subject this time.

Les: Well thank you very, very much for all you have said, it's more enlightenment for us all I'm sure, it is for me. (Agreed)

I want to SEE you all, as the 'shining beacons', that I know you are. So with encouragement, I hope you will see yourselves also, in that way.

Les: What you say certainly does give us all encouragement and quite frankly, I think I speak for everybody on this, we would not know where to look, other than through your teaching. It is a great help to us all.

I am most humbled by your response. It makes my task all the more easy to bare.

Les: We would certainly miss you, if you didn't visit us now.

I will not be so easily rid of.

(Laughter)

Les: Good! We are really happy to know that.

I have waited a long time and I have no intention just yet, of severing this connection.

Les: Good. We all feel very privileged, that though we don't know the reason for which we are all gathered here—that is something we can never understand—we are nevertheless privileged that we do have the ability to meet here, as we do each week and to have you join us.

There are more to join us here, a little way into future. They will make themselves known, but not yet.

Les: Well we shall look forward to it Salumet, as we look forward to every meeting now.

I don't like to speak too much of what has been, but I will tell you, this is not the first time that all within this group have met together.

Les: Is that so?

There has been a meeting of hearts and minds before.

Les: In a previous existence?

Yes in past times, but this time, there has been a culmination of love, which has brought you all together and which has helped to bring me forth to you.

Les: That makes us very, very happy to know. And again, thank you for telling us.

Now, let me speak to you my friend, this time.

Les: To me?

Don't be surprised, yes to you. What has been this sadness within you?

Les: I really don't know.

Let me say to you: There is much still for you to achieve. You are not aware of these feelings in your waking state.

Les: No I must admit I'm not, it did rather surprise me.

Don't be surprised, because I will tell you, I have said to you before that you come to us to work.

Les: Yes you have.

Which you have done till now with a loving heart. But you have been feeling that the time has come for you to move on. I speak now, of your higher being. It has not filtered through to you physically and we cannot allow it to be so. Sometimes my friend, we cannot always have what we DESIRE. And you see, even in that higher state, there can be pain, there can be a grieving if you like, for things that cannot be, you understand?

Les: I do understand yes.

I have to say to you my friend, the work—and very good work it is indeed, must continue.

Les: I would accept that. I certainly would think of contradicting or arguing against it. If that is what's required, then yes I'm happy to continue.

If this feeling of dissatisfaction comes to you in your physical state, I say to you, brush it to one side, where it belongs. You cannot allow it to take hold.

Les: No, I promise I shan't. There have been disappointments I agree.

The disappointments of your Earthly life matter little, compared to what you are feeling now, within your spirit being. But I am there to support and encourage you; to tell you that the time will come, when you can take the step forward that you so much desire. You my friend, are wishing to follow one, who is already there, you understand?

Les: Yes I do.

But it cannot be, it cannot be just yet. Now let us speak on other matters. Does anyone wish to speak to me?

Les: Yes I would like to ask a question which follows some information given us at our other meeting last week. A question was asked of a communicator from your world, about what are known here as 'black holes,' in the universe. The information given us by our scientists, is that black holes contain a tremendous crushing pressure of gravity and that it would be impossible for anybody to survive within one. The answer we got was that they were merely 'gateways' from one universe to another and those with the knowledge, are able to go through them as and when necessary. Would that be a correct answer?

Let me speak to you on this matter. I would say to you that no one could survive within the pressure, your scientists are correct in that respect. But perhaps there has been a misunderstanding on the statements made. Of course, there would be a taking, a leaving of a physical body, on anything or anyone who should enter these black holes, as you call them. I prefer to say, it is an abundance of energy, in a particular spot. It is not a gateway to other planets or universes. I have said before, you do not travel between, there is a Cosmic energy which is within the whole of the cosmos. So you see, you are speaking of these energy fields as though it were a physical tunnel. That cannot be, it cannot be. I think what was meant by the words spoken, was that of course, the physical being would be left behind and the spirit would travel to its rightful home. You understand?

Les: Yes I do, that does clarify it somewhat for me.

You are tending to see it as a physical thing. You must go away from these thoughts, you must leave them behind. There are many energies, many mysteries upon your Earth, but remember, it is one spark in the great universe of life.

Les: True. So the scientists are right about there being excessive, undreamed of forces of gravity within those energy fields?

It is just so. They have it almost correct, but not quite, not quite. I believe I have heard said, that you can be encapsulated within these black holes. Not so, not so. We speak here again on many deep matters—matters I think you would find difficult to understand.

Les: I can imagine that.

But I don't say your communication was not correct. I think the interpretation was not quite correct.

Les: Thank you that does clarify it. I like to check these things, as you know, because it is important that we have the right information and not disseminate wrong theories or facts. So the excessive forces of energy, in what we call black holes, would be no bar to spiritual travelling, in any case?

Not at all, not at all—let me just speak for a moment on communication. I told you when first I came, to accept only what you felt was right. When we speak of communicators, of course there are many, and many who use many channels. They can only impart to you the knowledge which they have gained themselves. Too oft times I hear, 'Why does one contradict another?' You must move away from that thought. They are only giving what they know.

Les: They are honest within their own limitations?

Yes, yes. So never feel that the communicator is not quite truthful, that is wrong.

Les: No I have never thought that myself. But sometimes, like in the example we have just spoken of, it is as well to have confirmation.

Yes, there is nothing wrong in questioning what comes to you. I would say to you, always question, if you so desire.

Les: Well we have always through the years, tried to run our groups on that basis, of questioning if in doubt and honesty in all things, when possible.

It is necessary that when you are making contact, that there must be the highest integrity. I could not stay here otherwise.

Les: I was about to say, I doubt if you would be here, if we hadn't followed those paths.

But perhaps it explains to you, why sometimes there would seem to be apparent contradictions, from other sources, when in fact they are not contradictions at all. There is much knowledge to be learned, to be gained by all communication.

Les: Thank you very, very much for that. I'm sure everybody has been most interested in hearing it. Are there any other questions for Salumet at this meeting?

George: Can I just add one more thing to the black hole question? The other thing that our scientists tell us, is that light does not escape from a black hole. This has always suggested to me that space itself is drawn into a black hole, at the speed of light and this would sort of explain that.

When you speak of light, you are speaking of a different energy, than that which is contained within what you term your black holes. It is a different energy completely. We have spoken a little previously about the speed of light and what happens, have we not?

George: Yes.

Yes. All of space surrounding your Earth, you could probably term a black hole, on the immediate rim of your Earth. But it is not, for the simple reason that within those energies, there lies the energy of light, which makes a difference, can you see? Can you understand?

George: I see yes.

It changes the whole form of the energies. We have to speak sometime I think, on this matter of differing energy. It is a very complicated subject for you to understand, but I will attempt to do it for you.

George/Les: Thank you very much.

That is why I have said to you in the past, that your space travellers have much knowledge that has been kept under wraps. Their knowledge is much more extended, fuller, than has been permitted to the ordinary people.

Les: It's annoying to think that it has been kept under wraps.

I will come back one time, to speak on energies I think.

Les: Thank you, because at the moment our minds stop positively, at the speed of light. We cannot imagine anything beyond that.

Yes. That is why it is difficult to explain. What you cannot comprehend, is that there is so much more that is not available to you, but of course is there—it is there. And although your scientists work hard, to try to explain many of these things, their knowledge is too limited, too limited.

Les: Yes, because they have limitations also, don't they? So they cannot explain beyond.

Their perspective is limited. They can only look so far. I wish I could take you all with me, on a 'Cosmic TRAVEL!'

(Reactions of awe + delight)

Les: You wouldn't have to ask us twice, I can tell you that! (Laughter)

Perhaps one day yes, but now I fear that is not so.

Les: It's a wonderful thought.

Perhaps it could be an exercise for you all: Try to picture the universe, the cosmos. And I'm sure if I asked you individually, each one would have a different perspective of it. But nevertheless, you are children of that very cosmos. You are children of light and love.

Les: Yes we must all try and recognise it more. I think that's one of our difficulties.

I think this time, it is becoming a little difficult to stay. So I say to you all my friends: Love be with you all, in all that you do.

Les: Thank you. Our love be with you too.

I will not speak to you next time, but I will be with your visitor, with help and encouragement.

Les: Thank you very much for that. We hope the week goes quickly. We already look forward to it.

My friend, you cannot wish your life away so easily.

Les: No, we mustn't do things like that I know. Each week has many things to be done within it. God bless you and thank you from us all.

Until we meet again, I will say goodbye.

All: Goodbye.

A cheerful one then came through Eileen, for just a short while to lighten the atmosphere before closing the meeting.

~10th April 1995~

Salumet mentioned last week, that he would not be speaking this time, but arranged for a guest to speak: Good evening. I am instructed to tell you, adjustments are being made. So can you for a little time speak quietly and then we will make ourselves known to you. We hope it will not be too long to wait.

Les: That doesn't matter, we are quite happy to wait for you. We are sorry that we are not the usual number of people here tonight. Unfortunate circumstances have prevented them coming.

These things happen, but we need to make adjustments necessary for this happening.

Les: Thank you. I thought perhaps that this was why you need the time. So we will wait until you call us.

It will be made known to you when we are ready.

Les: Thank you very much.

There was quiet conversation for about 10 minutes, before our guest arrived. Unfortunately, conditions were not comfortable for her and it was decided that she would withdraw and return another time. She gave a few instructions about seating preferences to help her feel more comfortable next time. There then followed a cheerful soul with a sweet voice, through Eileen, who described herself as 'filling in,' while another speaker was being prepared. Another then followed also through Eileen, who talked about the trees and his work with them in spirit realm:

Les: How do you tend the trees?

I love them, first and foremost, can you imagine what that is?

Les: I can and I can imagine them responding to it and flourishing because of it.

Yes, it's a living thing you see and sometimes I bring the water to the trees, even though it's not needed like the trees here, they don't need water to sustain them, but like the people, sometimes we dip ourselves in the water of life and so the trees respond as well. You should see them once they've had the water, it's a joy to behold.

Les: How do they react to the water?

Oh, it's like a light bulb lighting up. The trees are much brighter anyway, but when they are touched by this, 'Water of life,' as I call it, it's just the difference from a dark light bulb to a bright one. It's beautiful.

Les: And the water is actually absorbed into the soil around them, is it?

Well it kind of just disappears, that's the only way I can describe it to you. I'm not a technical chap, I can't explain it to you, I can only tell you how it appears. What you have to understand son, is the water and the tree become one. They are not separate things. It's not an easy thing to explain.

Les: So you pour the water onto the earth around it, do you?

No, no, it's not like treating trees in your land, it's different. The tree just seems to absorb what I bring to it.

Les: Yes, it absorbs it through the air.

Yes, it's not 'air,' as you know, but that's as near as you'll get I think.

Les: And the tree is aware of you bringing that energy to it?

Of course yes, it knows, yes.

Les: And do you ever find that the tree is in need of that energy? Is that why you bring the water?

I have to say I've never come across one that NEEDS it; this is something a little special for the tree, just sometimes I bring this 'water of life,' to it. It's not because it needs it, because you see, they don't DIE. This is something that is done in love.

Les: Yes and it's an expression of your love for the tree.

Yes, it's like me giving you a gift I suppose. It's the only comparison I can make I think.

Les: Yes, that's quite clear. And this 'water of life,' is that flowing in special places, or is there a lot of water around?

There are many places, but the 'water of life'. I use, is in what you would call a special place, with a special waterfall, which is continually flowing.

Les: I see. So you do have different types of water there then? That would be a special energy I imagine, the 'water of life'?

Yes

Les: And others?

It is basically all the same energy I think, but we have pools, seas, rivers, which people enter.

Les: And they are dry when they come out?

Yes, it's all different from what you know, no need to dry, no, it's not that kind of sea or river.

Les: By immersing themselves, they can absorb the energy, just as the tree absorbs it?

Yes, yes, same thing. It's beautiful.

Les: And I was told once, that there are special gardens, where the water is in a conical shape, because it takes up less space than if it were flat, in these particular gardens and with the point of the cone downwards, the water revolving around, in many colours and playing many different tunes.

Yes, this is something else you see. When you think of water, you think of this grey dull water—water, it's the only name I can give it, I think son, because there is no comparison here; it is full of colour, full of noise—beautiful music, beautiful colours. Yes you are right, there are many different shapes. There are gardens where it is in the form of a whirlpool, there are conical shapes you have mentioned, there are the waterfalls you can stand under. There are many shapes, many shapes; it is something to behold I tell you.

Les: And I believe there are people in the higher realms, whose duty it is to take care of such things? To take care of the water, as you take care of the trees?

I couldn't tell you that son, I don't know about that, I just know it's there.

Les: Do you ever have anybody overseeing your work, or are you left to do it alone?

There are people around me, but I work on my own.

Les: You don't have people coming to see that you are doing it properly?

I know what you mean. I was guided to this work at the beginning, so if you want to say that I have an overseer, well yes I suppose I have had that happen, but if you mean does someone come and say, 'Don't do that, do this,' then no.

Les: No, so it's all based on love for your job?

That is why I was entitled to do it.

Les: What a change from this Earth, isn't it?

Yes, anyway sir, I think you've made me rather serious. I think before we leave you, there is one more to communicate and I think this other person is going to speak, as far as I know. But now I'm being told, my time is up too.

Les: Thank you very much and we do appreciate what you have told us. And we have thoroughly enjoyed having your visit.

Well, thank you son and I appreciate it too and I hope I didn't offend anybody.

Les: Good heavens no, you should feel our love coming to you, I hope you do.

Yes, I hope you all know, you're well looked after. And now I really must go.

Les: Well thank you for guarding the trees and God bless you.

Finally one came through Sue, with a brief message before closing the meeting:

Two words which will mean much to you: First word 'LOVE', second word 'SALUMET'. Now, please close with prayer.

~17th April 1995~

Good evening.

Les: We do appreciate you coming, when there are only such a small number here.

Thank you for your welcome once again. I have to tell you numbers make no difference to my coming, but it does alter things for the visitors who I wish to bring to you. Therefore for those reasons, we will leave the coming of the visitor, we will wait till there are more within the room.

Les: Thank you, there should be at our next meeting. This happens to be a holiday in our world and of course they have to take advantage of it, for the sake of their children and relatives, to get together.

Do not be concerned, we are aware of these happenings. But you know that we are affected sometimes, by the lack of 'people power,' I will call it.

Les: Yes, I quite understand.

Yes, you see I have developed communication skills if you like, which makes it far easier for me.

Les: Yes, it is certainly far easier now, than when we you began, isn't it.

Yes, of course. So I apologise to you here, but I do promise you your visitor will return as soon as it is possible. I will tell you in advance as usual. I am so sorry you have been put to unnecessary trouble.

Les: It's no trouble at all Salumet, absolutely not.

I know it takes your time and for that gesture I thank you.

Les: We love having you anyway.

Paul: You couldn't keep us away.

Les: And we appreciate you coming—you heard that comment?

I do and I am humbled. Thank you all. The pleasure is mine, I believe you say.

Les: That's right, but it is ours too. It is the highlight of our week, this meeting. (Enthusiastic agreement)

I have been listening to you. There is one who wonders where his pathway lies, this time. Let me say to the young gentleman, the knowledge will come. He is still young in earthly years. He has much to learn and perhaps a little patience also. The knowledge will come to you. Try not to dwell too much on what your spiritual pathway must be.

Paul: Just get on with what's in front of me now?

Yes, that is what I say to you. Give thanks all of you, for your very being. The very fact of your being here, is enough to give thanks to that Great Divine Being of Love. You should offer yourself for that which has been placed in front of you. In that way you will develop what is necessary for your life, whilst on this Earth.

Les: Quite, I think we could all say positively that we do, do that now willingly. Starting with myself, I say so quite emphatically and if each would like to answer individually, they are at liberty to do so now.

Paul: Well I always try and begin a meditation with offering myself.

Yes good, but I have received your thoughts of, 'where is my pathway leading me?' Yes, I have been aware of your thoughts. So be still, listen and go forward.

Paul: I wonder whether to—well, it's silly really—when the right thing comes I will know I'm sure.

Yes, you are a little harsh on yourself. I have to tell you all, all of you are a little hard on yourselves at times.

Paul: We like to know everything at once, I think.

Yes, this is why I say, you need to learn a little patience. It is a much-used word in your world, but it is a word that means so much, if only you can truly understand its true meaning.

Les: Yes, I would agree with you there, it does take time. It took me a long time to learn the full meaning of patience.

May I say my good friend, you are still in the learning process.

Les: I'm sure I am, yes.

It is not something that is successful shall we say, in one lifetime.

Les: No, because as one learns more, one wants to learn still more and even so, the need for patience becomes predominate again.

Yes, it is a shadow which continually follows you. It is that part of yourself, which is always hovering behind, you see? But provided it is kept where it belongs, then you can move forward with greater understanding for all things.

Les: Yes I absolutely agree.

Before we continue, I would say to you my friend, have you not been aware of someone's presence around you?

Les: I have yes.

Sara: I have I think. At times I've looked and wondered if there is someone in my room.

Yes, I will come to you in a moment. I wish to speak here firstly. (Referring to Les) You have felt the presence of someone around?

Les: Yes I have indeed.

I speak of recent times. You are a little hesitant I would suggest, in accepting fully what they are trying to communicate to you.

Les: Yes I must say I haven't actually been aware of any actual communication, I've just been aware of a presence.

Can I say to you then, when the presence is felt, if at all possible, and I am aware that it is not always suitable, will you please enter this room and allow that presence to communicate with you?

Les: Yes certainly, I shall be pleased to.

If need be, I would suggest that you turn on your machine, your speaking machine, yes?

Les: Yes I understand.

And sit quietly, so the communication can take place.

Les: Yes, and will that communication come out on the machine?

It should do. We will work upon it for you.

Les: Thank you very much, I shall certainly do that.

It will be good evidence for you.

Les: It will be for all of us. Yes I promise to do that. I felt it twice and it was so strong that I spoke to my lady Ruth, thinking it was she who was with me.

No, I can say no—no it is not she, but I understand why you would feel it to be so.

Les: Yes, it was so strong.

This will be communication concerning the work you are doing here. If it is not suitable, of course we understand and adjustments will be made.

Les: Thank you, but I will leave the machine ready at all times.

I thank you. It is good to be amongst those who are willing and loving, in support of the work and communication we are trying to achieve.

Les: Good, I look forward to doing that.

God bless you, in all you do.

Les: Thank you.

Now let me come to this little lady. This gentle soul, let me speak to you. You also have been aware, yes?

Sara: Yes. A few times I have looked to my right and to my left, thinking there is someone in the room.

Yes you are right, your sensitivity is increasing. You are a very sensitive, feeling young lady, let me say that to you. Do not look for whoever is with you—just be still, send out your thoughts of love and greetings and you will find it becomes so much stronger. But do not turn, do not suddenly try to find—send out your loving thoughts, in love and welcome and you will become aware, I don't say soon, because these things take time.

Sara: Thank you.

There is one with you, who is indeed a beautiful soul. She will make herself known to you, do not doubt it, but we come back to that word again called PATIENCE. There is so much happening, so much going on, that at times, you must be wondering where is it all leading to. These thoughts I am aware of. I have said to you all, there is much to be done, much to come, much for you to be aware of. Which one of you has thought that the sound of the birds singing and yet there are no birds? Yes, the gentleman across from me, Mark.

Mark: In the night I did, when it was dark.

You see, I know what all of you are experiencing.

Les: You have heard them have you Mark?

Mark: I have yes very fleetingly, that it was dark, but the birds were singing and I was surprised.

Do not be surprised, any of you. I said I would be close to you all. Remember this, that all of these happenings—and I am aware that it does create doubts within your minds—remember it is my way of showing you all, of how close I am to you. I hope you will accept it in the way it is given, in loving help.

Les: I'm sure we all do thank you.

Sara: Yes thank you, we are very grateful.

Paul: I wish we could do something for you.

(Gentle laughter)

Well my dear friend, perhaps I will remember your words. You DO give me so much, if only you knew, if only you could see how much is being given to me, by the very fact of my being here with you all and the love and support that I feel from each and every one of you. It makes my task so much easier. For this I am indebted to you all. Without your love, this task for me would not be possible. So you see, although you are happy for me to be here amongst you, let me tell you that it is you who give so much to me. For that I am eternally grateful.

I think this time, if you would like to ask some questions, I will be happy to answer you.

Les: Yes I have one I wish to ask please. You may be well aware that at our other meetings during the week, we have been asked if we would allow the particular medium or instrument to be used, in the way you are used, for further information from those higher beings and those from other planets. I have said yes, because we would be delighted to assist the work in that way. We were also asked not to refer to such beings as 'aliens,' because they objected to the term. I can understand this and I fully appreciate their feelings. We at the moment, suggest that we should call them our, 'alternative friends,' so as to distinguish them from such as your good self. I would like to know if they would prefer to be known in any other way, or by any other name?

I see. This would indeed be correct to address them by their name. After all, you would not call a stranger from another country an alien. So to some I would say, it is offensive, but to the majority of our 'Cosmic friends' I would prefer to call them, because after all, it is such a vast expanse. Your universe is one of many. To the majority it offers no offence, because they understand that your earthly understanding is much below their own. It is rather like seeing a small child and the wrong words that they use. You have compassion and understanding, do you not?

Les: We do and I'm grateful for our cosmic friends for feeling that.

Yes, but I must say to some, it does cause offence.

Les: And we apologise for that now please. We do not wish in any way to cause offence and in future they will be known to us, as our cosmic friends.

I would suggest may I?

Les: Please.

I would suggest that at the beginning of any communication you may have with our friends that you indeed ask them what they would be prepared to accept, in the way of names. Because I have said that to the majority, it matters not. So it would be up to you, to discover which peoples are finding it offensive.

Les: It is a very good idea Salumet and I will do that at the next opportunity.

Let me say a little bit about these friends. Most are loving beings, who far outweigh in intelligence and in love and self-awareness. I have said before that you here on this Earth, are rather dense in matter and knowledge. So you see, they show you only understanding. They do not wish to come to you, full of misunderstanding and aggravation. They want to show themselves as the beings of love and light that they are.

Les: That is why we want only to offer then courtesy for their attention here.

What you must always remember, each and every one of you, we all developed from that divine spark. We may differ in our outer garments, but inwardly we all are the same. This is what you must remember, all of you. Why do you have so many prejudices within your world? It is FEAR—it is fear which causes these things, I have spoken to you before on that subject.

Les: Yes you have.

It is why you have such things as your racism, because peoples look different to you, which creates the fear within. It is a lack of love and knowledge and understanding, that the spirit that all of you are, comes from the one source. Remember your Earth, is just one tiny planet within the universe, within the Galaxies and within the whole of the cosmos. So accept those who come to you in love. Allow them to give you the communication they wish to offer. Accept it and accept their friendship. So I say to you my friend, speak with them, get to know how they feel and then decide upon your name.

Les: Thank you. Yes I appreciate your advice and I will do that. One of them at our last Wednesday meeting, when he said he worked on various planets, I say 'he,' I don't know the term, I asked how many and he said 32. When I said, how did he appear to them and did he take on the semblance of those he was visiting, he smiled and said he was amused at our constant desire to put everything in human terms. He said you will not understand this, but I am energy, I have no body.

Let me say, you move away from gender, when you reach a particular state, you become one mass of energy. We have spoken slightly on the male and female energy, within the one unit, yes?

Les: We have indeed.

When you reach the state, the form of being without gender, it becomes easy to form yourself within either gender, when it becomes necessary. These are matters which you may find a little odd or strange, but my friend, this happens. So probably what I will say, 'him,' because that is the term you have used — when 'he' visits other planets, you say he takes the form that they possess, yes?

Les: I follow.

This is possible, but only when that state has been reached.

Les: So 'he' must have reached the stage of extremely high development then?

You speak of development as you know it. Let me say to you, this is a difficult subject, for you human beings to understand, because in the state of the cosmos, you my friends, are very low down on the scale. So you see, there are beings who always have been formless, if you like, who have not possessed these human forms. It means not necessarily that they have risen greatly, but shall we say their starting point is different.

Les: I see, their starting point is different and much higher spiritually than ours?

Yes, yes you understand.

Les: Well I feel even more privileged that he should have returned to us.

Yes, when first I came to you, I said many, many were gathering. This means not only within your Earth, but in many planets. Do not think that yours is the only planet which is in need of help, because I can tell you, that is not so.

Les: Presumably many of these planets have not been visible to our astronomers and will not be, because of their distance.

They will never be known, because even with extended knowledge, even when you leave these physical overcoats behind, you will not be aware of much that is there.

Les: No, I can accept that too, because it's merely another small step in our learning.

Yes, it is too vast to explain to you, for your understanding, for your general understanding, it is too great.

Les: Yes, our scientists use the term nowadays of an expanding universe, but it is quite obvious from what you say, that even they have no conception at all, of the extent of the universe.

The expanding universe, it is an expression which brings a smile to my so called 'face.' It is energy expanding. Yes, they see so much, but know so little.

Les: Yes, I was hearing on our radio news this morning, that scientists have now discovered, in space or the ether, the amino acids which create life. And they are getting all excited about it.

Are they indeed. (Laughter) I say no more. (More laughter)

Les: I think that is the most stunning expression you could have used.

George: They seem to be ignoring the most vital part of life.

Les: Quite, again, the amino acids are the physical life and they are missing the spiritual interpretation

George: They have found a thread of an overcoat.

I think this gentleman has said, they have touched upon a thread. How many treads are within a tapestry? The tapestry of life is deeply woven.

Les: Yes I have used that simile quite often, saying that we have are merely making one thread of it, or part of one thread, in the work we do here.

Can I say to you, your Earth would be one thread within one piece of twine.

Les: Is that so. Really insignificant aren't we? But we are not in the overall plan.

Please I don't like the term, you are ALL insignificant. We are ALL part of the divine plan and each particle belongs together. ALL of you are necessary.

Les: I remember us being told long ago, I quote part of it: 'Individuality is important, only when it ceases to be important to the individual, which is a paradox, but very true.

It is not important when you reach that stage of knowledge. You leave behind much when you reach that state of awareness, of awareness of who and what you belong to.

Les: Yes, so therefore the individuality would cease to have any importance—

The individuality is important, whilst you wear these overcoat, but once you free yourself from it, then you have the wider scope of knowledge before you, where much can be achieved and much can be learned.

Voice fades to a whisper, spoken with great feeling:

I feel all as beacons of light, within very, very dark clouds. All of you are units of Love, which attract to you all the negativity of earthly life, which can be broken up to create even greater light.

Les: Thank you for that.

Mark: Do you have any advice on breaking up the negativity when it comes?

I say to you, use your expressions of love—that is all that is necessary.

Les: Thank you.

I leave you all this time, with love which will sustain you, until we meet again.

Les: And our love goes with you and ask God's blessing on you and thank you again for all you have told us tonight.

Paul: Another beautiful evening.

Until next time, may you go in peace.

Les: Thank you Salumet.

There then followed a delightful happy lady called Hester, who filled the room with wonderful laughter, helping to lighten things before we closed. Les had at first thought this one might be a 'rescue.' Here is the link if you want to listen. (6 minutes long)

~1st May 1995~

This evening Leslie's daughter Madeleine was visiting from Canada:

Good evening.

Les: Good evening again.

I thank you for your welcome.

Les: We missed you when the lady was away last time.

You know that no matter whether she be present or not, I always am around you.

Les: Yes we knew that last time actually and as I have said before, we are very grateful for the knowledge. I have no doubt you are aware of what happened at the last meeting.

All happenings are for a purpose, (of) this you are aware. There is much to be done and we will endeavour to use what energies are available to us.

Les: Yes we understand. It's unfortunate that the instrument that last week was being prepared, is herself ill this time and so can't be here, to her great disappointment.

We will do what we can for her. I have to say her energies are much depleted, but we hope to rectify this in time to come.

Les: That's very kind of you, thank you.

The very fact of her returning shows you that always we are at work.

Les: Quite, I never doubt that for a minute, it never ceases your work, I know—we've had too many examples of that over the years ever to doubt it.

I want to say to you this time, there is disharmony around and I ask all of you to focus your thoughts on those energies. Do you know of what I speak?

(Yes—) I ask that all of you now, just for a few seconds of your time, to focus your love energies, can you do this please?

Les: Yes we certainly will.

You see my friends, how these energies which we have spoken on before, travel so much further than those within this room. (Yes) So now I say to you, please to send those loving thoughts. (Pause for about 20 seconds)

I hope you feel the love surrounding you all.

Les: I'm sure we do.

Some find it difficult to focus.

Les: Yes, because of our awful human minds—brains I should say.

I want to say to you this time, if there are any amongst you who need my council privately, I will do my best to help.

Les: Thank you. So they may call upon you?

Yes.

Les: Thank you.

There is someone who awaits a letter, is there not?

Sara: Yes.

Yes, you have been anxiously waiting. (Yes) Yes, let me tell you it is coming and what you are wishing for will happen.

Sara: Oh thank you.

So many anxieties. I wish I could still your minds. But you need to learn for yourselves. I only wish I could comfort you all in times of need, in times of distress. But let me say to you, these are times of learning; they are the times to make you strong, to bring you closer to that true reality of self. So often I hear you say, 'Why me, why me!' I say to you my friends, do not place yourself upon a pedestal, because all of you are as important as each other. There is no one individual who walks upon your Earth, who is of more importance than another.

Les: No it is sometimes difficult for some of us to understand that. In my many years I have come to accept it, without any question.

Yes, it is a matter of time. It is a learning process. Now I feel, do you need to speak with me?

Les: Yes please. We have a new lady here tonight, from a far country Canada, who is very keen to do the work to whatever she can, that we are doing. I'm going to trespass on your kindness to ask if you can tell her, as you have told I believe all of us at various times here, whether that is going to be a probability for her.

Let her come closer to us. Yes—you my friend, have very vivid dreams yes?

Madeleine: Yes.

Yes. Sometimes they have caused you a little distress, no? (Yes) Yes. Let me say to you: Do not let this be. You are indeed a channel which we can use for good. But you have been a little afraid in the past yes?

Madeleine: Just a little.

Just a little. You are afraid a little now let me tell you, but do not be so. You my child, will travel widely within this world. I hear you say, 'I don't think so?' but I tell you, you will. There is much for you to do within this movement. But I say to you, just be a little more patient for the time being. You are aware of your guidance, yes? (Yes) Yes. They come close to you, but sometimes I have to say, you close the door, yes? (Yes) Yes, this is something you must learn to overcome. It comes down mainly to a little discipline on your part, but as a channel you have much to give. You have put pen to paper also, yes?

Madeleine: I'm not sure I understand?

You have that ability, please to use it.

Madeleine: I'll try.

There is a young child who is special to you, is there not?

Madeleine: I have—I'm not sure if there is one in particular—

No my dear, there is one who is special to you, there is a bond between you that will never be broken, a boy child yes? (Yes) If it not a strong bond now, then it will come, but you should be aware of it. You want to heal don't you?

Madeleine: Yes I do.

But I have to say, that is not the way forward for you, there are other roads to be opened for you.

Madeleine: I'm happy there is a way that I can help.

It will be shown to you, don't worry. (Pause)

I ask you to write down these vivid dreams that you have. That is the beginning of your work for us and in doing so there will come a flow of words from that pen that you use. It will be of guidance to you and will point you in the direction which is necessary for your development. You have a quick mind my child; it has stood you in good stead so far in your life. But now is the time to quieten it down just a little, just a little. My blessings go with you and you will work closely—

Madeleine: Thank you.

I have to say to you all, I feel your disappointments sometimes, when you feel that there is a path that you wish to tread and it is not always available to you. I have to say to you, all of you have jobs of work to do. It may not be what you desire, but it is the pathway that is the wisest for you. I ask only that you accept it with loving hearts, with open minds, with a generosity of spirit.

Les: Following up on what you have said, we would ask for your help, to accept those conditions, if they are not what we wanted.

I come only to help you, I come to comfort, to love you, to instruct you and I hope to be a friend to you all.

Les: You certainly are that, without question.

There is one with you, whose psychic awareness has been opening gently. They are afraid it is their imagination.

Les: This is often so unfortunately.

Let me say, it is not imagination. I have been working with you all and I hope that our time here continues, that each and every one of you are aware of this.

Les: Well I certainly have been and I hope everybody else has. Would you like to answer individually so that Salumet knows what is going on in our minds? Dawn how about you, have you been aware?

Dawn: No—

Les: You haven't, Lilian?

Lilian: I've certainly thought about you sometimes.

This dear lady denies much, let me say. She is much more aware than she knows.

Les: Yes I feel that too.

Lilian: It's my doubts that—

It is her mind yes which creates these doubts. I—

Les: So get yourself another mind. (Laughter)

Lilian: I'll try—

Les: Sorry I interrupted, my apologies.

Let me speak now, please forgive me. The lady Dawn has the capabilities but does not devote enough time to those quiet moments.

Les: She is a very busy person, yes.

But unless you give the time, we cannot come close, you understand?

Dawn: Yes.

But you are capable if you wish.

Dawn: Yes, thank you.

Les: Sue?

I will speak for this one. We are pleased with how she is coming along. We are happy to see her awareness is reaching higher and higher.

Les: Yes she certainly has been hasn't she? Nice to have you confirm it.

Let us continue.

Les: Debbie?

Debbie: Sometimes I feel an awareness, but I'm not sure if it's my imagination or not.

Les: Here we go! (Laughter)

Yes you see we have doubts again.

Les: Why do you think it should be your imagination Debbie, I'm sure Salumet would be interested in that?

Debbie: I think if you want it to happen, you can almost will yourself to—

Les: I wouldn't agree with that, the mind's not strong enough at the moment, otherwise you would will your back better. (Debbie suffers from back pain)

Debbie: Well maybe I should say I'm looking for things.

Les: Of course you're looking, we're all looking, but when they are presented to you on a platter, you want to scrape them off.

Debbie: Oh I don't do that—

She has little doubt, but don't be too concerned, as time continues, she will see the evidence of her own eyes and feelings. Don't be too concerned my child, it is happening.

Les: You have told her she has got the potential.

All of you have the potential, all of you are spirit clothed within these bodies, of course you have what we call potential. It is rather a negative phrase I think, because the awareness is there, it is—how can we say, 'stifled'?

Les: Yes it is, it is there.

It needs to come to the surface that is all.

Les: Paul.

Paul: Yes, you've come into my mind once or twice this week and I've felt uplifted from it.

Let me say, I have said before, this young man has much to give. It is not your imagination that I have been with you, because I have BEEN with you, you need to recognise it and accept it.

Paul: Yes, at the moment I just get a vague feeling of everything's all right and I feel on a higher level when you come, but—

Yes, I say to you, just acknowledge it and that is all we need. We need to have for acknowledgement to go a step further, can you understand that?

Paul: Yes, would it help if I wrote it down, what I feel at the time?

If you so wish yes, it may reaffirm what you are feeling. But certainly if it helps you, then do so.

Les: I have repeatedly to tell people Paul, not only you but many others as the work goes on, that they must acknowledge what they feel, so that those that are presenting it, know in fact that it is getting through to the person.

Paul: How do you acknowledge?

Les: Just say thanks very much I know you're here—quite simple. You don't have to go down on your knees and make a long speech, just say yes thank you, I know you're here; that's all that's needed—then they know they are getting through to you.

Also you see, we cannot force upon you, we cannot force ourselves upon you. Until you accept each step, if you like, we would be interfering, and this we cannot and will not do.

Les: Ok Paul?

Paul: Yes Thanks.

Les: Don't forget just acknowledge it, that's all you have to do, mentally will do.

Paul: I'll give you a good hello and a wave! (Laughter)

I will listen closely.

Les: Margaret?

Margaret: Well I have been away for two months.

Les: That's no excuse. (Laughter)

Margaret: I have missed the comfort I get from here and I'm so pleased to be back.

Les: But don't forget that you can use this not just here.

Margaret: Well I did ask Salumet to help me once when I was in Hong Kong and I'm sure he did, because I was able to tell my daughter-in-law, in a nice way, what the problem was.

Les: Good, so you were aware of him—good.

That is all I need you see, the contact with you and I will be there. But don't be concerned, I know you have lives to lead and busy lives they are too. But do not forget that not only do you need to feed your physical being, but you need to feed your spirit as well.

Les: All right Margaret?

Margaret: Yes thank you.

Les: Sara.

Sara: Yes, I've had a difficult time last week, but I did feel at one stage, a cool draft of air behind my back which I couldn't account for and I felt someone was with me.

Les: Did you acknowledge it?

Sara: I can't remember, I think I probably did.

I have to say, the lady was a little surprised and taken aback. You are not afraid of these things, but a little doubtful sometimes too. This young lady is a very sensitive soul as I have said before and much is available to you, if you so desire. You did indeed feel an awareness was with you and indeed it was someone who comes close to you at all times and you will have the awareness even stronger, because they are determined to make their presence known to you. But it will be slowly, slowly.

Sara: Yes thank you.

Les: And don't forget please Sara to always acknowledge it, it is important.

Sara: Yes I'm sorry if I didn't, I will next time.

Les: George.

George: There are moments when I feel guided, I sometimes seek ideas and an idea seems to come and I don't think it's my own intelligence and I do sometimes find I slap my head and look up and say 'Thank you!'

Yes we know and we are thankful for what you do. I don't feel I have any more advice to give to you — we are happy with the way you are progressing.

George: Thank you. Can I also say, through my life I have experienced some beautiful coincidences, which are way beyond ordinary chance, and they just give be a nice reassuring feeling.

Yes, well let me say to you all, each and every one of you, have your own helpers, those who love you and those you would not instantly recognise, who have been with you, since you first entered this earthly (realm?) So you are all well looked after, you are all given divine love, which you would find hard to express yourselves, but let me say it surrounds each and every one of you. It is just your own awareness that is lacking and that is one of the reasons why you need a little help. Not only will it help with your soul growth, it will help with the work that is to come, you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: Well thank you very much for that Salumet, it's very helpful to everybody.

And also you my good friend, you have found within the last few months, a great expansion of your own awareness.

Les: You are absolutely right.

Yes, and that is as it should be.

Les: Yes I have been very pleasantly surprised.

You should not be, you have the knowledge so you know what is available and there is so much more to come.

Les: Good. Yes I must say it's a wonderful feeling when I am positive that you are with me, as you have been—not necessarily you personally, but the energy from your planes.

I am happy for you, it is good to hear it put into words and for that I thank you all. Now, can I say I will leave you this time, with my love and my blessings and I am going to leave you this time and I want to bring someone through this lady here, (Sue) who will speak to you for a little time, just to end this evening.

Les: Right, we look forward to it and thank you once again from us all. Our love goes with you as usual and we look forward to our next meeting.

Before I go I want to say to the gentleman, the older gentleman, there is a window which he must attend to in his home.

Les: Thank you. Did you hear that George? There is a window in your home you must attend to.

George: Oh right, yes thank you. (Probably an old bathroom window, which was a little dangerous for children)

The one through Sue then followed:

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you and a very warm welcome from us all.

Let me say each one here needs to concentrate upon the colour blue, do you understand?

Les: Yes.

If at any time the physical body feels weary, if that body is suffering as bodies do from distress, you comprehend me?

Les: Yes we do indeed.

The colour blue can only be of great benefit.

Les: It's what we call the healing colour.

There are more than one.

Les: Yes quite. That is the one we usually think about when we are distressed and are as you say, in need of physical help.

Yes—you may think I am repeating only knowledge already given to you—

Les: No not in the least.

But it can slip the human mind, in times of distress. Mental distress also requires gentle envelopment with love and blue, you understand me?

Les: Yes we do understand you and thank you for your information. I expect all of us neglect the concentration we should make upon colour and colours in times of physical need, but your reminder is very opportune and we do thank you for it.

Sara: Is there any particular shade of blue?

Les: No just blue, it encompasses all shades.

Of course. The blue that you would concentrate on in the physical, would vary a great deal, compared to the spiritual colours of blue. This is only because none of you here, have yet to see spirit colour in all glory, you understand me?

Les: Yes, we can't imagine it, we can only think of our own dull colours.

Therefore it is immaterial what shade you concentrate on, we would supply the colour in spirit.

(Tape ends here unfortunately)

~8th May 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you.

It is good to be amongst you once again.

Les: It's very good to have you once again. I'm sorry we're not all present as usual, but as you probably know, there is a holiday period here, celebrating the end of the ghastly war and some people are helping with those festivities.

Numbers matter not, but it is good to come to you upon the vibration of love, which surrounds many of your countries at this particular time.

Les: Yes it must be very noticeable to you I would think. Such a change from the normal vibrations you would receive from this Earth.

If only you all could keep hold of the love that is felt at these times, then your world would be so much better.

Les: It certainly would.

I would like to speak a few words upon the love for your brothers. (Yes please.) What do we mean by love? So often the word is used without the true meaning being searched for. I say to you, what is love? Do we speak of the all-consuming passion for each other? I think not; that is not what we try to teach you. So what is this thing called love? It is being shown to you at this very moment in time. It is a tolerance, a great tolerance of other people's minds, of their words, of their conditions. It is non-judgemental, that is what we mean when we speak of love for your brother man.

Les: Yes we understand.

It does not mean that you carry on blindly, that you look only with partial vision at what surrounds you. Otherwise how can you deal with the evil within your world, if you were to do so?

Les: It would be impossible, just as a love based on overwhelming passion would be impossible to sustain. It would die a certain death.

Les: Indeed it would.

So I would say to you all, firstly before you utter any words, to stop and think, because I have told you so many times now, that your thoughts are energy which go forward to create their own patterns. So I say when you come to place judgement upon another, stop and think, send out those love vibrations as best you can, because you see you can only do so much whilst in this physical overcoat.

Les: Yes and unfortunately this sending out the thoughts of love sometimes is an extremely difficult thing for us to do, as you well know, though we may try to do it and wish to do it.

You should not look upon love in the same way as a mother to a child, to a husband and a wife—that is not the love we speak of. These are emotional passions—you must search further, deep within your hearts, within that thinking part of you, which is your spirit—to recognise what is true love.

Les: I think it is difficult to put it into words, as indeed it has to be an awareness of our spiritual self-reacting through the physical self of course. But to me it can only ever be an awareness, rather than a word experience.

Yes you are right, but being human as you all are, you rather like to place these thoughts these feelings, into little boxes.

Les: Unfortunately we do.

I want to teach you to widen these areas of your thinking, to open up each of these boxes that you place so much into, to look for the wider scope on all issues, not (only?) love, but on many subjects. It will not be easy for you, but I am going to help you all, to try to achieve this. Open up your hearts and your minds to all things please.

Les: Thank you for your help in this.

If only you could see the emanations from your world at this time, you would be so surprised, it is something to be held onto—it shows it can be achieved, if you so desire.

Les: But unfortunately in our present state of living, those emanations don't seem able to survive for long from us—the mundane things intervene again, the selfishness, the greed, the thoughtlessness.

Take it one step at a time, it has to come. What do you say, you have a saying in your earthly life do you not, 'From little acorns grow big trees.'

Les: Certainly we have that yes.

So you see, you have to begin somewhere.

Les: Yes true and I hope we are making the right beginning in what we are doing now. At least we think we are. (Pause)

Tonight this time, I want to say to you: Are you, and I ask this most sincerely, are you prepared to sit, is there someone who will take over for you?

Les: Am I prepared to sit? (Yes) Yes certainly

For this time, we have someone who would like to speak through you. I am happy to give them the time, provided I have your agreement.

Les: Yes certainly, of course, I shall be only too pleased.

I do apologise for this, because I have said to you, when there is someone about to come, I would forewarn you.

Les: Please don't apologise, you can't know everything intimately ALL the time and there was somebody with me earlier I know.

That is why we would like you to sit.

Les: Most certainly.

And then for the rest of the time, we shall see what comes. Are you all happy with this?

(Affirmed) Please do tell me if you are not content with anything I say or suggest to you, because you see without you my friends, I would not be here.

Les: Yes we are perfectly happy with what you suggest, aren't we? (Affirmed)

But we must have—I will make a suggestion please. I think this lady (Lilian) would be most suitable to look after you, if need be—not that I anticipate the need for it, but as you know it is better to have someone in control.

Les: Absolutely yes, thank you, I will go and sit now and you are quite happy to do that Lilian? (Yes) Thank you.

I will continue to speak while you prepare yourself and then I will gradually go. So I will leave you with my love and my blessings now.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: And our love goes with you, God bless you.

Before you sit please, who is a burden called Andy? You go back a long, long time. He speaks of Sheffield, Sheffield you know?

Les: No, it's strange to me at the moment.

I'll leave it with you. He is around. I would say to you all my friends, to think thoughts of love for this short period of time—it will help with the one who wishes to come. Now I say goodbye, goodbye to you all. (Thanks + goodbyes)

There was then a short pause for a few minutes, before our guest started speaking through Les, in very decisive, slow words:

Lilian: Good evening to you.

I have waited many years for this opportunity to speak with you all in your tongue. I have walked with you also for many, many of your physical years, guiding each, guarding each, until all are together again. You have been told that all have been here before. You were not told that time would come for you all to sit together once more, because of the great love in true sense, which for short time is upon this Earth, I am able to be with you, otherwise not possible. I wish you to dwell on my colleague's description of love. You do not know what love is, or can do, until it is part of your very being—a spiritual awareness that far outweighs any physical comprehension. You use the word in a sincere way, but without really being aware of all implications. The word has been brought down to low level of regard. When you speak of love in physical sense, it is fiction, it is attraction, it is passion, but it is NOT love. I ask you now to consider reason for all true love vibrations, which rise from your Earth at this particular time. Why is it so? Has it occurred to you that love which produces such wonderful energy beyond compare, is brought about by suffering, by loss, by agony, by anxiety, by traumas which you cannot imagine, if you have not yourself suffered such things. Think on that my friends, think on that. Love in the true sense, does not arise from well-being, from happiness, from freedom from want, from good health, from satisfaction of material needs, but from all things contrary to what you would consider to be the basics of love, do you understand me?

(Affirmed)

It is important for your development, that from this time, you think of how 'True love' begins, how it is nurtured, how it can relive in others. Do you understand this? (Some uncertainty expressed) Love is not easily attained, nor can it easily be given, it must be born from the lowest things, in order to become the GREATEST thing. If it were born from happiness, from ease of mind, from ease of heart, then its structure would be that much less. A diamond in your physical Earth, is formed from incalculable heat and pressure. It does not become a diamond in any other way and as that diamond is treasured and can give happiness in various ways, so can love born from adversity, become its own scintillating diamond for all mankind, do you understand? (Affirmed) Now, I say to you my long-time friends, think on what I have said. It is not easy to give True Love—'TRUE LOVE'. It is easy to give what you now consider to be love, but we require of you all a greater understanding of real love, a greater desire to achieve that giving of perfect love, so that we can assist YOU in your forward path, is this clear? (Whispered agreement) Are you prepared to continue in your endeavours to achieve this? (Affirmed) That is good; then my years unseen by you, unaware by you, have not been wasted, I am pleased to know. And to our visitor here tonight, I say that you too will become aware of true love in the years to come. We shall now take you under our wing. You have learned enough since this person has taught, to understand that it can be done, is this clear?

Madeleine: Yes it is.

I shall not be able to speak with you again for many years, but that does not matter. In times of great joy and celebration, recall this time and remember your promise to try to understand the meaning and the origin of love.

God be with you all, my love to each and every one of you and my gratitude for your patience in listening.

(General thanks + fond farewells)

Les: Good evening, we are very pleased to welcome you again.

Good evening my friends.

All: Good evening.

I am happy to be with you again. My absence has not been too long I hope.

Les: No not really, though it had seemed so. We are so used to you speaking to us now, that even a short absence seems a long one. Never mind that's behind us and we are particularly glad that your instrument is well again.

I am pleased to be with her again, but if there should be any problem with her, then I will withdraw, but I do not see that at this present time.

Les: Good, I understand thank you.

Spiritually there is no problem, but I would not be happy to leave her with any physical problems, you understand?

Les: Oh yes I do, I know your first consideration is for her welfare.

I need to say to you, that this one I am using, is not always happy to ask for help. It is one of her life lessons that still she struggles with. But she is beginning to see the wider issues involved and so I hope as time continues, she will find it within herself to ask me more for help.

Les: Yes I hope so. It's interesting that you should say that, because last night I was talking to another lady, who expressed the same doubts about asking for help and I had to tell her very forcibly that there is always power available to ask for; they won't drain it, they won't use it all, so they must ask.

Let me say a few words on this please. To be able to give freely that love and help that is within you, you must know what it is to receive. There must be the unity of both, can you understand this?

Les: Yes, there is in another expression, the positive and negative again operating.

Let me say it is this: To give in a way, is to receive, I think most of you understand this. But also, in receiving, you too give. It is a complex subject and one which I will elaborate on in another evening, but you must do both in your everyday lives. To give truly, you must learn to receive graciously.

Les: Yes that applies in the normal domestic daily affairs as well as in spiritual affairs, I have frequently said that to people, they must learn how to receive as well as give.

There seems to be a school of thought amongst you humans—if I don't sound too unkind—you think always to be good people you need to give, give, give. I do not say this is not good, please do understand me, of course it is good. When the 'I'—when the ego is forgotten, to give to another can only be good. But as you say, to receive is also good for you spiritually, because in receiving, what are you doing, but giving to the other person the opportunity to give. Can you see the correlations of what I am saying to you?

Les: Absolutely, that is precisely what I have told people, you deny them the pleasure of giving, if you don't receive.

This is the problem with this one I use. She is only too happy to help, but feels sometimes within herself, some guilt at receiving. I will help her with this. It is a problem which has been carried forward with her from times before. It is a life lesson, which will be resolved this time.

Les: Good, I'm very glad to hear that, I personally have no hesitation in asking for help, which brings me to something I was going to tell you anyway. My daughter in Canada many years ago injured her foot rather badly and she was contemplating having an operation, it had become so painful. She listened to all of the tapes I sent her, a tape containing your voice and thoughts and comments on the power of thought and healing, to the person. She began using those words and she phoned me full of joy, to say that the foot had completely recovered and she couldn't express her pleasure at being able to walk without pain.

I am happy to hear those words expressed. When first I came to you, I said I wished to help all of you here. And in saying those words, I do not think I said to you that all who are connected with you, will feel the ripples of that help, if they so desire. You cannot be an island within yourselves, you belong to this cosmic population and all of you my friends, are intertwined. So I say to you, I am pleased that she listened to what I had to say, that she heeded those words and so has benefited from them.

Les: She certainly has and she looks forward to a constant supply of your words now.

Again I return to what you must by now know as one of my favourite sayings:

Thought is all-powerful. Always, always remember.

Les: Thank you for that. Do you wish to continue speaking or may I ask a question on another subject?

Let us have your questions this time.

Les: Right. At our other meetings, we have been having information on a par with what you have been saying, not so advanced, but approaching that and we have been told that there is so much to be given to us, that they will be using a medium at those meetings. This has happened several times and recently one communicator said much to my surprise that he was from the year 2600. That is over 600 years ahead of our present time. Now, is such a thing possible?

Let me speak firstly please. I know of what goes on within these walls, but let me say I am not involved in all that goes on. I have come to you for this group of people, so although I can say that what you receive is genuine, I personally, the 'I' that speaks now, am not involved in other work, you understand?

Les: Yes. But it is genuine what we were told?

Let me go a little further. I have said to you when we speak of past, present and future, it has always been. You remember my words?

Les: Yes we do indeed.

I know this is difficult for you to understand at times, that your knowledge is not sufficient enough to take these facts in. When you have a communicator speaking of time to come, I would say to you, it is not a person in a form that you would recognise. You would agree that the future is known, you can accept that. But you see, we are speaking of time on a much different level. I suppose you could say I too have come from the future, you follow me? (Yes—) But I would imagine that your physical minds suppose that I come from the past. I am going slowly to try and make you understand what is happening here. (Thank you.) When you leave earthly time, when that spiritual aspect of yourself leaves and travels to what you term the 'spiritual realms,' then time ceases to be, as you understand and know it. You understand and accept this?

Les: Yes, we follow what you say. It's a new dimension entirely unknown to us at the moment.

There are worlds within the cosmos that are much in advance of yourselves, also in time. So you see, it exists, but to you little is known of it. I would say to you, I think what you experienced through your medium, was an aspect of what is to come. It was not a physical presence, can you understand me?

(Yes—) It is an aspect that has been drawn from time to come. Imagine—let me try to simplify it. If you have a child's ball, which is rolling forward, all things are mapped upon the ball. So, what is ahead is already known, you agree? (Yes) If the ball were to come backwards, roll backwards, then what has been ahead of you, suddenly becomes the present, can you follow?

Les: It certainly makes it much clearer.

It's a rolling, rolling thing. Very similarly, that is a little of how time exists. It is a very simplified form of time. So it is the aspect of what has been ahead of your time that has been spoken of.

Les: I see, that does clarify it for me, thank you.

In the same way as we have spoken with the travellers of space, you see? They are defying 'time' as you know it.

Les: Yes that is a shackle we have to throw off if we can, isn't it, because we base everything on our current knowledge of time and space?

You really have to forget what you know and understand. By that I don't mean that what you know is untruth, but it is very, very limited.

Les: Quite, we just have to accept it, that it is beyond our comprehension, because through the same medium, at another meeting, a rather parallel statement was made. I asked this particular person, who said he worked on 32 different planets, whether he took on the form and appearance of the people there and whether he was able to speak their languages. And he said—I say 'he,' for want of an appellation—he said that he was amused at our always putting these remarks in human form, because he had no form, he was energy.

Yes, this is a subject also that you humans know little of. What are you without your physical form, if not energy? All, ALL that exists, is a form of energy—and let me say there are many forms. I would say this to you: Be cautious of all who claim to be travellers in time, because I must say to you, there are those around, whose motive is not always true. I do not mean that deliberately they would lie to you, but they—how can I tell you—they would be amused by this. So I say always be judgmental, always be as I said to you when first I came, accept only what you find in your heart seems to be the truth.

Les: This is why I wanted to refer the matter to you for confirmation.

There are many, I will not say, do not accept or believe what is happening, but they become a little misguided in what they feel. I am not being unkind when I say this to you.

Les: No I quite understand what you mean.

I say to you this: I will look into this for you, because I have not been involved as I have said.

Les: No, because I don't want to accept information which is faulty, not necessarily deliberately false, but faulty in its giving.

No, you may assume that mischievous spirits exist only in the lower forms of life. I have to tell you they exist in many higher aspects of living.

Les: Yes I had begun to believe in that. I used not to, I thought that they were confined to the lower spheres, but I must admit that I've begun to think that a certain degree of mischief must exist in the higher spheres too.

You see, there is a problem with using the word, 'realms', 'planes'—all of these physical terms. You see what you do then is limit what there is. All of existence cannot be limited—it is never-ending. There has to be these spirits. If you accept that the cosmos is never-ending, that the Creator is bigger than any of us will know, then you have to accept that there is much that we are not aware of. And I have said to you in the past that you humans are really at the bottom of the ladder. So in accepting this, you have to accept that there are many rungs of the ladder, where you can—how can I express it to you—'fail to reach.' I will speak to you next time on this matter.

Les: That would be interesting, thank you. I must admit, much more frequently than I used to, I'm reminded of an expression which we were given by a communicator long ago, when I was talking about proof. We were told that if you have faith, you will receive the proof.

I must say, I don't like the term 'faith.' I would say to you, keep an open heart and mind. Faith implies—how shall I say—something that is bound, something that needs to be done by the person. Can you understand me?

Les: Yes I can.

Always my problem is in my expression to you, of difficult subjects, which need simple explanations. Faith is not the correct term.

Les: No again it's semantics, isn't it—a question of the right language to use?

Yes, but I will speak next time, I will tell you what I know.

Les: Thank you, we look forward to that.

But whatever other work goes on within these walls, is not of my doing. I came for this time, for these people, because of the connection that was made and the many years I have waited to come to speak with you. And I hear some say, ‘Why should you not be involved in all that goes on?’ Because like you all, I too have a mission—I too am encompassed within certain limitations. And although the possibilities are there for me to work with others that has not been my intent or desire. I want to say to you that because of the instrument, I will not bring someone who I intended to bring this time, but once I have spoken to you next time, please be prepared for someone, who you will find of great interest.

Les: Thank you very much for telling us.

May I say to you all, before I leave you this time:

May the stillness and the peace that is now,

May you all be enfolded within it.

Les: Thank you and God bless you. Our love as usual goes with you.

Let us see what the rest of your evening brings. My love goes with you all.

There then followed someone through Eileen, who came through partly to overcome her shyness. She was often in trouble for giggling too much and she had a good giggle with us too, which helped lighten the atmosphere and bring Eileen back.

~5th June 1995~

Good evening my friends.

Les: Good evening, we all welcome you.

May I ask you please to lower your light? (Certainly.) Are you all quite comfortable with the dim light?

Les: Everybody happy? (Affirmed)

Good. Before we embark upon the work this time, I want to say to you about the information you asked upon last time. I say to you, the communicator was indeed a traveller, but the information given to you, was a visionary aspect of what is likely to come. You see, by your earthly clock that time is not here now. Therefore, there are likelihood of changes. So please accept it as such.

Les: Yes certainly. It certainly clears it in my mind. And I thank you for having taken the trouble to verify it for me.

I have clarified it for you enough I hope.

Les: Yes you have indeed thank you.

Now I want to say thank you to our friend who has welcomed another into this room. An area of her work has begun, I am pleased to say. It probably is an aspect of her work she has not considered.

Les: Is that so Sarah, you hadn’t considered it?

Sarah: No I hadn’t.

I speak of the young lady. (Sara) You see you have communication skills, skills which should be put to use, for the work of spirit. I know your thoughts have travelled along many other lines, but keep it open please.

Sara: Yes, I will.

Now before we continue, does anyone wish to ask me any questions?

Les: Any questions from anybody?

Mark: I have a question about an old chap. I think he’s had a heart attack recently, his name is Don. I wondered if anything could be done for him, or if some advice could be given to help him?

Let me say about this. There is nothing you can do, except to give your loving thoughts. You cannot do more than that for this one. While we speak of these matters, let me speak of the one known to you. Do not look upon passing, as something undesirable, because you know it is not. I would say only to you all, it is an extension of life. Do not be concerned, all will be well with that one.

Les: I'm sure he will soon be establishing himself in his new life. I have not told all our friends yet, but Graham passed on today at 11 o'clock.
Thank you Salumet. (Graham was a long-standing member of another circle which Les ran on Wednesdays)
It will take time. I would just say, there are recriminations, but we do not look further at this time. I will leave it with you and let us continue. (Thank you.) I promised you last time, someone you would find of interest.

Les: You did so yes.

Yes, let me ask you please, are you prepared to be used, or would you rather the instrument I am using be used?

Les: I think on this occasion it might be better, if you use the instrument you are already using please.

Fine, let us bring forward the one who is waiting. In the meantime, I think we have communication with the lady, for a short time. Then we will continue with our visitor.

A communicator came through Sue, who was called Albert and talked about his work as a 'gate keeper'—one who protects groups such as ours:

Hello.

Les: Hello, thanks for coming.

I'm what is known as the one in between.

Les: We have a long word, an 'intermediary.' How does that sound?

That sounds a little bit too official for the likes of me. You know, in the days on your Earth, you know the variety acts? Well I'm like the one between, before you get to the top of the bill.

(Laughter)

Les: That's right. You are the one filling in the space that's left.

That's right—I'm filling in.

Les: And you are making a nice job of it, thank you.

You don't mean—I haven't said anything yet.

Les: But what you are saying is quite clear.

I know, I've been practising a long time.

Les: Have you? Good. Well we all welcome you and are pleased to have you with us. Now, I'll let you do the talking.

Well, it's not much really, but I thought when they asked me to come along for a little while, I thought, 'What can I talk about that they don't already know?'

Les: I'm sure there's a lot you can talk about that we don't already know.

Well, I've got quite an interesting task.

Les: What do you do?

I really enjoy what I do and it's quite important really. You've heard of the 'gate keepers,' haven't you?

(Affirmed) Well after lots and lots of training, I have been privileged enough to be made a gate keeper.

Les: Congratulations.

Quite recently in fact.

Les: Because that is a very important task, I know.

Yes because sometimes you have to keep the likes of me out. (Laughter)

Les: Yes, we had one of your colleagues some time ago, come to see us and he was so enthusiastic about his job, that he often kept out people who had permission to come!

I can believe that I can, yes I can believe that! Yes and my goodness me, sometimes you do get into a bit of trouble for doing that, because it upsets all the plans. But at the moment, I haven't been doing it long and I can say I haven't made a mistake.

Les: No, well it's much better to be over-careful than not—

Of course, because, being serious for a moment, you do appreciate there are some times when the gate keepers have to be very careful.

Les: Of course they do.

This work that everybody does, it doesn't need the likes of someone coming in and upsetting things.

Les: No, particularly with the amount of energy that you produce in this room.

No—I feel it all around me. I haven't actually been here before, but I have been to other people in my time, but it's not something I will be doing often, because of my job, being serious for a moment, is too important.

Les: Yes, I quite agree, it is very important.

It is not an easy thing to learn. But I was proud when they offered me the position. It sounds as if I've got a job here on your Earth—'offered a position—' yes very posh! (Laughter) Well, I think they are ready now for someone who is rather more important than I am.

Les: Well thank you very, very much for what you have told us. And take our love with you.

Just remember if somebody comes through, not now, but another time, you can ask them whether their gate keeper was your friend Albert.

Les: Albert, thank you very much. Yes, I hope you will be allowed to come back again, we shall enjoy talking with you.

I hope so, but now a very important part of the meeting, God bless you all.

There then followed our expected guest arranged by Salumet.; one known as, 'The Light Escort' channelled through Eileen:

Les: Good evening to you. We do give you a most loving welcome.

Am I audible? Can you hear me?

Les: We can hear you thank you. And we are very happy that you have come to visit us.

I am trying to find a level which is most comfortable for me.

Les: Yes, there is no hurry. Please take the time you want.

Yes. That is better, thank you for your patience.

Les: Thank you for taking the trouble to come to us.

I feel your warmth so much. I have not done this before. So please bear with me, I find using voice difficult at the moment.

Les: Yes, you'll find it will become easier for you, as you continue speaking.

Yes, I will speak if you will forgive fluctuations in the voice.

Les: Yes of course. That doesn't matter in the least.

Firstly, I am glad to join you all. I have been aware of this moment for some time, for which much preparation has taken place.

Les: Yes, I'm sure it is not easy for you to do these things. And we do appreciate the trouble you go to.

Salumet thought you would be interested in hearing what I do within our world.

Les: I'm sure we shall all be most interested.

In fact I do more than one job, I think you would say. But mainly, I am an 'Escort of Light.' Do you understand what that is? (Not completely.) I'm being told, no they do not, that is why you were sent. (Laughter) Right—I'm finding myself now. Yes, what I do and what I mean by an escort of light, perhaps you will recognise if when I say I am the unseen beam of light, when people travel the tunnel of light. I am the vision of light that awaits the passing.

Les: Oh that's lovely and we do thank you for the effort you put into this. We've heard about it so many times.

I think we are the unknown entities of the spirit world. (Yes—) So many times when these things are recalled, we are referred to as, 'I think I felt and could feel someone there, but we were not sure.' Yes and people feel and think they see something, but are never sure.

Les: Yes that's quite right, you're absolutely correct in all that, we've heard it so many times.

Well I have to tell you I am not unknown, I am real.

Les: Yes, we quite believe that. And so that is your main task, is it?

That is my main mission, yes.

Les: Yes, mission is a better word. You don't consider it a task.

It is no task, it is work, it is growth, it is unending love.

Les: Now I'm going to ask on behalf of all my colleagues here, I'm sure they would wish to ask the question, why is it necessary to have a tunnel? Is that to direct and conduct energies in the two planes of life?

Yes, it is to buffet the soul. It would be too much of a shock, too much of an energy shock for the spirit. It needs to be buffeted and that is the reason why most, I would not say all, but most people feel that love energy surround them.

Les: Yes, I see and it is concentrated by what we call a tunnel.

You see, within this so-called tunnel, it is energy of love, I prefer to call it. It is seen as a tunnel, because of state of the soul, at a particular transition stage. That is all—we remain mainly unseen, because the soul at that time, needs to be protected.

Les: I follow. I understand that that it would be a shock. So you appear to them just as a light, to the newly passing soul?

To those of a little more awareness, I sometimes appear as a very, very dull image, of what they assume is a person, but they are never sure. It very much depends on the awareness of the passing spirit.

Les: I Follow. So you can appear in a varying degree of light or dimness, according to the ability of the soul to accept what it is experiencing at that time?

Yes, as you know while in your physical being that all of you vary in your degrees of awareness. Then that is how you perceive the tunnel of light and us escort beings of love. It is all to do with spiritual awareness.

Les: I see. I think I would be right in saying that it is not necessary for every soul to pass through that tunnel?

Of course not, some find themselves immediately in our side of life. It is not something that is experienced by all, by any means. But of course, we know of those who will experience this and thereby our task becomes imminent, you see?

Les: Yes, you adjust accordingly, to the one who is about to enter.

You see in the in between state, of what you term, 'life' and 'death,' sometimes it is necessary for us to show ourselves as a bright light.

Les: Yes—that would overcome I imagine, any attempt there is, not to leave this plane. The fact that there is a bright light would attract a reluctant soul?

Yes, of course. That is one of the objects of it, that there are those within their bodies, who will fight to the very last, to remain within their physical overcoats, you see?

Les: I see, thank you. And going back to the fact that some do not need to passed through the tunnel, I refer to my own wife's comment, when she came over, that there was what she described as a puff of wind and then she found herself in your plane of life.

Yes—let me say, what or who do you suppose is the puff of wind? I have many guises. You see whichever way, whatever happens in the transition stage, we are always there, whether we are known of, seen or unseen.

Les: Yes, I would imagine she was feeling an enfoldment of love, to welcome her.

Yes, and you say those words beautifully. We are an 'enfoldment of love'—that is what I am. I feel so emotional, when I say those words, whilst using a physical voice. It is something of beauty. I have experienced much—much joy, much sadness from those on your side of life. But mainly the joy it brings to those who work together, really is something to behold.

Les: Yes. I think we are quite unable to imagine the extent of joy that is possible in your world.

You cannot. One day perhaps you will, but we speak of such a long time of development, before you could achieve such bliss.

Les: Yes, I'm sure it will take a long time.

I am being told to say to you a little of how those of us are chosen, to do this work.

Les: That would be most interesting for us to know.

Forgive me if I don't seem forthcoming, but it is strange for me to sit within a physical body, trying to express what is—I don't know—seems so beyond your understanding.

Les: It must be difficult for you.

So I am being prompted to tell you a little more. We come from a state of what I can only term, 'supreme love'. I believe you term it this—that is the closest word.

Les: Yes, I think that is the closest we can get to it.

Once that stage is reached then there are many options open to us. I will speak a little of what I felt, at the time of deciding of how I wanted to continue with my growth. I was listening to a gathering of many, when one speaker stepped forward, who would give to me inspiration for what I had to do. I had a choice. I could continue as I was—I could teach others, many who would come and gather around me, to teach. By this I was most humbled. But henceforth came this speaker of light and approach me he did. And without going into too much detail, he showed me that the way to go was to come back, not as someone visible and known, who would be grateful for such things, but to return through many spheres, to help those who are lost, who are lonely and who need help. Can you understand how shattering this realisation was to me?

Les: Yes, I think I can.

Because you see, I suppose even in the state of bliss, there existed an element of vanity.

Les: That must have been shattering.

Not vanity as you would imagine the word to mean. But you see, to have people come to you, for you to teach, is a very great privilege. And I in—I don't know the word to express to you—in my ignorance I suppose, thought that this was my soul's way of growth. So I was left for a time, to reconsider, because I have said to you it was my choice. I had the choice and I realised that this was the way I must go. So you see, to become an escort of light, not to be seen, not to be recognised, but to have someone know that you are something, was indeed a very big experience for me.

Les: Yes, I'm sure it must have been. And you mentioned coming back through the spheres—about coming back to lower sphere, if I can use that expression, does not have to be a permanent condition for you, does it?

Not at all, not at all.

Les: No, you go back to your own sphere, which you have earned.

I return often, to replete to replenish, to be amongst those I should be with. I need to do this—we all need to do it. I think you would term it, 'to recharge your battery.' Yes? (Gentle laughter) Someone just told me, 'say that and you'll be fine.'

Les: That's right, we perfectly understand that expression.

Yes, it's quite a comparison, don't you think? I am telling you, I'm a being of light and I need to charge my battery! (More laughter) Yes, I'd rather forgotten how amusing you beings could be. I have long forgotten. That is not to say we do not have our fun—of course we do.

Les: No of course not, I'm glad you do. So you periodically go back and then come down through the spheres again, to become an escort of light, for a given period, (Yes) until you feel the need to return to the place, which you have earned so far.

Yes. There is no set time. The need is known—the need to return is known.

Les: It would be known and you would be taken back.

This I believe, is something you don't know much about, that all needs, all time is known. We do not set clocks, we do not use calendars, but all is known.

Les: Yes, all is known. We cannot understand it, but we quite accept it.

Let me speak a little more. I hope I am not taking too much of your time?

Les: Good heavens no, you can go on as long as you wish.

You are most kind. (Pause) Ah yes, someone is saying, 'do not procrastinate, go on speaking.' (Laughter) Sorry if I am doing that, I don't mean to.

Les: No, we are really thrilled to have you speaking to us like this and I don't use that word lightly.

Thank you, I do feel your warmth. Let me speak a little, let me tell you what happens to those souls, who are buffeted by us. We escort them to the area, I think you would say—their 'destination'.

Les: Yes, the one they have fitted themselves for, in their physical life?

No, no, let me explain. Their destination, when they first arrive in our side of life. They are greeted mainly, by those who are known to them, for recognition purposes. If not, they are met by those who have helped to keep them safe, throughout their earthly life. But in any case there is someone, who to the being just arrived, who is solid—rather than we who are unseen, they can see, they can feel, they can touch, if they so wish.

Les: They can identify more fully and more confidently with those people, I understand.

Yes, but this is not where they are destined to be, because before that happens, they have to have a re-run of their earthly lives. Much has been spoken on this. Once this happens, then we withdraw and they are left in the hands of those who are there to help them.

Les: And those people would be nearer the physical plane, than you can be?

Yes. We help them, but we leave them, when they actually leave the earthly realm, you understand me? (Yes I do.) We then return to those who need us. Let me just say something, may I? (Yes please.) So often, we hear those of you who say, 'I think I saw this, I think I saw that.' Most times they are not seeing anything spiritual, because when they do, there is no doubt, no doubt. So can I say to you, I'm being hurried along, because I'm slowing down, I do believe, I'm not aware of it—am I slowing please?

Les: I wouldn't have thought so, no.

(Voice becomes fainter)

Thank you. When you see a spiritual light—those of us who work in that way, you will not doubt it—you will know it is the truth. If you have doubts, then by all accounts, it is not from spirit. You understand me?

Les: I see, so the vision would make such an impact, that we would have no doubt about it being spiritual.

Yes, and that is why, when you have people who are close, who are ill, who see these spiritual lights, which no one else can, that is why they are so positive. That is why no one can persuade them otherwise. Do you see what I am telling you?

Les: Yes, so other visions which people have then, would be classified as clairvoyance would they, rather than spiritual visions?

Yes, yes, that's true, yes that is what I am trying to express to you. There would be no doubt, no doubt. Yes it is not quite as easy as I'd presumed it would be, but nevertheless I hope I am giving you information not known to you.

Les: You certainly are doing that and we are extremely grateful to you.

When the tunnel of light is seen, it almost radiates down to the forehead of the being who is seeing the tunnel, and they are drawn—you know the spirit leaves that way—I'm being told you have the knowledge of that. It travels up the tunnel which, if you can visualise, the energies are much heavier at the bottom. As the being travels closer to us, then the energies become much, much lighter.

Les: That would account for the fact that we have been told from a number of rescues, that their journey through the tunnel, suddenly becomes faster and faster.

Yes and their experience as they come closer to spirit side of life, there is more they feel and think they see, because of course on the lighter energies, much more work can be done. The closer we go to the denser energies, the more difficult it is, to help that spirit being.

Les: As you are experiencing by talking to us tonight.

Yes, that is why I found it so difficult, but I must say the longer I stay, the easier it becomes.

Les: Good, I'm pleased to hear that.

Yes, now would you like to ask me anything?

Les: Yes there is one question I'd like to ask you. You have said that all is known in your world and this we can accept. In what way are you given the information that a soul is approaching the time to go through the tunnel, or to reach your plane?

How do we know?—because we see their light. We do not see you as human beings clothed within these bodies, heavy, heavy, heavy. No, we are attracted by the light energy, which become depleted.

Les: I see, so you know then that the time has come for that soul to take its journey to you.

Let us say it is not an instantaneous thing. If the knowledge is known, there are many preparations made. But of course there are occasions on your earthly plane, where life ends as you would say, sooner than it should. In those instances, we are instructed by those higher beings of light, who have much more knowledge than we do.

Les: I see. I ask the question, because last night, 24 hours ago, I was asked by a communicator from one of the spheres nearer Earth, that if I wished to see a gentleman friend of long standing, whom I knew would not recover his health, I was asked to go and see him as quickly as possible. It occurred to me when that statement was made, that you must have the knowledge that they would soon be passing.

Yes, of course we do. That knowledge exists beforehand, as I have said, preparations are made, because let me explain a little to you—I'm being told to explain this a little more. When you are on the Earth as you are, when you are in full health, your energies shine out to us like beacons, pure light energy, because you are spirit you see, we see the spiritual aspects of you, not the human heavy dense matter, you follow? (Yes) As those energies deplete, as illness comes upon you, so your colours, your energy, your light changes—subtly, slowly, slowly. So there comes a certain stage within your living, when we are aware that the time is near for you to join us; your colours and your lights inform us. It's rather like a magnet that attracts many to it, can you understand?

Les: Yes I understand what you say, thank you.

That is how we are aware and I believe if you ask Salumet, he will explain that there are many whose task it is to do this work.

Les: To advise you of the imminent passing of somebody from this Earth?

Yes, but of course remember too, that those loved ones on the lower levels, who are closer to those they have left behind, are in constant touch and they also know when their time is near.

Les: So they will have the knowledge to interpret the fading of the energy?

They will be aware, that is how the preparations can take place.

Les: And that is how relatives who have passed on, are able to appear to the one who is due to pass?

Yes, because you see the very fact of the energy depleting, is enough to draw those loved ones to that soul.

Les: Thank you, that's very clear.

Have I helped you in understand?

Les: I think undoubtedly you have.

Because after all, that is what we are trying to impart to you.

Les: Yes, you have given us wonderful information tonight. There is one final question, I feel the power is going. (Yes) In the case of a person suffering an unexpected accident, we've always assumed their time on Earth has been cut short, because of that accident, it may or may not be so, it's difficult to say, perhaps their time had come—but in the case of somebody's life being cut short prematurely, am I right in saying they are 'cocooned' in some way until their time arises?

Yes I understand your question. Not always, not always, it would depend on the period of time that lapsed between the passing and the intended natural passing, you follow?

Les: Yes, it would depend upon the amount of time still left?

Yes, let me give you an example:—Yes, Salumet is telling me this subject has been discussed, but he's telling me continue—Let me say to you, if you have a child, who really was destined to live much longer, if the period of the earthly years was one of long duration, then of course the child would be cocooned until such time, because you see, we have said it is a shock, you understand? (Yes) So you must not try to visualise your earthly years, you should not try to imagine time as you know it, because that does not work for you. If for instance, someone's passing takes place, shall we say, just a few years of your earthly time, then there is no reason why they should not go forward. They will be instructed, told of why that passing was sooner than it should have been.

Les: I see. Thank you that does clarify some points that had been in my mind, since we did discuss it with Salumet. I apologise to him, for bringing it up again, it wasn't that he didn't explain it fully, I'm sure he did, but it was simply a question in my own mind, and probably in the minds of my colleagues.

He is saying, that is why he comes, he wants you all to fully understand.

Les: Yes, well now we do. I'm sure it must have occurred to some of my friends here too, the same questions.

There are many, many difficult things for you to understand we know, but we try to help you.

Les: You are certainly unravelling an awful lot for us.

Yes well, I hope it has been instructive and you can give forth the information given to you, for those who feel they have travelled the tunnel and returned, who say they felt sure there was someone there, but they could not see them—(Chuckles) Perhaps you will remember me and say, well we know who it could have been.

Les: Yes, we shall certainly remember you and we all thank you don't we? (Affirmed)

May the love of the Creator be with you all and I know I won't be seeing you just yet!

(Gentle laughter)

Les: We shall think of you doing your job anyway.

Peace and love be yours.

Les: And our love to you and to our friend Salumet.

Sara: Can I ask a question? Have you got a name?

Les: He won't give it, sorry.

I could give you a name, but it would be useless, there is no need to. It is what we do that is important.

Now—

Les: Our love to you and our deepest thanks to both of you for a most instructive meeting.

I think he will come in a moment, thank you.

Salumet then returned briefly:

Well my friends, I hope you were pleased with what we could bring to you.

Les: I think that's an understatement, if I might say so. We were delighted with what you brought for us.

For that one, it was a good experience and now I will say to you, the lady will end this time, with just a few words and I will say to you, until we meet again.

Les: We will look forward to that impatiently. Thank you so much, God bless you.

There was finally one through Sue, who closed with a prayer, a little of which was too faint to hear on tape:

—May the light of the lord surround you,

May the love and the light be with you,

May the love that you feel be given to others,

My love encompass you all.

God bless you.

~12th June 1995~

Good evening. I have been aware of many thoughts coming to me since last we met.

Les: Have you? That's good.

Many send their thoughts of confusion, of hopelessness, of despair.

Les: Not from us I hope?

I don't speak generally, but there are individuals who are seeking answers—a craving for their own spiritual unfoldment. Let me say to you all: I hear your cries of help, I hear your search for knowledge, and I hear your confusion. Let me say this to you: As I have said before, spiritually you are all on a pathway of unfoldment, but you must go slowly. You cannot achieve the very top, before you step from the bottom. Do you understand me?

(Affirmed)

Therefore between those two areas, much in your life will seem confused. I say to you all, accept these many, how you would term, 'backward steps,' because in the long run, you will go forward. Again, I return to your own thoughts and how powerful they are. I will help you all as I have said, but I do not wish you to look upon me as one who can alter your lifestyle. I cannot do this for you.

Les: No of course not—

I can support you in times of trouble, I can help to uplift you, to guide you, to do much for you. But all of you are indeed in charge of your own lives.

Les: Yes we do accept that we must be.

Try to transmute all of daily negativity into love. In this way you will find your own development growing. Each step becomes lighter. I know for some of you, it seems too heavy a task at times. I want to say to this one, (Lilian) she has gained much in spiritual knowledge in quite a short time, but still she has moments of despair, where life indeed seems heavy.

Lilian: Yes.

Yes my child, we know. I will say this to you: There are many good times to come in your lifetime here. You will be uplifted in those stormy times, you will feel the love that is around and about you, because you see my dear, you are surrounded by many known and unknown beings, who want you offer you their support.

Lilian: Yes I know I get strength from somewhere sometimes.

You will be given the chance of a journey, much further than you would imagine. I say to you child, when this opportunity comes, it will be most beneficial to you, to accept. Please keep these words in your heart and in your mind. There is much to come for you. (Thank you.)

I would say to you this time, it has always been my intention that each one within this room, should grow, their gifts of spirit should be expanded. And so for this time, I will quietly withdraw and say to you, please accept what we are trying to do with you. All will be given something, so please open yourselves to those energies. I would say to those who are unsure of themselves, please to speak of what you are given.

I am happy to take your thanks and of course I will bring forth many more. Each stage should be of interest to you. But before I go, I will say just a few words on the state of your Earth at this particular time. There is much that is going on within your world. Much sorrow, much havoc and much worldly confusion, which gives us cause for concern at this particular time. We are aware of troubles in the countries to the east of you. I believe you term it, the continent of Asia. (Yes—) There is trouble brewing, but let me reassure you all, that whatever troubles come forth, nothing will destroy what we have come to do.

Les: Good, that's certainly comforting to know. Always you will have these troubles stirred up in many areas, but let me say to you, there is now more light within your world, than there is darkness.

Les: Good, that is comforting.

I tell you this in advance of time, so that your minds can be still, be at peace, be at one with love. Now I thank you all for this gathering. I ask that the Creator bless each one of you, for the time you give, for the knowledge you seek, for the love you extend to others and for your very being. Now I leave you quietly, to continue with the other. (Thanks expressed)

After a short pause, Eileen began to get clairvoyance: The name Alistair, a stone animal next to huge gates and a country. (Thailand) The gates opened revealing many steps going up. Someone stood at the very top, dressed all in white, wearing a pointed head-dress encrusted with gold. She was allowed to enter, though she couldn't move her feet at first beyond the threshold. There was an incredible feeling of coming home and she wanted to weep. She described it as being like music inside, though it wasn't and Les said she was hearing the energy. The man smiled, welcoming her in. It sounded like it was difficult to describe the beauty of this place. A bird alighted on her shoulder—Eileen began to weep, as she said she had to return, overwhelmed by it all.

Les then added his own clairvoyant impressions:

I'm being shown an enormous cross. It appeared to be of gold, jewel-encrusted, of the utmost craftsmanship. Voice changes as Les starts channelling: Around the base of it are a number of similar crosses. And each one of you here is being given one for your strength and encouragement, for the work you wish to do. Accept this, keep this symbol with you, remember it is always there for you. Use it for strength, use it to give love, use it to protect you from harm and accept that it comes from places far beyond your conception at this time. Your colleague has been given just a glimpse of an anti-room to one of our temples, which is based upon a temple, which existed here, long before your time. And what your colleague has seen, is but a dim reflection of what exists beyond that anti-room. Now can you begin to imagine what beauty there is waiting for you all, when you have travelled the paths you must walk, in order to reach such sublime, such sublime results for your efforts. We give you these crosses of beauty and energy and strength, in the hope that you will in your lifetime here, each and every one, recall this gift and use it in the correct way, for which it is given. May the great sun shine upon you at all times, may the Earth be good to your feet, may the waters cleanse you of your troubles and may the moon above give you peace and serenity in your life. I bid you farewell.

A bright jovial one followed through Eileen briefly, encouraging us to report on whatever we'd been given. Some of the sitters had been aware of different things, but we'd been reluctant to speak.

Another briefly followed through Sue, bringing another gift for everyone:

—I wish also to give a gift to each here. It is the pure white lily of love. Please to ask each one before they retire to their beds this night, to open their minds, trying to see the white lily. Please hold the image, keep that image close to your hearts and minds. Recall that white lily of love—if ever your thoughts stray into dark places, come back to the white lily. It will bring much joy to all here. Now we will close with a prayer of love:

'Oh most heavenly Spirit,

Let the love shine around and within these special people here.

Let them feel the presence of your love and light, in times of darkness and despair,

And let the light return to their inner selves,

And the Spirit within.

God bless each one here, until we meet again.'

Amen.

(Thanks expressed)

~19th June 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening once more.

How good it is to join with you once more.

Les: It's very nice to hear that, it's certainly very good for us and before you begin tonight I want to thank you for the wonderful experience given to your instrument at our last meeting. It was very beautiful.

Let me say this to you: That still she ponders upon this happening.

Les: I'm not surprised.

But now, let us continue the time. I would like to say to our friend, the lady with the knee problem, yes.

Les: Is that you Margaret? Do you have a knee problem?

Let me continue please. It is not known at this particular time, but I would say to her please to think to have some healing, before it shows itself upon your physical being.

Margaret: Thank you.

That is the advantage of having sight a little further ahead. I wish to speak to you too my friend. (Les)

There is news coming for you, news that will cause a little concern, but let me tell you, do not worry on it, I will help. It is nothing tragic you understand, but news which will tend to worry you a little.

Les: Right, thank you very much.

So listen to these words and know that I will be standing behind you.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

Now one more thing before I leave you. Have you been more aware of the person I spoke of recently, who is trying to make themselves known to you? You said you were aware, but I said we would help more in this matter.

Les: Are you speaking to me personally?

I am my friend I am.

Les: Yes I have been more aware.

Good, you should have been, but always I like to hear the affirmative from you.

Les: Yes I understand that, thank you.

You are going to say, 'why do you ask when already you know?' But let me assure you it is good to hear the spoken word. Now let me say, do you wish to ask me questions before I continue.

Les: Any questions for Salumet?

Sara: Yes I have two questions concerning others: A girl called Debbie whom I was working with recently, lost her mother some years ago and wonders if it's possible to have a message, or if you could say whether her mother is happy or whether you could tell her anything about her mother? I think she died suddenly of cancer, and Debbie was unsure about the death, about why it happened so quickly.

Let me say to you, will she be open to speaking with me?

Sara: It's possible, I can ask her.

Would you find it acceptable to allow another within this room?

Les: Yes, for that purpose—or she could come on another evening, to meet another lady, who is doing excellent work in this particular field.

I will leave the decision to you, but in any case, she is needing help.

Sara: Yes I think she feels a sadness about the loss of contact.

Yes there is also a fear within her, there is a fear to be dispelled, so it would be good to have the contact with her.

Sara: OK, I will suggest it.

Les: I'll talk to you about it afterwards Sara.

Can I leave it with you?

Les: Yes please do.

Sara: I have another query from a lady called Gill from London, who is going through a painful divorce. I think she fears for the future and I don't exactly—she doesn't tell me very much about the problem—

Les: Might I butt in here, we are wasting time unfortunately, I'll talk to you about that later on Sara, thank you.

Thank you. I will say just one thing on these matters: I cannot live your lives for you, I believe I have said this many times. I don't wish to seem ungracious, but these earthly problems really must be resolved by each and every one of you. Are you happy with that response?

Sara: Yes, thank you—yes.

I would like to say a few words too, to the lady who has come this night, just for this time.

Les: Yes, I will ask her to come forward, 'Doreen?'

There is no need if she can hear me.

Doreen: Yes I can hear you.

You can hear me. You my child, have travelled troubled waters through this lifetime, but let me say to you, that much is behind you. You are now going forward, but you have a concern for the one who is close to you. (Yes) I do not wish to go into details, but your heart sometimes wishes that there was more involvement. (Yes) Yes you know. Let me say a few words to you: You cannot make someone tread the same pathway as you take—each and every one of you, have your own pathways to tread, you understand this I know. So your thought energy patterns are being wasted in this direction. Better to give out thoughts of love and guidance from the Creator of all things. A few simple words and much can be achieved, but only in his time.

Doreen: Right, I shall remember that, thank you very much.

We would like to thank you too, for much good work you have done, in the name of spirit.

Doreen: It's my pleasure.

I wish you could see your light which surrounds you, but you cannot at this present time. But you shine—you shine with goodness and with light.

Doreen: Thank you very much indeed for your advice, it's greatly appreciated.

My heart is full sometimes, with the love you extend to others, but as I have said to that lady, sometimes it is fruitless. You would indeed be better to concentrate your energies where they are most needed, do you understand what I am trying to say to you?

Les: Yes we do.

You cannot cure the ills of this world, send out those thoughts I speak so often of. Send them with love—let them reach out to be heard. I would like you to speak with this one, there should be communicator.

Les: Thank you very much.

There then followed one through Sue, who talked about writing ancient scripts in halls of learning and how Les would someday work in this area:

Good evening to you—love to each here.

Les: Thank you, and we return our love to you.

It is received, thank you. What can I say to you that may be of some interest?

Les: May I suggest that you tell us of your activities and work, that you currently do in your sphere?

If that is what you wish then I am happy to say a few words. (Thank you.) Forgive the slow speech, I am somewhat—

Les: Yes, it will improve as you speak of course. We can never get enough information about life in the other world. It's always of interest to know what you are doing.

My work involves the writing and storing of the ancient scripts. Are you familiar with the term? Have you heard of these scripts before?

Les: Yes we have. You are concerned with the writing and the storing of the ancient scripts, are you?

Not alone you understand, there is a large body of people who spend much time in this work.

Les: I imagine there would be. And you collect them all for your halls of learning and your libraries, is that right?

In the simplified form yes, that is the easiest way for you to understand it. I do not wish to imply what you are unable to understand, but it is more complicated than you would perhaps understand.

Les: Yes I quite accept that, it's best for us just to have a simple description.

Yes, but when the time comes for you to join our realms, you will see the glory of the writings and I am permitted to tell you Mr Bone, that you will in no small part, be a piece of that work. Would that interest you?

Les: Yes I would be most interested in that type of work.

It is foreseen that you will join our people for some time. Not yet you understand, we haven't got space for you, so don't worry, your time is not yet.

Les: No, thank you—but I will look forward to it when the time is right. I always have been interested in that type of research work.

It is the most fascinating and endless work. There is never an end to the work and each person that joins our 'band' becomes so engrossed, that you would never comprehend it—

Les: I could well imagine it. And do you deal with the records of other planets in the universe?

That is something I have not been involved in, but that does not mean that it is not done. You are correct in your assumption, that there are records, scripts and the holy writings on the (Whole cosmos?—recording faint/unclear)

Les: I follow, so yours is a clearing house for many different planets, is that so?

It is a difficult subject, but yes—

Les: And if I could ask for clarification on one point, for all our sakes: What is the actual research you are doing?

Let me explain in simple terms—you understand your spirit is endless? (I do.) Imagine your spirit as a fine white diamond—you follow a line with your eyes and there is your—branching off from the one—

(Recording faint/unclear) At some point in the life of the spirit, it needs to be noted down, we need to collate the happenings of each spirit. The branching off of that spirit, the returning to the fold, it is a reference library of the spirit's travels. They sometimes collide and merge together and we collate the work the spirit has done, because it could be of use to spirits to come, I don't know if you can understand?

Les: Yes I think what you are telling us, is that your work involves the recording of every aspect of every life, every incarnation, of every spirit. Would that summarise it?

Your use of words is greater than mine. Yes, that is very much the case.

Les: I can understand why you say it is an endless task.

Obviously it is the task of many, many people. People come to our learning rooms and our scribing rooms, for a period of time and they may depart for another thing to do, or they may find they wish to return and continue with research. Others take their places, but the work is so fascinating that few leave before their time is over.

Les: And this tremendous volume of work which is involved, is it all hand-written, or are the records compiled by thought? I take it there are tangible records, you are speaking of?

Most definitely, but writing by hand in our realms, is a little different to the pen and paper in yours, do you understand?

Les: Yes, so your thoughts are placed on paper without using pen, or similar instrument?

Not always, it is not possible for me to explain in detail, but at times and for special purposes, it is written with the pen. Let me say that the scripts are also illuminated, do you understand? (Yes—)

This is done by certain people who have studied this work and may I say until you see it, you would never appreciate the beauty.

Les: I can well believe you.

These special people spend their time, making our words more beautiful than just words.

Les: Yes, as the monks used to do on this Earth.

Yes, but not—

Les: Not to the same degree of beauty.

I wish you could see them, I know you will in time, but if it was within my power, I would like to light up your room with some of the work, these people do.

Les: That's marvellous. Of course there is so much love put into it isn't there?

Let me say, without love these scripts would not be complete. Without love, what would be the point of doing them in the first place?

Les: There would be no point, they would merely be dry as dust records.

Like the leaf you hold in your hand, it would crumble and die.

Les: But your records are ever-lasting, through eternity.

I find it difficult to explain, but yes. They fill the realms with—

Les: And how do you receive the information about the various incarnations? Are you made aware of it mentally?

Again, I will explain in simple terms, it is not possible for you to understand fully—imagine if you shut your eyes now, if you had the gift, you'd see the pictures before you, yes? It is like a moving image and from that moving image, you are able to transcribe that particular spirit learning.

Les: I see, that does make it clearer for us. And it's not possible for any spirit to withhold any part from that panorama? (No) All has to be revealed.

It is revealed, but there is no recrimination, what is transcribed is transcribed in love.

Les: Quite, it is merely a record of what has happened, without any dissecting of the reasons.

That is not our purpose.

Les: No I quite understand, because that purpose and that dissection exists in the spirit itself, does it not, since we are living our own lives.

Have you any other questions please?

Les: I'll ask my colleagues if they have, but I'd first like to thank you for the explanations you have given, it has been extraordinarily interesting to us all.

I apologise that I cannot be a little more explicit.

Les: I quite understand your difficulty—it's not you, it's our lack of intelligence.

No, no, no.

Les: Are there any other questions for our friend here?

George: Would she be able to tell us something about the Halls of learning themselves, the structures, the building.

Les: Yes, well I think you'll find they vary, according to the thoughts of the workers within them—they will expand as necessary.

Let me just say that these buildings, these halls, are not as a physical building would be, but if you went in one of your magnificent buildings, with the stained glass and the light coming through on a Summer's day, reflecting the colours and the patterns on the flooring, you have movement yes? In the sunlight it shimmers and—it is—how can I say, the halls shimmer with colour and light, the walls which are not walls, are filled with the volumes of our work. They are translucent and offer so much to those who wish to learn. More than that, you are unable to grasp at the moment. I apologise for being less explicit, but I have no words to explain.

Les: Well thank you very much for the explanation you have given.

George: Yes thank you.

Les: All right for you George?

George: Yes lovely thank you.

If that is all I will leave you now.

Les: Well we do thank you most sincerely for all you have told us, and I wish it were possible for us to understand more clearly, what you have been trying to explain.

I apologise once more.

Les: No it's not you, it's our lack of ability to understand what is really beyond our comprehension. But you have given us a marvellous insight into your work and I thank you for that.

If you feel you would like to join our realms.

Les: I certainly do.

It is written that you shall.

Les: Thank you very much for that.

Now, I offer you the blessing of my love and hope we meet once more.

Les: I would like that very much.

May I offer you a name?

Les: Yes please.

Like Salumet, I am happy to be called upon, should you wish. My name is Val-taza. And now (with) my love.

Les: And our love goes with you and our very grateful thanks. God bless you.

Salumet then returned briefly:

Is the instrument OK?

Les: Yes she's OK thank you very much indeed.

I hope you found it informative.

Les: I think as I've said before, that's an understatement. It's really extraordinarily informative for all of us, am I right? (Agreed)

It was an extension of the talk by one who spoke of keeping the books, you remember? (Affirmed) Let me tell you, any communicator I bring, cannot offer you the whole picture. So there must be limitations, but let me speak a little: I hear the thoughts: 'Why is it necessary to rewrite what are ancient scripts?' Let me say this to you all: We on our side of life 'hold', if you like, the blueprint of all that occurs. But what happens when the events take place upon your earthly plane? Because of man's freewill, there has to be changes, can you see? (Affirmed) Therefore when the life is finished, my colleague has told you, all is seen and noted. I hear you say 'Why, why does that happen?' So we come to the talk we had previously, on keeping the books of life. When each soul comes to look within those books of life, they learn, they learn from the history within, as you do when you look in your history books on Earth, to see what has happened previously, can you understand? (Affirmed) So therefore that is why these records are kept, and in seeing the lights to come, amendments and adjustments can therefore take place. I also wish to say just a few words on our halls of learning: My colleague has described them very well to you; what I think perhaps you do not know, or I have not spoken upon, is there are many halls of learning on different, you know I do not like the word 'Spheres,' but I will use it, because you know the word. So each sphere have their own comprehension of a hall of learning, you understand?

Les: We do yes, that comprehension obviously must vary.

It varies greatly, so even with communicators, you will find varying descriptions. It is not that either or is wrong, it is their comprehension of it.

Les: And their comprehension is passed onto us from their degree of spiritual development.

Again we come to their awareness, their growth, their awareness, their sight of what is about and around them. So when you have descriptions which seem to contradict one another, do not be judgemental. I know this is a difficult fact for you to take aboard, but it is truth.

Les: Yes, it clears up a lot of queries about apparent contradictions one finds in writings on this Earth.

There are many, and you will find such a scale of different viewpoints, of different writings, as I say we hold the blueprint, the absolute truth. (Yes) And then you can see the difference when you come to our side of life. It is something which staggers many, because they feel that what they learn upon your Earth plane, must be absolute. Let me tell you: no, it is not—there are so many misconceptions in your lives. I want to say a few words before I leave you. Next time, I will bring to you someone who was promised to you some time ago, who wishes to speak to you upon the colours, you remember?

Les: I do.

Well, that is who will come.

Les: We shall certainly look forward to that.

May I ask one thing of you?

Les: Please.

I will not speak to you next time, but I ask that a little quiet talk before the speech begins. I do not say who will be used, but you will know. I know I can tell you, you will enjoy/be impressed by what is said. You will learn much about the colours and you may find that it does not 'tally' is that the correct word? (Yes) With what is already written here now. There is so much said, so much written, but now you will hear it from someone who has much knowledge. (Thanks expressed)

May the love, the light, the healing of the Creator go with you all.

Les: And may you receive his blessing also, for what you do for us. (Agreed)

~26th June 1995~

This week Salumet arranged a guest to speak on the subject of 'COLOUR'.

I have been asked to join you to speak about colour.

Les: That is so. Our mutual friend Salumet said that you would be speaking to us at this meeting about colour.

I am not the one you would have expected, but I have been asked to join you, because this time I blend best with you all.

Les: Thank you very much indeed for taking the trouble to do so.

Thank you—then let me continue with the work I have come to do. I have been told that you have been given some information on colour already.

Les: Just very brief information.

Let me tell you this area is indeed a great one. I will try to enlighten you all a little more.

Let us begin with what is colour as you would define it. Let me tell you colour is no more than the interaction of light with darkness. It is indeed an energy. This you are aware of I know.

Les: Yes we are.

Yes, you speak much on your Earth plane of colours as if they were solidified items, which they are not. They are not static, how can energy be so? It is ever-moving, ever-changing. So, let us begin with the information I believe all of you could acknowledge. You speak of 'chakras,' you speak of 'auras,' all within this colour range, from the densest vibration of red to the very purest of light. Let me say this to you please:

I hear so often people speak on your colours. 'What are these so-called 'chakras,' within you?' You all I feel, know that they are energy points within your human form.

Les: Yes that's all we do understand of them.

I believe you have been informed that there are many, many within your body. Perhaps I can tell you that these main chakra points that you speak of, let us make an analogy if we may. They would be in the universe, in a galaxy, they would be the main planets, while all the other points of energy and colour, would be the smaller stars. For instance in the galaxy of the Milky Way, shall we say. Can you understand?

Les: Yes that's a very good analogy—

So when you have people who make 'readings,' I believe you call them, of the colours of your aura, who predict the state of being of bodies, they are being a little inaccurate. Because you see, there are so many influences, which create colour. Let us take one colour, which is familiar to you, the colour of red, which you all know to be a baser colour, one of the denser energies. These colours within you, are influenced by many factors. Not only the state of your health, your emotions, your circumstances, your surroundings, but also what you take in from the cosmos—this is the part little understood by most. So let us continue. When you wake as beings in the morning, subconsciously you know what colour you are. Instinctively you know which colour within your being, is the most forthright. And let me say, your auras extend one colour more strongly than the others, each and every day of your lives. When people read your auras, your colours, they are mistaken in their understanding of the colours meaning one thing or another. Can you see?

Les: Yes I do understand that. I've always suspected they're inaccurate, because am I right in believing as I do, that the aura is constantly changing in the density of its colours?

Yes, it cannot be static, it is ever-changing. It changes from minute to minute.

Les: So even as they are reading—

It is changing. And what they fail to understand, is the interaction between their own aura and the person who sits in front of them. You must understand, you can be influenced by a person in front, a person behind you. In fact, each and every one of you now, is being changed to a degree, by every other single person within the room.

Les: That we understand too.

You understand—good.

Les: That is the reason I believe, for us physically feeling repulsed by some people and not understanding why. I've always said it's because the two auras are incompatible and they are figuratively turning away from each other—they cannot combine.

It is—you cannot combine—it would depend I think on the awareness of the person; this very much comes into play. The baser the less knowledge a person has, the denser their colours. Let me say to you, each colour has such a range of degree of different hues and densities. Shall we take the colour blue? If you take the blue spectrum, there are dozens, dozens, dozens of different hues and colours, within that one basic colour. So you see, the readers of your colours upon the Earth, cannot have it right. They are not accurate in their descriptions.

Les: So one can only say that an aura is just a very, very general indication of a person.

Of course. I do not say this is wrong. Any development in knowledge can only be good, of course it must be. But it depends. Let me tell you also a little bit about colours may I, and how you accept colour within your lives. You SEE colour, but do any of you FEEL colour?

Les: We wouldn't use that expression—has anybody ever been aware consciously of actually feeling colour?

George: Well I would say I've tried to sense colour sometimes, in connection with other people's auras, which I cannot actually see as colour. There's a certain degree of sensing I feel.

Sara: Yes I do too.

Let me tell you something of interest I feel you would like. When people look at auras, what they should do, they should be FEELING the colour. That is much more accurate.

Les: So it would be a spiritual awareness of the values of the colour.

It is the feel. Colour gives off energy, which can be felt. You should be able you know, to place colours under your feet and feel the differences. All of you should be able to do this. I can tell you that some of your ancient civilisations were aware of these facts and in fact I believe one of the Egyptian civilisations, your ancient civilisations, built temples upon these known facts.

Les: That's certainly interesting. Would you know which civilisation that was?

There was one known as Biroxiya (Byrocksyna?) An ancient civilisation of Egypt, very well 'informed,' shall I say, of colour. It is why people like all Red Indians, were so much more spiritually aware, not so much like the Egyptian culture, but because they lived by nature. That is why they could feel the energies of the Earth, the green, the blue of the sky, the yellow of the Sun. They were truly aware of colour.

Les: That's certainly very interesting. Something I never knew and I don't think anybody else here will have done—not the reason for painting themselves—

It is why so many of you feel so much better when you go by the blueness of your seas, the blueness of the sky, the green of the Earth. You are subconsciously seeking the colours that you most need.

Les: We have been told on a previous occasion by Salumet I think, that we are not aware of the fact that our spiritual inclination dominates the physical selection of the colour of our clothing.

You will instinctively go or communicate with people who have the colour of which you seek. Let me give you an example. If you are lacking in the blue, which is—how will I say to you, it is described to you as the 'forehead chakra,' can I say, (Often described in books as indigo) which means that it is the mind, it is the thinking, there is a lack of the blue colour. So you will seek out the colour blue. Subconsciously you probably will not be aware of it, unless your awareness is raised to the degree of understanding. It is why, when people of base natures, crave for the lighter energies they will always seek out that which they most need, without any understanding of it.

Les: I follow. So they are not physically aware of the reasons.

They are not physically aware. There are very few people who tread your Earth now, who fully understand the meaning of colour.

Les: I can quite believe you on that.

You are always drawing from the cosmos. You take light from the Sun, you take energy from the moon, all of which have their own colours. Let me tell you the more spiritually aware you are, then the lighter colours you will seek, either in what you wear, in your surroundings, or within your own meditation. Let me say to you, there is no reason why all of you, consciously, consciously, should not be able to heal and balance yourself with colour.

Les: That's certainly a most interesting thing for us to begin to develop in ourselves.

I will tell you a little of my work within the spirit realms, may I?

Les: Please do.

I work within areas of colour, where we take those who are spiritually unwell. The colours within these rooms, these temples I prefer to call them, change each moment. As a person enters, then the whole vibration and colour changes. My task is to keep the balance, to change those ever-changing colours, to be balanced and to be loving and to be useful for the work in hand. Can you understand me?

Les: Yes, so am I right in saying that the colours, the energy within those colours, are aware of the requirements of the people who enter the temple?

Yes, you would be correct. The higher the vibration, the colour, the more translucent it becomes. The more translucent it becomes, the more aware it becomes of other energies.

Les: I see, so it needs no assistance to determine what is required by that person, who is spiritually in need of attention?

That is it. This is a very little-known fact amongst you.

Les: I certainly didn't know that.

We speak of great things, when we speak of energy, especially energy where colour is almost translucent, because you see, we are beginning to reach, to search, to seek for that very highest realm.

Les: So in our own language, the only way we could express this to each other, would be to say it would seem, and I emphasise 'seem,' that energy has the power of thought and distinction?

Thought is energy. Thought is positive energy. That is why I have to say to you, many of you become ill. Negative thoughts, which are the darker denser colours, as I have said, will only attract MORE negative thoughts, which in turn, creates more denser, denser colour. So you would then need to seek out the lighter colours, the lighter energies, to transmute that. You understand?

Les: Yes and I think it was Salumet who suggested we could benefit ourselves, by spending a short time, each of our days, in a blue light.

Blue is very good. Indigo is the colour they give you for the forehead, the top of the head. So, it is a higher colour. That is why he would have suggested to you, to bathe yourselves within. But I would say to you, think too of PURE WHITE LIGHT. If you are thinking from the top of your being, you must go for the higher colours. You see, let me say to you, all the colours within your being, can interact with each other and have an effect upon each part of your body.

Les: I see, so by thinking of the pure white light, we are in effect attracting all the colours, which can be of benefit to us.

Within the PURE WHITE LIGHT, is all the spectrum of the colours.

Les: So you would advise I suspect then, that when we meditate, we should concentrate on a pure white light.

Yes, but more than that, you must see yourself as the focus of all energy. Do not focus only on those you know as chakras, because I tell you, you are one mass of energy. You understand?

Les: Yes I do. I have never accepted the need to develop in the knowledge of those (chakras). In any case, it all seemed unnecessary, because our very existence is composed of so many variants, that we can't possibly understand them all.

Of course—would you like to question me on anything I have said?

Les: I expect there will be questions? (Les went round the group, giving everyone the opportunity to put a question to our guest)

Lilian: Would it account for people in this earthly life, wearing black at funerals, because they're feeling black?

Let me say to you, you will wear black, because the thoughts you are extending are negative ones. I know you feel they are usually thoughts of love and thinking and feeling, but indeed they are negative thoughts.

Lilian: That was one instance, if we go to weddings, the colours again are gay.

Because of the happiness, the positive thinking, the positive thought and it will attract all those positive energies around you.

Les: That's why the Chinese wear white at funerals. They are aware of the difference.

Can I speak a little on the colour of black? I would assume most of you think black is the most negative of colours. In fact I would say to you grey is the colour to avoid if possible.

Les: Grey?

Yes, because it is neither black nor white, it is in an area of confusion. So you see, it would be better to wear black, because grey is a colour of depression, confusion and so many other things.

Les: That's certainly worth knowing, thank you.

I say to you all, wear the colour that comes naturally to you, because it means you are lacking in that. You need these colours, all of them, the base colours, the lighter colours, to keep that balance within your bodies. There is nothing wrong with wearing black, grey, brown, whatever, if it is needed to balance you. Can you understand this? (Affirmed) When I speak of the baser colours, I don't wish to impose upon you, that these colours are wrong. What you must seek for, is the balance within your physical beings.

Debbie: I find it interesting that my house is decorated in blues, yellows and greens, all natural shades.

Let me speak upon yellow, the greens and the blues. The yellow denotes activity. You have an active mind, do you not? (Yes) That is why you are attracted to yellow. It is the balance you need. The green is the love of the heart. Any depletion in any of these colour areas, need to be rectified. So you need the combination of all these three colours. It is the need within you, you see. (Thank you.)

George: It occurs to me, we have a saying where people are concerned, that opposites attract. Perhaps this would relate well to aura colour?

It relates not to the colour, but to the emotions. Does that help? It seems rather a curt reply, but it really is not connected with the colours. It is another need that has to be fulfilled. (Thank you.)

Margaret: Well I'm wearing black, but I haven't been to a funeral today, so I must be feeling sad, but I'm not—(smiling) The other thing is, I've recently had my kitchen done in white and blue and I find I'm so happy in there, I could work in there all day.

Exactly, well you have chosen the colours that are needed for yourself. And this is what you must all try to do. To keep yourselves balanced, you must be aware of the colours that are needed within you to keep balanced. But I will say to you all, to be perfectly balanced whilst upon this Earth plane is indeed a difficult task. (Chuckles/affirmed!) All—because you see, if you were all so well balanced, your lives would continue, continue. There would be no illness, no depressions, no broken hearts. Can you see? It is difficult while you are here and unaware of what you have within your grasps.

Sara: So what you're saying is we are meant to have these experiences anyway. They're part of life.

Part of life is to go towards the Light. That is what all of you, whether you know of it or not, you are striving for awareness, for greater love, for knowledge. That is what your life is about.

Sara: I like lilac and pink very much and white and blue.

Pink is the colour of childhood. It is another colour, where there are so many misconceptions. We hear so often people say it is the colour of friendship, of loving people. Let me tell you pink belongs to childhood days, of happiness, of freedom, of unconditional love. So if you are partial to the pink colour, you seek still somewhere the need for that childhood love, that probably long has gone.*

Sara: Ah—(Giggles)

You understand?

Sara: Yes I do. The lilac, is that—

The lilac is a much-loved colour, depending on the shades, as I have said. When you say 'lilac,' do you mean the lighter, the darker, somewhere between?

Sara: The lighter.

Well that is the colour going towards your spirituality, your growth, your awareness.

Sara: Would you say it is good for me to use these two colours? I like them very much.

You must use the colours that you feel are good for you. I cannot tell you what you need. I could, but the awareness should come from you. You see?

Sara: Yes I understand. Thank you.

Sometimes you are out of balance in the forehead area. You tend to suffer from colds, from headaches, do you not?

Sara: Colds, yes.

Yes, yes. You need to balance yourself more. That energy is depleted too often. I suggest you use your blue range of colours more to help yourself. (Thank you.)

Mark: Can you tell me if the photographs taken of auras, are accurate representations of the colour taken at that time?

It would depend how far the person is from the one who is being photographed. I have said, people standing close have interactions on your aura, so unless you have very high awareness, and know how to feel, rather than see auras, then there are inaccuracies.

Mark: So there isn't very much, I mean you couldn't say for example, say this is a dense colour in a photograph, and say this is actually a dense—

It would be better to be with someone of awareness, who can see and fully understands the nature of the colours and sees them for what they are—not this static colour range, but that so many things can change. And you are changing every minute. As each of you sits in this room, all of your colours are changing. Your thoughts each moment are changing, are having that interaction with your auras and within your bodies. Can you understand, am I making sense to you?

(Enthusiastic agreement)

Les: There are 8 of us here. How do you see us, as human bodies, or as colours?

Oh my friend, no! (Gently amused) I do not see you as human bodies. I am seeing you by your lights and let me tell you, that is why I was chosen to come, because the blend of your colours suited what I was going to say to you. We have the awareness of how the words I would say to you, would have an effect upon you. No I do not see you as bodies. And let me say whilst we sit here, I thank you for the colours you are exuding out to me, because I feel the green colour strongly from all of you, the love within your hearts. And to me, this is so good to see. Does that help you?

(Emphatic agreement)

Les: I thought you must see us as colours.

Yes always. That is why as you asked earlier, that is why you tend to back away from other people, if their colours are negative and yours are positive, then there is a clash and you cannot go too closely together.

Les: Well I'm very pleased that you do feel our love for you.

I hope I have made myself clear to you. I hope the voice has been clear. It has been wonderful for me to return to speak to you all. I cannot tell you how deeply honoured—it has caused me great joy, great joy. I cannot express it more than that. And I will say to you all, if one day I am allowed to come back to you, I hope I can bring you more information. It is indeed a vast topic and one as I have said, so misinterpreted within your world.

Les: You have certainly clarified a tremendous amount for us tonight. There has been a great deal of misconception about colours, but I personally have not had the knowledge to correct a lot of those misconceptions. But you have done it for me. (Good.) And we do appreciate you having been here.

I hope I have given you all something to think upon and I will leave you now. I don't know if your evening is ended, but may I say to you, may the colours you draw from the cosmos, be those of light and love.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: And your voice has been recorded and everything you've said will be sent to other people, to give them comfort and knowledge.

If it brings comfort and knowledge, then indeed my task has been worthwhile.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed an amusing one also through Eileen, (Timothy) briefly reminiscing and helping to clear the energies, after the serious work.

~3rd July 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening.

My heart is glad to feel the love and peace from all of you this time.

Les: I think tonight has something special about it somehow; much more peaceful.

I am pleased that you feel it. I will speak to you for a short time this evening, before we go on with other things. But first I wish to say a little to you all.

I hear from you many times, ‘Will I be happy—will my wishes be fulfilled?’—so many questions. I want to say to you all, you do find it difficult to go within for those answers. I can tell you ALL, but I don’t want to do this.

Les: No, I understand that.

I would like you all to find your inner peace, your inner knowledge, that innate sense of love and Divine knowledge, which is within each and every one of you. So when you send your thoughts to me, may I ask you please, to consider that thing that you are asking for, because if only you would develop that inner awareness, then all answers will come to you.

Some of you do find this difficult to accept, but I have to say, be a little more patient. I cannot promise you that your lives will travel smooth pathways; that is not why you are here. So when you come to these obstacles, stop and thank your Creator. Does this make sense to you?

Les: Does it make sense to everybody? (Affirmed) Any questions you would like to ask, before Salumet goes on further? All quite happy with what has been explained so far? (Affirmed) Right, thank you.

I smile a little, because so often these ones leave this room and so many questions come to them—but let me continue please. Do you wish to ask me anything?

Les: Yes, first I would like to thank you for your colleague’s appearance here last week. It was a delightful evening and most instructive and informative.

There is much that can be given to you and of course one visit is obviously not enough, but we have much time to develop these discussions.

Les: Good. And the other thing I would like to ask, I believe I’m right in saying, at the end of most sessions now, we have a communicator who’s quite light-hearted and often causes us a lot of laughter. That is I believe to clear away any heavier influences that might be left?

It is mainly for the instrument’s sake that this is done, because although I am not fully in control yet and I do say ‘yet,’ she needs to be protected because she is taken some considerable way from her physical being, you understand?

Les: Yes I do. I thought this was the reason for the appearance of the light-hearted people and we much enjoy their being here too.

It is for you all to laugh. You know you beings do not laugh enough. So many times you are laden with everyday worries, which most of the time, is unnecessary fear. But that is part of your development and must be endured.

Les: Yes, you have explained that to us in the past. I think we now all accept it, even if we don’t understand it.

I will say again: Thought is the most powerful thing—your fears are the most destructive. Now, I will answer any questions, after which I will leave you to continue with work to be done with others, you understand?

Les: Yes I do. Thank you.

So, are there questions please?

Les: Anybody like to question?

George: I did have one question: We have talked already about flower energies, and this is a delightful area. I’d like to ask a question about the Bach Flower Remedies: Dr Bach describes one method of preparation which involves collecting flowers, floating them in a bowl of water in sunlight, and the energy of the flower is said to transfer to the water, and then the water is used as the remedy for helping people with fears and anxieties. (Yes) Are you able to confirm that the energy will transfer in that way?

Yes, let me say this to you: You have been told of the energies which each and every one of you take from the Sun, through your auras, you remember?

Les: Yes we do, that was confirmed again last week.

In a similar way the flower is attracting the rays from the Sun, the energies, so you see, it is energised, so too is the water, that is how it works. Everything, you humans, flowers, animals, your Earth—all are surrounded by these energies. I will say of this Dr. Bach, he was a man of much awareness. He struggled in his lifetime to produce these remedies and although many people scoffed at his ideas, in actual fact, he was unaware of the true energies he was involved with. But nevertheless, they were successful, for the very reasons I have stated. Is that acceptable to you?

George: Yes that's most helpful, thank you very much.

The flower whatever, whether it be in the ground, or placed in water, is reaching out for the living energies surrounding it, as you humans also are, even those you are as yet unaware of, yes?

George: Yes—lovely, thank you very much.

Les: So there would be many ways in which the flowers could be used, directly without being floated on water, I would think?

It is nature's way—his method was 'his' method and of course there would be other ways. But his awareness instructed him in this direction.

Les: I understand. Thank you, any other questions for Salumet? Paul? (This was another Paul who was a guest this evening.)

Paul: It's not actually a question, but I've found recently, that when I'm in the presence of an elderly person, I can almost feel the youth in that person, I can almost scan them and see them as a younger person and equally with a young baby I can almost imagine them older. Is this particularly strange? It could be my imagination.

It—no, no my son, it is not imagination, you have the gift of SIGHT, let me say this to you. What is happening, is an inner knowledge again, something you are not fully understanding, but let me explain a little further. Each individual, whether a young child or an older being, have energy patterns, which remain within your atmosphere, in your ether, you follow? What you are doing my son, is tuning into these energies, past and present, you understand me?

Paul: Yes I'm very happy with that, thank you very much.

This is something you could develop upon.

Paul: Thank you, I'm very pleased.

Les: Thank you—any other question for Salumet before we go onto the other work? (Pause/silence) Right well thank you very much Salumet, once more. We are in your dept.

No, no my friend, please—you are not. I am honoured and happy to join you each time.

May the blessing of your Creator fill you with love, with peace, with all that you need to sustain you. May you go on your way this time, showing that knowledge and that love to all that you meet in your daily lives.

Now I will say this to you before I leave: Tonight we are trying to do new work. Please give us silence and let us see what can be done. You will have the knowing of who to approach.

Les: Thank you. God bless you and our love goes with you once more.

A few minutes passed, and then a guide came through Sue:

Les: Good evening to you.

I great you all—may the love that I feel, you feel in return from our side. (Short pause while Les adjusted microphone)—I know of your equipment, which of course is unnecessary in our world, but without sounding offensive, your life has much to learn now.

Les: Yes we unfortunately are still in a state of primitive requirements.

Yes, but regardless of that, much good work comes from such equipment, yes.

Les: Yes it does, many people are able to hear your voices and are pleased to be able to do so.

Now, we wish each one here that is able, in turn, to leave their chairs and stand in the centre of your room, for a few seconds. In the centre we are attempting to send energy force for each one, energy force to uplift the spirit of each and to offer enlightenment and healing, where necessary. Do you understand?

Les: We do and we thank you for it. You would like everyone to stand now, just for a few minutes?

Just for a few seconds, perhaps they will silently count slowly to ten.

Les: Thank you, we will do that now. (Thank you.)

Les: Would everybody like to stand please.

Please, one at a time, in the centre of the room.

Les: Right, start with you Jo. Just count ten slowly and then go back.

Les: Next: Debbie—Paul—Margaret etc.

And yourself please. (Les) You may wonder why it was done so quickly, but please remember that 10 seconds in your world is not the same as the energy we sent from ours.

Les: We understand that thank you. It was highly concentrated coming from you and we know too that we would not be able to accept too much of it at one time.

Now, I leave. Please ask each one whether there was any change during the giving of energies.

Les: Yes I will do that before you leave. Jo did you experience any change?

Jo: No I didn't.

Les: Debbie:

Debbie: No not really.

Paul (Guest): I felt that as I closed my eyes it was darkness, but as I was standing there, there was an illuminated feeling, as though I was being sprinkled with light.

Les: Thank you. Margaret

Margaret: I felt a lot of energy, felt quite dizzy when I sat down.

Paul: Just a sort of upliftment.

George: I felt a warmth. I think 'bathing' is a good description.

Mark: I felt a lightness and when I sat down I almost lost my balance.

Les: Thank you. Dawn?

Dawn: No I didn't.

Lilian: Energy, which I'm still feeling.

Les: Thank you—I felt a great peace.

Those who say they experienced nothing, let me assure them that the energy is within and in their own time, they too will experience the feelings inside. Some require the concentration in their spirit body, over a longer period of time, do you understand? (Yes—) We are pleased we could bring such power to this room and will endeavour each time you meet here to do similar work, not necessarily from the centre of the room, but if the power permits, it will be directed to each sitter in turn.

Les: That's wonderful.

Please imagine the rays of the sun coming down from the top of your room and each ray laying on the head of each of your sitters.

Les: Yes we will do that.

Please if any one of you has the vision to see the rays, no matter how briefly, please to say so. We do appreciate knowing when our work is visible to you. Now, I send you God's blessing and the love and the light of the spirit within you all. God bless and keep you.

Les: God bless you and thank you to all your colleagues, who work so much for us.

~10th July 1995~

No Salumet this time, as Eileen was away. The first communicator came through Sue, who suggested we spend time developing clairvoyance. After a time, a communicator came through Les, taking us on a meditative walk through a spirit realm garden—audio version freely available from website:

www.salumetandfriends.org

I invite you all if you wish, to join me now for a walk through one of our gardens. Would you care to follow me? Please beware that you'll be barefooted. For this walk, you will not need shoes, or other coverings for your feet. That would destroy in part, your enjoyment of the walk. Please take off all footwear and leave at the gate. Are you ready now? Now you see a pair of gates, which are apparently golden, but are so-coloured only because this would be expected in conformity with the beauty, which they separate from the normal vista outside. Now we go through the open gates and you will see that the path upon which we now walk, is what you would call grass, but is no way similar to the grass of which you are aware upon your Earth. Feel the grass with your feet. This is the reason for discarding your footwear. You should feel the energy coming through the Earth and the grass as you walk and you should also become aware that as you walk, your bodies are becoming lighter and lighter and that it requires no effort from your muscles, to transport yourself along this path. Are you beginning to feel that? Do not worry if you cannot feel it exactly as I have described. It may be more apparent to you as we progress. We have only just started this walk. Now we come to an archway in the hedge and the hedge as you would see, is not green as upon your Earth, but is multi-coloured, in all shades that you can imagine and those colours change as you approach. The hedge is a living thing and the doorway is reacting to your own auras as you approach. As you enter through the archway into the garden of roses, you will feel a warmth descending on you, which disappears again, as you go through the archway. Are you able to feel that warmth? Do not be concerned if you do not. Remember you are taking a physical body through a spiritual garden, therefore you may not feel all that we would wish you to feel. But it should be registered in your mind, so that later you can retrace your steps, if you wish. And now let us go through the garden of roses. Imagine every rose, which you have seen in the course of your lifetime, all spread before you, in a sea of colour, blossoming as you have never seen flowers blossom. And the perfume, which arises from them all, is individual to each bush, but is an amalgam such as you have never experienced here. Try to inhale that marvellous mixture of perfume. It will cleanse your lungs, it will cleanse your spirit, and give you energy for the continuation of the walk. Look around you at the roses, enjoy the scent they give you. Then I will take you through the aisle, which you would call a passage. Look down at the path beneath your feet now. What do you see? Golden sand of a texture so fine that you could not imagine it. And yet it does not swirl up in dust clouds as such a texture would upon the Earth. That path is energy, energy, energy, which can be transformed, transposed through your feet, into your very being. That is why it is so fine, so that it can be taken into your very body, through the soles of your feet. You should now be able to begin to feel a surging of energy up through your feet. Now come with me through the walk through the roses on either side of you, and see how they turn towards you, as your thoughts turn to them. They are aware of your appreciation of their beauty, of their colour, of their perfume. And as they collect your thoughts, so they in turn glow and radiate back to you, their love, their happiness at being able to give you the beauty, which they have to offer. This will continue throughout this path. Let us walk slowly and enjoy every moment of these roses, giving more life than you have ever seen in flowers. And now feel the stems as you pass. There are no thorns, there's nothing to prevent your fingers touching the wood and again, feeling the energy coming from these blooms. Now let us continue through yet another archway, this time, with many hues of green. Imagine your country and the many shades of green, which appear to you in the spring. All those shades of green are encompassed in this one archway. And we go through there now, to the sound of falling water. Not falling water as you know it, but water singing the praise of the Creator, singing its happiness to give you the love, the colour, the sound, the music, which that water is emitting constantly. And now, a surprise my friends, we shall walk through that waterfall, not behind it, not around it, through it. Come with me, step into the stream of water, which falls from above and walk through, through, through, not water, but a field of energy, which to you appears as water. Feel the energy surrounding you, permeating your bodies, blessing you, giving you happiness, giving you peace. And now through the water and there is no rock formation behind, as you would expect upon your planet, but a vista of green fields, such as you have never seen. Those fields are amassed with what you would call 'wild' flowers, of every conceivable shape, hue, size, colour, perfume. Again, as you would describe upon this Earth, as a flowering meadow, but all those blooms, every blossom, is an individual point of energy. Again you see the reason for discarding your footwear. Let us walk through these plants. Do not worry you will not crush them. You will tread them down momentarily, but they will spring up, renewed as you pass. So have no fear of destroying any of them. And now in such a field upon your Earth, would you not expect to find, the nests of some types of your birds, who seek to live upon your Earth, amongst the flowers and your vegetation.

Look carefully and you should see some such amongst the flowers, wherein you now walk. Do not be afraid of stepping on any nest. Your feet will be guided around such nests. And note too that the parent birds do not fly in fear. They watch you, but they remain with their nests and their fledglings. See if you can recognise any birds, such as are upon this Earth. Now we will continue into the forest, which you see ahead— again, not a forest that you would recognise as such—many types of trees, many colours, many heights, some large some small, but none being denied access to light and air. All growing vigorously, as is intended for them, all in harmony—each one's colour blending with its neighbour. Now listen to the wind through the branches. Once more I say, not as you would hear it upon this Earth, but a wind, which sings with joy, as it caresses the branches, as it stokes the leaves with its breath, as it gives to those leaves the energy drawn from its cosmic birth. And in return is given energy from the soil, as you would call it that, in which the trees stand. When energy is given, another energy is taken, so life continues. It is given, it is taken, it is taken, it is given and the cycle is never ending, never ending. Listen to the laughter in that wind or breeze. Listen to it singing to you in welcome. And as we go into this forest, though there are so many trees, you will become aware that nevertheless, there is no darkness, as you would expect. All is light, in spite of the thickness of the forest, in spite of the number of the trees. There is no shadow, no darkness, all is light, light. Look up above your heads and see what you would call a sunlight shining through, not between the leaves, but through the leaves. That is why there is no darkness—all is light, light, light. And listen to the many little animals that live within this forest; none fearing, all happy, all contented with their place in the scheme of life. No death can come to them, as on this Earth. No fear can mark them. Listen to them. Now let us continue. We come out of the forest, into a sandy plane. So far as you can see, there is apparently nothing growing, no living thing. Again listen, listen to the music that rises from that sand. Trilling, whistling, whispering, but all in harmony, all in harmony. And though it would appear that such land would be excessively hot, you do not feel it so under your feet. It is cool, pleasant, welcoming. Such is life within our sphere, always welcoming, always giving, always pleasant. Only your own thoughts can destroy what is there for you to enjoy. And now we come to a large lake. You may have seen it shimmering in the sunlight. It is not blue, it is not green, it is a combination of all those shades of blue, all those shades of green, which you can imagine. And now another surprise for you my friends, we are going to walk across that water, not in it, but on it. Do not have fear. Follow me onto the water which will support you, unless you wish to be immersed in it, then you may do so. But no doubt it will be more exhilarating for you, to be able to walk upon the surface. Do you feel the energy, the warmth of the energy rising from this water? As I have said many times, all is energy, energy, energy. And now, let us come to the far bank. And as we ascend from the water's edge, onto the field beyond, we go through many, many rushes, tall waving, with no scent of decay, again as upon this Earth. There is no rotting of those unwanted. They are removed without the unpleasantness you experience here. As you go through, take some of those rushes in your hand. Feel the warmth, feel again the energy through your hand, into your arm, into your body. The purpose of this walk, was in the hope that you might, at each time I have spoken of it, feel the various energies, which exist and from which you cannot ever escape. And now turn to this path on your left, apparently a long way away, but in reality quite near. A city of translucent buildings, gleaming, shining and again, welcoming. This is a city where all learning, all knowledge is gathered, for particular purposes. There are many such, many such, which in the gathering of their particular knowledge, feed other larger cities, where that knowledge is stored. But alas I cannot take you into these buildings at this time. Let us walk passed them. Feel the radiations from the walls as we pass—again energy; energy in colour, in light, in warmth, in welcome. And now my friends, we return to the gates. I will not tell you how, but you have encompassed a large area of land, without realising the last part of the journey was by thought, back to the entry. Here I leave you. I trust that my descriptions, my explanations, have been of help to you and have been of assistance, in enabling you to imagine, even if you did not experience the wealth of wonderment that awaits you, when you join us from your Earth. I leave you now, hopefully to discuss your feelings with each other—to share each other's experiences. And with my blessing I say goodbye to you all.

(Thanks + farewells)

God bless you, thank you for your company.

There were further brief communications through Sue and Jo, giving feedback on the evening and perhaps helping to bring some of the sitters back.

~17th July 1995~

Good evening my friends.

(Warm welcomes)

It is always good to join you here.

Les: We are pleased to hear that.

Let us thank that Divine Creator, for this gathering here. Let me speak please this time, on something that you all wonder upon.

Les: Yes please, we look forward to that.

So often I hear, 'What is the meaning of our lives here? What are we meant to do? Why are we here upon this earthly plane?' I have spoken briefly before and told you all, why you are here is LOVE. But too often I hear doubts, as to your abilities. You wonder if you should be involved in this Spiritualism, as you call it. It is one name for many ways of living. I would say to you all these few words my friends:

'Service' is the reason for your being here.

I hear you now say, 'Tell me what is service?' I feel you are a little confused upon this matter.

Les: I think I could ask for everybody, I believe we all are confused to a certain extent, from what we have been told previously, that we choose our lives when we come back. And I and I think my friends here will also have wondered why we should choose an existence on this Earth, which often is full of pain suffering and misery. You would say no doubt that it helps with our development, but to me the two don't always seem to coincide.

In what way my friend?

Les: Because, what is the reason for us deciding to choose a life which is uncomfortable, unhappy perhaps, and in the main full of disappointments and misery? Are we always responsible for choosing that sort of life?

Let me speak a little—let me deviate a little from what I was saying. (Thank you.)

Of course in your physical way of thinking, you would not accept discomfort, pain, unhappiness—whatever. Let me say, that is your physical brain thinking. When it comes to the spiritual aspect of yourself, it sees the much greater picture. So suffering, pain, discomfort, is not seen as anything to be pushed to one side, but it is seen as a way of your soul's growth. So although these aspects of your living are painful, you have to see the beauty within the soul. I know this is difficult for you to understand fully, because no one on your Earth plane wants to suffer, but your Higher Self, your Higher Self knows that sometimes this is necessary. Can you see?

Les: Yes, we have to try and think more of our spiritual selves, rather than the physical self, I think this is what you are saying to us.

You have to raise that part of yourselves, to find a fuller explanation. You are not one unit my friends, I have explained this to you before. Try to see yourselves on a much wider scale. Think not only of this one lifetime, you see?

Les: Yes, I follow you. Of course, being physical, we do tend to look only at that particular part of our existence, forgetting the many facets of life, which we have had and will have.

When you return HOME, you can on 'hindsight,' you say, see for yourself what has been achieved through many sufferings. Do not look upon unhappiness, suffering, disappointments, as something to be sad about. That higher being knows so much more. It is difficult I know, but please accept my words as being TRUTH.

Les: We will of course, we wouldn't dream of querying it, but it answers the question which has been in my mind and I'm sure has been in my colleagues' minds also, the difficulty in understanding why we should voluntarily submit ourselves to a life of unpleasantness.

Let me say also, I have been speaking about service. Can you not see that by some suffering, you have given someone else the opportunity to serve? (Yes—) You must not look upon it as an isolated thing.

Les: No, I was talking to someone only this morning, about a similarity there. They were saying that people wish to give as well as receive—it gives them happiness to be able to give.

Yes, you must look so much further than just the one person. You are not single units. When you come to this life, you have chosen that pathway that is best for your growth. It may include suffering, it may not, it depends on what you have returned for.

Les: So when we choose our lifetime on this Earth, it is our spiritual self which is choosing it? (Of course.) Yes thank you. That does clarify for me, which leads me to another item: We often read of people in the East, wise men, gurus and so on, who do peculiar things in our estimation, such as keeping an arm raised aloft, until it withers. I could never understand it and this, I imagine would be the spiritual awareness in them, taking suffering further in the physical body, for the benefit of their spiritual development?

They are exercising that spiritual part, which feels no suffering. They have become so attuned, that these things can be done, without discomfort. You all could achieve it, it is not unknown. These are the things you have lost down many ages of your earthly existences.

Les: I see, so you say it doesn't give them the discomfort we would imagine them to have?

Exactly. If they feel discomfort, that is the human part of them. What they are doing, is exercising that spiritual knowledge.

Mark: Could I ask a question? You said we've lost something through the ages. Some people talk of us clearing our 'Karmic Debt' at the moment and that the suffering has to be gone through, in order to clear that and that later there will be a much better time. I don't know if you can clarify that at all?

I am not happy with the phraseology, 'Karmic Debt.' What is karma, but the result of 'cause and effect,' something you all have. As we have said, you go through many stages of knowledge, of wisdom; you return many times, if necessary, to learn those lessons which help with the soul's growth. So in respect of karmic debts, I would rather you do not look upon it that way, but rather that you 'return,' to gain more knowledge. To say 'karmic Debt,' rather implies a hell upon your Earth and that is not what your lives are about, do you understand?

Mark: Yes thank you.

Les: Yes, that's a very clear explanation, thank you. I've always been suspicious of the phrase, because it seemed contradictory to other learning and teaching.

It is the growth of your spiritual being—that is the most important thing.

Les: So presumably when we come over to you from this life, we enter a spiritual world, as we know and we are more aware of our spiritual ancestry and future. Do we then wait until such time, as conditions on the Earth, some hundreds of years hence perhaps, are suitable for our return for the spiritual development of our spiritual self?

It—you can manifest yourself upon this Earth, within hours, days, years, centuries. Let me say this to you: The decision on these matters lies solely with your Higher Selves—that part of you which knows all, when you return 'home'. You yourself, with council, will decide the most opportune moment to return, when conditions are right for you, when the people you have chosen to return with, when all are ready. It is again, not an individual thing. Always you look upon yourselves as one item.

Les: Yes, it's difficult not to.

I know and this is what you must move away from. All of you are intertwined, in some way. Those loved ones that you have spent some time upon this earthly plane with, so many before so many to come. It is not a decision made solely for yourself, it is much more complex.

Les: Yes, it must be a matter of absolute interdependence, from what you say.

Yes, yes if you can imagine the twine of rope intermingled together. Each one is strong, but together they are stronger, you see? Each one depends upon the other.

Les: I see, you mentioned a council a few moments ago. Does that mean we would discuss with this council the advisability of returning at a particular time?

There is wise council yes, but the decision rests with you.

Les: But we would have the benefit of their spiritual knowledge presumably, which would be much greater than ours.

Of course, there has to be that wisdom, otherwise you would flounder—

Les: We could make a lot of mistakes—

Yes, unfortunately and sometimes you make wrong decisions, but of course that is your option. That is why sometimes so many return again and again and still they do not learn those lessons, which were intended for them.

Les: Is that so, it's our own free will coming into play again then.

Do not underestimate your free will.

Les: No, so our return to the Earth, could be a comparatively short time, or it may be many, many years, according to the requirements of our spiritual selves?

Of course, sometimes the spirit sees within hours, that which has been left undone and seeks to rectify those problems. Or the soul may consider after council, that it would be best to wait. It is a matter for many.

Les: Thank you, one other thing which has puzzled me, accepting as I do and I imagine my friends do also, what you have told us, would we always return to this particular planet?

I would say you do. I know there are disparages of opinion, but yes you do return, you are earthlings, you do not learn from other planets. Until your time on Earth has been finished properly, then you cannot go elsewhere.

Les: So from that then, I would imagine that we are in some way part and parcel, of the very Earth upon which we live?

Yes, you are its very structure.

Les: Yes, thank you. That certainly clears several queries I've had.

Mark: Could I ask a question? (Yes) It just occurred to me, I wondered how the Earth learning differed from other kinds of learning?

I have to say and I have said previously, you beings on this earthly plane, are so young in the stepladder of knowledge, and I would reiterate it for you: Although you think your knowledge has expanded, you do not see the much wider growth. Like a ladder, you are aware of what is below, what is on top, but you can see no further. It is never-ending.

Les: So would I be right in presuming that part of our destiny, is to remain on this Earth, time and again, until we reach a certain spiritual development, which will free us from the confines of this planet?

Until such time as those lessons you need to know, then you will remain upon this earthly planet. Yes you are correct, there comes a stage when you throw off those bonds and move forward; then and only then would you be permitted to travel to other places—but we are speaking many aeons of your time.

Les: Yes, of course, yes I do appreciate that and that's of course something we cannot imagine, we have no conception of the time factors involved.

My mission coming here is to teach you what you must know.

Les: Yes, well we're very happy to be learning from you and that of course raises another question: We don't know how long the Earth is going to remain as a habitable planet. Is there any likelihood of the earthly planet finishing its specified time in the universe, before we have finished our learning?

Of course this Earth planet has to have a time of learning. Let me say, your planet is a very tiny spec within one universe. Of course there is a time limit, it is a natural progression of law. But that will not happen while there are people who need to learn. There will come a time when it will be a natural progression of the planet, to disintegrate, but we are talking of many complex matters here.

Les: Yes of course we are, but it had occurred to me, that if we are effectively confined to this planet, until we had finished our required learning and that planet had its own destiny mapped out for it—

Yes, which it has—

—were the two going to conflict? And if the planet disintegrated say, or finished its allotted span within the universe and became a cold lifeless hulk, would there have been any people who had not finished their learning before that happened?

I understand your question. Let me reassure you: All life is ‘energy’, whether it is in the form of human flesh or whatever, all life exists and will remain so—please do not concern yourself. You my friend are thinking again in human terms. Try to see it as an advancement, as a growth of energy and then perhaps it will become acceptable to you.

Les: Yes, it is confusing to us with our limited human minds.

Always limited knowledge makes this concourse difficult.

Les: Though over-riding all that, I do accept the necessary growth of the spiritual being and that over-rides everything else, even if I can’t understand the other. It is a peculiar feeling in myself.

Of course, because you have become so used to that human aspect. But remember it is not really you, remember it is a covering for that spiritual being, which will always exist. It matters not whether upon this earthly plane, another planet, wherever—it will continue and go forward.

Les: So it would be wise for us if possible then and this may sound very childish, but when we do a good deed for another person and find a physical pleasure in doing that however small the aspect of it, we all experience that happiness at having done something for another person; we should try and recognise that as a spiritual doing rather than a physical.

We come back again to what I was speaking of, ‘Service.’ What is service? And so many times I hear you say, ‘I must do healing, perhaps I should develop this, develop that.’ Let me say to you, my friends:

Service is a smile, it is creating happiness where there is unhappiness, turning sorrow to joy for another—so many small things; that is what your very existence is about.

Les: Yes, a lot of small physical things, isn’t it?

That, that my friend, is service.

Les: Yes, so basically then we could come back to the quote in the Bible, when it is said, ‘Do unto others as you would have others do unto you.’

I say to you, ‘Do unto others even when they do not do unto you.’

Les: Yes, that takes it one step further, I agree.

That is true service. Where you require (no) thanks, where you require no joy no happiness for yourself, but you offer thanks to that Great Creator, who gives you life.

Les: Yes I follow you.

I wish so that I could enrich your knowledge but of course being human, you will never attain perfection, whilst upon this imperfect Earth. I hope you can accept that and do not be too hard upon yourselves when you fail. But I say to you, recognise it and so it will dispel. You understand?

Les: Yes, this is certainly a very interesting discussion with you Salumet, we appreciate it enormously. Does anybody else have questions? Don’t forget what our friend said before? He smiles when all your questions come out when you come out of the meeting.

Margaret: Well I would say that it’s given me new hope, what has been said this evening.

Les: Yes, anything you’d like to ask?

George: I would say that we have an expression, ‘Service with a smile.’ And it seems to me that service is a smile.

Yes, it is the many small everyday happenings in your lives.

Les: I have tried to explain to people who want knowledge of our work, that there is nothing euphoric about being a medium or an instrument, it is merely a channel for good intentions and good work. And even if you take the trouble to take a person across a busy thoroughfare, you are in effect a medium, you are a channel for service.

Yes, let me say there should be no false gratification in the work that you do for spirit. You are only endeavouring to do that which is normal, or should be to you.

Les: Quite. We have always tried to keep this in mind in healing and in our group meetings.

There are many people upon your Earth, who have no knowledge of what you call spiritual matters, but are in themselves the most spiritual of people. The people you speak of who are ready to offer a hand, a smile, even just to be there to listen, all of these things are spiritual growth.

Les: Yes, we are very pleased when we hear our patients and others say, we love going into that room, there is something different about it and I feel much better for having been there. That makes us feel that we are doing our work in the right way.

What is happening then, is not physical healing, but what healing should be, is that it touches their very soul. That is the true meaning of healing, that recognition of themselves, that wonderment of that feeling within. You see?

Les: Yes, we are very pleased when we hear it, because we feel we have done something worthwhile over the years.

Let me say something to you:

If only you touch ONE soul, ONE soul, whilst upon this Earth, then you can say: 'I have tried.'

But let me say to you, the person without the knowledge which you within this room have, can do the very same deed. Then indeed they have done more than tried, because then it has come from that innate spirit being, without the knowledge. That is indeed a great deed, can you see? (Agreed)

Too often I see people put down, as having no religions, no faith, so many things they are put down about, when in fact they shine forth, as great Spirits.

Les: Yes because you of course would be able to see that, wouldn't you?

Let me say my friends, the knowledge, this knowledge that you have, which you accept as truth, we are pleased to see you, to see that light grow. But upon you, it places an even greater burden, because in having that knowledge, you cannot turn around and say, 'I did not know.' So when you do a misdeed, or an unkindness to another, then your very heart should pull in shame. Can you see?

Les: Yes, the effect of that wrong-doing, is more so than it would be if done by a person without knowledge. (Yes indeed.) And of course with the law of cause and effect, it would rebound on us, to a greater degree.

You would have the rebound effect upon yourselves, of course. So you see, your responsibilities are great.

Les: Yes we accept that.

Now I think for this time, I have spoken enough, but I would say to you all, thank you for gathering, for making my work here so much easier and also I would say, (it) brings me much joy and happiness and I say to you my friends:

Let the Great Creator be with you all, in every aspect of your lives, until we meet again.

Les: We thank you for what you have told us and for your patience and your explanations. God bless you. There then followed a jolly soul through Eileen who had a message for Mark.

~24th July 1995~

Good evening my friends.

All: Good evening.

Let me say to you, your love vibrations are strong this time.

Les: That's very pleasant to hear, we're glad that you can feel those vibrations from us.

Let me begin this time by saying I want you to know that all of you are channels. I have heard your thoughts, 'How can we serve, how can we be used?' I say to you all, you are being used in your own way.

Les: Yes, thank you for that assurance, for everybody. I do know some do doubt themselves.

The ways of being used, are as diverse as the races upon your Earth, so the very fact that you gather here, indicates you are being used. I want to say to the one here tonight, (she) is a perfect example of devotion to being used. The genuineness of that soul, is indeed so true to her spirit. But I wish to say to you please, that as time continues, there are some who will wish to come within this room, who may not be quite suitable. I will tell you of the time, when perhaps you will mention beforehand, so I can indicate to you, whether their presence is acceptable.

Les: Yes, I shall be pleased to have your advice on that.

I know you use wise judgement, I do not question you, please do not think I do.

Les: Oh I wouldn't think that for a minute, no I don't.

But there is coming a time when it is important that the harmony remain good and true to that purpose for which we come, you understand?

Les: Yes I do.

But it is a little time off just yet.

Les: Thank you, I shall certainly keep that in mind and I appreciate your advice.

I do not intend speaking too long this time, because as has been said before, it is important that many channels be used for the work needed. So we must allow those who wish to use others, their time to come. This is acceptable to you?

Les: Absolutely, thank you.

So now, if you have questions this time, I am happy to answer for you.

Les: Thank you. Does anybody have a question?

Mark: Could I ask a question. Mum's a bit worried about Emma our dog. She's not sure whether she should be put down. She's worried about her being in stress and wondered if you could give some advice.

Let me speak please. I understand your love of your animals, we know the feelings are good, when love is shown to those creatures of the Earth. But let me say, like you earthly people, so too do your animals reach a stage of their earthly lives, when it is time to go. We know the heartache it brings, but you would be kinder sometimes, to lovingly let them go. I will not say to you, do this/do that—that is part of your life decisions, you understand? But I say to you, look within your heart and you will know, what is done in love, what is the right thing to do. The animal is suffering, so I say think deeply.

Mark: Thank you.

Les: Any other question for Salumet?

Paul: Yes, I've heard of a place called Findhorn in Scotland grow lots of vegetables, they say they work with the Devas, the spirits of nature and it helps the vegetables to grow stronger.

Yes we have spoken upon nature spirits have we not before? (Yes) Yes it is not only in certain places, the whole of your natural world is helped along by these nature spirits as you call them. We have spoken extensively I think upon this subject.

Les: Yes, I don't know whether you were here at that meeting, but Salumet told us that all of creation has a governing body, as it were, whose responsibility is to look after it, take care of it, nurture it in every way. This applies to water, to plants, to animals, the whole of nature.

Paul: So a good gardener or farmer can tune into this?

Les: They can do it anywhere, not only in Findhorn, if the acceptance of the power is there, in the person.

It matters not whether you accept or not, the very fact of nature being there, is enough for these creatures to be doing their work. You within this room are not sufficiently knowledgeable yet, to see. Those with the eye, can actually see these creatures at work.

Les: Is that so.

Of course, of course.

Les: I had wondered if they were visible to some people.

Can I say something to you, you may think it is a fairy-tale, I think you call them. Where do you think the stories originally came from? The small creatures which are seen with the eye of knowledge that is where your stories come from, from people who have vision, who can see. They are only shown to those with great vision. That is why I say, you within this room, are not yet knowledgeable enough. Can you understand?

Les: Yes we can—that would probably then be the origin of the stories of the fairies and the leprechauns in Ireland and so on?

Yes, this is what I am saying to you.

Les: So they are in fact visible to some, in spite of what others say.

It is true, indeed it is.

Les: Well that's something you can practise Paul.

Paul: Yes, I'll try. Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much for that explanation Salumet.

Sara: I did see some Fairies once, a few years ago, when I was very stressed and I actually asked for help and I saw some fairies.

Here we come back to what I have always taught you, the power of your THOUGHT. Here we have an example of it. The depth of feeling of wanting help, creates not always what you wish, but help in some way.

Sara: It did help.

Les: Any more questions? No? Well thank you very much for that Salumet. Now if you wish us to continue other work, we will.

I will leave you with my love and my blessing, to each and every one of you. Now I say, allow those who wish to come, let them come with love and with peace within your hearts. Send out those thoughts to all in need, for surely there are many.

Les: There are many indeed. And our love goes with you, and our thanks once more.

There was then a short pause before one came through Sue:

—I am here to mention a little about something that I believe is troubling you all at the present. I talk about your weather.

Les: Yes, it is quite a troublesome thing at the moment, because it's so hot and we are not used to it.

Yes, now you understand that in our world, these climatic changes do not occur in such force?

Les: We do understand that.

You understand that temperatures and conditions can be brought by individual spirit people, do you comprehend me?

Les: Yes I was going to ask you a question on that actually, that the temperature surrounding a person, can be adjusted according to that person's thoughts, I believe.

That is exactly right. Now, you do not have to be in spirit to achieve a certain amount of help with climatic temperature. It is possible in such conditions as you are having to face now, to have your own 'thermostat,' is that the correct expression?

Les: Absolutely correct, yes.

Now, as we have said so often, the power of thought is paramount, yes?

Les: Yes you have often told us that.

So, it is possible in your world, to adjust the temperature around your earthly frames. It IS possible, but it does take considerable amount of your THOUGHTS, do you understand me?

Les: I imagine it would do, and of course you know that I'm going to ask you, how do we do it? Or at least, how do we attempt to do it?

If you are suffering from the heat, as I am led to believe you are at present, please to spare quiet moment in your busy lives to sit in quiet. Think and concentrate on the gentle breeze, yes you understand me. Imagine, imagine you are sat beside some flowing cool water. Concentrate on that water, concentrate on the breeze gently shifting the leaves in the trees above. Start at your feet—imagine that breeze slowly moving up your earthly frame, until it reaches the top of your head. Then ask that from the top of your head, the excess heat which is troubling you can be removed. This should be of great benefit to you all, but please, it is not going to be as if you have walked into an icy condition, it is much more gradual than that. But in time and with much thought, you can quite easily adjust your own body heat. Please I ask you all, are you willing to try this, for your own benefits? (Agreed) I would like to hear results of your experiments another time.

Les: Yes of course, we look forward to beginning that, I think it is what certain Buddhist sects already do, isn't it?

It is not a new formula, no. It has been known for many, many generations.

Les: I think it is part of a Tibetan initiation ceremony too isn't it, to create sufficient heat in their body, to dry wet clothes placed on their body?

Yes, so many of these traditions and rituals, go back to the beginning of time itself.

Les: Yes and so often they are scorned and laughed at.

So many people think they have invented these things.

Les: Yes! (Chuckles) It's merely there to be found out. We don't invent, we only discover.

Everything you see, everything you do, everything you know, has been known before. Let me say to you, that as you say, climatic conditions can be reversed. Therefore what I say to you now regarding the heat, can be reversed in your winter season. So remember, when you are standing in the cold, start at your feet and think of the warmth of the fire, slowly moving to the top of your head. You do not need this advice at the moment, I appreciate you do not wish to think of fires just yet, but remember for the future.

Les: I'm certain we shall all remember it.

Please, in jest I say to you, we cannot teach you to stop the rain from falling on your head, but you can feel less discomfort, when you think of these things. We cannot prevent the snow, or the wind, but with careful THOUGHT, the problems surrounding you, in these climatic conditions, can be lessened to a great degree.

Les: Well we all look forward to beginning our experiments with thought on this.

Now I do hope it has been of some interest to you and please at your next meeting, I would be interested to hear any comments you may have on the matter. I may not speak, but I will be here.

Les: Good, so you will hear our reports anyway.

You would be quite amazed at what we do hear.

(Laughter)

Les: Yes, I think our amazement is being tempered by the constant surprises we get.

Now I leave you. Enjoy your summer months. They can bring much joy, if you know how to use them.

God bless you all.

Les: Thank you. God bless you and thank you again.

Goodbye.

There were several further communications this evening, which though do not contain further teachings, have been included in order to show the range of communications that can take place at these séance meetings:

The next one was a Chinese gentleman through Jo:

Mr Bone?

Les: Welcome to you again.

Do you know me?

Les: Yes I do, yes I know you. You have been here many times I am glad to say.

Yes, and I come tonight, with your permission and the agreement of the instrument, it is our wish to further develop instrument for important work, we have been with her for some time now.

Les: Yes of course we agree.

Yes, and if that is permissible.

Les: Yes I'm sure it is, I'm sure she would agree.

We our very happy that you say this. Over the next few weeks, we will be using her more, with hopefully very successful results.

Les: We look forward to it.

Thank you so much.

Les: We have always enjoyed the visits of you and your colleagues, in fact one of your colleagues used another instrument at our other meeting a short time ago, you know of that?

Yes, we know all that go on here. My last purpose Mr Bone, please hold out your hands. Please accept this power on behalf of all who come to this house from our side.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. I willingly accept and I am very grateful for it.

It is our pleasure. Thank you for allowing me here this evening, thank you all.

Les: It's been lovely to have you. God bless you, and we look forward to speaking with you again. Goodbye. The next communicator was through Heather, a regular Wednesday group medium, who was a visitor at this meeting:

Les: Hello, sorry to have kept you waiting. Welcome to you.

Good evening Mr Bone. (Voice strong/powerful)

Les: Thank you for joining us, a different meeting, but you are still welcome.

Sorry to interrupt. We would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for the work you do with us and although you have many sessions Mr Bone, they are all linked in our minds.

Les: Yes they are indeed. I'm sure my colleagues are very grateful for you to be speaking to them like this. They have heard of you, of your instrument rather.

There is much work to be done and although some of your friends do not appreciate the part that they all take in these matters, they are each and every one of them important to us.

Les: I do tell them this, but they don't always believe me.

There are some who do not listen.

Les: They each have their part to play.

Yes, they are all important to us.

Les: Quite, otherwise they wouldn't be here.

That is so. We thank you for the love that you bring to us and we thank you for allowing us to visit you on this occasion.

Les: It's a pleasure to have you.

We did not wish to intrude.

Les: There's no intrusion, but I knew you were going to use your instrument on this occasion.

It is more than she knew. (Laughter) She came here for a rest I think. She should know! You are all very dear to us in your continued efforts.

Les: It's very nice to hear that and we are pleased that we are able to contribute to the work.

We thank you all for continuing to request help for those that are in need in your world. There are some very sorry souls around, on your planet. And at your Christmas time, you were asked to spare thoughts for them and this has continued to return.

Les: Good, there is one lady here I would like you to give some assurance to, if you would please. She is wondering why she is not more easily used, why she is not developing in this particular way. I am talking about this young lady of my right. Salumet has spoken to her several times, but I'm taking advantage of your visit now.

One moment please. (Pause + deep breathing) One of you has their way of bringing joy to others, some have the healing in them to help others. Others bring information and guidance.

Les: Yes, the young lady knows that she is being given help in various ways and she knows that her busy life does preclude the calm and peace necessary for development sometimes, but she does wonder if ever she will develop in the future.

Her voice is her gift. It will bring joy to many—and her musical fingers. It may not be the way in which she anticipated. She must not belittle these gifts, they are not given to everyone.

Les: No, quite, just as her gifts are not given to everyone.

(Laughter) Very wise Mr Bone. We will say to her please persevere. Give as much time and attention to these gifts as you can in your busy life. You will be rewarded by the joy that you bring to others. It is for the moment very small, not for everyone to be aware of these skills, but in time, there will be wider people for you to bring your talents to. Is there anything you wish to ask?

Sara: No I think that's fine thank you. Just to know that these are my gifts, these are the things I should work at.

Did you ever doubt it? (Laughter)

Sara: I'm never sure sometimes, which things to work at most.

You have been told before have you not, that your self-doubt is your downfall my dear. One day you will learn the true purpose and the true joy that your gifts can bring. If you were really, one moment please, (Pause/deep breathing), the time is not for me to tell you this. I can say to you that if you do not wish these gifts, if you strongly desire development in other ways, this can be possible, but it is not what was intended for you.

Sara: No, no, I love my gifts very much and I do want to pursue them.

Then please do make the most of them.

Sara: Yes I will—thank you.

Les: Put the other problems out of your mind, don't think about them. Thank you very much for that.

Please think of us kindly. Our love goes with you all.

Les: And ours love with you.

Please be gentle with yourselves. It is a very hard path that you all tread, whatever your way through life. These lessons will be the hardest any of you will ever have to learn. They are not idly given to you and you will all be well rewarded for your perseverance.

Les: Thank you, God bless you, goodbye.

There then followed a communicator through Eileen:

My dear friend.

Les: Hello, welcome to you.

I am overwhelmed to make this very, very brief return for one last time. You do not recognise me? I moved on, so to return this last time is very emotional for me.

Les: I'm sorry to hear it's the last time

You do not remember me, Sister Anna?

Les: Yes I do Sister Anna, now you say your name, certainly I do, and your colleagues, Sister Roberta, Sister Margarita, yes I remember you all.

(Spoken with much emotion—almost crying) We have all moved on, but my desire to return one more time, was overwhelming and I have been given permission, just this last time and I am so happy to see you, I am so happy so happy, I have seen your most beautiful wife, who I used many, many times and I was grateful to this one also, that my request was granted.

Les: Yes and I can't tell you how grateful we are, that you should have considered us worth coming back to like this. We can't thank you enough Sister Anna.

I wanted to say farewell to you personally. Now I can go on with peace in my heart, to those many friends who wait for me.

Les: Thank you very much indeed—you certainly are an old friend. I'm sure you have a great deal of work to do on your next plane.

It is truly beautiful. It has been such a great joy for me.

Les: It has for us too, the many times you've been here and for the wonderful work you have done. We can only wish you every happiness in the future. We all join in doing that—much love and a great happiness for you.

It is a word that is beyond expression.

Les: It is yes. You can feel our love for you, I'm sure.

I will go now. (Voice becomes faint)

Les: God bless you and take care of you all, yes. Think of us sometimes as we shall think of you.

Eileen then had someone who wanted to give a message. They gave the name of Margaret and John and also Stephanie and mentioned bandages. It became clear that she wanted to speak to Sara about her forthcoming Wedding.

You do not always agree at times do you? She is telling me.

Sara: As a family? (Yes) No we don't always.

No, but you are quite close nevertheless.

Sara: Yes we are.

There is a family occasion to come, not too far away, yes, it will be a good time, much laughter, much joy, much love and there is to be celebration next year also, quite unexpected, but she is telling me, she is looking out for you all and she wishes she had said more when she was on the Earth, but she was not one of many words. This is all she wants to tell you. She sends all of you her love and she is giving you Lilies of the Valley. So will you please accept and take them?

Sara: Yes of course I think it's my Grandma. ('Lily of the Valley' was her favourite flower)

So I say thank you and I do beg your pardon if I have held you up, but she was insistent and I will now take my leave of you.

Sara: Thank you.

Les: We are grateful to you for what you have told. (Thanks + farewells)

~7th August 1995~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Many things have been happening since last we met. Much has gone on within your world, but we will not concern ourselves this time on worldly happenings. I wish to concentrate my energy and time to those of you within this group.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

There are those with me, who will wish to speech to you for some short time, but firstly I want to say to the gentleman at the end of your room, just a few words please. You have been reading some matter, on subject you do not fully understand yes? Please to speak with me.

Mark: Is it a book?

A book—you do not fully understand its contents, but let me tell you, lay it down, place it to one side, leave it for some while and then return to it. Then all will become clear to you.

Mark: Yes, right, thank you very much.

Yes, we have with this one, some indecision also at this particular time in his life, is this not so? (Yes.)

Yes, let me say to you, be still, be quiet and you will find your answer. (Thank you.) Your future my friend, is a good and happy one. Do not concern yourself on trivialities. You rather worry about things, which are unimportant. Yes we know, we will support you along life's journey. (Thank you.)

Les: Thank you.

There has been unhappiness with some of you since last we met. I have endeavoured to uplift and to carry you forward.

Les: Thank you very much for that.

Now, before we let those who wish, join us, have you questions for me?

Les: Yes I do have one question Salumet. I must preface it with a remark: We have been told that we shall have 'Direct Voice' communication here. That leads me to the question which is, I am of the opinion that Direct Voice communication is not something new or rare, that it has in the past been a common phenomenon between many nations, who were aware of the possibility. Is that right?

My good friend, it has always existed in many forms, not always recognisable, as you call it, 'Direct Voice,' but the energy power has been there to be used by those capable of it. It is not new, it has existed in your world, since your time began.

Les: Yes I was thinking on the subject a few days ago and I was convinced it had been such, since the beginning of time or civilisation, as we call it, or mankind perhaps is better.

Go back to your Biblical times that you are all familiar with. Was not the voices heard in the wilderness?

Was not the voice of those great spirits heard upon the mountains? What is new about it? Nothing.

Les: The so-called voice of God, is nothing more than what we would call Direct Voice, what we would call Direct Voice communication.

It was said to be the voice of God. Let me tell you my friends, you will never ever hear the voice of God! (Amused expression)

Les: Of course not—no, I have never accepted that phrase.

I too wish I could hear such a voice, but I would not be truthful, if I told you such a thing was possible.

Les: No, but that was the only description that they could think of giving in those days.

It was their desire, so it became their reality.

Les: That's right. Well thank you for answering it, I thought my feeling was correct on that.

I will say one thing about this subject: We know you have waited many of your Earth years. But let me tell you my friend, when the time is right, many things are possible, many things. Try not to focus upon one thing, which you see as great. The possibilities are building for much, much more.

Les: That's most interesting. I do try not to concentrate on one particular thing, because I know we can't possibly imagine what you are able to do.

We need to work with you all. We need to refine these subtle energies used by all of you, because you see, as I have told you all, what are you but pure energy. There has to be much refinement.

Les: That I can understand too.

You do—that is good. So I say to you, hold on to your desire and you will see it come to fruition. But I say, take heed of your time—do not become too anxious.

Les: No, as you have said many times, 'patience.'

It is really one of your very true sayings. Patience is indeed a virtue. I know you humans are not endowed with great patience, but it is something you all can try to remedy.

Les: Yes. Thank you very much for what you've told us.

I will let those speak now, but I would ask you to return to me at the end of this gathering.

Les: Certainly, we shall look forward to that.

I thank you my dear friend. Now let those who wish to work, begin.

Les: Thank you.

A communicator soon came through Sue:

Les: Good evening to you, welcome to you.

You are well, my friend?

Les: I think so thank you and we enjoy having you with us.

I will stay just a small amount of time. I come with a blessing for you all. Might I ask please, that those who are capable, please to hold out their hands to the centre of your room, like this.

Les: Palms upwards.

Please if you are not capable, if you are being used for other things, it is not important, just to put your hands into the middle of your room, feel please the power in your hands, feel it and remember, for if at any time you are feeling distressed, confused, worried about the day-to-day events in your lives, sit quietly in a dimly lit room, ask for help, put your hands to the centre, feel the power go through you and if we can, we will assist in your problems.

All: Thank you.

Now, lower them slowly back into the position most comfortable to you, breathe slowly, and deeply, feel the power seep through your limbs, hold the feeling, remember the feeling, say a silent prayer now please to the spirits, as I give you a blessing of the Creator of us all.

May the light and the love be within you and remain with you, through your earthly lives and into the spirit realms, which will follow. God bless and keep you all.

All: Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much and God be with you also.

There then followed a communicator through Heather:

Les: Welcome to you, thank you for being with us.

Good evening Mr Bone.

Les: Good evening to you, thank you for joining us.

I have gifts for your friends. It will not be as elaborate as the last gift session we had. I would like to give a rainbow to each of your friends.

Les: I would be very grateful to you for doing that. I know the rainbow is symbolic of peace and serenity. Would you like to walk around to give each of them a gift?

Is this to be permitted?

Les: Yes of course, do you wish me to help your instrument?

One moment please Mr Bone. It is allowed Mr Bone.

(Breathing became deeper)

Mark: Thank you.

Your rainbow does have stars at each end.

George: Thank you.

Your rainbow is sitting upon clouds.

Sara: Thank you. Your rainbow is surrounded by Great Love—and coloured ribbons I see.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

This rainbow does have waterfalls from the centre, down each side.

Paul: Thank you.

This rainbow does come as a bridge, with a parapet on each side and a walkway through the middle. It is a pretty journey if you wish to make it.

Lilian: Your rainbow is made with satin ribbons and is floating on drops of dew.

Dawn: Thank you.

This rainbow does have yellow roses, a bush at each end for you.

And to my other friends, your rainbows are in the stars.

Les: Thank you.

I thank you for allowing this to be done.

Les: Thank you for bringing such pleasure to us all

Bless you all.

All: Thank you.

Salumet then returned:

Thank you my friends.

I hope you have found it to be instructive.

Les: I'm sure everybody has, is that not so? (Enthusiastic agreement) Particularly the receipt of the rainbows.

Let me speak to you about your rainbows: You understand the symbolisms that accompany it, but let me say to you, my friends, you are the rainbow, you are the very being, the gradation of colours within that rainbow. Do you understand what I mean?

Les: Yes thank you.

As you are all individual, so are the symbols which accompany it. They are the things to which you should refer.

Les: We follow, thank you.

You are as the colours of your rainbow, each one of you, at a different stage of being, from the very lightest, to the very deepest shades. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I think we do.

I am happy that you have been given so much this time. I do intend to bring more people who wish to instruct you in exercises, which will develop you spiritually. As I have watched you all from the beginning of this evening, I have watched you become brighter and brighter in your colours.

Les: That's splendid news for us. I was going to ask you not for flattery, I know you wouldn't do that, but if you were satisfied with the progress you have seen in us all?

I have come, I have told you, that each and every one of you, should be developed to their fullest capabilities. I do not wish to come, merely for words, but for your development and as such, I intend to bring those people most able to help you.

Les: That's splendid news. We hope we have not been disappointing to you, in our development so far.

You could never disappoint me. Just to see that flickering light develop, to grow brighter each time I see you, makes my heart grow. It brings me—if I were human like you, I think I would shed some tears. But not being human like you, then I have to tell you, my heart is full.

Les: I'm sure I speak for all of us when I say I think our hearts are full too, for what you bring for us and what you teach us.

There is much to learn, but you will, and you will grow and you will develop together, until the time when you will be so amazed by what we can bring to you.

Les: Good. (Thanks expressed) We thoroughly enjoy our meetings here, all of us.

Do not doubt what comes, it may seem odd to you sometimes, but I say to you all, accept with love and much can be done.

Les: Well we do indeed accept.

Before I leave you this time I wish to say there are many who are so proud of this lady, small in stature, but growing so big in spirit. (Sue) There are many who look after her and are proud to be associated with her.

Les: I'm delighted for her to hear that. Thank you for telling us.

Now, let me say:

May that Great Creator, who binds us all together,

May we be enfolded within that love—that peace.

May you all search your hearts and live your daily lives, by those thoughts and deeds, which you know to be of love.

I say one more thing my friend, take care of yourself, you are prone to chills if you are not careful, but don't be overly concerned, because I am with you.

Les: I'm sure you are and I appreciate that. Thank you very, very much again and may the Divine Creator be with you at all times also. Goodbye and our love goes with you.

(Farewells)

An amusing jolly communicator then came through Eileen, to help 'bring her back'.

~14th August 1995~

Good evening

All: Good evening.

As always, I am happy to join with you.

Les: That's very nice to know.

It is important this time that I work with instrument. So with your permission, may I suggest that any questions you have for me be short and I will then tell you what we will be doing this time.

Les: Thank you very much. Yes I would like to put one question: We are collecting as you know, all the information that you give us, and that which comes from your colleagues. I'm hoping that it's not going to remain tucked away somewhere, but that it will eventually be able to be published for the benefit of others. Whether I do the publishing or not is immaterial. I can't see myself getting time to do it, but I'm hoping that all that you've told us will be made public. Are you able to confirm that for me?

Let me speak upon this matter: It is not so important that my words are put upon the paper, but let me say, I do understand the desire that the words spoken here should travel further afield. When first I came to you, I told you that information given by me, would be received by many others throughout your earthly world—that all that would be given would be clarified by others. But we know that it is important for others to see and hear the words spoken within these selected groups. Therefore the time will come, the opportunity will be placed, whereby the information will be put down, will be gathered and will be distributed.

Les: Thank you, that's all I wanted to know. Thank you very much indeed I should hate to have thought it just remaining stagnant.

All truth is never stagnant, it must go forward, it must travel from person to person to person, in order that what we say—and this time it cannot be dismissed as in times gone by. We have come to an age, when the 'TRUTH' is here to stay.

Les: Good. Thank you very much for that answer—now the floor is yours my friend.

I have said many times, that it is our plan that all of you be developed to the fullest capacity possible. So while I work with this instrument, I will ask with your permission of course, to try a little something different.

Les: Yes certainly.

If possible, I ask that each one if possible place their hands upon mine for no longer than 10 seconds, to return to their seat, to feel the energy given and to express what they feel to you my friend. Do not despair if you feel nothing, but please try to open your minds.

Les: Yes we shall.

We then did as instructed, except for Sue and Jo, who were being used and were deeply in trance.

Les: Thank you that is everybody except the two instruments you are using.

You may find that they will speak to you in any case. I will leave you now and will work quietly with this one, but please do speak, and feel and give what you get from those who are trying to work with you.

Les: Thank you.

There then followed a communicator through Sue:

We are trying to (effect) a change, you understand me?

Les: Yes.

We will be working here. Please to say if any change occurs.

Les: Yes, she will feel it I know, if you do.

George: I have a feeling of energy about my head. A sort of pleasant pressure almost, about the back and sides.

Margaret: I feel a lot of power in my hands and my arms. When I held my hands up, it felt like a shock.

Les: Yes, it's a tingling isn't it, too?

Dawn: Yes I can feel tingling in my hands too.

Les: He said to feel the energy, that's right. As I sat down, I had a magnificent picture, of a tall ship fully rigged, gorgeous white sails and a wonderfully blue sea. I don't know the significance of the symbol, but I can only assume that it means that everything is sailing along splendidly. Incidentally, if any of you ever get a vision like that, which you can relate to something, if it is heading towards your right, it indicates the future, if it is heading towards the left, it indicates the past. My ship was heading towards the right.

More time than usual was taken bringing the instruments back, especially Eileen, who Les noted had been taken deeper than ever before.

~21st August 1995~

No Salumet this time. It was an extremely hot evening and the windows and curtains were opened, to allow air in, which meant the room was lighter than usual. The first communication came through Eileen; a sweet, warm character, explaining that they were attracted by the sound of church bells, which happened to be ringing this evening and were clearly audible through the opened windows:

—I could not resist when I could hear the bells.

Les: Of course not. Really, do you like them then?

I was a novice and I rather left the Earth quickly and so I did not take the full vows and so I am rather attracted back to the sound of church bells.

Les: Yes, there are bells in the village and this is the evening when they have their bell practice.

I do understand, but I still find difficulty in not being attracted back to them.

Les: I quite understand it, yes.

The sound of them always brought great pleasure to me. It was the highlight of my day, when the evening bell rang. It was my most sacred thing.

Les: Mm. So you say you didn't finish taking your vows? Do you still wish to do that?

Not now. (Gentle smile)

Les: Because you can if you wish, but it's not necessary.

I do realise it's not necessary, but sometimes we are drawn back to earthly things. It helps us to go forward. People sometimes do not realise this. They feel that we are being held back, but that is not always true.

Les: No, because it gives you a comparison, doesn't it?

Exactly—so you see, it is not only the personal satisfaction, it is a growth. And so, I have taken this opportunity to come back.

Les: We're pleased you have—

So, I'm very pleased and I will not take up any more of your time.

Les: You're not taking up time at all. We'd love to have a chat with you. What do you do now, if you are not going to take up your vows? How do you occupy yourself, because I feel that you are still very deeply involved in what would be called religious instruction?

I am indeed, I do help those other novices who come to our world and do not know what has happened to them.

Les: Yes, that's what we call 'rescue.' We do that here, so you meet them when they come over and you put them at ease do you?

Yes, because you see, to be greeted by one dressed in the same garb, is of course a comfort to them. They need to have some reassurance that all that they believed in, has not gone by the board, as you would say.

Les: So you still wear the same garb?

Only to meet them on introduction—then I can show myself as I am now.

Les: What do you wear now, pretty clothes?

No, no, no, it changes, it changes with me—I will say moods, but that is not quite correct. But of course colours change, materials can change and so I would be adorned in the garment best suited for me at a particular time.

Les: I see, this isn't idle curiosity, it's a wish to know and of course we record all this information to pass on to other people.

Do you?

Les: Oh yes, those who are interested, that's why I ask the questions. And my 10 colleagues here tonight are also very interested in what you are saying, so you change your dress frequently, in the course of the day?

Yes of course, you see some groups would not be able to accept me, in some of my garments, it would be a little too much for them. So the hue, the colour is toned down. I am fortunate that I am one of the people who are able to do this.

Les: So it's not everybody who can do that then?

No of course not.

Les: So you have been up there some time have you, in the new world?

Well yes of course, I would not be instructing if I hadn't.

Les: No, I wanted to confirm that. So it has taken you time to do that, to learn and have the ability to do these rapid changes as we would call them?

I have to say to you that really it hasn't taken me too long. I believe from what I know now, that I have been very fortunate, that my knowledge was an innate one, which came to the surface quite quickly.

Les: Of course it would, I was going to say, you had preliminary training here, which made you ready to accept what was ready, when you went over.

But it doesn't happen in all cases you see. The instruction on your Earth doesn't always make you ready for what you meet when you come to our world.

Les: So would I be right in saying, without wishing you to criticise anybody or method of instruction, that much of the instruction given here, is still inaccurate and incomplete?

Oh, of course, of course, no ONE religion knows everything. There is elements of truth in all religions and of course, when you come to this side of life, everything becomes so much clearer and all I would say to you good people, is the best asset you could display and have, is love for one another. If you work upon that, you will not stray far.

Les: Quite, this is what we try to cultivate, and we have tried in our learning to absorb all which is good in each religious belief and discarding all that is rhetorical and apparently hypocritical in many cases.

What I would say about many religious orders, that the confinement amongst themselves cannot be good. I would say although they grow as they would think spiritually, in fact they are closing themselves away from all the love that surrounds them.

Les: Do you know, I am extremely interested that you say that, because I have felt that for many years now that it is selfish of them, in one way.

Well, I would not say selfish, it is because they do not understand anything more, but of course by closing themselves away, they are closing in that love which should be expressed to others and this is something I try to teach our new novices when they come over.

Les: Good, because we accept and believe implicitly, they the giving of oneself is the right way, is the basic principal of love anyway and if these people have confined themselves to a closed order, then they cannot give of themselves as they should.

Yes, what is love but giving unconditionally? That is the key word, unconditionally.

Les: Absolutely, though I know we can't presume to succeed in doing this, we do try in our group here.

Yes, we know we are much aware of many groups like this, who gather together in love and it is such a joy to see.

Les: Do you visit other groups like this?

I in fact do not return very often, but on this occasion it was rather too much and so I was granted my wish to return this time and here I hear them again and that is my queue that I must now return. I have enjoyed this visit most—oh I don't know the word to use, I am overwhelmed to have met you all. I leave my love with you and perhaps in some distant day I might return and speak with you again.

Les: That would be very nice, we'd always welcome you and we do appreciate you being here tonight.

I hope you have not been too disappointed, because I have been told you were expecting another, but oh well, I won't say I'm second best, but—

Les: No don't say that, we weren't really expecting it fully, because of the different conditions. The gentleman we had expected always works in a very dim red light, and we didn't anticipate that he would be able to come.

Oh I see, well I wasn't aware of all these things, but of course I'm always quick to grab an opportunity and so I thank you, it has been most interesting for me.

Les: And for us, it's been delightful having you. Can I ask if others are coming tonight to speak with us?

I think so yes, the one who came first will come and perhaps tell you a little more.

Les: Thank you very much, and if we hear church bells again another night, we'll open the door ready for you.

(Laughter) I thank you, goodbye.

Les: Thank you, God bless you.

Several others followed through Eileen, with messages for various sitters, before the meeting drew to a close.

~28th August 1995~

Salumet discusses 'transfiguration,' which Les had witnessed the day before, via the medium Heather. The communicator through Heather was an Egyptian priest called Harrak, of the God Isis:

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you, nice to have you with us once more. I'm sorry we're low in numbers once more. To me, it's one of our annoying holiday frustrations.

My friend, I have said before, it matters not. But before I continue, I will ask something from you. Would you please remove the lady's timepiece?

Les: Remove the lady's watch, yes certainly.

It may seem a trivial matter, but I am aware of her comfort, in using this body.

Les: Thank you for letting me know—I'm sure in future, she'll remove it, before waiting for you.

Yes, now let us continue. It seems a while since last I came to you, and always my heart is quickened, by these visits to you.

Les: It's very kind of you to say so. Our sensibilities certainly are, I'm sure I speak for everybody here.

(Agreed)

I was aware of your speaking, before I spoke to you. Let me say this to you please: So long have you been told, 'be patient, be patient,' have you not?

Les: We have indeed.

When first I came to you, I said much would happen and yet you are surprised when something good does happen. (Smiles)

Les: Yes, I must admit, I didn't associate your telling us, and the happening. It was so remarkable and I was going to say, how much I appreciated what I was allowed to see.

Don't be overwhelmed, there is much to come. You have a lady within this group, who has over the past few weeks, been used for the very thing, you saw with your own eyes. I speak of the lady small in stature, but big in spirit. (Sue) There will be happenings too, with this one.

Les: Thank you very much. I'm anxious that my colleagues should see, if possible, what I saw, because it was so marvellous.

I will say the words, continue to be patient. Much is going to be given to you all, but when first I came to you, did I not tell you, slowly, slowly?

Les: Yes you're absolutely right, you did.

But do not doubt these words. Much will happen within these walls, much that you have waited for. I will not give you times, because that is not important. What is important, is what occurs and what it brings to you all—the knowledge, the knowledge of TRUTH.

Les: Yes. As I was saying to my friends, I don't use superlatives, but it needed one, to describe what I witnessed last night.

I understand my friend, but let me tell you, it is a minor thing, compared to what is to come. So do not doubt it, thank the Great Creator for all that comes to you.

Les: I did do so actually, last evening, afterwards. It was really so astounding and I felt very humbled, that I should have been allowed to have that gentleman here.

Yes, and please to nurture the instrument being used. She has much to give, much within, but she needs your help.

Les: Certainly, of course, she'll get that at any time.

When we make contact, like we have so quickly with her, it's best that she be helped by someone of knowledge, like yourself. I don't say this to you, I do not give you fine words so that you may have pride, but I tell you for all your sakes, it is better to have someone strong. That is why we have chosen you. I do not use my words lightly also.

Les: No, I understand and I'm sure you can sense my feeling about this.

I do my friend and I say to you, you are being rewarded for all your efforts.

Now then, let us continue. Let us speak of what is in your hearts this time. Does anyone wish to question me?

Lilian: Yes I did wonder if you could tell us anything about previous lives? If it's not important, I'll understand.

Always there is interest in this subject. But I will say to you, it is not important what has gone. But I say to you, yes, you have had previous existence. I have told you before, all of you came together in another time.

Lilian: Yes, I think this is what interests me.

Les: Yes, I think the lady is asking whether it is possible to know in what capacity she was there.

I know what is in your mind. Let me tell you just a little, shall I? I know you have wondered on the connection between you all, because your lifestyles in this lifetime, are quite different. But you see, again we come to the spirit side of yourselves and how you have grown through the times—let me say that firstly to you. You all existed and I think you will be amused knowing your human sense of humour, when I tell you that all of you were within a closed order of monks. (Surprise expressed, with some chuckles)

Yes, I thought you would be amused. Do I sense the shock, the horror?

Les: You do sense the shock! (More chuckles)

All of you were closely put together and I may say there were times when some of you were unkind to another.

Les: Is that so?

Yes it was not a time of great harmony then, therefore comes the time again, when all of you needed to be reunited.

Les: Well I think I better start by apologising to everybody if I was unkind.

(Laughter)

But that is not the important part. This time around, instead of being enclosed with your own thoughts and feelings, this time you are here to spread the truth of what you know. But let me tell you, all of you were of the male gender. I have to tell you, you do not have mixed, mixed monks. (More laughter) I'm sorry it amuses me. So you see, you came together again, but in different genders, to make those unsociable problems much lighter, much healthier for you all.

Les: And following on what you have told us previously then, we would have chosen our sex this time would we?

I have told you, you do not come without your full consent of the life that is to be.

Les: Thank you, that confirms it for us, because I know the lady would have asked that question next probably.

I am always amused that you humans find it important whether you be male or female. I see you not as any gender.

Your spirit is neither male nor female, it is both. So if you can look upon yourselves in that manner, your lives would be so much simpler. You would have the understanding of each other, you would be kinder. We see so much disagreement between your sexes; try to feel, try to understand and see yourself as someone without gender, then you will really feel that spirit self, which after all, is the most important part of you.

Les: And of course to follow on that, we ought to have a greater understanding of both sexes and their personal problems in this life.

But my friend you do. You have had previous existence of different sexes, so you do retain the knowledge, but I am afraid when you come to this incarnation, all is forgotten. And so you seem to take a step backward, rather than going forward.

Les: You are quite right, because that is a very interesting comment, because I have always, since I've been on this Earth, had a great objection to Closed Orders. (Of monks etc.) Now that may have been—(Laughter) My friend, you speak against yourself.

Les: Yes quite. Whether it was something I was remembering from my previous life, but I have always objected to them since I've been here and thought they couldn't possibly serve any real purpose and those of the Closed Orders should have been giving of themselves externally of that order.

Yes, I would not say it was fruitless or thankless, but I understand what you are saying and yes, it does seem to be that within the Closed Orders, this happens. But what does happen to some within, is that they find their true selves, which can never be termed as a fruitless task.

Les: No of course not, I used the wrong descriptions probably.

But I understand what you say and I would say that to fill your lives, you must have contact. After all, that is why you are here. We have spoken of love, what is love, and how you must use it. If you are secluded, you do not have those opportunities to give. But within the Closed Orders, they do have their brethren, they do have the opportunity to give love, if only in a restricted way.

Les: Certainly. I found this interesting with the gentleman who came last night, because one thing he did accept, was that within his apparent hard teaching and it was hard I know and I told him I knew he had a very soft spot and he doubted his own teaching on occasions, many occasions and is why he had been brought now and he agreed that this was so.

Yes, but let me add a little something to that: He also would have been afraid to speak, because within the era of his time, there was much power amongst women. So you see although he knew and probably understood more than ever was said, he would have been afraid to voice, because the women kind at that time, were much revered. Men in a way, were rather subservient. This is something you must keep in mind, when you make judgement of any kind, that it was not just a matter of speaking out, but he would have been placing himself above those in power and this he could not have done.

Les: Quite, I felt that I had to be very gentle with him whilst I was talking and he accepted that and when I said finally that because he had now come here to learn what he had to do, he had to teach his former teachers, he said you know in my time, you could have been beheaded for saying that.

I have to say yes, but in those times there were much harsher ways of dying.

Les: I'm sure there were.

So there would have been fear beside the knowledge and the fear was the greater of the two. So do not judge him too harshly.

Les: Oh I didn't.

I know you don't, but I speak generally—let me speak generally of judging others. You must not, because you do not fully understand the situations, the feelings that go on around all of these things, especially so long ago in your earthly history. There were so many factors unknown to you today. So I would say to you all, 'Judge not.' I know that is a hard thing to do for you, but find it in your heart always to offer help, but not to judge.

Les: Yes I did feel this with him, you are absolutely right of course, and I felt this with him, that he would after being here, be allowed to re-join his people, that was his concern, that he should find them.

Always there is reason for returning, as you very well know, and his opportunity came. It will be changed, and the 'Thank you' you had, was in seeing the face. That to you, my very good friend, was a 'Thank you.'

Les: That's nice to know. I did wonder why it suddenly changed, it was so absolutely emphatic.

It was a 'Thank you,' and please do accept it as such.

Les: Thank you, now you've told me I certainly will do. I'm very grateful to him for that and I'm pleased that evidently I was able to be of assistance to him.

I will say to you, that he will return to you at a future time and he will tell you so much more of the style of his life at that time. You will find it most interesting.

Les: Thank you, we look forward to that time.

But do not be surprised my friend, of what is coming.

Les: Thank you. If that's a sample, it's going to be marvellous, as you have said it will be.

You see, you cannot fully understand what there is to give, what we can bring to you, but we do need conditions to be right. So I want to say to you this time:

Before you enter this room, place to one side all daily concerns, all problems, offer yourselves as open channels and then we can do so much more.

Les: Good. I will tell our friends who are absent tonight of that.

If it means sitting quietly before you come, please, please endeavour to do so, because there is so much work to do.

Les: Thank you, we will all try to do that.

I am seeing subtle changes within you all, as time continues. It is our desire that all of you be used in unity and in love. You are brought together to provide those circumstances, that peace, that love that is so necessary. Now I want to say, before I leave you, may you find in your hearts, each one of you, an expression of love for each other, to offer it, where you can. I ask you to continue this time, in whichever way you feel best, whilst I continue to work with this instrument. Are you happy to do this?

Les: Of course we are yes.

I am happy to have joined you, but do need time to work with this one.

Les: Yes we understand and we're perfectly happy and content to sit quietly whilst you do so.

You need not be silent, but I do ask that there be no sudden loud noise. Until we meet again my good friends.

Les: We certainly thank you for what you have told us tonight and our love of course goes with you more than ever.

After a time, a sweet young girl came through Eileen, for a general chat before closing as usual.

~4th September 1995~

Before Salumet came through this time, we were discussing a postcard showing the photo of a face materialised in the presence of Sai Baba. Salumet refers to this during our communications:

Good evening my friends.

All: Good evening.

I bring with me this time, much love from many who know you.

Les: Thank you—very nice to know that.

It is good to know that you have thought upon my words spoken last time. I have been amused to have your thoughts reach me.

(Laughter)

Les: Yes I expect you have. It's lovely for us to know that you can share our humour you know.

I will watch over you all.

All: Thank you.

Also I was aware of your discussion before I came, so may I say a little about what you call materialisation?

Les: It would be lovely if you would, because there are many conflicting views about it.

Yes, let me say firstly, you know that materialisations are formed by what you term 'ectoplasm,' yes that is the word you use. But what is this ectoplasm? Let me say to you, it is matter refined, it is matter refined to a much greater degree than you would know it to be, but it is the matter to which you return, when you come to our world, but on a much finer level, can you see this?

Les: Yes it must be acutely refined for our bodies here to be receptacles for the massive ectoplasm that is used.

It is available within you all, but of course some people are capable of producing it in mass, you understand this? This is why you have people who can be used specifically for this purpose.

Les: Yes, it's not generally available to everybody, is that so? Not in the quantities required?

Not in the quantities required. It has to do with the spirit part of the human, who produces it, but it is only matter refined. There is much spoken about it and I have to say many wrong words are used to describe it.

Les: I'm sure that is so, which is your comments now are very, very interesting to us.

Also, what I really do wish to discuss with you, is not what the content of this is, but how it is produced.

Les: Yes please, it's another form of energy, is it?

All life is energy, I think we have spoken many times. It is just energy refined to a degree that can be produced in the way shown. Let me say this to you my friend, I listen to you speak of the one upon your Earth known as Sai Baba, Yes? (Yes) How is it possible for him to have the materialisations so often? I hear these thoughts so many times. Let me explain a little to you all; I return again to my favoured word, ‘THOUGHT’. Thought—you understand that don’t you, the power of the Thought? (Yes) When you are in the presence of one capable of producing this energy, what is happening is this: He uses the energy from the masses, people who are unaware of their own capabilities, people who seek help, people who seek knowledge. These people utilise that energy and they can use it, to use the thought forms, which would be expected, of a materialisation.

Les: Yes, so what we would call a materialisation then, is not in fact a physical thing,—that’s the only word I can use—but an expression of thought?

It is the gathering of the thought energy, used by those persons capable of producing it, in the form as you see it, you understand?

Les: So would that form be solid to a physical touch?

Once the energy touches your physical Earth, it interacts with that more solid matter, which makes it solid to touch.

Les: I see, thank you.

Remember this always, there is never one energy, one energy, one energy—all combine together, to produce many things. It is the way of our communication with you. In the way that I use this instrument, is to be using not only the physical form, but the energies which I can utilise from her. Is this helpful to you?

Les: It certainly is.

Do you have questions for me?

Les: Yes, so many people say, as was said tonight here, that the materialisation was in fact that of the man known as Jesus. But from what you say—

Because—excuse me I don’t wish to interrupt—because in their mind, the power of their thought—that is what they expected to see. So the energy, the power of the thought was utilised to produce the materialisation seen.

Les: But the materialisation would be only that person’s thought?

Not one person, it would be a group energy.

Les: A group energy, but it could therefore not be the man who it is claimed to be materialising?

It may not be—let us clarify something whilst we speak upon this. When you have group thought, you can produce materialisation, provided you have the right person there to produce it for you. He will utilise the thoughts of many. But when you have materialisation from a single entity, I speak of a medium who is within a room, where thoughts are subdued, in groups such as these, then the entities produced are of a different calibre.

Les: I see.

It is produced in the same way, but not by group thought. Can you see the difference?

Les: Yes and the group thought would be triggered in what way? Because presumably if it’s a group thought, each member of that group would have to be aware of the need for a particular aspect of the thought.

As—let me try and simplify it for you: If you have many things put upon your graph paper, what do you have but an average. So too the thought energy can be gathered together to produce, do you see?

Les: But they would have to be concentrating would they, on the possibility of materialisation? That’s what I was meaning.

Yes, yes, I’m sorry, yes of course their thoughts are gauged towards what they would expect to see.

Les: So the leading the exponent, who is the one capable of producing the materialisation, would previously have had to somehow direct the group thought towards that same target?

He would use their thought energy. He would not necessarily have previously something in mind. It is a difficult thing for you to understand, but he is using energy, he is interacting group energy, with that ectoplasm that he too produces, to create materialisation in the form you see.

Les: And the ectoplasm would come from that one person capable of producing the materialisation? Or would it be drawn from others? Because it’s visible when it’s drawn from the body, isn’t it?

Of course, he would produce the mass, he would be the yeast in the bread—that is perhaps a simple way of putting it. Although you have all the ingredients, you need something to interact with it and that is where his capabilities, his knowledge, his energy comes into play.

Les: So he is what we would call the catalyst (Yes.) for all these products, (Of course.) of which we are unaware?

He will be drawing the ectoplasm and the thought energies from each and every one, because you see, you all have it to a certain degree. (Yes.) You have to you see, because you are after all spirit first and foremost.

Les: So it must be within us, I quite follow.

It is within you.

Les: So we all possess it, to a greater or lesser degree and just to clarify what you've said, the amount of ectoplasm possible for any of us to produce, is dependent upon our spiritual development?

Of course it can be developed, yes of course, it is all—I have said this to you many times, there is nothing you cannot do, if you apply yourselves to it.

Les: I'm going to ask you a leading question now, which you may have anticipated. Are teaching conditions within this group sufficient to produce materialisation here?

I have waited months for that question. Let me tell you my dear friend, we have much to do and there is much to be done, so I will say to you, be just a little more patient, but there are the possibilities here.

Les: Thank you, that's all I'm asking at this stage. It's nice to know there are the possibilities, because that does give us an impetus to concentrate more upon our own spiritual development.

We wish to take it slowly, one step one step one step. But within this room, without the knowledge, each one of you do not have—and I don't say this lightly, you are unaware at this time, of what you are capable of producing. So do not doubt yourselves, any of you. There is much within you to give as a group and individually. You all will find your lives taking different directions as life continues, but remember always you will be used as a joint effort.

Les: You may be aware since you know our thoughts, that I frequently have wished that as a group, it would be possible for us to produce some phenomena that would make an absolute impact upon people outside this room, to teaching extent that they could not doubt the validity of what we are trying to prove to them.

This my friend, we know and understand. It takes some time, to gather together people of the qualities you now have within this house. It has taken many of your years to come to this point in time. Before I came, when first I came, I told you I had waited a long, long time.

Les: You did indeed.

We need to have the conditions, we need to have the people, we need the dedication. That is not to say that those that have gone before were not right, but it was not the correct combination, you understand?

Les: Yes and what prompted that question from me tonight, was something you said last time, that we are here together now this life, to further the knowledge which we have and are continuing to gain from you. That is why my thoughts revolve around the possibility of there being something which as I said, would give an unforgettable impact to those outside this room.

It is what each one of you would wish for, it is what all of you humans desire is it not?

(Agreed)

Les: Yes it is—not for personal gratification, but to prove what we are trying to prove.

George: To help to make the world a better place.

It would not be given on those conditions, but once we know there is dedication to the work, we will provide. Rest assured my friend, what is to come, will be proof to all who come within the confines of this room. But be patient, remember, the word to remember is 'Infinity.' So your earthly lives, although they seem long sometimes to you all, they are but a 'tinkling of water'. So please, please be patient and trust that we will bring to you many things, much phenomenon for you, that you cannot doubt.

Les: Thank you. Well you've had enough patience to wait for us to be gathered together again.

I have to say to you, it has brought me much pleasure to be with you, it has amused me, it has brought me comfort to realise the intensity within you all for this work, although I know you do not remember your past lives, but let me say, I will endeavour to help you to recall, not only the lifetime I have told you about, (The Monks) but others.

Les: That would be very, very interesting to us all. (Agreed) I must say we haven't dared to ask the question.

I—you want me to tell you more, let me say this to you: When you leave this room tonight, before you meet again, some of you will have recalled details. Small they may be, but they will grow, they will grow and perhaps you could discuss before our meetings and see what you can remember. I will happily fill in any doubts or queries that you have. But firstly let us see what can be brought to the forefront of your minds.

Les: It would be wonderful if we could remember yet another life.

Let us concentrate on this one first! (Laughter)

Les: Yes, that's why we didn't dare ask earlier.

Don't be too eager. After all this life is the important one.

Les: oh this one and the future is important.

I say do not look to the future, look to what you have to do now.

Les: Yes

I can tell you, you will be amused. I promise you will be amused. Right, have you more questions for me?

George: Could I just ask a little question about your term, 'refined matter?' (Yes) We have some degree of understanding of chemical atoms. (Yes) Would I be right in thinking the refined matter is also atoms, but of a finer frequency?

Let me say to you my friend, your word 'atom' is quite an apt one, for the knowledge that you possess, but it is in a much higher degree, than your atoms, your sub-atoms and the knowledge that you have on this Earth at this particular time. The energy I speak of as refined matter, is not known to you chemically. It has been studied as you know, when materialisation has taken place, that it is able to be touched, to be felt, to be classed as energy, but it is not, let me say, an energy known to you, at this particular time. It is refined to a much higher degree, it has to be, you see? How can it be known to you, when it belongs in our world?

Les: Quite, I imagine it would be on a par, to the energy used to propel what we call UFO's?

No, it is entirely different.

Les: Is it?

Yes, we speak—let me say this to you about energy: You will never fully understand the extent, the range of energies that there are, because you see, some belong to your Earth planet, others belong to the cosmos. And although there may be interaction between some, you will never fully know them all, until you become spirit.

Les: And I can imagine that we wouldn't be allowed to have that knowledge anyway, because we have a remarkable ability to make a mess of any information we do get.

It would be most destructive to your physical being. You could not possibly touch these energy fields, you would be destroyed as human beings as you know it.

Les: Is that so?

Yes, yes, we speak here on complicated matters. You will never fully understand the topic of energy. There is much that is yet to be discovered and will be. Let me tell you, it will be found too beneath your oceans, some knew energies, but that is to come, that is in time to come.

Les: And shall we—I don't know if you'll be able or prepared to ask this next question, but shall we as human beings be permitted to discover antidotes, if I could put it that way, to the force of gravity, so we can overcome gravity?

That will not happen, that will not happen.

Les: Because again we could prostitute it for warlike purposes. So we wouldn't be allowed to discover it—

There may come the time, when the information is available, but it will never be put to practical use, it will not happen, let me tell you, it will not happen.

Les: Well I personally am pleased to hear it, because I can imagine the disastrous results which would occur. Any other questions for Salumet?

Mark: Could I just check my understanding. What I understood was that it would be possible for someone to recall the picture of Christ, but this isn't actually the picture here, this is actually a group composite of what people think he should look like?

I can tell you that is what it is yes. It was materialisation in the sense that you understand it, but you need to understand that these thought energy patterns, can be utilised and that is what you have there my friend.

Mark: Thank you.

But do not doubt it was materialisation, in a form.

Les: And I believe that materialised persons such as that are able under the right conditions, to speak to us, are they not?

Materialisations of people from our side of life, can communicate. The interaction of your earthly matter, with refined matter, makes this possible, as I have said. So the form can be felt, they can speak, they can be seen—yes of course.

Les: Yes and I think that is the clearest most concise explanation of materialisation, I have ever heard or read and I do thank you for it, well we all do.

I wanted you to understand just a little more. Too often it is said, 'Oh it is ectoplasm—' It could mean anything to you. I want you here within this group, to understand fully what is right. And this I hope, simply, is what I am trying to do. (Thanks expressed)

Les: And that is our wish of course, to learn what is right and I repeat, we are extremely grateful to you for the explanation, it's the clearest one I have ever had and I think anyone else has ever had. (Agreed)

Too much is spoken—too many words in explanations, which to me, is wasted energy, because it means nothing. If you cannot use words to help, then best to leave them alone.

Les: Quite, and in all we read and hear, there are so many conflicting theories and ideas put forward that many people have said to me, it's nothing but a mass of contradictions.

Yes, this saddens me, because it is giving false hope sometimes to peoples, it is giving false information and this is what we now—those of us who come to your Earth planes, and there are many, around your world—we have gathered this time to make sure that the TRUTH is known. It is time in your Earth's history, that all must be exposed that is incorrect.

Les: Good I'm very pleased to hear that because many have been disappointed when I have told them that your world is not an instant world of milk and honey and happiness. They have thought that they are going to Utopia, as soon as they die. This is because of what they have read in books, not realising that they are judging themselves each day, and fitting themselves for the place they will occupy when they come over, by their attitude in this life.

Of course, tomorrow you become what you were yesterday, simply that. How can you change? All you will do is leave your physical bodies behind, to expose to all what you truly are. It is simple, so remember you do not change. As you are, so you will be, when you come to our world—and not to be placed in judgement, but to see yourselves as you truly have been, in all your many lives. You will see the full picture, when once again you return home.

Les: When we return home, you say we shall see all our many lives. I take it, it would be a composite of all those lives, would it?

Firstly you will see what you have achieved, what you have left undone in this life. But of course this life is only one part of the rest of your lives. So you will see it in comparison to all, you see? You will have the full picture, you will know what you have not done, or what you have achieved.

Les: So each life is effectively a brushstroke on the canvas and we can see what is undone?

You cannot separate them my friend, you are more than one unit, I have told you this before and when you return home, you will see how you shine or how you have become dulled, by those—how can I say, experiences of this life.

Les: Yes we are inclined to forget what you have told us, that we must think of ourselves as spiritual entities and not physical.

Yes I want you to come to know to know yourselves as a whole being, who is working towards that greater self, that higher self, which knows all things and to whom you will answer. You will not be placed to be judged as many think, but you will judge yourself. So keep this in mind always.

Les: I, and I think everybody else, really love to hear you say/use the expression, 'when you come home.' It's a delightful phrase.

Of course. What other way is there to say it, because that is what you will do. After all, your death is another path. That is why it saddens us to see you grieve when one of your brothers or sisters return home.

Les: It's lovely to hear it coming from somebody who lives there.

I don't say where I live.

(Laughter)

Les: No, but within those realms.

I know, I am having just a little amusement, but of course I understand your meaning—yes. Now I think for this time I will take my leave. Remember what I have said, I will help you to remember your life together, which we have spoken upon.

Les: Would we have had all the previous lives together as a group?

No, no, not at all, not at all.

Les: No, I don't know whether we could bare that! (Raucous laughter)

Let us first help you with the memory of this one that amuses you all so much. So when next we meet, I am sure I will join you too, with much laughter.

Les: Good, that's lovely. I do have one question, which is not relevant to what you have been saying, but it keeps—I'm constantly being given it to ask you, so if you'll forgive me I must: One of our ladies here suffers continually from a bad back. Are you able to give her any advice as to how she can deal with that?

She wants advice—yes let me tell you, this lady needs to be gently stretched. Her spine is a little 'out of sync,' you would say and I know she has seen many people, but the degree it is out is very minute, but enough to cause problems. It would do her well to find someone who works upon the feet. I do not know if you have someone here who does it?

Les: Within this room?

No, within your circle of friends.

Dawn: I do Reflexology.

Well this is what I say can help. It is a slight, I would not say twist, it is slightly out of sync in the middle area of the back, not where she feels the pain, you understand?

Les: Yes thank you.

Can we leave it with the lady?

Les: Yes I'm very grateful to you and I do apologise for bringing in such a question, after a wonderful evening, but it was so insistent that I should ask.

Not at all, I am here to help you all.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. Well we give you our love again, God be with you and we look forward to our next meeting.

There then followed a light-hearted communication through Eileen to finish the meeting.

This week Salumet did not speak, but arranged for a guest speaker through Eileen—one who protects during Astral Travel:

I ask your name.

Les: Leslie Bone.

Thank you that is what I need to know.

Les: And you are the colleague our friend Salumet said would be speaking to us tonight I believe.

That is so.

Les: Well may we all welcome you sincerely and with love.

Thank you, I have taken some time for readjustments. I do not find it so easy as the one who comes to you.

Les: No of course you wouldn't. He has had much practise now.

I have to tell you, I was reluctant to come at first, but now I have seen that herein lies an opportunity to instruct.

Les: Yes please, that is our wish that we shall learn and be instructed.

I want to say to you, it is good to be within a lighter vibration than normally I work in.

Les: Is that so? You do this work frequently?

I do not, I have chosen to come this once, because I think you might find it instructive and because I have been asked to do so.

Les: Well we do appreciate you making the effort and I hope you feel our love and sincerity around you. I think you would not have come anyway, had you not been sure that you would have found such here.

I have been told by the one who comes to you, that this would be a lesson for you all, if I would agree to come this once.

Les: Thank you.

So now you are wondering what it is I do.

Les: Yes we are.

I can feel, 'Why should he be in lower vibrations?' Because it is the pathway of help which I have chosen to do.

Les: I follow and I'm happy to know that this is somewhat of a lighter experience for you.

I have been instructed that talk has been given on those who travel from their bodies when the soul departs yes?

Les: Yes.

I am one of those helpers who try to protect such people, because they do not fully appreciate what dangers are around them.

Les: I can understand that and I do thank you for the protection you offer.

Now you begin to realise my work is within those lower realms.

Les: I do understand now yes thank you. I don't know whether my colleagues have been trying to induce Astral Travel during their sleep. Have you been trying anybody?

George: Not with any success.

Les: No but you have been trying.

George: Yes.

Yes, but within the love of groups such as this, there will always be protection.

Les: Thank you.

And I am one member of such groups.

Les: So we could all make efforts to cultivate Astral Travel during our sleep, knowing that we shall be protected, am I right in saying that?

Provided it is for your spiritual that is to be understood by you all.

Les: Yes indeed it is.

Let me tell you, there are those who are anxious to influence those souls who are travelling and know not where they are. They will latch ON to any opportunity, which comes before them.

Les: I see, so we could be instrumental in them latching onto us, unless we do the work properly.

Unless you have your protection and that is where my work begins. Not only do I protect those stray souls, who wouldn't normally be there, but I am there to try to influence those souls for 'good,' instead of negativity which surrounds them.

Les: So you have a dual responsibility in that case then? (I do.) Now I wonder if you can give us any suggestions as to the best way in which we could induce astral travelling, for the right purposes of course. I have to say, there is no one set way, only remember you are all individuals on differing stages of development you know. But when you want to travel, I can offer you some suggestions, yes?

Les: Yes please.

I suggest you try, just before your sleep state, when your consciousness is raised in any way; because as you know, you do leave your bodies in sleep state, under protection. But to do this willingly, firstly you must retain good thoughts, you must retain what you are trying to achieve and why you wish to do so. Once this has been ascertained, then I say, you need to lay prostrate, you need to have your limbs relaxed, you need to focus your energy on love.

Les: Yes I see.

I would suggest that you try to elevate that aspect of yourself, by firstly visualising yourselves looking upon your shells—that is your first step. You will not achieve it quickly, like all things, you need practice. But once you have achieved this, then I say go a little further, go a little further, take each step carefully and slowly.

Les: And always ask for protection, before beginning any way at all.

You must focus on that light of love. Please, I ask you most sincerely, do not attempt to force that from your body, unless your thoughts are right.

Les: Yes we understand.

But I am not here to teach you the mechanics of travel, I am here to tell you of my work.

Les: Thank you very much. I'm sorry if I asked you to digress from what you wanted to say, but we are all sincerely interested in doing this work, in absolutely the right way.

I ask for a moment just to balance energies with this one please.

Les: Yes of course, we shall wait quietly for you.

That is better, thank you. You say sometimes it is difficult to keep, how you say, an even keel?

Les: Yes, is there anything I can do to help you? Is the light too bright, or would you like it lowered?

No, conditions are fine, it is up to me to keep the balance, but I do thank you for the offer of help. Now, let me continue. I know you have a fear when you hear of our 'lower regions;' it is natural that this should be so, but let me tell you all, that the majority of you people upon this Earth plane, will not even see any such beings, because you do not belong there. We have a situation of souls who have gone terribly astray, within their assigned lifetime. Sometimes these souls become worse in each lifetime. Can you believe it? So many opportunities given and each one destroyed.

Les: It is difficult to believe.

But it is so. Let me tell you, once the soul strays, it is difficult for them to come back to that goodness and love, which is their right. So when we have these 'distressed souls,' I like to call them, because they are lost within their earthly lives, but when saying that, I don't mean lost forever—never, never. That is where my work comes into play. There are many of us who willingly go down to these lower realms to help such peoples. You already understand that like attracts like, do you not?

Les: Yes we do.

I have been told you do.

Les: Yes, we have had many examples of it.

In this way, they are attracted to their own kind. It is a pitiful sight, but yet we do not abandon them. Sometimes it is difficult to get close to them, but always we will continue to try. I wish I could express to you all, what these regions look like. If you can imagine a bottomless dark pit, with neither light, nor love or happiness, then you begin to have some inkling, of what these distressed souls are about. (Voice becomes louder/almost booming) And because of the intensity of this work, it calls upon souls who have much strength and knowledge. I do not mean that to sound how it must to you.

Les: No we don't think so for a minute. We appreciate that you must have had tremendous strength in the other direction, in order to be able to do it.

We travel some way to help these souls, because you see, we need that knowledge and that strength, to be able to help them.

Les: I can quite understand that you would not be able to, unless you had been occupants of what we would call, 'The Higher Plains,' where such knowledge and strength is obtainable.

I would like to think I come from a Higher Plain. I just say I have more experience and knowledge, but I wish I could say 'Higher Plain,' but of course I understand what you say to me. And yes, because it would be too easy to be drawn into these great depths of despair.

Les: That's what I was going to ask you, it would be possible for you to be drawn against your own will? That is why we need to go back from whence we came, to replenish that strength and that love, which is our own entitlements and we do so often. But there are many such as I, who find great strength in doing this work. But I would say to you all, this is my chance to try to help you. Whilst you inhabit these earthly overcoats, nurture that side of you that is good, that all-consuming love, you should share with each other, because it is too easy to turn your back on that love, which is your spiritual right. And so we see these fallen souls, who come in despair and I tell you, I can hear them now cry out. They want to leave such despair behind and yet they will not accept help. I know that might be difficult for you to understand, but it is so.

Les: It is difficult to understand, because if they've been crying out as you said and I believe what you say of course, I should have thought they would jump at the chance of accepting your help.

No, they want to leave the conditions behind, but they do not want to change, that is the difference, can you see what I am saying to you? (Yes) They do not like the conditions, but they have not reached the state where they want to change for the better.

Les: Are you able to influence them in any way to do so? I know normally you are not allowed to interfere, because free will comes into it, if they want to stay they stay, but I wonder whether under these conditions you would be permitted to offer them help?

That is exactly what we do. It is a subtle thing; we surround them by the love energy, which penetrates their darkness. Very, very slowly, they come to the realisation that there is more to them, than at first they have accepted. It takes a long time. Normally, if someone has reached that stage of regeneration, then they will not come forth so quickly. I am not speaking of the realms where people have done minor misdeeds, you understand? (Yes) That is different. We are speaking of those realms, where many, many are reaping their rewards if you like. That is rather a sad way to say it to you, but that is what is happening.

Les: So they have been responsible for sin and evil, perpetually throughout their lifetimes.

They are the evil-doers, of probably more than one lifetime. You see, it becomes almost like a disease to them. The evil of one lifetime, carries forward to the next, until such a time, that—I will not say 'pure evil,' because there is a spark of love within all—there has to be, that is the Universal Law. But let me tell you, they are close to as much evil, as you could possibly imagine.

Les: It must be extremely rewarding to you, when one does decide to come out of the depths and be taken away.

Can you imagine the sunshine after the storm? (Yes) The smile that is placed upon your face, that is how we feel. There is much rejoicing for one soul to leave that behind them. Once that spark is there, once our influence enfolds them, then indeed we are overjoyed.

Les: I'm sure you must be. We know only a little of your feeling, from what we call the 'Rescue work,' we do here—assistance for those who are not in the greatest depths, but who are in what we call 'Limbo,' and then wish to come back and learn more. We know the feeling of joy, when they do accept their new conditions.

If you can feel that joy, then feel it, feel it one hundred fold that will give you some indication of the love that abounds. It is difficult work, it is sad work at times, but the joy compensates so much for it.

Les: I'm sure it must do.

That is what makes it so good.

Les: And it is work you volunteer for?

Of course, no one—(Pause, then more strongly)

No one would be made to do such work, it has to come from the heart, it has to come from the necessity to grow, it has to come from those of us with strength and with knowledge.

Les: Quite. Do you work as a group, or are you able to go individually, into these depths?

I have to say both. We have the ability and the knowledge to work individually, but I believe you would say, a back-up team, yes?

Les: Yes that's right.

Yes, that is how we work. Always there are others to hand.

Les: I should think it must be an essential part of the work, to have a back-up team?

But sometimes one individual spark of love, is all that is needed to help those, those so much in despair—but sometimes you can approach them individually. When I say individually, I don't speak as you imagine, in an individual form, but in the form of love energies and vibration—that which can be exuded and can be given to one individual.

Les: Would these people to whom you go, see you as an individual, or just as light and energy?

We would decide what would be best for them, but normally they are drawn by light and by a love energy, which is difficult to describe to you, if you are not aware of it. It is a brightness, it is almost like heavenly music to the ear who wishes to hear, to the one who seeks to leave behind all that he has done, that he is ready to make amends for those evil doings.

Les: And because of the essential spark which is always within him, then he would feel a reaction to what you are radiating to him.

Yes, that is what he does react to, it is the love energy. That is what draws him away from all the negativity, from all the evil doing that has occurred.

Les: I should imagine that sometimes he is not even always aware of why he is being attracted to the energy you are sending?

You are perfectly correct in that assumption. Once they are drawn into this energy of love, then work can be done, on a different scale. And of course they are not always aware of what is happening. But let me tell you, their awareness that they have left something behind them is great—that awareness is great and only then, when they have left it behind, can they begin to understand just a little, where they have been.

Les: I see, so it's slow step by step, according to the circumstances of each individual.

I cannot generalise for you, because each case is individual.

Les: You must have been doing in our terms, this work for a long, long time, in order to have achieved sufficient strength and knowledge to bring to it?

It is work that is not readily acceptable to many, but to those of us who do this work, there is much to be gained spiritually, not only for those lost souls, but for us. It is a big step, I have to tell you.

Les: I would imagine it is a tremendously big step, because you have to do the work, without it being primarily for your own spiritual development, don't you?

We would not grow if that was what was in our minds and you know by now, ALL is known, all is known—you cannot pretend in our world, because you are exposed.

Les: That's what I was saying, it must be extremely difficult for you, because you mustn't think along those lines and yet you have a job to do and it sounds almost condescending, I don't want it to, but I think you'll understand when I say from what you have told us, we all marvel at the work that you do, just for the sake of doing it.

There comes a point in development, when thoughts of that nature, barely exist. There comes a state of being, when your own individuality becomes less important, when what is truly important, is that each soul develops to that love which is truly theirs. So that becomes the ultimate objective.

Les: Yes, and though we can't fully understand it here, we do accept—it sounds paradoxical, but we do accept that by assisting others to find their spirituality, since we are all of necessity part of each other, then you are automatically developing your own spirituality, without having to think about it.

Of course, that is what I want you to understand, that has been my instructions for you to know and to understand.

Les: I think we do.

Now I have to say, how much it has given to me, to have joined you all. I thank the one who asked me to come. I thank you all for your love and your tolerance of me.

Les: It's no tolerance—we could listen to you all night.

I have indeed learned much. It is a joy to be with you, to experience your love in silence, because sometimes the work that I do, if you can believe, is full of noisy, noisy vibrations. They almost pierce you like an arrow. So to have spent this short time with you, has indeed empowered me more, with great joy. I thank you all and now I must take my leave.

Les: We all do most sincerely thank you, don't we? (Affirmed)

And forgive me if I leave you with this, I don't think we will meet again.

Les: I'm sorry about that.

It is meant as a complement, because you will not come where I work. (Laughter) I don't have good earthly humour! (More laughter) It is my little joke to you all. But now I really must depart.

Les: Well if it were ever possible and you had the wish to come back, please know that you would always be more than welcome.

I thank you, but I know I shall not return.

Les: No, we do understand and again we are grateful for the time you have spent with us and the information you have given us. We can only wish you great success in what you do and say God bless you.

Good evening.

Les: Good evening. Would everybody acknowledge please?

All: Good evening.

It would be beneficial to give me just short time longer.

Les: Certainly, we shall do that. Thank you.

That is much better, thank you.

Les: Thank you, we shall make shall you get a little time longer next week and in future. I'm afraid it's our impatience, or my impatience to have you with us, that's responsible.

I accept your impatience with gratitude—thank you. It varies of course with power available and other incidences which must be taken care of.

Les: Yes I understand.

So there can be no set time made. But I try to keep within your time boundaries, because I know your time is limited. Now firstly let me say you all have had much to think upon this past week.

Les: You're right we have.

Yes I thought you would be most interested in the speaker who came to you.

Les: You're quite right, I think everybody was extremely interested and it was a great deal of information, which will be useful to us and which we have not had before.

It is the tip of the iceberg, as far as your information goes, but we must take it slowly, as I keep reminding you. But I know impatience is something you Earth people are endowed with. So perhaps here we have a lesson in patience. Now I want to welcome the one who comes from over your seas.

Les: My daughter—thank you very much for your welcome.

I am aware of who she is, thank you, but I wish to say, her thoughts over past times have reached me. In fact, I think at one point she was almost aware of me. But of course she did not fully recognise what was happening. But let me welcome her here.

Les: Thank you very much.

I have to say, just a little about this one. She has trodden a hard pathway this time. Many things have been left unspoken. But she—and I know of what we speak, but I will say to her, she has reached that point within her lifetime, when things will improve.

Les: Thank you very much for telling her and thank you for your kindness.

She has been guided throughout many years, by her maternal grandfather.

Les: Is that so?

Yes, he does not wish to be made known at this time, but the opportunity will come, when he comes to her, to make himself known and the guidance with which he has endowed upon her. I know she is surprised by this information, but she should not be, there is a deep bond there.

Les: You are quite right, there was, or is.

I thank you, you are learning—there is.

Now, I will leave it there, but rest assured, she will end this lifetime, a much stronger person than when she came into it.

Les: Thank you very, very much for that, I do appreciate it and I know she will.

Now I would say to you, let me have your questions, because this time I would like to leave some time for others to speak, if that is acceptable to you.

Les: Yes of course, who would like to start the questions? Anybody?

Dawn: I would like to say something. I have somebody for Hypno-analysis, who suffers from panic attacks. Can you give me any guidance on this, the trouble seems to be linked to his father, am I right in this?

Let me say, this young man you speak of, is indeed a sensitive soul. You my dear friend, let me speak a little on the therapies that you use. You are a good councillor when the opportunity comes, but you are rather hesitant when it comes to that inner knowledge you possess. You are correct in your assumption, that the problem goes deeper. Take him back to infancy—take him back those steps further, to find the real cause. Does that help you?

Dawn: Yes, thank you.

You, my dear child, must be more positive in the help that you give to those people who come to you. You have a knowledge within you, which must come more to the surface. You are a good councillor, do not forget this. (Thank you.) Also I will say before I leave you. In time to come there will be brought to you a child, a girl child, who will suffer many problems. Again I say to you, take her back to infancy. Please keep this in mind. She will be blond, blue-eyed child.

Dawn: Yes thank you.

Now, are there more questions?

Sara: I have a question: My stepdaughter Ashlea, at the moment she wants to behave like a baby. I don't know how much to indulge her in this and I'm not sure why she wants to do this.

This child we have spoken about before, she is highly sensitive, very exceptionally so, I would say. I will say this to you, as much as you feel you can, indulge this child in her fantasies, because that is what they are.

Sara: Right, Okay so it won't affect her.

It will not affect her, no. Please allow her scope to find herself.

Sara: I want to do this, a lot of people around me don't agree, but my intuition tells me that she wants it and it's harmless.

Yes, you follow that intuition because you are right. The others around I have to say, are incorrect in their feelings on this child. She is a most beautiful soul you know.

Sara: Yes I know she is—I've been struggling a little to find my way with her.

But she gels with you very nicely.

Sara: Yes, so it is good to play with her on a child level?

Yes, why not? After all, you should all be childlike sometimes, it brings you back to basics.

Sara: Yes that's what I think.

Les: I think we all are without realising it sometimes.

Of course, why not, there is nothing wrong in finding your own identity.

Sara: Yes, right, thank you.

Les: Now if I might ask you about my own son, who last night was given some very wise information from your side, because he does suffer from an excess of emotion, which he finds difficult to control and he gets very annoyed with himself, because he cannot help people in the way he would like to and it becomes almost an obsession with him.

Yes, this young man suffers from guilt that is why the emotions are so rife. It is a guilt that goes back some time. We have to look further back within his life pattern, to find the true cause. This emotion which surfaces now in this lifetime is something he has to go through. He knows within himself, the answers that he seeks. I cannot tell you what he must do, but if he will only give himself the time to sit quietly, he knows what he must do.

Les: Does he?

Of course, you must be aware of this my friend.

Les: I am to some extent yes, but I didn't want to presume that I was right, if I was wrong. The guilt that you speak of, was that incurred in his present life or in a past life?

This guilt is carried forward from a previous existence. He wants to help, but always he will find something that is more important in his mind. But he came here this time to solve those problems and those he must do by himself.

Les: Thank you I appreciate the information, I shall pass it on to him.

He will come to the recognition that the help to give to others must be uppermost in his physical thinking. There are ways and there are means, but firstly you must open yourself up to those opportunities presented to you. It is no good being offered something if you push it to one side and then say, 'Why am I not given this?' Can you see the comparison?

Les: Yes I can.

I am simplifying matters of course, but I am sure you can find the words to explain to him.

Les: Yes with your help, I'm sure I shall and I shall be pleased to do it, because I would like to help him, it's a very real problem with him.

I will try to influence him. I cannot change his life pattern, you know this, but I will try to invade him with our influence.

Les: Thank you very much, that's kind of you.

If only I could show you all the pathways you should travel, but of course I cannot. I can instruct, I can influence, but I cannot change it for you. You as spirit must recognise those things within your life, which need to be changed, which need to be worked upon. Therefore you become much better people for it. I know this is hard for you to take sometimes, when life is difficult and all seems darkness. But remember, darkness is temporary and soon the light follows.

Les: True. Well thank you very much for that Salumet, I do really appreciate it. Now if I could ask, unless anybody else has a question? I would like to go back to our friend of last week and his talk of work in the lower realms. Would there be—we quite understand that interference in another person's life here or there is not permitted as a rule, but would there be any circumstance where interference would be considered correct, in order to help a soul in those terrible conditions?

I am not sure what you mean—'exceptional circumstances'?

Les: Well, you would know better the reason for which a person is confined to the lower realms. I accept that it is his/her evil wrong-doing or actions that has caused him/her to be there, but would there be any circumstance which would enable you to help by interfering with his sojourn there and bring him out of it?

There is only one reason why we can help those in the regions below, as you think they are, but of course you are surrounded by it. But let me explain a little: Those who help those souls, are guided from those higher beings. When first they accept their role of help, it is very difficult for them to see such tortured souls and they cannot step forward to help them. There has to be recognition by the soul in question, that they need and want to change. That is the only criteria for help. If you mean, that can they step forward and choose one soul from the others, then I would say to you, no.

Les: I see, well that answers my question. Thank you very much.

The soul himself needs and has to cry for help and as was explained to you last time, just crying for help is not enough. There has to be a change of attitude, there has to be a want, a forgiveness within that soul. Once that is recognised, then those who help can go forward, to separate them from the others.

Les: I see, it still comes back to the fact that any sort of interference is not allowed, unless asked for.

Not allowed. There is the temptation sometimes I am sure, when so much distress is seen, when souls cry out for help, it is only natural that you want to reach out to touch, to help, to cradle them. But the reason for help has to be a genuine one. I know this may sound harsh to you listening, but believe me when I tell you, they are surrounded with a love energy, but if it is denied and rejected, there is little that can be done for them. It is not that they are left unaided and unloved, that is not true. Indeed, the love energy flows around them, but remember it has to penetrate the very depths of their soul.

Les: Yes I do understand that.

I hope this has explained it further for you.

Les: Yes it has. I didn't think it would be allowed, but I don't presume to find answers for things of which I am uncertain, which is why I asked and I do thank you.

I welcome your questions, it shows that you need to expand your knowledge of spiritual matters. Now I will say to you:

My blessings go with you, in all that you do. May you pass that blessing on, to those you come into contact with.

I will leave you this time, with my love. And now let us see who wishes to speak.

(General thanks + fond farewells)

A communicator then came through Sue and explained that they were attempting to transfigure the face of the medium, so that everyone would be able to see who was actually speaking, rather than Sue's face. After sitting for 15 minutes in silence, they explained that it was not going to happen on this occasion.

~2nd October 1995~

Salumet did not come through this week, as Eileen was away. So we had a discussion amongst ourselves, about spiritual matters and the teachings so far. After a while, there was one through Les, triggered by a question from George:

George: Perhaps we could talk about the geography of the various realms in relation to Earth plane. I've got a mental picture, that we are all primarily spirit beings, we have a life on Earth plane as a small part of our spiritual development, and I've got a picture of ourselves here on Earth plane and if one could think of it as a diagram, perhaps wrongly, with a number of spirit realms, with a number of spirit realms, with the lower spirit realms being lower than the sort of lot we have here on Earth plane and the intermediate spirit realms, progressing to higher spirit realms and we believe that St. Paul wrote an Apocalypse, where he had a vision, it didn't get into the Bible, but it did turn up, but he described a passage through ten of those spirit realms, so yes, there are more than seven. Anyway perhaps we can't count them, perhaps it would be wrong to count them, but there are a number of spirit realm levels, shall we say, and then there is what some books refer to as the 'Oneness,' or the 'Beyond.' Now, I have the picture that it is not necessary to reincarnate from the Beyond, but Jesus did on a special mission and that is the only condition where one would reincarnate from there to Earth and when he says he is at one with God that is a reference to him being up there in the Oneness. Now, there are other masters who walk the Earth, like Sai Baba, Mother Meera, Mohammed. Now I suspect, and perhaps you can correct me if I'm wrong, but I suspect that they would not be from what one would term the Oneness, if that really is just one, without further strata, I don't know about that, they would be from somewhere advanced in spirit realms, but perhaps not quite up to the Oneness where Jesus came from. What do we all think about that, or what do you think about that Les? Could I put that as a sort of question?

One then begins through Les:

My friend, I understand, but I do not understand your speech. I understand what it is you wish to know, but I cannot understand why you still wish to know. It has been said that you must consider yourselves as a whole, AS A WHOLE. Your Masters of which you speak, were no more and no less belonging to the 'Oneness' as you call it, than are you, who belong to the Oneness. You do not seem to understand that you are part of the whole, therefore the whole is part of you. You will try to separate the pieces into pieces of a puzzle, which you can never within this physical life, hope to place together correctly. Do you understand me?

George: Yes thank you, yes—

You place far too much importance upon the appearance of a Master on this Earth, or upon other places which exist, and of which you have no knowledge. Those Masters performed a duty which was required of them at the time, as each of you here are performing a duty required of you at this time. The duties of the Masters, were proclaimed to them, because of their spiritual awareness was higher much higher, than those whom they were sent to teach. You in your turn, you may not believe, but are of equal importance in the scheme of the universe, as were those Masters. It escapes your memories perhaps, it escapes your thinking, that those Masters at one time, were in the same stage of development as you now are. Do you understand? (Affirmed) So I beg of you please, do not try to think of the universe as a piece of confectionery, from which you can abstract one almond, from which you can take one piece of fruit, from which you can take one grain of flour. If you do so then you have no cake do you? (Agreed) You destroy the very thing you are trying to analyse, is that not so?

George: Yes, so we have tried to do too much analysis?

Concentrate on feeling, concentrate on thought and above all, far above all, concentrate on learning how to give and how to acquire love. Love binds the universe, as the oven binds the ingredients of your cake. Think only of developing love, love, love. You will not succeed, it is not possible for you to succeed fully, but the trying to do so, is in itself success. Do you understand?

(Affirmed + thanks)

I trust my visit has been of help to you.

(Affirmed with thanks)

I offer my blessing, I offer my love, which I also had to learn how to acquire and how to give and which I am still learning and shall learn for much time to come.

May the Great Creator guide you and guard you and let his love pour upon you.

(Thanks + farewells)

~9th October 1995~

Good evening

All: Good evening.

Les: We welcome you again.

I have no need of your welcome, for now I feel it much more strongly, than in previous times.

Les: We're pleased to know that.

I wish to say to you all, that there is a slight alteration of this evening's work. Whilst I speak to you, I ask if you please, that the instrument being used here is watched. We have spoken to you about transfiguration.

Les: Yes you have.

This will be attempted this time, throughout this meeting.

Les: Would it affect you at all if I increase the light a little?

I would not mind, provided it is not too much brighter, but if circumstances are difficult, then of course I will adjust to it.

Les: Thank you very much—then it will enable us to see what is happening much more clearly.

Of course.

Les: As you know our eyes are pitifully weak compared with yours.

Yes, I feel you have not been using those spiritual eyes too much. You should be developing them, all of you. But of course, that comes again within your free will.

Les: Yes, I'm just going to increase the light just a little. Is that too much for you?

I can readjust provided the instrument is comfortable, and she is. But please do watch because much is being attempted this time.

Les: Right, thank you. I'm going to ask someone else to watch also, whilst I am speaking to you. Who would like to volunteer? (Mark) Right can you bring your chair forward please?

Please interrupt me when this should occur.

Les: Yes I certainly will.

I wish all of you to see what can be achieved.

Les: Splendid. I'm right I believe in what I said that it will last rather more than fleetingly, it will be possible for everybody to see it?

If correctly done it will last, but of course you understand, many conditions make it possible to work, so therefore we have many problems to overcome.

Les: Of course yes, thank you very much.

Now may I continue?

Les: Yes please.

I wish to speak to you this time, about a subject that is close to you. I hear you so often, with the wish within your hearts, that you could tell ALL of this knowledge and truth, which you have come upon. But I want to say to you, a cautionary word, I think you would say:

You cannot impose your knowledge upon another.

Les: No, it has to be sort by them, I agree.

You cannot infringe upon their own spiritual knowledge you cannot make them be further along the path than what they are at this particular time in their own development.

Les: I see, I understand.

We see and know the love and the wish that you all have, to spread this truth. The desire is good, but be careful that you do not encroach upon another's free will.

Les: Quite.

I say also, do not be despondent if what knowledge and truth you give to another, is rejected. That is their pathway.

Les: Oh yes, that we understand also.

But that does not mean you should not try to spread the word. What I say to you is, use your spiritual knowledge, to know, to understand and to respect the view and the spiritual pathway of your brothers. You follow what I am telling you?

Les: Yes I do, but we must accept that we are free to give of our knowledge and information, if it is requested by another?

Yes, you will fully understand when another is ready to receive.

Les: Yes, because I am of the opinion that by giving what we know, it is often possible for us to learn in return.

Of course, but the danger lies that you would encroach upon another's free will and this you must not do.

Les: Quite, no—

I would, I'm sorry if I interrupted you.

Les: No, please continue.

This also applies within the healing that is given. You must be careful that you are not forcing healing thoughts upon another, if their desire is not to have this. I know this may sound contradictory, but I hope you can understand.

Les: No, that is what I have said many times myself, we can only offer, but cannot coerce.

Yes, sometimes your love for another is overwhelming and this I know, you will find to be a statement which puzzles you, but it can be so. Always ask that Great Godhead as you call it, for understanding, for direction and for guidance, before giving of yourself and your thoughts, to another.

Les: Thank you, yes we shall all remember that I'm sure.

Now, I think I have spoken, I hope you have understood my words. I tell you these things for your own growth, for your knowledge and for this 'GREAT TRUTH' for which we must strive.

Les: Of course you do, we do understand that, and we appreciate you telling us.

Now, do we have questions this time?

Les: Yes I do, I'm going to ask you to bear with me because it's rather longer than usual. I shall have to read it: We know that any deity however named, is not a person as such. Now you have told us so much about different energies and about the intelligences within the universe that I wondered if there is such a thing as an intelligent energy, devoid of any form of life as we know it. Is there such a phenomenon and is that what we would call God?

My dear friend, perhaps I should have expressed this knowledge fuller from the beginning. Of course I have spoken many times of energies—many, many times. I have spoken of the many religions within your world, I have spoken on the differing names that each peoples call the one they so worship. All of these names matter not, because you see, the very life force which you call God, is an intelligent force. How could it not be, how could there not be a perfect energy, to have created all that we have?

Les: This is what prompted the question I thought there must be an intelligent energy.

We go on to deep matters my son, but let me say this to you:

No one, no one has ever attained such perfection, as to come before this 'Intelligent Force,' as you have called it.

Let us use the term to supply these answers to your question. Within spiritual worlds, there has to be perfect laws, there has to be an intelligence behind them, for it to work, can you not see that?

Les: Of course yes.

I am pleased you can, because so many cannot. You all are very sparks of this Intelligent Force, all of us, whether of this world or not, all of the cosmos comes from the Intelligent Force, as you call it.

It cannot be otherwise, it cannot be otherwise. But rather like each drop in the ocean, each drop can never fully understand what part it has to play, within that greater thing, can you understand?

Les: Yes, I have used that analogy myself.

All of you are so important—it is that very spark within you, that reaches out for that higher intelligence, which you call Spirit, which is in fact only another word, for the truth of a search for that returning 'home,' of which I have spoken.

Les: Quite and to follow through what you've said, it requires all the drops to make the ocean, otherwise the ocean couldn't exist.

There has to be perfection, there has to be that reaching out for attainment from you all, to create the perfection of you all, can you see?

Les: Yes I do.

I am trying to keep it simple, because we are speaking on matters beyond your comprehension.

Les: Yes I do understand that and I thank you for choosing the words.

But 'Intelligent Force,' are good words to use. Too many upon your Earth plane see God, as you call him and many other names used throughout this world, as a figurehead personified, but this is basically incorrect. But I say whatever brings comfort to each and every one of you, then so be it. The Truth can only come to the fore, and this is what is happening within your very world now.

Les: Good. But even as a young boy, I used to feel that if God were a person, as I was taught, then by definition, if he was a person, it was impossible for him to be perfect, because perfection is beyond personalities.

What is personality? It is something endowed upon you, within the human flesh. It exists only within the human species, it is not something that goes forward, except for a very short time.

Les: This is what always used to puzzle me, the apparent contradictions.

There are so many contradictions—I have spoken upon this, even from those in our world, who come, who give you advice. So often we hear, ‘Why does one contradict another?’ Already I have told you it depends on their spiritual attainments. They do not lie, they cannot lie to you, but they cannot give you truth and knowledge of which they do not have some sense, you understand?

Les: Quite, it’s quite impossible for them to do so.

Can you expect a child to give you information on details of an adult’s life? It would be impossible. So you have the comparison between those you call guides, those you call spiritual teachers—there are so many differences between them. So do not be discouraged, accept what each has to tell you and do as I have told you before, accept only which you feel you should.

Les: Yes, true.

How are we doing here? (Re attempted transfiguration)

Les: Any changes here Mark?

Mark: Well actually, I was going to say, maybe someone else should sit here, because I don’t know if my eyes are playing tricks but—

No my friend no.

Mark: Sometimes it looks like it’s changing, but maybe I’ve been looking for too long.

Les: Don’t strain too much, take your eyes away and then look back, you see, give them a rest and then go back, switch them to one side occasionally, so you’re not staring all the time, but you won’t have any doubt about the change, if it occurs.

Mark: Right.

Do not doubt my friend that it can happen.

Les: Well I certainly don’t after what I have seen.

No, but we have others within the room, who would wonder, ‘Is this possible?’ Not serious doubts, but doubts that you have because you are human.

Les: Yes quite, they’re our biggest stumbling block aren’t they, our doubts.

Do not be too harsh upon yourselves, you have much to learn and I hope much to learn from me as time continues.

Les: We look forward to it, we are already learning a tremendous amount. I would like to add one further question if I may, to what you’ve told us: On the acceptance of that Intelligent Force, am I right in thinking that it is an intelligence, which is far beyond our comprehension, that ours is merely a limited term, for something that is unlimited?

I cannot my son, give you a word. You would not understand even if I could begin to explain, which I cannot.

Les: No, that’s a good enough answer, thank you. I knew it was a very difficult question, but I felt that I had to ask it and for all my colleagues here also.

My knowledge does not extend to explanation of that all-powerful force.

Les: But it is perfectly permissible for us to think of it as an intelligent energy?

Yes, it has to be. It would not make sense would it, if there was not intelligence behind all of Creation.

Les: Quite, so if we think of it as an intelligent energy, rather than a figure of man, it’s another step in the right direction?

Can I add one thing?

Les: Please.

Please do not try to think of the intelligent energy as something separate from yourselves. You are part of it, you are the very being of that intelligent force. So I say seek not something separate, but to become part of it.

Les: Well you have confirmed what was said to us at another meeting, last Wednesday, when I was asked if I had a question and I posed a difficult one I know. I asked if I could be given the recipe for eternal happiness, which I knew was an impossible question, but I was told that we should first look within ourselves and this is precisely what you have been saying, in another way.

Yes, let me add to that a little further: You will never find eternal happiness, whilst you are in these human frames. You will not find eternal happiness, even when these overcoats are left behind. There is much we have to learn. Our paths are long, sometimes tedious some would say, sometimes with unhappiness—remember there are many pathways, even once you have left the human form behind. We are speaking of aeons of time here. So if you want eternal happiness, seek that intelligent force, as part of your own being. Let it come from within, you understand?

Les: I do yes, thank you for confirming it.

You can never be completely happy, whilst on this Earth plane. How can you be? You are here to learn. You have to have the negative and the positive energies to go forward. Call that happiness and unhappiness, if you will, I see it in a different form, but you need both to go forward to grow, to grow spiritually. So if you seek happiness, accept all that comes to you within your daily lives, thank God, or the Great Intelligent Force, as we call it this time—thank him for all that you have to endure. I know sometimes this too is difficult for you. Why must there be sadness, unhappiness, grief, why is there so much wrongdoing? But again we have spoken on these matters and I say to you, accept all that comes to you and you will be on the way to happiness.

Les: Quite. I suppose one's conception of ultimate and eternal happiness can only be when we merge completely and finally, on an incomprehensible time-scale, with that Great Intelligence?

My dear friends, the time will come, but again we are speaking aeons of time, when the self, the ego, the individuality ceases to exist. Then you become part of that perfect whole.

Les: Quite, and that's an awful long time away—

I have to say, yes.

Les: Well at least we can take some of the right steps on the way, particularly with the help that you are giving us.

Within this lifetime, one reason why I have come to you, is to reassure you, that this time, your footsteps will walk straight and true.

Les: Good, that's very encouraging and comforting, thank you.

If I bring love, happiness, truth to just one of you within these walls, then truly I have succeeded in my task.

Les: Yes I'm sure you have and I'm sure it's going to be more than one.

But yes, I know that will be so. Now let us pause for a little while and let us see what can happen.

Les: Yes, well thank you very, very much for all you've told us tonight.

My very good friends, it has been a joy for me to be with you once again.

Les: It's very kind of you to say so.

I will withdraw for this time and allow some others to speak.

Les: Thank you. It's our great joy always to have you here.

Paul: Yes, our love goes with you.

I thank you. Remember I am with you always. My blessings stay with you, until we meet once more.

All: Thank you.

Les: Goodbye to you.

There then followed one through Eileen, with a message for Madeleine (Leslie's daughter visiting from Canada) She also mentioned an old school friend connected with George.

~23rd October 1995~

Good evening my friends.

All: Good evening.

Let us begin with your questions, because there is much work we would like to do with each one of you.

Les: Thank you, yes I have a question which I have been asked to put to you and I couldn't do it last week, so I'll do it now. I have been asked by a lady, quite an experienced member of our Wednesday group, who lost her husband a few months ago and had a most peculiar experience. She said that recently, as she was approaching sleep, she felt herself drifting away and knew it was not sleep. She was acutely aware of her husband with her and he told her that he had another daughter in spirit, of which she was unaware. When she asked him how this was, he said he was not able to give all the answers. Whilst he was speaking about this, she said that she felt physical contractions, as though she was in labour. Her question is: Is it possible for two spirits to be born at the same time, one taking on the physical life and the other returning immediately to spirit?

You put the question aptly. Apart from those born together as you would term twins, which is indeed two souls who conjoin together to be born at the same time, apart from that, the answer is 'no.'

Les: Thank you, I didn't see how it would be possible.

We have spoken on what happens briefly, before you come to inhabit these bodies. It has to be agreed beforehand, the conditions into which you place yourselves. That being so, it would not be within the natural laws, for these occurrences to take place, you understand?

Les: I do, thank you very much, I'll pass that answer on to her. The other question is, before I open the floor to others: I don't know, this is supposition on my part, but I don't know whether for any reason you were very close to me yesterday morning. I had been thinking of you actually, not calling upon you, but thinking about your teachings and I had an almost overwhelming sense of joy and happiness, just as if the whole world had dissolved around me into peace. It was the most peculiar feeling/lovely feeling, I wish I could have retained it.

Yes, I have spoken to you all, to tell you I will always be with you, but I have to say your experience was not that of my doing, but of someone you have been told about in previous times, who you have been told you would become more aware of.

Les: Yes, well it was a marvellous experience.

I am happy to tell you all that the awareness within each and every one of you, is slowly coming to the fore. You, my good friend, have much experience in these matters and of course your awareness is such, that any happenings you trust, you trust your own instincts about them. Unfortunately with some within the room, they still doubt, but we hope to dispel those doubts as time goes by.

Les: Thank you, well I hope you can, because I could never wish anybody more happiness, than I experienced in those few moments yesterday morning.

My friend, you have earned it, I will say no more. There are many who come close to you, who surround you, who help you, uplift you. Many until now, you have been unaware of, but as time progresses you will come to know them well.

Les: Well I certainly look forward to that, thank you for the answer. Now, questions anybody?

I would like to say I do not wish to spend too much time this evening on questions, because there are many here within the room, who are anxious to help and to use. I have said to you, that it is my desire that each and every one of you develops to the best of their abilities and this evening we hope to devote to this very task, if that is acceptable to you?

Les: Thank you very much, yes of course, we're guided by you every time of these occasions.

Again I thank you for your graciousness.

Les: Right, any quick questions for Salumet?

I never cease to wonder why these tongues of yours cease to function, when you come into this room.

(Laughter)

George: Well, I have one question, which might be a short one and perhaps it would fit in: I've been reading what I understand to be some channelled writings, about the setting up of a monastery. It is at the time when St. Columba sailed to the island of Iona. I've sometimes wondered if that was a chance land fall, but my readings have led me to believe that he would have been guided there and that was a place of old energies and the suggestion is that he re-awakened old energies there. Is there anything you can say about that?

I can my friend. Many of the people you have named and I have to say I am amused by the term 'Saint.' But let me continue upon this theme. The man you speak of, was indeed as you term, a Saint in your world, because indeed he was a man of spirit, who was guided by those beings who came to this earthly life with him. From a small child, this being was touched from our world. Therefore it makes sense does it not, that all that he did, while he trod upon your earthly world, should be guided? (Yes) Indeed he was. I cannot say that of all who are termed Saints, but in this instance, it is correct to say, I almost said, a Master of his time, but he would not have been seen as such. But his gifts became well known as you have probably read and as we have spoken upon briefly before, there are many areas within your world, which have energies which are special, if you like to term it that way. And yes, he was guided there, mainly to seek that guidance which followed him. That is why his footsteps trod that pathway, for the guidance he needed, for the rest of his earthly existence.

George: Yes that's very helpful, thank you.

Let me say to you, if he is willing, I will try to bring him to you.

Les: That would be marvellous.

George: That would be wonderful.

He then can explain to you, his feelings whilst upon this Earth.

Les: We certainly look forward to that one day.

I will let you know beforehand, as I always do, when someone is coming to speak to you.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

George: Thank you.

Now my friend, I ask that each of you, sit within the silence for a few minutes. I would like you to go to each person, and please do give what you are feeling, seeing or feel as touch. Nothing should be classed as imagination, or too trivial. Do you understand?

Les: Is that clear everybody? I shall coming round to each of you individually and if you experience anything while I am with another person, please say so quietly and I'll come to you, to exist the power, in what you are getting when you call me, clear? (Agreed)

There will be someone to speak through this one, but let us see what can be achieved.

Les: Yes certainly, thank you very, very much.

This is a summary of what each sitter experienced:

George: Hazy vision of seascape with rocky shoreline and felt something like fingers tapping lightly on his right cheek.

Paul: Vision of a table and chair and also a pink cake with one candle on it—the cake being suspended in the air. Later he saw a lady holding the cake.

Sara: Experienced beginnings of physical control; head nodding, arms being raised and body being lightly shaken.

Margaret: Experienced feelings of power, happiness and peace—she became so immersed in feelings, she wasn't able to speak when Leslie spoke to her.

Debbie: Clairvoyance of her Guernsey home and saw elderly lady in long black dress and grey hair fastened in bun. She was former owner of house who loved feeding birds and had one perched on shoulder. It impressed Debbie with feeling that she didn't want cats in garden because of birds, would continue to occupy house, but wouldn't affect present owners.

Sue and Jo: Both in deep trance.

One then came through Eileen to give feedback on the evening's work:

It is a great honour for me to be here amongst you. I have been given the task of speaking to you all. I want you to know the joy, the happiness that has been brought to our world this night. I wish you could all see what you have achieved this night. You have allowed those of us on or side of life, to take one step further. Not only does it help in your development, but it gives those of us the opportunity to work with and through you.

Les: Splendid. I'm sure everybody will be delighted with what has happened to them and with them tonight and we do thank you for all the help that is given.

It will not stop here, we will return, those of us who wish to demonstrate through these good people. And I can say to you, without doubt, that the one we know as a Great Teacher will allow this to be.

Les: Thank you very much. We are grateful to him also, for all his teaching.

I want to leave you with something to think about. Many suns and many moons have passed whilst you have been on this plane of existence.

Les: You're quite right.

Sometimes you feel—not too often, but sometimes you feel, too many.

Les: Yes—quite right too. (Chuckles)

Yes, I waited for your answer. I was ready to have a DISPUTE! (More chuckles) But you foiled me—well and truly beaten. But I want you to know that there are many here in our world who bow to you.

Les: Well I'm honoured that you should say that. I know I still have work to do here, in spite of what I have said sometimes.

We know you have much to do—of course we do. And if you look closely, you will perhaps recognise me. Ah ha! Now you know me.

Les: Yes indeed I do my friend.

I have come to you on a gentle wave this time. You have not always known me to be so quiet.

Les: No you have been quite forceful I agree, but it's always been delightful to welcome you, in whichever way you come.

It has been my privilege to end this time with you. I give you my peace my brother. (Thank you.) Good, good, good. Now let all these children depart, with much to think upon.

(General thanks/blessings/farewells)

~30th October 1995~

It is good to be with you again.

Les: It's lovely to have you and before anything else, I want to thank you for a wonderful evening last week.

I know it has helped to sustain some of you, until we have met again.

Les: Yes, everybody thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

It will occur many times, because it is important that you all become as one.

Les: We were certainly well on the way last week to that and we were very, very pleased to have your two colleagues to finish off the evening, it was lovely to welcome them again.

I know that whoever comes, will receive your warmth and your welcome.

Les: Yes of course, you do know what happens without me having to tell you.

Now, before we have your questions, I want to say just something please: There are times in your lives when all seems dark, when life seems troublesome and we hear your cries, 'Why, why, why?' I want to say I have been close by to one within this room, who has shed many tears. I will not indicate which one, they know, but I say to them, all things occur for a very, very good reason. If only you could accept those happenings within your lives and understand truly that you have been the instigator of those events, then life would seem so much simpler to you.

As doors close within your lives, let me reassure you that another opens for a much better reason. So do not hold on to your despair. By all means allow the tears to flow, but then release them, go forward, go onwards, because all is infinity.

I want you always to know this, I want you all to have the understanding of this greater being, who is part of your own being. Allow it to come to the fore and all of life's problems will become insignificant. You understand my words?

Les: Yes, it bares out what you have told us a number of times, that we must learn that we are basically spirit beings and the physical body here is of little importance to our development and it's interesting that yesterday evening we had some people here, a lady who does give a lot of information, I have mentioned her before and we had to advise him, on the need to recognise the spiritual aspect of ourselves rather than the physical, because the gentleman was involved in one of the eternal triangle problems and was hoping to be told what to do. He was told what to do, but not in the way he was anticipating.

This is the hardest thing for you all to grasp, that you cannot have interference within this lifetime, within human frames, otherwise what will you learn? Nothing—if each step is placed before you, would not your pathway be too simple?

Les: Yes it would.

You have to learn your life's lessons, you have to fully understand and accept them, not as the physical problems as you see them, but as that growth of the real you, of that spirit of which you all are. That is what is important and this is what is so hard for you all to grasp.

Les: It certainly is hard and I know the gentleman to whom we were speaking last night, will find it so, but I have to explain the difference between the physical and the spiritual and of course in these matters, then the argument is constant and always unresolved, unless we accept the emphasis of the spiritual necessity. There never will be harmony within your human lives, without that inner knowledge and spiritual faith, which you all have. You cannot have it, unless you reconcile each part of your beings, can you not see and understand this?

Les: Quite, I think we do understand it.

Even those of you within this room, whilst in the conditions of these meetings, of these spiritual happenings, all seems to be clear, but once you go your separate pathways, you go about your daily lives, sometimes these thoughts can go astray. It is natural, you are human, but you need to train yourselves within your daily lives, to know yourselves of who you truly are. Then and only then, will life become easier, happier and only then, when you know yourselves well, can you begin to go forward and give help to others.

Les: Yes unless we have learned fully, we shall never be in a position to help others, yes I can see that.

I have to say, I hear you say, we do try to help, but remember that spirit self knows more than the human brain. Whether your actions really are true, whether indeed they come from that spiritual aspect of yourselves. Remember always, you cannot fool yourselves.

Les: That's true and again as we have discussed previously, it is motive that is more important than the action.

It is the reason behind the action yes. I have spoken long on this, but I wish to say, especially to those of you, who are finding life so difficult at this particular time:

Remember it is as a dream, it will become daylight, it will not last forever.

Les: Quite, it would do well for us to retain that constantly, it is difficult as you know as well as we do it is, but it's got to be accepted.

I do not wish to seem harsh in my remarks to you all, but I wish only to guide and to help you.

Les: We do appreciate that and we thank you for it, we know you are dealing in facts—we do understand that.

I want you all to become what you truly are, to recognise that being that shines forth amongst men. I want these things for you, whilst you tread this earthly plane. This I am trying to help you with.

Les: You certainly are and we do hope we are not disappointing you in our reactions to what you tell us. But you know I believe that we are trying.

That is what is important, that is what counts, if you do of your very best, what more can we ask of you?

Les: No, we can't say that such and such is going to be the end result of our being here, we can only aim for it and hope that we shall succeed, particularly with your guidance.

You are kind with your words, but I will accept them, thank you.

Les: And you know they're spoken with truth.

Now, let us have your questions.

Les: Right, questions anybody?

Dawn: Can I ask something? A little while ago I asked you about a limb for hind-quarter amputations and you said there wasn't one at the time and to look towards America for it. Do you think there's any sign of this coming yet in America?

I think you have to wait a little, but there is much development happening, not only within that country, but they will come forth first. But it is a joint effort with many countries around your world. There is one country in 'Europe' you say, called Germany? (Yes) There are people there, who are making great efforts, who are being guided in all aspects of work, not only that of which you ask, but there is one particular gentleman who is receiving inspiration. But it will come from the country you call America first. But it will come from around this Earth, not one place. It will come.

Dawn: Thank you.

Les: Any other questions? Debbie you received some information last week, concerning an approach to your brother? I don't know whether you would like to ask a question on that? Whether it was so, or whether you should act on it?

Debbie: Yes okay: Last week I felt I was in contact with the lady who used to own the house that we live in, in Guernsey. I felt like she was trying to give me a warning about some land that she was afraid would be built on, after the farmer died and I felt quite strongly that I had to advise my brother about this. Was this the right sort of feeling, or not?

Was it not told to you last time, to accept what came to you? Always we fear do we not, what comes to us, yes? Let me speak about the one you call brother. He is most sensitive, he would not reject what you tell him, but give me one moment please. (Pause—15 seconds) I have to tell you this land will be sold. You can forward what you feel, but it will be sold. The efforts made to stop it, cannot take place, it will eventually go, I hope this will help you to make your decision.

Debbie: Yes. Do we know when it will actually be built on?

That will be the reason why it will be sold, but there will be many problems arising from the sale of this land. I can tell you, there will not be houses built on this land, for much time to come, but there will be a sale of the land. Is this enough for you?

Debbie: Yes that's fine thank you. (Good.)

Les: Thank you very much for that, I know it's not within your normal province of teaching, but I did want the lady to have verification, because that is the first time that she has been used to that extent.

I have to contradict you there my friend, it is not the first time, it is the first time that she has verbally spoken of it. She has tended to reject what has come to her.

Les: Thank you very much—well I hope this will give her some assurance that what she gets is so.

That is why we wanted to work with all of you last time.

Les: Thank you very much. Are you happy with that Debbie? (Yes thanks.) Any other questions? Margaret, you've been wondering about your grandson in Hong Kong again, haven't you?

Margaret: Yes well Heather told me that I'm not to worry about him. Jette, (A Kinesiologist friend) gave my daughter-in-law some tablets and he was without them for 4 days and his character changed again, so she wrote to Jette to send some more and he has progressed quite a lot since then.

Les: Thank you—good.

Give this child time, that is all that is needed here, do not be concerned.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

Les: Sarah, any comments on your activities of last week?

Sarah: No I haven't any comments.

Les: You're quite happy with what you experienced?

Sarah: Yes I feel very reassured and happy yes thank you.

Les: Good, I know you were almost bouncing when you went out. (Laughter)

Les: Sara anything you want to ask?

Sara: No I don't think I need to thank you.

Les: Mark?

Mark: No I think I'm okay thanks.

Les: George?

George: We have from time to time talked about humour and the value of humour. There are many types of humour on the Earth plane, some are quite nice and some are rather coarse—but there are many types of humour. Much of it is of no doubt great value and it's nice that humour continues in spirit realm—it's nice to think that it continues. I would imagine that as one progresses, the humour is refined to some degree, I imagine the coarse types go and the nicer humours probably persist. Is there anything further you would like to talk to us about in relation to humour?

Let me say this to you my friend: There is indeed much of what you call humour, on your Earth. It is part of your physical make up, it helps to make life easier for you, from what I can see, but I think I can tell you, that even as matter refines, then of course humour is retained and I would have to say, any matter which is heavy and includes coarseness of any kind, will eventually be gotten rid of. As you become finer, become more attuned to that part of your being which exists on a higher vibration, then all coarseness disappears. But how would you define humour? I suppose you would say to some extent, that I have on occasion, been humorous whilst with you. (Agreed) But I have to say, it is a memory of humour that I bring with me. It is not something that is natural within me. Firstly, you have to understand that there is no need of humour, as the energies become more and more refined.

George: Ah, yes, thank you, I wondered about that.

We have spoken about the time when all speech ceases to exist and only the power of your thought remains as communication. But I think you are asking me the question, is there a particular point in your development, when humour disappears? I would I think say to you, 'Yes,' but it would take much time for this to occur, because you see, it mainly belongs to those physical attributes which you possess.

George: Yes that's very interesting, thank you.

I suppose, in a sense, you could say, 'good' humour, was a form of love, and that my friend is how I would look upon your term, 'humour.' It is an interaction between two people.

Les: I would agree with that description absolutely. We have often been asked by those in the immediately succeeding plane of life, to make sure we bring our sense of humour with us when we go to them.

Of course, because we have spoken previously, when you leave your physical being, you do not suddenly become someone so different. You are still you and all that you have been, remains with you for some considerable time. That includes, what you term, 'humour.'

Les: The laughter which has been brought back from the next life and which has been recorded, has been of extremely good value to those who have come investigating this work. They have been astonished at the laughter and to know that it still exists in the next world.

You see, all that is good exists for longer on those energy vibrations—all that is love, that is good, will continue for so much longer. Can you see this?

Les: Yes and I see what you mean about humour being love, because it does unite two people in the sharing of something beyond the immediate physical problems.

And those of you who have that bond, can share what you call humour, without exchange of your words. You have a little of what humour would be, in the very best sense.

Les: Yes we enjoy our laughter together. (Yes)

Lilian, any question?

Lilian: If I could ask one about my youngest granddaughter, who's rather slow with her speech. She is having help, but is there anything you could suggest that would help her even more? I think she is beginning to be a little bit frustrated.

Yes, can I say to you, you worry too much about this child. It is the anxiousness which is affecting her most. I would suggest you hold back just a little. After all, children are individuals in their development, as you adults are in your spiritual growth. So it takes your children time to readapt to earthly life. I am speaking to you from spirit, so please try to understand what I am telling you.

Lilian: I do understand.

Please step back from this child, the anxiety, the comparisons, are too much for her to take. She will come forth when the time is right for her. The words will come, but the more she is forced to use words, the less success you will have with her. Do you understand?

Lilian: Yes, thank you.

I do not say give up completely, but I have to say the mother is rather anxious.

Lilian: Yes I know.

You fully understand this, don't you—she needs to just step back a little.

Les: And the child would be picking up that anxiety I would imagine?

Yes, she is feeling pressured. Do not doubt that children know what is within another human being. I have to say, most of you underestimate these children. You don't allow them their development time. There is too much within your world that is set by time and by rules. Please allow her a little more time.

Lilian: Yes, thank you very much.

But the mother must refrain from too much anxiety.

Lilian: I'll tell her.

Les: Any other questions for Salumet? Jo? Sue? (They were in deep trance)

Dawn: Could I ask one more? I have a granddaughter of 4, and she keeps complaining about a tummy ache—she's been to doctor and he says there could be a urinary infection, but I don't think it's that at all—(Tape faint/unclear)

No, no this child suffers too from problems outside her nature. Around her there is stress, which helps to create these upsets. Please be advised by the doctor giving advice, it is fine don't worry, don't worry about this. You see, children can suffer from conditions in which they are placed. But don't worry about this child.

Dawn: Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much. Any other questions for Salumet?

I want to say one thing about the child before I finish. That child is particularly musical and it would be good to direct her in that way, it would give her a release of emotions, which at this time in her life, she is not able to express.

Dawn: Thank you.

It is an avenue she should follow. I think for this time, I will withdraw from you and we will see what else can be achieved this time.

(Thanks expressed)

Can I say, next time all are together, we would attempt again to use this one. (Indicating Sue)

Les: Yes certainly, thank you.

I leave you my friends, in the knowledge that all of you have grown in spirit since first we came together. You cannot see how much, as beacons of light, how much greater you shine forth, but I can reassure you all, that this is so. And you my friend know and are becoming so much more aware of all that is happening around you.

Les: Yes that's true. We do thank you for having told us that, it gives us confidence.

I hope it provides you with more than confidence, I hope you feel that stirring within yourselves, of the knowledge and the love that you all have.

Les: Does everyone feel that? (Affirmed) We thank you once again. God bless you and we look forward to our next meeting.

There then followed one through Sue who talked about autumn:

—You are in the season where the leaves become changed.

Les: Yes you're quite right, we are, it is the season which we call autumn.

Many colours many hues.

Les: The trees look very beautiful at this time of the year.

I say to you all, look at the leaves, become part of those leaves, experience the colours, feel the colours and listen to what they tell you. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I think we do. In fact we should be aware every time we see them, bearing in mind that there is no such thing as death, it is merely a transition from one form of life to another.

The leaves fall, the leaves are pushed into the Earth, where they give life and warmth, for new growth.

Les: Yes continuity of life, we do understand that and we accept it. I think we don't always realise the beauty that lies within all these changes. We must not look upon it as something ceasing, it is something beginning. We tend to look upon autumn, as approaching the end of our year, instead of regarding it as the beginning of something new.

You speak wise words. When you look upon the trees, naked of their foliage, do not think of barren trees and cold nights.

Think only of the new growth, which is beneath the surface.

Les: I have always looked upon this as a physical lesson for us, if only we can assimilate it.

Use your psychic sight, to see into the new growth. Feel that spiritual growth, which surrounds you all. Let yourselves become part of the new growth and you will see what can be achieved. Do not think of barren twigs, think only of unique and vibrant existence.

Les: Yes we should always keep that in mind, I do agree with what you say.

Now I remind you all to look and feel and listen to the colours of your autumn and feel the peace and the love which surrounds you all.

Les: Thank you very much, we shall certainly try to do that.

May the Great Spirit be around and within each one here. My love to you all.

Les: Thank you and with you also.

There then followed one through Eileen who came through with a fun/light-hearted chat to finish.

~6TH November 1995~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

I wish to thank you for your many thoughts, since last time.

Les: Thank you.

I think that you all are beginning to realise what your lives are about and as you go about those daily lives, I see how much better you all are coping with your difficulties. To you all, I say, be pleased with yourselves, because you have grown much, in a short time. (Thanks expressed) That does not mean that your life patterns will not be without difficulties, but you will begin to put things into perspective.

Les: Yes it's certainly helpful to be able to do that.

But I want to say to the lady, she still allows the troubles of others to weigh too heavily upon her shoulders.

Les: Is that the lady Sara or Margaret?

The younger of the two.

Les: Sara, that's information for you dear.

We have spoken about this before and she has improved, but still she allows too many problems to weigh her down. It is done, because of the innate love that she has for her fellow beings, but still it is something to be cautious about.

Sara: Right, thank you, so detach a little more, (Yes) if there isn't much purpose in the relationship.

Allow your love to flow, but allow other people to deal with their own problems.

Sara: Yes right—thank you.

Les: Any question you want to ask on that Sara?

Sara: Yes, it's obviously—I need to concentrate on my own development and perhaps not worry so much about other people's problems.

It is not a matter of concentrating upon oneself—that is not what I mean. You must try to allow others to go forward in their lives—show your love and consideration, but allow them to work through their own problems. You cannot shoulder difficulties for others, you can offer help and love, but you must not try to solve all for other peoples. Do you understand?

Sara: Yes I do, yes, don't be so concerned, yes.

I hear you think, 'I make contradictions of what I have told you.' But indeed I do not. There is a difference between 'help' and 'interference.' It is a subtle, but one that I would wish you all to acquire. You understand what I try to teach you?

Les: Yes I think we all do, thank you. We have to recognise a point at which we can no longer offer assistance.

You always can be available to others, but you cannot put upon yourselves guilt or sorrow, which does not belong to you.

Sara: Yes I see, thank you.

Les: We have said before Sara, it's the difference between compassion and emotion. It would seem that you still get too emotionally involved.

It is difficult for her—it is her nature. But we all have control of our lives. So you must recognise within yourself, that aspect which you must learn to let go. I am helping her.

Sara: Thank you.

I would like to say, before we continue, that I want you, if you will, to help the one who is absent here this night. We speak of the young lady. I think you know of whom I speak. She needs guidance, she needs someone to listen to her. I don't mean superficial talking, I mean to listen deeply, with the heart.

Les: If she is willing to talk, I am willing to listen and to help in whatever way I can.

She needs to be approached about it. Of course, it is her right to refuse, but she needs to have the approach made to her. Although I am with her, I am limited when it comes to making that communication physically, you understand what I mean?

Les: Yes I do. Well I shall see what I can do for her then, beginning with myself.

We are a little concerned with her. Now I will say, do you wish to ask me anything this time?

Les: Yes please. I have been giving a great deal of consideration, to what you have told us about the power of thought. (Yes) And I understand, of course, what you mean and what you are implying by that, but I think it would do us all good, to have a little clarity, as to the power of thought operating in the next world, when we go there. For instance, we know that because of the different style of living, we shall not need various physical organs, as they are used here. I have been wondering about breathing—whether it is possible in the next world, to dispense with lungs as we know them and to breathe by the power of thought. And this arose in my mind, because of the wonders that we have been shown, below the surfaces of our oceans on this world. The wonderful life that exists and the colours, which exist there also, we now know to be facts. In order to appreciate those, we have to use artificial means of course, to breathe underwater. Is it possible in the next world, to explore under the surface of the waters, without the need to breathe, as we know it here? Is the power of thought sufficient to keep us 'alive', I use that word in inverted commas, under the ocean's surface, so that we can enjoy the wonders which I'm sure are there?

Firstly, let me clarify some of your points. You know, of course, that your physical make up is entirely different from that of what we will term, spirit. (Yes) You know that the energies are much more refined. You also know, that when you pass from this existence, into those spiritual realms, that you leave behind your physical bodies. So, let us continue so far. It is not necessary that you take with you those organs, which you have become attuned to, whilst upon this Earth. But for many, they retain the 'need,' if you like, to function as they always have done, you understand?

Les: Yes, I understand that.

So for many who come to our side of life, the functioning of the lungs, as you call them, still becomes a necessity for them. So the power of the thought is actually what maintains this reaction within the spirit body. You follow what I am saying? (Yes—) So although you have left the physical overcoats behind, you have a counterpart body, which functions in the ways you have been used to, for some considerable time. Sometimes it is less stressful for that soul, to continue to use the words, to use the functions of the body, although it is not as you would imagine. Although the lungs still function, the soul is breathing, it is not necessary. It is the mind power, the mind power of the soul, which makes it react to that very thought. Can you understand?

Les: Yes, I understand, thank you.

So you see, when you ask about breathing underwater, you are speaking about a physical thing, not spiritual. It is possible for those souls, to enter into seas, rivers, pools, ponds in our world and to think—and here we come to the crux of the matter, they think they can breathe. You follow? (Yes) When in fact it is the refined energy of thought that is creating it for them.

Les: Yes, this is what I thought must be able to happen.

You do not have a physical lung, you do not have physical organs, when you come to our side of life. But depending on the state of the soul and their expectations of life, then it is the power of their thought, which creates all for them. You understand me?

Les: Yes, I thought it must be like this, otherwise the power of thought would be, from what you have said, contradictory. I considered that the power of thought should enable us to explore underwater, without any discomfort.

All is ‘THOUGHT’ in our world. It cannot be otherwise.

Les: Well you have confirmed what I suspected, but I have never read anything about it, in that regard. So that is why I wanted to ask the question.

It is difficult to explain to you, in physical terms, what thought is. It does not belong in your world, although you think you know what thought is. It is not something tangible, it cannot be. It belongs to that higher realm of existence, for which you all strive. But when first you come to our side of life, there is help by those who greet you. Although you would not know immediately, that their subtle thought energies are helping you along. It is only as the soul grows, that it recognises that it need not have these old patterns of living. You understand me?

Les: Yes. Thinking about it, as I said I have been, to me it would seem, that since we are energy, it is merely one form of energy, penetrating another form of energy, which we would consider to be the sea or the ocean.

You are in fact using energies of a much more subtle nature. All energies intermingle. I have spoken briefly on lighter and denser energies. This is what is taking place. Always the lighter energies will dissipate the denser, can you see? (Yes) It is a complicated matter, to try to instruct you upon, but ‘THOUGHT’ is YOU. Can you see?

Les: Yes I do. I appreciate that it’s difficult to explain it. It’s something that has to be experienced. (Yes) So it is up to us all to enhance our own development as much as we can, so that when we come ‘home,’ as you call it so beautifully, we are in a fit state to take full advantage, of all the differences, that we shall find awaiting us.

If only you would allow yourselves to develop these ‘gifts,’ as you call them, what I term is your ‘right,’ what is truly you. If you would only allow yourselves to develop them whilst on this Earth, you would see things so much more clearly. You would be ready, when the time came, for you all to return home. You would have no need to retain these counterpart bodies for recognition, because you see, your thought patterns would have become so refined, that instantly you would be at home. Can you see?

Les: Yes, thank you very, very much for that. I’m glad I brought the question up, because my thinking of course, doesn’t give the information to my colleagues here. But you have put it very succinctly now and I’m sure everybody understands. Is there any question anybody would like to ask, to follow that up?

I would like to say to you my friend, I have waited for your question, for a few weeks and have wondered why you have refrained from asking me.

Les: I like to try and get these things clear in my mind first.

I know you do, but sometimes you hesitate and think too deeply. If I can help, I will. So I am pleased that you have brought it forward.

Les: Thank you. Yes, I shall certainly take advantage of your help with other questions like that.

As I say, it is difficult to explain in your physical terms, but we are speaking about spiritual matters, which have to be gained in knowledge only.

Les: Quite, because I had wondered about this in the past, in one of the books I read, by a very eminent writer, who was very closely attuned to your world. He experimented with photography and on one occasion it was seen that an arm was seen, with what appeared to be a cut on it. And the inference from that was that, physical damage could be sustained, by the spirit body. And this I could not accept, because if the power of thought is so prevalent as you say, then it would have healed that wound immediately.

But you have to have that power of thought, it has to be used. It will not trigger-off by itself. I have spoken briefly upon the spirit body. I have told you briefly, that some of the illnesses upon your Earth plane are illnesses within the spirit body. It is a mistaken idea amongst many of you upon this earthly plane. You have to realise that when we speak of spirit, the energies are intermingled. You are not separate units in that respect. Can you see? (Yes) That is why we have our hospitals in our side of life. After all, you could say, 'Why do we need them?' You know the physical body has been disposed of, so why are you not immediately well and happy? Because the spirit suffers when your physical body is in pain—you cannot separate the two. I know this is something spoken upon much, upon your Earth plane and so many wrong words are used. If the spirit is in pain, then you have physical illness. There has to be the balance with all of you—your thoughts, your mind and the body. Can you not understand?

Les: Yes I think we do. The difficulty we find of course, is achieving that balance. This is what we have to work at.

Yes, and do not think of yourself as being separate from that spirit side of yourself—this is what I want you to fully understand

Sara: Can I ask a question?

Les: Yes surely.

Sara: There is a lady in America called Louise Hay, who has written about the relationship between the spirit and the body. (Yes) I wondered, do you think what she writes is true?

All people who are in contact with our world are being impressed to write. All of those people, who tread this Earth, are being inspired in many things. But what I will say and what I have said to you all, when first I came:

If there is anything which is said to you, which you find to insult your intelligence, or you cannot accept, then please do not accept it.

But I come here, to try to put right, many of the wrongs which have been spoken upon. And much in your world is contradictory, this we have spoken about too, have we not? (Agreed) Information given, can only be given by those who come and with the amount of knowledge which they too have gained. So I say to you this:

I ask you to heed my words, that body and spirit are one. Your physical being is only a house for the spirit, whilst you tread this Earth. But the spirit, whilst housed within this body, can be pained, can be affected by the illnesses caused by physical thinking.

Can you understand this? (Affirmed)

Can you see the connection?

Les: Yes, if the two are one, then each must be affected by the other, of course.

Yes, too much is spoken that when the physical body leaves, then the spirit is perfect. This is not quite true; the spirit body should be and I stress the word SHOULD be, but in most cases it is not, because of the very fact of being housed within the physical being.

Les: That is the reason we have so many 'rescues' to deal with, I imagine, because the spirit has been damaged and comes back in a damaged condition.

Of course, it has to make sense does it not, that if the physical body has been disposed of, what is causing the problems? Can you understand this? So again we come to how powerful is the thought. It is holding that spirit being to ransom if you like—I cannot think of another expression to give you. That is why your work is so important, to help to free these souls in troubled times. But of course they have no bodies, so why are they still in pain?

Les: Merely the power of thought operating in the wrong way again.

Yes, that is how powerful the energy of thought is.

Les: This is all extremely interesting for us, thank you very much. (Affirmed)

I hope I have enlightened you a little, on this matter.

Les: More than a little I think, hasn't Salumet? (Affirmed) Anybody have any particular query on what has been said? Anything not understood, because now is the time to get it understood.

I know it seems sometimes difficult for your brain to accept and take all in, but that is why I wanted to go slowly, slowly, with you all. Because of your different states of development, there are among you, people who will find this information a little more difficult than others. I want you all to understand all that I try to teach you.

Sara: So could I summarise by saying our greatest protection is in our purification of our thoughts?

Yes, the power of your 'Thoughts', I have said, is the most powerful thing that you will ever possess. It is that part of you which is never-ending. As you continue, as the soul goes along its pathway, in aeons of time to come, when your energy is so refined that no longer are you aware of a Spirit being—and there will come that time—then and only then, will you be recognised as a thought pattern within the cosmos. Can you look a little forward and see that this is what will take place? When you have finished treading these earthly pathways, when you have progressed throughout the spirit realms, then you are just a thought pattern. That energy will become purier and purer and more refined.

Les: Yes, as you say, it's difficult to accept, but I think we are beginning to understand.

Mark: I imagine it's like when we become pure enough, we grow like a tree, sort of thing, in the right way—it takes on its own momentum.

There will come a time when all energy will flow together, so that none is recognisable as individual—but I am taking you too far, I must bring you back a little closer to your time. (Pause) Thank you for listening to me, because I know the words I speak are not easy. So I want to thank you, for giving me your listening time. Now I think I need to speak on other matters now.

Les: Please, thank you. (Pause)

I will say to you, that even as I speak about refined energy thoughts, it is drawing me towards it; that is why I want to talk upon other things. This is something too, you probably would not realise, but I could feel myself being drawn away from you.

Les: Yes, thank you, I can fully understand that.

Yes, so let us speak about other things.

Les: Thank you. (Longer pause)

I think for the rest of this time, we will give to each one of you, let us see what the power of your thoughts, can achieve, for the rest of this time. I want to say to you, that shortly I will be bringing—if not next time, then our meeting after that, someone who will be of interest to you.

All: Thank you.

Now, I will say to you:

*May that universal love, which you all belong to, may it enfold you,
May it keep you safe, until we come together once more.*

I leave you all this time, with my blessing. I ask that you allow yourselves to use that thought, in allowing yourselves to open UP, to that which can be given to you. My dear friend, I will leave you to finish with these dear people.

Les: Thank you and our love goes with you too. (Affirmed)

It helps to sustain me, whilst I remain within these conditions.

Les: We do appreciate the effort you must have to make sometimes, to descend to such a heavy atmosphere, we love you for it. (Agreed)

We are making good progress are we not? (Fondly agreed) And now, goodbye. (Fond farewells)

There then followed one through Les, who gave instructions for meditation:

Les: I have to ask you to do something which may seem stupid, but I want you please to do it.

Les then breathes deeply and begins channelling:

I wish you to imagine from the top of your heads a blossom appearing with petals opening outwards, to what you would call your sunshine. And I wish you to concentrate upon a beam of light which will be sent down into that blossom upon your head. Do not try to imagine with your own brain what may come to you, but that the power of your thoughts will—that whatever is sent from us shall be received by you, within that blossom. Do you understand this? (Affirmed) Now I will leave it to you to begin what you would call this exercise.

There was then silence for 10 – 15 minutes before Les went around the room, asking each sitter what they had experienced. Sitters described flowers/colours/sensations of warmth.

~20th November 1995~

Salumet arranged for a guest speaker through Eileen. This was someone known to us in history as Mary Queen of Scots (Mary Stuart). The audio version is also available here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mt-8DqW1KV0>

I am here now. (Elegant/refined pronunciation)

Les: Thank you very much indeed and we all welcome you to our group. Our friend Salumet did say that you would be speaking to us tonight.

I would wish to speak in your language of today.

Les: Thank you.

I come to you, to show you all that the spirit of one long gone, can indeed return.

Les: Yes, we believe this implicitly.

I speak to you on the last memory of my time and perhaps I will become a little more accustomed to speaking with you.

Les: Thank you, we look forward to hearing what you have to say.

I would like to tell you that some points raised about my death, are not so accurate as they may seem.

Les: That doesn't surprise me.

Now,—as I return to these vibrations, the memory returns. I must tell you that I have attempted to return before to you, some while ago, when I mentioned about your seating and I would need more room, do you recall?

Les: Yes and you did ask for a hard seat, didn't you?

Since that time, I have discovered that it is unnecessary. So let me say how I feel to come back to speak to you.

Les: That would be wonderful if you can, because I remember you also asking me to stand back from you, because you were not used to people being so close.

I indeed did say this to you.

Les: We've been waiting for your return.

I am most grateful for those words. But of course you know, it is always for a very good reason.

Les: Yes and your instrument was very aware of the clothing you used to wear too.

She will be this time too, but I have tried to modify it for her, to make it is little more comfortable.

Les: Good. And you yourself are quite comfortable now with us?

I am indeed.

Les: Thank you very much. We shan't interrupt you again, we'll now wait for you to talk as you wish.

I want say to you, that my last day upon this Earth, is still very vivid in my memory, as I return to you. It was a beautiful bright February day. The sun shone and to all intent and purpose, you could feel that spring was around the corner. Are you understanding my words? (Affirmed)—because it is difficult to gauge for me.

Les: We hear them very clearly indeed.

That is good. I awoke that morning, after a very sleepless night, because you see, there was much noise throughout the previous night. I was ready to meet, how I would have termed then, 'my maker.' I truly believed myself, that I was completely composed. I promised not to shed a tear that I had to be strong, for those who had cared for me, in those long, dark days. Dear Jane and Elizabeth, to them I owed so much, in those last dark days. I will have to ask you to be patient, because memory torments me even now.

Les: Of course, we do understand.

I truly believed that I left this plane of existence, with goodness in my heart. (Emotional/tearful) Even for Paulet! (Amias Paulet—appointed by Elizabeth as jailer of Mary, often described as a 'fanatical puritan'.) How wrong I was—how wrong I was, that when I met my maker, as I would have said in those days, did I discover how much I had loathed that gentleman. He was a jailer of hatred! I am sorry to display these emotions. I did not feel I would, but you have to realise that on returning, how painful these memories become.

Les: I can quite understand, they must be a great burden to you. (Spoken with rising emotion)

What I want to say is this: Much has been written about the words I uttered on my last breath. It is said that dear Jane and Elizabeth thought I uttered the words, 'Sweet Jesus.' I tell you now, that I had been praying as my head lowered to the cushion, I prayed earnestly to be taken quickly. (Spoken through tears)

As it struck my neck, I was saying the words 'Je suis!' 'Je suis!' 'I am!' 'I am!'

And so I left behind the earthly torment, which had me jailed for so long. No-one knew, no-one knew, that my sweet dear little dog, was gathered amongst my underskirts. How could they know, how could they know? And this is something else I want you to know, that only those close to me, would have known that my dear animal was known to me as 'Pierce,' yes, dear sweet animal. And I know it has been written, that when I was disrobed, by those sweet dear, Jane and Elizabeth, that those who watched—and can you, CAN YOU imagine, the humiliation to be disrobed in front of so many others?

Les: Of course.

I was dressed intentionally, I must say, in red undergarments, not, NOT to hide the blood, as it has been written, but being a devout Catholic, I wore the colours, of the blood of Christ

Les: Yes I understand.

So I was preparing myself to meet our saviour. But on going there, I was shocked at my stifled deep dislike and hatred for some of those who treated me so badly. I have to tell you also, that whatever has been written about Elizabeth, she really did not mean to sign my life away.

Les: No, so I understand.

This has to be made clear to you.

Les: Thank you.

She also was unaware of the treachery of Paulet. He was indeed an evil man.

Les: Yes, have you met him since you've been gone?

I have not. I would not wish to, but I have come to terms and forgive them all. But I did not meet him face-to-face, I think you would say, is that the words? I did not wish to. I have much in memories of those last hours and now they have been spoken, they must be forgotten.

Les: Now you can go at peace.

But now I have to tell you why I have come, because—thank you for your help, I am so appreciative of it, and I know you will be rewarded for it. I want to tell you now, why this has been important, not the words I have spoken to you, but to tell you that the person that I was then, has subsequently returned in another form, to your Earthly plane.

Les: Is that so?

Salumet has told me, that he wanted you to realise what he has taught you, that you are more than one. And whilst I retain the memories, of those painful times within that lifetime, that part of me returned for the betterment of others. And so he hopes we all can share this time, to know that we are not just ONE.

Les: Quite. We can only hope that this visit of yours, will now enable you to forget those memories completely, they can be removed from you.

Yes, for me this has been most welcome.

Les: You have been here during the day I believe today, haven't you?

Yes and I want you to tell the one I use, that she too has been aware today, that I have been around, preparing for these words.

Les: Thank you.

Now, I want to say just a few words more before I go, I feel much stronger now.

Les: Good, we're delighted to hear that and do hope that our combined love and presence has been of assistance to you.

It has indeed, and I want to let you know of the time difference from which I come. We are speaking, can I give the year? To let the others know how long ago I existed here?

Les: Yes please do.

I am speaking of the year 1587.

Les: 1587—and would you care to tell my colleagues your name?

It's unimportant but—

Les: Please if you would, for them.

I was known as Mary Stuart.

Les: Yes, Queen of Scots.

But I have to be honest and say that truly, my heart belonged in France.

Les: In France?

Yes. But they matter not now, these facts are well dispatched. I hope that all of you in this time, find your world religions much more humble, that people no longer suffer for their religious beliefs, because truly that is why I was put to death.

Les: Yes—intolerance.

And because although it grieves me to say, the fear of my son James—he loved me in his own way, but he was a weak man when it came to emotions.

Les: And are you together now?

We met when the time came, but soon departed.

Les: I see. I don't want to revive unhappy memories—I was just hoping that you might have been happy together.

No. There has been a combining of spirit, but it is not necessary to always be together.

Les: No, I understand.

He also has since returned. Part of his being has to return for greater strength, to overcome those weaknesses within his makeup. But this is not something for me to speak upon.

Les: No, we shall not mention it.

I would like to say, I hope I have achieved what I was meant to and I tell you now, that the love I feel from you, will help me on my return, and if possible, perhaps another time, perhaps I could return to you.

Les: We can't be strong enough in our wish that you would do that and to say that you would be more than extremely welcome. We hope it will be possible.

I must leave you now, but I think there will be others to say words to you.

Les: Thank you.

And perhaps we will meet another time.

Les: I do hope so.

But you must all realise what a great help you have been to me this time.

Les: We are delighted to hear it and we do thank you for having made the effort to be with us tonight, it has been a wonderful experience for us.

Thank you, God bless you.
(Fond farewells)

~27th November 1995~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening.

Again, I thank you for your welcome.

Les: And we would like to thank you, before anything else, for enabling us to have such a wonderful meeting last time. We do hope that the lady has a much greater peace of mind, after having been here.

I hope that you all have realised by now, the purpose of her coming to you. (Mary Stuart) It was important that some within the room, realise how insignificant TIME is, and also the purpose of showing to you, that part of that soul, had now gone forward, into a later time. I do hope that you understood what it was about.

Les: Yes I think we did and we found it extremely interesting, particularly she mentioned that both she and her son, had both 'Dual' lives, if I can use that expression and have been back here, or ARE back here.

This is what I wish you to try to understand. Please forget about yourselves as an individual item, you are so much more. I want you all to realise that each one of you here, is just a spark of your whole soul.

Les: Yes, I think we are slowly beginning to realise that. It's difficult for us of course, but gradually, I think the realisation is taking shape in our minds. But we do have to recognise ourselves as a multiple personality.

That is what I am endeavouring to teach you, as well as you well know, how powerful your minds are.

Les: Thank you. Yes.

This too, I have stressed on numerous occasions, but it is an important teaching and I hope that you can gather it to yourselves, to try to understand.

Les: Yes, as I say, I think it is slowly sinking in. Has anybody any particular question on that before we go further? Are you beginning to understand the immensity of us as individuals, but being NOT individuals? (Some agreement) It is difficult to assimilate, but I think the description of the facets of the diamond is the most apt; if you consider yourself as a diamond with the many facets also existing in their own right in addition to forming the whole.

Or try to imagine yourselves within a pool of water—that each lifetime if you like, can be encapsulated within one bubble. But when the bubble disperses, you are still part of the pool of water, can you see?

(Affirmed)

Although as a bubble, you are separate you might think, when it is dispersed, then you become the whole. Can you see? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes I think we can, and of course it is indicated in the Bible, isn't it? It is said that as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be.

Yes, we have spoken briefly:

You are, you have been, you will—all are ONE.

There can be no separation. I know this is difficult for you all to take upon yourselves, but if you understand just a little of what I bring to you, then indeed my heart is full. (Agreement + thanks) I would wish to say to you something else before we continue: That so often I hear many, many of you upon this Earth plane, who suffer because of the state of your world. I would say to you my dear friends, I would say this to you:

Before you can change anything within your world, firstly look to change your MINDS about your world.

Do you understand what I am telling you? Can you understand?

Les: Yes I think what you are suggesting is that we have to have a completely different outlook about the world, (Yes) stop being so materialistic.

Yes, and also too judgmental on what is happening. Firstly I believe you have a saying, ‘Put your own house in order?’

Les: You’re quite right.

Yes, please always keep this within your minds. Now, I do not want to take up all of this meeting time, because we wish to use others this time. So if you have questions for me, I will be happy to speak.

Les: Thank you—yes, I have one I’ve been wanting to ask. It’s a controversial subject again of course: During the exodus out of Egypt, of the Israelites, the Bible has the story of the parting of the Red Sea. I can’t see how that could have been done as written in the Bible, by Moses ordaining it, as instructed. Would it in some way have been the power of thought again, which created the waters to part, if indeed they did part?

I will speak upon this matter. Of course the waters did not part physically. (No) No—it was written symbolically by those people who put pen to paper. It of course indicated that those peoples as you say, had the seas parted to save them. It meant only, that good always will come to the fore—that is the true meaning of this story. It is symbolic only, it has nothing to do with the power of the thought. Remember what I told you when we spoke before about many stories within your Christian Bible? All of them—I beg your pardon, some of them, are man-made to suit the times. Remember this always, when you are making judgements. Hold always within your minds, that all that you read has been written by others, that it has been interpreted for their benefit and not for the good of all. You understand? (Agreed)

Les: That clears that point.

It was a symbolic story only.

Les: Right, thank you.

Are you happy with that?

Les: Oh yes, I didn’t see the possibility of—well I knew it would be an impossibility for the waters to be parted as written, but I wondered what the other explanation was—as you say, it was purely symbolical. But let me say this to you my dear friend: I am happy that you are beginning to realise that the power of thought, has played such a great part, within your earthly history. I am happy that you are recognising this and I thank you for your questions upon these matters. It helps you, as it helps us to clarify all of these things.

Les: Yes and will I be right in presuming that the power of thought was operative when Jesus walked upon the waters?

Now we are speaking upon a different matter. We now are speaking about a Master who was capable of doing such a thing.

Les: Yes I thought perhaps that was so.

Yes, now we are onto different matters and I can tell you that this did indeed happen.

Les: Yes, I’ve always been able to accept that.

You must remember that this man, although he walked upon the Earth, he was indeed a Master, come to help, in those troubled times. Do not doubt that he did exist, do not doubt that what you call ‘miracles’ of those times, that most of it did take place, but not as it was written. A lot of it is symbolic, you have to interpret that book as such. You have to look at it from the viewpoint of spirit happenings and not earthly ones.

Les: Yes, it’s difficult to do that sometimes, but I quite see what you mean.

Yes, always look upon these books as spiritual happenings, against the earthly occurrences and then you may—and I say may reservedly, you may begin to see the full picture.

Les: Thank you very much for that explanation.

Now, before I leave you this time, I would like to say to you all that I will have to withdraw from you, until such time, as you have celebrated your holiday times on this Earth.

Les: Oh dear, that’s disappointing.

Do not be disappointed my friend, I intend to return, but I have to attend to many matters and so I do need to leave you for this short time.

Les: Yes I quite understand, but we look forward so much to your visits, that we tend to be greedy for your company.

I appreciate the kindness of your words, but I will be with you all, do not fear. (Good.) And although it may seem to you some time, remember what my opening words were, that TIME means little.

Les: Yes we mustn't be selfish.

So I do assure you I will return, but be assured all of you, that your meetings will not be without development.

Les: Good, thank you, I'm sure you'll be able to use some of the others.

Yes, but I want to say to this lady (Margaret) she has been feeling so tired this week, yes?

Margaret: That's right.

Yes, don't be concerned, don't be concerned, we are helping you.

Margaret: Thank you.

Now I leave you, with my blessings until the time comes for us to meet—

Les: Thank you very much and I appreciate the help you are giving me, I must say that before you go.

I do not need words of thanks, you know my dear friends, all of you, that when you need me most, I will try to help you.

Les: You certainly do.

May our Great Creator dwell within all of your hearts,

May he help you to see through those eyes,

May he help you to find goodness in your daily lives.

Les: Thank you, God bless you.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed a communication through Sue:

No need to be downhearted, the great one will return to you. Let me say in your vernacular, 'He is a busy, busy bee!'

Les: Yes he must be and does our time of the year, our celebrations, have anything to do with his withdrawal? Or are there duties to perform, in that connection?

Not in the sense you may be thinking of. You have this time of year, to celebrate what you know to be the birth of the Christ. It does not always fall at the same time in our realms. It is difficult to explain to you, when you have no concept of the various time-planes which exist. But be assured that your celebrations here, are mirrored in our world, but at different times and for different purposes. We of course do not have the same celebrations.

Les: No, you don't have the same materialistic outlook, that we have now on it—it's purely a spiritual celebration, I imagine?

Indeed, we do not wish to sound as if we are interfering, but the greed of your people, at times, can leave us very sad.

Les: Yes, I agree I think it's far too commercialised, I would rather it was a purely spiritual celebration.

Nevertheless, it does bring pleasure to see the faces of the young children, when they see the lights and the colours.

Les: Yes I would agree with you absolutely.

Looking into one of your glass baubles, reflecting the lights, try next time you do this, to imagine all the shards of light, spreading around above, below, to the sides of yourselves. Imagine you are bathed in those lights—that is the true spiritual meaning of this time. Enjoy yourselves, but stop and think of the true meanings.

Les: Yes of course. Yes we should keep that in mind I'm sure.

You have been told before that colour and light are all important. Therefore let me say, that at this time of year, there are colours, there are light. So, you will grow and expand in spirit, regardless of whether you share in a spiritual belief, do you understand?

Les: Yes I do.

It is a colourful time, and colours can only improve on the spiritual growth of each one.

Les: I follow, so whether we are aware of it or not, it is happening.

That is right, but it is more—excuse me—beneficial if you can FEEL your growth, do you understand?

Les: Yes far better if we do feel it and become aware of it.

For yourselves, you can FEEL your spiritual growth, you can BATHE in its light and its warmth. So may I say to each here, enjoy your festival, enjoy your food and your drink and the giving of gifts. But as you give your gifts to others, give also of your spirit, and you will feel the growth of love within. May I ask that you do this, this time?

Les: Yes surely, I think everybody's heard that, haven't they? (Agreed)

It seems a lot to ask, but you will feel the benefit of expressing your spiritual love to all around you, at this time.

Les: Yes I'm sure we shall, thank you for reminding us.

The channel went on to mention someone called Joseph in spirit, who wanted to make themselves known to someone in the group and instructed us to speak out if we should get any clairvoyance before the meeting finished.

~4th December 1995~

One came through Eileen and told us to sit quietly and mention any clairvoyance we receive.

Paul had an impression of a Mongoloid lady in natural fabrics—possibly called Simion.

Eileen went on a journey through space, to a planet outside our galaxy, called 'Arias.' She didn't want to come back, it was so beautiful.

George had an impression of a rocky barren landscape, like part of Iceland.

A control then came through Eileen to finish. We thought at first that it was the same one as before, but it turned out to be her twin sister, who still liked to play tricks to confuse us, even from the spirit realm.

~11th December 1995~

Leslie dealt with a rescue in the form of a young girl who needed help with a speech impediment.

Later, there was a communicator of great strength, through Eileen:

—Can I say, why are we sitting here within these enclosed walls? Do you not like God's good air?

Les: We do, but it is our custom to live within walls now, that is how we live these days. I don't say it is right, but it is something we've done for many years now and we all live in our own confined spaces.

Yes I have been told, but I needed to know for myself.

Les: You used to live out in great open spaces, did you?

I think man asks too many questions sometimes.

Les: Really? It's a desire to learn, to add to our knowledge.

I do not speak of you as a man, I speak of all man.

Les: All mankind, I follow, but if we don't ask questions, then we don't learn. We haven't the spiritual awareness that perhaps you had in your lifetime on the Earth, when physical questions weren't necessary. We haven't reached that state of development spiritually. I regret having to admit it, but it is so.

I would agree with you, man has lost something in the passing of time.

Les: And this is what we are trying to recover now, in our small way.

I would say to ALL MAN, to sit outside in air and listen to the wind, listen to the Earth, listen to the rain.

But I suppose you cannot (Limit?) what you call progress.

Les: No, things have changed so greatly since you were on this Earth, that we no longer understand those 'voices,' which you could understand, but we are struggling to acquire that knowledge, and we appreciate the help that you in your world give us in this matter.

I know that many people come to you to help, I come to learn also about man now. So I want to ask you, tell me how you live now.

Les: We live within walls, such as you say and we have to have occupations, which bring us money. Money is a symbol of status and we use it to purchase food and clothing and other necessities for living. We also use that money to purchase what are not necessities, what we call 'luxuries,' which didn't appeal to you, in your live at all.

I don't recognise the word.

Les: No the word luxury is used for example, where an ordinary cloak would keep us warm enough, that is necessity. But we go in for fur-lined cloaks with big collars and long sleeves; those are luxuries, not necessities and we do, I'm afraid to say, give far too much thought and time, to acquiring luxuries, when necessities should be sufficient. We haven't fully learned the difference between wanting and needing — we want much more than we need. Is that clear?

I understand your words, but I do not understand what it is you seek.

Les: No, well frankly, until we began this work, we weren't sure what we were seeking. Now we are seeking the spiritual paths, rather than the materialistic paths. We know that ultimately when we leave this world, we shall join the world of spirit, of which you were very much aware when you lived here. We are trying to learn that awareness, to learn the feelings that we should have, to fit us for a much more spiritual existence than sometimes possible in our normal everyday life.

I can tell by your voice, you are strong, you are honest, you are truthful, I say to you, go forward, look ahead, join us when you can, and much will (?) for you.

Les: Thank you, we can feel your strength too.

I am pleased to be here, but I do not like the surroundings.

Les: No, I can understand that.

I want to return to feel the freedom to which I have become accustomed.

Les: I quite understand that and we do thank you for having made the effort to be with us and having accepted these poor conditions, in order to speak with us.

It is good that we should experience your world sometime, but now I leave you, I see that you are at peace in this moment of your time.

Let it continue, let peace be within all your hearts, let the birds fly, let the animals run, let the love flow and you will survive.

Now I leave you, I hope I have not been too abrupt with you, I have been told to modify my voice, because I am known for my loud speaking.

Les: No, we don't mind at all. If we wish to learn, we must accept lessons as they are given to us, not to try and alter them, to suit our convenience.

I take with me your presence my friend.

Les: Thank you. Our love goes with you.

~8th January 1996—first meeting of New Year~

Good evening

All: Good evening

Les: We're very pleased to have you back with us.

I am happy to be amongst you once again.

Les: Thank you very much. I expect you know that this is our first meeting in a new year and it's our custom to wish everybody a happy new year. It would be rather pointless to include you in that I think, I think we should say very happy new century, shouldn't we, from what you have told us?

I see you have not lost your wit, whilst I have been gone.

Les: We've thought of you a great deal.

I too would like to bring you blessings, for this your new earthly year.

Les: Thank you Salumet very much.

I know that amongst some of you, all in your lives has not been smooth, or happy, but let me say, let me say this to you my friends:

Each step which seems a burden to you, is a growth of Spirit. Accept things as they come to you. Try to see what I have taught you. Look upon the wider scope of life—look beyond the days, the weeks, the months, the years, of your earthly time and you will go forward.

Les: Yes, I think we have all grasped the need for that now, aren't I right everybody, in saying that we are aware of the need to look beyond time, as we consider it? (Agreed)

I know my friends that the lesson is being learned by you all—slowly, but it is beginning to shine forth from you, that my words to you are being ingested within. Forgive me, but I am feeling the love which comes from you all and for which I will be eternally grateful; my thanks to you all.

Les: And our thanks to you, for your love and teaching to us. We value it enormously.

There are those amongst you, who are not here within this room this time, but they are not excluded from this meeting of love.

Les: Thank you.

I have received some of the thoughts from you, feeling that my absence seemed long, yes?
(Agreed)

But of course dear friends, it is but a moment in time and I have to tell you, that these times are much needed for me to retreat from whence I come.

Les: Yes we quite understand the need for that.

It is not done solely for my benefit, but because there is much that is going on within the cosmos.

Les: Yes and you are involved in that too, I know.

If it only was your earthly world, my task would be so much the easier, but time needs to be given to other matters sometimes.

Les: Of course, yes we can't expect you to devote your time completely to us, we must accept that your experience, your knowledge, is very much in demand elsewhere, this we can understand.

I wish that I could enlighten you all upon these other matters, but you would not fully comprehend them, therefore we will not waste precious time, in my trying to do so.

Les: No, one day we may understand, if you are able to tell us, when we have more experience, but that's in the future, as you say, let us deal with the present.

Yes, that is what we need to look to.

Now my friends, I will answer any questions this time and I will leave you to allow another to speak. But next time, I wish to, if it is acceptable to you all, to devote the evening to my teaching you?

Les: We look forward to that yes, certainly.

Now, do we have your questions?

Les: Yes I have one, if I might as usual jump in first: You have told us, and we can understand to some degree, that everything that we know as physical, has in effect an etheric counterpart. I think you have also told us, that the world itself has an etheric counterpart. Does this mean therefore, that every individual upon this Earth, has an etheric counterpart, occupying his or her place upon that etheric Earth? In other words, are we duplicated?

I understand your question. I have to say your summary is not quite correct, but I know why you would assume this to be.

Les: Yes I had given it a lot of thought and I couldn't come to an answer myself.

I have told you that you are composite, you are many, many parts, you are not single units. Indeed, in a sense you may say that if all things have an etheric counterpart, then there must be an existence there in the next stage of life. Not quite so—let me try to explain: If you look into your mirrors, what do you see? You see the image of your being. Although it looks like you, would you say it was an etheric counterpart?

Les: No, it has no existence.

No, but it can be seen. So try to imagine yourselves upon this earthly plane, that you have the physical existence. Although I have explained to you, that there is a counterpart of the Earth itself, it does not mean that everything physical must exist within that earthly counterpart, it is like a mirror image. Can you follow me?

Les: Yes I believe I'm beginning to understand that. It answers the questions that were in my mind certainly.

As you see auras around people, so you see these things around your planets, these energies. But it does not mean that all things exist in that next existence. Do you follow?

Les: Yes and I also understand and I think my colleagues will agree, that we shall never understand it, because looking at myself in the mirror, I quite understand what you are saying to us—I would be inclined to say that that mirror image, that apparition that I can see, MUST exist by virtue of MY existence.

Yes, you have got what I am trying to explain. By all accounts, that mirror image is real, is as solid as you yourself would feel—but of course it is not.

Les: It has no existence in its own right.

No, although it can be seen with your physical eyes. We are speaking here on difficult topics.

Les: Yes, it is difficult to understand.

I don't think you will fully understand any explanation of energies, which you do not at this particular moment in time, understand upon your earthly plane. I can tell you that the knowledge will come, that your scientists will begin to understand more, on a cosmic level, but at this particular time in your existence, they know nothing of these things. So you see, I am trying to explain subject to you, which you could not fully understand. But I do understand your question and I do understand the reasoning behind it.

Les: To take it one step further, I said that the image in the mirror exists because I'm looking at it, but not in its own right, but on the other hand one could say it does exist, even though we can't see it, until a mirror is brought in, to give us the vision.

Let us take it a little further: If you had tunnel vision through many mirrors, how many images of yourself would you see?

Les: Quite, it is unlimited.

It is unlimited and that is how you must view your question. I hope that has been helpful to you.

Les: It has yes thank you, I shall just have to leave it there, knowing that none of us can fully understand it, at this period of our lives.

I have to say, you will not—it is too complicated for your mind to understand.

Les: Yes, because we haven't access to those energy fields yet.

Yes, it will come, it will come.

Les: Good, that's interesting to look forward to. Thank you for your answers. Has anybody else any questions for Salumet?

Dawn: We've made a decision to put in for planning permission. Can you give me any suggestions for going forward at all?

Yes, always these everyday decisions tire you, cause problems within your lives. I would say to you, to keep upon the desire which you have, to steadily pursue that which you so desire. It may not come about just as you would like it to, you may have to pursue it for some time to come. There will be obstacles, there will be obstructions, but finally you will succeed, if the desire is good and if the desire is great enough.

Dawn: Thank you.

I hope that is enough for you.

Dawn: Yes thank you very much.

But do pursue it, it will not be easy, there will be many obstacles to overcome.

Les: Any more questions?

George: I have been reading recently, a lovely book by Swami Rama, about the Swamis' of the Himalayas. I think they understand life and death extremely well and they refer to two paths towards bliss, a path of renunciation and a path of conquest in the material world. I think the Swami's usually follow the path of renunciation, but I think here in the material west, we tend to follow a path of conquest. Is there anything you would like to tell us or teach us about the two paths?

Yes I will speak upon this: Let me say you can put your lives upon this Earth, into many pathways, but I understand the peoples of whom you speak. They have indeed reached the top, I would say, of what living is all about. It is not beyond all of you, to reach these goals, whilst upon the Earth plane. There is nothing to stop you choosing your own pathways, whether it be conquest, whether it be renunciation, whether it be submittence to your own souls. You follow me thus?

George: Yes.

What I would say to you that each one of you as an individual, must make that decision, must accept responsibility, for his own chosen pathway. I will not say one way is right, one way is wrong—that I will (not) and cannot do. But this I will say to you: If you give yourself up to that Great One, that Great Creative Force, I would say to you, from my hearts, that I would not choose the pathway of conquest. I am not trying to tell you which way you should go, but that is my own feelings upon this matter. I say to you all: Stop, think, judge not and follow your hearts and always you will tread the right pathway for your own soul's growth. The peoples you have spoken about have devoted much time, in self-denial, in many aspects of daily living. They have developed those spiritual gifts, which are innate in you all. They have not attained anything which is outstanding, but they have given themselves time, to offer themselves, and that is why they have gone as far as they have done so. Is this helpful to you my friend?

George: Yes, thank you for your words and that is a very nice teaching, thank you.

Les: If I could add to that, I have given thought to this quite a bit—I don't know anything about the Swami's, but I have come to the opinion over the years, that self-renunciation to be possible, is often dependent upon conquest. Because take the Buddhists for example, who go around with their begging bowls—if it were not for the farmers and their conquest of the land, and their determination to produce seed from it, which is a conquest, then the Buddhists would be unable to follow their path, of self-denial. So, which is best? Again I think it comes back to a question of motive. Why are we doing these things, or why are they doing these things? But those who achieve the higher attainment spiritually, must of necessity, rely upon those who are dealing in conquest, even if it is only the conquest of medical matters. Those who are seeking higher salvation, must at some time no doubt, have need of a doctor's resources. I would like to say one thing: You know I am not in favour of names, of religions, of any titles being given to people?

Les: Quite, I appreciate that.

You are all ONE, and belong to that spark of life, which is that Creative Force. I would say about self-renunciation only this: To be careful that it is not the result of your own pride, which creates the renunciation within yourselves. This I would say be warned upon, because too many see themselves as being great people, when in fact, when they are stripped of all human aspects, they stand naked before that Great Creative Force, all of these things are laid bare. And only then can you see the truth, of why all of these earthly—(Les begins to cough—Salumet pauses) I am sorry, are you okay?

Les: Yes thank you I apologise for that I couldn't stop it—thank you.

You need to look within.

Les: Yes again as I said it's motive, isn't it?

Always it will be the motive behind any action.

Les: Quite, because the very thing those aspiring to higher levels of existence and Thought, could be basing it upon the wrong premise anyway.

I would say only this: That they would not attain spiritual growth, as much as they had, if the motives were not good and genuine ones. So keep this also in mind, when comments are made, because they would not achieve the results, if the motives were not good.

Les: I follow that, thank you. It's a constant examination isn't it? There is no one straightforward answer?

There will never be one answer to any question, never one answer. All of life on Earth, is a complex matter. You can only achieve that ultimately, which you deserve, because of course, you are not living just this one life. As I have told you, you must be responsible for what has gone and what is to come.

Les: Yes, that is the basic thing we have to learn, isn't it?

You must move away from this idea, of being just one single unit, within one lifetime. You will never, you will never reach the heights, if you try to stay with these fixed ideas. You must expand your minds, you must allow us to help you, to broaden your horizons, to allow the mind, not the brain but the mind, to go beyond these earthly chains and then and only then, will you find the WIDER VIEW, of what life is about.

Les: Yes, this has to be a fluid acceptance, of things we cannot understand.

My dear friends, I must take my leave now and allow another to speak.

But as I leave you to travel on your earthly ways, I leave you with my blessing, my love, and my guidance, within your daily lives.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: And our love and thanks go with you too, we're really delighted to have you back with us.

Always, when I leave you, my heart is full.

Les: Thank you.

Paul: Our's too.

There then followed one through Sue:

Another was to have come, but much more power was used than was expected with this one here, so it will now be left for another time. I have been here giving what help I could and so I will say to you all, that there has been much light here in this room. Each one has contributed to the love here, whether or not they have felt it, their contribution has been great.

Les: Thank you for telling us, it's very comforting for us to know.

Now, we will leave you until your next meeting here, when much will be told to you and hopefully it will bring you much enjoyment and discussion.

Les: Thank you very much, we look forward to the next meeting.

I leave you to end in your normal manner. I say to you all, look to a light, even if your days seem dark, there is light surrounding you and it should be visible to you, if you can only have faith. Even in dark days, you are never left alone.

Les: No I think we all understand and feel that now.

Now, please close as you would normally do.

Les: Certainly (Thanks + farewells)

~15th January 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

I am happy to be with you once more.

Les: We are very happy to have you back.

I do trust that you were not too disappointed last time?

(Re expected guest not speaking at previous meeting)

Les: Well we must be honest we were disappointed, but quite understand the reason for your not doing as you'd wished.

You fully understand that there is much work that goes on, on both sides of life, to achieve communication?

Les: Of course, it's a great deal of effort.

And it is not always possible for us to achieve what we would wish, if circumstances do not allow us, when energies are depleted on your side of life.

Les: Of course, it is the law, one has to accept that.

But do not despair my friends, I will bring the one I promised to you, but you realise that conditions must be right?

Les: Absolutely, yes. Unfortunately there are three ladies absent tonight, though there is one new one who is here as a visitor, but it's still not the same as having all of the others.

I have to say to you, that little lady (Re Sue, who was absent) is used as a power unit and of course, any energies missing, does create a few problems for us.

Les: Yes of course, I was under the impression that she did give a lot of power.

She indeed does so. I find it easier now, because I am more attuned to your conditions, but when I bring peoples, who have not returned for aeons of time, then conditions must be just so.

Les: Of course they must, and out of courtesy to them too.

It is always that we must take care of all of you, but also those souls who return. And I must tell you, that it is not always as simple as it is sometimes assumed to be.

Les: No, I don't think any of us assumed it would be simple. That is why we feel so privileged to have them come to us.

But as I say, they will return and I hope, be of interest to you.

Les: I'm sure they will.

I will speak with the new one a little later, but if you do not mind, I wish to speak a little about 'energy', the energy of fear and anger.

Les: Yes please do.

So often we hear from you all: Why is there so much fear on the Earth, in our daily lives, in the whole world in general?

Anger also creates fear within—let us speak about these energies, because indeed that is what fear and anger is. Let us return for a moment, to the soul who is encompassed in that Eternal Consciousness.

Let us speak about the decision to incarnate into the physical being. We have spoken about the choices made by the soul, to reincarnate into the body, have we not?

Les: Yes you have.

As that soul's decision takes place and conception takes place within the physical being, then memory in most cases is obliterated. This then is when fear and anger first show themselves—it is a fear and the anger of being separated from that Consciousness of Love.

You understand?

Les: Yes, so that fear of being separated does exist then within the soul, (Yes) even though the physical isn't aware of the reason for the fear and anger?

Yes—you have it. Can you imagine being encompassed by love, by being within that consciousness to which you all belong? Although the soul has made the decision to return for whatever reason for its growth, because of the wipe-out of the memory, the energy of fear and anger is there, because the soul really does not want to be separated from that which is all-encompassing Love. You follow?

Les: Yes, it's difficult for us to follow, because you have told us that the soul makes its own decision to return and to choose the parents (Yes) and the life which it will live in the physical world—that is so isn't it? (Yes) But what we don't understand is why the memory is completely obliterated. Would it not be helpful to the soul and the physical to have some recollection?

But you see, my dear friend, to some the memory does remain, but the energy of fear and anger is still there and I would say, probably more so, because their awareness is greater of what they have left behind. You understand?

Les: I see, yes.

Your children are more in tune with their spiritual bodies, whilst of a tender age, but as the soul goes forward through life, so these fears become even greater. What I would say to you: The energy of fear, destroys the vital forces.

I would hear some of you say, that you would imagine anger to be more destructive. I say to you, this is not so. Fear is what keeps you jailed, whilst walking on this earthly plane—fear of so many things. It is that and that energy alone, which can destroy. That is why it is important to you all, and I will say it to you again:

THE POWER OF YOUR THOUGHT IS THE MOST POWERFUL ENERGY THAT YOU POSSESS.

Les: And that power can work in both ways then? (Yes) It can enhance the progress of our soul, at the same time by accepting fear, it can delay the progress of the soul, is that right?

It can be destructive, but used properly, it can transmute all fear, anger and let me tell you that most of your problems, most of your disease, stems from fear, in some form or another—fear of losing loved ones, fear of not having enough to eat, fear of life in general—so many fears we see amongst you.

Les: Yes I think we can accept that, but our natural reaction as human beings, would be to say that if we accepted that we need have no fear, that might develop into a complacency, which would prevent us from living this life properly, as it should be lived.

To live without fear, is not being complacent. To live without fear, is to acknowledge the self—the true self. Whilst you live with fear, it is the emotional energy that is having the power over you, can you see?

Les: Quite. Yes I think we all understand that, the difficulty for us of course, is to accept that we have to express within ourselves, a constant feeling that there should be no fear that the future is going to be satisfactory.

The only future you should be concentrating on, that your awareness should be reaching out to, is that of the UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS. Look beyond your beings—again we return to the fact that you are more than one. Remember that you will return to that consciousness from which you came.

Les: Yes, that of course, is another aspect that we all find extremely difficult and I'm not denigrating the intelligence of my colleagues, but we all find it extremely difficult to understand.

I fully accept that these concepts are difficult for you, but my wish and our desire, is that the more we discuss, the more your awareness will grow.

Les: Quite, I'm sure it will.

And please accept these words as truth, because you see, as you accept what I say, so the knowledge is being accepted by your higher beings—that soul within. And it is in that area, where the influence will begin to show itself in the physical, within the physical brain, within the physical everyday way of living. I know what I bring to you all is difficult, but I hope too, that these words bring you much to think upon—that these words bring to you, that the scope of your knowledge is unlimited.

Les: Yes, we are very grateful to you, for what you say and we don't doubt anything you say in the least. But so far as I can see, what you are suggesting we should do to live properly, is to accept within ourselves, the discipline of those that shut themselves away in monasteries and so on, go into retreat, for the benefit of developing their own souls. We have to try and do that, whilst still in the physical world and with all the physical difficulties around us.

There has to be a balance between your earthly life, and your spiritual knowledge—that innate knowledge that you bring with you. You have to be balanced, for your lives to be healthy.

Les: Yes and of course, so far as I have thought, the reason for the soul being in the physical body at this time is for its own development. So it must observe the requirements of the physical body.

Of course, you cannot neglect what houses the spirit, you must look after that vehicle, of course you must. Of course you must go about your daily duties in whatever manner this may be, it matters not. Sometimes we hear the thoughts: 'That person is so good, they do this they do that.' Again I say to you my friends, do not judge so. Who are you to know who is better than another?

Les: No, of course not.

Is not the smile of a mother to children, is that not service? I say to you, it is. Is not the helping hand to an elderly person, from one who is young, is that not service? I say to you, it is.

Les: So from what you tell us Salumet, whilst we are in this physical body, if we adopt the correct thought processes and try and disregard fear, we could presumably develop spiritually, to an extent that those who incarcerate themselves in monasteries and convents, and other similar buildings, we could equal the progress, even though we are not so incarcerated?

I would say to you my good friend, that it is much better that you live your life to the full, to be amongst those brothers that can be helped and to be aware of that spiritual being also. Then indeed, you have reached that point, were you can say, 'I have done much'.

Les: So on that basis, it's better for us to be outside the walls of these other orders and do what we can for our fellow man outside, when the occasion demands that we should?

I would say for most, this would be the case, but again do not judge, because some have come for solitude, they have their own reasons and you must not judge.

Les: Yes, you did explain this when we spoke of it before.

Yes, so I say to you, those of you who walk amongst others, go about your earthly duties, do what you must to the best of your abilities. But do not neglect that spiritual aspect of yourselves, because both are equally important. To have both sides of life on an even balance, can only be good for your development. You all are aware of these people who are seekers of material things in life, that they lose that spiritual aspect of themselves; they become seekers of material goods. This must not happen to you, you must find the balance between your earthly lives and your soul's growth.

Les: Yes, I have often said that there is nothing wrong in having money, it is the way in which it is acquired and what you do with it that can be wrong.

I would say, there is no wrong in having money, it is the lust of money that is wrong, it is not having it, it is when, I think you would term it, 'when it becomes your God.' That would apply to all things in your lives. Of course you must maintain your physical wellbeing, you must have these things and I say, there is nothing wrong in achieving such things, but always keep the balance.

Les: Yes, and that leads me to another point I think, which we all have to recognise, we all suffer from it at times and that is self-criticism, or the lack of doing something which we think we should have done. And I had to tell a person only a couple of days ago actually, to stop acting like God. I won't go into the details, but I have many times told beginners, that if they are using to the full, the abilities which exist here, that's all they can do.

There is no point in trying to achieve that which you have not earned, because although I have told you previously, there is nothing you cannot achieve spiritually, you have to work for it. You understand what I say?

Les: Yes, nothing is given freely, everything has to be earned. I think we all accept that.

But of course, the ability is within you all, this there can be no doubt of. But you will not achieve these things without much work, without much expression of your love, because this cannot be, you could not achieve such things, if your outlook was purely materialistic. You understand what I say to you?

Les: Yes, I think we do. Everybody understands that, don't they? (Agreed) And I think I'm probably right in saying, we all have felt a spiritual growth, since you began speaking to us. (Agreed)

My dear friends, when first I came to you, perhaps I could say, you were seeds within a desert. But as time continues, as we speak together, I have seen your colours, your knowledge grow. And now I would say to you, that none of those seeds have fallen by the wayside, that all of you have grown so much more, within your own realisation and awareness and knowledge of spirit.

Les: That's certainly very nice to know. We thank you for confirming what we feel.

It makes my work so much easier, when I see such progress and although some of you are not aware of it, I know that there are those amongst you, who have become much more aware—that is true I think.

Les: Yes, you would know that better than we do as individuals of course.

Yes, I see you grow and grow and that is part of my endeavour whilst I come to you. But of course there is more to come and I will say to you again, 'slowly, slowly.' I know I keep saying this to you, but it indeed is the best way forward.

Les: Yes, we were told many years ago when I first began this work really seriously, that every step had to be taken slowly and thoroughly, otherwise one would have to return to take the step which one missed.

Yes, is it not better to take small, sure steps, than to try to leap forward and to fall down, and return to whence you began?

Les: Absolutely better.

Now, I would wish to say a little something to this lady and then I will leave you for this time, unless you wish me to answer anything of importance.

Les: Yes there is one question I would like to ask afterwards please.

Perhaps we will do that first, because I don't think I will remain for the full time, this time.

Les: Right, the question arose, because on two occasions at our other meeting night, we've had communicators who have asked us to express thoughts for the safety of the world and there seemed to be anxiety as to the destruction of this planet. That raised the question as to whether—you have told us incidentally, that the planet will not be destroyed. But assuming it was, would that affect the overall universe?

I will say this to you and the reply is simple my good friend: What has been and always has been, cannot be destroyed. It may change form, as the universe does constantly, because all things are energy and energy is not static, it is ever-changing, ever-moving. So I say only this to you, that should any planet, anything within the universe be destroyed and I use your words, it will return only to another form of energy. Would you say, let me simplify it for you, when you die, are you destroyed?

Les: No, it is merely a transmuting of energy, isn't it?

It is indeed, that is all it is, what has been can never be destroyed. I hope that answers your question.

Les: It does indeed, thank you Salumet, I'm sorry but I wanted to clear that point, for the sake of our other meeting.

I know within these groups, there are many puzzling questions, but always I say to you, find the simple solution. Sometimes you try to find too complicated reasons.

Les: Yes, you are making things quite simple for us.

I try to make it simple for you. I use only simple words, because I feel there is no reason to elaborate with longer words of your earthly plane, because we are simple peoples and I mean that kindly, not in the way you would interpret it on your Earth.

Les: No, we quite understand.

Now, let me say this to this one: There is a child who is coming within the life of this one; I would say a special child. Because of the lady's growing awareness of spirit, the contact with this child, will indeed be a bond of love and strength. I here (you) say, 'No, I don't know of this.' But I say, be patient and soon you will see my words are the truth.

Guest: Thank you.

My dear friends, I encompass you all within that great love of the cosmos,

I encompass you within the very being that is life itself,

I encompass you all within this great Love that I have to express to you.

May the Great Creator, be with you all. My blessings go with you.

Les: And our love goes with you. We have no words to thank you, we know you don't want thanks, but our hearts are full. (Agreement + thanks)

~22nd January 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

I am happy to see so many here.

Les: It is nice isn't it, to have them here once more.

To place their daily living to one side, to join together for this meeting, I am grateful to you all. I encompass you all within my love and my blessings. I would like to speak a little of your daily lives. All of you, all of you in your daily lives, are as diverse as the stars in your skies. And this must be so, because you tread your own pathways. So to be gathered as one, is indeed a blessing upon you all. I would like to say to you all, my dear friends, that no matter what problems life brings to you, I ask you to rise above them, to keep within your hearts, the knowledge that life continues, that you will grow, that you will expand in consciousness, that all of you will meet again in times to come and still you will be as individual as you are now. But that will not—(Pause) that will not prevent your coming together in another time. We have spoken a little upon this matter and I can tell you now that your future at some point, will be destined to be together to work for good. In saying these words, I don't necessarily mean, that it will occur upon this earthly plane. So remember my dear friends, these words I have spoken to you now and when once again you are joined together, then we can gather and give praise to that Almighty Power, who has all knowledge.

Les: Does that mean that you again will be our tutor when we are together once more?

My friend, once the connection is made, there cannot be a severance. I will not teach you, but you will know me.

Les: Good, well that pleases us all. (Affirmed)

My teaching time is with you here, within this earthly realm. That is why it touches me so, that you all put your lives to one side, to allow us to gather together. I cannot express myself more fully, in telling you how much love you bring to me.

Les: We are happy that you say that because I don't think I would be contradicted if I said that you are so part of us, that we can't imagine continuing without you.

That is my endeavour in part, that all should feel that unity. We have indeed made many strides in that direction, whether you know it, or you do not, I can say to you, many steps have been gained.

Les: That's very good news. I only wish that the feelings we have, each for the other and one for all, could be recorded, but that of course is impossible. It'd be wonderful of course if it were possible.

It is recorded, as all things are, but not in the sense you mean. But these bonds can never be broken. Whether you leave and go separate directions, always there will be a bond that follows all of you, it cannot now be destroyed.

Les: So it's ordained that we shall meet again at some time in that future?

You will, and for the purpose of more work to come.

Les: Good, I think I'm also right in saying we're all pleased it won't be back on this Earth.

Well, I will take that to mean, you will all be happy to come home. But I will tell you, do not anticipate it too soon.

Les: No. (Little chuckle)

I know sometimes when days are dark, all of you wish for brighter/better futures. Can I tell you dear friends, your future will be bright. (Thanks expressed) Take these lives as it comes, give praise to that Almighty Power, for all that you have been given—not only those things you consider to be good, but for the days of darkness and struggle, because then your soul is coming to the fore, is being strengthened, is doing work, which is innate to its very being.

There is much coming to your earthly world. In time to come, you will see many changes, all around your world. There will be natural disasters, but there is coming a time of great love, within mankind. That is why we are gathering upon your Earth, at this time, to ensure that this time, Truth will come to many and that Truth will withstand all that is thrown within its space. So be reassured, much goodness is coming to your Earth.

Les: That's certainly very good news. It's what we are all hoping and working for.

It may not be that it happens within some of your life spans, some of you within this room, will not see it happen, but be reassured that it is coming, for future generations.

Les: That is the important thing.

Now I would say to you all this time, we have many here who would like to use others and I am sure that is acceptable to you. (Agreed) I say only, keep your hearts and your minds open to what is here, you truly could be surprised, if only you could leave yourselves open to us. (Thanks expressed) If you have question, I will answer quickly for you.

Les: Yes thank you, I do have one I was hoping to ask last time, but you gave us so much information, I hadn't the heart to ask you to stay longer. Two ladies who come here for special development, have each been given gifts of crystals—white, coloured green, blue and gold. One lady has been told that she will use them much more than the other, but both have been given them, to assist with their development. A communicator speaking a little about the crystals said that the North American Indians, many hundreds of years ago, used to use crystals in the same way, but they sought them in the natural Earth and didn't bother to cut them or polish them, but they were still just as effective. What is the actual strength of the crystals and do they vary to any degree according to colour?

We have spoken before about crystal healing. I did say at that time, that all of these things are merely tools, towards what can be done by yourself. If it is felt necessary to use them, then by all means do. The crystal, as I told you previously, as all things upon your Earth have their own vibrations, so do these natural Earth crystals. What is happening in your time now, is that man is interfering with these natural elements of the Earth. He is digging them forth from your Earth, and in actual fact, is destroying some of the strength within the crystal, merely by excavating it from the Earth. Can you see?

Les: Yes, thank you.

But no matter, whether it be large, small or indifferent, each of these crystals, do retain part of the energy of the Earth, as do all things. I would say that the lady who has been advised to use them more, may do so safely. But I would advise that she allows her own guidance to do this with her naturally. You follow what I say?

Les: Yes I do indeed thank you.

It is much better that guidance is given, by her own helpers and guidance.

Les: Yes I follow, thank you very much. I'll give that information to them.

As far as colours within the crystals go, you will not find any stronger than the pure clear crystal of the Earth. You see, when colour shows itself within crystal, it is almost a pillage of the stone, it has been robbed of pure energy. Are you following me?

Les: Yes I am, it's most interesting.

Colours look very beautiful, but I would say the clarity and the clearness of pure crystal, has more energy within.

Les: So the colours really are unimportant and it is better to stick to the pure crystal?

That is why I say be guided by those who are doing the healing. Really the colours and the crystals are immaterial to the healing energies. After all, pure healing does not come from a small stone of the Earth.

Les: No of course not. I've always been of the opinion that it was merely an adjunct and not really necessary.

If it helps to focus upon the problem, if the one being used, the 'instrument,' and the person who desires the healing feels the benefit, feels the energy from it, then this can only be good. But I say to you, it is not necessary for good healing.

Les: Thank you very much, you've confirmed what I thought actually.

There is much on your Earth which is healing. I have told you before, to stand upon your ground with your feet bare and feel what is pure energy. You too can become a crystal. Can you see? The energy is from within the Earth, plus the energy you yourselves are. Nothing is a single unit, always I will teach you this. You cannot isolate one thing, you are all intermingled, whether it be with the Earth, whether it be without, within the regions of space. Can you see? You cannot be isolated.

Les: Yes, and am I right in thinking that standing on the Earth as you suggested, feeling that energy or being aware of it, there is also energy coming from around and above, feeding back into the Earth?

You are all intermingled, this has to be so, this has to be so. You cannot—what you take you must return. Can you see this? (Yes) You spoke earlier of those known as Indians, who lived close to nature, as have so many other cultures in your world. They had the knowledge and the understanding that what is taken, must be given back—that it is on loan, I believe you would say, these days.

Les: Yes, but it is absolute truth, it is the law.

Of course and this is why these peoples grew so in spirit, because their knowledge of the Earth, and all that sustained them in their daily living, they knew, they knew that this was TRUTH. That all around was that Divine Power, which they worshipped. You understand me?

Les: Yes we do—fully.

Now, I will say enough for this time.

Les: Well thank you very much for what you've told us, it's enlightened all of us I'm sure. (Agreed)

Now, let those who come, bring with them the love, give also yours to them and allow them to do and to use you as they will.

May the Great Creator of us all,

Travel with you on your journeys homeward.

May you be kept safe,

May you be happy in all your endeavours,

May you give love to your fellow man,

And may we all meet once more within the love of this room.

Les: Certainly hope so, and our love goes with you again, God bless you.

There then followed a communicator through Sue:

—Everyone here knows someone who needs some help, some healing process. There is always someone known to someone who requires some healing of the spirit, regardless of the fact that they may not even be aware of it. But I say again to you, each one here, knows of someone who needs some help.

Les: Yes I've no doubt you're absolutely right.

We know of your healing clinics here and others in your Earth planes, but it is not essential, as I'm sure you realise, for people to come to your clinics.

Les: No, we are quite aware of the power of absent healing, as we call it, spiritual thought being projected to those, even if they don't know it.

So I would ask each one here please, to assist in the healing process, for those who require it.

Les: Yes I'm sure everybody would be pleased to do that.

I ask please, that each person spends a little time at the end of their day, thinking of a particular person who needs help. I ask please, that they sit quietly, or lie quietly; they can do this as they retire for the night. Think of this person, bathed in the healing colour, you understand?

Les: Yes I do.

Ask that the person by name, is surrounded with the healing colour and someone will hear and will do what they can to assist.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

Can I also say, that this does not necessarily mean the person is suffering, from physical ailments, they can be ailments of the mind, which have no outward sign.

Les: Quite, I understand what you mean and often him or herself doesn't know of it.

I ask please that this is not done for once, but for a period of time. We do not expect you to remember perhaps every night. You all have busy times—but if you could surround these people with loving thoughts throughout different times of the day, this also helps in the healing process.

Les: Thank you, I'm sure everyone here will be only too pleased to carry out those requests.

(Agreed)

And also, we are aware of the physical ailments of the sitters here, regardless of whether they are aware of them themselves.

Les: I think we do accept without question that you know more about us, than we know about ourselves.

We look after the people here, as they look after others.

Les: Thank you very much for that, I appreciate it.

(Affirmed)

And now, I leave you with my love and thank for the work you are doing on our behalf.

Les: We thank you for having come and told us all that you have and I'm sure you won't be disappointed in the reaction you see here.

(Faintly/very gently spoken)—I leave you—surround you and protect you all.

There then followed a brief communication through Jo, just to say that all instruments were back to normal now.

Then one came through Eileen, with a message for Sarah. She asked why the lady was not being used as a medium. Leslie then went over and helped Sarah to try to develop.

~29th January 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: Nice full meeting once again.

Forgive my delay in joining you my friends, but I am here with you now.

Les: Good, thank you.

I know there are questions, so shall we begin with those?

Les: Yes certainly. It's more of a statement really, rather than a question, though there is a question at the end—rather lengthy I'm afraid. I have been reading recently about the various beliefs and cults and creeds, on the continent and the writers spoke of a Buddhist monk he'd met in a temple. The monk was emaciated, was filthy, dirt ingrained in his skin, his head was covered with sores, where he'd plucked out his hair. He had only a loin cloth. He slept where the writer found him, on the ground, without any cover, relying on begging completely for his food and he walked very slowly, brushing the Earth in front of him with a soft brush, so that he would not kill any insect inadvertently. When questioned on his extreme actions, he considered that it was gaining him merit when he goes over to the next world. But to me that is the direct opposite of what Buddhism teaches. It sounded awfully selfish and egocentric, if he was using this life, to build up credits for himself, instead of helping as he could have done and some of his brothers do, in helping humanity in some way. Would I be right in thinking that his actions are selfish, from a spiritual point of view?

Let me speak on this matter please. His actions if well motivated, would not be selfish, because the very actions do not matter, it is what lies within—that is what counts. It matters not what religions, what creeds, what actions are taken. What matters is that the love within your hearts, is a pure and unselfish action. So in that sense his actions are not selfish. He was doing the deeds from an unselfish viewpoint of his own. Can you see?

Les: Yes, but to me—I understand what you say, but it does seem to me to be selfish, if you are doing these things, to build up credit for yourself in the next world.

Yes, I come to that point. I say he felt he was doing good, so the motivation behind the actions was good, but the deeds themselves will not earn him anything, he would be mistaken about that. But—so I tell you are many of you, whose beliefs are those of 'gaining points,' as you put it, because you see, to even think about these matters, then it becomes a selfish act. Can you see the difference? Can you see what I am trying to explain?

Les: Yes I do. It is a very difficult thing actually to sort out, isn't it?

His motive was pure, from the heart, but the actions would not gain him more, than the thought he had already provoked.

Les: No, so if he were doing good for others, and not denying himself so much, living what we would call a 'normal human life,' by doing his best to help others during the course of that life, then his 'credit rating' would be better than if he were doing it the other way?

I don't like the term, 'credits and debits.' We speak rather on a purely physical matter when you use these words.

Les: I don't quite know how else to put it.

I understand my friend, but it goes much more deeply. You cannot judge on action alone, I have spoken to you all, you must not judge another, because you do not know what is within that soul.

Les: No, it comes back to individual motivation again, doesn't it?

Yes, the purity of the thought and the motive, not the actions; there is a difference, subtle as it may be, there is a difference. It is a difficult point to get across to you, but I would say his intentions were good, although from your viewpoint, you cannot see this. But, if he did it purely to gain 'points' as you say, then not so, that does not happen. Is that helpful to you?

Les: Yes thank you. There again, it opens up another vista, because if somebody was doing their utmost to help others during their life here, then he could say to himself, well if I do this—

Yes, you see what I try to tell you, it is not the actions that count, it is the 'purity' behind the action.

Les: Yes, so that action would have to be done without any thought of reward (Yes) at all, (Yes) just as a blank-ended thing?

Could I not smile and be pleasant to you and inwardly be rather wicked and be thinking evil thoughts?

Les: Yes of course.

Yes, that is why you must not judge. Please do not judge your fellow man, because unless you see that spirit within, you cannot judge them.

Les: No we can't and we can never see the spirit within another, (No) but it behoves us to judge ourselves, I imagine?

I would say to you this: If you judge another, if you find discrepancies within another, look to yourself, to why you find it so. I would suggest the fault may lie within yourselves.

Les: Quite likely.

I think you would find that hard to accept, but—

Les: No, I quite agree.

Let me tell you, it is something for you all to think upon.

Les: Well this is why I wanted to raise it tonight, because it is a very deep problem, (Yes) that does need a lot of thought.

But it has to be said, the actions of some, the action may seem to be selfish, but you do not know what that soul is striving for.

Les: No, quite, so we come back to what you've told us in the past, 'don't be judgemental.'

I would say always, try, try your best, because I know you can do no more. Try not to judge your fellows.

Les: Thank you.

In this way too, you can see yourselves grow, because by accepting others and allowing others to follow their own pathways, whether it insults you or not, it is a means of your own spiritual growth. You see? You understand?

Les: Yes I do indeed. Another point which is not quite defamatory to me, but almost, we were asked last week by a colleague of yours, before we retired at night, to pray for those who were in need of help and think of them being in the blue healing rays. I must admit that I haven't done that for people whom I dislike and I thought I'd start doing it and to my astonishment I found it quite easy.

My friend you have indeed grown. Let me tell you, you will find as time continues, that some of your own concepts of what is right and what should be done, will be changed.

Les: Yes you are quite right they are changing.

Do you not see how easy it is, to open your hearts, to ask for help for those folk that you think to be kindly, to be good, but how much better, to open up your hearts to those who really need your help—those peoples within your world that once again you have prejudged and whom you find it difficult to draw towards yourselves. Truly your healing will be a wonderful thing, if you can do this, because my friend, in doing so, you are dispelling some of the darkness within your world, which to us mean so much more than helping one person who you think, and I stress that one word to you, to whom you THINK needs help, more than another. Do you see?

Les: Yes, thank you very much.

Please try to continue my friend, you will be repaid, many times more. By helping one person, one soul who you wish to draw back from, you are taking many steps forward. Can you see this?

Les: Yes thank you.

I hope you do not think that I am chiding you, because that is not my intention for any of you.

Les: No we wouldn't think that for a minute.

I bring only knowledge to you. I hope I bring to you, that greater bond of strength, of love, so that you may impart it to others.

Les: Thank you. We are very, very grateful for it. Now I've taken enough time. Any questions from anybody else please?

George: Well yes there is one: We have had a question on ‘spontaneous combustion,’ and I’ve since read that it has been documented in the Sanskrit writings, and certain Holy men who are sufficiently in tune with their spirit-selves, to know their time of departure from this life, will actually use spontaneous combustion, through a method of contemplating the solar plexus and they will use it as a method of disposing of their body at the appropriate time of death. I’m not sure if this is a particularly useful thing to do, would you have any comment on that for us and could you say if those writings are correct?

Yes my friend I will speak. I did tell you when we spoke upon this matter, that this combustion, this name you have given to this burning, this action is not understood by those of you on this Earth plane as yet. I told you then and I will tell you now, that it is only a change of energies within the body, which makes this happen. When you speak of these men, who I must say have gained such insight and knowledge about themselves, then they would be capable of changing energy patterns within their own bodies. We have spoken briefly I believe, about how these people can leave their physical bodies behind, have we not?

Les: We have indeed.

We have spoken about many things. I have to say to you, I do not think that to leave the physical body in this matter, in this manner, is very good or wise. I do understand the reason why they do it—they think they are sacrificing themselves, that they can leave the physical being more quickly and more neatly, by reducing it to ash, because you see, in ash they see purity. You understand?

Les: Yes, the purification of the fire.

Yes, yes, but I would not totally agree with them, but I do understand why. Providing they do not hurt others with their ideas, then it cannot be wrong for them. Does that satisfy you?

George: Yes thank you very much.

Les: That of course, is always supposing that they are absolutely right, in having picked that particular moment, for their departure from this Earth.

If they have the knowledge, then the awareness would be great enough, then yes most of them do know when their time has come.

Les: I see.

Yes, they do have a great awareness—some of them.

Les: Thank you. Any more questions?

How quiet you all are, shall we continue?

Les: Yes please, if there are no more questions.

George: Well could I just extend your question Leslie, about projected healing rays. Would a similar thing extend to political figures, who seem rather difficult in what they’re doing? I would name Saddam Hussein. Would he qualify for some good healing rays?

Les: Well one would hope that they would be powerful enough—I do ask that our leaders shall be impressed to do the right thing for the world.

Imagine if you had for instance, a room full of light bulbs and one light bulb was causing problems. In utilising the better ones, you can do without the one that is causing trouble. But would it not be much better that the whole circuit of lighting was remedied, so that the darkened bulb, could once again become light? Would not more light be given forth from it?

George: Yes indeed.

Yes, you see?

George: Yes, it does mean a certain element of judgement on our part, but—

I know my friends, it is difficult whilst you all remain within the physical being, to extend love to those peoples you know, have as you would term them, have been evil or hurt others, whatever you think they may have done. But remember, it is not the physical being you are trying to help, it is the spirit self, it is that eternal part that needs to be helped, so that in time, it may go forward. Can you not all see this?

George: Yes indeed. Yes thank you.

Those of us in our world do not abandon those spirits who you would term, evil. I have spoken to you before that each individual soul, has a spark of divinity within it, which can be helped along. It may take aeons of time, but it is not abandoned, it is showered with love, until such time as the recognition of its own actions become known to it. It would be so much easier, if that love was given and expanded to all those peoples, whether politicians, whether ordinary peoples, who need help, to lighten your world. It would be much better that they received help, whilst within the physical body. So my friends, open up your hearts to all those, who I know some of you would find difficult to accept them into your prayers, but you would be blessed indeed, if you were so to do this.

Les: Yes, I'm sure colleagues of yours and perhaps even yourself, work through us in our rescue circle. We have had some very—and I have to use the word—you'll know what I mean—some very 'evil' people, over the years—multiple murderers and so on. And yet there has never been, while I've been dealing with them and my colleagues who are now learning how to do it, there is never the slightest suggestion that they should not be helped. There seems to be always an overwhelming desire to be able to help them. And it's so strong, that I can only assume that we are being helped by those on your side, to bring that feeling to them.

Yes my dear friend, those who work within these spheres of work, with these poor souls, and you must try to see them in that way. Again we come back to judging your fellow man. However evil they have been, they still are sparks of that Great Creative Divinity. All eventually must return to the Light—I am moving now into deep, deep matters. All, all energies must return from whence they came, if it takes aeons of time, so be it. But never, never, never, will one soul be left alone; it will be helped, it will be surrounded by love, until such time as the soul can move forward.

Les: Yes, I have found that when I'm dealing with them, whatever they may have done, there's not the slightest feeling of judgement involved.

When those who bring them to you use you in your work, you are surrounded by an energy of light, which protects you. I don't think you are fully aware of exactly what happens within the rescues, but each one of you working, would be surrounded by 'pure energy,' which cannot be penetrated, by the darker elements, because let me tell you, that some of them would try to invade your light. I have spoken briefly too, about pure energies, we need to speak about energy, rather than individuals, to fully understand what is happening. It is why, let me give you an example, why there are those in your world, who would prey upon young children, in a negative way. Try to forget the personalities, the age of the people, think wholly on energy. And what is happening is this: That young children are mainly 'pure white energy' and they are preying upon it. Those who have become darkened throughout their lives, are seeking the purity of the white energy. Are you understanding me?

Les: But they don't realise that that's what they are seeking?

No, it is not, it is not purely a physical action, it is an innate feeling that energies must blend, must be whole. And so they are preying upon this pure energy, which is the child.

Les: So that would be the spark, which you refer to as being in everybody, no matter how evil they may be. It would be that spark, which is trying to find the pure energy, is that so?

Yes, all are striving towards being pure energy.

Les: But the physical being is not aware of that?

The physical being would not be aware.

Les: That raises quite a different aspect on some of these things then.

That is why it is wrong for you to judge others, without fully realising what lies behind it all.

Les: Yes I must admit, that had never occurred to me in that way.

We are all energy, but I am speaking about deep matters again, but I think that analogy, makes it a little clearer to you.

Les: Yes it does, does anybody have any questions on that, anything you're not sure about? Now's the time to ask.

Sarah: I just wondered, if we are all going back into this pure energy, why did we break away from it in the first place?

Now, we really do get to very deep matters here. I think that needs to be a whole session of time for explanation and if you will allow me, I will come back to that sometime. I do not believe that you will understand the explanation, but I will try to explain a little to you another time.

Sarah: Thank you very much.

Les: Any more questions?

George: Going on from the previous one, some criminals, or child offenders, would during the course of imprisonment, find ways to improve themselves and become better beings. Others do not improve themselves. We could probably do all kinds of things to improve the way we treat criminals, so that they stand a better chance of improving themselves, while they are imprisoned?

My friend, the best way of helping, is to do exactly that which has been spoken of—to send your healing thoughts, to allow those in our side of life to receive and to accept those genuine healing thoughts and to go about their work. If you can do this with a good and open heart, then not only do those in darkness, but also yourselves benefit so much from it. You may not fully recognise what good you have done, until you come to this side of life. Please continue to send those healing thoughts, to all in need.

Les: Yes we don't need specifically to mention names do we? If it's what we call a 'blanket thought,' to cover all those in need, irrespective of where they are, or why they are in need?

Much is spoken about healing thoughts and how it is received by those on our side of life. There are varying degrees of healing thoughts, and if you can imagine your night skies, which of the stars do you notice first? Is it not the brightest one within the sky?

Les: Yes we do, that's true.

Therefore the strength of thought, of healing, the more love you can put forth from yourselves, those thoughts are the strongest ones. If only you could see them reach us, you would understand that all thoughts are different in their intensity. I do not know how you think your thoughts work. Would you like to tell me? I would be pleased to know?

Les: Right well if I could answer for myself, I have never imagined them as tangible things. (No) To me they are an extension of my energy, (Yes) which is collected by your energies and transferred or transmitted to wherever it is required.

Yes, so imagine the more intense the power of the thought, the quicker it travels to us. And so can you imagine if for instance, you say, 'Please help,' or if you say 'Please help,' deep from within the heart, which one do you suppose would travel furthest?

Les: I would say your second one, providing it is correctly motivated.

Yes, yes all thoughts are known to us, but some—it is why some of you would say, 'Why are my prayers not answered?' All thoughts come to us—not all is given to you as you wish, but it is not because we do not hear. But as in all things, the motive behind the thought, the intensity of the thought, has to be looked at.

Les: So it has to be a dedicated effort on each occasion and not a ritualistic thing?

Yes. Now I will say to, I would like you to watch this one, as I leave you, we are trying to work through this one.

Les: Thank you very much and thank you for all you have told us again.

And I would like to say to the gentleman, that we have the child and I want to say to him, my dear friend, you will hold your son in your arms, in time to come.

Mark: Thank you very much.

Do not be concerned about those who are around you, we are helping you.

Now my friends, I thank you all, I thank you all, for being here this time.

May that Great Creator who dwells within us all, may you feel his power and Light.

Les: Thank you very much again and God bless you. Our love of course goes with you once more.

There then followed one through Sue, but there didn't seem to be enough power left for this one:

*—I come far from your world. I am too far and not enough power I will return with Salumet next time.
Too far, too far from your world—I will wait and return—I bid you farewell for this time.*

Les: Thank you very, very much, God bless you.

There was then a communication through Eileen, a bubbly lady who was one of Mark's helpers:

Mark: Hello.

Annalise: Hello, I'm so excited and so happy to know you at last, I hope you recognise me sometimes.

Mark: Thanks for coming.

Annalise: I hope you recognise me sometime, because I'm with you in your meditative moments.

Mark: Ah right.

Annalise: Yes and you see beautiful colours sometimes, don't you?

Mark: Yes.

Annalise: Yes you do, yes and you'll see me on the yellow colour.

Mark: Ah right, yellow colour.

Annalise: Yes, and I'm Annalise and I'm told I have a round smiling face, if that's any help.

Mark: Ah—lovely.

Annalise: Yes and I'm so happy I've made the connection.

Mark: Thank you very much. Cor—you've made me happy. (Laughter)

Annalise: Good and I tell you how happy you've made me too, thank you so much.

Les: Well, now you both know each other—that's lovely.

Annalise: Yes and now there's no excuse for him not to recognise me.

Les: No excuse at all, is there.

Annalise: Thank you so much for allowing me to come.

Les: It's our pleasure to have you.

Annalise: Yes, yes, I was going to tell you another helper, but I don't think I'm allowed, not just yet. No he's got to come to know him already—but

Les: What, another helper for this gentleman?

Annalise: Yes, yes. Oh he could do so much this one.

Les: Could he?

Annalise: Yes yes.

Les: In what way? Healing or what?

Annalise: No he's good with colours you know, yes he could do a lot with colours, he could express himself with colours. Have you tried painting?

Mark: Yes a little bit.

Annalise: Yes, why don't you? I would enjoy that too you know, yes I could be there.

Les: You'd give him some inspiration would you Annalise?

Annalise: I would yes I would, I'd be so happy to.

Mark: Ah, thank you very much.

Annalise: Yes

Les: Did you used to do it when you were here?

Annalise: Yes I love colours, yes.

Les: Watercolours, you did, didn't you?

Annalise: Yes I did you know.

Les: Yes I thought you did, so if he starts trying/practicing on watercolours, he may be surprised at what he can produce?

Annalise: Yes you may end up with a beautiful yellow and then you'll know I've been there.

Mark: Yes.

Les: Or round faces.

Annalise: Yes, could try to paint me, I could try to impress him, couldn't I?

Les: Yes do that, it would be an interesting exercise, wouldn't it Annalise?

Annalise: Yes, but he might not make me so pretty! (Laughter)

Anyway, I'm told I must go. I'm so happy to have been here, made the connection.

Mark: Thank you very much.

Annalise: You're welcome.

Mark: Do you think water colours are best to use, or any other?

Annalise: Just use whatever you feel. Just ordinary paints to begin and then I'll help you along.

Mark: Thank you very much.

Annalise: Let's take one step at a time, shall we?—yes but he's very good with the colours, he's got vivid colours in his mind, but they're not being expressed at the moment.

Les: He has a sister who is quite talented in that direction too.

Annalise: Yes but her talents lie in another direction really, I know all about her, but this one should be doing the beautiful colours too.

Les: Right well you keep at him now, to do it.

Annalise: Well I must go, I'm so sorry to have kept you.

Les: Goodbye to you and thank you very much for having been here. God bless you Annalise.

Annalise: Yes, please do use the colours dear friend.

Mark: Yes, will do, thank you.

Annalise: Goodbye to you all.

(Thanks + farewells)

~5th February 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

How good it is that so many have gathered once more.

Les: Yes it is nice that so many are here, isn't it. It's the least we can do, to acknowledge what you do for us, apart from us liking to be here.

I will not speak long this time. We would wish that all of you be open to what we can bring to you. I ask only that you keep an open heart, an open mind, to those who come to you. It may be that there will be happenings that you have not come into contact with before.

Les: I see.

If so, I say to you, be calm, be true, be happy. So I say to you all, open up your minds and allow those here to work with you.

Les: Certainly we shall, thank you. (Affirmed)

I will work quietly with this one this time, but there will be no words from me. So I will answer one question this time and then I would say to you all, please to lower light just a little and let us see what can be achieved.

Les: Yes certainly, we look forward to doing that. Right, as to a question, it follows on what you have told us last week, my friend asked the question about Spontaneous Combustion, and I quite accept of course the answer you gave, about those who have been tutored in that way, to dispose of themselves at the right time, but that doesn't account for some of the occasions, when a normal person, a rank and file person, has been found partly consumed by fire. I can't imagine that those particular people would have had any knowledge as the esoteric people had?

No my good friend, I have spoken on this matter previously and I believe I told you then, that these cases that you put forward to me, are an abnormality of the energies within the body. They of course are not aware of this problem. We are speaking upon a much different subject, when we speak of these other peoples. Their awareness is not there, it is a fault within their energy bodies.

Les: Is that so? (Yes) Well it certainly manifests itself then.

It is an overpowering of the energies within the human frame. It is caused by the soul itself.

Les: Is that so?

Yes, as all things must be accounted for, so too must the acceptance of this so called phenomenon, as you would say—it is not, when you understand the energy forces, that are your own make up.

Les: I see. So effectively, the person who has been so consumed by fire, has been responsible for it happening, (Yes) but without being aware of that?

The awareness is not within them, it is something they will face, when they come to our side of life.

Les: Is that so? (Yes) So would it be classified as something evil, which causes it?

I would not term it evil, I would call it 'misjudgement of the soul.'

Les: I see.

You understand?

Les: Yes I do, so the soul itself is responsible for the happening?

Yes, it is a misuse of energy.

Les: So to understand that fully, we would have to go back through several previous lives of that soul, I imagine?

Not always, but yes that could be part of the problem. We again touch upon the subject of energy, which is difficult to convey to you, in understandable terms.

Les: Yes I quite appreciate the difficulty.

But I assure you, it is caused, it is an all-consuming energy that needs to release itself.

Les: So though we don't understand it as human beings, it is understandable, with the right knowledge?

Yes, you will understand more, perhaps one time I will devote more time in explanation of it.

Les: Thank you very much indeed Salumet, I appreciate the answer. I quite thought that my friend might have thought the same thing as I did, what happens to those and now that answers it.

We have discussed it briefly, but I know we touch upon difficult subjects. But I hope that has explained it a little more clearly.

Les: Absolutely thank you, I'm perfectly happy with that.

And now we must allow those waiting, to come forward.

Les: Yes, I apologise if I've kept them. (No) It just clears up that point.

May the Great Creator, be with you all.

(Thanks expressed)

There was then a rescue, before another communicator came through Sue, asking that this message be remembered:

Do you know me?

Les: I don't know you no. That doesn't matter, you are a friend, quite welcome to be here. What can I do for you? Why have you come to see us?

To tell you of a new star that will be discovered shortly.

Les: A new star—has it any special significance?

Yes, but it is not easy for you to understand as yet.

Les: Oh well, we shall have to wait, shan't we.

Please make note that you have been told.

Les: Yes it is being recorded and we shall have a record of it.

That is most important that you remember this conversation.

Les: Right thank you—

Many people will benefit from its discovery.

Les: Well that's nice to know.

Especially the children born on the day it shows itself. It is too complicated for me to explain why at this time, but we will be influencing people in your world, who will have knowledge of it.

Les: I see.

They will be told of its importance and they in turn, will explain in greater detail, to the masses of you who will see it.

Les: Thank you. And those who do the explaining, will they receive their knowledge from your world?

They will not realise it, but yes, the knowledge will come from a higher plane.

Les: Thank you, so they will be impressed, without realising it?

Yes, it would not be possible any other way.

Les: No, well thank you very much for telling us that and we shall certainly remember it.

Yes that is most important, that this conversation is remembered and the little children born on the day, will be influenced all of their lives. I will say that there will be some that will go on to great things. Now power here is fading. May the light of the stars visible in your heavens, light and guide your pathways. Now please we close.

Les: Thank you, God bless you.

There then followed one through Jo, recommending that one of the ladies should try 'automatic writing.' Finally Eileen channelled another, spoken with great strength and feeling:

I come to speak for my brothers. Make me happy to be here with you. We say all you peoples, good peoples, come here, work with you.

Les: Yes they are good people aren't they—very good friends.

I bring you all people's peace and love from brothers here. I come see you, to say great thank you. Now we say goodbye (to) you all.

Les: And we say goodbye to you and we all thank you for what you bring us, the love and affection we feel when you come and the pleasure you give us, in being able to work with you. (Agreed)

I speak too many words this time, I only say goodbye to all peoples. (Farewells)

Les: And Great Spirit be with you at all times and thank you for the strength that you bring.

~12th February 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

This time as last, I will speak to you for a short time. I wish to say to you some words about your lives here. Firstly my dear friend, I say to you, you have grown close to us in these past days.

Les: Thank you, it's very nice to have verification of that.

You are aware, but still a little doubtful of what is happening to you. Let me recall for you, one restless, sleepless night, when you travelled much within our world, but the physical being was rather restless, because you see as the awareness grows stronger, so too is the sensitivity of the physical being much stronger, in connection with the spirit. You understand my friend?

Les: Yes I do thank you.

I have been aware of many of your thoughts coming to me, since last we met.

Les: Yes, I have deliberately giving time, more so these days.

Yes, all of you have. So let me reiterate for you, some words that I have given to you previously: Always you wonder why life is difficult for you at times. You wonder because of this knowledge you have attained, why your lives are not made more easy. But let me say this to you: As the awareness grows stronger within you all, life my friends will become even more difficult, because your sensitivities are so much more, that life's problems seem to you to be magnified. You understand?

Les: Yes it is paradoxical, I quite understand what you say and I think my colleagues would agree, that though the difficulties become magnified, the ability to cope with them, is much stronger.

You are good, you see my words before I speak them. Of course this is what happens. The awareness is such that all, all of your senses are heightened so, that sometimes life seems even more difficult, rather than easier for you. But my dear friends, these are steps that take you forward. I have told you, I will endeavour to hear your cries for help, I have told you, I will always be there for you and so indeed I will. But I cannot change your life's pattern, only you my dear friends, can do this. We can uplift you, we can sustain you through life's troubles, life's hard times, but we cannot interfere—I cannot tell you this often enough. Oh, how I wish that I could look upon you all and free you from your troubled times, but my dear friends, I would be doing you all a great disservice.

Les: Yes, I think we can all understand that.

Remember always there are those close to you, those loved ones who have gone before you, also those who are bonded with you, and who you probably are not aware of at this particular time—always you are surrounded by their love and their influence, as I also will give you that influential help, to keep you upon your life's pathway. So my dear friends, if at times you feel I have not listened to your pleas, let me tell you, you would be incorrect in those assumptions, because always I will be there to help you, in the way that is best for you all.

Les: Right, it's not what we think should be done, it's what you know should be done.

Yes, because those of us with our wider vision, can see the fuller picture. I just wanted you all to hear these words again, because I know that sometimes you feel your words are not heard. I tell you now, always your thoughts are reaching us, at all times. So take heart dear friends and know that each and every one of you are being guided. (Thanks expressed) You all will succeed and I speak about you spiritually and you will see when the time comes for you, each and every one of you, to return home, just how much you have achieved and will achieve. So take heart dear friends and know, that the Great Creator surrounds you all, within that love, which is everything. I will answer one question this time, before we allow others to come.

Les: Thank you. Yes I have one I'd like to ask. It comes from a couple of meetings ago. It's one I quite understand you may prefer not to answer and that I fully accept: You have told us that we have all had many lives—Two or three meeting's ago, (Les then slips into deep breathing and his voice changes, as he channels the question)—I have an overwhelming feeling that one of your lives was that of the Master upon whom Christianity is based?

My dear friend, I will devote another time to tell you a little, because I know these thoughts come to me. I know all of you are curious as to my previous existences. I will say only this to you this time, that whatever form I have taken in previous times, always it has been one to teach. I have never trodden upon this Earth plane, as you all have done, always I have had and been granted a mission. May I say to you, your dear friend in the physical being and the one who wishes to speak through you, and I acknowledge him, I will reveal a little more, to give you a little more insight into that spirit being, that now is within this physical body. I will endeavour to tell you more and I will instruct you beforehand, when I am about to do this.

Les: That will be wonderful for us to hear.

But not this time. I leave you now dear friends.

Les: God bless you, all our love goes with you. (Affirmed)

There followed a communicator through Sue, explaining that there was a delay, because things on their side were not quite ready this time. She also mentioned one of the female sitters having much potential, but needed to be nurtured and gave us all her blessing.

Leslie then spent some time helping Sarah to channel one through and develop her ability.

~19th February 1996~

This evening was Leslie's birthday

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

How good it is to be welcomed, amidst the warmth, love and laughter this time.

Les: We're glad you feel it from us.

Many have come close, because of the energy being given out from you all.

Les: Good. We are very happy to know that we are so closely associated with those in your world. I'm sure it helps us all in our daily lives.

I would say to you my dear friend that you are often surprised that you still remain and walk upon this earthly plane. But you were told many years ago, that your time was not close by, because there was much more work for you to do.

Les: Yes you're absolutely right.

I will say this to you, on this occasion of warmth and happiness, that that message is still appropriate to you. (Thank you.) So, continue onwards, continue with those works that are so important to you all, and to those of us who draw close to you.

Les: I shall be very happy to be able to do it, and I'm sure all my colleagues will.

I would say that because of the happiness and the love that is drawing those peoples close to you, that it would be appropriate to allow them to come forward, to join with you, in an evening of love.

Les: That would be very nice—we would certainly welcome them to be with us.

I wish always to bring goodness to this place, to bring you all knowledge, but sometimes to have some light relief, not only knowledge, love, but happiness, which helps to expand your hearts.

Les: Yes it is of the utmost importance isn't it, happiness and laughter. There's so little of it in the world.

So with your permission, we will continue this time and allow those to come. There will only be joy and happiness from them.

Les: Good, we look forward to welcoming them and experiencing their happiness with them.

I wish to say also that next time I will bring to you someone of interest to you.

Les: That's very nice—we shall look forward to it.

So, next time be prepared for much talking please.

Les: Yes indeed we shall and I'd like to thank you on behalf of everybody, for your understanding of the need for a light evening now and again and for your co-operation in bringing this about.

Please do not give me credit, I do not bring it about, but those good and pure souls, also your own energies, bring these things about. All I do is step aside and allow them to come to you.

Les: That's very nice, but we do think of you as somebody of very much more consequence than that. But if you prefer to be known just as energy, we all love the energy which you—which is displayed.

I find it within myself, to feel that human element which brings me to you. I am joyful that you can find me to be that close to you. I would say to you only this: That the more we come together, the stronger the bond, the more the love and energy patterns grow.

Les: Yes I would agree with that absolutely. I do feel the bond very much stronger myself and I'm sure everybody here does also, isn't that so? (Agreed)

I know too, that you feel much time in your lives have passed since first I came to you, but it is only a breath in the wind, as far as time goes.

Les: Yes, we are beginning to learn that now.

So continue with your patience, allow me to come to you on the love energy and we will achieve much.

Les: Good, we look forward to it with you.

So now dear friends, I will leave you and I hope all of you will go about your separate lives this time, full of joy, full of love, full of upliftment, full of knowledge of those who wish to come. May the bonding of you all be a successful one, may it be a bonding that you hold within your hearts and minds, for many days to come.

Les: Thank you very much (Farewells and thanks)

A communication soon followed through Sue:

Moon feather come this special day, for his brother. Bring greetings and from the lady who I served.

Les: Yes, you did too, from Beatrice. You were very close when she was here, weren't you. And I know she loved you, just as I'm sure she loves you now.

Great happiness for you this day, from our side.

Les: Thank you very much indeed, I'm very happy that you tell me that. I always have great happiness in knowing you all and on a day like this, I think it's very, very nice of you to come so close to us all and share with everybody here.

Too difficult to stay long.

Les: Yes, thank you very, very much for making the effort. I know it must be very difficult in so small a frame and I do thank you.

Much love, much (?) for you.

Les: Thank you. May Great Spirit bless you and be with you at all times.

There then followed one through Sarah, who Les worked with gently, to help develop the medium.

Then one came through Sue and another through Eileen simultaneously, having a light-hearted conversation, with plenty of laughter. The one through Sue relayed a message and a gift of flowers to Les.

Other bright and bubbly guests followed, using the different mediums, in a constant flow of merriment, gentle leg-pulling and gifts for Les. Some had been before and were known to Les through his spiritual work over the many years.

~26th February 1996~

Salumet had said that he would bring someone of interest to us next time. However five of the sitters were away due to sickness/work, so the expected guest did not come. But we did get two communications through Eileen. We were instructed to open ourselves to what might be given to us individually this evening. We later began to describe the different impressions we were getting. Eileen had impressions of an Indian lady, who looked like her—she was dressed as a Native American Indian, but with Eileen's face. She had a delicate blue colour just above the fringes of the dress, almost like in triangular shapes. She also had the same colour blue, in beads. Her hair was in pig-tails—she was given the name 'Nahashiwah.' Then a communicator linking with these impressions came through Eileen:

I speak words with you this time. I come only to bring blessings.

Les: Thank you, it's very kind of you. You are the one this lady was seeing, are you?

We are ONE.

Les: I know. I'm sure she'll be very happy to know that. It's one of the things of course, we don't understand, and the view the lady saw, I believe I'm right in saying, was an indication of your rank, whilst on this Earth, which of course you still retain, is that so?

I will wait for her, when her time comes. I will be waiting.

Les: That's very nice for her to know.

I bring greetings from White Horse.

Les: White Horse, thank White Horse for us will you? I believe you are White Feather, are you not?

I have many pseudonyms.

Les: You have many names do you? One is White Feather, and another is the one the lady mentioned?

Not White Feather, I am Nahashiwah.

Les: Thank you that clears something in my mind. We do appreciate you coming to us tonight and the blessing you give.

I must (Return?—very faint)

Les: That's a pity. I thank you on behalf of your lady, for what you've told us. May the Great Spirit be with you at all times.

May you (?)—before I return, but I want to say to all of you, only this:

Be good to your Earth and you will be blessed many times.

Les: Thank you, we shall hope that people will be good to the Earth. Unfortunately many are not good to it. But we hope that they will change their minds and become good to it, just as you were. (Thanks + farewells)

Eileen then returned tearfully, saying it felt like she had lost someone.

~4th March 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: We thank you again for being here.

Forgive my delay in speaking to you this time, it is not my intention to speak with you long this time.

Les: That's a pity, we enjoyed your talking to us last week so much, but of course we accept what you say and are guided by you.

It is important that all of you within this group be used to the very best of your capabilities, because the time will come, when each one will go forth as the branches of the trees, each taking with it the knowledge and the gifts, which they have attained here. It is important that in time to come, knowledge be spread to those who are awaiting it.

Les: Yes I quite understand and I'm very happy to know that those in due course, will be taking the knowledge to take to others. It's very encouraging for them.

There has to be purpose in the knowledge given. It is not given to be retained within one room, one person, one group. So what we bring to you, must go forward in time to come.

Les: Good. I'm very happy to know that and I'm sure everybody here will be.

So you understand that sometimes it is important that those from our side, come to work with you all. They must be given the opportunity to work with the instruments available.

Les: Yes we do understand that and we're very happy to agree to this being done.

I have been aware of your many questions to me, since last we met. I have tried to inspire those who need such help. But this time I will leave it and will return to some of the questions within your minds, which have been placed before us. I will answer one question this time, before I leave you, and allow the others to come, to use these instruments.

Les: Good. Thank you, we are all very happy to do that. I will ask the one question and if you prefer not to answer it on this occasion, I quite understand. It concerns the cloning which is being done by scientists nowadays and you will know what that is, I'm sure. It is said that cloning will result in absolutely identical animals or individuals and of course many people are concerned that cloning should not be applied to humans. But let us assume for a moment that it is applied in the future. How would that affect the spirituality of those persons, they can't be spiritually identical, I'm sure?

You are quite correct. They can never attain perfection, as far as identical people are concerned—it is impossible. They have achieved and it has been coming for some time, where your scientists and your doctors have knowledge, which has brought them to this point. But misuse of knowledge given, cannot be right. So I will say to you: This should not take place. But of course again, we come to free will. Whilst the knowledge exists, it is at risk of being used wrongly.

Les: Just as so many things have been in the course of mankind's history.

Sadly, yes. We are restrained from many things and I say it saddens us so to see this knowledge so misused. But let me say only this, and we will return to the subject if you so desire, on another occasion, when time will permit me to speak more broadly upon the subject.

Les: Yes, we would like that please.

But, I will say to you, the achievements cannot be fully guaranteed. It cannot, because all of you are individuals, you are sparks of the Great Divine and that individuality cannot be usurped in any way.

Les: Of course not. The scientists are obviously purely thinking in physical terms once more.

Of course and in that respect they can achieve what they will call success. But I tell you here and now, it is a success which will be short-lived.

Les: Thank you very much for that information.

But we will return, because I know upon your earthly plane, that it has created disturbance for many.

Les: Yes it has indeed Salumet.

I thank you for your question, I hope that you are happy to continue this time and allow these good and gentle people, to allow those who love and want to use them, to come to you.

Les: Yes, thank you very much for your courtesy in answering and now we would be very happy to do, what the others wish us to. God bless you, thank you for coming and our greetings to you also.

There then followed one through Sue, who needed to sit cross-legged on the floor before she was comfortable. Information was given concerning Joy, who was to receive much through 'automatic writing.' It was also mentioned that Salumet would go down in the realms of history, though it was stressed that 'Salumet' was not a single entity. A special reference was made to five of the sitters, Eileen, Sue, Jo, Joy and Les, who formed an important interconnection of some kind.

Next, one through Jo brought a gift of power. Later, one through Eileen, suggested that Les spend some time with Paul, who had not been used much before, as a medium. Les talked gently and someone came through, who had not lived on Earth, but had inhabited another planet, beyond our galaxy.

Les then returned to Eileen, who was still being used and who closed the meeting:

I will end this meeting this time. I say, isn't it encouraging, I hope I do not disturb this one too much. (Eileen coughed a few times)—to see the metamorphoses of communication taking place here this evening. Indeed one—(Cough) I apologise, I am sure she will not mind.

Les: No she won't. I'm just going to wet her voice and throat, with some of our water.

I had hoped that I had taken control properly, but it may be necessary for her to moisten her lips.

Les: Yes certainly. You certainly have a very strong control with her. (Voice was loud)

Yes, we have waited some time to speak.

Les: Thank you for the patience.

Can you now see, what can be achieved within this room?

Les: Yes, we can indeed.

I hope that the young gentleman will continue with the progress. (Paul)

Les: I hope so too.

As have all the other instruments within the room.

Les: It was very interesting that he should have come from another planet.

It is always strange to you Earth—(Cough) I apologise, I hope this one will be fine when I leave.

Les: I'm sure she will.

We bring you many things and much more to come. But it is good to see so much being accepted now.

Les: Yes it is and we are very happy with what is happening and we do appreciate the effort you make, in making us aware of the possibilities.

Your Earth planet has much to offer from all of us, within the universe—not only the spiritual world as you know, but even further ahead.

Les: Is that so, we are very pleased to hear that, and we hope that we shall be able to make further contributions to what it can offer.

I must withdraw this time, because I feel the instrument is becoming distressed. So I'll bid you all farewell this time and perhaps we can return.

Les: We shall all be pleased if you could do that and thank you very much for having been here tonight.

May the Universal Love be with you all.

Les: And our love with you.

~11TH March 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: Thank you again for joining us.

I am happy to see so many gathered this time.

Les: Yes, it is a very nice full meeting, isn't it? Our holiday season's over now and we are almost back to normal.

I know that in your busy daily lives, sometimes you find it difficult to come, when you have worked physically hard, each are tired, but still you come; for this I am grateful to you all.

Les: We love being with you.

Before I speak to you all, I want to say to you please, your energies are depleted, therefore will you please before you retire, seek for me and I will be of help to you.

Les: Thank you that applies to all of us I take it?

No, I speak to you.

Les: Just to me? Oh thank you.

You will be aware.

Les: Thank you. Yes you are quite right, I have been feeling less energetic than usual.

I do not speak about your physical being, always when I speak to you, I am speaking on a spiritual level.

So please do as I ask, and you will feel better for it.

Les: I certainly will do, I appreciate your help. Can I ask, what has been the cause of the depletion?

You have been using your energies to excess, and like the physical being, so too can the spirit too become depleted. This is something not well known or discussed amongst you Earth beings.

Les: No I must say, I wasn't aware of it, I wasn't aware of having used so much; perhaps it's been while I was asleep, is it?

I have told you that you come to us in our world and you come to work, you understand?

Les: Yes, I remember that.

When you enter our world, you do not have the same capacity of recuperation as you would, if you were with us always. It is nothing to concern yourself about, it is—how can I say, a little over-eagerness on your part.

Les: I see, I must try and control that.

The intentions are good, we would not wish to change the, but as you know, when the spirit is a little depleted, it manifests itself upon the physical being.

Les: Yes you are quite right, that accounts for several things recently. Thank you for telling me.

Therefore we must slow you down just a little. I know it would probably, how would you say, 'go against your grain,' yes?

Les: (Laughter) Yes—I must be advised by those who know better than I do and I'll take the advice.

I hope so my dear friend, because we love you and we wish to take care of you all.

Now I wish to address a question that comes to us so many times. You understand why you are within your physical bodies, you know that beyond this clothing, life continues. But so often comes the question, 'What are we really striving for?' I have said to you all, in the time gone past, that what you are about is Love. We have spoken a little about the refinement of matter, have we not?

Les: Yes we have indeed.

When you join us in our world, in your spirit form, so often we hear, 'How do you know when we are ready for the next stage of existence?' Again I instruct you that there are many, many planes, this I have told you about also. So, how can you know when it is time to move forward? I have to say that awareness is innate within each soul. It is not something that happens in one particular stage of your growth. I have told you, ALL of existence belongs to yesterday, today and tomorrow. So can you see that the transition to go forward has to be so smooth, that you would not be aware of it. Do you understand what I am trying to say?

Les: Yes, I think we understand that.

I don't think you do.

Les: Not completely, but I was just going to suggest, it is rather akin to what we say here, 'What time is the Present? When does the Future become the Past?' That is impossible to define and I would imagine our progress, is rather in the same state—there is no definite division point.

There are no steps of progress, it is a smooth moving forward, that is what I am trying to express to you.

Les: Quite, I think we all understand that don't we? (Affirmed)

Ultimately what you are searching for and what each one of you knows and desires, is to return to the Light, to that refinement of energy, that unsullied energy, which you call God—that is what each of us strive towards. But let me continue—at each step of your progress, so the soul, the energy that is the soul, becomes more and more refined, until you come to the stage of non-being. We have not touched upon this matter before, but I wish to try to explain to you if you wish me to, to explain a little more deeply into this subject.

Les: I think we would all wish that, wouldn't we?

(Agreed)

You all fully understand that the soul's growth is an ever-developing one? (Agreed) That we all strive towards that pure energy, which you here on Earth call Light, but which is matter so refined, that is to you invisible. It is something that as far as I too am aware, always seems to be unattainable and I speak only from my heart upon this matter. We are speaking of aeons of your time, to reach the stage of non-existence and by this I mean where matter can be defined. You follow?

Les: Yes I think we do.

To reach this stage, I will tell you there would be no returning to earthly matter, under any circumstance, because the state you have reached is purity itself. Where you have shed your layers of learning, where you have attained the power to express pure Love, where you have reached the point of non-existence as you would know it. Now I will answer questions in your mind, 'Am I one of non-existence?' I would say to you, YES I AM. When this state is reached, much can be achieved in the workings of the cosmos, in the workings within the universe, in the workings of that Pure Light. Would you like to ask me any questions upon this?

Les: Yes I do have a question, not directly related, but before that I think I (Les then began to channel briefly) I am compelled to say that we are even more privileged to have you here.

I feel and understand what you say and ask not for thanks, because you see my dear friends, all of you are responsible for growth within my soul too. I have accepted many tasks. I have to say to you, this one has been quite difficult for me. I don't say this lightly, but to return to such dense matter, is indeed a task, which I have to say to you, was not one that I took readily.

Les: Well we can't tell you how much we appreciate it. We can never understand what it has cost you to do so.

It has cost me a little discomfort only, compared to (Voice changes/becomes stronger) the love that abounds here within this room. (Pause—about 30 seconds)

Do you know that I would consider all of you within this room, to be jewels in the night sky? That is how I see you my dear friends.

Les: That is certainly a lovely description, which we do appreciate. We must try and live up to that.

I would like to say also, that I hear questions of, 'Why is it possible for some upon your Earth plane, to be able to utilise those spiritual gifts, whilst some do not?' I would say only this to you, my friends:

Remember that it is a culmination of the soul's growth; always this is important, when it comes to displaying these gifts. I have told you, that you all possess many, many gifts of the spirit world. It is awareness, it is dedication, it is help from our world; there are so many aspects to it. I do not want anybody here, to doubt what you are capable of. I want you to become strong in the knowledge of the strength that you all possess. I want you to know, and again I do not say this lightly, that this one here, speaks many true words. (Referring to Les) You will not be misled, as so many have been, by words, by egotistical people, by those who choose pathways which they should not be treading. I say to you:

Thank that Diving Light that you have chosen this dear friend to guide your footsteps well. You will not know until the time has come when you join our side of life, you will not fully appreciate the guidance you have received.

I think each one of you should be feeling strength and the Power of Love, which encircles this meeting place. Those of you who can, should look to one another and feel the Power of Love. I would like you sometime if you will, to touch each other, to feel the energy from each one of you, to recognise the difference in the energies of each one. I know you have not tried this before, have you? (No) But if you are willing, please try it and you will be amazed at what you feel.

Les: We shall certainly try it. Is there any particular energy point on the body that we should touch?

I would suggest only to use the palms of your hands. You may find that some will not be able to even touch hands—there will be no need, because the exchange of energy will be greater amongst some than others. If I place my hand towards you, you should feel the energy from me.

Les: Yes I can.

Now slowly take it back, until you feel the energy no more. Focus on the light of the energy. You should eventually, if you practice this, be able to pick up the energy, from across the room. Would you like to try now? If you focus on the energy of the light coming from me, you should. You are capable of it my friend, but as in all matters, it is the practice of these gifts. You must focus. In fact, if each one of you focused, you may even see the energy within the room. (Pause—about 30 seconds)

Tell me what you feel my son?

Les: I feel that it's penetrating this one hand and I can feel it with the other too, through the hand.

Yes, that is good. Now allow it to travel throughout your being.

Les: its blue energy, surrounded with white.

If you focus it should become Pure Energy, without colour. You are doing well.

Les: Yes you're quite right, the colour's disappearing. It is just a thin shaft now.

You should feel the healing of it also. I hope that this small thing, has demonstrated to you, a little of what energy exists.

Les: It has indeed for me.

I would say to you, that you would find it difficult to come close to these hands now. Please do not touch; you can feel it, can you not?

Les: Yes I can—I wouldn't be able to come closer.

No you would not.

Les: There is quite a barrier there.

This is what I would like all of you to become aware of. To leave behind those physical limitations, to know yourself as you truly are, that you are energy striving towards that purity, which you term 'LOVE.' Now I think I have spoken enough upon this, this time.

Les: It's a wonderful teaching—I can't tell you how grateful we are. I'm sure we all regard it as a great complement, that you've called us your friends.

I will leave you this time. But we must close slowly this time, to allow the one I use to return without any harm and I know she is protected well, but any withdrawal after the use of such energy, would not be good.

Les: No, we shall do it very slowly and carefully.

We may use someone to speak, to come back slowly.

May you all thank that Great Divine Spirit, for all that you have, for all that you wish, for all that you do. Give thanks for your very being and in time your lives will become enriched and (Full-blended?—recording very faint) My blessings go with you as always.

Les: Our love goes with you. Our words are not sufficient, so I am not going to attempt to say what we feel. There then followed a 10 minute pause, before another speaker came through Eileen. She chatted gently about her life, which helped Eileen return.

~18th March 1996~

Les: Good evening and we welcome you once more and once more thank you for joining us.

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

I am glad to see so many of you.

Les: Yes it's a nice full meeting tonight, isn't it? Only one absent due to illness unfortunately.

Each one brings with them, their own individual glow, which contributes to the light within this place.

Les: Good, that's nice to hear.

So it gladdens me, when I see so many of you together. Let me say to you, a few words to begin this time. I know that much of what I bring to you, sometimes confuses your minds.

Les: Yes, we have to agree with that, it does.

But when first I came, I said that we would be talking on many deep matters.

Les: You did and we are very, very glad that you have been doing that.

I ask you my good friends, to accept these confusing thoughts, because you see, it opens up your minds to many thoughts and provokes much discussion amongst you.

Les: Yes you are quite right, it does.

It is good that you analyse what I bring. It is good in the sense that it is opening you up, that it creates unfoldment within you, by the very fact of being confusing thoughts to you. You understand?

Les: Yes, it certainly makes us exercise our mental abilities.

And this is what we try to achieve with you. You must not allow your thoughts to become stagnant, you must allow these thoughts to expand. Although I say to you, accept what I give you, I fully understand that some of you find it a little difficult sometimes. And so I say to you, if you reject anything that I tell you, do not be disappointed with yourselves, because my dear friends, we in our side of life, are glad to see what you are achieving.

Les: It's comforting to know that we are progressing, even though sometimes we think we are stumbling about, without understanding.

That is why I say, do not be disappointed with yourselves. The realisation and the awareness will come to you all, when the time is right and proper for you all, because you know fully, that you are all at differing stages of your developments. So I know some within the room are a little disappointed that more does not happen with them. But do not concern yourselves about this matter, because as I have said, you belong together and each and every one, has their individual tasks to perform. Although you differ greatly in your stages of developments, each one of you is as important as the other. Please always bare this in mind, see yourselves as the whole unit working together, each one contributing, although you are not always aware of what it is you give. I tell you my dear friends, your energies are increasing, each and every time we come together.

Les: Splendid.

So, know and accept that your Love energy and bond, is issuing forth great love that provides us the energy needed for us to come to you. Without you all, I would not be speaking to you now. So with those words, I want to thank each and every one of you here. Know that you are looked after, know that we cosset you, we try to support you and we try to influence you daily.

Les: Thank you. So would I be right in assuming that the dissension that was present in the previous life, in which we were all of a 'Closed Order,' that dissension has now been disposed of?

I would not say fully, because firstly, the life I have told you about, is only one part of your existence. It really is not necessary information, but I provided it for you, to give you the feeling of the unity amongst you. It matters not whether there is slight dissension amongst you, because after all, your lives are not so entwined, that you live each moment together. What is important, that whilst you are in this place that your thoughts be pure, that your thoughts to one another be good, so that the work that is necessary for us to bring, can take place. You understand?

Les: Yes we follow, thank you.

We are aware that your lifestyles are different—that matters not. It matters that you come here together, that you work and bring your pure energies for the work—that is what is important now. Your energies from times past, have become much finer, but each one of you has a long way to go, before I could say they were pure energies without problems. You understand?

Les: Yes, we quite accept we have an awful long way to go.

Yes, but it is the unity here amongst you, whilst you gather here each time, which must remain pure. That is why it is important that each one of you understand how important you are to each other, if the work that is to come is to be good. We want only what is Truth, we want only that mankind be told of what is happening within your world and to provide some knowledge which until now, has been unknown.

Les: Well we are quite happy to spread that knowledge of course, once we are in the position to make mankind accept it, or begin to accept what we give them. We can't make them accept it completely, we can only ask them to accept what we are able to give.

You can only extend yourselves and offer what you know, you cannot make them take it. But as you know, like I have begun this time, the more you listen to something, then the avenue of thought is opened, you understand? (Yes) The similarity is there, all you can do is stretch out and offer what you know. If it is rejected, then so be it, that is the pathway of each soul, for their free will to decide.

Les: So from what you say Salumet, we are going to be in a position to broadcast what we have been learning here, are we?

The time will come if you so desire, that this will take place. I have said to you from the beginning, that you have the possibilities of doing much good work. It is something that needs to be spoken about, it is something that needs to be accepted and the opportunities will be given, when the time is right.

Les: Fine, thank you, that's all I wanted to know, that it will be coming. I'm not impatient to do it.

No, I have always said, 'Please learn patience.' After all, your earthly years are few, in comparison to all of existence.

Les: Quite, well it is nice to know that our efforts jointly, are going to be available to others. It gives us something to look forward to.

My dear friends, you are already spreading what you know. I see your words go far and wide, even now. It makes my heart full, to hear your words of encouragement, of wonderment, at the pleasure which you retain from our speaking together; I cannot ask more of you at this particular time. If you continue this way, you cannot do more.

Les: Good. As I say, it does give us something to look forward to and to aim at, to know that we are not retaining this information only for our own use.

I would desire for you all, that firstly we try to develop what is innate within you all, that you develop what you already know, but in this lifetime, most of you have suppressed, until the past few years. But we have waited long and we have gathered together. So do not be impatient my dear friends, but know that all is possible. Now I think, do you have questions this time?

Les: Yes I do, following on from what you've said and I'm not going to embarrass you with this I hope, but a communicator who gave quite a lengthy talk through the other lady, said your name would be going down in history. Well I could only see that happening, by virtue of what we are able to pass on, acknowledging your teaching, in the passing of that information, then it would be going down in history.

I will say only this: If the knowledge I bring is given to others, if that is what you would interpret as 'going down in history,' then I will go along with you. But I would say this to you: That is not my purpose that is not why I come to you. If you so desire, in time to come, when more knowledge is given to you, if you so desire to use this name I have given to you, then I do not object, but it will not change or alter, what we need to give to mankind. What is in a name?

Les: Yes, I know it wouldn't bother you one way or the other, but I know that any information that we do pass on, must be acknowledged as coming from you.

If each one of you gains a little in knowledge, grows in spirit, feels that my time with you has been useful, then I am happy to go along with whatever you feel. There will come the day, I know, when the gentlemen who writes across the room, will wish to use the name.

Les: This is for you George.

George: Yes.

I do give you all of my blessing, provided that the words written are indeed what comes from us all. You understand?

George: Yes, that has been on my mind, thank you.

I know that is why I speak, but my dear friend, your patience will be rewarded. I know sometimes your mind has questioned what has been given. That is why I say, do not chastise yourself, for your negative thoughts, because of course you all are human and I know that sometimes it is difficult to be positive. You know that I teach you always, the power of your thoughts will become reality. Therefore, put them to good use. You understand what I tell you.

George/Les: Yes we do.

If you are so desiring to have more of what you call 'proofs that can be shown to others,' make it a reality. Help us with what we are trying to achieve.

Les: Yes we are hoping for what you might call additional proof, at our other meeting.

Make it reality, use the power of your thoughts, you would be amazed, at what you could achieve. But unfortunately while doubts remain, you are turning those positive energies, into negative ones. Do you understand?

Les: Yes we quite understand, because the power is still there, but in the negative instead of the positive.

Yes, you can achieve much, but you have to accept the responsibilities that each one of you hold, you follow?

Les: Oh yes, we do accept that any further proof, does bring its own responsibility, for the proper usage of that proof.

That is why it is good that we devote some of these meetings to helping the others to bring forward, what they have within. They may not think they achieve much, but you all shine beautifully.

Les: Good, that's very pleasant news. Now if I might ask a positive question: A communicator last week through one of the other ladies here, gave a most interesting talk and it said that five of us were all one and there seemed to be an emphasis on the number five, because he said that the five here, and if I heard him correctly, he said that there are many other five's. Does that number five have any special significance?

No, none that I can speak to you of—I think what was meant, if you can understand when we speak of energies, it did not mean that five were more important. You have to understand how energy works, to fully understand the concept of the saying. Five of you together creates the positive energies.

Les: That's what was meant was it?

Yes. You must not accept it as five individual peoples as being one; that is not what was meant. You must return again to what life is about—that all is energy, that energy can change form, that energy can split, that energy can re-join to create. And when we spoke of five, it was referring to energy mass. I know you are confused, it is a difficult subject, but we are limited by your earthly words.

Les: Yes I understand.

So when you are told five peoples, you are again thinking of the physicality's of the words, not the spiritual sense, which you must try to do.

Les: Yes, I see where our thoughts, or my thoughts were going wrong on that.

Yes and once you allow your thoughts to be shortened/curtailed, then you have problems. You must always allow your awareness to stretch, to grow, to accept life as spirit. I am trying to teach you to see things spiritually and not physically. It is difficult when you are encased within these physical bodies, but you can expand your minds, if you so wish. Has that helped you a little? Would you like further explanation?

Les: I was just about to say, I begin to see why some people go into closed orders and the silence of monasteries now, in an effort to bring that spirituality nearer to their own physical mind.

It helps some, to close themselves from the world, as you call it, for that reason. That is why I have told you not to judge. For some, they need the opportunity, they need the silence to grow. Do you understand?

Les: Yes we do.

But do you not see, by your confusion and your thinking along another pathway, how your tolerance and understanding has grown? (Yes)

You see, one small step leads to another, one small thought leads to another, it can only be good for you. So being in your states of confusion, is not so bad after all.

Les: No, it's certainly one thing we do excel at, being confused.

You are all doing very well. I will use one of your earthly terms this time and say, 'I am proud of you all.'

And I don't use that word to give you, how would you say, 'bigger heads?' (Laughter)

Les: No, we do accept it as a genuine and sincere complement and we thank you for it.

And that is what I am trying to say. Your sincerity is indeed something to behold. Now, I think this time I will withdraw and allow some others to be worked with and let us see what can be achieved.

Les: Yes thank you very much indeed and God bless you once again, for your patience with us.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed a control through Sue. She had advice for Paul about his aching neck and also for Les.

She then addressed the whole group:

—We are aware of what has happened in your world this time. We offer no explanations at this time, but say to you that those little ones will be well protected. Now perhaps you could all think of those little ones for just a moment, as I leave you with my love.

(This probably concerned the 'Dunblane massacre,' which occurred five days previously, resulting in the death of sixteen children and one adult.)

Les: Yes we will and thank you for your visit. God be with you.

One through Eileen then brought news of a little girl connected to Lilian. She described a man with an apron, (A baker) who was the grandfather of a child who died in the womb. The child was now about 3 years old and known as Jennifer. She said she was very happy. She said she is very fond of a blue toy and that she is very pleased to have a little brother:

She joins with this little one you know, this little one would be aware of this child. She's pointing to the older gentleman's shoes, she tells me she likes to stand on his feet, because his children used to do that. She's a beautiful child, she wants you to know her as Jennifer, she's very pleased with that name.

Lilian: She must have changed her name because I think she was given the name of Emily to begin with, so perhaps she prefers the name of Jennifer.

This is the name she likes, this is the name she has chosen for herself. Now let me see what else she says to you. She says sometimes your back itches—she's been to your house.

Lilian: Sometimes.

Yes. She tries to scratch it for you, but you don't feel it. She's speaking now about a dog. Not a little dog, she says you had a little dog, but this one's a big dog.

Lilian: She's got that one has she?

She's been with this animal yes.

Lilian: Lovely!

Yes, she likes the bigger one. Not so fond of the littler one. She is now taking hold of your husband's hand and saying she'll come again and she'll let granddaddy talk to you. So I am pleased we found you and they are going now, but please know that she is around you.

Lilian: Lovely, thank you very much.

And the old gentleman is saying—yes, he still makes good bread. I leave you with that and God bless you.

Lilian: Thank you very much.

Les: Thank you and God bless you too.

~25th March 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

(Longer than usual pause) I thank you for your waiting, I too embrace you all.

Les: Thank you.

I know that within your hearts and your thoughts, lies much confusion on earthly matters, which are occurring on your Earth plane.

Les: Yes you're quite right, there is a lot of confusion and concern.

I do not wish to enter into any one subject, but to speak to you generally about these thoughts that you all have. I know that you find it so difficult to look at your lives on a wider scale. I keep telling you these words, but I want you to understand that until you can discard the emotional energy bonds which tie you, then you cannot see the full picture.

Les: Yes, I think we understand that, that emotion created by our physical thoughts, does create a blockage, to our understanding of our spiritual needs.

(Some coughing) Yes—forgive me, the instrument has trouble, but let me continue, we have spoken on previous occasions—the emotional body, is the one closest to your physical beings. I know you fully understand this. But I have to tell you, to allow that emotional energy to release itself into greater consciousness, in that way only then will you begin to understand what is happening within your world. You almost my good friends, are your own worst enemies, when it comes to emotions.

Les: Yes, I understand that.

I spoke briefly last time, about energy and the need that you have, to return to that Divine Light—you understood me then. What happens is this, that separation to you humans, you find to be unacceptable. Always you seek companionship in one way or another. Whether it be the joining of man and wife, whether it be the closeness of brother and sister, it does not matter what the union (is), but all of you seek for it, and the greater meaning of this is, that you seek to return to the Divine Source of Consciousness. So because of these emotional bonds, you are confining yourselves within knowledge that needs to be broken apart and freed. We have said that each one of you within this room is joined with each other. But my good friends, until you achieve that level of consciousness, which makes you one unit, which is capable of love to all, without ties, without demands, then and only then, can you go forward. Can you see what I am saying to you?

Les: Well, I don't think we do at the moment, because it would seem that whilst we're here, in order to fulfil our lives and enjoy them in any sense, companionship is necessary, in the physical sense.

Yes, it belongs to the physical. But what you need to achieve, is the spiritual understanding of why you feel the need. Do you see what I mean?

Les: Yes, we have to accept, that the physical companionship, is only second best to the spiritual requirements that we are seeking. Is that what you are saying?

It is the spiritual seeking that creates the physical need. Too often we see with peoples—let me perhaps give you an example: If you take a man and a woman and the man is dominant within the relationship, too often it would be said, 'He is wrong to be so.' What I am trying to tell you is that because you come to this Earth plane with full knowledge of what you have to achieve, then the woman in the situation we are speaking of, would be fully aware spiritually, of what the man is trying to achieve. Sometimes, because of the energies, powerful energies within you all, it creates life's problems for you, only because you cannot open yourselves to the fuller knowledge. Now can you begin to understand what I say to you?

Les: Yes, I thank what you are saying, is we concentrate too much upon the physical desire for companionship and happiness, without looking inwardly, (Yes) and finding that happiness in silence if necessary and being one self only.

To be one, to be thankful to the one, who creates what you would term, 'problems'. They may well have come to this Earth, to help you. Try not to see them as physical problems, because it is love which helps those peoples to help you. Do you follow?

Les: I think we do, but again it's confusing and difficult to understand, so long as we are in the physical envelope. I see what you mean and I fully accept it, but it doesn't make it any easier.

No, I know, but I have to tell you, because I want you all to open up to that greater knowledge within. I want you all to look at relationships you have with each person in this lifetime. I want you to see, to look deeply, for the reason behind the association. You can do it, you all can, if you so desire.

Les: We do suffer from problems currently, which are not necessarily between two companions, but are national problems. So what you are suggesting, if I am right, is that we've got to look beyond those problems, and to the reasons for which those problems were sent. Now are you further suggesting, that if we do that, we shall be better able to cope with the physical problems?

My dear friend that is precisely what I am trying to tell you. I know your hearts are full, whenever tragedies strike. Too often too, when you have your disasters do we hear, 'Why, why, why?' When in fact, if you allowed yourself the time to look inwards, you would be aware of what is happening. I know because of your very make-ups, it is difficult for you to see the wider scheme of life, but we have spoken many times, about what you do, what you sow, have we not? (Yes) Let me say, there are reasons for all things. I know you will be dismayed to hear such things, but there will always be some distress caused, whilst you wear these earthly overcoats, because you do not fully understand what is happening.

Les: So would I be right in thinking then Salumet, that if we were able to look beyond the physical concepts and accept that these things, even with a national tragedy, that if we look beyond the physical, would your companions—those who wish to help us, would they be better able to impress us, in the way in which we should react, to solve the physical problems, if we are accepting that they are basically of a spiritual nature?

Yes, because whilst you doubt, whilst you say: ‘Why, why, why,’ you are creating negative energies, which will keep you jailed to the thought forms that you have.

Les: Yes, so it would seem that you are suggesting that if we said, ‘Okay, this is a bad problem that’s got to be resolved, for the sake of the nation and the people, who’ll be penalised if it is not resolved—’

They must pay for what has taken place. You must look, not to us for the knowledge to change, but each one of you who tread this Earth, must look inward to himself, to find the answers, to inspire each other.

Les: And I think I’m right in saying, the answers are in each of us—we have to dig them out, is that so?

Yes, I would wish to see all of you expand your own consciousness, to look at your lives as they are this time, to look to your relationships firstly, to see what each person brings to you, or you to them. Do not look on a physical level, but look deeply within and all of you would find, that problems would be transmuted, would dissipate into true love and unity, on whichever level it is needed. Then and only then, can you expand your thoughts, to all of your world, do you see?

Les: Yes, but how can our few thoughts here, affect our ministers and leaders, who are the ones who have to make the decisions and take the road to the physical solutions that are going to be needed? How does one influence them?

You must use the Power of your Thoughts. Again you use the spiritual energy of the thoughts, not the physical thoughts, you understand? (Yes)

In that way, can they be influenced, in that way by using positive thoughts, can we then reach out and use them.

Les: So you would take our thoughts, as an avenue towards altering the thoughts of the others, would you?

Yes, we need the energy. That is why I say to you, do not say, ‘Why, why, why, why?’

Les: Just say, well it’s here, let’s get on altering it. I have been doing that myself, I hope that all my colleagues now, will do it each night.

You must accept that the law will continue, it cannot be altered, it cannot be changed and mankind must reap what he sows.

Les: Yes, I fully agree and accept that we are responsible for all the problems that do affect us now upon this Earth, apart from natural disasters, but the others, we obviously have been responsible for, in the beginnings, such as the deforestation which is going on, the feeding of animal products to animals who are normally only grazing animals; it is foreign to their nature to eat such stuff.

I have told you man throughout his history, has been destructive in many ways. But always we look for the spark of Light, which will change things. And although we speak on dark matters, I want you to realise that there is Light, there will be no disaster of this Earth, of this we have spoken. Rather I am concerned with your individual avenues of THOUGHT. That no matter what happens on your earthly plane, that no matter what happens in your daily lives, no matter what comes to you before you return home, I want you to look at all things from the spiritual viewpoint. I want you all, each day to look inwards, each day to thank that Divine Consciousness, to which you all belong and of which you have all knowledge, if only you would seek it. I want you to become the shining beings that you are.

Les: I think you can be assured that we all of us shall be putting our thoughts in the direction that you have suggested, so that you can use them.

There must not be any negative thoughts, if you are to achieve that raised consciousness. You cannot, you must not allow those negative emotional energies, to keep you jailed forever. You have to be freed from them, and I hope my words will encourage you all, to do just that.

Les: I’m sure they will. So now it’s up to us to start things going in that direction.

But first, look to yourselves. That is what you must do first. You will not heal your world, in such a short span of your time. But much is happening and much has happened, to cause this transformation to begin. And although you look upon them as 'disasters,' look inwards and find it within yourselves to say, 'If that is how it must be, for all of consciousness to grow, then I will accept and work towards this.'

Les: And so if we began even more, looking within ourselves, to try and discover the faults and correct them, and use our thoughts that others may be guided, to work for humanity, instead of profit and politics, you would be able to use our thoughts, to assist them, to look within themselves, is that how it will all work?

There are many already working to influence your world leaders. (Good.) I have told you this, in times past. But when we have positive energies coming to us, they can be utilised in a much stronger manner. This is something you would not fully understand, but something that must be discussed, when we speak more about the energies. It may enlighten you a little more, when—and I have said we will speak one time, about the different energies that exist here amongst you.

Les: Yes, we look forward to that.

I know I bring you something each time which is difficult, but I see you beginning to accept, to provide those thoughts within yourselves, that begins to make sense of it. Now, I think if you have questions this time, I will be happy to speak about them.

Les: Thank you, yes we do. We have occasions here, when people have suffered head injuries perhaps, of various causes and go into very deep coma, so that they are in effect, in the state of a vegetable and unable to communicate in any way. What happens to the spirit during those years of coma? Does it remain within that physical body, or is it taken to your world, and cocooned in some way, because the original body is still alive physically?

Yes, much has been spoken about this subject too. I will say to you, that the spirit body cannot fully leave the physical being, but you are aware that the spirit and physical, are joined by what I know you term, as a silver chord. When the physical being is shocked, which it is when there is head injuries, which you speak of, of accidents, anything which shocks the spirit from the physical being, then what happens is that the spirit will remove itself from the body, but still attached by the chord. It will remain in 'limbo,' I believe you would say, until such time as the soul decides whether it wishes to remain or to return home. Remember always, that the soul has made the decision before coming to the Earth, the pathway it has to tread. On occasions such as you speak, when memories are erased of the soul's desires, then the soul is in a state of confusion. That is why it remains in limbo, until such decisions are reached. You understand?

Les: And it would be in close proximity, to the physical body, would it stay there in limbo?

Not necessarily. The chord—if you can imagine a strong piece of elastic, which can stretch and stretch and stretch, the soul can move some distance from the physical being, but at the same time, is attached.

Les: But it cannot enter your world?

Of course not—only once the chord is severed, will the soul go forward. But as you know, when the soul departs the body, even then, if they have no knowledge, they remain for some considerable time, in confusion. We bring them back to you for help. (Yes) It is the same, except the soul is still attached to the physical being, and that soul must make the decision, when the time is right. It is the soul's decision, please always remember this. If the time had come for the soul to depart the physical body, the chord would have been severed. But as you know, sometimes when the soul leaves the physical being, it does not always want to return and when it is in the state of confusion, it is a problem to reach that soul, to help it. Remember always we cannot interfere; we can guide, we can influence, but we cannot make the decision for that soul.

Les: And that soul would have been responsible then, for the confusion in which it finds itself, (Yes) because it would have predetermined that, before it came back to Earth, is that so?

Yes, remember always the soul—each one of you has chosen your pathways, before you come.

Les: Yes and so the soul would have been aware of the accident that was going to cause that confusion, (Yes) before it inhabited a physical body? (Yes) This of course, we do find difficult to understand, why it should give itself that problem and that unhappiness and confusion.

I cannot tell you how to understand these things, I can only tell you to go inwards, to understand many things. You have the answers within yourselves, but unfortunately very few of you do so. I know you find it difficult and again, here we come to 'Why, why, why?' (Yes) 'Why should this young person suffer so?' You do not know it does not suffer. The soul is in full command of its own existence. It has pre-knowledge of what HAS TO BE.

Les: That answers another question that I have been asked. A lady here, had a daughter who in our terms had a miscarriage and we know that the child has been nurtured in your world and has returned to say she is quite happy now. She would have liked to have grown up a little on this Earth, but knew that she would not be able to. So the answer is then that that soul knew, that she would not be able to stay, in spite of the physical wanting to?

That child—you have to again look at the spiritual aspect, the wider knowledge. The child who came had reached the point of knowledge, of the child-parent relationship, there was no need for the child to be born. You have to understand, do not think of the soul as a child, try to see it as the soul, as that very aspect of life itself. It needed the experience only, of being within the womb of the mother, to have that union with the parents. And so, the experience was what was needed. In this case, it was for the soul of the child.

Les: So again, we come back to thinking of the spiritual, rather than the physical?

You have to remember the contract would have been made between all three souls, at one time. They may not remember it, but that is what would have happened.

Les: Between the child and the two parents?

Yes. It would have been a contract made between the three of them. Nothing in your world happens accidentally. The soul always knows the pathway which is ahead of it.

Les: Thank you, so that answers that one then. It may not be within the province of your teaching, but it is something which is of very great concern to this Earth now and that is what is called 'Mad Cow Disease', where the animal's brain is infected, and in turn results in the limbs being affected and the death of the animal. It is now thought that that virus, can be transmitted to humans and there is a lot of argument for and against. Are you able to say whether in fact it can be transmitted to humans?

I will say only this: When you speak of virus's you are speaking of something which belongs to your earthly plane. It is not something which stands apart from all other things. As you humans belong to the Earth, as do the trees, the flowers, the seas, the lands, so too do your viruses, so do all things belong as ONE. I will say to you only this: Mankind for too long, has interfered with the Laws of Nature—for too long has mankind presumed to be on a higher level of knowledge. Let me say to you, my good friends, that is not so. So I will say this to you: This virus you speak of within your country at this time, is capable of being—(Pause—voice alters, like another aspect of Salumet is taking over.) There are within all of you, within your physiological structures, many aspects that you do not fully understand. A virus is not something to be placed low within your list of what is important, it is part of your earthly plan, that it belongs to the structure of all life. It can be transmitted to you humans, but I will say this to you, we do not see that it will be as great a problem, as you seem to think it will be. In those peoples it has created illness, there has been a susceptibility to it. But of course, when mankind has interfered, there has to be reactions to it.

Les: Thank you very much for that answer. I apologise for having asked you, be I know it's not within your province of teaching, but it is of such great concern to so many people.

I will say, your scientists, your scientists are responsible for too much that is happening within your world. They must make the decisions to forgo whatever they find. (Pause/very faint) Mankind will not be allowed to destroy, he will not be allowed to continue in the pattern that he has created within your world. (Voice fading—deeper breathing) This disease is one of many which will afflict mankind, until such time, as mankind realises his folly.

Les: Thank you very much.

The Love of the universe stays with you.

Les: And our love to you.

A lovely cheeky one followed through Eileen, bringing a connection to Leslie, from someone called Agnes, to finish the evening on a light note.

~1st April 1996~

Les: Hello to you again, I'm very pleased to say we have a full complement of peoples for you tonight.

Good evening.

All: Good evening

I thank you for your words.

Les: Well we do look upon ourselves as pupils.

I am honoured that you should feel this.

Les: I think we all agree on that don't we? (Enthusiastic agreement)

But of course, although I come to you, to try to instruct you on many things, I firstly feel that we have become close, close enough for us to become friends. (Enthusiastic agreements)

Les: We are indeed friends and we're honoured to call you ours.

It is good that all have gathered this time. I know because of your lifestyles, that it is not always possible. So when we have all together, it brings so much more to these meetings.

Les: Yes, it's much more energy you're able to use, isn't it too?

The energies can be utilised more. I know this is something you do not fully understand, the usage of what we term energy.

Les: Know we don't fully understand it.

But if you can imagine yourselves as individual beacons of light, to come together produces such huge light; that is simplifying what happens, when you all gather together, you understand?

Les: Yes, it's a coalescence of all the lights, isn't it?

Yes, so as the light collects together, so it can be used and can shine forth further, within the universe. Because there is much gathering of energy here this time, it would seem sensible that we make use of it, do you not agree? (Agreed)

Les: Whatever you feel desirable.

Therefore I will speak for a short time only, thus enabling those others who stand close by, to come to use others and to see what they can achieve amongst you, because you know there is much more that has to be achieved within this group of people.

Les: Yes we are all very glad to know that and we look forward to helping in whichever way you advise.

I come only to help you all. Therefore we must take the opportunity when presented to us. But let me say this time only a few words to you: I know that there are amongst you, some who would desire to do more. I have spoken about it before, I tell you once more, that each and every one of you is so important to these meetings. All of you are producing your own energies, your own Divine Sparks, which create reality. Therefore in joining together, you make happen what we are trying to achieve. So my friends, I would like each of you, to find that importance within yourselves, to say I am contributing to the whole; in that way, truly you will become as ONE. You understand?

Les: Yes, yes it will be a unified effort, won't it?

It has to be so. We do not want separateness, because that would not achieve what is needed here; it would nullify the work that we have already done. So all of you must feel, I hope I use the correct term, 'Important.' By that I do not mean that the ego must come forward.

Les: No, we quite understand.

But you are important to the work here.

Les: Yes I have said before that I consider myself to be extremely lucky, that I'm able to be in such a unified group, because ALL work for each other.

Of course, it is natural that there will be doubts sometimes amongst you. Here again we speak about your Thoughts, and how you must train them, to achieve all within your lives, because you see, by doing so you are achieving what you have come here for. I hear so often from you, 'What is it about?'

‘What is it about?’ My dear friends, if still that question is within your mind then the time has come to change the thought patterns. You understand?

Les: Yes, I don’t think any of us ought to be wondering, only accepting now.

I have to say there are a few doubts, I will not individualise now, but there are a few amongst you, but it is of not too great a concern, it will alter, but I wanted to verbalise and bring it into the open.

Les: Yes, a very good idea.

So that they can understand how important they also are, to the whole scheme, the whole plan, of what is to come.

Les: So it behoves us all just to have complete and absolute acceptance, without wanting to know the reason for why these things are happening?

I would not say ‘absolute acceptance,’ I would differ with your words. What I would say is this: Question, question if you must, find what suits you, but when you have analysed those doubts, then put them where they belong and go forward, there is a slight difference.

Les: Oh I would agree absolutely; I quoted merely because that is where I have arrived now, after having gone through the period of doubting and questioning.

Yes, it is not something to be ashamed of, in fact I would encourage questions, but not serious self-doubt, that is the problem, self-doubt; that is what I speak of. So dear friends, know that we are close by, know that we uphold you, uplift you, that we are in your daily lives, to encourage and sustain you. (Thank you.) Now I would say to you, let us see what can be achieved.

Les: Yes certainly and before you withdraw, I’d like to thank you for your visit the other evening, if it was in fact you, using the other instrument?

I have to say no—please speak, please speak—

Les: The other evening, when I had two instruments here, it was thought by one of them, that you were speaking through her.

I have to say no.

Les: Yes I rather suspected that, which is why I questioned.

Ah—Let us talk a little, because this troubles me so. What was said please?

Les: I don’t think much was said at all, it was just thought that it was you—whether it was wishful thinking?

Let me say this to you dear friend: For long time I have waited to come to the correct peoples, to be within this group. I have told you from the beginning, that I was not one unit. But in saying this, only one aspect of me returns. I would say to you now, please take heed, that outside of these meetings, I will not speak. I may use instruments within this group, but not outside, not yet anyway.

Les: No, I was a bit concerned about it, that’s why I questioned, thank you for answering.

I hope it will not dismay instruments being used, but sometimes the subconscious mind can interfere.

Les: This is what I thought it might be.

I hope this has helped you?

Les: Yes it has, I shan’t mention it.

No, no need, but please be assured that I will not speak outside of this group.

Les: Thank you, now I shall know how to deal with it, if it should occur again. I don’t think it was any wish to deceive, but as you say the subconscious probably was operating on a wishful nature.

It is not something that you should be harsh about, because all instruments sometimes have doubts and allow the subconscious to raise to the surface unknowingly, unknowingly. They do not mean harm and of course it would be nothing sinister of course, because here within these walls, you may well know, all are protected. Do not be concerned about it, but accept that I was not here.

Les: Thank you—that is all I wanted to know really, I shall not raise the subject at all, thank you.

(Thanks + farewells)

The rest of the evening was devoted to the development of other mediums. An attempt was made via one through Sue, to help with Joy’s automatic writing. There was also a blacksmith from 1890, through Sarah, with a lengthy chat about life then and what they are doing now.

~8th April 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

This time, I will speak for a short time, because there are other things to do to this time.

Les: Yes thank you, we have been told, you wish a candle to be lit and all people to group around it.

As I leave you, there will be one who comes to tell you how this evening will be directed.

Les: Thank you very much. It will be interesting.

Now, if I may, I would like to address some of your thoughts and fears that have come to me. I hear sometimes, 'Why are there not more names, more times given, when peoples communicate with you?' I know this is a question which is addressed throughout your world, to many instruments that we use. Let me say this to you, my dear friends: Dates and names, the significance of them, is usually ephemeral. Therefore they do not become well remembered within the personality, amongst the personal components of that personality. That is why so many cannot remember. It is insignificant to what they try to bring back to you, do you understand?

Les: Yes I agree the name is insignificant. I use it merely as a courtesy matter to address them, that's all, when I ask for it.

Of course, in some cases names and dates have some importance, only in as much that an impact has been made upon the personality, as they leave this Earth plane. Then you will be given dates and names, not because they are important, but because it is part of the memory that has been retained. You understand?

Les: I see, yes I do thank you.

Now I wish to say just a few words about some of your fears. I say to you dear friends:

Do not fear solitude, because you are never friendless. Do not fear becoming old, because each experience in age, brings wisdom. Do not fear death, because you see, yonder the great divide between this world and ours, because your love and your memory of home, becomes so much more vivid. Do not fear these things, because always you gain much from them. You understand?

Les: Yes I think everybody understands, don't they? (Affirmed)

I know these fears sometimes take hold, but you must use your thoughts to stop this happening and push them to one side. Do not allow your fears to become destructive, because you see my good friends, what is there to fear? After all, when you know that life continues—

Les: I agree there is nothing to fear, it is just the retarding of the physical brain all the time, which has to be got rid of.

Your own physical brain clings to in this lifetime, as in many others, to the very fears, to the thing that you fear most. You need, and I hope you will this time, break free of all of these fears, that when the time comes that you join us on this side of life, that you will let go with love in your hearts, that you accept that the time is right for you to return home. I will endeavour to help you all when your time comes, and you know that the time is far distant for you. But I feel that sometimes you allow negative these thoughts to creep into your consciousness.

Les: I think perhaps sometimes our thoughts might be not so much that we fear dying, possibly we fear a painful death.

Yes, I understand, but again I say to you, with the power of your thought, there should be no fear of pain. You can dissipate your own pain. I know you find this hard to believe, but we have spoken briefly about this.

Les: Yes we have.

How do you think the peoples in your world who tread upon the fires, can do so without pain? How do you imagine this to be achieved?

Les: By thought, I imagine.

So I say to you, now is the time for you all to concentrate on your physical being. Develop that power of thought. Next time you have small pain, try—try to see it, to allow it to go with love. Please try it my friends, you will be amazed what practice can do. I will not say you will achieve it instantly, but within you all, you have the power of the spirit, which will in this lifetime, become more powerful from within.

You understand? (Very faint recording)

Les: Yes, thank you for that, I think we all shall be trying hard.

Mankind really should know—(Of these things?—recording faint)

Les: Yes, so you have said in the past.

It is not good to have fear, but because there has been much travelling down from your side throughout time, it seems that within your world, it almost has become the expected thing and it should not be so.

Les: It's encouraging anyway for us to work upon and we thank you for it.

Now I think, unless you have question, I will leave you, to allow those who wish to work with you this time, to come forward. Each one of you should experience something this time, if only you will open up your hearts and minds.

Les: Yes, I do have one question if I might? It is a question which was put to me. I answered it I think correctly, but I would like your information on it: On this Earth as you well know, there are many people with psychic ability, who use that ability to tell the future or 'tell fortunes,' as it is said here and charge often quite a lot of money for it. My questioner couldn't understand why information from your world is allowed to be given to such people here? Why it is not stopped and prevented, because it appears that it is being used in the wrong way.

I understand the question, thank you. We know that you all have what you call in this world, 'psychic ability.' You all are capable of it, but some to a greater degree. Let me say this to you: Because they use these abilities that is not wrong, it is an inherent part of their being. They cannot change it, any more than you can change the stage of development at which you are at. You understand?

Les: Yes we do.

We come again to your free will. All of you have been endowed with it. How you use these gifts, as you call them, how you deal with them and use them, must be accounted for when the time comes for them to come to our world. If they have been misused and abused, then of course, the consequences must follow here; it is as simple as that. You cannot say, 'Why is this allowed/why is that not allowed'—you begin to personify that Great Divine Creator—you begin to personify that Great Universal Love, which after all is not a person. You do not have someone who says, 'You can do this, you cannot do this.' That is not how the information is given. It is an inherent ability, within each of you, to be used as you so desire. You understand?

Les: Yes, and I thank you for the answer. It is the answer I gave to the questioner actually, that the misuse would have to be paid for or compensated for, in due course.

All of you understand within your spiritual selves, what is right and what is not. Whether you use it for right or for wrong, is entirely up to you.

Les: Yes, I did explain to the questioner, that if it was a case of having to drop something else, in order to do the work, then it is justifiable to charge a certain amount of money, just to support the physical being, but not to charge in excess. Again it is a case of using free will honestly.

It has to do with the motive behind the thought, that is what is important, the motive. I would not say that it matters too much, when it comes to monetary things, if the motive behind is good, provided they are not trying to cheat their fellow man, then there is nothing wrong with making a charge.

Les: No, thank you.

You must always look deeper into these matters. It saddens me so sometimes, when we hear people say, we know it comes from ignorance, when people say, 'Why does God allow this, why does God not do that?' You must move away from these restrictive ways of thinking.

Les: Yes of course.

I know it is hard for you to grasp sometimes, but to work upon it, to allow your minds to expand—(Recording inaudible)

Les: Yes one has to look to motive all the time, as you have said before. Thank you very much.

Now I will leave you this time—

Salumet then gave a blessing, but the recording was faded/unclear.

One then came through Sue explaining that this evening was a sort of practice/experiment for next week, when conditions would be better. We started by lighting a candle and placed it in the middle of the room and two ladies and two gentlemen held hands (fingertips) around it, opening hearts and minds, to whatever came. One later came through Eileen and gave further instructions/guidance, as to what they should be feeling/experiencing. Much of the discussion focused on what was seen, regarding the flame.

Salumet arranged a guest speaker to come through Eileen this time—a former monarch, known in the history books as Catherine the Great—audio link: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RAeKbGzaudA>
Your silence and expectation is commendable. I am so pleased to be here with you.

Les: We're certainly very pleased to welcome you and we appreciate your coming to talk to us.

I have to admit to you that all at this particular moment in time does seem confusing. But hopefully it should clear and I will be able to give you the information that I intended to give. I was not prepared for this confusion of thought, on entering this life.

Les: No I understand that it is very confusing for the first few moments, when one returns to the physical. I'm also told that it does clear itself, as the voice continues to be used.

Yes, I am happy with the instrument, but it is like swimming through a sea of fog, at this moment.

Les: Yes, it must be very difficult for you—

But I will try to recall, if you will bear with me.

Les: Certainly. I was going to ask if there was anything in particular you would like each of us to concentrate on, to assist you, to clear the confusion?

I ask only for your love please.

Les: Right, well we can certainly give you that.

It is strange to be touching such rough material.

Les: Yes I suppose it must be rough to you now.

Yes, it is not unpleasant, but strange. I was not prepared for it, so please bear with me and we will begin our conversations shortly.

Les: Yes, we are quite happy to go along with whatever you wish.

I am also trying to adjust the voice, because I know it is not how I would wish it to be.

Les: No, it is quite clear, incidentally.

If you are happy with it, then we could continue.

Les: Yes we are quite happy, you're speaking very clearly.

Then do you know why I have been sent to you?

Les: No we don't. Salumet said that we would have somebody coming, who we would find to be very interesting. That's all he did say.

I am deeply touched that those words should have been used about me. But of course the reason behind my returning is the teaching that you have received—that I am in fact a 'cut of,' of the personality, of the whole, which is returning in different time and different body.

Les: Yes Salumet has explained something of that to us.

It is not that we wish to impress, but that we wish to give details. We do not need to give you evidence, of life after your so-called death. That is not why we return, because you have gone further than that. So the reason behind this return visit, is to show you that the personality can cut itself off from the whole, and make a return.

Les: Yes, thank you.

I will try to bring forward some facts, as you may bring to memory and help you to recognise who I am.

Les: Good. You probably are aware that we do record everything that is said?

I am not familiar with your recording machines, but I have been told of this.

Les: It means that we can listen to it as many times as we wish afterwards and this is why we so appreciate you and your colleagues, taking the trouble to talk to us, because it's of great interest to us and assists enormously in our learning.

Let me say to you all it is good to be amongst an audience once again. This happened many times, in the lifetime, which I have come to speak to you about. It was quite normal for me and I accepted it too easily, as being the norm. So once again to be amongst a group of people, does indeed seem strange, because of course, as I have gone on in this side of life, I know how unnecessary this was. But of course, it was my life's plane, at that particular time and I do accept it now.

Les: I understand.

Firstly, I would like to give you my name, although I do realise that you probably will not recognise it. I was known as Sophie Auguste Friederike.

Les: Really, thank you, I DO recognise it.

You do?

Les: Yes I've heard it.

But of course to others throughout the world, I would have been better known as Catherine. But I have to say here and now, I always objected to changing my name. And always I was known as Sophia, when I came to this side of life. I rather resented the intrusion on my birth name, but being a young woman, I had no say in these matters of state.

Les: No unfortunately in your time, that was so, wasn't it?

Indeed it was and of course I was a young snip-of-a-girl, and did not dare to speak out.

Les: No, I imagine you do very differently now, where you are now?

This is what I come to tell you. All of your life's troubles does not mean so much, when you come to the larger side of life. Everything comes into perspective; you see your life's plan, you see the pitfalls and you see the good points of it all and of course you learn from your many lives. You understand this of course.

Les: Yes we do.

I have been instructed that you have been told much. So an evening of this kind I believe, is light-hearted for you?

Les: I find it very interesting nevertheless, particularly when somebody such as yourself comes to speak to us.

I had much to regret when I left this life, or at least the life I am speaking of, because in your yearly terms, many years have gone by. But I speak only of this time, in order that you can make recognition, for yourselves and to understand that time is of the least importance, when it comes to the continuity of your lives.

Les: Yes, this we are beginning to understand. Incidentally, if I might say, your voice is now very much clearer, I hope the confusion has lessened?

It is clearing. We were hoping that the control would have been greater this time, but we must always work with what we have.

Les: Yes I understand, thank you.

It is strange how these things become misty. You would assume that all would be natural in memory, but it is not so. I am recalling just a few times, of this lifetime, which I can tell you about. They obviously made a great impact in my life, when I lived here. So may I tell you a little?

Les: Please do!—you undoubtedly are aware of the intense silence—everybody's anxious to hear you.

My childhood was mainly uneventful. I believe I was a loved child, but my mother had great promises made for me. Her ideal was to see me married well. So this is how my name came to be changed, much to my annoyance at the time. The decision in my life, was made firstly in 1744—this is the time we go back to, because this is my first strong memory. When I was taken from my homeland, small duchy from Germany, influenced I might say, by Frederic, who was a strong powerful man at the time—I was transported by my mother to Russia. I have to tell you, I was terrified at the prospect. I was a petite young woman, aged only 15 of her years. Can you imagine what it must have felt like, to be transported from one's homeland and bosom of your family, to be confronted by a woman so strong, so powerful, that not one word was uttered in her presence?

Les: That was Irena?

The empress. I have to tell you, she was not unkind to me, but also she did not show affection either. To one so young, it was indeed disturbing, and distressing.

Les: I can imagine. Why did they take you there?

Because I was to become betrothed to the empress's nephew.

Les: I see, thank you. It must have been a ghastly experience for you.

I was instructed in Russian language, which I have to say at that time distressed me. I was instructed in the orthodox religion, I was instructed in the court ways—in so many things in such a short space of time. Also my name was changed to Catherine and I was betrothed to Peter. He was a thin gangly pock-marked young boy, only one year older than I, but I would happily have joined him with love, if only he could have shown me some affection, but that was never to be. The memory now distresses me, when I think back to the love I left behind, within my own family background.

Les: Were you never able to visit your family?

My mother stayed with me and frequently wrote back to my father all progress made, but I was so unhappy. But I could never show it, because of course I was constantly told how great an honour was being bestowed upon me, that one day I would become a great lady. I never wanted that, but fate and circumstances were due to bring me just that. I am speaking to you now, about the human element of this woman; I am speaking to you about the feelings within her heart that were never spoken aloud at the time, because she was a woman so young in age, she was TERRIFIED to say one word out of place. (Yes) The next memory that comes to me, is of the marriage ceremony. I was taken to the empress's home, where she took charge to dress me, to bejewel me, to instruct me. And so both Peter and I were transported to the great cathedral, to the 'Virgin of Kassam.' I remember thinking how appropriate that name was and how terrified I was to become the wife of this 17 year old boy.

Les: We can quite understand it must have been a terrible experience for you.

The cathedral was beautiful, and will always be imprinted on my memory. It took several hours, of course I don't know how much you know of the Russian courts in those days, but such a wedding, was indeed spectacular. We returned to banquet and feast. Can you imagine SO much food, but the worst part for me, was the obligation to dance with so many old noblemen.

Les: Really?

I was horrified. Even now I can feel myself quake from this old memory.

Les: Are you not able to clear these old memories and give yourself peace of mind?

Of course, they have been gone through, it is only the return to this physical world, which brings with it, not only the memories, but the pain of them.

Les: I see.

Of course they have gone, when I leave here they will be gone forever. (Voice faint)

Les: They'll be gone forever? Good.

I only bring them to you, to bring some authenticity to my memory.

Les: Thank you.

I am not in pain now, you understand?

Les: We're pleased to hear that.

But the memory is so strong.

Les: I asked the question, because we did have a communicator, from an earlier age than yours even, who told us that her visit enabled her to clear her mind completely, of the traumas she had suffered, and we were hoping that this might be the case with you as well?

No, I have none of those problems, I fully accepted when I came to this side of life, I knew what I had done, what I had done wrong and I knew what had to be done. There are many memories within a lifetime, which have to be faced up to.

Les: I see.

And I will tell you now, because it took me many, many of your years' time, to fully accept what I had done. Although I did not actually raise my own hand, I was responsible for Peter's death.

Les: Were you?

Of course, those in court circles saw me distressed when the news came, but I knew in my heart that is what his fate would be. You see by then, I had become a worshipped lady throughout the lands. The people wanted me to rule, because Peter was a weak and infantile man and I have to say his mind was not fully there. He was subject to many stormy outbursts and he did not please the people, because he was in favour of Frederick, who was a powerful—in Peter's mind, 'ally.' And all the Russian people, they could see that he could not be a good and strong ruler. Do you see, the power came to me, without even my soul wishing or desiring it to begin with? (Yes) But once, ONCE you have the adrenaline flowing through your veins, once you have the feel of the POWER and the adoration of your peoples, then your life can take a turn for the worse.

Les: Yes, I quite follow you.

This I had to face up to. I had MUCH to face up to.

Les: I'm sure you did.

But he was an unfeeling and unloving young man, but I was a warm-hearted, pretty young woman, who desired the love of a man. I do not deny this, neither do I feel grief about it, because circumstance you see, dictated always that I find love. I have to say and I must say to you, that it is not well known or understood, that Peter fully accepted our child as his own. In fact, my three children belonged to different men, this I am not sorry for, because I loved each and every one of them. But I have to say, if life could have been different, I would have chosen another pathway.

Les: Yes. You didn't wish for the power that was thrust on you.

I did not and when I looked back over that lifetime, I could see I had done much good. For the people close by, I had fond memories and not least my own son. And that was my parting memory and one which caused me continuous grief for a long time, because although my peoples called me, 'Catherine the Great,' to my own son I was neither a good mother, nor heroine. He despised me, because you see he always believed Peter to be his true father. So on my death, he instructed that Peter's remains be dug up and that both of us would go together. And he instructed (Spoken with tears/unclear/faint on recording) Alex's father to carry both of us also—if only he had known that Alexis was the father (of my loved one?) he would indeed have been shocked. You cannot imagine what it was like to watch this from this side of life and to be unable to comfort him?

Les: It must have been a terrible time for you.

It was, but it opened my eyes to what I had to accept.

Les: But I believe I am right in saying that though you didn't wish to have the power that you did have, in the main you used it for the benefit of your people?

My peoples were so glad, because as I have said, Peter would have sided with Frederick of Prussia and he (Frederick) would have eventually turned against us, but he could not see this. He was a simple man, with little strength, little true knowledge, and so I had to take control, not only for the peoples, but for the future of Russia. I have since spoken with Peter, who has told me he also was afraid and we were both so young. He also was like a little boy. All he wanted to do was to play with his soldiers, in his gardens, with his toys. He was not ready for manhood, to rule a great country, or to take a wife. These things also came to him—you have to understand that in those times, you had no say in what your fate was to be.

Les: No, but it would seem it was necessary for you to take the part you did in that life, because of Peter's short-comings.

I understand that now, it is the one thing I have accepted. I reigned for 34 years, of your time and I do say to you, most of them were good. I developed from a petite soft young woman, into a woman of strength, of knowledge, capable of great love. And to say I truly loved the first man, I had my first child with—there was no one to match him, but he was sent away, for diplomatic purposes, because of the rumours it caused.

Les: I see, so that happiness was taken from you also?

I know now, it was this that made me strong. I then looked to guiding my son and to trying to influence Peter, who ignored me and had no love for me at all. And he also could see that he too was at fault, but he was simple in his mind and at times very destructive with his words, though all was forgiven at the time. And I have to say that since that lifetime, my heart has been heavy, not only for what has happened in Russia, but in my homeland of Germany. But I think I would be right in telling you that the nations of your world, are becoming much more sensible, that they are beginning to recognise that love for all mankind.

Les: Yes they are beginning to realise that, it's a slow process, but it's beginning, and for that we must be grateful.

I do believe I must depart now. I think there will be someone else to speak to you, via another. I thank you for allowing this time, I thank you for the opportunity of memory, I thank you and I say to you all: Love one another as you would those closest to you. Know that all in your lives can be good, if you so desire.

Les: We all hope that you can attain happiness, or retain happiness now, isn't that possible for you?

I am happy, I am happy. I do this only because it is instructive for you. All my memories have disappeared in the life that I now lead. I am only a small fragment of that life which exists now.

Les: Well we do thank you for having come here tonight and for what you've told us. We can only say that our full love goes with you.

(Very faint—as she withdraws, she seems to refer to her first love once more)

I did love Sergey, I did. I loved him from the very first part of my being—he was a truly great man and he deserved the title 'great,' not Peter, not Peter, not Peter.

Les: Thank you very much, God bless you.

One then came through Eileen briefly, a humorous one, probably helping Eileen to return, before another came through Sue:

Forgive the delay here, but this one was connected with the one who has spoken here and the channel is not quite clear. I come just now to close for you and to ask whether this evening was a pleasure for you all. (Enthusiastic agreement)

Les: It was a wonderful experience!

I would suggest for those of an enquiring mind, that they read some of the books available to them and that they corroborate some of the information which was forthcoming this time.

Les: Yes I'm sure that will be done. I for one will do it.

Please, there may be small errors in time, but this you can imagine. The memory sometimes falters, but let me say to you, that you have been honoured to have part of the Great Spirit amongst you this evening.

Les: Thank you very much. Yes we do feel honoured every time someone like her comes to speak to us, because we can imagine how difficult it can be for them, which is why we appreciate it so much.

This one has been waiting for the opportunity to tell part of her life of that time.

Les: And does it hurt them, when they have told it like that?

Yes, it was said to you the memories were returned for you and not to cleanse the soul, that part had been achieved many, many of your years ago.

Les: I'm glad of that.

She came purely to speak and bring you information which you would have found of interest.

—Instructions were then given regarding another guest who wished to come next week, but who needed absolute darkness. Finally one through Eileen gave a brief message for Sarah, before the evening came to a close.

~6th May 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

It gladdens me to be amongst you once more.

Les: Thank you. I should say that last week we were asked if we would sit in the dark. I said yes we are quite prepared to do that, but since we are short in numbers tonight, because we have another annoying holiday period, I wondered whether you'd want that done or not? I can quite easily extinguish all the light, if you wish?

It would be much better, if you will wait until we have all of you together.

Les: I thought that might be so, thank you.

It always benefits the work to be done, if all are present.

Les: Yes, you have explained that to us several times. That's why I thought it might be so tonight.

Yes, you see the instrument who uses words, must be present for that occasion. It is unnecessary for me to go into details about this, but it would be better.

Les: Yes, we quite accept that, thank you.

I would like to begin this time, by speaking to the lady that we know as Margaret. I hope that she has been aware of my presence with her—

Margaret: Yes I have.

—because she has been in need of some help and upliftment. (Thank you.) I am happy that she has felt this to be so. Do not be concerned—happier days will be with you soon.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

Now, I know you all probably want some questions this time, but I wish to speak to you dear friend and say also, that there is one with us, who has the desire to use you for speaking. You should have been aware of him around you sometimes. But because he comes to you in your sleep state, you possibly do not remember.

Les: I must say I don't remember particularly.

It would be our desire, if you agree, that he try to use you for words this time. You will be fully protected and we will ask the lady who sits close by, to help with your return. Are you happy to do this?

Les: Certainly, yes of course, quite happy.

His desire and need is great, but he fully understands, if you do not wish to be used.

Les: No I wouldn't dream of refusing, I should be very pleased if he does wish to use me, I shall be very pleased to help in any way I can.

Can we then say that a little later, you retire to the chair and allow him to come to you? (Yes) We thank you for this.

Les: It's my pleasure to be able to help.

This one can bring you great knowledge also. (Thank you.) I want to say I little about the subject of energy, which I mentioned to you last time.

Les: Yes we shall be very pleased to hear about that.

I think that this subject is so important to you all, that it too would be beneficial if all of your members were present together. For that reason, we will leave it until then.

Les: Yes of course, we are always quite happy to be guided by you in these matters.

Now, do we have questions this time?

Les: Yes, if I might begin as usual: I have always been concerned about evolution in the animal kingdom—mainly the animal kingdom. You have told us that there are intelligences, who have the responsibility for overseeing all aspects of natural life. I've often been puzzled, when we consider the theory of evolution, how it is that species have evolved, because there must be a time, particularly when there is a considerable evolving, when the animal in question is neither one thing, nor another—I think that is fairly self-explanatory, if we think about it. An animal that took to the seas from land; there must have been a time, when it was neither sea animal nor land animal. Does that evolution extend over many centuries, or do those intelligences responsible for that particular animal, are they able to in effect, make an instant change in its characteristics? Or do they decide what is going to happen to it, in respect of its evolution? I'm sorry it's such a long question, I think you'll understand it.

I understand fully my friend. It is a complex issue, of that you know. But I have said there are intelligences, for all forms of life. Nature 'provides,' this has to be so. When you speak of 'intelligences,' and can they bring forward evolution as you put it, in a way this could be interference, so we cannot allow this to be so. Evolution takes place, within the natural order of life. So you talk of much time, much time of evolvement. The intelligence that we speak of, involved with all forms of life, are there for support, not to interfere in change or growth. I think you will know more, when we speak of energy, I think the explanation will become clearer to you, because of course, this subject is encased within the world of energy.

Les: Yes of course.

I have to say about evolution, as a mass subject, that much has been spoken, but not always quite correct; although your scientists have been moving in the right direction, within the last few hundred years—but not quite so. But hopefully all will be explained more clearly to you, when we speak about the subject of energy, because after all, all life-form is energy. You understand?

Les: Yes I can quite understand that.

So you see, each—how can we put it, each stage of evolution, is in fact a change of energy.

Les: So a change could be immediate, could it?

No, no, no.

Les: No, this is what puzzles me.

Yes, no, that would be a form, a form of interference—that cannot be so.

Les: Yes I can understand that.

It does not follow the natural laws to do so. But we will return to that when we speak about energy.

Les: Good, thank you I'd like to have clarification of it.

Yes, it is a complex issue, which can be clarified to you, in simplistic terms.

Les: Thank you very much. I've puzzled about it for a very long time.

That is why it has taken so long for the subject to come to the fore, because it is a puzzlement to mankind.

Les: Yes and as I say, some of the concepts which have been published, are far too glib, for me to accept them.

Remember always, that throughout your earthly history, mankind has changed what he finds to be—and changes his mind so often, to suit himself.

Les: Yes, you're right there. (Chuckles)

But that is not to say it is a fault of mankind. It is part of his seeking, part of his search for knowledge. So, there is nothing wrong with that, but we will return my friend and we will clarify this situation.

Les: Thank you that would be most interesting.

But it does fall within the energy, which we wish to speak about.

Les: But you have cleared one major point, which bothered me, that is the intelligences responsible for these particular aspects of life, have to be confined by the natural laws in any case, and can't interfere. So they can't make a decision, which would alter an animal, bird or fish.

It has to be within the natural law—that cannot be altered.

Les: That certainly clarifies that question in my mind, thank you very much. We all look forward to hearing about energy, when it's convenient for you to do so.

Yes, we will return, it is an important issue, an issue which we must to go, to try to clear some of the facts that have been placed before you.

Les: That would be very interesting—thank you Salumet.

All I will say about energy, it is the basic life-force, of all things.

Les: Yes I think we all accept that much more realistically now, than we could do, when you first began speaking to us.

Yes it will help you to understand, how this evolution has taken place, in your world, not only in your world, but in others.

Les: Yes, that's another subject which interests us all, the existence of other worlds. We hope to have more information about that in due course too. (Yes) We're very greedy for information. (Chuckle)

I fully understand and I thank you all dear friends, for your patience, in waiting for the knowledge that is coming to you. But don't you say upon your Earth, that all good things come to those who wait? (Cheerful agreement) I believe that is one of your earthly sayings?

Les: Yes you're perfectly right in that.

So, bare this in mind please and we will take many steps forward together.

Les: Good that's lovely to know and we do all thank you. Now, other questions anybody?

George: Can I add to that, one our modern philosophers David Bohm, he talks in relation to changes in animal species. He talks about what he calls an 'Implicit Order,' as being a non-material realm, which is in resonance with the forms in our material world and he talks of the changes in species, as arising from that energy resonance. Would that line of thought, shed any light on our understanding?

Yes, that will be encompassed within the talk about energy. This one you speak about, is on the right tracks I must tell you, when he speaks about this subject and yes we will encompass is within our talk. But yes, I would say he is mostly correct, in what I would say is his theorising, at this particular time. But he certainly is taking the right steps forward in his thinking.

George: Thank you I'm pleased to hear that. I felt he might be on the right track. (Yes)

Les: Another question anybody?

George: I have one more: We have talked about stone circles and about energy to some extent, but I have been studying lately, the place 'Avebury,' which is rather more than a stone circle. I rather think it might be an ancient temple, built into the landscape and it seems to be surrounded by white horses cut into the hillside and many tumuli. It seems quite a remarkable place and it is almost at the centre of a large ley-line, which runs right across the country. You have said before that the stone circles connect with energy. I fancy that this is a rather special place—can you enlarge on that at all?

I will my friend. I would not term it a 'special place,' because throughout your world, there are many of these places—some as yet unknown, as I have previously told you. But of course, these energy lines, as you call them, 'ley-lines' are part of the Earth's energy pattern. This is well known within your world now, so I do not wish to term any one particular place as 'special,' because you see, it is part of your Earth's pattern. There is no one particular spot upon your Earth, which is so special. Can you understand?

George: Yes I follow.

Although I see your meaning in saying about it being on these ley-lines, as you call them. There was meaning within the minds of the people of the times, when these stones were erected and we have spoken of them before. (Yes) But again I will say your understanding will be a little fuller, when we discuss energy.

George: I see. That place was 'thought' to be special at the time—

I know many of these places are within your human minds, thought of as special, but I can tell you now, please do not think of them as special places, they are natural occurrences within your world. I hope that has helped you.

George: Thank you, yes it has.

Les: On the subject of resonance's and energies, I think I'd be right in saying that in the times when the Bible was written, approximately 2000 years ago, there were many wise people, who knew much more about fields of energy, that we do nowadays and it was that knowledge that enabled the walls of Jericho to be demolished. It wasn't just the blowing of trumpets I believe, it was a particular resonance produced by those trumpets that produced the collapse of the walls, would I be right?

I think here we speak of stories within your Christian Bible, which in fact you should not take literally. I would disagree slightly in what you deem to be Truth, in this particular aspect of your history. But we will come back to that. You cannot associate all things as being used by peoples of knowledge, and this is one of them. Are you happy with that answer?

Les: Oh yes quite happy thanks, again it was something which puzzled me and in trying to find a logical answer, that was the only one I could presume to be the case—

Many of your ancient civilisations had greater knowledge—this also we have touched upon I believe. And their knowledge was far superior to that which you retain today; it has been lost through the civilisation and it is something that could be regained if you wish, but I'm afraid mankind has lost so much, which should be natural to him. It is not something strange, it is not something you that should pray for—it is something, all of these energies are within each and every one of you; they are there if you so desire to use them. All they need is your time and your development of them, to be able to be used. You understand?

Les: Yes we begin to understand. I think we can understand more, once we accept that though we don't understand energy, or the forces of energy, if we accept energy as being life, or the essence of life, if you wish to put it that way, we might get nearer to an understanding of energy.

I will say this to you, before I leave you to continue with other things, that your physicists today have made the analogy of the perfect form of energy, which my dear friends, is the human body. They have made the analogy with the cosmos, the universe—because you see, your body continues (To develop? tape inaudible)—so also does the cosmos continue (?) the planets, all activated by energy. So you see how simple and yet so complex is this energy?

Les: Most certainly.

But we will come to more explanations for you, as I have said.

Les: Thank you we look forward to that.

Now, if you wish, we will see if anyone would like to speak and then I would ask you dear friend, to sit quietly and allow the one, who wishes to use you—(To do so?)

Les: Certainly, thank you once again and God be with you.

There then followed one through Sarah, who Lilian talked with, while Les sat in readiness to be used.

There was then a pause for several minutes, before Les felt that the person attempting to use him was not for some reason able to do so.

At the end of the meeting, while we were drinking tea and the recording equipment had been switched off, a powerful guide came through Leslie, who advised us to try to forget the difference between physical and spirit. We should think rather of the two apparent conditions, being only ONE—one cannot exist without the other—the other cannot exist without the one. We should try to think of ourselves as just energy and this should eventually lead to us having a better understanding of the energies which encompass us and which are a part of us, as we are a part of those energies. In answer to a question from Eileen, as to whether the Great Creator was energy, the answer was 'Yes,' the Great Creator is energy. The communicator then admitted that even he did not have a complete understanding of the complexities. Remember that the energy of the Great Creator, also was created by energy.

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: Welcome once again and thank you for being with us.

It is good that I come when so many bring friendship and love. It helps my task no end.

Les: We are very pleased to know that. There always is love for you.

I hope that you have—all of you, felt in days gone by since last we met, an upliftment for you all.

Les: Yes I know I have. Have others felt it?

Margaret: Yes.

Les: Good, anybody else? Perhaps they don't recognise it, when they feel it.

George: I have felt it, yes.

The changes are subtle, so do not be concerned if it is not apparent to you. We know that we have given them and that you all have accepted.

Les: Yes, that's the important thing, thank you for telling us. It might make us more aware of the fact that we do receive it.

I wish to say to you, as your spring time turns to Summer time, then we can see the comparison with you all, that as new growth breaks forth, so too are each one of you, breaking new ground.

Les: Good, that's very pleasant news, thank you.

I came in on a vibration of love and I wish to say to you that the young lady who provided the music, which was playing and helped me on my arrival here, I wish to say just a few words about that one. (Sara was not present on this occasion)

Les: Yes please do.

There is much happening in her world at this present time and there is much to come, but she needs to slow down just a little. I would ask that those close to her, give her those words.

George: Yes I will, thank you.

Her energies, if she is not careful, can become depleted and we would not wish that, at this particular time in her life. So it is important that she take heed of my words.

Les: I'm sure she will, because she has, in addition to love for you, a great respect for what you tell us. I'm sure she will take heed of your words.

Let me say this: Although she does not join us here, she belongs with us here; she is one of you, whether she be here in body or not, I wish you to know this.

Les: Good, I'm sure she will be pleased to know it.

George: I'm sure she feels that.

Her life will be good, there is much coming to her, but she must take care of herself.

Les: Yes, we shall certainly make sure she has a copy of the words you've said, not by hearsay, but by listening to them.

That is good, because words do not always convey what I try to give. I also my friend, wish to say just a few words to you: We thank you for your continued work on our side of life, and since we met last, you have indeed been very busy.

Les: Yes I have been very busy here I know.

I do not speak of the earthly work, I speak of your work with us, on our side of life.

Les: Well I'm very pleased to know that.

Your awareness of this task will grow, I know you have felt it sometimes, but the knowledge will become stronger, the awareness will be greater and the opportunities become more.

Les: Thank you very much.

You do good work my friend, for the needy. You will not and cannot know how much, whilst you remain within these earthly clothes. But let me tell you, your work is admired by many in our world, your work is sought after by many in our world who are not allowed to do it, because they do not have the spirituality necessary. So my dear friend, you can justly feel proud of yourself.

Les: That's certainly very gratifying.

I do not say the words for the (those) reasons, but I have to tell you it is so, because I want you to understand that you belong in our side of life, as much as you belong here. You understand?

Les: I do, I've been telling people recently precisely that.

And as you gain earthly years, so the adjustment becomes much more—you spend a great deal of time on our side helping others, in a manner familiar to you on this side of life, but the capabilities are much more when you are with us.

Les: Yes I quite understand they would be and I'm very pleased that I'm able to be used like that in your world. I do look on it as a privilege.

Dear friend I say to you, remember you are an old soul. I cannot and would not say that to all or to many, but remember you have trodden many pathways, you have attained much and your achievements are good. And in this earthly frame now, we hope that your achievements will be rewarded, by work which should happen here and which you have waited long for.

Les: Thank you that really would be pleasant to have that.

Now because we have many, there is one with me who wishes to speak, who asked that you spend some time in darkness and they will explain to you why.

Les: Yes certainly.

Again, it is important that you all develop in your own individual styles. So we will take the opportunity presented to us.

Les: And one will be speaking through your instrument, in the darkness?

I wish to use this one quietly, there will be speech through another, who will instruct you as to why the darkness is needed.

Les: Thank you, right. There is just one thing I would like to speak to you about before you go. (Yes) I have had two ladies here, who both have had rather unpleasant childhoods and adolescence, and they have both in their own way, as they put it, been looking for 'The Truth.' Both I'm sure are very good people and have quite a lot of psychic ability. But one of them in particular has had her mind filled with nonsense, which has made her afraid of many things. I spent two hours talking with her a few evenings ago and I took the liberty to tell her to stop meditating as she has been, and to sit quietly and ask for your name to be of help to her. It was a liberty, because I hadn't asked you, but I hope it is permissible.

I am aware and I will do what I can and please do not feel as you do; I know that what you DO, is for good. When the intention is good, there can be nothing to say, you understand?

Les: Yes I do, I appreciate your agreement, because I was sure that if anyone could give her strength to overcome the fears that have been generated in her, you could do it.

There has to be a wiping clean of the slate with this one. We will help, but we ask that you continue with your words, because she also needs the physical contact, the physical reassurances, that all can be well.

Les: Yes they are both coming again, so I shall do whatever is necessary for them.

It may be that you need to be firm, your words need to be strong, but at the same time gentle, you understand?

Les: Yes I do understand.

We have here a child who is confused.

Les: She's very confused, you're quite right.

So although you must be strong, you must be gentle with her.

Les: Yes I'm sure we'll be that.

I will do what I can, but she has great potential that one.

Les: I thought she had, which was why I was anxious to give her the time, and clear her mind for her.

If she can purify the energies surrounding her, then she could be used for many things. But first we must take one step at a time.

Les: Absolutely. Well thank you very much for your help and I shall give her all the physical help possible and be gentle with her. Thank you very much again, may the Great Creator be with you, with our love too.

There then followed the expected guest through Sue:

I wish to speak to you.

Les: Yes thank you, we're all waiting for you to do just that. Our friend Salumet, told us to be in darkness.

Can you understand my words?

Les: Yes we can thank you.

I ask because this is not a tongue I am familiar with.

Les: No, you do use another channel regularly, do you?

Excuse me, I am referring to the language.

Les: I see, well thank you for using ours.

It is not possible to explain, but these words are being given to me, from another party on our side of life.

Les: Yes, we do understand this and we appreciate the great trouble you take, in order to speak to us. Am I right in thinking that the language that you used to use, or may still use, is not of our current usage, or even of our civilisation?

It is a tongue which has disappeared from your Earth, for many hundreds, even thousands of years. I will address you as 'Iyamedonga,' which means leader of men. You are indeed leader of men, indeed you are—‘Avacanadiva.’ I requested the darkness, because I cannot use the energies available, when there is light.

Les: Yes we quite understand that the physical destroys those energies which you must use. So we are quite happy to be in the darkness, so that we may hear you speak.

Normally we can adapt and use your instruments quite well in your light. We can use different power, different channels, and there are no ill effects. But myself coming from the realms that I do, it would be a problem to use this one.

Les: Yes we do understand.

I am led to believe that you are conversant with energy, you are aware of its importance, yes?

Les: Yes that is so. We don’t know enough about it of course, but we do know that there are many forms of energy, of which we have no knowledge yet; many forms which are used by you in your world beyond ours, which one day we shall be able to understand we hope. In the meantime, we accept that you are using these energies for our benefit and for our learning and we do thank you for that.

I am not going to speak of energy this time, but I was just making certain, you were aware of what surrounds you at this time.

Les: Yes we have learned a great deal about energy and that it encompasses all, day and night, every moment of living.

Living—Living is what I wish to speak to you briefly about this time; living, BREATHING the air that surrounds you, FEELING the air, FEELING the POWER. It is vital, VITAL for your existence in the coming life, that you can appreciate what is surrounding you. When you BREATHE, you are taking in the ESSENCE of LIFE. Can you understand?

Les: Yes we can, I think we are all quite aware of that, that though we don’t usually think of our breathing, if we do consider it, then it is in that respect, that the very air we breathe, contains the essence of all life.

And you must learn to BREATHE.

Les: We must learn to breathe?

You must learn to breathe; you hear me now, you hear the way I breathe? This is because I have come back into the physical realm, the physical air. But any one of us that returns, you can hear the breath they take, am I right? You understand?

Les: Yes you’re right, we do understand you.

In your healing, you can hear the LIFE being taken in by the healer, yes?

Les: Yes, you’re quite right.

I want you all to learn to BREATHE MORE, MORE than you do now. You are not going to take in as much as someone from my world does; I do not expect that and I neither expect to hear the breathing. But I want you all now to BREATHE IN MUCH MORE DEEPLY than you normally do, and at the same time, those that are able, that are not being controlled, I would like you to place your hands against your chest. Please do not question why, I just ask that you do this.

Les: Can everybody do that please, place a hand or hands against your chest, all right everybody?

(Affirmed)

And in your own time, breathe out—make sure that every piece of the air is expelled from your lungs. Place your feet firmly on the ground and press down, down into the Earth. Please to take another breath and feel the life force coming up through your feet, through into the top of your legs and up through your torsos. Feel the energy coming, straighten up the back, lift the head, feel the energy surrounding your face; please concentrate on the energy around your faces, feel it—feel it, as it gently caresses your skin. You need this energy, it is your LIFE FORCE. Can you understand me?

Les: Yes we can.

Slowly, slowly relax and let the energy flow back from whence it came. This is the essence of your life. I would recommend that in your quiet times, in your busy lives, you find time to do this as often as you can.

Les: Yes I'm sure we shall all do that and what you say I find particularly interesting, because when I'm in my garden, I'm frequently being aware of the energy passing up through my feet, into my body, without consciously thinking of it—I'm aware of it happening.

I think you will find that if you ask the others here, those that are used as a channel, normally feel the energy coming through, from the ground. You should now feel at one, with the darkness here tonight.

Les: Thank you. That could be an answer to one of my colleagues' questions a little while ago, about Divine Darkness, because the darkness tonight, can be considered Divine.

Let me say to you, when there are discussions about our side of life, we always hear you talking about the light and we ourselves tell you about the light and the light of love—am I correct?

Les: You are correct.

Let me say to you now, that although you are sitting in BLACKNESS, you are sitting in the WHITEST, PUREST LIGHT that you could possibly imagine.

Les: Yes we are only physically aware of the darkness, it is a spiritual light.

Divine darkness, spiritual love and light, all are One, all are interwoven through all Eternity. You understand my words?

Les: Yes I do, I think we all do.

When you tread your final paths and come through the Light into our world, the Darkness which you have been accustomed to, your nights, your storm clouds, all will fade from memory. There will always surround you—a brightness, a luminous brightness, which as you know, is not harmful to your eyes, but will bathe and caress your spirit with Love.

Les: Yes we all look forward to those days, whenever it is our time to begin to enjoy them.

My purpose here this time, is to ask you to prepare yourselves for this Light. I do not wish to alarm you, it does not indicate that you are due to come to our side, but too few of you from this Earth are ready or able to appreciate the Love which this world is built from, do you understand?

Les: Yes, that's the purpose of our meeting here, to try and generate love, not only within ourselves, but to pass it onto others, who may be interested enough to listen to what we try to teach them.

I wonder if I could ask you all, to spare some time once more in your busy lives, to concentrate, concentrate please, on the WHITE, ROUND, SHINING LIGHT. It will not be physical to your naked eyes, but will be in your mind's eye. Let it start in your mind, as a small pinprick of light, keep it there, in your mind's eye; slowly, slowly let it built to another CIRCLE of LIGHT surrounding the pinprick. Let that radiate outwards slowly, so slowly, until it is a SHINING ORB in your mind's eye. Let there be RAYS of LIGHT from this orb and at the end of each ray, I ask you to place a figure of someone important in your lives, or known to you in your lives, or a loved one, who is loved in our realms. Do you understand me?

Les: Yes we do.

Concentrate on those people, send out thoughts to those people and in turn those people will have the sense of well-being, coming from the LIGHT. Can you understand?

Les: Yes, that's a most interesting thing for us to do and we shall all be trying it. Your words shall certainly not be wasted.

It is an exercise to prepare you for the time—the light will surround and the light is Love and the rays will touch those you are thinking of and sending love to—

Les: Yes we shall certainly follow your instructions in that.

Then spare a little time in your busy lives, just to concentrate on LIGHT and LOVE and not dark thoughts. This I know is not knew to you, it is something that has been told you for generations, am I right?

Les: Yes it has been told that we should not think dark thoughts.

I am not teaching you anything new in that.

Les: No you are merely confirming that it should be done.

Now, the energy which we discussed is not enough for me to stay.

Les: No I thought your voice was getting weaker. Well thank you very, very much from all of us, I'm sure you feel the love we have for you and the gratitude we have for you having come to visit us at this meeting. We are truly grateful for all you've said.

You could understand me?

Les: Very, very well indeed yes.

That in itself, is good. I also have learned a lesson this time. I say to you all, in my own tongue:

‘Suffano jakuthai, suffano cha ekoot suffana ja deeska.’ I send you in your tongue, love, health, and happiness.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. (Affirmed) What was your tongue known as, are you able to tell us?

I can only say in your tongue, it was the tongue of the Fire Bird.

Les: Right, thank you very, very much.

Please leave this one in darkness for a little longer.

Les: Yes certainly, we shall only introduce light very gradually.

I cannot say if more will come, the power is much depleted. I say to you all, ‘Suvakanawa.’

Les: Goodbye to you, God bless you.

Finally a control came through Eileen to help make sure Sue returned safely, before we closed.

~20th May 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Thank you once more, for these meetings. I wish to say to you this time that I am well aware of your thoughts to me, but I want to say to you all once more, a little about the awareness you have gained, whilst we have met in this way, so many times previously. Let me say this to you my friends, there are so many of your helpers and your loved ones, who would wish to help you in so many ways. I want to say to you, that for many of you, the worst things that could happen to you, would be to have your prayers answered. We have spoken of the pathway of the soul—I have told you that life’s troubles and problems help you along this pathway.

Les: Yes you have.

And so it is. My dear friends, do not be dismayed when life’s troubles seem to burden you down.

Remember as your awareness and your knowledge grow, so too comes responsibility with it.

Les: Yes, we understand that.

I would say to you all, that since we have come together, your awareness has grown so much, that you should consider yourselves to be emissaries, to go forth and speak of the knowledge you have gained. Do not be fearful of the response that you may receive. Fear is a negative energy, this I have told you, but if you wish your soul’s growth to continue, accept the responsibility of your awareness and knowledge. So why do I speak these words to you? Because I wish you to realise that your thoughts reach me, but I cannot always provide what you desire. It would be so easy to give you what you wish, but it would be a negative action, it would not help you. After all, why have you come to this earthly plane, if it is not for your own soul’s growth? Now I think I will leave it there with you, to ponder upon my words.

Les: Thank you, yes we certainly shall, we do understand what you mean, but at the same time, I think we all understand that by you not giving what we wish, even though it might be easy, you are setting us an example by accepting your own responsibilities.

Yes, that also is a factor in this, but it is one of less importance. But it is important that you understand that your thoughts, your feelings do reach us, but it is not always possible to fulfil your desires—neither would it be good or acceptable to do so.

Les: I can quite see that. We understand the reason, even though we might not want those reasons. That is part of the growth we must experience.

Yes you all will understand more, as life progresses, because my dear friends, all of you will become better, stronger human beings, because of it. Life’s troubles will bring you strength and growth, even if you do not understand why. It is part of your life’s journeys. I know I am repeating words, but I feel it is essential to do so, to remind you all, that your life’s journey should not be expected to be easy, just because of the knowledge you have attained. If anything, it may be that at times, life seems even more difficult and that is where your responsibility comes into play. You understand?

Les: Yes indeed, does everybody understand that? (Affirmed)

Now I know we have some questions this time, so let us continue.

Les: Yes thank you, if I may start again, there is something, which has puzzled me for a long time. We accept that the Great Creator created universe, not only this one but others, but we'll deal with this one—created the universe with Love and for Love and that Love exists throughout it. We've also been told that for every force, there is an opposite counter force. Now if the Great Creator was responsible for the universe, then he also—I say 'he' but I know it's just energy, it's a convenience term that's all—'he' must have been responsible also for the counter force of 'evil,' and that seems paradoxical, that he should create love and evil, unless the creation of evil, which must be so as a counter force to the force of love, was designed to test our free will, within the parameters of evil. Now, would the Creator have been responsible for evil, or is evil a function of man's attitude to life?

Yes my dear friend, I understand your question and we come again to explanations of your understanding. Let me say this to you: Love and evil are human terms. Of course the Creative Power, is responsible for all things, this world and many throughout the cosmos. When you speak of Love and evil as two separate things, in fact you are quite wrong in that assumption, because you see, Love and evil, are of the ONE energy. Again we come to this question of energies, upon which we will speak in deeper context of it, at a later stage. I know it is difficult for you to fully understand the meaning of energy, but let me continue: What is Love, if it is not Creation itself? What is evil? You would term evil to be the opposite of love.

Les: Yes that's right, we do.

It is in fact an aberration of what you term Love. Are you following me so far?

Les: Yes, everybody following? (Affirmed)

I will stop if you so desire me to do so.

Les: No please go on, we all understand so far.

Good. When you speak of Love, you are humanising the Creative Force, the Creative Energy, which is ALL of existence. When you speak of evil, you are trying to make the opposite of love. In the same way you do despair against happiness, fear against trust, so many things, you follow?

Les: Yes, we apply human terms to the intangibles and the indefinable.

Yes exactly and it is in a way mistaken identities, to give to these energies. But it is something you need to try to explain to yourselves.

Les: Yes I'm sure I'm not the only one who's queried this in the past.

I fully understand and accept your query, but you must try to understand, that it is one form of the Creative Energy.

Les: And we have merely named it, to suit our convenience, or inconvenience, in that case.

And for your own downfalls. All should be created with Love—it is you humanoids who have changed. It is your own fears, your own anger, your own greed, which has created this 'evil,' as you call it.

Les: Yes I couldn't imagine that the Creator (No!) would in fact have developed such a source of energy, as we imagine evil to be, as we know evil to be.

Evil is a creation of mankind.

Les: I thought it must be—thank you for that.

I find it difficult to put the words into your human language, but it is in fact Love, which has been malformed, if you like, by you peoples upon the Earth plane, you understand?

Les: Yes we do. I could not and I think my colleagues, had I spoken about it, could not understand that The Creator, would have been responsible for the two things; it was ludicrous to assume it to be so.

There is only—let me explain a little more to you this time: There is only one Creative Energy, but in many forms—it is streamlined. You understand me? (Yes) It takes many shapes, but it is energy refined in many ways. In all areas of the cosmos, you may say there are different energies, they are not, it all returns to ONE ENERGY.

Les: And all is Love.

ALL comes together to form the whole, in the same way as you as spirit, will return to the ONE UNIT. Can you see the diversity of you all? But you return to the one energy, you understand?

Les: Yes we do, thank you and thank you for answering us. I noticed your term, 'humanoids.' That bears out what you've told us once before, that you have never lived upon our Earth.

I dear friends, am a conglomerate of beings, as I have told you when first I came. When the time is right, there will be more explanation.

Les: Yes, I wasn't asking for an explanation just now thank you, it merely confirmed what you had mentioned once before and we discussed after you had gone. And we thought it a privilege that you should be coming to teach us as you do and to put up with these earthly conditions.

I know there are many questions within your minds, but we must have patience. I know I tell you this often, but I will not say it is a fault with you, it is understandable, but your time-span upon this Earth plane, is so short, in eternity. So I understand, but again I say to you, be patient and much will come.

Les: Yes, we must ask your forgiveness, if we seem impatient.

No, I am always limited by many conditions, many factors, in what I am able to bring you. After all, there are those amongst you, who are quite new to this knowledge and it is better that we go slowly and be sure that all fully understand.

Les: I agree absolutely.

It would be simple to bring much and for you all to be confused and we do not wish this.

Les: No, we would rather not be more confused than we are. (Chuckles) We do understand what you say to us and we appreciate your consideration.

But I hope I have helped with your question, although for you it is a difficult one, so far as understanding goes.

Les: You certainly have clarified it in my mind. I must say I hadn't looked upon it in the way that you have put it to us and probably my colleagues here, would have been in the same thinking. They must have thought that the two were paradoxical and it's cleared a lot of doubts I'm sure.

I think confusion comes, when we use words like 'Creator.' It seems to imply that something is made, and energy has always been, always will be and cannot alter to any great degree, in the way that you may imagine.

Les: No and that's another thing we can't quite understand, that it has always been, because our limited intelligences must apply a beginning to everything.

I have said it can be transmuted, it can be formed in many different ways, but not radically changed, as you may assume. So we are on difficult ground here. I do not think your understanding, even your scientists, your physicists, all of those peoples on your earthly plane who study such things, cannot clarify these energies. And let me say, their numbers which they have discovered, are minute compared to what exists.

Les: Is that so?

Of course, how else do you think we have our space travellers? They use energies unknown as yet, to your earthly sciences.

Les: Yes, we quite understand that.

So you see, their knowledge is limited as yet, but I will tell you that many discoveries even now, are being looked into upon this Earth. Knowledge is expanding and much more awareness will be made known to all of you on this Earth, as to what has been discovered.

Les: And is that knowledge—I know you're—how shall I say, authorities from your realms can limit our knowledge, according to our spiritual development. And is our understanding of other energies going to be limited, until such time as mankind's spiritual development is such that it can be allowed to use that other knowledge?

There are those who are influencing for the good. All around your world, people in power are being influenced of course. Too often in your Earth's history, has knowledge been abused. You know and fully understand this. We do not wish that these things continue to happen. Again we come to interference of free will. We can influence, but we cannot stop the actions, once the knowledge has been accepted, you know and understand this. (Yes—) But there have been many of us who have gathered together, to prevent the disasters which have been happening upon your Earth. We cannot allow it to continue. So there are many from our side of life, who are working, who are instructing, who are influencing for the good, because as I have previously told you, there have been civilisations upon your Earth, who destroyed themselves; they had the knowledge, but they destroyed what they had.

Les: Yes, we come again to the difference between knowledge and wisdom. I have said to many people over the years that knowledge is one thing, but wisdom is the ability to use that knowledge properly. I would agree with those words. Knowledge does not always mean good. Knowledge, like energy, can be abused.

Les: It can and it has been unfortunately.

Unfortunately mankind has a long history, not only of abusing knowledge, energy, but even in these days of your so-called 'enlightenment,' is man abusing himself. We cannot allow it to continue. I think you will even now have noticed that there is an 'upsurge,' I believe that is the term, of spirituality throughout your world.

Les: Yes, you're right.

It is beginning to happen and it will continue.

Les: Good, well we're certainly very, very pleased to know that and we have been aware of it happening. Again, we have to exercise our patience, because all of us here and many others like us of similar thought, want it to happen and want it to happen quickly, which of course we know is not possible. But we can still hope for it to happen quickly.

Around your world, there are many groups like this one, who are being given the same information. All could clarify what has been said, if you could all get together, but I don't think that will happen, but many opportunities will arise, when what is being told, and taught throughout your world, will come to the fore and peoples will know, that what we bring is the TRUTH and is brought with that GREAT CREATIVE LOVE, of which we opened this discussion.

Les: Good, and in the meantime, if all those groups utilise the power of their thoughts from each group, that I am sure, will be a help in the scheme of things.

My dear friend, you speak of my favourite topic, 'power of your thought.' Yes of course it is powerful and should be used by you all and I know that you here do not fully use the power of your thought. You try it when we speak about it, and then it seems to disappear from the forefront of your minds. So dear friends, always keep it in mind that you can achieve so much, with the power of thought.

Les: Yes, now perhaps you can help us in this Salumet. In order to achieve what you and your colleagues are attempting to achieve, what would be the best way for our thoughts to be directed? What mental words should we use and what direction should we try and spread them?

My dear friends, I would say you need no words. Go deep within, go to the spiritual aspect of yourself, to send out that Universal Love. It is not necessary to use words to make connection, after all what is THOUGHT?

Les: Energy again. (Yes) And of course it's our human failing to have to put everything into words.

If you so desire, then of course you can use your words, but it is not necessary. I could perhaps suggest to you, to make it a little easier for you: If you imagine the most powerful feeling of Love that you have ever felt—and I don't mean physical love in the way you would imagine, but deep Love that comes from within. If you can recall that feeling and send it travelling, then you would be achieving the contact that you desire.

That is all you need to do. But firstly recognise that feeling and you all have experienced it, at some point in your lives. Seek it out and remember how it felt, then utilise it and practice with it and you will find that you become more adept in its usage.

Les: Thank you, we'll certainly try and do that, because we're all anxious to give whatever help we can, in whatever direction is most desirable, for the overall good.

If you like, you could focus on your earthly world—you all have seen photographs of it, you all know what it looks like from a distance. If that would help, then focus upon it, envelope it with that love which I have spoken of.

Les: That's a very good suggestion, we thank you for it.

Imagine it being bombarded with this love and you can achieve much.

Les: Yes thank you, because that gives our human aspect, something to focus upon.

Yes, it—I almost said 'a failing' and I apologise for that word, it is not a failing, it is just a part of your human existence. But try it if you will, and you may be amazed at what can be achieved.

Les: We shall certainly try, it does give us some focal point, which as humans, we all seem to need. Thank you for that.

Now I will leave you this time.

I envelope you all within my Love; I thank you again, for your gathering, I thank you for your attention and until we meet once more, I know you will be comforted throughout your daily chores, and may that Great Creative Love, of which we speak, keep you (?) enfold you all.

Les: Thank you and our love goes with you again and God bless you.

There then followed a message from a Chinese guide through Jo, for the one about to make a journey (Paul was off to Thailand/Malaysia)

There is a man here whose name is John brother, he has with him a soul who is experienced in the sort of activity you are about to undertake. When on this Earth he was an Aborigine and walked many hundreds of miles alone and was entirely happy in his own company and this man will be with you for your entire journey.

Paul: That'll be wonderful!

When you have the opportunity, please sit quietly and think of this friend who is with you and hopefully you may feel his presence—

(Much thanks expressed)

There was then one through Sue to bring healing to a member of the group. (Joy)

Then one came through Eileen, who called herself Maggie, with a light-hearted chat, which rounded off the evening on a light note. She said she would try to help and heal Debbie's horse.

NB: Les states at the end that the Chinese guide through Jo, mentions John brother and that this is almost certainly meant as Brother John, who was a Glastonbury monk of long ago and who had visited before on a number of occasions. (In Chinese, fore and surnames are often reversed.)

~3rd June 1996~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: I apologise for us being short on numbers again.

Those of you who are not with us, are here in spirit—it will always be so.

Les: Good, that's nice to know. I'm sure they miss being here, but they do have their holidays and other circumstances prevent them coming sometimes, as you know—but it's not from choice.

It is important that your lives continue upon earthly matters sometimes and as I have said, they are here with us in spirit.

Les: Yes, that's the important thing I know.

So the absence of the physical being is not so important, although from my point of view, it is good to see you all together in the physical sense, because in coming together within the physical bodies, it produces the Shining Light, which helps me so to join you. (Good.) Before I continue, I would like to say just a few words to the lady you call Jo. I want to say to her, I am aware of the difficulty of some decisions that are in her life at the moment and I say to her, I will try to influence her along the right pathway. There is no need to say more about it, she should understand.

Jo: Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much for that.

We have to say to you also dear friend, there are problems surrounding you also, not personal problems, but problems around this area, which are being sorted out. It will be done, so be patient.

Les: Thank you yes, I didn't know of personal problems, but there are problems in the area.

Yes, we understand and we are working with it.

Les: Thank you, yes I must admit I have found very difficult to be charitable in my thoughts, because of those problems, which arise.

My dear friend, remember what I have told you, you must not judge, you cannot see the full picture and although life presents these problems to you, you cannot judge another.

Les: No, I do accept what you say.

I fully understand that within your daily lives, all of you find troubles of many kinds, troubles which you find difficult to be kindly about. But always towards people, you must give love. You can condemn conditions, but I say to you, do not condemn another being.

Les: No, I try to do that, I try to live by that precept and I condemn the noise I have to put up with sometimes.

Yes, that is fine, but never, never condemn another human being. I know all of you find these words difficult, but let me tell you, you can only grow from being charitable towards each other. After all, that is why you are here, to express your love for one another, to express that spiritual aspect of yourselves, which knows only love. You see?

Les: Yes. As you say, it's not easy, but we must try.

But it will be sorted for you.

Les: Oh thank you very much for that, it's comforting. Yes I had been wondering how long it was going to continue, particularly now as I try to envelope myself more in the silence and meditation.

Yes my dear friend, you are growing are you not? In the silence when you sit in your meditative state, you are growing so. And I believe you feel this to be so as time continues that your expansion of knowledge grows greater.

Les: Yes you're quite right Salumet.

You are now beginning to feel the expansion of your spirit, whilst within this physical being. It is the part of you which needs to grow, to expand, to stretch forward to newer and higher things. And dear friend, you are achieving this.

Les: Good, thank you.

Now I will take questions this time and then I will give time for others to speak to you.

Les: Thank you, yes I have a question, I don't know whether it is answerable even, but it all hinges again on energy. We have spoken about those who are responsible for the flora and fauna on this Earth and presumably other planets. You did tell us that they cannot alter what is decreed by the process of evolution. I have been thinking a lot about what you said, and of course it is quite incomprehensible to me and I expect my colleagues too, but am I right in thinking that the essence of life is in itself an intelligence and energy of some sort? It must be intelligent surely, to create the marvels on Earth here, in the animal and vegetable kingdoms—the incredible complexity that exists. I cannot think that it can be anything but intelligence, operating behind that. Is that an energy?

My dear friend, I know this is a subject of much difficulty for you in your understanding. Let us speak a little upon this: All life-forms are energy. I have said we will discuss it more fully and we will. When you speak of the essence of life as an intelligence, in a way you are correct. But I have to say all forms of life are one aspect of The Creative Force, if you wish to call it intelligence, then so be it, but we would need to define the word 'intelligence.' It is a difficult word to describe to you. Of course all intelligence I would presume you would say, comes from the mind—the mind belongs to the spirit, the spirit belongs to the Creative Force, of all life's form, you follow? (Yes—) So in that respect, there is intelligence behind evolution of all kinds. But I would say to you only this: Energy itself, you cannot define as intelligence. There is a comparison there, but there is also contradiction. It is a difficult topic for me to discuss with you, because I cannot explain to you in earthly terms that which you need to know, to fully understand.

Les: No. I can accept that, because I suppose in some future state, we shall acquire what I can only put as an awareness, rather than a physical knowledge of these things. And that awareness, when it develops, will lead us to have a more comprehensive acceptance, of these things which now puzzle us.

Yes, the time will come, as it does whilst you walk upon this Earth, when awareness comes to you, so does wisdom and knowledge—this you can accept. (Yes—) It does not belong to the word intelligence. Wisdom and knowledge are innate things, within the spirit body, you follow? (Yes—) So when you speak of intelligence, you are using a word that belongs to the earthly body, so you see where the contradiction comes into play, you understand?

Les: Yes, I suppose it's right to say that one cannot quantify intelligence, any more than one can quantify love?

You are now beginning to understand dear friend, these words are only words. When awareness comes to you, when you leave these bodies behind, you see so much more, your understanding becomes greater and many things fall into place, where previously they were misunderstood. It is a difficult topic and one we can return to, as your awareness does grow, as your knowledge grows. But I don't truly believe that you will fully understand, whilst you tread this earthly plane.

Les: I can accept that.

There is so much you need to learn first, so much awareness within yourselves that will be exposed, when the spirit self of you comes to life, if I may use that expression. Even so, there are many in our world, who would not be able to fully understand the question that you have put to me. It is a difficult one to answer.

Les: Yes, I'm almost inclined to say, there is no, what we would call, 'rational answer.' There is an answer somewhere—or does it need an answer?

It does not need an answer, it always has been, so it cannot be changed. The answer is always there, but you need the awareness, for the acceptance of the answer, you see? (Yes—) It is difficult to put an answer into physical words.

Les: And it's just as difficult to find words, to give the experience and understanding which is necessary, for the awareness.

We are speaking about ethereal matters, and in that sense you would need to be in a more raised state of consciousness, to even to tread the first step of the ladder towards understanding.

Les: Quite. I accept these things and I quite understand what you say and I agree that there must be an awareness and ultimately we shall get it, but my physical brain, not my mind, my physical brain still ponders these things sometimes.

Of course, and there is no reason why you should not. It shows that you are seeking Truth, it shows that you are seeking that part of you, that spiritual aspect of you that belongs to another time.

Les: Yes and it was a silly little thing which prompted me to think this actually. I feed blackbirds each day, I love the song and I feed them regularly and I was watching one as it was looking at me and I was feeding it, and I put myself in its position. Quite unable as it is to say thank you, or show any appreciation of what is being given to it, not even an understanding of why I do it, but an acceptance of what is coming it's way. And I thought to myself then, how like living here that is—we can't understand why these things are being given, but we must accept then, as coming to us.

If you can do that, then I say dear friend, you tread the right pathway. When you come to the point of acceptance and I mean true acceptance, in the knowledge that all that lies before you, is not an accident, but is your life's pathway, then you truly are beginning to be aware of the greatness in front of you. You should not dispute it, you should accept it with love, you should know, that all that comes before you in the form of what you term 'Nature,' is that Creative Force, helping you to develop your own spirituality.

Les: Yes, I see your point.

In the same way, you speak of the birds of the air, they too have what you might term 'intelligence,' but not in the form that you would term intelligence, in your human beings. But let me say this to you all, that intelligence belongs to the one energy, whether it be you human beings, whether it be the birds of the air, the animals in the field, it stems from the One Creative Force. So now can you see that you cannot distinguish intelligence, as just one energy? It is impossible.

Les: I agree, once again one comes to the difficulty in accessing intelligence or instinct.

Yes, you cannot. You can try, you can try, you can put words to it, but it is too much for your physical brains to fully understand. But it is good that you think upon these matters, because as I have said, it shows your awareness is growing and that can only be good.

Les: It's very interesting to think along these things.

Creative Force belongs not only to this planet, but to all of the universe, to the cosmos—it is much bigger than you could possibly know or possibly imagine.

Les: I think we have no conception of it at all.

I think we all seek and search towards it, that it is like a magnet to us all, that we continue to seek and in doing so, we find the expansion of love grows and as it grows, it produces more and more energy. And we come to that point of Creation, where no longer is it necessary to search, to seek, or to question. There is a time in development, when you are as One with the energies, with the Creative Force of all the cosmos, and when that time comes, then all will fall into place.

Les: Yes, yes I'm sure it will.

But dear friends, for you all here, that is aeons of time away, but the time will come, I can assure you, when all will be gathered as one—one in energy, one in knowledge, one in Love, one in understanding.

Les: That certainly is something to look forward to, even though it may be aeons of time away. We shall still keep it in our sights and doing that serves to offset the difficulties, disappointments and unpleasantness of this physical life—not that it's all unpleasant of course, but it helps us to tolerate the unpleasant aspects that we come up against.

If you look upon your lives here, as a stepping stone to knowledge and wisdom, then your tread would be lighter.

Now dear friend, I think I must allow others to speak this time.

Les: Thank you, I hope I haven't taken too much time, or interrupted what you wanted to do, thank you for your answer.

I know it is not perhaps what you expected, but I will say my answers to you, will not always be what you want to hear.

Les: No, I can quite understand that; it is the purpose of our learning, isn't it, after all?

I hope that what I teach you, is with love.

Les: Thank you again and God bless you.

There then followed one through Sue, called Francesca, who gave further information of interest:

—I am here to speak about one of those paths that we tread. It sounds as if I'm going to lecture, but please, please do not think—

Les: We don't think that for a minute Francesca, or do you prefer to be called Sister?

No, no. Francesca is perfectly acceptable.

Les: Thank you. No, no we don't think you're lecturing at all, we're always interested to hear from those on your side, who take the trouble to come to talk to us.

It was said earlier by the great one here, that you must not condemn your fellow man, and I know how difficult a task that must be.

Les: Yes I have to agree, it is difficult.

We are all human, even those who have passed into spirit, were human once, and have the human frailties, yes. But let me try to tell you this: When you feel a thought coming into your mind, which is less than charitable, and believe me I have had many of those myself—Stop and take control, calm down thoughts inside your mind, and think how you would feel, if those thoughts were turned against you. Does that make sense to you?

Les: Yes it does.

It is a hard and difficult road to tread, and there are many, many times, when you are likely to stumble.

Les: I'm sure there are.

But stop, take control, think of how they would feel and then see if you cannot turn that thought into kindness. Think of something that is favourite to you, perhaps a colour, perhaps a favourite scent, a Spring day, a cold day—something that is pleasurable to yourself—and try to imagine the thing that you have got a problem with, in the centre of this, in the centre of a colour, in the centre of a scent, the centre of a bright sunny day. Turn your thoughts towards your favourite things and try to dispel the anger. I know you pause then and you think to yourself, 'No, we cannot do this,' but—

Les: No, no I didn't, excuse me for interrupting, I was just thinking of the various things that you said and it seems a very feasible thing to do, if we can remember to do it.

Yes, it takes time, it takes time not to say the hasty word and I'm sure in the fullness of your years, many hasty words have been spoken by you all. Many times you have stubbed your toe and thought more or less uncharitable things, have you not?

Les: Yes I'm sure we have. If we haven't said them, then I'm sure we've thought them.

Not that I'm expecting you to, if you stub your toe, to think of a pretty colour, no I'm not, no, unless of course it is purple. (Laughter)

Les: No, we do understand what you say and appreciate it.

I am trying to make light of the subject, because I know how difficult it is to be charitable all the time. It can only come with love, and the more love you give out, the more love you will bring back in, is that not so?

Les: That's absolutely—we agree with that yes, it feeds upon itself, does love.

And it grows, and it is nurtured and it spreads. If just once you can turn a bad thought to good, it makes it so much easier for the next time. I know you have heard all this before, I am not telling you anything you do not already know.

Les: Oh yes, you're giving us a different angle on it, as we say.

That is what I have come to do—no lectures, just a different idea.

Les: That's right, a very good idea, we appreciate it and I'm going to ask you a very personal question: Do you find it difficult in your new life, to always have thoughts which are charitable? Do you find it any easier to do that in the spirit world, than it was on Earth?

My friend, it is not—

Les: I'm not probing—

Not at all, I didn't think you were. There is no magic formula in the spirit world. You tread a path there, as you would have done on this Earth. You make mistakes, you are told of these mistakes and you try to correct them, just as you did here.

Les: You do have teachers telling you of your mistakes?

Of course!

Les: Yes I thought you did.

Of course.

Les: I thought you DO, rather.

Oh, we have all sinned in spirit, do you understand?

Les: Yes, but you still find you have to work at it, to do the right thing.

Of course, we do not get our little halos, the moment we pass through the door. (Laughter)

Les: No, you still have to earn them.

We are not on fluffy clouds, no.

Les: No, I didn't know whether there was any mystique, in the atmosphere there, which enabled you to be more charitable more easily.

I understand what you are saying and yes, the environment is so different, of course it is. There are no black clouds of doubt and uncertainty pressing down, as there are on this Earth, you understand? (Yes) There are problems, but those problems are inside and have to be brought out, and broken down. Do you understand what I am saying? (Yes—) and so YES, there ARE problems in our realms, but YES we ARE surrounded by a much brighter light than you and there IS more love surrounding us, so the path is not as rocky. You understand me?

Les: I do, this answers a question that was in my mind, I thought it must be easier, to some degree, when you get over there.

But problems ARE still there, they do not just dissolve. We all have to learn and we all go on learning, every step of the way. Even the great one who speaks with you, is still learning. He is just one facet of the being and needs to learn from the other facets. I cannot say more than that, because unfortunately I know no more than that about it. He—I say ‘He,’ you understand? (Yes) He and I are many planes apart, you understand me? I’m on the very bottom rung of the ladder.

Les: Like us?

Yes, we are on different ladders, but on a similar level—whereas the great one there has gone up and beyond the top.

Les: Yes. What do you do mostly now, in your work?

When I am not being taught, I teach.

Les: And what do you teach, what you’ve been teaching to us?

No, I do take classes for the younger ones. We do much reading, there are certain books that we are allowed to use and I spend a lot of my time reading these texts, with the younger ones. It is learning about love, and forgiveness and the paths of good.

Les: Yes, but without any particular orthodox religious bias.

No, religion as you know it, does not exist in our realms.

Les: Good, I’m glad to hear that.

We have more separate creeds, all paths although different from Earth, all reach the same end. We are now at that end and join together in bringing Love from the Creator.

Les: Yes, but there those who still try to adhere to their earthly religions, I believe?

That my friend is human nature. When you have spent a lifetime following one path, and then you are told that path has been leading you in entirely the wrong direction, are you not tired, when you have to turn around and start again?

Les: Quite.

It takes time, with many rests and much teaching, to get back on the right road. So we must not condemn those that still hanker after the old paths.

Les: No we don’t condemn, we have many through for ‘rescues,’ and we have to explain to them that they cannot follow the orthodox religions that they used to follow when they were here.

Of course—others come back to you for teaching, others are able to be taught, without the need to return. Some obviously find it more difficult than others, especially those who when they were teaching on this Earth, were at the top of their ladder. How hard it is when they find they have fallen to the bottom.

Les: They must find it very difficult and I sympathise with them—that’s not patronising.

No I didn’t think—some of course realise they had taken many with them, on that wrong path, and have to try to undo the wrong that they feel they have done others. But they must not condemn themselves, each one has free will and not all are forced onto the wrong road—some took the step, of their own volition.

Les: True. Well thank you for what you’ve told us Francesca.

I hope it has been of interest.

Les: I’m sure it has, it has to me and I’m sure it has to everyone else here.

As I say, I haven’t told you anything very new, I have just put I different perspective to some of it.

Les: You certainly have done that.

And now, I leave you with my love and the love of the Sisters that are in this room with me now. Each one sat with you tonight, has had a Sister by their side, whilst I have been speaking. They have been sending out love and healing thoughts, for those that require it.

Les: That’s nice, we do appreciate their kindness.

If you do not mind, they will stay quietly until the end of your meeting.

Les: Yes of course they may.

There will be no speech from any, they will just send out their love to you all. (Farewells)

There then followed a rescue through Sarah, whilst another came through Sue, talking about making preparations for someone to come on a future visit.

~10th June 1996~

Salumet did not come through this week, so the evening began with discussion about one of the rescues which happened at the Wednesday circle. It had been a difficult one, involving a Chernobyl victim. The man had gone into the area with a team, knowing they would never come out. Suddenly/unexpectedly one came through Les:

I say to you my friends, though you did not witness what this one has just spoken of, you can be assured that it all stems from the work you and your colleagues do, in this Temple of Love. It was a tremendous experience for the lady concerned. (Heather) We cannot express sufficiently, our gratitude, and even our admiration for her, taking on such a task. We know that it left her somewhat depleted, but that was taken care of. But I wish to tell you, as I shall tell the others at the next meeting, that the group whose representative came here and was dealt with as usual, are now well on their way, to accepting the new conditions, in which they find themselves. (Thanks expressed) I thought it was only fair that I should come to tell you this, to confirm once again, that you cannot possibly ever know, whilst you are in this physical plane, the tremendous work that you all do, to help those just to cross the border. We can only ask that you continue to give your time, your energy and your love, in these matters. For this we thank you in advance, for all that still remains to be done.

George: We thank you, God bless you.

We ask God's blessing upon you all. Never fear that you will be left with any definite reaction after such a rescue, as you call it; all will be resolved. God be with you all my friends and thank you. (Thanks expressed) Thank you.

There then followed one through Sue, giving instructions to improve conditions within the room. We were instructed to bring our palms upwards and breathe long/deep breaths as instructed at a previous meeting. There then followed a period of silence for about 15 minutes, before both Sue and Jo were used simultaneously. (Jo's communicator only spoke for a very short time and the words are shown in CAPITALS) Are you prepared to speak? Is there power here for you?

POWER HERE.

Yes, yes thank you, you are here for short time to speak to gentleman, as was discussed earlier. I am here for you, but please to speak to this one here. Please to take seat.

Les: Good evening to you and welcome. Our love is with you.

VERY SORRY—POWER IS NOT ENOUGH FOR ME TO SPEAK TO YOU THIS TIME, BUT PLEASE TO ASK INSTRUMENT FOR FEELINGS. IT GIVE YOU SOME INDICATION OF WHAT MY WORK IS.

The communicator through Sue stayed a little longer, explaining a little about what the one through Jo hoped to be bringing to the group. The conversation then moved on to talk about COLOUR:

—You have had many discussions in the past, about colour I know, and I say to you, when it is your turn to pass into our realms, the very first thing that will surprise, astound, and make you feel at one with the spirit, will be the colours that your new eyes can see. It will be magnificent for you all.

Les: We shall certainly look forward to that time coming, when it is due. We've heard that there are beautiful happenings in your world and that gives us more of an indication of what there can be, to look forward to.

I say to you also, that you could all see greater colour than you do, if only you would open your spiritual eyes.

Les: Yes I think we all try to do that, but of course we are sadly limited by the physical requirements every day. That's not an excuse, it's just a fact; they are difficult to overcome.

I am aware of the problems on this plane.

Les: But we can still try nevertheless.

If you can just appreciate one colour every day and concentrate on it, you will be amazed at how vibrant it would become. I suggest you attempt this exercise, if you have the time.

Les: It would be a very interesting exercise for us to do. Thank you for the information.

The communicator then mentioned that much power had been used and the evening was brought to a close after the usual thanks and farewells.

~17th June 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: And a very warm welcome once again. I hope your instrument's voice, has recovered sufficiently for you to use her this time.

I intend that we speak only part of the time, this time, because although the instrument thinks all is well, it would be wiser for us to shorten speech time.

Les: I understand, thank you.

Although I did not use words last time, it was not wasted. Every opportunity is used, as you well know.

Les: I do indeed.

So we always allow others to come and I know that you were most interested last time.

Les: We certainly were and it was very useful information which was given to us.

I would like to begin this time, by saying a little about the evolvement of this planet Earth.

Les: That's interesting, yes please.

We have spoken much—have answered questions about what will happen to this planet. I would like to go just a little further this time with you, because I think your understanding, is fuller. So many of you within this planet are concerned about its destruction.

Les: Yes, that is so.

When first I came to you, I told you that man would not be allowed to destroy it and so this still stands; man will not be the cause of the Earth's demise. But we go further in time, to when this Earth will come to a natural end, not an end of destruction, you understand?

Les: No, but a gradual ceasing of the life within it?

An evolutionary plan will take place, this is natural and nothing to do with destructive forces.

Les: Quite, we do understand that, thank you.

So you will say within your own minds, what will happen to human beings?

Les: Yes we have questioned that, quite often.

As you know, everything has been, is, will be. There is no beginning and there is no end.

Les: Yes we accept that too, you have told us several times and it has been quoted in other places. So we can't do anything but accept it, even though we still of course, don't understand it.

As human beings have evolved, so too will they come to an end and we have spoken briefly that although the physical form will no longer remain, of course you exist in another form of energy. So do you begin to see and understand what the evolvement of this planet will be? It is too far ahead, but I feel at this time, that it is something I would wish you to know and understand.

Les: Yes we would like to hear more about it please.

As this planet Earth was formed, what you term as 'low-life,' first began. But I say to you, that form of low-life, and again I do not like the term, but it is one I use for your understanding—it all evolves from the one energy; again we return to the subject of energy. So humans evolved and so the time must come, when human beings have played their part within the cosmos. So they must move on, to higher and better things, you understand? (Yes) Do you have questions?

Les: Yes, when you say they must move on, when the time comes for the Earth to cease as it is now, presumably that will take many, many years in our time to happen; it won't be a sudden catastrophe. (No!) It will gradually cool, I imagine.

It will be a natural process, yes.

Les: And so humanity will cease to exist, because of the lack of facilities, to enable then to continue living, is that so?

Mankind as you know it now, will have ceased to exist before such time.

Les: Is that so? (Yes) So evolution in another form will have taken place on the planet, before the planet ceases to exist?

Yes, I want you to understand this.

Les: Yes, that's certainly a very new outlook, a new concept altogether I'm sure. I'd certainly never considered that.

No, because mankind is set upon the idea that you have the power to destroy. I say, although you can destroy much upon your Earth, you do not have such power. You are one group of energy, which has evolved and will finish too, you understand?

Les: Yes, so whatever we do, we cannot destroy evolution, as planned?

No, you cannot, man does not have that power.

Les: No, well that's a very interesting concept, that humanity as we know it now, will cease and become another form of life upon this planet, is that what you're telling us?

No, mankind will never be another species, mankind will filter out naturally, as you have your dinosaurs and other species, you understand?

Les: Yes, but the spiritual aspect of man, will live elsewhere?

It will—there are other areas of existence, which belong to a higher energy and mankind will upgrade to such places.

Les: So it's going to be the dissolution of mankind as we know it, (Yes) will be a gradual thing?

It will be, but understand I speak of much time to come.

Les: Oh I do understand that, it's far beyond our ability to understand.

But it should give you thoughts of what is happening upon your Earth.

Les: Yes, it certainly does that.

Man has an unreasonable expectation of his own power, and he must not.

Les: So to sum it up then, mankind as we know it, will evolve into something different, over aeons of time, and when the Earth finally ceases to exist as it is now, it will no longer be a calamity for mankind, because mankind will not exist, but will have progressed to another form of energy, unknown to us upon this Earth, at this time.

When the time comes, mankind's raised consciousness will move him forward. Yes, there will be no big bang as we have spoken, it will not happen that way.

Les: So it's going to be another form of evolution, to a higher degree of perception and living?

Yes, as you see in nature, you have strains of whatever flower, vegetable, mankind himself, where they become stronger, more aware of their surroundings—their consciousness is raised in many different ways and that must happen, before the things I tell you of can happen, and they will.

Les: So would I be right in saying then, that by the time the Earth begins to disappear, there will be no such animal as man, upon the Earth, but spiritually they will have progressed, into another plane of existence?

Yes, I told you when first I came, that many of us have gathered and that is our task, that man's consciousness should be raised, that the innate knowledge that you all have, should come to the surface, that eventually mankind return to spirituality, to that knowledge that is within, to that part of their being which is the real them—it must come forward.

Les: So that confirms what you told us a little time ago, that we should cease to think in physical terms and try to control our lives more, in a spiritual way and think of spiritual development, rather than physical futures?

My dear friends, always I will teach you that, always I want you to know the power of your Thoughts—always I will return to that. I want you to know yourselves as you truly are. Look not at each with those physical eyes, look upon each other, as spiritual brothers, look within the physical body and see that Light shine forth, from each one of you. And then and only then, will you begin to have an inkling of what each and every one of you is about.

Les: And I thin knowledge I would be right in saying, that you've opened a very wide doorway for us all tonight, giving us much to think about in future.

I know what I bring to you is a difficult subject, but I ask you dear friends to think upon it deeply.

Les: I'm sure we shall.

You do have the understanding, all of you, to begin, to begin to realise just a little, what you are about.

Les: For myself, I must say I find what you've told us tonight, eminently reassuring in some way and I've no doubt my colleagues will also have that reassurance.

It is good and it is necessary, because you see, if you return again to the Power of Thought, these negative aspects of thinking, can create what the thought is, can you see? (Yes) It is much better that you have clarity of vision, that you can see forward, to dispel the clouds of doubt.

Les: Although it will be far beyond our lifetimes, (Yes) I'm quite sure that it does give us a comprehensive feeling of the future, if I can put it that way.

Yes, and that is all that I require of you, that you look forward and not backwards and not negatively.

That is all I desire from you and I hope that all of you dear friends, can achieve such.

Les: I think it would be nice for you to have individual answers on this for you Salumet tonight? Does everybody feel as I feel, that it has opened a vastly different insight, into the future of mankind, do you feel that? (Affirmed)

George: Yes, this is a positive view for the future.

Les: Thank you, so you have the answer my friend.

I am happy to receive such positive responses. Now I want to say only one more thing, before I allow the instrument to rest the voice and others are waiting to come also. I wish to say to the lady with us this evening and I know is no stranger to this work, but I wish to say just a few words to her: You, my dear child, have trodden a difficult pathway this time, but I want to say to you, that your future years will be much brighter, than those gone by.

Doreen: Thank you very much.

You will achieve much in your future years, you will look back with some satisfaction and you can only do that, if you have been able, and I will use one of your earthly sayings here, 'When you have sorted the wheat from the chaff.' Only then can you recognise the success of a life and you my dear, will achieve it. But you have a way to go just yet.

Doreen: Thank you very much indeed Salumet.

I want you to recognise one of the things in your life, which 'trips you up,' I think you say. You do not look squarely in the eyes, situations before you and you must look closely and accept your part in all situations. You cannot always look at others, and say it is their problem, you understand? (Yes—) That is all I wish to say this time.

Doreen: Thank you very much Salumet, I shall remember your words.

Now my dear friends, as I leave you this time, remember I am with you, remember always I hear your thoughts, remember always that the great love of the cosmos surrounds you all, that each and every one of you here, is important to each other, as you are to all of mankind.

Les: Thank you very much for all you have given us tonight, in the way of love and information. We are grateful. God be with you.

There then followed one through Sue with a message for Debbie, that she was making good progress, even though at times she may not feel this to be so. There was then a rescue through Sarah, before we closed.

~24th June 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Thank you dear friends for gathering once more.

Les: It's a very great pleasure to be with you here.

Conditions this time are not good. Therefore I will speak with you for a short time only.

Les: Is it anything we have done or not done that make the conditions not good?

No, it is nothing that you can change. I thank you for what you do each time—but the conditions surrounding us, are not as good as we would wish. Therefore, whilst we have the opportunity of speech, I will answer questions this time. But before we do, I wish to ask you that the next few meetings that the instrument be left quietly, while I work with her. There will be others to speak to you, so it will not be quiet.

Les: I see, well we shall be very happy to go along with that and do whatever is wanted of us.

It is necessary sometimes, that we should work together in this way.

Les: Yes, I quite understand.

Now, do we have any questions?

Les: Yes I do actually. Last time you were here you spoke to us, very rewardingly, on the physical platitudes. There is a question I've been wanting to ask for some time. You have told us in the past, that when we come back to this life—which is done, not only on our own volition, but after consultation with councillors in your world—we know what we are coming to. I must confess this puzzles me. Does that expression mean that we are fully aware of the life we shall have when we come back here? Or are other conditions likely to interfere with what might happen, when we do come back? I ask this question, because I think we are all puzzled, as to why we should want to come back into a life, in a body that is perhaps deformed, not complete in some way, or suffering other traumas, which make life almost unbearable on Earth. This is, I'm sure a puzzle to us, as to why we should choose that. I understand that our choice is not physical, but is for the progress of the soul. But it still puzzles us, as to why we should choose that sort of life, with all its problems and complexities.

My dear friend, again we are speaking about difficult matters of your understanding. Of course each soul fully understands, what his task is about, before he reincarnates. Of course he has put forward that aspect of the spirit, which is ready for growth, that aspect of the spirit that needs to go forward.

Therefore let me say this to you: The soul knows fully what lies before him, in the lifetime to come. He chooses—we have spoken—he chooses what sex he will be, and I use the word 'he,' loosely. He chooses which sex, he chooses which people he will return to as his parents, he will choose the country etc. What he is choosing, are conditions, which will place him in the most apt conditions, for the lessons he needs to learn. It is not for you to say, 'Why should the soul suffer?' How can you say that? You cannot—you are speaking of physical conditions, which after all, is only one aspect of your living whilst on the Earth. There is so much more to the human being, other than physical conditions, the physical body, would you not agree?

Les: Yes, I would indeed.

Have you not seen examples upon your Earth, of people who you would term 'physically disabled,' but who shine forth of the spirit.

Les: Yes, I have and I'm sure my friends have.

Yes, therefore we return again to the fact that you must not judge. You cannot judge my friend. You are thinking with your physical brain again. You cannot say that person is suffering, if ultimately, the soul has grown.

Only when you return home, will you fully understand, what your lifetime has achieved. So often do we hear, 'Why do you suffer? Why do the children suffer?' Always you feel it is an injustice. There cannot be injustice in a perfect existence. It is your physical brain, which puts these words together. I know you find it difficult. I have tried to simplify it, with simple words, but I cannot express enough, that you must move away, from this way of thinking.

Les: Yes, you have told us this before.

I know it is difficult, while you are entrapped within these physical cloaks. Always you must look to the wider scope of things—you must, if you are to begin to understand a little.

Les: Yes, I think we all know of a least one case, where a person is physically incapacitated to a great degree, nevertheless radiates cheerfulness, which is very apparent to those who go to visit him or her.

And that is the spirit within that shines forth. The physical impairments matter not to that soul, because they have fully accepted that that is how they will grow in that lifetime. Whether they are aware of it or not, the soul understands.

Les: So it's the soul we have to think of.

You must my friend, you must.

Les: Even if we have no physical memory of what we have chosen to take on.

Yes. I have to return again and say to you, that which I have stated to you in the past:

That each and every one of you, are responsible for any illness that is created, whilst you are within these physical bodies.

I know these words are hard to accept and so often we hear, 'But they were good people, why do they suffer?' You cannot see what has gone on, within their minds. You cannot see the Thought Patterns, which have created the disease. I do not mean, when I speak these words, that peoples are 'bad'—no, they are misguided in their thinking. Have I not said to you, THOUGHT is the most powerful thing you possess?

Les: You have many times yes.

Can you take ANGER as a thought? Can you see that if the 'ANGER THOUGHT' is used daily, how destructive, it must be, in the time to come? It is the Power of the Thought, which you must control.

Les: Yes, what you are saying is that if the person issues thoughts which are of anger, then the person is suffering because of those thoughts.

Yes—anger, resentment, fear—there are so many things that you human beings suffer from. You do not always fully understand that what you think today, is your creation tomorrow. That is why it is so important that you change your thought patterns, to become aware of them. Can you understand?

Les: Yes, I think you've given us all a great understanding, in what you've said.

Let me give you an example: The child who is born and is resentful of returning—not the soul you understand, but the physical birth, the returning to these denser conditions, builds resentment, builds fear, builds anger; and so all of these things change the finer patterns within the physical body. After all, to remain well, all must be balanced. I know you understand this, but can you not see, that all these negative thoughts, are your creation tomorrow?

Les: Yes, it's cause and effect again, as you have told us before.

I cannot stress to you enough dear friends, how powerful the energy of thought is. You will never, whilst you tread this earthly plane, possess more power, than that of your thinking.

Has this helped a little, in your understanding?

Les: I'm sure it has, it's helped us all I have no doubt. So, man's free will, does it come into it at all, in connection with what is chosen by us, in this life?

Of course man's free will must be allowed, but it cannot alter the structure of what has been chosen. You can deviate from the pathway, but you cannot change it. You understand?

Les: Yes, this does answer the problem I had in my own mind, as to whether it was man's interference, altering the predetermined existence, or whether the predetermined existence, was sacrosanct.

You must always allow for man's free will. It is not a straightforward path that he walks, otherwise it would be too easy for him. That is not the purpose of your lives.

Les: No, the basic life pattern remains unaltered, apart from the small deviations caused by man's free will?

Man's free will can change and alter, but it does not alter what was planned. If he fails in his plan, then he must return again and perhaps again, until he has achieved what he desires. You understand me?

Les: Yes I do.

It seems complex, when it is put into physical words. But dear friends, when you return home, all will become simplified.

Les: Good. Well thank you very much for what you have told us Salumet.

Are you satisfied?

Les: Yes I am, is everybody else satisfied with what has been said? Or any questions on it?

George: Yes, there is one that might connect. Some people—there are records of this, have dreamed their own death in advance. An example of this is the British Prime Minister, Spencer Percival. Now he dreamt that he would be shot by a man in a green coat, the next day. He was indeed shot the next day. It was an accident—he was not the intended victim. Would it be the Higher Self trying to give a warning, in a case like that?

In what respect do you mean?

George: An accident that would deviate away from the chosen life path.

There are no accidents, dear friend. I do not like the term, 'accident.' If your term has come, then nothing will alter that. Can you see?

George: Yes, I see. Would there be a reason for dreaming the end before it happens?

We have spoken briefly I believe, if all has always been and always will be, then past, present, future coexists. I know this is a difficult topic also, but how can you see what is to happen, unless it is written there? You see, you cannot foresee what has not happened. We go into deep matters here, when we speak of past, present, future. All coexist. (Yes) I do not feel that as a group, you are ready yet, for fuller explanations on this, but I am sure the time will come, when we can probe deeper into the subject. It is one subject that confuses and puzzles most of you humans. But he foresaw the event, because it was 'bound' to happen, if I could put it that way. You understand? So therefore you cannot term it 'accident.'

George: Thank you.

Les: You said Salumet that nothing can prevent us coming home, when the time is right. Now some time ago I got the information—I don't think it was from you—that if the predetermined time for death was hastened by an accident, causing them to leave earlier than had been planned, that soul would come over to you, but would be 'cocooned,' until the time came when it would have come to you, naturally.

Yes, either the soul will be returned and sent back, or it will as you put it, be 'cocooned,' until such time as the return home was foreseen, if you like.

Les: Yes, so death before it is planned, would be one of the deviations caused by man? (Yes) Thank you that confirms what I was told.

I hope it clarifies puzzlements in your minds.

Les: Yes it does. It appeared to be contradictory at first, but now you've clarified it, thank you very much.

I would say many things would seem to be contradictory; when you look into them, there are always explanations. (Yes—) Nothing would seem to be to your physical brains, to be so simple, but they are, when you are free from this bondage of the physical overcoats. It entraps you all, it stunts your growth, shall we say—growth of spirit sometimes, when in fact, you should be looking further afield, wider, wider, wider.

Les: You are certainly teaching us how to do that.

If I can teach you all just one thing, one thing of acceptance, then indeed I am filled with joy.

Les: You certainly do that.

Sarah: Could I just clarify one point? When you say that the soul is 'sent back again,' do you mean it comes back then as somebody else?

No—I must be quick with this one please—I must go. I am sure that some of you are aware of peoples, who have said they have died and returned; that is what I meant. They believe they have died, when in fact they have only temporarily been removed from the physical body. But you all know that you are attached, until there is a complete severance of the chord. You understand?

Sarah: Yes thank you.

That is what I meant.

Les: Well we know you must go now. I've had to alter our lighting arrangements a little. Are you quite comfortable with the light as it is?

I am quite happy dear friend, it creates no problem and should there be any, of course I will let you know. But it has not created any, this time. I apologise that I cannot speak longer, but I must go.

I leave you all with my love, my blessing and the knowledge that I am ever near.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: God be with you too.

~22nd July 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: I'm sorry numbers are few again.

Again, it matters not. The welcome you give me could not be better. I thank you all for your persistence, dedication, and your love.

Les: We're very pleased to have you back with us, we have missed you. We understand that it is necessary, but nevertheless, we do miss you.

I understand that you feel comforted by words that I use through this one. But let me say, I have not been gone, I have truly been amongst you. Because speech is missing, does not mean I am not close to you.

Les: I see, we did think you were working particularly with your instrument.

Of course, that was the reason that no speech was used. But again I say to you all, remember that I am more than one and therefore am not confined to one vessel, you understand?

Les: Yes we do and your instrument had a marvellous experience at the last meeting—as she described it, an arch of light, radiating light, intense light. But to her astonishment, she saw herself, looking at herself, which confirms what you say, about being more than one.

Yes, and I have to say that while I blend with this one, then she will experience many things. It is not so much her own spiritual capacity, as mine, you understand? (Yes—) But because of the blending of the spirit, then she will of course experience much more.

Les: I'm sure she's going to be delighted to know that and I am very pleased for her too.

You will all eventually be able to give yourselves more, to be used more, by those who surround us, who are close by to you all, under these conditions. Do not assume because I speak only through this one at your meetings, that much is not being done elsewhere, because I assure you that it is, and that each one of you contributes to the whole.

Les: Yes it's nice to know that, even though we don't understand it. It follows on what you were saying, because at our Wednesday meeting, we had been discussing the difficulty of understanding what you tell us and what others tell us, and somebody very strong came through me and was very vehement, that we should not even try to understand. As he said, your little speck of brain, is such a small thing, that you never will understand; learn to have acceptance, rather than try to have understanding and as a contradiction, you will then begin to understand.

We have spoken briefly about your incapacity to understand fully, those things taught to you. But I believe I explained, that as all of you at your own differing stages of development, as the consciousness is raised, then the understanding becomes greater.

Les: Yes you're quite right, you have and it was interesting to have the confirmation of what you had said previously.

Yes, you will not any one of you, have the same experiences, because of the fact that you are all at different stages of development. I know that will raise the question, 'But if we are all together, why do we not all get the same spectrum of experience?' But this cannot be so. Not one of you in this room, can place yourself within the footsteps of another.

Les: I think we all understand that and have no difficulty in accepting it.

I ask you only, and this I told you when first I came, I wish only that you accept what you can, to take what you can accept and to hold onto it. Of course you must raise questions, but try not to have too many doubts. I cannot say more on this subject, I cannot say to you, you will always understand what I tell you, because I know you will not. But that does not mean that the knowledge of Truth, should not be given. You agree with me?

Les: Yes I do and I think we all do.

How else would your children learn, if you did not teach them new things? Things they do not understand to begin with, but with experience and use, they come to know and understand.

Les: Yes quite true and that confirms what was said by the communicator through me, that if we accept, then we shall begin to understand.

That is why it is good, when one such as you, who has more experience and knowledge, can communicate your thoughts and feelings to others. It is good to discuss amongst yourselves; by doing so, you help one-another. Before we continue this time, I wish to say to the gentleman across the room, that he should have some healing, if he would accept it. He is becoming physically and mentally tired and we do not wish that to happen. So dear friend be wise and have some healing. I too will help all I can, but I would suggest that mentally you slow down just a little.

George: Yes thank you for the advice—yes I will.

Do not be too concerned, I know when peoples are told they need healing, that your human imaginations go into, how would you say, 'fast play'? They imagine all kinds of problems, when in fact they do not exist. Now this time, I will take questions and then allow others to come.

Les: Thank you, yes I have a question, I don't know if you want to answer, because it doesn't relate specifically to the work we are doing, but there is a lot of concern in our world at the moment, about the phenomenon of global warming. I expect you've heard it being discussed, and I wondered if you are able to say, if there is going to be an increase in the height of the sea, because of the melting of the ice-cap, or whether the fears are unfounded?

I will respond to this, but firstly let me say that my mission to you, is to teach you about spiritual matters and not so much about concerns of your Earth.

Les: Yes I apologise if the question's out of order.

No, no please do not. I will respond:

Mankind has abused this earthly plane—I know all of you accept this fact. I told you when first I came, that many had gathered from our world to help you, that there were many around your world, who were being given the same information. (Yes—) There have been some changes to the Earth's structure, the Earth's climate—many factors have changed. But all I will say on this matter is this:

The fears are not unfounded, but are not as great as you suspect. Climatic changes will take place, many things about your world will change, but it will never cause destruction of the Earth. I believe I went into more detail before and told you, that there will be a natural progression of your earthly plane.

Les: Yes you did indeed.

But like many things, there will be alterations, mainly man who as caused them. But I can tell you that man has realised, has realised, that what he does, and much is being done to help in that matter. But you cannot undo damage, which has already been done. It cannot be changed, but it is not as great as has been said. I hope that satisfies your question.

Les: Yes it does and I shall not ask any more questions, unless they are of a spiritual nature.

No, please do not apologise, I don't mind, but it is important, that what I come to teach you, is of the spirit.

Les: Yes of course. We do accept that and appreciate it.

Do not be afraid for your world. There is too much doom and gloom in your world now. Please do not add to it, by any negative thinking. It is an opportunity for you all, to use the power of your thoughts.

You see again we return to the Power of Thought. Are there more questions this time?

Les: Yes, this one is of a spiritual nature. Someone came through one of our ladies, on our Wednesday evening, who said that he had never been upon this Earth. I say 'he,' because I can't use any other term, but he was very surprised to be able to touch the physical body and he said, that he was THOUGHT only. Now that has happened in another way before. This communicator was very confused. He said that he was a messenger and had no name and no form. His communication with others in his sphere, wherever that might be, was by thought alone and each entity, had his or her own thought pattern, which was recognised as much as a name. This puzzles me a great deal. Are you able to confirm that such matters do exist, that the universe has places, where THOUGHT only, is predominant in communicating, and is understandable?

I have told you that Thought is energy, all is energy and again, it is a subject we will return to more deeply. It is a subject we must discuss, to clarify many points. You know as you progress in the spirit world, that physical speech no longer exists; it becomes extinct, if you like, because the higher spiritual nature takes over. So the Power of Thought is all that is needed. As you see and feel so many energies around you, the thought patterns used vary greatly, within the spirit world. It depends on the expertise of the spirit involved. As in all matters, it must be practised to perfect. You understand? (Yes—) But I do not understand what you tell me about it being a language between some. It is a language for all, you understand? (Yes) There would be no separate groups of peoples, who would understand, it would be an understanding for all, because it is of the One Energy.

Les: Yes I thought it must be so. This is what puzzled me and why I asked you the question, (Yes) because I wanted to be sure that what I had been telling people who are brought back to us as rescues, that they continue to live in the next plane of life and have a body, and have a body, which to them is physical, etc. etc.—communicating mentally. It seemed to me, by what was said to be, that that would be obliterated, and I couldn't understand that at all.

I will have to say this to you dear friend that it sounds like the communicator who was using the instrument, was indeed in a confused state.

Les: Yes he did admit that.

Yes, it would be the explanation for it. But I tell you now, all thought communication, is understood by all. After all, why would you have separation, when what we are going forward to, is Unity and Love. You cannot go forward to separate. You understand?

Les: Yes, so I am right then, if I accept that the communicator was confused and not properly instructed in what was going to happen, when he came to speak to us?

Yes, I would say to you, as someone who is in charge, always to question if you have doubts; do not be afraid to do so. It would be helpful to the communicator also, to realise that not all that they see as reality, is so. Please understand that because you become spirit, all does not become perfect. There are those in our world who still, although they have progressed to the use of Thought, they are not perfect beings—NONE OF US ARE. You understand?

Les: Yes certainly not in the next immediate planes of life.

There must always be refinements, you see?

Les: Yes and equally, there must continue to be imperfections, until we learn to discard them?

Yes, all spirit in whatever degree, whatever state of progression they are at, there are always those who come from higher realms, to guide and to help them forward. You understand?

Les: Yes well thank you very much for what you've told us, that's comforted my mind that we have been doing the right things anyway, over these years. (Yes) Thank you very much Salumet.

Now if you are happy, I will allow others to come.

I leave you all with my love, I leave you all with my thanks and I ask you all, to offer yourselves, in great humility, to that Great Creative Force, to which we all belong.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed one through Sue, giving a technique for when we are feeling too hot and need to cool down:

To sit in middle of room, in a firm chair.

—Keep legs about 15 inches apart, shoes and socks off.

—Place hands on top of stomach.

—Breathe from bottom of stomach, slow as possible, whilst thinking of cool breeze. Bring hands up with breathe. Then open out hands as you breathe nice big breathe out again.

—At same time as thinking of nice cool breeze, ask for help.

After 5 minutes, there should be cool feeling coming up through feet and up legs—keeping that slow breathing going all the time, until feel more comfortable. It was suggested to do it once a day, until can control body heat, just by the breathing.
There was then a little girl through Eileen, who came and told us she liked to bake bread. She went on to talk a bit about her life in the spirit realms.

~29th July 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: We'd like to thank you for taking the trouble to come and accepting the difficulties, when there's only a small group again, I know it must be more difficult for you.

I thank you for your concern, but always I will endeavour to come amongst you, whenever the opportunities present themselves.

Les: We do appreciate that very much. Hopefully only one more time and then we should be back to full strength again.

It will be—and then we will have much to speak upon. (Good.) All of you this time are much more uplifted in spirit. I am happy to see this and to tell you how glad I am, that you are attaining much within your physical lives. As time continues, I know questions arise, 'Why sometimes are our lives more difficult, when we know more about spiritual matters?' But I say to you, this must be so. Nothing can be achieved without effort and without striving towards that great goal, that oneness which we all seek. Fear not, because always I will be by your sides, to help and encourage you.

Les: Thank you very much again, it's—

I'm sorry to interrupt you, but I wish to speak some words: There is, not amongst these peoples, but others who come here; they have expressed doubts within themselves about the truth of my words. They would not always admit to this, but of course I can see a little further than you.

Les: I'm sure you can.

But this does not concern me greatly, but I would say to those peoples who have doubts, that that is fine, but I would say to them, to express them openly, because dear friends, to withhold within yourselves, doubts and negative thoughts, create that much—I am lost for your word, I am seeking to say that it creates fear amongst you, which should not be there, you understand? (Yes) But I say it should not matter, but I wish you to know that it exists.

Les: Yes thank you, that's in our other meeting? (Yes) Well I shall try and deal with it, if it does come into the open of course.

They must be entitled to what they feel, to what can be accepted by themselves, but it is not good to withhold their feelings within.

Les: No, it only causes festering, doesn't it?

Yes. I hope that by now, you all fully understand the Power of your Thinking and how it rebounds from each one of you, to another. You see now how important it is? (Yes) If I have taught you nothing else, I wish that you hold onto this one issue. Now please to speak.

Les: Thank you. I have been using your teaching in order to deal with other problems which have come to me. I had two ladies here a few nights ago, for three hours. One of them is hopelessly confused; she has had so many different directives as to how, and I quote her words, 'To be nearer my God,' that she just doesn't know what to do. And she started finally, about illusion and reality. Then I had to stop her and said she must realise—and this is where your teaching has been used—that it is necessary for her to accept that she has to use the physical body, even though the soul may be resenting it, for the benefit of the soul's further progress. I don't think she quite understood it, but I had to leave it there because of time. But that did raise in my mind, certain other points. I have thought a great deal about what you have told us about the Power of Thought and sometimes when people speak from the next plane, it seems that there are differing feelings, different acceptances, of what is there and this does puzzle me a little. For instance, we accept that thought is creative and in the next plane its creativeness is much more effective. Now if I can quote an example: Supposing somebody living on this Earth, loved pictures, finally goes over to the next plane, finds that his Power of Thought can produce for him the pictures that he loves and he chooses to live in a place with walls, where he can adorn those pictures, formed by his own thoughts—accepting that this is a possibility. Now is it only he who can see those pictures, or are others able to see them also, even though they were subjects of his thoughts, because it seems sometimes that some people there can see a specific article or view, others cannot see that. Does this all stem from individual thinking, or is there an overall thought, creating the world we are told is there—and our own personal thoughts, can pick up parts of it. It sounds very complicated, I hope you understand what I mean?

No dear friend, I understand fully and I will try to simplify matters for you. Let us speak of illusion and reality: What is illusion and what is reality?

Les: Well I would say that illusion, if all is illusion, it must by definition, become reality.

But whose illusion, whose reality?

Les: Of course, this is the problem.

Yes, let me say this to you: If I give you a topic for each one of you to visualise in your minds, to use the Power of your Thought, to describe in physical words afterwards, do you suppose that each of you will see the same? (No) No, exactly. So when you come to spirit, nothing changes drastically, but there comes a time when the Power of the Thought unifies and becomes as one. In such cases and I speak of much time ahead, then all can see the thoughts of each other. But again it comes to the raising of each individual consciousness. You understand? (Yes) So if you have passed to our side of life, you create your own habitation as you have put it, then only you have created that thing. It does not belong to another, except those who have, how can I say, 'graduated' to higher things. They would have the power of knowing your thought. You understand, it is like a stepping stone, you must go gradually, but what is the Great Creative Force, if it is not but One Thought. You understand?

Les: Yes, if I can put a question in there: Let us presume that a person in there, created a marvellous garden, by his own thinking. (Yes) He would be creating that within the confines of the overall thought?

Of course, but he would be creating his thought within the confines of what he is able to do, within the area of his thoughts. Remember there is much that can be done, but always there has to be, how would you term it, 'block' from others who would not be entitled to see.

Les: I see, this is what I was going to ask. If he then said to some friends, 'I have managed to get myself a marvellous garden, I'd like you to come and see it.' (Yes) Would they be able to see it, because he wished them to do so?

If the desire is there, then they can see.

Les: I see, so they too would have to have the desire to see it.

He would need to be generous in his thinking, for them to receive, you understand? (Yes) It sounds complicated to you, but in fact it is very simple. But once you have grown in consciousness and in the power of using thought—after all that is what we all strive for—you need not speech but only thought in our world, then and only then, will thoughts rebound from one to another.

Les: I see, also what made me think of it and ask the question, was that after your visit last time, we had a charming little girl through, who quite voluntarily described how the flowers spoke to her and sang to her and how the water changes colour and other very beautiful comments on the land, generally. Now she I imagine could not understand having to THINK those things, so am I right in presuming that they exist for her to see and anybody else to see?

There are areas in our world, which are open to all. As you would expect in your world, to go to water, to go to mountains, to go to fields, wherever; so too can this happen in our world. It is open to all who wish to seek. You understand?

Les: Yes, so our thoughts would be homing into the Creator's thoughts, which had already produced that particular scene, to which we wanted to travel. Is that so?

The thought always exists, let me put it that way. You will travel along the energy of thought, when you are capable of doing so. Again it is a matter of how much you have learned.

Les: Yes, which brings me to yet a further question if I may: Those who go over to your world and are not particularly conversant with what is going to happen, they surely would find a pleasant place, to arrive at, before they learned how to produce it by their own thoughts?

All of you who come to our side of life, arrive at where you belong, to where you have earned. It matters not, whether you say what they know on this Earth, as far as spirit matters go, you dear friend cannot know what they have achieved. You cannot judge and say, this one/that one does not deserve this, because only they and the Great Creator, knows what has happened in this lifetime.

Les: Quite. I wouldn't presume to judge them, but I would want to know that I am doing the right thing when we have rescues through, in telling them that it is a happy place for them to go to.

Of course, let me say this dear friends to you: Most of you upon this earthly plane, with have no problems at all, when you return home. Even those you think do not know much. But that is not what is important, it is what they have done, what they have achieved within their lifetimes here. Because they do not speak about what you term spiritual matters, does not mean they are not spiritual.

Les: No I would accept that absolutely, because we have no way of knowing.

Yes, so you cannot say this one/that one will go there, will not have this, because only that spirit will know. And let me say, the knowledge is there open to them; whether they accept it or not, is entirely up to them. So you see dear friend, there are many factors surrounding this.

Les: Yes, so I am right in telling people who come here for guidance knowing nothing about the next world at all, I am right in telling them that during their physical life here, they are knowingly or unknowingly, fitting themselves for the place they will occupy, when they come over to you?

You are correct to say that to them, because indeed that is why we are here. All are here to learn, whether they are aware of the knowledge or not, that is what is happening in their daily lives.

Les: Yes, because it is the soul, which is progressing anyway, and the physical needn't necessarily know of the progress of the soul?

The physical being houses the soul—that is the only reason for it. So I would say to you, look after this physical being, because too many times I hear people say, 'spirit is important,' and they neglect their physical duties. Your lives upon this Earth, should be well balanced between the two, you understand?

Les: Yes, it's a question of taking the middle path all the time, isn't it?

Yes, you must attend to your physical duties, but always look to that Higher Self. I would say to these people who seek for such higher things, firstly to go silently within, because there within lies all; all knowledge, all Love, all Unity, all seeking of that consciousness, which is around.

Les: Yes, I had to tell this lady finally, that she should stop worrying about wondering where to get closer to God, since he was with her all the time; this is what she doesn't realise.

I think you have to explain, we come again to the difficulties of using your physical words, of God. I know it is a word used, but it is confusing to so many. Rather I would say to you, look for the goodness of all, look for the goodness within yourself, before you seek outward on any pathway. You understand that?

Les: Yes I told her to look within herself and realise how much she had done with her life that was good and worth repeating and don't worry so much about the external all the time, because the opportunities are within her.

Let me say this to you, dear friends:

If firstly you cannot accept yourselves as you truly are—and that is an exercise you all should do, firstly come to know yourselves. And there is only one way to achieve this and that is to go into the quietness of yourselves and all will be revealed; all problems will fall to one side and all knowledge can be achieved. If you do not do this, then you create hardships within your daily lives, which are so unnecessary. That is your reality—that is the reality of each and every one of you. So I say to you all, seek not without, but seek within.

Les: Quite. Yes it is difficult for us, but we must try I agree. I personally do so now, much more than I did, since we've had the pleasure of your teaching.

I know dear friend, but it would be desirable, if each one here did so. I know that you all have busy lives to lead, but you must give time for the growth of your soul. It is important.

Les: Yes, to continue that if I may, is it all right for me to continue questioning on this subject?

Yes, please do.

Les: I said that I have been trying to do that, but I must admit, and I don't like admitting it, but I start trying to go within myself each morning before I start the day's work, but unfortunately I always seem to go to sleep, after a few minutes. How can I avoid doing it, or if I can't avoid doing it, does it matter? Is it achieving its object, even though I go to sleep?

It matters not dear friend, it is important that you have offered yourself to the silence, but perhaps I could suggest to you, that you are too soon after your sleep state; perhaps you could find another time, during your busy day?

Les: Yes that's a point, I'll try it.

I will try to help you and see what we can achieve.

Les: Thank you, because also I was condemning myself for falling asleep, even though I can't help it, because it seemed rather insulting to those who are trying to help me and that I don't want.

You will not insult those helpers who come to you. Let me say this to you all, that we help when all of you are within your sleep-state as you call it, but in fact you are coming home, in those few hours of your time. So don't be concerned about this, but let me say this to you: It is an opportunity for you to state that Power of Thought, to practice it, to say, 'I wish to remember all which is taking place.' You understand? (Yes) Try it dear friend and I will see what I can do with you.

Les: Thank you. Yes I have done that quite a lot at night and tried to, before I go to sleep, convince myself that I am going to remember what happens, when I go home. And sometimes I feel, at least in part, I do remember the experience, because I awake feeling quite happy.

Yes, as in all matters, you must continue, you must practice the event, you cannot expect it to happen just so. After all, when first you learn to ride your tricycles, did you manage to do so first time?

Les: No, probably not.

When you were taught your alphabets and your figures, did you learn all first time? No, so why do you think that on spiritual matters, it should be any easier?

Les: I think it's wishful thinking.

Yes, I think too, but continue, because you are capable of much, you can achieve whatever you wish; what you desire becomes then your reality, you understand?

Les: Yes, thank you. Thank you very much for that, I hope I haven't taken too much of your time?

No, I am happy to try to help you all with these questions, but I will leave you this time with a few words and continue this time and see what is available to you.

I say to you all dear friends, that you all are surrounded by many. I wish you could see how much love is extended to each and every one of you, that when you return home, there will be no doubts, there will be no hesitating—there will only be joy, there will only be Love.

And now I leave you this time.

Les: Thank you very, very much from all of us.

~5TH August 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: And thank you again for being with us.

I thank you for your welcome once more.

Les: It's our pleasure to have you.

It is good to see friends old and new.

Les: Yes, we really look forward to these meetings.

It is good that so many of you, have gathered once more. I wish to say to you this time, that all of you are children of Truth, that you leave this room and you spread the Light of Truth. It brings to this room, many people who seek Truth, who seek Light, who seek Knowledge. I say to you dear friends that your own spiritual lights grow daily, as you become accustomed to that Light and Truth yourselves. We welcome back the young gentleman, who I must say, is a child of the Earth. His feet have always sought after distant lands and that will not change in future years. But always he will return to this spiritual band of people.

Paul: That's nice to know.

I believe dear friend, your awareness of us was great, whilst pondering upon flowers of distant lands.

Paul: Well, not great enough.

Do not put yourself down, your awareness is indeed growing. There is much for you to learn and much for you to do, in future years. You are indeed a child of the Earth.

Paul: Thanks. It's a beautiful Earth.

It is beautiful only through the eyes of those who behold beauty. To others it is an Earth plane of misery, destruction and misuse. But to you all dear friends, you now should see your earthly plane, as a planet of beauty with much potential and much good to give forth to human kind. Would you not agree with me? (Agreed) I know when first I came to speak to you, your doubts about your planet were uppermost in your minds. I hope that my teachings—the Truth of all things, has helped to lighten those fears. And now you are aware of the beauty, rather than the darkness.

Les: I certainly am, everybody else have a greater appreciation of the beauties of the world? (Agreed)

Not only of your planet, but you see the beauty within human kind, your fellow man; peoples who come within your daily lives.

Les: Yes, that also is true.

It will become stronger, the more you use your positive thoughts. And always dear friends, this is what we will strive towards. Now, I am happy to take your questions this time.

Les: Thank you. Yes, I have been puzzling quite a bit, about some of your teachings. You have told us that the soul chooses its body for this Earth sojourn, it even chooses its sex and its parents. So presumably it knows what is going to happen to that physical body during that lifetime. What puzzles me, is that if a soul has progressed to a certain degree spiritually, why would it choose a body, which is going to be disliked, vindictive, selfish and a reservoir of all the worst things?

We will speak about this. I have said to you many times, that what the soul decides, is a puzzlement to your human minds. It may not necessarily be, that a disruptive human life, is initially what has been chosen. Remember you have free will, that there are many pathways in your lives and people do choose the wrong way; remember this. But I say to you, those souls who choose difficult lifetimes, are sometimes greater souls, than you may at first imagine. Do not judge a human life, because you cannot see the fuller picture.

Les: No, this is what puzzles me, this is why I asked the question, hoping that you might be able to make it a little clearer for us.

It may be, that the soul has placed itself, within that human situation, of creating what you may term 'disruptive living,' but is in fact providing spiritual growth for those people who surround it. You understand? (Yes—) It may be that the souls who are around, are here to learn specific lessons. For example, let us take 'tolerance,' or 'good thoughts,' even. How else will you learn tolerance, unless you are faced with intolerance? You understand? (Yes) There always has to be the opposite in life, you can see this dear friend, can you? (Yes) So do not always assume that the people you call, 'living bad lives,' it may not be so, you cannot judge, you cannot judge unless you know the full picture. But that is not to say, that everyone who comes is not doing it for 'good' purposes. There are those who tread your Earth, who have indeed chosen the wrong path and may be using disruptive influences for the wrong reason. For example, the drunken father who beats a child, may not be doing that for the child's good or the spirit's growth, but because he has left the right road of life.

Les: Yes, these are the things that puzzled me, you see?

Yes, I would say to you friend, you cannot judge. You cannot place two peoples in the same situation and say that both are right or both are wrong.

Les: This is clarifying it a bit for me—

I know you find life difficult to understand, all of you do. You think that life's strife's and troubles are wrong, but I have to tell you once more, that is not always the case.

Les: No, there is a reason for them, you've told us.

In most lifetimes, the soul has chosen its life's journey and mostly I would say, they would stay on that pathway. But always remember that free will comes into play.

Les: Yes, so going to the first example again, a soul presumably could have chosen to inhabit a 'disruptive body,' knowing that it was going to be of help to other humans around it, during its lifetime (Yes) and it would choose to accept the vicissitudes of that life, by so doing, would be enhancing its own soul's growth. Is that right?

Of course—remember too my son, that not only is it the soul, but all who are concerned with it, that before they leave our world, that a pact is made between them. No one human being enters this lifetime, not knowing what their life's pathway will be. But we have spoken before, about the loss of the memory of the lifetime. (Yes—) So you see, you must not, you cannot, you should not judge. I know you all, all within the confines of this room—find this one of the most difficult things to do.

Les: Yes, I certainly have.

All of you do, all of you do and it takes many, many times of living, to begin to see, that there is indeed a pattern to spiritual growth. You understand?

Les: Yes, that is why I put the question tonight, because I've been thinking a great deal about it, as you may know and I have thought that clarification might be good for us all, because I'm sure my colleagues here, would have thought along the same lines and puzzled about these things.

Yes, it is difficult for you; we accept that these things are and that you will never fully understand. After all, that is why you are clothed within these bodies. There are restrictions and of course, you cannot know until these garments are left behind and you all return home.

Les: Yes, I can better understand now, an author I read many years ago, and a character in one part of the book is a Catholic priest, who said that an intellectual approach to God, is madness, it must be faith.

I would say, no, not only faith, but what you have today, is Knowledge and Light and Truth. That is why all of you are emissaries of spiritual Truth. You go forth all of you and in your own ways, you spread what you know is not blind faith, not a belief, but what you know to be True.

Les: Quite. In the back of my mind, I thought that author was lacking something and what he was lacking was knowledge.

You cannot put pen to paper, on subjects you do not know about. So you cannot judge the author of the words, because he only writes about what he knows.

Les: Of course, I've always pointed out to people, remember that you are reading into any book, the bias of the author.

I have spoken too previously, about the many contradictions that seem to come from our world. But I have told you, that all who come, can only supply you with what they know. So again accept if you truly can and do not judge. I know this is a difficult lesson, but a lesson it is:

To judge not anyone who walks this earthly plane.

It is hard and we accept it.

Les: Yes it is, but I'm sure we shall be forgiven a little slip along the way in that direction, now and again? (Said smiling)

My dear friend, there is no need for forgiveness. It gladdens my heart to see that you think deeply upon these matters, that your awareness, your consciousness, always is being raised, in the right directions. I am happy for you all that you question these things, because there is no harm in questions.

Les: No, well thank you very, very much, for clearing that up for me and I'm not going to grab any more time, I always do that. Would anybody else like to put a question to Salumet?

Sarah: Yes could I just ask, when does the spirit actually enter the human body? Is it as soon as the baby is conceived, or once the child is born?

I believe I have answered that question before.

Les: Yes you have.

Yes, there is much controversy from our world on the subject, but I tell you that the spirit enters the body on conception. There is much talk on this and I am aware of the differences of opinion, but I have said to you, that the moment of conception is when the spirit enters, because after all, it has been waiting for such time to occur.

Sarah: Thank you.

Les: If I could follow from that, I think the lady's question was prompted by the fact that many embryos have just been destroyed, embryos that have been frozen by our medical scientists. So, yes Sarah, they have been killed. That was what was bothering you I think?

Sarah: Well that was part of what was on my mind and also this twin that is going to be aborted too.

I have to tell you, that it is always up to the human being, what 'way' they take in life. But I say to you, that on the whole, abortion is wrong.

Sarah: Thank you.

Les: Those embryos that have just been destroyed, they of course would return to your world, wouldn't they, to await a further birth period here?

Let me say a little about this subject. I am aware of what you speak about, and I believe I have told you also in earlier days, that we have what is called, 'spirit pool,' because I remember dear friend, you questioned me on that also. (Yes) When spirit is forced back to our world—and that is the only word I can find that is appropriate for now—they return to the 'pool of spirit', to await what happens to them next time. Spirit waits to be born and you may say: 'Well why did the soul not know that this would happen?' It is a case of man interfering, you have to remember this. And man does abuse and man does destroy and man does interfere with nature. I hope this is clear to you. (Affirmed)

Les: If I could ask one extra question on that: The 'pool of spirits' as you call it, we understand that and can accept the inference, would those spirits have any knowledge in their own right, whilst they're in the pool, or are they in a dormant stage?

Whilst in spirit pool, they are buffeted from all things, for a period of time. I believe you might call it, a recovery period, when then they will be guided and helped to know what to do next.

Les: I see, so they do become, in effect, a living entity again, in your world?

Of course, but they need that recovery time, because they have been expelled from this world, under difficult circumstances.

Les: Yes, they've been forcibly expelled haven't they? (Yes)

Mark: Can an aborted child later come back through the mother it was aborted through originally?

Of course this can happen, but it is not something that happens generally. There would have to be a very good reason for this to occur. It would depend upon why the abortion took place. It depends on all aspects of things—what was in the mother's mind and why the soul was aborted. It's a complicated issue, but I would say, generally, no.

Les: And you would always condemn abortion, in any shape at all, and for any reason at all?

No, you cannot make it black or white, it is not so simple. Sometimes the mother aborts for what she would consider very good reasons, health reasons. She does not get rid of the child for selfish motives. You understand?

Les: Yes, that's back to considering the motive, rather than the action.

Always it is cause and effect, remember, and remember also, that generally most peoples do not have the knowledge that you all have. You understand?

Les: Yes, to them it's purely a physical thing, isn't it?

Of course. To most peoples, a foetus in the womb, is not a child, but I have to tell you, those of you here who have greater knowledge, that they are ridding themselves, of another soul. They are breaking their contracts, perhaps you can understand those terms?

Les: Yes, when you use those words, we can understand that they are breaking a contract, but as you say, those who create that action, are not aware of the spiritual nature.

They do it unwittingly, so again you have to make allowances and you must not judge.

Les: Yes, that remark is going to occur to us many, many times, about not having to judge, because so many things are open to misjudgement, aren't they?

Yes. You will see, when you return to Spirit, all those times within your lifetime here—the times when you have misjudged others, and let me say to you dear friends, those are painful times for most souls; when they see the power of their thoughts against another—and remember, it is your thought which you are sending forth, when you make judgement upon another human being.

Les: So if we made a misjudgement upon another human being and even if that person wasn't aware of our thoughts, could those thoughts influence that person?

Of course, it would depend on the power of the thought. We have spoken of this before.

Les: Yes, so it's not the physical person who would understand it, but the soul.

The soul will pick up—it depends upon the intensity of the thought.

Les: Yes, but in any case, it would be the soul, which would react and not the physical being.

And let me tell you that these thoughts always will rebound back to the sender.

Les: Yes, I quite accept that.

Good or bad, these thoughts are energy and we have said energy is not static. So it cannot be retained, so it will rebound back to the sender. So please think upon these words and again, I have returned, have I not, to the Power of your Thought? (Agreed) You see dear friends, no matter what subjects we discuss, which subjects we bring forward in these meetings that always it returns to the Power of Thought, in one way or another.

Les: It's inseparable from everything, isn't it?

Of course, and once you fully understand and realise this, then I would say to you, you have opened up yourselves, to that Great Creation which pervades all things and then and only then, will you become a small part of the Whole.

Les: Yes, from what you tell us, it's almost frightening for us to realise what power we do have, without realising it.

I hope I do not bring fear into your hearts—that is not my purpose.

Les: No, of course not. Don't misunderstand me please, but it could be frightening, (Yes) when we realise the Power of Thought.

Yes, but it is crucial to you all, to your consciousness, to your understanding of living, that you do begin to try to see, what THOUGHT is.

Les: Yes, we know that you would never bring fear to us, but that's indicative of our little tiny physical mind's interpretation.

Yes, remember always that you need to grow and to grow sometimes, you need to take one step backwards. But know always, that you tread sure-footedly, onwards and upwards and that you are surrounded by many, who come to help, to uplift you and to bring you that Truth, Light, Knowledge, Wisdom—whatever words you wish to use. They surround you all, to help you and to help you to further the Truth of our world.

Les: Yes, I think I can speak for everyone when I say, that since you began teaching us, we have all become much more aware of those who are around us.

I hope so, because you cannot see all of them, I know, but as time continues, as your knowledge increases, you attract to you, those higher and greater in spirit, because they are attracted to your spiritual lights.

Les: Yes, that's something we have to keep in mind all the time. As we've said before, think less of the physical, and more of the spiritual.

Yes, I have said you must keep a fine balance. After all, you have come to this life to learn much, but you must look after your human frames and your human duties. But do not neglect your spirits, because dear friends, that is the real YOU, which will be carried forward, as you know. And the more you can learn whilst here in these human frames, the better it is for you, when you return home. I think I must leave you this time. But I will say this to you dear friends, that:

You all are part of the Great Creative Force, which is responsible for all things. It belongs in all that you see, all that you touch, all that you do. It belongs to you and you to it. I leave you now, with much Love. I thank you once more, for your coming and joining together, for creating this spiritual union for a short time, within this room.

Les: We thank you. This month is a small anniversary, it's two years since you began teaching us and I'm sure we've learned more in those two years, thanks to you, than ever we have learned before, on the same basis, and we do appreciate it.

I do not need your thanks, but I will accept it graciously, thank you.

(Thanks expressed)

~12th August 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

As always, your welcome is graciously accepted, but of course this need not be put into words, because without your love and help, I could not come to you.

Les: No I understand that, nevertheless we do greatly appreciate you doing so. We can sense the love that you bring with you.

I hope that you can, because it enfolds you all.

Les: Yes, I mustn't take the liberty of answering for everybody all of the time, everybody feels it I think?

(Agreement + thanks)

I know it brings you upliftment for your daily tasks. I know that it sustains you through your week, when we are not gathered here together and in doing so, it brings joy to my heart. I would like to say this time, that I fully believed that this time, we would have had the instrument in full control, but it is not to be this time.

Les: I see, never mind we still look forward to it and we'd hoped we would be a full meeting, but unfortunately one lady is still ill and the other is nursing her.

I am aware of the situation there and I will do what I can to help.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

But I would like to speak to you a little about some of your physical ailments. (Yes) You spoke about the lady's problems. I would like you to think about this problem, as an example in comparison to the spirit. 'What is the comparison?' you say. I say to you, the physical workings of the body, must be compared to the whole sustenance of your lives. It means that somewhere, the lady—lack of life, disturbance of the energy of life, has become unbalanced. Do you follow my meanings?

Les: Yes I do, she has had a lot of emotional problems I know and I have wondered whether this is contributory.

Yes you see, without the sustenance of life, all goes haywire within your physical being. As in all conditions, there must be balance within your life. So until she confronts the true meaning of what she is about, there can be no true healing. You understand?

Les: Yes, it stems from what you told us last week, that we have to understand the soul, rather than the physical body and look for the reason for which the soul is doing this.

Yes, because you see, this is another hard lesson for you all to understand. When I tell you that you create your own illnesses I too often hear your gasps of disbelief.

Dear friends I tell you, whatever illnesses come to you within your lifetimes whilst on this earthly plane, is DONE by yourselves, whether it be emotional, whether it be that you place yourselves within conditions—physical conditions I speak of now. YOU are responsible for the state of your physical being.

This is indeed a hard lesson for you all to accept, but accept it you must.

Les: We do accept it, but as you say, it is a hard lesson.

But once you can accept, then you have the power to put it right. The problems lie in your lives that you do not fully accept.

If you have the power to create the illness, you have the power to become well.

Les: Of course, it's a logical thing, isn't it?

You call it 'logic,' I dear friend call it 'natural.' But I will help that one.

Les: Thank you very much. You may be interested to know that since we last met, I've tried to explain to the best of my ability, your explanation about the soul-body composition to people and I must admit I was quite surprised at the way they accepted it, quite willingly.

Do not be surprised when there is acceptance of what you tell people, because when you do the work of the spirit, then you are receiving help, to GIVE forth that knowledge. The people who accept, do know and understand on a spiritual level; whether they are aware on a physical level, is another matter. But do not be surprised dear friend, the work that you do, is great indeed. But always we stand behind you, because at this time in your evolution, the Truth must stand fast this time, because too many times in times gone past, have the Truth of spirit fallen by the wayside. It has always existed, but has been rejected, but I said when first I came, that many of us have gathered this time and we will ensure that the Truth becomes widespread and this time, it will be accepted.

Les: Good, splendid news.

Too many times have people turned their back, with the Truth of Knowledge behind them. We cannot allow this to continue and although mankind is endowed with freewill, when we gather in the strength that we have this time, then the Truth cannot be denied.

Les: We are certainly pleased to hear that and when I was speaking to those two people, I remembered what you have told us also, that the information is given to us and to others, when we are ready to receive it.

Yes, that is why you should never attempt to force your concepts, your ideas, your ideals, the Truth, upon one who is not ready; because you see, it is not that they doubt you, it is because the soul is not ready to accept. You understand?

Les: Yes, I think we are all beginning to understand the concept of soul, rather than physical, aren't we? Does anyone have a question on that? Or do we all understand it clearly?

No they don't quite, there are some who have not fully reached the understanding, but we are working on them! So don't be concerned about these peoples here, we will work hard, they will not be allowed to go free. (Chuckles) And I don't say that to make you afraid, I say it with tenderness and with love.

(Agreement + thanks)

Les: I know you say it for our own interest.

Yes, but we are getting there. Whilst they are having thinking times, then that can only be good and that is when I will always be one step behind them, to make them understand. Now, do we have questions this time, because we wish this time, to allow the others to be influenced by those who stand beside them.

Les: I see. Yes I did have a question, but it's a rather lengthy one, so if you'd prefer us to remain in the silence, so the others may do as they wish, then I'm quite happy for that.

It would perhaps be best, to wait until we have more power, if it is a question of long length, then I would prefer dear friend to leave it this time.

Les: Yes of course I do understand and it does follow on from your teachings about the power of thought and the existence of the soul in various conditions, so I'm quite content to leave it for a future time.

We have much time to discuss much, but I think for this time, it would be good for all sitters, to be allowed to feel the energies of those around them. It is imperative that they feel, that they begin to sense those who stand close by, if only it is to bring peace into their lives, if only it is to raise their awareness for one moment, then our task is successful. It may help if you dear friend, quietly discuss amongst yourselves something you find of interest. It would help to raise the consciousness of those sitters here, who find it difficult to sit in the silence for too long.

Les: Yes, well if it's agreeable, I suggest that we discuss what I was going to ask you anyway, so that we can have pre-knowledge of the question next time, or when you agree to it.

I will be happy when we have the lady who sits next to this one, when she is present. I hope you understand?

Les: Yes I do and we will discuss it then between ourselves quietly and hope that those who are with us, will be able to let us know that they are there.

I will leave you now dear friends, with the knowledge that always whilst you tread this Earth that I will remain with each one of you, until such time as the last one of you returns to us.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: Our love be with you.

We then sat quietly and our discussion began, about ghosts, power of thought, the imprinting of energies on the ether—

Finally one briefly came through Eileen to help in her own return to normal consciousness.

~19th August 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: I'm sorry we have to give an apology again, that our two sources of power are not with us, because of sickness, it's a bit unfortunate.

I thank you for your welcome this time. I would say to you, do not be concerned for these two peoples, all will be well. I have said, it matters not when you have absences amongst you, but of course we realise and understand that the one who is here gives much in helping me to come to you.

Les: Yes we do know that, which is why we are disappointed she's not here tonight, but it can't be helped.

I would like to say to you all that some of you are in need of comfort since last we met. I will help when I can and I say to those concerned, do not allow your lives to pull you down.

Now I will say greeting to those who normally would not be with us, but have joined us this time.

Les: Yes, they are interested in what you tell us and they do come to our other meeting, as you probably know.

I am aware. I would like to say to you, there will be in time to come, many who will wish to speak in this room with us at these meetings, but I say to you this: Please do choose those who come carefully, as I know you do. But there will come a time when there will be those who seek not Truth, but who come for their own benefits. You understand?

Les: Yes I do and those I shall attempt always to keep away.

I know you will do that, but I wish to reinforce my words to you.

Les: Thank you, yes I shall hope for your help in doing so.

Now, before we have any questions this time, I wish to say to this new gentleman who joins us this time, why has it taken so long?

Jack: I haven't really known which way to go about it to be honest—I'm slightly confused with it all to be quite honest with you.

Yes I know and understand, but let me say dear friend these words to you: Throughout your life, opportunities have come to you, to move forward in the right direction of your life. Unfortunately, you have a critical mind, do you not?

Jack: I do yes.

Yes, this dear friend has held you back. I tell you this, this one has within his hands, the capability to do good for others, if he should so desire, but as it stands at this present time, he does not have the awareness to open up his consciousness to all that is available to him. But I am sure that if you continue to come amongst these peoples, that which you have been doing, you will begin to see and to understand the power of Truth. Here we have in this good friend, a teacher of much Truth. This gentleman (Les) who has given himself to spirit, for so many of his earthly years, can be your guidance and your light. But you must make yourself available to him, you understand?

Jack: I do, I'll do that, thank you.

I will say only this to you both, that life has been difficult along your life's pathway, but let me say to you both, that you have stepped out into a new era of time, in understanding, in knowledge, in fulfilling your earthly pathway. So take heart dear ones, lift up your hearts, open your minds to all that surrounds you and you will find Light.

Les: Thank you very much. Any question you would like to ask on that either of you? (Sallie + Jack)

They have much in their minds, but do not know how to broach the questions. It would be good for them to think quietly, just the two of them and discuss what they truly feel, not what they know, not what they do not understand, but truly what they feel. You understand my meaning? (Yes) You must place to one side all physical emotions, because you see these emotions belong to your earthly life. You need to dig deep, to find that spiritual light within yourselves and only then, will you begin to understand who and what you are. I will leave you with those words.

Sallie + Jack: Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much.

Now, I know we have questions this time.

Les: Yes, there is one I haven't asked the lady's permission, I don't know if you'll regard it as permissible, but she has visited a psychic doctor and has had an operation on her back, but she's not very happy about it at the moment as to whether it's been as successful as she'd hoped. Are you able to give her any reassurance on this please, I can understand if you don't want to answer the question?

I am happy to speak to the lady, if she does not mind my doing so.

Debbie: No, that's fine thank you.

I have spoken about spiritual healing on previous occasions and I do believe that now you understand that what I tell you, is that you all are responsible for illnesses within the physical being. You know and you accept this do you not? (Agreed) Spiritual healing will only take place when all aspects of your being are in balance. We can speak of energies, we can speak of cause and effect, but to simplify matters, I will answer the question you put to me directly, that the time is not right for full healing; not because the spirit doctors have not done their work, they have, but you understand that they too have limitations to what they would be allowed to do. Do you understand this? (Yes) So therefore we come to the aspect within your life which needs to be dealt with. You need to look at the emotional body, you need to look at the spiritual aspect of that emotional body and find what the true route of the problem is. I do not wish to discuss that amongst the peoples, but if you like I can tell you privately.

Debbie: Yes please.

I will arrange that some time perhaps next meeting, to be allowed time to speak with you privately.

Debbie: Yes thank you.

Can this be arranged?

Les: Yes it can indeed.

I can then give you some light on what is the true problem.

Debbie: Thank you.

But of course no matter what advice I give you, if you are not prepared to carry out what you know to be the Truth, then there will be no physical healing. These concepts apply to all; we have spoken extensively I think, about what you must accept as being your doing, when it comes to physical illnesses. You have to, if you do not, then you create more illness within the physical body. You understand? (Yes) I hope that will be enough for you this time, (Yes—) but I will try to do what I can to help you put the problems right. (Thank you.)

Only when the Spirit is touched, can there be healing and it has not happened yet. No one you see, can undo what you have done, you see?

Debbie: Yes. (Yes)

Les: We shall arrange that private sitting at the next meeting, if that's agreeable to you?

I am happy to do so, I think it would be best, I know all are friends within the room, but when we speak about these private matters, I would rather speak directly to the person concerned.

Les: Of course, yes everybody here is quite happy to go along with that I know, including myself, so before we start our proper meeting, we will arrange for the lady to have a private session with you.

I thank you.

Les: Thank you very much.

I am sure she will be helped, provided she wants to be and let me say just a few words about this: That sometimes people say, 'I want to be well, I want to be better,' but in fact the spirit self is reacting against these wishes. Can you understand this? You may find that difficult, but it is so. We need to go deeply into the matter. Now I will leave that there with you.

Les: Thank you. Right now if I might ask a further question, it's part of the one I'm waiting to put when our other two friends are back, but it does fully on your teaching about the Power of Thought. We were discussing last week apparitions, visitations, ghosts, whatever you want to call them and I wonder if it's possible for those on your side of life, to project their thoughts into our atmosphere and create those phantoms, which are not infrequently seen, by a number of people, such as phantom cars, coaches and horses and other aspects of ghostly visitations. Are they created by Thought from your world, or are they remnants of a power which did exist and is still fluid?

Yes, I take your question and I will say this to you: There would be no purpose in thoughts of that nature, coming from our world. Remember that we move on a much higher frequency than you do here on the Earth plane. I will go into this further, but I would rather devote the time, to an evening of energy, which I have promised you beforehand. But I will say this to you, I will try to simplify it for you:

What is energy? It is only Light in Motion and it is not a simple topic to discuss, there are many complexities, but I will say to you, these 'phantom sightings', as you call them, are energy which has stuck within the denser matter of your Earth, in the same way as your body energies become stuck, or blocked, as you like to say, you follow? (Yes—) It is an imprint, it is energy which has become almost motionless and is triggered at some point in time, to reproduce itself to be seen by others; that is all. It is almost like the negative of a photograph, which has been captured in time.

Les: I see and what is it that triggers it?

It may be that certain energies around your Earth, gather at certain times, it may be—remember too, that energy—and this is what we need to discuss—as in all things, Energy has Memory. (Pause) I hear the stunned silence, but this is something that we need to discuss fully, before we can discuss these topics.

Les: It's certainly an entirely new concept to me.

Why? Why not?

Les: I agree, but I'd never thought of it in that way.

Are you not energy? Are you not vibration that moves? Do you not retain memory? Do you not bring memories from times past?

Les: Of course.

So if you are energy with memory, why should not all other energies have memory?

Les: Because I've been looking at it from an entirely wrong angle then—as usual. (Chuckle)

Yes, dear friend, again I say, your earthly brains limit you so! So now I leave with that thought only and we will come to the very complex issue of energy, which I hope and I do believe it will confuse you for some time, but eventually I hope the understanding will come to you. Does this help you?

Les: We look forward to hearing more about it.

I see your brain is working now.

Les: (Chuckle) Yes, they're churning madly, aren't they? Well, thank you again for that.

Now, as I say it is a complex subject, one which cannot have just one answer. There are so many different fields, which have to be touched upon. I could speak of molecules, electricity, atoms—it would only confuse you and after all, these things are earthly items of knowledge, they do not belong to the spirit. You understand?

Les: Yes we do.

So why would I speak about subjects you already know? I will try to bring to you knowledge which thus far has not been spoken about too much.

Les: That would be excellent if you do, we would appreciate it.

But I would prefer to leave it till we have our powerhouse of help.

Les: Yes of course, I do understand.

Or at least (if) not that, (then) when I have full control of this one. But do not be concerned, the time will be chosen wisely and I say to you that all the other subjects which I have promised you, will come to pass to you. (Thanks expressed)

Les: We certainly look forward to them.

Again you must be patient, because as you know, our time-states differ and what you consider to be a long time, is no more than a blink of your eyes. You understand?

Les: I think we can all say we have learned that thing, if nothing else—patience!

I do believe you are on the beginnings, but I would not say that you have learned it. I would say we all have a long way to travel.

Les: Yes I'm sure, but at least we've started, thank you.

Now, have we more questions this time?

Les: Has anybody a question they'd like to ask Salumet?

George: Yes, I wonder if I could ask some more details about what happens at the close of one of the Earth's great civilisations, taking perhaps Atlantis as an example. The picture that I have in my mind, is that many souls will continue their progression elsewhere, some will reincarnate in new civilisations on Earth, some beings may survive the deluge or whatever, and retain their superior knowledge and others might regard them as gods, so that what myth and legend we have today, may have arisen from that source. If I'm wrong in that picture, would you please correct me?

Firstly, let me say this, I have told you that many civilisations have been upon this earthly plane. Many have become extinct, because of their own foolishness. Also I have told you, that all souls have more than one aspect to them. In answering this question, you must remember this. When you talk of souls retaining their great knowledge and being revered for that knowledge, being classified as gods by many, this indeed happens, but it should not. There is only one Great Creative Force, there is only one Source of Knowledge, there is only one form of Love and goodness, and all others who have trodden, whether they retain much earthly knowledge or not, does not matter. All of these earthly events and happenings are lost in the greater scheme of things. So what you want me to tell you dear friend, really does not matter too much, because you see, all souls who return to the spirit world, take with them their knowledge, however great or small, to join with that Great Creative Force of knowledge, for better and higher things in the world of spirit. You understand? (Yes) I do not mean to say that these civilisations which have existed upon your Earth, matter not. Of course all of your Earth's history has created what you have today, or at least some of it has. But each stage of development upon your Earth is not what is important. Knowledge is only worth retaining, if it is spiritual knowledge. You understand? (Yes—) Of course there are those peoples, who have trodden this Earth, who would influence others. You know all of this, I do not wish to retrace what I have spoken about before. But you should be thinking dear friend, on the knowledge which you have gained, which those of you around you, have gained and in what way can you further your soul's growth; because after all, each individual here upon this earthly plane, returns home and contributes to the whole aspect of themselves. You are but a splinter in a piece of wood, you understand?

George: Yes that does clarify greatly, thank you very much.

Too much is placed I think, upon your history of past events. We have said, what is past is the future, the present and the past, all as One. So you should not distinguish one from another. I hope this helps you.

George: Yes it does, thank you.

Les: Thank you very much.

I wish to say to the gentlemen, whom I have spoken to, that he has gained much in his own understanding and there are those, who come close to you, who are proud, if I may use an earthly term, they are proud of your development, in quite a short space of time. So dear friend, be happy and contented with what you are achieving.

George: Thank you.

I will take one more short question this time, before I leave you.

Les: Would anybody like to put a short question?

No—I will answer when they ask me, in their quiet moments.

Les: Right, well thank you very much again for you company and your wisdom, which as usual has been extremely enjoyable and instructive.

If it brings you knowledge, if I bring you peace, if I bring upliftment, then truly I have been working well and I say to you all, that my Love goes with you all, whichever way your paths lead, whichever way you wish to travel, always I am by your side.

Les: Yes I don't think any of us doubt that now.

May all of you feel the Love of that Great Creative Force from whence we came.

Les: And we hope you feel ours for you. God be with you.

There then followed a bubbly light soul through Eileen, who got us all laughing, before we closed.

~26th August 1996~

Salumet gave a private session to one member (Debbie) at the beginning of the meeting, which is why the meeting was shorter this time:

Thank you dear friends for your patience and understanding.

Les: Thank you for your consideration for the lady.

I did feel that on this occasion that it was important that I speak with her. I know that she will find my words to be both of comfort and should she use those words wisely, she can free herself from pain. But as in all of you, I can only advise and you must play your parts, you understand? (Affirmed) And I believe that the lady now, has full knowledge of her pain.

Les: That's splendid news and we do appreciate you helping us and I assure you it's absolutely private, as our recording device was switched off.

I do thank you. I am sure that if she so desired to discuss it with you then she will. But of course the choice is hers. This is not something I would do often and again I say to you, thank you for your tolerance and your patience.

Les: I thank you for your concern for one of our group, we do appreciate it.

I think this time, I will answer one short question and then allow others to come to you all this time and may I ask please, that when the lady who normally works with me here, is not available, that the one named as Lilian, please to sit here, if she does not mind?

Les: You'd be quite happy to do that, wouldn't you Lilian?

Lilian: Yes of course.

She provides much in the way of support, this one.

Les: Good, that's also very nice to know. Yes we'll arrange that in future. I have one question, if I might, when you said that I should rest more, did you mean physically, or from the psychic work?

No, this time I mean your physical being. I know that time is important and there is little enough of it, I'm sure. But you do need to rest a little more.

Les: It's quite permissible to carry on with the meetings, as I do then, but I will not take on any more of the extra evenings, that I have been doing.

Yes, you must look after yourself, because you see, as you grow older in your earthly years, so the body depletes its energies and you must allow sufficient rest for that physical being.

Les: Right, I will see to that, once my present commitments are met, I shan't take on any more.

But I don't give you permission to stop.

(Laughter)

Les: I'm pleased about that—I'd hate to have to.

I'm not ready for that yet.

Les: No, nor am I, I'm very pleased to hear you say so, but I will cut out the others, I probably have been taking on too much for people who want help and I do understand and appreciate your concern.

Yes you cannot help others, if you do not recognise when you also need to rest.

Les: Yes I shall do that in future, thank you for telling me. But I was delighted to hear that you won't let me stop.

I do not have complete control over that one, but there are many who are behind you and will help you all they can.

Les: Thank you and thank you again for all you've done tonight.

I am happy to say that this time there is more peace and contentment amongst you. It is wonderful for me, when I feel that this is so, because you give out so much more, when your lives are happy.

Les: Yes it's interesting you should say that, because I was just about to say to you, that you've been away from human concepts so long, you might not realise our reaction tonight, for what you've done for one of our colleagues. I think I could say for everybody, that it's brought us much closer to you. Isn't that so?

(Agreed)

Thank you and you are kind with your words, you are kind with your love and I will accept them from you, most graciously.

Les: Thank you, we're pleased that you do.

I sometimes wish that as I leave you, I could gather you all together and take you with me, on a journey, but as of yet, this is not possible.

(Enthusiastic responses)

Les: But it's a lovely thought and we thank you for it.

Now, I think I must leave you and I leave you with all that I can give.

(Thanks expressed)

Les: And our love goes with you of course and we look forward to our next meeting and again thank you for tonight, God be with you.

~2nd September 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: Thank you for joining us once more.

Forgive my lack of words, but I wish to embrace you all in my love.

Les: Thank you.

I bring with me this time, the love of many who surround each one of you. They stand by you at all times and for this one time, they wish to stand close by for short time this time.

Les: That's lovely to know. Would that be the reason that I thought there was an unusual amount of peace and love here tonight, when I sat down?

Yes, I would ask all of you, if you will be willing to sit quietly for a few moments and allow the blending of spirit with spirit.

Les: Yes of course.

There is of course good reason for this; it is essential that you all feel Power of Love. Shall we do so now please?

Les: Certainly.

We all then sat in silence for about five minutes and then Salumet continued:

Dear friends, I would be most surprised if you do not feel upliftment, when you leave this room. It should sustain you for hours and maybe days.

Les: Thank you and thank everybody who has been good enough to be with us to do that.

They ask not for thanks; they are always close by you, these who have been near to you this time, are those who truly have a spiritual bond with you all. So for them, there must be no thanks. Now, I want to say to you that for this time, I will speak a little to you.

Les: Thank you, we're pleased at that.

So if you have questions for me, please ask now.

Les: Yes I will. Recently we have had on our TV screens, programmes about the 'supernormal,' and the other day there was one where messages, which had no apparent human origin, were shown on our computer screens. The language was that of about 400 years ago and the communicator referred to the computer, as his 'box of light.' They were quite lucid expressions given and everybody who saw it is puzzled. But I thought back to what you told us a long time ago, that your colleagues who have gathered in strength, to prevent the vandalising of this Earth anymore and you said that they would be using every sort of communication possible. I wondered whether what we saw recently, is coincidence, or whether it is part of your plan, to use every possible means of communication?

Yes I understand your question and yes I did tell you that there would be many new forms of communication. (Yes—) It should not be strange to you, after all it is the same energies being used, as the energy from which you are made. It is only now being utilised by those who have attained the knowledge to use them. I will say this to you and I am aware of what you speak about, that your box of light, as you refer to it, is the newest form of communication known to man. (Yes—) But it has been known in our world, for some considerable time. And also, it was meant to be used in this way, because of the fact of being widely used, by all peoples in your world. It can reach many people when it becomes more widely used. It is not communication with one person, as we have had in the past, but many peoples will not be able to dispute what they see and what they hear.

Les: Good, so will it be happening again then?

It is already happening throughout your world, you will hear of it more and more, beside other forms of communication, which we are now working with.

Les: That's most interesting.

It has to go forward. Although communication has always existed, there have always been areas of doubt. (Yes—) You are aware of it, so to continue to reach peoples, we have to use what is most acceptable to them.

Les: Well I must say, I'm delighted to hear it.

You do not find it odd, that the medium that you call computers, is now so widely used. After all, it had to come, there always will be new technology within your world. There is much still to come, there are many who have gathered together in our world, to ensure that this time, peoples will listen, peoples will not deny the Truth. The Truth must become known by all, if this world of yours is to continue its true pathway.

Les: Yes, when I was watching the programme, my mind immediately went back to what you've told us about it and those very words you've just used.

It will all come to pass; what I tell you will happen and it will not happen only within your own country, but in many countries throughout your world—it is happening now.

Les: Good, and are there special conditions necessary, before these messages can be given on a computer screen?

It is only the use of the energies. It is helpful if the person using the computers, is attuned with us in spirit. As with all forms of communication, those of us in our world, will seek the right conditions, wherever they appear.

Les: Good, so it might happen to anybody, if they are in tune with you?

You are all spirit, so there is no reason why you should not be receivers.

Les: That's something I look forward to with interest.

That is our intention that a wider field of peoples upon your Earth plane, see and hear for themselves, the Truth, the evidence, which they cannot dispute.

Les: That's interesting, because recently there has been developed what is called the Internet, which means instant communication, through those screens, to any part of the world and this no doubt you are aware of, and this is what you'll be using then?

That is why this form of communication has been chosen.

Les: Splendid! A lot of people are going to have a lot of surprises, aren't they?

But we hear with amusement sometimes, 'Are mediums as singular people, will they become extinct?' I say never!

Les: No I can't imagine that happening.

So accept this new form of communication with the love, with which it comes. You will hear more of it and you will continue to hear of new ways of communication.

Les: Good thank you very much indeed, an interesting future to look forward to in that field then.

I did tell you when I first came to you, that what I told you, would be verified by others throughout your world.

Les: Yes you did indeed.

And this is only one example of those words.

Les: Good, well they're certainly escalating then and the spreading of the knowledge is obviously going to be of great importance.

It gladdens my heart and those with whom I come to this earthly plane with, that there are many more who are interested in what we term 'The Truth'. They will withhold the knowledge for only a little time, those in power who know; they cannot withhold it forever and the young people now, are beginning to use their emotions, to know when something is The Truth.

Les: Yes they are, you're quite right.

And it gladdens me so!

Les: It certainly makes us here very pleased and many groups like this are going to be pleased about it.

It is also good, that communication will be open to so many—to sceptics, to believers. After all you all are spirit first and foremost and what is good for one, should be available to all.

Les: Yes, I thought of you again today and some of your past statements, because I heard on our radio, a comment from a bishop, saying that if they throw away all their regalia, they're going to be much more human and I thought that was a very apt remark for him to make.

Let me tell you dear friend, that these people of power and I have just used the words, they also belong within your churches, these people who have withheld Truth, for many of your centuries. At this time in your evolution, they are laying down those misdeeds of Truth. At last they realise that the populace of the Earth, will no longer be fooled, that they will accept, only what they truly believe. So they have to move forward, if they are not to remain in ridicule, by the mass of the peoples.

Les: Yes, actually that occurred to me when I heard it, and I wondered what had been prompting them to make this statement. They must have been having a little nudge.

I think I best say, a rather large nudge, as you call it.

Les: (Chuckles) Yes, though it was lovely to hear it.

We are working within many fields and those peoples upon your Earth, who are in positions to teach others, to have the power over many peoples, the time has come to expose themselves to only the Truth; and it is beginning to happen.

Les: Good, well that certainly is wonderful news.

I would end my words by saying that the peoples who inhabit this earthly plane at this time, will never know so much development of spiritual truths, as are happening in your world at this present time. There is a gathering of us all, many from our world who are working now, for even greater truth, than has been known previously.

It is happening dear friends, and I am pleased that you are here, whilst it is beginning.

Les: Good. Yes, it's certainly going to be very, very interesting to see it developing, because I feel that once it really begins and gets hold of the peoples thoughts, then escalation is going to be very, very rapid.

Yes, it is what we work towards. We cannot allow The Truth to go under, as it has in your centuries past. The Truth has presented itself many, many times, only to be put under, by those peoples in positions of power, who have downtrodden peoples, who have not allowed freedom of speech. In many areas of your world, has there been injustice in this field and we cannot and will not allow it to happen this time.

Les: Good, well that's wonderful news for future generations also.

Now, if you are happy, I will finish my words this time and perhaps allow others to speak.

Les: Yes certainly. Thank you very much for that answer, it's very enlightening.

Are you happy with it, are you left with doubts?

Les: No I've no doubts at all, no I believe implicitly what you tell us.

Then I will leave you all with my love and know that when you leave this room, you will be surrounded by the love given to you this time. I say good night to you all, may that Great Creative Force shine from within you.

Les: Thank you for your blessing and our love goes with you and to all those who've been with us tonight.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed a communication through Sue who gave messages to two of the sitters. (Mark and Les)

~9th September 1996~

The early section of this recording fades in and out and is difficult to hear at first:

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

It brings me much joy to be with you.

Les: We certainly have a lot of joy with your company

As my control becomes stronger with instrument, it takes longer for speech.

Les: Yes I understand.

But time will come when speech will be instantaneous, but only when full control is achieved.

Les: We do thank you for all your patience with what you're doing. I'm sure it'll be so worthwhile when it does occur.

I thank you again for the patience you show, because I know our time together is short in your earthly time, but as long as we continue to make progress, then it is worthwhile.

Les: I agree absolutely. After all, you taught us what patience should be.

I have to say you have not fully achieved it yet.

Les: Oh dear. (Chuckles)

But I know your welcome and your love, are based on such patience. Because conditions this time are good to be working with this one, I will speak to you for short time only. We have another who wishes to come to you here.

Les: I see, we are in your hands, we'll do whatever's required.

I want to say to you this time that much is happening in your world. We are gathering again in our world, to try to bring more Love and power, to those who can create Love within your Earthly world. There is at this time, unease and unrest in many areas of your world and we must do what we can to help in those areas of unrest.

Les: We certainly shall be everlastingly grateful, because things certainly are getting worse in our world.

But fear not, I have told you, you must not live in fear, because it is destructive. You must use your thoughts wisely to disband all negativity within your world. You must dissipate all fear within yourselves, if you are to be of use, to others.

Les: Yes we do understand that.

So you can help, each one of you, in your own way. But I tell you, there is a concerted effort at this time, within our world, to do all that we must. I do not tell you this, to create more fear within you, but to help you to fully understand, that not all peoples are of similar spirituality, like your own. I want you to know, that your thoughts can create much love, much good for others, you understand? (Yes) So, if I may, I ask that each one of you, sends out loving thoughts for your world.

Les: Yes we will do that.

Always I hold you dear. Now if you have questions this time, I will answer briefly.

Les: Thank you. Yes, you have told us that many other planets exist in the universe and these planets, of which we have no knowledge, you have said that there are life forms upon them. Is it right to presume that those life forms, would be governed by the same laws that govern us here, in that each life form would have its own soul, which would have to go through the process of living the continuity of life, as we have to go through the process?

Yes, if we simplify words, then I say all within, not only this universe, but throughout the cosmos, have to abide by those laws, which govern us all. There can be no differentiation between them; how can there be?

Les: No I thought that would be the answer.

Love is eternal, Love is the law, which must be abided by all who come within its scope. You understand?

Les: Yes I do, I thought it must be so, but I wanted confirmation.

Of course, you understand the great diversity of planets, of peoples, of course you all would seem to be different from each other, but you all originate, from that eternal spark of Love. Does this answer your question?

Les: It does thank you very much. Do you have time for one more?

I will take only one more this time.

Les: Thank you, we had recently a rescue from somebody who said the year was 1302. Now you have told us that until the soul shows signs of wanting to progress, those people are in limbo, until that time, then they are brought back to us if need be, for the final clearance, as it were. To me it seems rather a waste of time and energy, if that soul is cocooned somewhere, in this case for nearly 700 years. Are they in fact cocooned for that length of time, or do they live in some other sphere, for that time, until they return to their earthly counterpart here?

I understand your question. I have spoken briefly about this of course, but again we are speaking about complex issues. Let me reiterate some of the information I have given to you previously. I have told you, you are not one being, that there are many aspects to you. Let us take the soul, who has left this planet Earth and should have returned to spirit, in knowledge and Love. But you know that some are left close to this plane of existence for many reasons. Some who come to us are cocooned, but I use that word reservedly, because—let me explain a little further, because now I believe you will begin to understand: When the soul is ready, it will move on. If it is not, it can only be cocooned and offered support, but the part that remains, is only one aspect of the soul. You follow me?

Les: Yes I see what you mean.

The spirit will always return to where it belongs, it will only be the one aspect of the soul, which remains as you say, cocooned. So the other aspects of the soul return to where they belong, to await that aspect to awaken to life, if you like, before it joins us. I am speaking in terms, as if there are many peoples, but you must understand, that many aspects make the whole. Do you follow me?

Les: Yes we follow you, but I don't think we fully understand it yet.

That is why the explanation previously, I kept simple for you, because I do think your understanding, truly realises what is involved.

Les: No I don't think it can at the moment, it's something we shall have to think about very carefully, in order to try and understand it.

If you will, then you may have the understanding beginning to break through. But not all of the spirit will be left suspended for those number of years.

Les: I couldn't understand that that would be so, because there comes the question of regeneration of its energy, during that time.

That is why only the earthly aspect of it is locked in time, if you like—whilst the other aspects of the spirit, or Energy, as you now begin to term it, and of which I am pleased, because it shows at last you are beginning to understand, that you are much, much more.

Les: So, those other aspects would in fact, if I can use the expression, be doing useful work elsewhere, so the time is not wasted?

No, never is energy wasted, never is energy static, never is one part of the soul lost; it cannot be so.

Les: And when that Earth-bound part comes back, as it did the other day, would all parts of the soul be reunited?

It would be uplifted by other aspects of its being, to make the return, for help.

Les: The return would be of the whole?

The return would be of the whole, only to help that aspect of itself to be free.

Les: I see that certainly clarifies for me, I hope it does for my colleagues.

You understand?

Les: Yes I understand much better now, I certainly hadn't considered the multiplicity of parts.

And also, please to remember that Time is of little consequence, when you speak of our side of life.

Les: Yes I understood that, but it did seem such a waste, if all that time, however unimportant it may seem, was being not utilised in some way.

Again dear friend, you are using the physical brain, to try to understand matters spiritual. So it explains the confusion within your own thinking.

Les: It certainly does, you've given us more to think about now and to reach a little more understanding, of the complexity of it. Thank you for the answer.

I would say one last thing to you all, that it is good to see that you ponder about these many subjects, which I know are difficult for you. But it shows that you are willing to open yourselves to that greater Light.

Les: Yes, that's certainly what we are trying to do, with your great help.

And now dear friends, I will leave you in the knowledge that always you are within my love and those who come close to you. Always you will be surrounded with much help and upliftment; but not always are you aware of this, but the time will come, when you will feel our closeness, much, much more.

Les: That's very nice to know, because the more we begin to learn, the more we realise we are going to need that help, in order to understand fully.

You cannot ever, whilst you are clothed within these bodies, fully understand all that is awaiting you, but you can try to expand your knowledge to the greatest abilities, that you all possess.

Les: Thank you very, very much, our love goes with you again and God bless you.

~16th September 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: We thank you again for being with us. I know you don't want thanks or expect them, but we do like to say it.

I wish again to thank you for your patience.

Les: It's a pleasure to wait for you.

I am with you from early in your meeting, but it is little known of the intricacies of blending with instruments. It is essential that blending of energies should take place correctly, in order that no harm comes to this one.

Les: Yes I think I understand what you mean and we appreciate your consideration.

So although I am with you, it is essential that I take more time, to be sure that all is correct and that we have attained the best conditions possible.

Les: Yes, we are quite prepared to wait—I do know how complex the matter is.

I know that some of you wonder why it is easy for some to come so much more quickly and easily, but there to be considered many changes within the energy fields when one such as I return to you. It is more difficult and it is essential that the instrument being used, is in a good condition also. That is why it is necessary to work always closely with her. But now that the connection is made, I am happy to continue this time. You may find that it sounds different this time, only because I am working with different energy patterns. It is too complex to explain this time, but I hope you will accept it so and we will continue.

Les: Yes of course we accept it, we're only too pleased that it's happening.

We have someone waiting to speak this time with you, who you will find of interest, but before then, I will take your questions please.

Les: Thank you. I would like to continue on your subject of last week, if I may, about the many parts of the soul. We can accept what you say of course, that there are many facets of it, which are existing at the same time. But when they have achieved the purpose for which they came, does each and every individual part, become coalescing into a whole once more—do they all have to progress together?

No, not necessarily so. You can have the division separately, although they belong to that one spark of existence. It is not possible for all facets to progress at the same time. Of course when each, shall we say 'facet,' or 'aspect of personality,' has attained its purpose, then it will return to that whole and then it will be decided which element will go forward, to improve the knowledge and the structure of the whole.

Les: So putting it simply then, all the various personalities, do gather together once more at some unknown time in the future and then again split and the procedure continues?

Of course. Now dear friend, you are beginning to understand just a little. Yes, it is a complex subject, which I don't feel you will truly understand, whilst you are clothed in these bodies.

Les: No, I can accept that, but it does give a little clearer picture of the progress of the parts of the soul. If you take a bowl of water, if you take one bubble from it, it does not affect the water as a whole, but when the bubble returns in greater magnitude, it is accepted into that pond of water, without causing any disruption. If you can imagine yourselves in this way, it may make it simpler for you to understand the process.

Les: Yes I think it will.

You, dear friend, belong to a much greater energy pattern.

There was then some noise from a neighbour's house, causing a brief interruption before Salumet continued:

When you separate from that greater energy, you are in a sense set free for just a short time. But always you remain attached to that greater pool of energy. So in a sense, you are never truly separated. Is this clear for you?

Les: Yes, I suppose an analogy would be the silver chord between the physical and the spiritual body.

Yes, you always will remain connected to the soul, you understand?

Les: Yes, because the source would be necessary for the continuation of the energy required by each particular part.

Yes, it is like a child on reins, who feels the power of movement and yet is controlled by the parent, you understand?

Les: Yes I do, I think everybody understands that.

(Good.) Thank you for the explanations. I'm afraid we do seem rather dim at times in understanding these things, but of course they are foreign to our conception up till now.

They are complex matters and I fully understand that your comprehension of them is limited.

Les: Yes very limited indeed.

But no matter, just enquiring about these things, lends itself to a greater knowledge of them. For that, I am pleased for you, because it tells me that I am completing my task much more fully, than I had at first hoped.

Les: Oh that's nice to know—at least we're learning something.

I have to tell you dear friends, that the opening of your hearts to me has been considerable, in such a short space of time.

Les: Thank you, that's a complement to us all.

Now, I will take one more question before I give you over to those who wait.

Les: Thank you. Yes it's partly question, partly comment: At our last meeting, we had two people come, I didn't deal with them at the beginning, but I believe that I'm right in saying that they are from somewhere, not of this world. One instrument was speaking almost precisely the words that you have used, saying that they are part of the gathering, to prevent us from destroying this Earth and ourselves. The speech was very slow and I wondered if I was right in presuming that the words were being fed to that person via the spiritual aspect of the instrument, so that her brain could utter them?

We return again to the subject of communication. There are easier methods of communication with those from our world, who are closer to you on the Earth plane, you understand? (Yes—) But the further away—and I use that term loosely, because you understand that it is not distance which we speak of, because all is intermingled. When we speak of communications, there are many ways of achieving this. Sometimes the blending of the energies are not suitable for the communicator to use the instrument's voice. So sometimes help and information is given and although it would seem to come from the communicator, you are correct in your assumptions, that there are more than one involved. This happens sometimes, not only for the protection of the instrument, but the spirit in question. We speak again about many complex issues of how communication takes place.

Les: Yes there must be many, many more aspects to it, than we have even considered.

It takes many of your earthly years, for communicators to work at ease with their instruments. It does not happen in an instant, because you see and you know, I know, that as you leave your earthly bodies, the energies become so much finer, and as you continue throughout your spiritual lives, they should become even finer, which makes it more difficult to have a communicator return to this Earth plane. But we have many who have achieved such and I don't feel it is wrong to say that I too, must be included in that band of peoples. It of course becomes much easier when all conditioned are refined and the instrument is willing to give themselves to us.

Les: Yes, it's a co-operative effort then, isn't it?

Always, always but this is why now, we are finding new ways of communication, so that we have a much more valid way of communication.

Les: It would be marvellous if you do achieve what you want, because the average person then can have a much more comprehensive idea of the importance of the communication and the fact of it too.

Yes, there is so much going on within our worlds, to make this communication easier for all, but we have spoken about this last time.

Les: Yes I won't keep you anymore, but just to say that we were very interested to hear the words, were almost precisely what you have been saying to us.

Yes, it will be verified by many, not always here, but from other sources and I want to say to you dear friends, that I do not always say too much on what will happen in your world, but there are coming to your world geological changes, important changes, which will affect the structure of your lands, but this is a natural evolution of your Earth and should not cause distress to any of you. But remember I have told you this and we can speak when it comes to pass.

Now I leave you all with my love this time and thank you for your attention and for your great patience with me.

Les: We thank you for your patience with us and the teaching you have given us, God be with you.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed one through Sue, who gave instruction about working with the moon:

Little one this one, little one for me.

Les: Thank you for making the effort, sorry if it's uncomfortable for you.

Not for me, we try not to harm little one either.

Les: No I'm sure you won't do that—

Will not stay long here, but wish to say to you, do you appreciate how spiritual your moon and its light can be?

Les: Yes I think we do.

But we feel it is going to be important in your lives, to be more aware of the light coming from the moon in your skies. It is full of great energy, as is the sun planet. You are aware that the light you see comes from the sun, but of course it is not possible to turn your gaze upon it, as you can the moon.

Les: We know that it's reflected light from the sun.

Of course you do, I apologise if I make it sound as if you are not aware, of course you are.

Les: No apology needed—and the moon has been the subject throughout many, many years on this Earth, the subject of song, of poetry, romance, so it does have a great affect upon humanity.

Romance comes from the physical heart, I am speaking of the spiritual love which comes from the light.

Les: Yes I personally have always been aware of it.

That is good. I say to you before I leave this one, I say to each of you here, at the next full moon, if physical problems, such as the cloud formations are not a hindrance and if your daily toils allow it, I would ask you all to turn your gaze upon it and to open up the spiritual channel which is in you all and feel the light travelling into the very depth of your being. Can you do this please?

(Agreed)

Les: We'll certainly try, yes, just as you used to in your ceremonies?

I say to you, the benefits you will find, will be many. I ask you to try to feel the energy of the light of the moon, as it travels to the edges of your fingers, and ask at the same time, that this energy you are feeling, can be put to good use.

Les: Yes we shall do that.

You will be guided along the correct path, to suit each one of you and this new form of energy, will be used through your channels. This may sound a little confusing to you, but I ask you please to put your trust in those who love you.

Les: Yes we do, we accept absolutely what you say about this, because after all, it is merely attempting to absorb the diffused energy of the sun, isn't it?

Technically speaking yes, that is one form of the power available.

Les: Because it all comes from the sun, so we should be absorbing that, indirectly, spiritually and physically.

I thank you for this experiment and I say to you on a lighter note, we do not expect you to go gambling around your gardens at midnight, chanting and waving feathers in the air, no.

(Chuckles) It is not essential for you even to leave the confines of your homes, but I say it probably would be more beneficial if you could view the light from outside and not through glass. But please I say to you, do not catch cold, we do not want you to suffer in our experiments.

Les: No we shall try and avoid that, thank you for the instructions.

Our requests do tend to get stranger do they not, but you know you can trust us.

Les: We know there's always a very good reason for these things.

Yes, we only wish to enhance the bonds between physical and spiritual matters. In time, it is the endeavour of the great and almighty power, which we are all striving to work for, to encompass the physical, so that it is merely a breath away from the spirit and everyone will be aware of the next realm.

Les: Good, thank you very much.

Time as you know, means nothing, what is past is present, is future. Now I will depart from this one. Energies in the room are now much depleted and we thank you for giving us the opportunity to come and put our suggestions.

Les: Thank you very much for having been with us tonight. Goodbye and God bless you.

I say to you, the love and light of the great power surrounds you all.

(Thanks expressed)

~23rd September 1996~

No Salumet this time, but there was another communicator of interest through Sue:

I am having a little difficulty, but will soon be able to converse I think.

Les: Good, yes it usually clears up in a short while.

I think we can do a little now.

Les: Good, thank you for coming.

I am sorry that your normal conversations with our great one, cannot take place this time, but you are aware that we like to use the same channel at the moment and not use another.

Les: We quite understand that, we didn't expect that he would be speaking with us tonight.

We have told you that he will converse with you through another and he will keep that promise, but the time is not quite ready for him to transgress to another. I will tell you though, that when the time comes, he will speak with this one and his normal channel of energy and he will use both channels at the same time. You are aware I know, that the one you call Salumet, is only part of a whole and he intends that a piece of the whole, will be used simultaneously with the one you are already familiar with.

Les: Is that so? That's going to be extremely interesting.

We anticipate that it will be somewhat different to anything you have experienced here before.

Les: You are certainly right, if that happens, it will be quite different.

I have been aware that as the time has passed, this particular circle, has experienced some what you would call 'incredible things,' am I right?

Les: You're quite right, we have.

Let me say to you that it could not be achieved, without yourselves. We are nothing without the energy and power that you produce here.

Les: We are nothing without yours, it has to be a complementary effort, each time, doesn't it?

Indeed, and that is what—that is what is wrong with the world that you inhabit at this time. There are no unions of souls, you must agree that each one fights the other, can you agree please? (Strong agreement) You are aware I know, through the teachings of Salumet that we are not permitting this to continue. Do not ask please, how these things will change, because there are circumstances which, due to the impossibility of communication, we cannot tell you. But it IS to happen and there are people such as yourselves in all parts and I say ALL parts of your universe and I say that, not just including this planet—but are doing everything in their power to bring such changes to you, that you cannot imagine.

Les: That's very comforting news, especially for our children.

You may say that you have been informed that a life that is upon you, is decided previously and are we right to interfere, as we have always told you that the spirit cannot interfere? Yes you have heard this, have you not?

Les: We have, but you won't be interfering with individuals?

That is right. We are endeavouring to change the very ether of the planet.

Les: Yes, we shall still have our free will, within the new parameters, which you will introduce, I know.

You all have the inner voice, you all are aware of what we call the inner voice, yes? (Agreed) I know that when you hear the voice most times, you heed what is being said to you. This is the only way we can put you on the right paths, the paths of your destiny. But your free will is the over-riding factor of all your lives.

Les: Yes, and we haven't used it very wisely have we, in the years that have past?

You can say that and you can go back to the beginning of your universe and every time, every time, when there is what you would call disaster, things then suddenly begin to change for the better. Yes, you agree? (Agreed) Going to the Roman empire, that you have read in your history books, they were magnificent times for them, but no they were not content with what they had, were they? Greed, greed destroyed them.

Les: As it has destroyed prior civilisations.

And so, we had to intervene and start the process all over again. And now, as you say, through greed another civilisation is beginning to crumble at the very roots.

Les: Yes, it's in a very (?) condition, the world, or the population of the world, at the moment. I certainly hope you all are able to do all you wish, to prevent the calamities that are hovering over us.

As I said to you, there are peoples such as yourselves, all over this universe. And when the time is right and with the permission of you all, because we do nothing, nothing without asking for your permission; we will be drawing on the energies of all those like yourselves, have opened your minds, to a greater power. We will draw upon these energies and create an enormous and powerful beam, of spiritual light and love, which, although I cannot explain to you in words you would comprehend, this light will completely alter, the way of life as you know it now.

Les: Yes, that's certainly something for our children to look forward to, even if it doesn't happen in our time.

I say to you, you will not see the conclusion, in your earthly lifetime. But you, all of you here, will see the beginning that I can promise you. I promise you that, all of you will see the beginning of the end. (Thanks expressed)

Les: It's worth all the time spent with you, though that time spent with you, has been a pleasure as well.

By spending time, spending time here, you are building up something you are totally unaware of, but it is being stored and every time a little more of this power comes available. Let me explain it to you like a mountain, yes a mountain of good, good, strong, love. If you cut into it like—let me say to you, not a mountain, but the trunk of a tree—you can see the rings showing the age, can you not? (Agreed) Imagine then, imagine these rings and every time, the power of love clings to the edge and more and more and more.

Les: It's building all the time, for future use?

Building, building, building. And we are slowly now, beginning to take the power of love, from the centre, but nothing is being lost, because it is coming and coming and coming. For every puff of power—I'm sorry I cannot describe it properly to you—for every puff of power that we use, it is replenished a hundred fold. We are ready shortly, to extract more from this storeroom, and start the regeneration of your planet and its people and its black and sometimes wicked times.

Les: And so that energy of love is able to feed upon itself and be self-increasing, I think that's what you're saying?

Yes, it is far more than that, but yes, that is an explanation, which is sufficient for this time and I want you all to know, that you are responsible for the rings, as they extend. Every thought of love that you give out, finds its way, not only to the recipient of your thoughts, but into our storehouse. Do you understand a little of what I say please?

Les: Yes I think we do.

It is most difficult for me to explain this in words, because I have not the right language, or the right words.

Les: And we haven't the right understanding.

We are both confused, are we not?

Les: Yes, but we do begin to get the gist of what you are trying to tell us, of the immensity of it all.

I think you have a saying, I think I am right when I say, 'I will put it to you in a nutshell', am I right?

Les: Yes, we do have that saying.

I will say to you before I leave you, keep your thoughts towards the Light, that you know surrounds you and you will have no small part, in the resurrection of your world.

Les: Good, we're very pleased to hear that and we shall certainly keep on doing as we are now, for just so long as we are able. Thank you very much for what you've told us.

We are also expanding the work of the healers, both physical and spiritual, in your world. We intend that the spiritual healing of physical and mental problems, which face you in your earthly lives, will be greatly increased, over this period of time. I say to you, your hospitals, which we are aware are in need of—how shall I put it, a facelift and a shakeup, yes? (Affirmed)

This will happen. More people will go into your medical profession, there will be more resources and more people that go into this profession, will go into it, knowing that they are being guided in their healing, by the spiritual doctors that have surrounded them.

Les: Good, yes I was hoping that that might be part of the plan.

I say this now, before I leave you, there is one here, who will take up and continue with the work which has been started. They are unaware that the path is ahead of them, but when they place their foot on this path and start to walk across it, in words you understand, there will be no stopping them.

Les: Good, I'm sure all of them will be very pleased to know that.

This one, this person I speak of, whose name I shall not divulge, will bring much needed earthly publicity to the work they do. Can you understand what I say?

Les: Yes, yes I'm very pleased to hear it and I'm sure she will be.

Do not say 'she.' I did not say she, nor did I say 'he.' I tell you this person will shortly start a course of action that will open the eyes of many.

Les: You are referring to the instrument you're using, I imagine?

No, no.

Les: No? I misunderstood what you meant.

There is one here in this room, I say it may be the instrument here, but it may easily be anyone sat in this room—we are aware and will help the one, who has been chosen. But for reasons of which I cannot explain, I cannot say who that one is at present.

Les: No, I can understand that. It's nice to know that one will be used.

Please do not think that the rest are of no importance; each one of you here, as I have said to you this time, is to play a vital role, in changing the course of your world. But there is one, who will bring the word, to many others.

Les: I follow you now, thank you for that.

The power here is exhausted. I will leave you with much love and such grateful thanks, for all you are doing, to enable us, to bring love back into a dark place.

Les: We thank you for your teaching and instructions and companionship in this work and our love goes with you all.

I will speak again at another time and perhaps it will be when Salumet returns to the other one. We may, between us, be able to give you a better description of what we hope is to occur, when the love and the boundless energy we are storing, is put to use.

Les: Good, thank you again.

May I ask that you sit quietly now and send out thoughts to spirit, that we might begin the process?

I leave you now, God bless you and keep you all.

There then followed a final control through Sue, to lighten things before we closed.

~30th September 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Before we begin this time, I want to offer thanks to the Great Creative Force which brings us together once more, who showers us with love, who brings to us many truths, much knowledge and the opportunity to serve mankind.

Les: We would like to join with you in those thoughts.

Words are not necessary for these words of thankfulness, but I say them only for your benefit. Before I answer questions this time, I would like to speak to you about some truths of your world and how you view them, from the human stance of understanding.

So often we hear, 'What really are the truths of spirit? What are the truths that we need to know and to work upon?' Down so many of your centuries has this question been asked. Truth has always been—still it is unchanged. Man has tried to alter those basic truths to his own ends, but you cannot change those natural truths, those spiritual laws; they cannot be changed by man. So I say to you, what you must know as truths, are those thoughts and feelings which belong to your spiritual selves.

The Truth of Love—Love for your fellow man—this I would say, is the most important truth you can ever understand. You must love your fellow human beings as you would yourselves. I think most of you would agree with this one? (Agreed) I would say to you that you must put to one side all thoughts of material gain, which is useless for your spiritual growth. By that I mean not that material worth is of no value, but the love of material gain is wrong. It is the love of these things which you must temper. You understand? (Affirmed)

The Truth that life continues—that is one truth all of you here already know and understand, but that so many in your world still deny. But it is the basic truth and one which we will continue to express to all who will listen. They are but a few of the truths which must survive all of mankind, while he treads this Earth. I will return to others at a later time, because I know you have questions for me.

Les: Well thank you for telling us that.

It is good to have these truths continually spoken about, because too often mankind treats them as he would his own form of understanding; he treats them as his own form of truth and he must not do that.

Les: No, we understand what you mean. Unfortunately we do have to be constantly reminded; you are quite right we do.

It does you no harm to be told, especially to love one another.

Les: Yes that is one of the basic principals in the Bible, isn't it?

I do not want to be concerned with any particular religion, any creed or dogma, only TRUTH and truth belongs to all, no matter which race, which colour, which country; all peoples upon your Earth plane, are subject to these truths. You understand?

Les: Yes, it is the law, we can't escape it.

But unfortunately man has taken these basic truths and moulded them to suit himself, not only in one form of religion, but throughout your world. So I want you to dismiss all dogma attached to these truths and accept them for what they truly are:

Teachings to help you progress—teachings to help you evolve whilst upon this earthly plane.

Truth always is simple and you must not complicate it, by adding man's intelligence, which I have to say, is abrasive to it. You understand?

Les: Yes I think we all understand that. I merely mentioned the Bible, because that is what Jesus taught, wasn't it?

We have had many peoples who have come to this world and I know I repeat myself when I tell you: All have brought to mankind basic truth. Many sages, seers, poets, politicians—many kinds of people throughout the existence of this world; only, only to have them abused by man. Mankind always seems to turn, I think you would say, 'deaf ears,' to the truth.

Les: Yes he only wants to hear what suits him, what suits his purpose at that time—

But I have told you that the tide is turning and mankind will know his heart. There is a steady progression in the right direction and it fills my heart so, to tell you this.

Les: Splendid, we are delighted to know it.

Now I will answer one question this time, before others speak.

Les: Thank you. Yes, I would like if I may, to continue our talks about the soul. You have told us of course that animals have souls and this we accept and I've been very interested in reading of the relationship between plants, some of which develop certain characteristics, which would appear to be solely for the animals feeding upon those plants—it would seem that there is an interrelationship. Since all are part of the universe, then obviously the energy of the universe is within those plants as within us and the animals. Would it be fair to ascribe the principals of the soul to plants? I know it might sound ridiculous, but I think you will see what I mean. If they are part of the whole in co-existing apparently in that intelligent relationship, then it would seem that they must have some awareness within them, which could be regarded as a soul.

I understand your question—let me try to explain it to you a little. All energy all life is of course the same, but when you speak of animals, plants, what you would term, 'lesser existences,' then we are speaking of slightly different energy. Of course all energies intermingle, this I have explained to you; after all, we come from the same Creative Force. That Creative Force allows much to come from it. Human beings have their own form of energy, as do the plant and animal kingdoms. I understand what you say—one without the other cannot exist, there has to be co-existence, with all forms of energy, whether it be in the material world, or in our world of spirit. It becomes so much more intense when you speak of life in our world, because they are not, how should I say, 'clothed' within the earthly matter, which dulls all energies, as you are aware. I would go further and say to you that the energy of the ground that the plant is within, provides that energy which succours the plant, which in turn feeds the animals; the animals in turn provide energy for human beings as you term them. But I say to you, we are speaking of the one energy in different degrees of vibration. You understand?

Les: Yes I understand that, but what I don't understand is how a plant can have the apparent intelligence to adapt itself to the needs of the animal.

Because all life in intelligence. The Creative Force, if you speak of the sparks which come from the Creative Force, then you have different degrees of intelligence. That is how plant life—not intelligence as you would understand, but a giving off of radiating vibration, LIFE, an intelligence which is understood by all who exist in all forms.

Les: And would that intelligence of the plant be initiated by those who you have told us are in charge of such things, or is it a natural occurrence?

It—I understand your questions, I understand that your understanding is limited and I know you understand that there are with our world, peoples who tend plants. You understand that the power of thought creates that very thinking; I know you understand this. But what you do not fully understand, is that intelligence is life itself—it reaches the stage where intelligence is understanding. Do you follow me?

Les: Yes, but beyond our comprehension.

Yes, we have to go further than what you know at this present time. Intelligence takes its own place within the WHOLE—again we must speak of the whole; you cannot individualise, this is the problem.

Les: No, the other thing which prompted my question is that I know there are certain types of trees which sometimes are invaded by parasites which cause them damage and trees in the same group who have not yet been invaded, will begin to produce of themselves, a toxin which makes their leaves unpalatable to the parasite; so they are exempt from damage.

All I can only say to you dear friend that the very intelligence of nature, and you are speaking of trees within your world, it becomes a whole different concept when you speak of spirit life. But yes, the intelligence is within all living things, down to the very minutest form of life, which you on your Earth still are not aware of.

Les: No, I was about to say that I think we should just have to accept that we shall never understand it whilst we are here.

It is too complex for you, it is too complex to explain to you, because without some iota of knowledge, you would find what I tell you too difficult to accept. But believe me when I tell you, all life forms share that same energy, that same Creative Force within them. And remember what I tell you, that all goes back together at some stage far beyond your years of understanding and knowledge. I cannot explain fully to you, I hope it has helped a little, but I know we speak again on difficult matters.

Les: Yes they are difficult, but you have helped a lot as far as I'm concerned and I hope everyone else here has benefited from the understanding of the relationship of one to the other. (Yes) Thank you very much. You could perhaps compare it to illness within your human bodies. What is the intelligence of the make-up of the body, which makes things go wrong? It is the power of the thought and the intelligence of that energy; it is the combination. But the cell energy, of whatever you speak of within the body, is what triggers off the illness.

Les: That certainly gives us a lot more to think about.

You understand? The power of the thought is the trigger, but the intelligence of the cells within the body, are what activate the illness.

Les: It's the cells themselves that have the intelligence.

They have the intelligence, either to remain healthy, or to grow unhealthy. You understand?

Les: Yes and that would apply to the plants also then?

Also, we speak of the same energies.

Les: Thank you—that certainly does clarify it.

Although plant life/animal life, are, I would say on a lower scale to that of human kind. But after all, it is the same energy.

Les: Thank you, and I'll be quite brief now, does that mean that plants being of a lower scale of energy, would not suffer pain, as some people think, when they are cut in any way?

I have to tell you, all energy feels.

Les: Does it?

Yes, that is a misconception of human kind. I am aware of what is said, but I would have to tell you, if there is intelligence, there has to be some form of feeling, but not as you understand it of course. But the plant would be aware, perhaps, that is a better word.

Les: Yes it would be, thank you, but it would have an awareness.

There would be an awareness.

Les: Thank you very, very much, that's very interesting to us all.

Now I leave you all this time with my love. May you go forward in your daily lives, may you be uplifted, may you be guided, may you find love with one another.

Les: Thank you very much indeed, and our love goes with you too and God bless you again.

There then followed a control through Sue who suggested the rest of the time to be spent in silent meditation, encouraging us to mention any impressions we were given.

~7th October 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Thank you once more for each joining together, in this meeting place. Let us give thanks to that Great Creative Force, to which we all belong. Thanks once more for joining together in service and in Love. I say to you all, let your hearts be open this time—let in that love which surrounds you all this time, let yourselves feel the upliftment and the closeness of those who come to you. For all these things, we give our thanks.

This time I would ask that you allow those who are near to come close, after I have spoken to you.

Les: Certainly.

So we will begin with your questions please.

Les: Yes I think I should ask if anybody else has a question they would like to put to you.

George: Perhaps I could ask a question about language in between-worlds communication. We have spirits who come through who have had life in other countries and sometimes they appear to be helped with our language, sometimes language seems quite automatic. Can you tell us something of this?

Yes I understand your question. Firstly let me say that all communications are based on the level of the communicator and receiver. This is of the utmost importance, because without the blending of the energies, there can be no communication. There has to be a raising of the vibration on your earthly plane, as there has to be a lowering from our side of life. Therefore those from our world, always will seek the one who blends closely with them; language does not matter, only in so much as the words are necessary for you peoples in this world. Without the language of words, communication with you peoples are difficult. So shall we take an example of one who is fluent in many languages, whilst walking your earthly plane? When that one passes to our side of life, then communication creates no problems, as far as the earthly language goes. You understand?

George: Yes.

The problems arise when you have who has left this earthly plane, with only one knowledge of one language. Let us take your own as an example. You would only understand a communicator who would speak to you with your own words, unless you were able to use other languages. So in our side of life, you have to understand that it is not just one communicator, but a group of peoples who are working. So the best way of communication is chosen; the communicator himself will choose the vehicle, because of the blending. But sometimes we have people that you know as 'gate keepers,' who will take charge, who will be fed information from others. That is because their energies are more subtle and blend more easily, do you follow me? (Yes—) You see dear friend, language in our world is not a problem, it is only when we wish to return, that we need to use words; so all help is available to those who need to speak in foreign tongues. I know it is something discussed in your world as to why—shall we take an example, why one of a foreign tongue, should choose a British medium, who cannot understand the language. It is the blending of the vibrations, which are important. After all, you belong to the one school of spirit, you understand?

George: Yes, thank you.

It is not a problem in our side of life, but I know many peoples reflect upon it here. What does it matter after all, if the evidence is given and accepted—what does it matter who gives the information, who speaks in the tongue of knowledge, provided it is accepted and the Truth is known? It is not so important then, you understand?

Les: Yes, that is the main thing isn't it, the Truth of the communication.

Yes, if the evidence is accepted, it is given with Love, accepted with Love, then all barriers of language are dissolved; it is not a great concern.

George: Yes thank you.

Les: Anybody else? If not I have a question.

Sarah: I do have one quick question: We were told that our illnesses are caused by dis-ease within ourselves. Small children who get say leukaemia, are the children really causing it themselves or are they coming back to perhaps suffer for something they did in a previous life?

I have to say, remember that illnesses are so varied, so when we speak of young children, of course their lifespan upon this earthly plane, is too short for them to have caused illness. So in the main I have to tell you, it is something which has carried over from previous time.

Sarah: Right, thank you.

Les: Right, if I might put a question following on our talk about souls, it's been known through the years, that there have been many cases of 'doubles' appearing on the Earth. Recently there have been more verified instances of people literally facing a replica of themselves. The other day somebody asked me if I had a double, because they had seen me in their town, even to this type of glasses being worn. And that set me thinking, that if those people are in fact doubles, are two parts of that soul existing here together, for a specific reason and would their spiritual development be parallel, because having chosen different parents as you have told us, they would therefore have different characteristics, which would prevent them from being doubles, and yet that doesn't seem to apply and this puzzles me.

Yes I understand your question dear friend. When you speak of 'doubles,' in the sense that you have described, of course they cannot be. They are two separate souls, with similarities—similarities with human likeness, that is all. And there are many of those within your world, but they do not belong to the same soul aspect. The only time you can have true doubles, and I understand what you say and I relate to you the only true double is a part of your spirit being, which can exist apart from you. If you so wished, you can leave this physical being, allow the spiritual aspect, which is a 'double'—as you have used the word, I will continue to use. That double can travel much distance and be seen elsewhere—that is a true double. But the doubles you speak of, who belong to different parents, are not souls of the one.

Les: So it's really a coincidence?

If you wish to use the word, there are many peoples throughout your Earth plane. You have to remember that human beings have many characteristics which are similar. So it is not impossible that you can see two peoples who look alike, but be totally different. I speak now spiritually, I speak of the soul, not of the human characteristics.

Les: Quite, well this is what was puzzling me.

But of course you can create your double, because when first I came to you all, I told you that there were many parts to you, as there are to all souls.

Les: What confused me was the fact that long ago you told us that soul-mates exist and their spiritual attraction takes effect, even though the physical may be quite dissimilar.

Yes, yes it is a misconception to assume that soul-mates are so similar that they must be alike, that is a total misconception, which travels your Earth plane and should be put to rest.

Les: Yes I remembered you telling us that and this is where the confusion in my mind arose about doubles. Well thank you very much for having clarified that.

But let me say one more thing to you: I am sure that some of you will be aware that on your Earth, people have seen peoples in front of them, when in fact they know they are somewhere far away. That is the true double, because it is the aspect of the soul which has left and gone forward, to another place. Now that truly is the double of the human aspect of the soul. You understand? (Yes—) I hope that clarifies it for you.

Les: Yes it certainly does. Thank you.

George: Yes I could say that a particular known one, would be Sai Barber, who is a Master, who treads the Earth. I know he is particularly known to have appeared to people in different places.

Yes, but let me tell you this my friend, that you do not need to be a Master, you all have these capabilities, I have told you this before, you all are spirit, therefore you are capable of all these things, but as in all aspects of your daily living, practice does make perfect. Sometimes it happens without your knowledge, when there is great distress, great love, great affinity between two peoples. This is a case of it happening without prior knowledge. So you see dear ones, you do not need to be a Master.

Les: You've answered a question before I put it, I was about to say, quoting only myself, if my spiritual double went somewhere for a specific purpose, would I as a physical being have knowledge of that—but you've just said no, it could happen without my knowing.

You do dear friend, you heal in your sleep; you do travel I assure you, but as of yet, are not aware of this aspect of yourself. Did you know I have been around you this day? Have you been aware of me?

Les: Yes I have.

Yes, well you see you are beginning. I say to you all, you grow much. Although our time spent together may seem some considerable time to you, in the element of time, it is but a blink of the eye. But in that time I see you all grow, I see your minds expand, I see your thoughts go forward, go upward and I see your questions become much more spiritual.

Les: It's very nice to know that we are progressing like that.

It is important that I tell you so, because I am grateful for the time that you devote to these evenings, to give your ear to listen to the Truth, to know that you will be emissaries of that Truth and that as each day continues, you grow and seek further; that indeed that spiritual aspect of yourselves, comes forward and shines brighter.

Les: Well we would like to thank you, for what you teach us, but you won't accept our thanks, so—

I ask not thanks, my thanks to you is being here with you. Without you, I could not spread the knowledge and the Truth that I bring. So for these times, my heart grows fuller with each meeting, my love for you grows, it enfolds you and gathers you to me. And for this I thank you all. I think just one more question this time, before we let you continue and if you feel you need to quietly discuss amongst yourselves, I will be happy for that, provided it is done quietly. Otherwise let those who stand close by and I tell you there are so many, too many to count, but the eagerness has to be put to one side, to allow them to join you.

Les: Thank you, any questions from anybody?

Jack: Yes, just carrying on from the last thing, how do identical twins, where they look the same, act the same and appear to have a spiritual bond, how does that work?

Yes, we have discussed this before, but I will answer quickly for you. They are one soul, which in a sense has created the double, but created the double in two human personalities, but they belong to the one soul, that is why they are identical and inhabit the one egg in the mother, to be born as two personalities. Although in saying this, they are two different aspects of that one soul, do you follow?

Jack: I do indeed yes, thank you.

Does that answer your question?

Jack: It does, thank you.

Les: We appreciate all that you have done again, I won't say 'thank you,' but you do go with our love once more.

I will leave you, but always know that I am with you.

All: Thank you.

There followed a long pause and then an unexpected 'rescue' through Eileen. Audio link:

~14th October 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

I am happy to say to you how pleased I am to see so many of your male gender here this time.

Les: Yes it is good, isn't it.

For too long, have the male species in your world, denied knowledge.

Les: Yes, you're quite right.

But now we are finding that the balance is being corrected, as it should be. We have with us here this time, one who joins us in interest, but who has for some time, been lost spiritually. I take this opportunity, to welcome him and to say, that these first steps are important. I speak of the new gentleman.

Les: The one who's here for the first time tonight?

Yes. Although he expresses much interest, for too long, his mind has been in darkness, but at last he comes forward and is ready to listen. I do not say, fully accept, but to listen, because he is a gentleman, who is not easily led by other's words.

Les: I'm sure you're right in that.

He accepts my words, I believe.

Barry: I do.

Yes, inside there lies a gentleness, which for too long, has lain dormant, within you. But now is the time, to express this side of you, to the world, to allow yourself to learn, to accept truth and to go forward in your life. There have been problems in the past, but you can now if you so desire, leave them all behind and you know of what I speak. (Yes) There has been a turmoil within you, which has created many problems for you in the past, but now is your opportunity to lay them to rest.

I know that many of you would wish that I give more guidance in your lives. But I have to tell you, that as I have said to you before, I cannot interfere. Of course I could take each one of you and show you the pathways you should tread, but what purpose would this serve you? I will always guide, I will always uplift you, I will do my utmost to show you the right pathway, but I cannot place your feet upon it. You, dear friends have those decisions in your life to make. All I will say to you, is that when the physical being is at its lowest, then the spirit soars. I know some of you find that difficult to accept, but it is true. So you see, I cannot save you from life's troubles, but I can only help you to understand and accept that your pathways are there for you to learn from. I hope that you accept this more as time continues and that you know what I try to teach you, is Truth.

Les: Yes we accept that fully.

I wish sometimes I could lift you from your troubles, but I would be doing you a disservice. So always look upon life as a road to travel, a road which gives you knowledge, a road which carries you forward spiritually, a road which ultimately will lead you home. Now, I would say to you, are there questions this time?

Les: Yes I would like to follow on what you've said Salumet, about our spirits soaring when we are despondent physically. I believe I'm right in saying that you do and are able and permitted, to give us spiritual upliftment in those times and that is not classified as interference?

No, that is what I say to you. I can help you, I can influence you, I can give you the thinking patterns, to encourage you to make the decisions, which go forward into the physical aspects of your living. But of course, my influence is more concerned with your spiritual growth, rather than the pathways you tread, whilst in these bodies. Of course, to see you grow spiritually is my complete aim, whilst I remain with you.

Les: Yes, and the strength you give us spiritually, on the occasions when physically we are at low ebb, does enable us of course, to better cope with the physical disabilities and physical disappointments and stresses we have.

It should do, but I have to say that not all accept that upliftment in the way that they should; they block what encouragement and help we offer. It is possible because of your free will, to refuse the help that we give and I speak now of the physical matter. But you cannot see that the help given to the spirit, is always accepted. You understand?

Les: Yes, everybody understands that do they?

(Affirmed)

If the physical being would listen to that inner voice, then they would feel much more, the help that we bring to you. But that is always the problem with man's free will, that we cannot force ourselves on you.

Les: I don't know if you've been aware of it recently, but as far as I'm concerned, my desire for spiritual help, to cope with physical conditions—not that they are very bad, but to accept them constantly as a help in the physical living, my door has been wide open for spirit assistance.

Yes, I would say a few words about this: I believe that few of you fully understand that as your earthly years follow you, as you grow old in years, that the spirit lifts itself closer to our world, and therefore is enabling that part of you, to accept more—or it should be so. It does not happen to all, because those peoples in your world who have no knowledge, cannot allow the spirit to lift. They continually keep it close to this earthly plane, not because they fully understand what they are doing, but because they are ignorant in their knowledge of spiritual matters. So dear friend, the reason why you know and accept that you are growing spiritually, is a combination of your physical age and that the spirit has grown, over many earthly years and is, shall I say, more prepared for life in our world; so finds it easier, to accept the help that is given. Do you follow?

Les: I do, because I am getting older! (Chuckles)

But you see, as you grow older in years, and the spiritual knowledge and growth follows those earthly years, then the help that we give, is more readily accepted. You understand?

Les: Yes, I must admit that I've apologised to you a couple of times recently—apologised mentally, because I have called on you rather frequently for help.

I will not accept apologies. (Chuckles) I have told you, always I stand near when you feel the need for me—there will be part of me around you all, in times of need. So you see, the calling of my name, does not require apologies.

Les: Thank you very much. (Thanks expressed)

I would not have spoken such words, if I had not meant them.

Les: I know you wouldn't do. I have been very much aware of you recently.

I know, but I don't need to tell you. I know that all of you have called to me and I know some of you as yet, are still not aware of my presence, but do not be concerned about this, it will come in time. But let me say to you dear friends, that all of you, whether you know it or not, are treading life's true pathways, pathways which were meant for you. So when you ponder your everyday troubles, think upon these words. Remember that I have said you travel the right road and perhaps your burdens and your woes, will feel lighter to you. (Thanks expressed)

Les: Thank you very much, we're very pleased to hear that. Does anyone have any question on what Salumet has said, if not I'll ask another, if I may? Are you able to accept another question?

I will take one more this time and then allow another to come—give the opportunity to each one to feel the love here this time.

Les: Yes it follows on from what you've told us last week, about language and the simplicity of it, so far as you and your world are concerned. I wondered if everybody fully realised exactly what happens, because we all know that there is a group working in your world, and it is a corporate effort every time. But when we hear our own language spoken by somebody who didn't know it on this Earth, are the words being fed to that communicator, by someone who is interpreting, or is the person speaking to us, the actual person who knew the other language, when on this Earth and only appears to be the person who has been suffering in various ways? I hope that's clear?

Yes I think I understand your question. It is a difficult subject I know, but let me tell you, there is never complete black or white conditions. Let me say that there are many in my world, who have the love of learning, the love to learn languages of all planets; firstly you must accept this. The love of the knowledge of learning, is great to them, so these people become the emissaries of translation. You follow me?

Les: Yes I do.

There are many of these peoples, but it takes some time in our world, before this can be accomplished. After all, those of you who are learning in your world, do not achieve such things over night. So in our world, time must be given to those who wish to learn. So we have the group who are capable of the knowledge of all language, it matters not which one. They are filled with the knowledge of language, so they are able to transmit that knowledge to another, who you would know as the door keeper. I believe this is the question you are asking?

Les: That's right.

But again, you have to understand that it is the vibration of the medium, which attracts us in our world; it is the best form of communication which can be achieved that is important. So sometimes, it is better for those who communicate, to learn the language of the one upon the Earth. You understand?

Les: I see yes, so there are variables then?

Yes, you cannot say, 'That is correct, that is not', it is not so black or white.

Les: No, I thought it must be, because of the experiences I have had over many years, in different ways with the communicators. I thought there must be differences in the way in which it is done.

Yes, remember in your world, communication is thought, but the Power of the Thought creates the words, you understand? (Yes) It is not so simple to explain to you, but from our side of life, there are no such complications, all runs smoothly and remember always, that communications are known beforehand. So with our wider knowledge, we know what is to be said, you understand?

Les: Yes, so you're aware of the questions and the way the conversation will go, before even we know of it?

Yes, you must remember, there are many areas of communication, which you do not understand. It is not as simple as using a medium, just to speak the words. There is much that goes on, within our world beforehand. (Yes—) But the important area of communication, is in the best frequency, vibration, of the two who have to intermingle. You understand?

Les: Yes, thank you very much, that does clarify quite a lot and confirms what I have suspected, for a long time and I appreciate the information. Right that finishes my questions, thank you. Is there somebody else to use your instrument tonight?

We would wish this time, because conditions are good, I have to tell you, that it is possible, that some not previously used, could feel the power of the loved ones around them. So I will leave it to your capable hands—I believe that is the term. And I will withdraw from you this time.

I leave you all, clothed in the Love and Light of that Great Creative Force.

Les: And our love goes with you again and we are most grateful for what you've told us. (Thanks expressed) There then followed one through Sarah expressing gratitude for the help received on a previous visit and to tell us a little about how they were planning to make amends for a previous life and return in a new life as a professor. Then a humorous gatekeeper came through Eileen, which lightened the atmosphere, before closing.

~21st October 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Once again, you have brought me here on a wave of your love. I thank you all and hope that what we bring to you this time, will be fruitful for you all.

(Thanks expressed)

I would like if you permit, to speak a little about forgiveness this time.

Les: We would very much like you to.

I have said to you, that it is important that you be non-judgemental to your fellow man. (Yes—) You must offer love to all, you must have forgiveness in your heart. But I want you to know and to understand that you must also forgive yourselves, because dear friends, without love and forgiveness of your own self, you cannot express these things to others.

Les: Of course not.

But most peoples on your Earth, seem to feel some shame in wanting this for themselves. I tell you, there is nothing to be ashamed of, because by creating these things in your own lives, you are also helping those others in whom you find problems and in whom you find it difficult to have compassion for. Do you dear friends, understand what I say to you? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes we do. I think part of the trouble with us humans, is that we feel that to do as you say, 'forgive ourselves,' is a form of conceit. And I'm sure it troubles some people, to be able to strike a balance between that conceit and the necessity for doing as you say.

Yes, I think we need to interpret the word 'forgiveness.' I think your earthly term usually means, 'To put right what one has done wrong.' But I do not mean it in that sense—forgiving yourself, means expressing fully the love that is within your hearts. I know you seem puzzled by these words—let me try to explain a little to you. The love within each one of you, comes from that Higher Source, that part of you, you know as spirit—that all-encompassing part of you, which is pure Love. You peoples on this Earth, have only a spark of that Divine Love within you, so it is important that this be cultivated to its greatest extent, in order that you fully know and understand yourselves, whilst in these bodies. Only then can you accept and understand life's needs. By that, that is true forgiveness. True forgiveness is an acceptance, an acceptance of love of that Higher Self within you—that is what I mean by forgiveness.

Les: Yes, we shall have to think very carefully over your words. I do understand what you are telling us, but there is another factor which I'm sure occurs to us, if we are being honest with ourselves. Quite frequently—I quote an example: We do a charitable act, whether it be a physical act, or giving money, and I'm sure that others like myself have sometimes wondered at the motive behind our giving or doing. And it's difficult sometimes to accept that we are doing it, from love and forgiveness and not for furtherance of our own selfishness, in so doing. Do you understand?

Yes dear friend I understand fully and I would have to say to you, that sometimes we do see that what would appear to be an act of generosity, is indeed an ego trip for that individual.

Les: This is what worries people and has worried me in the past, I admit.

That is why I have said to you in the past, that to gain knowledge and understanding as you do, as you grow spiritually, then the road becomes so much harder. Maybe not within your physical lives, but spiritually, because you have the knowledge, you must be aware and be more careful of the deeds and the actions, which you do. But if you have any doubts of any action or any deed, in which you take part, then I say to you, stop and listen, because if there is doubt, then there has to be a reason for it. Remember power of your Thought; if the thought has come to you, then there is reasoning behind it. You understand? (Yes) To give spontaneously, is the best way to give, because when there has been previous thinking about these gifts or deeds, then there is always the possibility, that the act is not genuine. You understand?

Les: Yes we do understand.

I do not wish these words to seem hard, because after all, all acts of goodness, cannot be put to one side. If the person receiving takes the deed, or the money, or whatever you do with good heart, then of course something good has come from it. But I understand your concern; the concern is for the giver. And I have to say, too often, peoples when they come to our side of life, when they are faced with all their deeds upon this Earth, are shocked by their own motives. But I would say to you, do not be too concerned. To give is mainly an act of Love. You understand? (Quite!) I do not wish you to take these words as being harsh.

Les: No of course we don't. No, we appreciate your concern that we should be doing and thinking in the right way.

It is harder when you do have knowledge, but any spontaneous act of help, or love, or forgiveness, can only be good. It has to come instantly from that heart, full of love. You understand?

Les: Yes I do. Following on that, I have in the past, spoken to people, who have said to me, 'I wish so and so wouldn't give me so much, or do so much for me.' And I had to explain to them, that they must permit the giving and permit the doing, in order to allow the giver to develop spiritually.

Yes I take your words, but I would say only this, that there needs to be a balance. The giver cannot push himself onto the taker, (in) the same way the taker cannot deny the giver.

Les: It's a very delicate balance, isn't it?

It is. Both must know and understand what each are about, to allow the full potential of the love to grow. You understand?

Les: Yes I do, it is a very difficult decision quite often. But as you say, spontaneity really is the only answer.

Yes, I think you can all perhaps find times within your lives, when a spontaneous act of giving, of love, of a gentle word, has been accepted in the manner that you would wish. Even more so than these 'planned' acts of love, as you think they are, but are not always. I hope I have not caused you to be despondent, but I know I always seem to put down what you try to achieve, but my aim always is to try to teach you, in the ways of spirit.

Les: Of course, we do accept and appreciate it and I'm sure none of us would ever think of criticising what you tell us, because we know it is for our own spiritual good.

Yes, I would think—(Amused/smiles) I would advise you not to criticise, because you see, we are coming back to that sense of forgiveness, for yourselves. You get my point?

Les: Yes I do.

Yes, thank you.

Les: We are grateful for all you tell us. We look forward to it.

Now, if you have no questions this time, I would like others to speak to you and allow the time spent with this instrument this time, in quietness. She I have to tell you, has been going through a metamorphosis within herself. Nothing that she is aware of, but of which I can tell you, we are so happy to see.

Les: That's wonderful.

So, the time is important that I be allowed to continue to work with her this time, for the rest of your meeting.

Les: Certainly. There is just one question if I may, a quick one I promised to ask on behalf of somebody. I'm sure you're aware that on some of our Sunday evenings, there's a lady with whom I sit and gives remarkably good evidence. (Yes) I know you're aware of that, but on the last two occasions, there's been no response from your side of life and she's a bit concerned about that.

No, please advise her to—I will explain to you quickly. When we have 'development' taking place, sometimes it is good from your side and also from ours, that the lesson of patience be taught. I don't mean that glibly. You understand? (Yes—) It is not that she will not be used, of course she will. We do not allow anyone to escape. (Chuckles) You understand?

Les: I do yes, this is what puzzled us both.

But without sounding again, harsh in words, I wish to say to you, that for her own development, it is essential that she knows of these quiet times.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

But do not be concerned.

Les: No, I will explain to her and I do appreciate you answering the question, thank you very much.

I know you will do it with kindly words.

Les: Of course.

Now, I leave you all cloaked in that shining Love, which follows you all.

(General thanks/farewells)

There then followed one through Sue:

It is with great honour that I greet you. I thank you for allowing me to come into your home.

Les: We're very pleased to have you here.

I am a stranger to you, but you are happy to have me here and I thank you for that.

Les: We're very happy to have you with us.

I am aware that through the times of your meetings, which I know have been many, you have been visited on several occasions, by the Sisters and the 'Seeking Sisters', have you not?

Les: We have indeed.

I ask you, have you ever been visited by the male equivalent of these Sisters?

Les: Yes we have on one or two occasions.

I am pleased to say to you that this evening you are visited by another.

Les: Good, we welcome you and are pleased to have you.

You are aware I know, that when you leave your earthly body, you do not take with you the life you left behind, unless you choose to do so. But some of us wish to continue the work we did on this Earth, but on a Higher Plane.

Les: Yes I do understand that.

But of course we had many lessons to learn, we had to find the correct path, we had walked along difficult and stony roads and we were lost. All of us—I speak here of the people that followed the RELIGIOUS PATH; all of us had our inner voices, all of us were guided, NOT all of us LISTENED. Do you understand?

Les: I do indeed and that caused a lot of problems, when you went over, didn't it, because you had to deny a lot of what you had been teaching, while you were on this Earth.

Indeed, it came as a revelation to many and it was like being reborn as a tiny baby. We had to learn to walk each step at a time, in the correct way.

Les: Yes. It must have been pretty catastrophic for some of you to realise that you had been spending a whole lifetime, teaching the wrong things, or in many cases the wrong things.

I say to you, not everything, not everything.

Les: Oh no not everything, I agree.

And there are some of us, who are still trying to find the correct route for their spiritual life.

Les: It's a difficult thing to do, isn't it?

It is most difficult to shed the teachings of one's earthly lifetime; it is not possible to drop it on the wayside. You cannot discard everything you believed to be true.

Les: Of course not. Well you'd been conditioned into that belief, so you can't just dispose of it, like a piece of waste rag.

I say this to you: It is good to question, question—every piece of knowledge you acquire, question. Even if it is only to satisfy a small doubt, question. Even if you have no doubts about something you have been told, think about it, think about it most carefully and ONLY, only if you are quite sure it is the correct and right thing, then—

Les:—and then of course we learn something else, which makes us wonder if we were quite sure!

(Chuckles)

Indeed. But it is a lesson that I bring to you this time and I ask you all if you will do this, as the next step along your spiritual pathway. QUESTION, question, even silently and mentally, question. It will make it SO much easier, when the time comes, if you can carefully sift through the information you acquire in this lifetime, and discard that which you know to be false.

Les: And that for which we have not had positive evidence.

Sometimes, sometimes it is not always possible to have that evidence, but there are always ways of finding out more.

Les: There are and that is when one has to rely on one's spiritual affinity, in order to know that the question has been answered.

Indeed. I have a number of my brothers here with me this evening, all of whom are standing with your friends here this time.

Les: That's nice to know.

And I have a boon to ask of them all. They are—the word I cannot tell you, but if I say 'Noviciate,' you would understand, would you? They are novices in their new lives. (Yes) They wish to bring guidance to each one here in various matters.

Les: I'm sure everybody here will be most grateful for the guidance.

It will be given mentally, at a time when your earthly bodies are at rest. I say to you, hopefully in your sleep state, you may be aware of them, as in a dream. Please if you are aware of them, make contact and say they are welcome. (Yes) And even if in the waking state, you are not aware of their teachings, let me say to you that the spirit inside yourself, will be aware of what they have taught and it will be fulfilled in time. Should you be aware of what you have been told, perhaps they would be kind enough to mention it to each other, at the next of your meetings.

Les: Yes, that would be interesting to do.

If you permit, I will come to you in sleep. May I do that?

Les: Yes please do, you'd always be welcome.

I am aware of who you are, so I will say to you, that my name is Brother Copernicus and if you permit, I will spend some time with you, both in sleep state and when you are awake. (Yes—) If you become aware of me, please I would be honoured if you could call my name and tell me you know I am with you.

Les: Yes, it would be interesting for both of us, wouldn't it? And I do appreciate that it is necessary to have that expression, for you to know that we are aware of you.

It gives a great lift, when we KNOW that we have reached out and communicated. It makes such a difference to the way we can work.

Les: I'm sure it must do, because the gratification of knowing that you have reached us spiritually, must be a big boost to your being able to continue that.

Indeed. It is something that you cannot be fully aware of. It is like plugging into your electricity supply, you plug in and there is power; without supply, there is no power.

Les: Quite. Would it have been you who's with me first thing at this meeting, as soon as I'd sat down? I know somebody was with me.

It was not me personally, but if you were aware of someone, then yes, it would have been one of our brethren.

Les: Yes I was very much aware, thank you, or thank him, please.

I shall pass on your wishes. Now I say to everyone here: Open your minds to your new friends, for they ARE friends to you and will give you all the love, guidance and teachings that they can. I appreciate you understand, that time in our two worlds varies considerably, so I will say to you, to make it a little easier for you to understand, that your new friends will be with you, into what you call your next millennium. (Surprise + gratitude expressed) It may be difficult for you to understand that someone can be with you constantly, or for what you consider to be several years, but it is NOT that time in our world.

Les: No of course not.

When I say constantly, I do not mean every minute of your day, you understand that? (Yes) But these friends will be with you at different times of your life, for several of your years to come.

Les: Thank you. I do understand that they will be with us, when they are aware that we would benefit by their presence.

Indeed. They are all well-equipped in the role of healer also, so will be able to give comfort and strength, through difficult periods of your lives.

Les: Well, we look forward to them being with us—

I now will leave you and ask please for just a few moments before you close your meeting, that each one of you gives out silent welcome to their new friends. I apologise that I cannot give you individual names for each one of your friends, but that is not possible.

Les: No I quite understand.

If they are able, they hopefully will impress upon each one of you, who they are and if that happens, you will be able to communicate by name, mentally. You of course, are aware of my name, but I cannot I am sorry, divulge the others. Now I ask that you sit quietly for just a few moments. There will be no more speech here this time, or in the room, other than your closing, which I would be honoured to do for you.

Les: Yes, please do. I shall go back to my seat and you can close, whenever you are ready.

We sat in silence for several minutes, before the closing prayer:

Great Creator of all Love and Light,

Look after these your precious children.

Give them the strength to continue with their daily lives, and when the path they tread begins difficult, give them the strength to find a smoother way.

And let the lessons learned each day of their lives, Light the way to their spiritual home.

Until we meet again, I say to you, may the Love and the Light which surrounds you all, glow brighter and stronger, with every passing day. Amen

All: Amen

May I just say before I leave, that the friends we spoke about, will also be with your friends, from your other meeting, if you could please tell them when you see them next? (Certainly—) It will be for everyone that comes here.

Les: We are very honoured that they should be doing that for us all.

I wish you farewell and will come to you in your sleep and through your waking days.

Les: Thank you again very much. God be with you.

Les then shared some clairvoyance with us:

Les: If you want to visualise them with their habits, of blue-grey, with a gold coloured belt (chord?) in the middle; but not leather sandals, they are all wearing rope sandals—it might give you an idea of how to think of them. The gold chord they are permitted to wear, because of their particular degree of spiritual knowledge.

~28th October 1996~

Eileen, Sue and Jo were all away this week. However our unseen friends were still able to bring us useful teachings via Les. The tape begins a little way into our discussion:

George: The light that you radiate during meditation, is this the same as the aura?

Les: It's a much more brilliant light, the aura is—Les then begins to breathe very deeply and he begins to channel:

Good evening to you my friends.

(Welcomes)

I am very pleased to have the opportunity of speaking with you again, though it was not expected. I am, I believe this expression is understood by you, I am a 'stop gap.' I hope you will accept me.

(Strong agreement)

Now sir, your question as to light. May I suggest that you are examining, or trying to examine phenomena, in the light of a physical understanding, instead of a spiritual understanding. You must not try to compare your own individual aura, to a spiritual light, which is, shall I say, 'distributed,' on occasions such as this and also by you as individuals when you are in, what you would call, 'the right frame of mind.' You are exercising the right thought processes, to enable us to draw nearer to you, upon the physical plane. You have been told many times, about the energies which exist, and many types of energies, which are utilised within our realms of existence, of which you have no knowledge. (Yes) It is difficult for you to understand what energy is. It is difficult for us to try to give you descriptions, which your physical awareness's can absorb and understand, but I will try. When we speak of energy, do not your thoughts immediately clothe energy in a physical garb, so that you are able to understand it more clearly, with your physical senses. You presume that it has Light, of different colours perhaps; you do not realise that true pure energy, requires no attributes, such as you are inclined to give to it. It exists of itself, by itself, within itself, because of itself. Can you understand that?

George: Yes, I think we're all beginning to accept this and feel it.

When you say 'feel it,' my friend, could you please, for the sake of your colleagues and for our understanding of your description, could you please be a little more precise?

George: Some of us have had training as scientists and we think of energy as wave motion and we have diagrams to help us visualise what we think we mean. But we are beginning to understand or just become aware of many forms of energy that are not in our scientific text books and are of a much less, I was going to say, 'less material form,' but a 'non-material form.'

May we say please, a 'greater spiritual form'?

George: Greater spiritual form, yes.

Thank you. Once again, though you are beginning to have an appreciation of energy, you still seek to clothe it in physical garments, you might say.

George: Yes, I follow that.

You say, 'wave form.' Wave form is only a physical description, of something you have discovered, as part of energy, part of energy. And what of the energy which itself creates those wave patterns of which you speak?

Does it have form, does it have shape? You do not know.

George: Yes, we do not know.

Well sir, I would suggest if I may, with all due respect for your knowledge, which I know to be of considerable importance in your physical world, I would suggest if I may, that you do attempt to depart from always trying to give physical explanation for something that is so purely and definitely spiritual, in its characteristics.

George: Yes, I do follow and thank you for putting it clearly like that.

May I please suggest also, to all who are listening, that you will better come to an understanding, of complexities that one day you will have to face when you visit us, if from now on, you understand that you will never understand, whilst you are upon this Earth. (Affirmed) If you can achieve that degree of acceptance, then you will begin to have a much better conception, of what you would term, 'miracles' that surround you, every moment of your living on this plane, miracles of which you have little knowledge, miracles which I cannot explain, because they are beyond physical comprehension. They are only miracles, because to you they are uncommon. To us, who have greater knowledge of these things, they are not miracles, they are normal conditions of living. Can you understand this? (Affirmed) Have I perhaps made a little clearer, the light or energy, of which we were speaking earlier, of which you were speaking, I should say and about which I came, to interfere! (Laughter)

George: Yes, we're very grateful and I'm sure it has helped enormously.

Is there any other question you would like to ask me, whilst I am with you? If I can be of assistance in any way, please ask—you ladies, may I say, are unusually quiet. (Laughter)

Jack: Going back on what you were just saying, basically, you're saying that we're not going to understand this, purely because we are in the physical world and you are talking about a different dimension basically. So we can't understand what we can't see, yes?

Basically that is so my friend. You cannot understand, because with respect, neither you nor anybody here, has the spiritual development yet, to enable them to begin to understand, what are purely spiritual concepts of life. It is no reflection upon your physical living, merely a fact that just as a child within the womb, cannot understand the mechanics of walking, because it has no conception of such a feat, so you in your physical envelopes, have no conception of the power which exists, beyond those physical elements. Does this satisfy you?

Jack: Yes, thank you.

I'm sorry that we cannot be more specific in our answers to your questions. We try within our abilities, to understand your physical 'examination,' let me say, of the things beyond your physical environment, beyond your mental capabilities to appreciate fully. But we cannot always unfortunately, enter into the realm of description, because there is not the awareness apparent, within the physical being. Do you understand? (Affirmed) We sometimes feel ourselves frustrated, because we are not able to give you clearer descriptions, greater comprehension, of what is to come to you, in due course. I can only repeat: If you accept that you will never understand so long as you are in the human frame, at least that assists us, because you do not constantly churn your minds into a maelstrom of wondering, to prevent our 'getting into you,' if I might use that expression, to give you spiritual awareness, rather than physical conceptions. Is this understandable to you? (Affirmed) Good, thank you. Now do you have more questions?

George: Well I'm sure it would be nice to probe more, or have more awareness of the—I imagine there are numerous energies of which we are quite ignorant and there would be energies which underpin the physical creation itself. In the Australian Aboriginal culture, they talk of 'Dreamtime,' the Dreamtime that underpinned the physical creation. Is this another type of energy, of which we are ignorant?

May I ask you my friend, why it is so important that you wish to have an understanding of these energies? What would you do with that understanding?

George: It is not important that we have an understanding, but I can just say it's very nice to know that the Creation is underpinned in that sort of way.

Can you tell me please, what good it would do you to know such a thing?

George: No, I guess it's just a love of understanding, or partial understanding.

And what would you do with that understanding, if you were given it?

George: Just enjoy it, I guess.

Physically again—you would enjoy the ability of your brain, to absorb what it has been told. Would it have advanced your spiritual progress?

George: No, I suppose not.

Then why bother? I trust I have not offended you sir?

George: No, not at all.

We find it very strange, that so often your physical minds are devoted to what, to all intents and purposes, is useless information.

George: Yes, perhaps I'm just naturally inquisitive and perhaps this is a defect in my character—

I believe you have an expression, 'you said it, I did not.' (Chuckles) I'm aware of your modern idiom, you see. Frequently we watch you, we watch your minds, turning over these things, ploughing through a morass of events of bits and pieces of inconsequential matters that have no relationship to actual living at all. Much better would it be, if the time you spent upon such inconsequential philandering mentally, were devoted to an inward examination of your own spiritual progress. And to achieve spiritual progress my friends, it is quite unnecessary to consider every aspect of physical living. Think rather of an investigation into the spiritual self and whether your spiritual self, is still walking the path which it should be treading. There is nothing wrong in questing for information of a physical nature, but please do keep it in perspective. And the time you spend on searching for things, which merely satisfy a desire for knowledge and would not appear to have any practical advantage in developing your own spiritual selves—why do so? You have free wills, we cannot make you use them in the way which we can see would be most beneficial to your progress, not only upon this Earth, but in the lives to come. But we are sometimes a little disappointed, that you do not spend more time, in that way. Please consider this.

George: Yes, I'm sure we will—thank you.

Is there more I can tell you? Or more I can say to discourage you? (Chuckles)

Sallie: I find what you say very encouraging.

Thank you madam. I feel my visit has not been wasted then.

(Strong agreement)

Sarah: Being human beings, we need putting on the right tracks, because as we're human beings, that's why we do all these things, because we are humans, and unless someone helps us onto the right tracks, we're not going to progress.

Madam, you are still walking into the same trap in considering yourself as a human being, instead of as a spiritual person. To say that you are a human being and therefore you do this, that and the other, is no excuse for departing from a spiritual conception of the guidance, which should be given to that human body. Is this clear?

Sarah: Um—Sort of. I think on my path, I'm only just beginning to realise, that I am a spiritual person and not just a human, and it's difficult to—

It is good, it is good that you should recognise, that you are a spiritual person. And of course always, you should keep that in the front of your mind, that you are spiritual and not physical. The physical is merely a necessary envelope, for the spiritual, while it has to sojourn upon this planet. Try always to look beyond the physical requirements. I know they have to be accepted, they have to be acknowledged and they have to govern your living here—that I understand. But underneath it all, remember that you are a spiritual person and that must, whenever possible, take presidents over the physical requirements. It is not easy, it is difficult, very difficult—we do understand this; this is why we attempt, at these times, to give encouragements, small, as it may seem, to ensure that you do always recognise your spiritual being, rather than the physical.

Sarah: Thank you.

Lilian: I suppose the very fact that we are sitting here, is encouraging, because we are curious about the spirit.

The very fact that you are here madam, is in itself, an advertisement for your spiritual development; otherwise you would not be sitting here, listening to me rambling on like this. Were you more concerned with your physical being, you would probably, if you do such a thing, be sitting with your feet up in front of the fire, which would be much more comfortable, than going out in such weather as you have now. I am told it was very bad for you this night.

Margaret: It's very windy.

So the fact that you are here, is an indication that your spiritual self, is superseding your physical self, you follow? (Affirmed) This of course does apply to you all. The very fact that you are here, is your spiritual self convincing your physical, though you are not aware of that, that it is the correct thing to do, for your spiritual progress. (Thanks expressed)

Sallie: It also helps you physically though doesn't it? Well as you develop spiritually, physically there is almost like a reward in comfort within your physical being.

You are quite right and I am pleased if you are already experiencing this, because we have on many occasions said, not only here, but elsewhere also, that the awareness of the spiritual development, must of necessity, be shown in the physical improvement of the body and the physical mind's activity also. It cannot be anything else, since the physical is dependent upon the spiritual, whilst you are here—of necessity, it must benefit, from the advantages of the spiritual development. And you will find, as you progress in your learning madam, that you will begin quite subconsciously, to radiate the feeling of serenity, calm and almost a self- satisfaction, other than a physical one. This will be radiated to other people in your vicinity, without them being aware of what it is, making them liking to be in your company, without you being aware of what you are radiating; but believe me, it will happen.

All: Thank you.

Sarah: Does that mean that people who are very depressed, they are lacking a lot spiritually, they are totally unaware of their spiritual—

Yes, usually it is so. There are exceptions, but people who constantly suffer from depression unfortunately, have not been very aware of their spiritual abilities, in order to overcome the depressions of their physical mind. It is a great pity that it is so, but it is.

Sarah: Thank you.

Now I believe, I am being told that the energy is depleting and I must ask you if there are any further questions, before I have to leave you?

George: I think we have all benefited very much from what you have told us and I'm sure we'll all think about this and we all thank you very much.

Thank you for your very kind expressions my friends, I have enjoyed being with you and I hope I shall get the pleasure of speaking to you at some future date.

George: That will be our pleasure.

(Thanks expressed)

I bid you farewell, God be with you, may the Great Spirit encompass you with his love at all times.

(Thanks + farewells)

~4th November 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

I embrace you all within my Love and Light this time.

Les: Thank you.

I would like to speak this time, a little about awareness within you all.

Les: Thank you.

I have said to you dear friends that I am pleased with your spiritual growth since first we came together. But I would like to talk to you a little, about your judgement on such matters. I wish in particular to speak to the young gentleman, that you name as Paul and I would say this to him: When you are in your quiet moments, you have grown so much over this past few months, but your physical thinking impedes that growth, because sometimes you are not sure of what you receive. Am I not correct?

Paul: Yes, that's very true.

Yes, I want you to know dear friend, that all you receive should be accepted with love, because you have opened up to us, a very great deal, in these past few months.

Paul: That's very encouraging.

I can tell you, there are some who have waited many of your earthly years, to come so close to you. So dear friend, do not close them out, with your physical thinking and doubts. I know you are aware of these happenings and I say to you, there is much that you can do, if you would only allow yourself the privilege of joining with those from my world, who wish to use you.

Paul: I'll certainly make a great effort.

Do not struggle with effort, all I say to you, is allow yourself to be open in times of quietness. You see, in these quiet times, when you allow the doubts to creep in, then you are creating barriers for those who wish to come near, you understand?

Paul: I think I do yes.

I know sometimes you feel as if there is someone standing close by you. You do, don't you?

Paul: Sometimes yes.

No, not sometimes, but often and it is in these times, that your doubts creep in. Try to be more open and you will be surprised what you will learn.

I would say this to all of you dear friends, that unless you allow those from our world to come close to you, to use you in the way that is best for both you and the communicators, then you are not allowing all the work that can be done, to take place. So, I say to you all, when you sit in your quiet times, send out those thoughts to that Great Creative Force, to which we all belong and ask that you come closer to our world, without doubts, without physical thinking, but only with harmony and with Love.

Les: Thank you.

Paul: Thank you.

Les: We shall certainly try that.

I don't wish you to think that you are not going in the right direction dear friends, because you are. I wish only to advise those of you, who sometimes bring forward these seeds of doubt. So accept my words with love and all will go well with you.

Les: Yes we certainly do accept them and we thank you for them.

Now, do we have questions this time?

Les: Yes, it's a rather complicated one I'm afraid. I have been giving a lot of thought to your teaching, particularly when you have said more than once that the past, present and future are all one. So in effect, all that has happened will happen again. Now, is it logical to presume that that 'recycling,' to use our modern term, is going to happen to the universe as a whole?

I understand your question and let me say:

All of life, all that exists, all past/present/future is as one. But you cannot say what is past, will happen again, in those words. Of course, all past/present/future energy, I stress, 'energy,' is intermingled. So you cannot say an event which has taken place in the past, will reoccur in time to come. Do not think upon it in that sense, otherwise you will confuse your thinking. Rather, I would have you think about past/present/future, as a line of continuous energy, which cannot be broken. It will occur again, but in different form. Do you follow?

Les: Yes I think so. Am I right then in thinking, we are using physical attributes, when we should be thinking in spiritual and energy terms, is that right?

We come to complex matters again and I apologise if I seem to use these phrases so often, but if you start to think about these matters physically, you will never begin to understand. We are speaking of that Creative Force, that Creative Energy, to which we all belong. If you think of, let me say, the seasons of your time here. If you think of your spring, your summer, your autumn, your winter. You know that this will continue, it is a 'cycle of happening.' You can foresee what will happen, when you say the next season is about to happen, can you not? (Yes) But it does not mean all form of time will happen as it has, in the previous season. Do you follow?

Les: Yes, I'm beginning to, I think we all are, aren't we now? (Some agreement)

I try to simplify it for you, but it is difficult. Of course, when you speak of intermingling energy, it is a difficult topic. I have to tell you, it is not something that you would truly and fully understand. But I hope that in a little way, you can appreciate the complexities of the matter.

Les: Yes, because another thing I couldn't understand is in the days of, 'Primitive man,' I imagine there were Masters upon the Earth, as there are now, to assist in man's spiritual development. And I couldn't imagine all that reoccurring—I couldn't see the logic of it, of having to recur in those elementary conditions.

No, dear friend, you have to allow for the physical evolution of your Earth. Although we speak of spiritual matters, you have to place it, hand-in-hand, with the physical happening—you cannot separate the two. Your Earth is going through a physical evolution also, you understand?

Les: Yes I do and this is what puzzled me, because I couldn't see a reproduction of primitive man, happening continuously upon the Earth, because there is going to come a time, when the Earth is no longer able to support life.

You have to look back through your earthly history of time and see how much man has grown, how much those energies, those primitive energies which you speak of—and after all, man is energy, remember; all of you are energy. But whilst you tread this earthly plane, there has to be a refinement of the energies. How else can you go back to that Source who created you, without that refinement of spirit?

Les: No, of course not.

You understand? I hope I am clarifying some of your queries.

Les: Yes, you are thank you. It really comes down to what we were told recently, that we much understand that so long as we are in the physical envelope, we shall never understand.

No, in a way that you are spirit here and now, it does not alter the fact that within the physical being, your spirit is growing and developing, even though you at times are not aware of it. The existence of it is there and so it is with refinement of energies within your earthly world—it has to be. You cannot change and you will not stop that evolutionary law, the Creative Force, which is behind all these happenings. You cannot stop what is in motion, you cannot make it static, as you cannot deny that you all are spirit, you understand? (Yes—) Does it help you a little? I know it is a difficult subject and it is difficult to put into earthly words for you, but let me say this to you: There has to be an understanding that all that happens upon your earthly plane, is gradually understood over time—and as your awareness grows, so too does the understanding of the spirit and all that goes with it.

Les: Yes perhaps I and maybe others have been wrong, in thinking that this recycling and reconstitution of the world and all in it, in physical terms, when we should be thinking of variation in energy patterns.

Yes, if you begin to think along those lines, then you will begin to see. If you use those spiritual eyes, which you all possess, you may begin to see the beginnings of Truth. Nothing has altered, nothing has changed, since all Creation began. We all belong to one energy, we all belong to that Creative Force, to which we all return. But there are varying degrees of the energy, as I have told you before. It is difficult for you and I do believe that we must go slowly and produce this knowledge that I give you slowly. When I feel your understanding is greater, then I can give you more.

Les: We look forward to that in due course.

I hope it has helped.

Les: It certainly has helped me, I hope it's helped others, has it? (Agreed) Good, thank you very much.

Now, I would say to you, I would like to work with this one, this time, for a short space of time. So I leave you this time. I leave you in the knowledge that always I am close to you and I ask that you allow others to come and that they are given the same love and welcome, to which you all give to me.

Les: Yes, we certainly shall and thank you again for what you've said and God bless you. Our love goes with you.

There then followed an amusing/light-hearted one through Sue, giving Les a message about rushing too much and that he should slow down a bit. Then came a rescue through Sarah (not on tape) followed by another through Sue, who closed the meeting.

~11th November 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

I feel your warmth and love in your welcome to me; for this I thank you. This time I feel that with some of you, your energies are depleted. I wish to say some words please to lady here, and say to her, dear child, you cannot shoulder burdens of other people.

Les: This is you Dawn I think?

You cannot change their pathway in life, only they have the power to do that for themselves. In burdening yourself, you are allowing that vital energy which belongs to you, to become depleted and you must not allow this to happen.

Les: Is that clear Dawn?

Dawn: Yes thank you.

We understand that when there are love ties with those peoples whilst you tread this Earth, those ties become emotionally bound and it is difficult we know, for you all to separate these energies which surround you. I would hope that by now, each and every one of you has the knowledge and the power to protect themselves from energies of other peoples. I have spoken to you briefly about this matter before and if only you were aware of each other's energy patterns, you would see that each one of you is connected to each other and at times of difficulties and stress in your lives, it is all too easy to feed from another's vital energy. Do you understand this my friends? (Affirmed) I think you say 'Yes,' when truly you do not fully understand, because you see, you can seek out energy, without fully realising what you are doing—this you must also remember. You will always seek out the energy which you lack most within yourself. Do you remember our discussion about this? (Hesitations—we didn't remember) Did we not talk about positive and negative energies, did we not speak that each one of you seeks to balance that energy that is the whole you?

Les: Yes we did some time ago actually. (Yes) And I'm sorry if I might add to that a moment Salumet, I tried to explain at the time about two car batteries, one fully charged and one half-charged. If you connect them, the half-charged will drain from the fully-charged and this is what happens to us, if we don't govern our own energy output and intake, is that clear? (Affirmed)

That is a good way to explain. Now, it is of concern that all of you become aware of your own energy patterns, because if you do, then you will see that all of life's pattern, can be connected to what is happening within your own energy. Can you see the connection?

Les: Yes I can, would anybody like to ask a question on that, I'm sure Salumet would take a question?

Sarah: I don't understand how you can recognise your own energy pattern?

Les: By thinking of yourself spiritually and not physically and recognising the awareness you have in the company of other people.

It is possible, but I know many here do not have the capability, but you should be able to look at any person, any form of life and see the energy pattern which comes forth from them. It is a matter of, shall we say, 'study?' I cannot think of a better word to use, for you to achieve this. All of you have the capabilities and I'm sure many of you know of someone who can see such energies.

Sallie: In seeing the energy, can you see it through your feelings?

Of course that is how you would begin to perceive it. Can I perhaps give you an example to begin with? You are with your partner here, when there are strong words between you, which is only part of the human nature that sometimes this happens. Then what is taking place, shall we say is a 'power struggle.' You are aware of the words, but I do not say them in your earthly sense. You have a power struggle for the energies that create and shine forth from you both. If you were to be aware of each other's energies, you would see that the stronger of the two peoples, the stronger one would 'suck forth,' shall we say, from the weaker one—this you must be careful of. All of you should know how to protect your own vital energy.

Dawn: How would you protect it?

By fully understanding what you are and what you consist of. You understand? (Pause) No?

Dawn: So if someone takes your energy—

It is because you have allowed them to do so.

Dawn: I see.

Les: We could have a discussion on that after. (Agreed)

I think I said to you before that is why you have people who prey upon your innocent children on this earthly plane. It is not a physical thing, it is spiritually they are seeking pure energy. Can you understand? So what you seek from each other—I know you think always of physical problems, but try to see it as energy that is being sought after. You could solve many of your life's problems, if you could begin to understand yourself. I know this is a mammoth task for many of you, but it is one that is worth undertaking. I do not say to you it is easy, anything that is worth attaining, must come through work, through attainment and through Love. So I hope it helps you a little to know that firstly, come to know yourselves well. I have to repeat these words again, because it is important.

Les: We certainly will talk about it between ourselves.

If you have more questions on this subject, I will return to it and try to help you understand.

Les: Upon another occasion?

If you so desire.

Les: Yes, I think it would do us all good to have a discussion, (Yes) and perhaps you would be kind enough to explain more fully, when we are clearer in our own minds.

Yes I think it would be good for you all to begin to open the door of understanding and then we can go further and explore it.

Les: Good. Yes, we shall look forward to that.

So I will leave it with you and we will return to it in greater detail, but it would be good to clarify in your own thinking, what this subject is about.

Les: I'm sure it'll do us all good to talk about it. Thank you for what you have said.

Have we questions this time?

Les: Not exactly a question, it's a continuation of what we spoke about at our last meeting. You asked not to consider past, present and future, not in physical terms, but to think of it rather as a constant straight line of energy, which can never be broken. Well I have given a lot of thought to that and you gave an analogy of the 4 seasons, spring, summer, Autumn, Winter, though they will be renamed in the following year, they'll never be the same. (Yes) And I had asked about the death of this planet and that led me to think along these lines, that each Spring has the same basic name covering the same period of time, (Yes) But within that same spring, every new vestige of growth, every leaf on every tree, every new blade of grass, is existing within the so-called Springtime, but is new and different within itself, though it occupies the same apparent time. Does this also apply to the universe, that one planet may disappear, but there will be a resurrection, in another—I can only say 'time,' when planets again will reappear, but in a different form?

I take your question dear friend. I have told you that all things are made from the same energy, that there has to be evolution, not only upon your own earthly planet, but upon many others. Of course there will come a time when your Earth will become extinct as you know it now, but will survive, because you cannot destroy what has always been. So I believe what you ask me is, 'Will the energy of each planet return in another form at another time?' I would say to you, it will be energy reformed, at another time. Whether it will take the shape of another planet, will be something to be discussed as time continues, because although I say all is known, there is constant change within the universe, as you know it. (Yes) But the energy always exists; it has to, you cannot destroy what has always been. It will become energy refined and used as, shall we say perhaps another planet in a future time, or it may be that it returns to the form of energy which is always there and from whence it came. It happens also with you peoples, because you die, you are not extinct, you continue, but you continue in a different form. Can you understand this?

Les: Yes, our lives and deaths, like that of vegetation, each spring and autumn, is a minuscule reproduction of the universe?

It is a reproduction of all living energy.

Les: Thank you that does clarify.

You have to think not only of plant life, but of all life, of universal life, of cosmic life, of much greater life, if I may put it that way, because remember you are only a tiny minute dot, within the energy pattern. So if you can place yourself within that picture of energy, then you can see how relatively unimportant that point of energy becomes.

Les: Yes we agree, we are quite unimportant, (Chuckles) but necessary to the overall.

Although all of these things seem of tantamount importance to you whilst you tread this Earth, let me tell you that it is only a very small, small portion of all existence. You have to accept that your planet as it exists now, is only a hiccup in the cosmos.

Les: Quite, it puts us in the right perspective!

(More chuckles)

Yes, I don't wish you to think that it makes you of any less importance, because that can never be true, but it is only to try to help you to understand the vastness of all existence.

Les: Yes we appreciate you telling us and it does us good to recognise our comparative unimportance in the scheme of things. It makes us think a lot more in the way we should be thinking, that there is much more to aim for.

I would only wish for you that I could gather you all and take you on a journey with me, but of course that would only bring you harm, but my desire is that perhaps spiritually you can grow in your thinking of it. (Thanks expressed)

Now I must leave you for this time. I leave you with those thoughts that I have brought to you this evening. I know your discussions will be lively and we will return to the subject once more. Now I will allow others to come to you.

Les: Thank you very, very much again, God be with you, our love goes with you also.

There then followed one through Sue:

Les: Welcome to you.

Wish you good time—if that's the wrong expression, I apologise. It is many of your years since I have needed to use speech in this way.

Les: Is that so? Well we appreciate you coming.

I was told to speak to you about various forms of learning, but there's been an alteration in the plans. We feel that what I have to say, needs more time than we can have this time, so with your permission, I would ask if I may return to you and spend more time and will explain in greater detail, the work which I undertake and the students who are being trained in the work I do.

Les: Yes that would be very nice, we look forward to it.

I have listened to your conversation with the great one who has just left you and I have been asked to tell you that tonight's meeting will close a little earlier than planned, so that you may discuss amongst yourselves, that which you have learned from Salumet this time. Are you happy to accept this?

Les: Yes of course, we shall be quite happy with that and we look forward to you coming back on another occasion, to give us further information, as you say, about your work and those who study with you.

I will return to speak to you, but will wait until little one who is absent this time (Jo), is back in our fold. It is necessary for her to be here. We will bring my student through her (Jo) at the same time. We will both try to explain how wonderful the learning process can be and will give examples of what can be achieved. Is that acceptable to you?

Les: Yes quite acceptable thanks.

We are working to help little one overcome the problems.

Les: Yes thank you, we're very grateful to you for doing that.

We are in need of her power and energy, which is somewhat depleted, but we know that she will return and be of much help to you all.

Les: Good, that's comforting to us.

I will close now and allow you to partake of your refreshments and what I know will be a lively and open discussion.

Les: Yes I'm sure it will be, thank you very much for what you have said, God bless you, we look forward to speaking with you again sometime.

It will be in not too distant future, we know when it will be, but cannot tell you just now.

Les: No of course not. Thank you again, our love goes with you.

And the Power and the Light of the Creator of all spiritual things, be with you all.

(Thanks + farewells)

~18th November 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Dear friends, let us offer ourselves to that Higher Force, that we may be enfolded within that greater force of Love and understanding.

I would ask your patience this time, as the power is building to enable me to speak with you.

Les: Yes of course.

I can say that the time is coming, when my words to you will come more easily. We cannot rush these things, as well you know.

Les: No of course not. We're quite happy to wait.

Now let us begin this time.

Les: Good. We didn't have our discussion last week as intended, because a colleague of yours, at least I assume he was a colleague of yours, came through and spoke through me. I don't recall what was said and unfortunately it wasn't recorded, but I think my companions here enjoyed what was said, is that so?

(Agreed) So we're not able to continue on the topic of last week, so would you like to speak to us about energy again, or would you take a question?

Let us wait this time until more peoples are present, to discuss what I would say is a most important subject, 'Energy.' So with your permission this time, we will talk on other matters, yes?

Les: Yes certainly. Right, I have given a great deal of thought of course, as have my companions I know, to all that you have taught us, but I find it difficult, possibly because of my own lack of spiritual development, to reconcile the overall love of which you speak, and which of course, we accept, with the calamities which occur in some of Nature's wildest times. It is very difficult to understand how an overall concept of love, which I know must exist within the universe and should exist within us, I cannot understand why that concept of love, does not operate to prevent some of these terrible calamities. You could say to me of course, that it's man's own decision, as you've said before, to choose his life, or that his free will, causes him to be in the wrong place, at the wrong time, and so cause him to die, in one of those cyclones, tornadoes, floods, whatever. Am I wrong in thinking that love could have prevented some of those calamities?

I understand your question dear friend. Let me say this to you:

Let us first analyse what you mean by the word 'Love.' I do think the human concept of Love, if you may forgive my saying so, is entirely wrong. What is Love but the very highest form of energy—creative energy, which is the whole pulse, the whole being, of your existence. Let me say, your ideal of human love, is not the true meaning of Love from our world. We must clear that here and now, you understand what I am leading to?

Les: I do quite understand and we are grateful to you, for the description and the clarifying.

When you human beings speak about Love, you speak of emotion, emotion that belongs to human kind. Of course you will say there is love between the animal kingdoms and mankind. Of course I would agree to some extent, but Love is not how you should express it. Rather the word, 'gentleness,' would be a better one. When you speak of love in nature, you are speaking about an entirely different subject from human love. You cannot group all things under one title of Love. Love in your terms is an emotion. Do you follow me so far?

Les: Absolutely, it is definitely an emotion, a very high-powered emotion, but nevertheless we would agree, an emotion.

When you speak of spiritual love, you speak of that higher vibration that is your very being, that from which you come. Love in the spiritual sense is all things, all goodness. It encompasses all, ALL of the cosmos, not only mankind and his world. You understand?

Les: Yes we do thank you.

Therefore I would say to you, Love is not only goodness, Love is all of existence in its many forms. We have spoken a little on energy and we must touch upon it now. To have the balance, you must have positive and you must have negative energies. Are you beginning to follow me?

Les: Yes, everybody clear so far? (Affirmed)

Therefore when you speak of calamities upon your earthly world, we are speaking about negative energy. I want you all to try to understand all of your lives, as a spiritual, a SPIRITUAL happening, not one in the physical sense. If you can take each problem, no matter what it is, take each problem and analyse it spiritually, you will get a better answer.

Les: I see yes, I must admit I hadn't thought of it in that way.

Sallie: May I ask you something? With disasters and chaos, if I understand correctly, it's to do with negative energy. Are we therefore in some way responsible for creating that scenario, with our own negativity?

We have touched also upon that subject and always I have told you, the Power of Thought, is responsible for negative thoughts, therefore it is in part, and I say part, partly responsible for some of your earthly calamities; yes, I would agree with you.

Les: That's an entirely new outlook, which we shall have to keep in mind.

Yes, you have to look at life's problems in the wider sense. You cannot channel one problem and say it is because of a lack of love or whatever term you wish to use. You will never find your answers that way.

Les: No, I've probably been looking for an easy answer.

Yes, you have to understand that the whole of your planet is energy in many forms. We have to return to this subject, but I do not feel that at this time, all of you are ready to fully understand my words. So we will touch upon it, as we have this time and hopefully, we can give you a little more understanding, as time continues. Is that helpful to you?

(Agreement + thanks)

Try to see all that happens upon your planet, as not good and bad in the sense you understand, but in (terms of) energies, which have always been and energies which are being misused by man sometimes. You have to see the wider sphere of it all.

Les: Yes, it's going to be difficult, but we do follow what you say.

Yes I hope I have clarified it a little for you. I know it is difficult, but you have to begin to accept, that the word you use as Love, is only an emotion. It is not a spiritual word in that sense.

Les: True. It certainly does give us a great deal of food for thought.

I know you have had many instances of that. Are there questions?

Les: So it would mean then, that if there is a calamity, we must dispense with the word, 'lack of love,' in that involvement. It would seem, it comes to another question, that those who suffer, because of that calamity, whatever it might be, chose to be there at that particular time, as they chose their life upon this Earth. Or is that a too broad a concept?

You cannot dear friend, make all of life to be either black or white, there is more than that. Of course there will be those instances, when the soul is fully aware of the life in front of it and will be aware that the passing of the earthly life, will be involved in how you would term a calamity, but to the soul, is the opportunity for its growth. So you see, what you sometimes term a calamity, is nothing more than opportunity. I know these words seem harsh to you, but in the wider scope of life, it is not.

Les: No, you have touched on that in the past, when we were talking about individuals and you said that we must not be judgemental, because an individual who apparently is suffering from complaints and diseases, which the average person would be horrified at, (Yes) that is a chance for that person's own soul to grow and give opportunity for those around him, for their soul's development.

Yes, you cannot judge another. No one here, or no one upon your earthly planet, should judge another. You do not have the wisdom, you do not have the knowledge, you do not have that extended foresight, which shows why these things happen.

Les: No, so that lack or need to be judgemental, must also apply to nature's aspects as well.

Yes, now dear friend, you are beginning to have a little understanding.

Les: Yes, I'm getting just a glimpse. Does everyone else feel happier about their attitude to these things now? (Agreed) It's been a very clear description as far as I'm concerned, I hope it has been to everyone else, has it? (Agreed) Because I'm sure you must have had the same doubts and wonders, as I have had on this matter. So we thank you very, very much for the description Salumet.

I would like to erase some of your earthly words, but of course once they are formed, they cannot be dispelled. But one of your words I would like to see abolished, would be the word, 'Evil.' I do not like the word, because the word itself, invites all manner of peoples to judge and this I do not see to be good. You understand?

(Affirmed)

Les: Yes and I have discussed this with people in the past and to me the word evil has very unpleasant vibrations. It is a hard and harsh word.

And just the thought dwelling upon the word, creates more of the negative energies, of which I have just spoken. So you see, it can become almost like, how shall we say, someone who leeches from another and creates more and more of this so called evil. You understand?

(Affirmed)

Les: So it's incumbent upon us all then, to try not only to not use the word, but not even to think of it, but find another expression to replace it.

Yes, yes I must say I do not like the word. Always you should channel your thinking to good thoughts and by that you create more and more of the positive energy that surrounds you all.

Les: Yes we follow you. So if we use the remark, and I quote: 'He is an evil person,' we ourselves are conditioning the surroundings to be evil, by using the word.

And remember also that as I have taught you, your powerful thoughts are apt to rebound.

Les: And would the use of that word attract evil entities, if they were listening?

It could be said, that this could happen, but you would have to be—how should I say, spiritually lacking, for that to happen.

Les: Yes thank you, I was coming to that, because last meeting you told us we should have learned how to protect ourselves from these things.

Yes, yes, and I know you all are aware and you should practise this, because within your lives, and I know it is difficult when you are troubled to always have the good vibrations around you. But it is imperative that you try to cultivate good thoughts at all times.

Les: Yes I think we can understand the reason for that.

It is only when you begin to have an iota of understanding that you will begin to see your lives' transformed. You should be able to travel this lifetime, without troubles, without problems, if you use that knowledge which is innate within you all.

Les: Well I say and I think I speak for everybody when I say, I think we've learned a great deal tonight.

(Agreed) And we do thank you for it.

I know my words are difficult—always I have told you this. I do not come here to tell you what you want to hear. I come to help you all, to enable you to grow, to enable you to understand a little more, of what your own spiritual growth is about. And unless you can begin to understand a little more fully, that all of life does not revolve around this planet, then you will never grow, more than you have now. You understand? (Affirmed)

Les: And that is an awful thought!

I do not say these words to cause you to be depressed, but rather to try to uplift you all.

Les: Yes, I would say in all sincerity and again, I'm sure I speak for everybody, that we are extremely grateful for all you have taught us during your visits. It's given us a completely new outlook on life and Creation as a whole. (Agreed)

If I can make each one of you stop in your daily task and think to yourselves—'Yes, I understand a little more.' Then indeed I am grateful to you. To know that what I bring to you is indeed what I have come to do.

Les: You certainly do that—there is no question at all.

Now, do we have more questions this time?

George: Well, I do have a question, which is really about terminology. I think we're very happy about our term, 'God the Creator,' and 'The Source of all.' There was one Amanda Valiant, who was said to channel the Lord God. He was described as a being in charge of a Higher Spirit realm. I wonder if you could give some clarification as to the use of the term, 'God' and 'Lord,' in that context.

Yes, I do believe that many peoples throughout your world claim to have God speak through them. Let me say this to you—I have touched upon this also before. Remember always that peoples are influenced by their own forms of religions, their own knowledge, and their own understanding. Of course most of your world accepts the word of God, in many other forms. There have been many teachers who have trodden this earthly plane, this we have discussed. Let me say only this to you: Those teachers as you call them, who come from Higher Realms—and in this I would say, I probably would be classed as one. When you speak of higher realms, all that means is that we have much wider knowledge, much wider understanding, much greater fulfilment of spiritual tasks, than many who would come to you. Let me tell you this: The words 'Lord,' the words 'God,' belong to your Earth. So how can the Great Creative Force, which is the creative part of us all; all that has been, all that is, all that is to come—you cannot encompass earthly words to something so vast. So I have to say to you, those channels who believe they are in touch with the Creative Force, I say to you, you must leave an avenue of doubt. The Great Creative Force belongs to the cosmos, not only to the Earth planet, where the word 'Lord,' where the word 'God,' has been created. You understand?

George: Yes. Yes I would say this particular one, did not describe the God as 'God the Creator.'

No—'God' I would say, and I believe I have said to you that 'God' from my knowledge has been derived from the word 'Good,' which you could term God. In the same way as I do believe 'evil' has derived and become 'devil,' in your language. So you see the connection, you can see how words can deceive.

(Agreed)

(Voice becoming fainter) Dear friends, let me tell you that the Creative Force, from which we all belong and from which we come, is vibration, vibration so high, that it is invisible, is unknown, but 'is,' 'is'—I cannot tell you more.

Les: Thank you. I've always thought and said to others here, that for someone else to use that expression, 'being used by God,' or similar terms, is the ultimate egocentricity, because it would be an impossibility for such power to come through a mortal.

I would say to you, that I have to agree that at times, it is fanciful and wishful thinking, on the parts of many.

Les: Yes, I have always thought that.

But in using those words, do not let us judge, because if it brings good to another, then we can dispense of the earthly words and accept only the good that it brings. Look always at it in the spiritual light and you will become much more aware, not of the negative aspects, but of the positive. Again, we return to my earlier words, can you see, can you see what I am trying to teach you?

Les: Quite.

Even in speaking of these situations, always you must find the good.

Les: And if necessary dispense with the earthly descriptions.

If possible yes, but to some, for some reason, they need to cling to the concepts and ideas that are known to them. You understand?

Les: Yes and I think your power is depleting now is it not? (Salumet's voice was fading)

I find that at times it is difficult to continue, but I say to you all, if you so desire me to continue, then I would ask you for a few minutes silence, in order that I may replete some energy.

Les: Certainly, yes.

We sat in silence for a few minutes while this was being done.

Thank you.

Les: Thank you very much. (Thanks expressed) I'm sorry if we seem greedy, but we hate letting you go.

(Laughter + agreement)

I am happy to be with you all. The time spent with you is short, but until later time, it cannot be helped, so shall we continue this time?

Les: Yes surely. So basically what we have to do and recognise is that we must begin to think in other than purely physical terms, when we are trying to unravel all these mysteries of life. Would that be a fair summary?

Yes—Dear friend you must always strive to the best of the ability, which you have. Let me say this to you: The knowledge that you have gained in this lifetime, in no way denotes the spiritual growth that you have attained. I have said to you before, that there are peoples upon your Earth, who are spiritually grown, but who have no knowledge in this lifetime. So you see, you cannot judge, you cannot judge another person, another action, another deed on your planet. So you see, you must continue to think spiritually, if you want to begin to understand all of life's troubles, if you so desire. But I would say to you, rather than contemplate the strife and troubles upon this planet, think of the good, which you can do instead.

Les: Yes, that's very good advice.

If all of you strive to use those energies, which you know you all possess, for the betterment of mankind, then of course you would see a change in this planet, in quite a short time. But in saying that, I am being rather too optimistic about mankind.

Les: Yes I would think so too; it's unfortunate, but you're quite right.

But that is why many of us have come at this time, to gather forces, so that mankind this time will accept the Truth, will go forward and will not allow these doubts to creep in. This situation happened in past times and we cannot allow it to happen again. Your planet is going on the correct spiritual pathway, let no one upon your earthly plane say otherwise. Do not dwell on your calamities and disasters, as you term them, but KNOW that we all have come to uphold and uplift you all, to see that this planet stays on the course for which it was meant to go.

Les: Good, that's certainly comforting and that leads me to ask another question. I'm sure that we all suffer sometimes from a guilt complex, that we can't or are not doing more, when we think we should be able to. So in the main I think we would be wrong in nurturing those feelings of guilt, wouldn't we, if we are doing all we can, in our own way?

Dear friend, let me say this to you:

Besides having too many negative emotions, mankind is too hard upon himself. If you spend one moment of every day in your lifetime, in sending good thoughts, you cannot ask more from yourself. That one moment of goodness exists forever; you cannot destroy what you would term 'Love' and which we have spoken of, but which in fact is 'goodness and Light.' You cannot destroy that positive energy. In so doing, you are creating a planet, which is capable of all goodness. So do not denigrate yourself, do not be too harsh; accept that you can only do so much and do not allow negativity to creep in.

Les: What you now say, confirms what you have told us previously that we must learn to forgive ourselves. You must. If you do not forgive yourselves, it means you do not love yourselves and in doing so, how can you extend that goodness to others?

Les: No, again it comes back to what you've taught previously, a question of balance all the time.

I do not say your lives are easy, they were not meant to be. Again we come to positive and negative energies. But what I say to you is this: It is how you use those energies which matters. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I think we do. Everybody understand that?

Sallie: I don't quite understand how we use them.

Les: Well, just with ordinary physical decent living, we are using energies.

Yes, the lady has many questions and at times, many doubts that what she feels is correct, but that is humankind. Do not become concerned about these doubts, it is part of your progress in life. I am not saying to you, that your life will be easy, but you must always keep the balance, you must know that life is positive and negative energies, which have to be recognised. I think she is finding difficulty with this.

Sallie: Yes I am yes.

Yes, her understanding at the moment will not encompass what we say. So for now I would say to you, leave it as it is and the understanding will come to you, yes—it will come to you, as all aspects of understanding do. How many of you here can say that of yesteryears, you did not understand and now today you do? (Agreed)

Les: I think that applies to all of us.

All of you, I am sure. Now dear friends, I must leave you this time. I thank you for your attention, I thank you for your questions this time.

Les: We thank you for your time with us. (Affirmed) We can never thank you enough, though we know you don't want thanks, but you've got to accept them from us. (Laughter)

I will accept this, I thank you all.

George: It's a wonderful experience for us.

And I say to you, that the experience is truly mine and I come to you only with my Love and my knowledge, so that you all can join with me, in being as one, to join together, to feel that Love and that Light. Until we come together once more, I say to you all, send out those positive thoughts, look deeply within your hearts, look to one another and may you in that name of Light, be as one.

~25th November 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Again it is good to be with you.

Les: Thank you very much, it's certainly good to have you with us once more.

The feeling of the love you give is greater this.

Les: Good. I think there was someone from your realms adding to that love this evening, before you came.

There is much work being done that is unseen. I want to say to you this time, just a few words and then if I may continue to work with this one.

Les: Certainly

I wish to say to you all dear friends as you come together each time that much is happening within your lives. As your seasons change on this planet, so to do you dear friends change also. I say this to you—that each and every one of you who have come this time to this earthly life, has brought with you special gifts of the spirit. You possess many gifts, but in this lifetime, there should be one that comes to the fore. My gift to you dear friends, is to say that before too much longer of your earthly years pass, you will become aware of the gift of spirit that is to be used. Each one of you has that special gift to use and we hope to help you in bringing this forward over the coming time. In order that you grow not only individually, but that each of you can give to the other within this group. I will say that there will be some who will go forward in other directions, but it matters not, that is their pathway. But for each one, there is a helper available to you, who will see that each one of you develops in the ways of spirit that should be used here on this Earth.

Les: Thank you very much for that information, we look forward to it.

I would say to you that not all of you go into that oneness with that Great Creative Force often enough. I would wish that each one of you devoted some of your daily lives to that oneness of spirit, in order that you can be used and help more—(Last few words faint/unclear on tape)

Les: Thank you.

I hear some say I am not aware of what I have to do. Do not concern yourselves with any one aspect to be used, it will become apparent to you.

Les: Thank you very much.

Each one of you will blossom, each one of you will grow, each one of you will become aware of all those higher senses, all those higher vibrations, which although they already surround you, you are not always fully conscious of. The time is coming dear friends, when each and every one of you must play your parts upon the stage of life. We have not gathered you together without good reason and although I know my words bring comfort to you, the time is coming when you must become the players on the stage. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, I'm sure we're all quite ready to do that when the opportunity is made apparent to us; I don't think anybody would object.

It will—you may dispute what you see, what you feel, what you know, but it cannot be denied. It will come to you all with such force, that you will not have any doubts that what you feel comes from something greater than what you now know of.

Les: Thank you very much again and everybody please—(Voice changes as Les begins to channel)

I have to ask you to answer, are you willing to accept this responsibility? (Agreed)

Each one please answer individually. (Each sitter then answered 'Yes' in turn around the circle)

Thank you, you are committed, understand this. You have accepted the responsibility, which will be great. God bless and be with you all. (Thanks expressed)

I ask your pardon Master for the interruption which had to be.

Salumet then begins again:

I thank you dear one for your consideration. I thank you all, because these words given to you tonight, have presented you all with a mammoth task, which my dear friend here, has asked you to accept, has asked you that you give forth of yourselves. Let me tell you this dear friends: What we have to give to you is not given to many on this earthly plain, as a group of people. Of course we have many individuals blessed by those in our world who come to them, but to be given the opportunity as a group of people like yourselves, I have to say to you dear ones, accept it with love, accept it with humility, accept it with kindness and love from our world. When first I came to you, I said that we all were many facets of a diamond. Together we are going to form the unity and strength of one facet of that diamond.

Les: Yes, thank you very, very much.

I leave you this time, with my words, in order that you can think upon them, that you can look into your hearts, you can think about what you are about. At last you have been given the opportunity to know yourselves and to do good work. I leave you now encompassed in my love, held within this heart, enclosed by those who wish to help you, and there are many here this time. I hope you can feel the power and the love which is surrounding you at this time, because dear friends, you should feel energised, you should feel love, you should feel that inner spirit burst forth from you.

Les: I think we are all feeling somewhat overwhelmed and to say appreciative, would be just understating it—there are no words. We feel it a great honour to be able to work with you and those from your realms. I have no other words for you this time. I leave you, I leave you and say: Go into that oneness with your Creator and allow each one of you to know and feel those who are with you. I would hope that each individual here, has something to tell you of how they are feeling this time.

Les: Thank you very, very much again and our love goes with you.

Les then spoke with Sue, who felt she had someone with her, someone who wanted to 'acclimatise' with her. Les helped her to stand up and there was a brief message about preparations and work being done and hopes that Jo, Sue's sister, would be back with the group soon. We then closed with our usual prayer.

~2nd December 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

It is good to see so many here this time.

Les: It is nice isn't it, to have everybody back with us.

We wish the lady to know that we look after her. Do not be concerned.

Les: Thank you very much—yes I'm sure you will.

I have to tell you dear friends, how good it is to see that all of you have been uplifted in these days, from our last meeting. Many words were said to you last time and I know many of you have pondered upon these words deeply.

Les: We certainly have.

Dear friends, there is much happiness to come to you all. Do not doubt that each one of you will travel life's pathway this time, with hope, with joy, with knowledge and with love.

Les: That's very nice to hear.

These things do not come without a price, but I say to you all dear friends, that what you earn and achieve, has been earned by yourselves and what you give to others. This time I will not speak on any one subject, because although this one is comfortable, we do not wish distress to the physical throat this time.

Les: No we were wondering about that and so was your instrument.

It is fine now, but we have others who will speak to you. So it is best that my words remain short this time.

Les: Yes we do understand.

Have you questions please?

Les: No, I was only going to ask if this time you wished to speak on energy, but I appreciate you'll not be able to now, because that will be a lengthy subject.

Yes, do not be concerned, we have many meetings to come and many opportunities to speak upon that subject.

Les: That's very nice to know, we look forward to it some time.

Let me perhaps say to you, that each one could perhaps become more aware of their own individual energy patterns. Perhaps when I speak to you more fully, perhaps we could speak individually and see what your consciousness brings to you.

Les: That would be interesting.

So I give you quite a task.

Les: (Chuckles) You do indeed!

So now let me answer any questions before I leave you this time.

Les: Does anybody have a question they would like to put?

No, let me say only to this group, who belong to one family, of the joy and happiness around them, and it will grow and grow. I speak of the gentleman and his family.

George: Thank you.

There is much coming to them.

Les: That's nice for him and for them. You heard that George did you?

George: Yes thank you that's lovely.

Now, this time I will withdraw from you and allow others to come.

Les: Right, well thank you very much for your company; God be with you and our love goes with you, as you know.

I am aware and I say to you that always your Light becomes lighter.

Les: Good, we're very pleased and thank you.

There then followed one through Sue who talked about new helpers who would be working with the healers at Leslie's healing clinic and the importance of the healers to discuss if they felt any differences that occurred during their healing sessions. This could be done while they were having their tea at the end. Those helpers from spirit would listen and it was the best way for them to get feedback on how things were progressing.

There then followed a brief one through Jo, (Sue's sister) who'd returned to the group after some absence:

Hello Mr Bone.

Les: Hello to you once more, you're happy to be here again, aren't you?
I would say, I come this time because this one is 'doubtful Thomas', (Said with caring laugh) she say, nobody come tonight, because she was away too long. (Laughter)
 Les: It shows how little she knows, doesn't it, about your determination?
I here many time always she has not been here, but I now speak, because we are trying to speak together only.
 Les: That's very nice, because you've got used to her now, haven't you?
And she is used to me.
 Les: That's right, she is indeed and I'm sure she's very, very close to you now.
At first it seem very strange, me speaking through her mouth, but she more used to it now.
 Les: Yes, you're doing it very, very well.
It takes practice.
 Les: Of course it does, but we would recognise you any time. (Laughter)
I enjoy my time here, especially when I can speak to you all.
 Les: Yes, it's nice to know that you can do it with us still.
I have no special purpose this time, only to (?) when you are all here again, with her.
 Les: Yes and to let her know that when you choose to come, you will come, because she is a doubting Thomas. (Laughter)
Yes! (?)...doubting, her this time.
 Les: I'm sure, but she'll be delighted that you've used her again.
I hope so.
 Les: It's a very nice welcome back for her, we've all missed her and we've missed you.
Thank you, Mr Bone. I go now may your meeting end well.
 Les: Right, thank you very much for coming and I say again, we thoroughly enjoyed your company and we're very pleased to have to speak with us once more.
Thank you Mr Bone, good tonight.
 Les: Good night to you and God bless you.

~9th December 1996~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Les: Thank you for being with us. I'm sorry we are some members short tonight, it is unfortunate.

Always dear friends, I am happy to see anyone who wishes to join us upon these evenings. I know how busy you all are in your daily living and therefore my thanks always go to you. I say to you dear friend, are you comfortable to continue?

Les: Yes I am—I think we all are, aren't we? (Agreed) I hope my coughing didn't disturb you, it's not serious, just a tickle in the throat.

No, it causes no discomfort to me. I wish to say to you this time, a few words about forgiveness. We have spoken briefly about this before, but I feel that you did not fully understand what I was trying to tell you.

Les: That was when you spoke about forgiving ourselves, also?

Yes, I know that for some, these words are difficult to interpret, because you say of course I can forgive others. Are you comfortable friend?

(Les was coughing)

Les: Yes, thank you very much, I hope it's not disturbing you.

No. What is forgiving oneself? To forgive oneself, there needs to be the awareness and recognition, of who and what you are. Without this, you cannot learn the discipline of forgiveness. Forgiveness, is that awareness of self, it is the wisdom of knowledge, it is the seeking of the spiritual aspect of oneself. And only when these things come together, will you know true forgiveness of the self. Only then dear friends, will you begin to understand what it is to forgive another human being, because when you feel the necessity to forgive another, what you see before you, is a fault that lies within your spiritual being—an aspect of yourself, which you cannot come to terms with. That is why I say, the awareness of your own being, is so important. Do you understand dear friends? (Affirmed)

When you feel the need for forgiveness to another, firstly look within. You understand I hope? (Affirmed) If you do not, please let us clarify it now.

Mark: So we look within ourselves, when we need to forgive somebody—we're looking to see if we've done something similar, are we? Or that we can do something similar?

You need to look within, to find the reason why it disturbs you so, that you need to forgive another for it. You understand? (Yes)

Sarah: Surely there will be times when you need to forgive and in fact if you've looked inside yourself and maybe can't find the answer, then maybe it is the other person, that you really do need to forgive, is that right? (No)

Sarah: No?

No, no, you must always look within, because in true forgiveness, you understand, you are aware of all. In fully understanding yourself, then there is no need for your human forgiveness of another. Is that clear to you?

Sarah: Yes, thank you.

Sallie: Excuse me, when you're learning to forgive, how should we look at criticism of ourselves?

Yes, if you find criticism to be too harsh, if you react badly to it, then again I say look within, because what you present to the world as your 'outer face' may I say, is how people will understand you. You give out the vibrations of what you are, to others. You understand? (Yes) Always dear friends, become more aware of your own spiritual needs and always you will find, the answers to all questions and problems, will become fully known to you. It is not difficult, once you realise that all that you present to this world, comes from within. Remember what I taught you earlier, all is cause and effect—what you give out, rebounds back to you. So if you are offended, or you find it necessary in your earthly terms, to forgive another, then I say to you dear friends, the fault lies within yourself. Can you understand? (Affirmed) You do—I think therefore, we need not return to this subject. Are you all now happy with forgiveness, as I teach it to you?

Les: Everybody happy? (Affirmed)—Nobody is not happy?

George: I think I can visualise an extreme, where if we are all beacons of love, then we will only receive love back.

Yes, there will be no need for forgiveness, you understand?

Les: Quite, that is the essence of it, isn't it? So there should be no need.

Yes, if you are pure Love, then what you perceive from others, will also be Love. That is the very essence of all being; Love is the most important thing you will ever hold dear to you.

Les: Yes I think some of us possibly, not necessarily in this room, but some of mankind, has still to understand the sort of love of which you speak.

It is not easy to achieve whilst you tread this Earth, but I would say to you, it should be something within your sight, it should be something, that all of you work toward. It—if you like, and I may use one of your earthly terms, it should be your goal in life. You understand? (Affirmed)

Les: I think we're all striving towards that and I think we all are pretty sure that we're not going to achieve it in this life, however much we may try.

No, but your understanding and your awareness will grow and will shine forth, to the very best of your ability, if you are aware of what you are trying to achieve.

Les: Yes, that would confirm something that was said a long time ago in this room—I forget the details, they don't matter, but often the effort to achieve something, is more worthy of consideration, (Yes) than the achieving itself.

We know that you cannot achieve what is in fact spiritual natures, whilst clothed in these bodies. But what you can achieve, is the knowledge and awareness and the trying to achieve; that dear friends would earn you shall I say, many good points. You understand? (Affirmed)

Think of yourselves as children in the classroom—those who try, earn themselves merit; those who know what to do and yet decline to try, earn no merits at all. You see what I try to say to you, it is the trying and the awareness and the seeking out of that spiritual part of yourself, which is important. You may have the knowledge, all of you, but with your freewill again, you can either go forward, or you can stand still.

Les: Yes, I recall what you said to us quite a time ago, that we do have a great responsibility.

Responsibility, once you have the knowledge, becomes greater, because to have the knowledge and do nothing with it, is foolish to say the least. To have the knowledge and stand still, can if I might say so, become a burden to you, when you pass to our side of life, and to this end you must avoid standing still. Dear friends you have the opportunity, you have the growth and awareness, you have the knowledge, you have the Love; you have the friendship of each other. So you see, there should be no reason why each one of you should not go forward, in your own individual development of spirit. (Quite!)

Now, I would like to say a few words before I answer questions this time. As we approach your season of much joy and happiness, throughout your Earth in many of your countries, I say to you, that I will withdraw from you this time, for a number of your meetings. I have said to you, that sometimes this would be necessary (Yes—) and I said I would tell you in advance. I will return to you, when you have your new earthly calendar year. And I wish when I return, to bring with me, one of interest, to speak to you. It has been sometime, since this has happened, but I feel that you have reached a point, when a little more knowledge, will be more acceptable to you. (Thanks expressed)

Les: We shall look forward to that. We quite understand why you have to go, because you did explain some time before, nevertheless we are going to miss you. (Much agreement)

The opportunity is good at this time, because in many areas of your world, there is much goodwill and happiness. This gladdens our heart, in my world. So you see, the time is apt for some of us to withdraw from you and to go to those realms, where our work is needed and where we can recharge ourselves, if I may use that expression.

Les: Yes, we do understand it, but our loss is somebody else's gain, we must look at it like that.

There will be no speech to others. It will be a congregation of all of us, who have come to this earthly plane, in order that we might bring forth knowledge. We need to return, we need to congregate ourselves and see what we too, have achieved. You understand?

Les: Yes, I quite understand that too and we take this opportunity all of us, to wish you very great success in what you're doing.

Again, it is the opportunity of effort, which is important.

Les: Of course.

But you need not concern yourselves about my journey from you. I anticipate that all is going well and I look forward to returning 'home' for a short time and then to return to you all refreshed.

Les: We shall certainly look forward to that.

Now, do we have questions this time?

Les: Yes, with your permission, I'd like to ask my colleagues something first. You remember Salumet said that we should be becoming aware of our own energy patterns? (Affirmed) (Yes) Has anybody had that experience? Nobody particularly aware of their energy patterns?

George: I have a feeling of more 'outward-ness', but I can't describe any configuration in that.

Les: No, right if nobody else has, I want to ask you Salumet, I had a most peculiar experience—I use the word peculiar, I don't know quite in what sense it was peculiar, but not unpleasantly. I was thinking about energy patterns one day, in my quiet time, and I was standing outside as it were, looking at myself and I could see a cone of light, above my body, with white light coming into it and there seemed to be a translucent—I can only say, sort of hose pipe, running spiral-like, round my body, between my body and the aura, which I could see quite plainly also. This spiral didn't return to the source of power, as I would have imagined it to, it seemed to be going straight into the ground. I can't think how I could have imagined anything like that, because the cone of light above me, is also indicated by one of our members at another meeting we have, when sometimes the arms are lifted in the form of a cone, with the palms together, just as though they were forming the same shape as I could see. Now, was I imagining, or was it an energy pattern?

Yes, let me reply to you dear friend. All of you within this room, I suggested should become more aware of their energy pattern. Let me tell you, your energies have increased, as time together goes forward. More of you will become aware in different ways. You will not all be aware of the same thing, because you are all developing at different rates. Now let me return to you dear friend. I say to you this: When peoples on your Earth speak about energy, they seem always to refer to energy, as above and around the body. Remember that from top-to-toe, you are indeed a whole energy pattern, you are connected to the Source of Energy, from both top and bottom. There is as much energy in the feet, as there is in the top of the head, but because people see the 'auras,' as you call them, around the head area mostly, they assume and assume wrongly, that that is the only energy field that exists. I have to tell you dear friend that from the very core of your Earth, also lies that energy, which you all belong to; it is all around you, it is not in one specific area. So if you were aware of energy being grounded, perhaps you would term it that way—that is nothing unusual. Do you follow me?

Les: I see yes, that explains that part of it certainly, thank you. So I wasn't imagining what I saw?

No—energy as you sit now, if you can all sit quietly, you should be aware of the energy rising through the bottom of your feet. Can I suggest that we spend a minute or two of your time, in visualising this energy through the feet, to give you some understanding that energy is everywhere; it is not only in your atmosphere, it is everywhere—you are connected in all areas of your body, to that living energy.

Remember always, that energy is living. You understand?

Les: Yes, so what I saw could be symbolism, for energy which is flowing around us all the time?

Of course, of course—when your awareness becomes more acute, you will see energy patterns change in all things, whether it be above, or below, in front or behind you. There are many shapes and sizes to energy, it is not static, it is a living, moving energy. Can you understand?

Les: Yes and am I right in thinking, that energy which surrounds us, can be moulded by our thoughts?

Of course! You dear friend are energy, that is all you are. You are energy!

Les: So our energy can have its effect on the energy surrounding?

Of course.

Les: And other people would become aware of those changes?

By your words, by your thoughts, by your actions, of course your thinking—again we return to the Power of the Thought, can change the energy pattern, which surrounds you.

Les: So that also would account for the feeling that two people can have, either of attraction to each other—I don't mean a physical attraction, but an attraction which they feel, or a revulsion from each other. That would be their effect on the energy surrounding them, (Yes) which is being interpreted, by each of the people?

Yes, it is interpreted only because you have a physical brain, but it is all the same energy, but used differently, moulded differently, by the thoughts of each of you humans.

Les: Yes, so as I have said in the past, the auras of two people can attract or repel? (Yes) So that is the energy, exercising those options?

If we were for instance, to have someone within this room, who was full of negativity and hatred shall we say, you would be repelled, each one of you, because whilst you sit within this room, whilst we talk, your energy levels and awareness is raised. And to become confronted by this type of negativity, would be too much of a shock that each energy would rebound from each other. You understand? (Yes) We have to talk more deeply about energy, I keep saying this to you, but it is a subject, which is immense, for your understanding. But I will try to clear some points, as we go along.

Les: Yes, thank you very much.

But dear friend, you were not imagining. What you achieved, was indeed a greater awareness of the energy, which is both yourself, within and without.

Les: That's nice to know, thank you. It was such a wonderful experience, I hope my colleagues here, will be able to have it also?

I would perhaps say to you, that the cone above you, was perhaps pulling you from the earthly vibration, but reaching down through the ground, was the steadying influence, which has to keep you here. And standing back and watching such energy work, has given you the awareness a little of what happens within.

Les: Yes it was very vivid, I shall never forget it.

You have so much more to experience, but take it for what it was, another step in your knowledge, of awareness of all that you are.

Les: Yes, thank you, I'm glad to have that answer. Anybody else have questions? (Brief pause)

I think this time, that I will leave you:

I leave you all with much love, I leave you all attached to that Great Creative Force, to which we all belong. I ask that you continue to love and to serve others, as you do. I give you all my blessing, in your season of goodwill, which is coming to your earthly plane and I say to you dear friends, until we meet here again, may all that is good, be with you.

(General thanks + very fond farewells)

There then immediately followed another through Eileen, who came to say hello and to be with us, at this time of year, because they had always felt lonely and sad at Christmas time and just wanted to come back and share a little of the Christmas spirit with us, even though they were now very happy. She asked us to try and find time/a few kind words, for anyone old and lonely and who was 'bound' in their own homes. She also said that thinking/sending out the loving thoughts to these people, can be just as important. Les also said she was welcome to visit and share in the Christmas festivities, with us individually, which she said she would be very happy to do.

~16th December 1996~

No Salumet this time of course, but our work continued in other ways. Our first visitor through Eileen, was a lady, who'd had a speech impediment whilst on Earth. This had been largely removed once in spirit, but traces of the impediment lingered still in her mind and therefore still affected speech, albeit to a much smaller degree. Her voice sounded croaky and a little strained:

—This is the ultimate session for me, just to know that I can be understood, when using physical voice.

Les: Yes it can be understood, but it could be even clearer than it is.

Could it?

Les: Yes, would you like to hear it even clearer? (Yes) All right. It will now be removed, because that physical disability was with your physical body, and when your physical body is disposed of, the disability was also disposed of. (Yes) But you haven't cleared it from your mind, you expect it still to be there, to some degree. Your determination got rid of it quite a lot, but you haven't quite cleared it, because you didn't anticipate that you could do so fully.

(A few seconds later)

Would you like to speak now—your voice will sound different now. (Yes, yes.) Keep talking and you'll find all that harshness has gone, because you don't need to have it within your voice.

I think that's wonderful, it's just wonderful

(Voice much softer/smoothen + clear)

Les: Happy?

I'm not happy with it, I'm overjoyed, overjoyed.

Les: That's lovely, that's our Christmas present to you.

It is the giving of love.

Les: The giving of love as a Christmas present, from all of us here.

I didn't know it would be so special for me.

Les: You're quite happy about it?

Overjoyed, overjoyed.

Les: Well, now you can talk to us, as much as you like. Would you like to say hello to all my friends here, you can do so.

I fear if I begin, you won't be rid of me.

Les: We don't mind, we like your company and are very pleased that we've been able to help you.

I'm overwhelmed, overwhelmed, I don't know what else to say to you. I'm just overwhelmed.

Les: That's very nice for you. You'll soon get used to it. And you'll be able to enjoy your singing now, won't you?

How did you know?

Les: That was your greatest disappointment, when your voice went, wasn't it?

Yes, I do feel the desire—

Les: Nothing to prevent you from doing it now.

Well, perhaps if you listen closely all of you, you may hear singing and if you do, please remember me.

Les: Good, that's fine.

May I give you my name?

Les: Yes please do.

I'm known, or was known as Annabel.

Annabel chatted happily a little while longer, before another came through Eileen, saying some of us needed cheering up. We chatted and had much laughter—best appreciated on audio:

<http://www.salumetandfriends.org/resources/16thdec9613+mins+cheeryup.mp3>

Another followed through Eileen, who'd been before, when she'd been attracted by the sound of the church bells, which were not actually sounding on this occasion, or maybe the wind was not blowing in the right direction for us to hear them. She also gave a message:

—you should not be sad in your everyday lives, because there is so much happiness to come.

Les: That's very nice to hear, thank you for telling us.

I'm sure you already know, but it is nice to be reminded, is it not? (Agreed)

She reflected briefly, on past times, and some of the pointless religious practices, she used to perform whilst on Earth. But she did love the sound of the bells.

A child then came through Eileen, who wanted us to sing a carol. He asked for 'Oh little town of Bethlehem,' which we all sang for him and he then requested 'Away in a Manger.' He seemed very happy as he left and we then closed with our usual prayer, (See below) which was written by Leslie Bone and which we still say at the end of our weekly meetings:

For all that we are given we thank the Great Creator known to us as God.

We ask that we shall always receive help, in our efforts to become more aware of the tremendous Love and Light, which encompasses us at all times.

We also thank our unseen friends and helpers, for all the knowledge and Love they bring and for this we ask God's blessing shall be always with them, until we meet again, Amen.

~13th January 1997~ ~first meeting of 1997~

The first communication of the New Year came through Eileen, explaining that Salumet would not come through this evening, but that there would be others of interest. He then talked a little about his life in the spirit world, compared to the one he left behind:

Les: You prefer what you do now, to what you did when you were here I imagine? (Les was aware psychically of his church robes)

Of course, there is no comparison. How can you compare this work to any that is available in the human form?

Les: And how did you feel when you realised that you had so long been postulating the wrong theories in many cases?

How did I feel?

Les: It must have been a shock.

That is an understatement I have to tell you. It came as a great shock, not only to my understanding, but to all that I was. Can you understand?

Les: I can yes—my question wasn't purely a probing one, because I'm very concerned. We've had others who've been in a similar position to yourself and are now doing a great deal to counteract what they did when they were here, though they were doing it with the best of intentions.

Yes, you need to understand I think that most people, whilst they are on your Earth, do the best that they know how to, so there should be no harsh judgement upon them. The judgement comes when we face ourselves.

Les: Absolutely, I agree completely.

I would wish to reiterate to all of you, that there is no judgement for you, only the judgement that you issue forth to yourselves.

Les: Quite. That is our teaching here to new-comers too, that we are responsible for our own judgement. This is something I try to tell others also, when I join my regular meetings, because you see, sometimes even groups such as these, do not fully understand that aspect of Spirit.

Les: You are quite right they don't, because they will adhere to that frequency of ideas and in many cases I think it is a form of insurance, such that if they are wrong in what they believe and in what I and you of course are trying to teach, then they have the insurance that they didn't throw everything else overboard anyway.

Yes I think that is a good term and perhaps I may borrow it from you, for my future use.

Les: Yes of course. (Laughter)

I will keep that in mind, thank you. Good, now I really must leave you.

Les: Yes, can I ask one last question for my own benefit? Why do you still wear your same robes?

Because only when—this is something too that many of you do not fully understand. When we come back to this vibrational field, all that we remember, memories and such create what we were; it is not necessary we know and fully understand that.

Les: I see, it's created by the memories?

It is created by the memory of returning to where we once belonged. It is nothing to do with the will of what we want. It is almost like the memory of a landscape.

Les: I wondered if that was the reason, because we have been taught that energy has memory, and if this exists in what you used to wear then I can quite understand why it would reappear, when your own memories coalesce.

Yes, I am not too well endowed with knowledge of the technical workings of what goes on amongst—but I only can assure you that that is why these things occur.

Les: Well it's an interesting and very informative answer, thank you. It does clear up several queries I had about it, not only with you, but with others.

And of course to retain the garb which once we had, is also very good for evidence for those people, who once would have known them, if the time scale is correct, you understand?

Les: I understand quite.

But that is why it happens, not because we cling to old values, but only because we have that return to your atmosphere.

Les: I see, well thank you very much for that, it's very useful. I won't detain you any longer. (Thanks + farewells)

There then followed one through Sue. Speech was difficult at first, but gradually the voice became clearer: I feel able now to use the voice, provided you can hear me sufficiently.

Les: We can hear and understand what you say, thank you.

Then I will continue for as long as I am able to, with the power provided. This meeting is of importance to you, because I wish to speak to each one here and tell them who it is, who is guiding them through the path they are walking on now. You will probably find this has not happened before. We are giving each one the name, I say again the NAME, of their guiding—you may say 'Angel'.

Les: Thank you that's most unusual.

(Arrangements were made for each sitter to come before the speaker one at a time)

Les: Margaret?

My child I ask you, when you take your repose this time, think of the colour purple and the name of your guide is Joshua. Should you feel in times of stress, you need to call upon him, mentally say his name and there will be strength flowing through you.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

May you have piece in your lifetime.

Margaret: Thank you.

Please speak your name?

Lilian: Lilian.

This one is very special. Her Spirit shines through. My child, I repeat to you, when you sleep this time, think of the colour white and the name of your guide is Ramona, Sister Ramona and as I said previously, in times of trouble, call upon this person.

Lilian: Thank you.

Sarah: Good evening, my name is Sarah.

My child, deep inside you, is a gentleness that comes to the surface. You are greatly loved. The colour surrounding you and the colour you need to take into your mind is yellow and the name of your guide coincidentally is Sarah. Call her name and she will assist whenever possible, thank you.

Sarah: Thank you very much.

Paul: Hello, my name's Paul.

Again my son, you are a gentle and caring soul, who in varying parts, has given great joy at earlier times. Your colour is blue and the name you must bring to mind, is Ara-mis—a name unfamiliar to your ears, but important. He will be with you throughout your lifetime.

Paul: Thank you

Sallie: Hello, I'm Sallie.

Dear one, there are two people with you. They are heavenly twins. They will guide your footsteps. The colour surrounding you is white. The names of your protectors are Rachel and Rebecca. Go in peace and love.

Sallie: Thank you.

Jack: Hello, my name's Jack.

Another very precious soul here, much loved and highly respected. Do not be alarmed when I tell you that the colour surrounding you is dark and navy-blue, but shot through with silver light. It is a special colour and is highly revered. Your protector and guide is called Rama-sis. Call upon him in times of stress; he'll ease your mind.

Jack: Thank you.

Eileen: Good evening, I'm Eileen.

Take my hand my child. Such a wonderful and divine spirit we have here. Your colour my dear child, is golden shining yellow. I need not give the name of your guide, he is with you and speaks through you. You are greatly honoured to have him, as he is honoured to be with you. His name as you are aware, or the name you know him as, is Salumet. Call him and he will be there for you. This one is most special and will be protected through this lifetime and into the realms of Spirit.

Eileen: Thank you.

Your name child?

Dawn: Dawn.

This one, this one has been in distress. Call upon your guide Naila, and think again of the colour white. Go in piece my child.

Dawn: Thank you.

And now, there is a light surrounding you, which lights up this room. You are most beloved, you have so many surrounding you and helping you along each step of the way of your physical life, but there is one name, one name you are probably familiar with it, but I will repeat it, for the benefit of others. His name is Brother John.

Les: Yes indeed, a very old friend and I greatly appreciate his help.

He is your protector. There is more than one colour associated with you my friend, but predominantly, I will say to you, that it is a vibrant blue, vibrant and shining. I leave you now.

Les: Thank you. Thank you very much for the information you've given us all.

The power is unfortunately not sufficient for further communication.

Les: We do appreciate what you've said and we're very grateful for the effort you've made to bring this information to us. In return we all offer our love and heartfelt thanks to you. God be with you.

Two names I give you for this one and little one absent: Little one must call also upon Brother John and this one, Anna. They send you much love and wish you all piece and joy, throughout your lives.

The communicator then withdrew and returned on 17th February, to complete the circle, which has been included here:

— Please may I ask those absent, to come to me and I will give them the information they seek.

Les: Right—Jo?

Little one please place your hand. I believe I gave the name of your guide and I know the name is familiar to you.

Jo: Yes thank you.

He is with you throughout the times when you are most in need of comfort.

Jo: Thank you.

Brother John, you know?

Jo: Yes thank you.

And you are aware of some of his workings are you not?

Jo: I am yes, I have been for several years, thank you.

Call upon him my little one and as I said previously, concerning the colour which will be of benefit to you, it is rich, dark and most powerful colour, it is the colour purple.

Jo: Thank you.

It will be of benefit to you, when used with the one who cares for you.

Jo: Thank you very much indeed.

We are fully aware of any problems you have and are dealing them as much as we can.

Jo: I'm very grateful, thank you.

Go now, in peace and love.

Les: George?

Please to state your name?

George: George.

Ah yes, we are very aware of this one and will be using him to the fullest of his abilities very shortly.

George: Thank you.

You know what we are speaking of, I am sure.

George: Yes.

The name of your guide who is with you, and listens to you and helps you, his name is John and the colour which surrounds you is pale blue, not a dark blue, but a pale and shimmering blue.

George: Thank you.

Thank you.

Les: Mark?

Your name please?

Mark: I'm Mark.

Yes, we are aware also of your talents—talents which perhaps you are unaware yourself, but be warned, we will be using them shortly. Your guide my son, the guide who you must call upon in times of stress, is Raul; a name perhaps unfamiliar, but non-the-less most important in your life. And the colour, the colour which surrounds you, again is within the blue spectrum, but this time a shade darker; again not a dark blue, but something of a vibrant colour. Use it well and it will benefit you throughout your life.

Mark: Thank you.

Thank you.

The circle, is it now completed?

Les: It is indeed. And for that we are all very grateful.

I will return to you at a later date and will discuss with you the meaning of your individual colours and the significance of the people who surround you all.

Les: That would be most interesting for us and we certainly look forward to it.

You are aware I know that you share with this little one, a guide of great magnitude. He is here now and is stood behind this one and is giving healing as we speak.

Les: Good.

I would ask for this one please, not to be disturbed, until we close the meeting?

Les: Certainly, we'll honour that and I was quite sure she would receive healing while she was with us this time.

I leave you now, for one other to come and speak with you.

(Thanks + farewells)

~20th January 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Les: We are delighted to have you back with us.

Your welcome is pleasing, thank you. It has been but a moment in time.

Les: Yes of course and can I say on behalf of everybody, that we hope you had a very rewarding return home during your stay there and that you have come back refreshed, as you anticipated.

I have not been too far from you all. In fact before I begin to speak with you, shall we have a small invocation to that Great Creative Force?

Les: Yes surely.

As we come before you, oh Great Creative One, may all of us, your disciples of Love and Light, may we say that we continue to stay level, to love much, to judge no man and that all of these peoples here, continue keeping on with keeping on. We ask oh Great Creative Force, that we be encompassed within your everlasting Light and Love.

Dear friends, I am happy to be amongst you once more.

Les: We are certainly very happy to have you with us again. (Affirmed)

I wish to say to you this time: I thank you for your thoughts for those most in need during your celebration times. I know a few forgot, because they were engrossed in their happiness, but I know that there are those among you, who send out many thoughts for those in need. For this my friends I thank you and I know that you will benefit from your loving thoughts. I thank you from my heart, because if only you could see the light that shines forth from you all when these thoughts are given, then truly you would be astonished.

Les: We're very happy to know that, thank you for telling us.

I am happy that you were pleased with our communicator last time.

Les: Yes I was going to thank you, I was sure you had something to do with him coming and I was going to thank you for that, because it was a most informative lesson and most unusual, in that we were all given the names of our permanent friends and helpers.

Did I not promise that I would bring someone to you?

Les: You did indeed.

But of course it preceded my own coming to you. But I can tell you that one will return, because as you know all peoples were not present last time and it is important I feel, that all should have the knowledge given.

Les: I would be very, very grateful for that.

He will return to you and also to give you a little more information.

Les: Thank you very much. You may have got my thoughts during your absence, because I was doing some transcribing of tapes, and it was one in November 1994, when you told us that you would be bringing somebody to talk to us about colour and I thanked you mentally then, whilst I was working.

Yes, we must remember that your thoughts reach us quickly, sometimes before your thought has even formed within your own physical brain.

Les: Is that so?

Yes, that is another fact not always well known, but it has to be, if all things are known, how could it not be? You understand?

Les: Yes we come back to past, present and future, all being one again, don't we? (Yes, yes.) We still of course aren't able to understand it, but we're gradually I think all of us, beginning to get a glimmer of light, about the complexities which we are trying to understand. That is why we're so grateful when somebody else comes, as they did at our last meeting—it all adds to our knowledge and awareness and more importantly, our spiritual development.

You by now know how complex beings you are, that all is not simplicity when it comes to the human being, but it is uppermost in importance, that we reach out to your spiritual selves and that that part of you is developed and given knowledge. After all, what purpose would we serve, if we come only to tell you what you already know?

Les: Quite and you've taught us so much since you've been coming; things that I'm sure none of us had even contemplated.

That is my task and those I bring to you, although up until this time they have been few and far between. But I told you in the beginning, that we must go slowly and once more the aspect of Time in your world, always will remain a mystery to you. (Yes—) But although you doubt how quickly events are happening, let me tell you that we in our world are most pleased with the growth of you all within this room and after all, you are at differing stages of development after all, so we must accommodate all of you. You understand?

Les: Yes I do understand and we all accept the fact that this is so.

And so for that reason and for others you would not fully understand, we take things slowly and gradually, that the knowledge sinks deeply into you, because we do not wish to flood you with too much knowledge and wisdom, so that you are unable to understand.

Les: Yes thank you for your consideration.

Now I think I have spoken enough, so if you have questions this time, I will be happy to answer them.

Les: Thank you, yes if I might begin, I've been thinking a lot about your teaching about energy. You've told us and we accept that energy has a memory. Has energy in its' purest state, have any form at all? This is what I'm sure we all find difficult to visualise. How can we think of energy, if it has no form, no body, no mass?

You would find it difficult to form a picture of energy—that is the very Source of life. You cannot make pictures of what is invisible I would say, to your eyes. We go into deep matters once more. Of course there are forms of energy, which you can feel, which you can touch; you only have to look in your own world, to discover differing forms of energy. Take your plant life, take your animal kingdoms and there, you find energy. Are you beginning to follow what I try to say?

Les: Quite, but those are visible forms of energy, (Yes) I would agree. They are to us, physical forms, but I am puzzled as to how I could visualise the internal forces, within those physical—

Yes I understand your question dear friend, but we have to explain the simplistic facts first, before we come to the deeper matters. I have told you that all being, all life is energy. Everything around and about is energy in a different form, in a different vibration, you know and understand. (Yes) But what you are asking me is, to visualise a spiritual energy with physical eyes—that you will never achieve; you cannot, you cannot—

Les: I understand that.

You are asking, 'Can you spiritually visualise pure energy?' Dear friend, you would not visualise, but you would become part of that energy, you would be, you would become—only then will you fully understand what energy is. Do you begin to comprehend what I try to say?

Les: Yes I do, of course our scientists as of course you know, give us various descriptions of atoms and molecules and protons and neutrons and so on and so on, (Yes) but each of those exists not only as part of the whole, as of the diamond you have explained, (Yes) but they must have some fact within the matter within themselves, in order to exist.

Energy—matter is energy vibrating at a slower rate, you understand? (Yes) Your scientists are correct, when they describe to you atoms, neutrons and all the scientific facts, which are placed before you. What they do not understand is that these things belong to a much 'higher' shall we say, energy, which cannot be analysed, cannot be seen. When you come to that stage of understanding, you do not look for, but you become; you BECOME PART OF THE ENERGY FLOW. You will not be separate, you will be as one. When you reach that state of understanding dear friend, you will not be treading this earthly plane. I cannot explain it to you any simpler, because words are difficult to find, when we speak about this subject.

Les: Yes I can fully appreciate that and thank you for trying to explain it. If I might follow that with one other question: All the different energies that exist in our world, whether spiritual or physical, must I imagine be governed by one Supreme Energy Force, which exists?

You have to my dear friend move away from energy as being divided. You cannot divide Divine Energy, because you see, we are creations from it—all things, all worlds, all planets, all of the cosmos comes from the Divine Energy.

Les: So it cannot exist on its' own, except as part of the Divine Energy?

You are—shall we return to the diamond? All of these things are subdivided within the facet. You know how many facets of a beautiful diamond there are? (Yes) Within each facet then you would have divisions of energy. Put all of these together and then you may begin to understand just a little of the divinity of energy. Energy is life—I cannot explain it more fully to you; it is a topic which needs much wisdom to understand completely. I have to say my own knowledge also has limitations to what that full Divine Energy consists of, because although there is a blending, I have to say from my own knowledge that the refinement continues.

Les: Yes, I got stuck when I was thinking of your description of a diamond and the facets, because having accepted that and got it in my mind as you have just explained, then I began thinking about the light which is reflected from each facet, (Yes) which is a continuity of energy, (Yes) but is not solid in any way.

Energy, pure Divine Energy, has no heaviness shall we say. The Light energy can be seen, can be examined; it is an energy belonging to many worlds, which can be analysed and partly understood, but we are speaking of very basic forms of energy my friend. I know the subject is complicated, but it is a vast subject and one which would take shall I say many, many of your lifetimes, to even to begin to understand the basic form.

Les: Yes I can quite well believe that now. So we must look forward to many lives in your realms, in order that we can study it further.

If you so desire, you will be given opportunity whilst you are clothed within this being here; if the desire is good, then the knowledge of energy and a little more of what you need to know, will be given to you.

Les: Thank you very much.

But I would be most surprised if you were to find too much knowledge about it, whilst you exist on this planet.

Les: I don't doubt it for a minute, I'm beginning to realise the lack of brain we have here, however clever we feel we are.

I am loathe to say to you dear friend, it is a failing of you human kind. It is not that you lack understanding, it is just that you—I do not like the word, 'primitives,' I'm sorry but you are! You understand?

Les: (Chuckles) Yes I do!

'Primitive,' I mean in the sense that your knowledge of 'what is,' is limited.

Les: Yes somebody else told us that they considered people on this Earth to be bottom of the pile of development and I'm afraid we have to agree with them.

I know there are peoples in your world, who think that they are special beings. It is only when they return to our world, that they are placed within the grand order of life. You understand?

Les: Yes I do.

So now, are you happy with the little I have told you?

Les: Very happy thank you and I appreciate what you have said and now I must ask if there are other questions. Anybody have a question for Salumet? (Pause)

(Amused tone) Well dear friends, I take it they are overawed, but I know that not to be true. So we will continue this time, I will take my leave of you and allow another to come to you. (Thanks expressed)

Know always dear friend that I know about you and I hope that you will know, although you have been given your own special helpers, I wish you to know that always I am available to you all. (General thanks/farewells)

There then followed one through Sue:

Much power has been used this time. I have come here firstly to listen to what the great one has to tell you, because as you are probably aware, the question you asked was known to us before you asked it and I was privileged to sit here and listen to what was said.

Les: Yes as our friend Salumet has said, it is such an immensely complex subject, that we can never really have an answer that would satisfy our physical brains. We can only just begin to think of the immensity of creation.

When such subject is approached, it takes immense energy from this room to reply, can you understand when I say that to you?

Les: Yes I can understand. I hope I didn't deplete energy, which you would have used in other ways.

My friend, as I said to you, your question was known to us before you asked it. Therefore tonight's meeting was for the purpose of replying to that question.

Les: Thank you, we shall have to remember that you know what we think, before we know it ourselves!

Yes, but not, I repeat NOT all things and you are aware of course, that your thoughts remain private?

Les: Of course, you have more to do than listen to our stupid thoughts anyway—no I do understand that you know of our thoughts only when they are directly concerned with what we are being taught and what we wish to learn. How you filter them out, we don't know, but that's not important, we know that our lives do remain private.

When a thought or a cry for help is directed towards the world we inhabit, then of course it is given priority with us. Random thoughts are not necessarily of interest to us.

Les: No, I can quite imagine that, because you have many more interesting things to occupy yourself with in any case.

We on the other hand, do take great joy in listening sometimes, to your conversation and smile at some of the things and some of the ideas that come across.

Les: (chuckling) Yes, I'm sure it must give you some amusement.

We do not laugh at you, any conversation, any thoughts that stimulate and stretch the mind are beneficial and can only enhance the spirit and help it grow.

Les: It's interesting that you should say that, because you will have heard me mention to Salumet, that I have been transcribing a tape from two years ago and in that he suggested that we should all exercise our minds much more. (Indeed.) You just used the same phrase.

Do not let your minds become stagnant, question, question always question; great, great benefit will be had, when you stimulate and stretch the mind.

Les: Absolutely, it's most important.

And now I leave this meeting now, I ask you to bring it to a close. I say to you, that the energies this time, are much depleted and we do not wish to over-stretch anyone here; we do not wish to deplete themselves of vital power source. Can you comprehend what I say to you?

Les: Yes I do indeed you don't want to deplete the batteries in each of us.

It does not benefit the soul or the body, if it becomes overtaxed. So dear friends, if you will permit me, I will give you your closing thoughts this time: (Good.) Before I do so could I please ask you to ensure each one here is perfectly happy and back to their normal selves and then dear friend, I will close for you.

(Les then quickly went around the circle, checking everyone was fine)

Are our friends quite returned to this room?

Les: Yes, except the one used by Salumet and I will see to that after your closing, because it may take some time. (Indeed.)

The power of the Spirit that you cannot see, but can feel within your very beings, thanks you, thanks you for bringing Light and Love from the darkness. We thank you for your thoughts of Love towards one another and for those unseen. We thank you for giving your time to come to this place and to come nearer to your Spirit. We thank you for opening your hearts and allowing us to enter. We thank you for being who you are and for being what you are. In the name of the Creative Force of Love and Light, I thank you. May that Creator surround you all, with the Love that you give. Amen.

~27th January 1997~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

This time dear friends, I bring to you peace, that should help you in your daily living. (Thanks expressed)

At this present time of existence on your earthly plane, much peace is needed. So I say to you dear friends, to each individual here, I will try to sustain each one of you, in order that your daily lives are bearable, with much hope, love, joy and peace to you all. (Thanks expressed)

Les: Very kind of you and we do appreciate it.

I wish to say to you this time, that when next we have all peoples present, that I will bring to you someone who will speak to you and who I hope you will find most interesting and instructive and also to leave you feeling most uplifted.

Les: I'm sure we shall.

But it will happen only when all are present, you understand?

Les: Yes, It's unfortunate that the little one still is unable to be with us.

It is in hand and we are doing what we can for that one, but it is more deeply seated, than you would expect.

Les: Thank you for all the help you are giving her.

But it may be that she will be excluded, but all other peoples are present, you understand?

Les: Yes I do understand thank you.

But let me assure you, those that come close to that one, are doing what they can.

Les: Thank you very much indeed for that.

We must say also, that instrument here who is close to that one, must be aware of how much is drawn from her and must become aware to protect herself. I'm sure you will pass this information to her, when we finish this meeting. (Yes) She must firstly protect herself from being drawn—energy being taken from her, because of the closeness and the bond between them. (Sue and Jo are both mediums and sisters)

Les: Yes I will give her the message, when she's back with us after the meeting. Thank you for the information.

I wish to say to you this time, that I know some of you, not all, have been trying to see how your own energy patterns work. For this I say to you thank you—not thank you for me, but thank you that you are enabling your spiritual growth to happen more quickly, by endeavouring to see what you are about. There is no need for me to individualise these ones, because they are fully aware of who they are. So, do we have questions this time?

Les: Yes I would like if I may to follow on from your colleague's talk two meetings ago, about colours. I've been thinking a lot about that and I was reminded of the more enlightened Indian tribes, who apologised to an animal, before killing it and thank it for what it is offering them, in the way of food. And it is said that some of those enlightened people, were able to see a grey shadow of fear around the animal, shortly before they killed it. If that is so, it would indicate I think that animals too have a colour structure. If they do, is it individual as in humans, or would it be a composite colour structure, belonging to a particular group or species?

It would depend dear friend. (Les then coughs) Are you well to continue?

Les: Yes thank you, it's just an irritating cough again, I thought it had gone, but it's come back today.

I will continue then. I have explained many times now, that we all are energy from one Source, which would indicate that all species, human, plant, animal, derive from that same energy. But of course when we speak of colour, which after all, is colour being seen by the physical eye, then we begin to differentiate slightly between each kingdom. Although I wish to stress that all energy derives from the one Source, because of your evolutionary plan, the animal kingdom is slightly different in their colours. But I say this to you: Those animals who have contact with you humankind, are apt to draw from you that love colour, which is then shown within their own auric fields, you follow?

Les: Yes, that had never occurred to me as a possibility.

So that is why when animals and humans are in close contact with that love bond between them, energy interacts and almost becomes as one. I'm sure all of you have heard many times peoples say, I love my animals more than humans. (Agreed) That is because the energies, the love between each—although in a different evolutionary phase, it is so strong that the colours begin to show themselves as one. Let me continue a little further. The animals as you would say 'in the wild,' I believe is your term—they belong to animal groups which do have colours, which are slightly dimmer, if you like, although they are the same colour. You follow? (Yes) But it belongs to the animal kingdom. But every source of energy which comes from that Great Creative Force must have feeling, if it belongs to that one energy. That is why people become aware of the fear, which emanates from animals. Although you speak of peoples who revere these animals and thank them for what they give to them, I have to tell you, that I say to you most strongly:

I feel that it is wrong to sacrifice animals, for the sake of humankind, because in effect you are destroying what is also part of your very existence. And although we teach that it is important that the reasoning behind what you do to your animals on the Earth plane is important, I would say to you that the higher elements of your Spirit, knows fully well that it is wrong. But I also say to you, you are human, you are evolving, you are learning therefore do not be too harsh upon yourselves. To know that mankind has in effect destroyed many in the animal kingdom, all too often for his own survival, but that does not make it right. You understand? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes, you have made this point clear in the past too, not only in the animal kingdom, but also in the plant kingdom.

I am afraid, in all areas of earthly life, mankind has been responsible for many wrongs. But as I say, you are human, you are evolving, you are becoming more knowledgeable in these matters. So I say to you, look always to that Higher Self for your guidance. But you must allow what has gone in the past to remain there, because you must go forward, you must learn. After all, is that not why I come to you, to teach, to raise you up, to help you forward in your understanding.

Les: Of course, and that also would be I imagine, why you have told us in the past, to learn to forgive ourselves?

You must! I would say mankind is too harsh, too harsh about what he does. If you cannot forgive yourself, you cannot truly express love to any other form on your earthly plane—to another human kind, to animals, to plant, to the Earth itself. You must my friends, first and foremost, love yourselves and then will come most naturally the love to be given to all things.

Les: Yes we do understand that, even though it is apparently contrary to what we as humans would believe to be the case, but the way you explained it, is logical enough for us to accept it.

I do not expect you to become wonderful spiritual being—maybe in a long time.

Les: If we did, we wouldn't have the pleasure of your company, would we? (Chuckles)

I thank you for that, but of course you will evolve, you will learn, your understanding will become rich in all matters of living. So be pleased that you ask these questions, be pleased that your understanding grows, if but slowly. Nevertheless it grows and so the soul grows with it, in that understanding and knowledge that all that you try to achieve is not forgotten. Remember everything is known and so I say to you all dear friends, be pleased with what you try to achieve.

Les: We thank you for that consolation. I'm sure we all do naturally get a little despondent sometimes, with our lack of knowledge and the time it takes for us to learn. I don't think anybody here would contradict that, would they? (Agreed) So we are aware of our shortcomings, which I suppose in itself is an asset.

Can I say one thing to you all, and I do not say this in a critical manner, but I do say that all of mankind, needs to learn patience, patience. Walk slowly and you will go further. You understand?

Les: Yes again, we're grateful to you for reminding us of that, because it is our own impatience, which denies us what has been told in the past, that unless we take every step properly, we shall have at some time to go back and retrace that step.

I believe you have a term in your world, which says, you cannot run before you can walk. (Agreed) So I will leave you with those words to ponder upon this time, because I know each time we come together, that all of you—and I do wish you could see the thoughts which come forth from you all after these meetings, because you see for a short time, much is being thought about and that is when the soul is opening to new knowledge—for this dear friends, I thank you.

Les: We thank you again for all that you have told us, during this visit.

I will withdraw from you this time, to allow another to speak, but of course I will continue to work with this one.

Les: Thank you very, very much again, our love goes with you and God's blessing also.

There then followed a sweet one through Sue called Anabella, who talked about her work with children, as she practised her use of the voice box.

This was followed by one through Eileen:

Would you please take your normal seat sir?

Les: Certainly.

Good evening ladies and gentlemen.

(Welcomes)

Now you understand why I ask you take your place?* *(Loud and booming voice)

Les: Yes, you didn't want to blow my head off with the noise. (Laughter)

Please say if I am too loud.

Les: No—you can speak more quietly if you wish.

It is an exercise. I come as a go-between, to speak for others. I wish in particular to find one gentleman within this room, one who is interested in writing.* *(George)

George: Yes I write.

Yes sir, have you been aware of others at your shoulder.

George: Oh I have yes.

You have—now is the time to let you know that serious work must be at hand. I have come on behalf of those who wish to use you, if you are prepared to do so?

George: Oh yes I am prepared and I do realise that it is serious work and I'm very grateful to all those who have helped.

I speak not of what you write at this time, but of work that can be done from our side of life, work that is important to those who wish to put words to paper. Do you recognise the name Charles—Tom? Are these familiar to you, have you been impressed by those names sir?

George: Charles and Tom?

No, obviously you have not. I come to tell you sir, to be prepared for two names well known in your world, in times gone by—two people who wish to use your hand, if you are so prepared?

George: Yes, I'd be grateful, I am prepared

Les: Can I clarify? I think you are referring to automatic writing, are you?

Yes sir, that is what I do refer to and that is my mission, because the gentlemen who wish to use this gentleman, have been trying to make themselves known to him, simply by touch, simply by being with him, at his time of writing.

Les: Would it be as well for the gentleman to devote time to quiet contemplation, so that they can begin to try and use his hands?

That is why I am here sir. I had to be sure that the gentleman is willing to commit himself to these peoples. I think you would say these peoples were known well in your world?

Les: Are you prepared to be used for automatic writing George?

George: Yes I'm certainly willing—I'll try to prepare myself for that.

Les: I think one is Charles Dickens.

Yes Charles Dickens and Thomas Hardy. These are two people, two gentlemen who come close to you. That is why you are sensitive to the touch upon the shoulder. I wish also to know sir, what other senses you have been feeling, not for my own knowledge, but that I can relay to them that what they try to convey to you, is in fact what you feel.

George: Yes, I have been aware while I have been writing, of ideas coming, which have sometimes surprised me, in that the ideas seem to come from elsewhere.

Yes, I have to say to you sir, Charles Dickens in particular, is interested in your very active mind, because he also was a gentleman, who created much discord amongst his fellow men, because his ideas were not always what others wished to hear.

George: Yes, it is good and worthwhile to be different and I think one of the elements in his work, was that he was different from what had gone before.

We do not give you these names to impress. You understand?

George: I understand.

I do not come to give these names to you lightly, I come to give you these names for serious work and to have your approval of work to be done, to allow your hand to be used for this purpose only.

George: Yes I certainly approve and I shall try to prepare myself for this and I do thank you and all concerned.

I am sure sir the leader of this group will guide you well. He has many years of knowledge behind him, so we leave you with him, to give you further instructions, if we may do so sir?

Les: Yes please do.

George: Thank you, I'm most grateful.

I hope I have not been too disruptive, but it is difficult to tone down such a strong voice, even when I return to your world.

Les: Yes, you used it so for many years, didn't you?

My sole purpose is to be understood, to speak to many peoples, to be listened to and to be heard.

Les: You've certainly given us much to think about. We've understood it very clearly and are all very, very grateful for the opportunity that is going to be given to our colleague, for this extra important work. And tell Charles please:

Les then begins to channel: There will be quills upon the desk.

I know you feel his presence also sir. But you do not need to be used for the purpose. That is why now you are feeling the closeness that he brings to this meeting. To you sir and all of your comrades here, I say thank you and goodbye.

(General thanks + goodbyes)

Les: Goodbye and God bless you and those who are going to honour us with their work. Goodbye to you all.

~3rd February 1997~

No Salumet this week and we were low on numbers, but it was still of much interest. The first communicator came through Eileen:

(Welcomes)

—I have been told to relay to you that this evening will be a light one, whatever that means.

Les: We didn't expect our usual visitor, because there's not enough power here.

I see, that would explain the message. May I say it's a pleasure to come where people are so open and loving, because I have to tell you sometimes I've been to groups where not everyone is genuine.

Les: That is the problem isn't it with some groups. I often wonder why some people trouble to go, because they are not really basically sincere in their desire to learn.

No, it stands out so, in a group of people, because as you know our knowledge is a little higher, so these things are known to us. And you would be surprised I think, to know how difficult it makes our job, when there are people amongst you, with these negative attitudes.

Les: It must make a very disturbing force for you to contend with.

Not so much that, but it impinges upon the work that we, should I say 'desire' to do. Nevertheless we overcome the problem if we can, but it is lovely when you come amongst a group of people who are so like-minded and I have to tell you, you are! (Thanks expressed)

I come to say this to you, that this evening everyone will be used in some way, if they will open their hearts and to say to the lady across the room that it is time for her to open up to her spiritual work, it is time.

Les: Hear that Sallie?

Sallie: Yes thank you.

Yes I know sometimes, she does not doubt the work, but she does have doubts about herself.

Les: Many times we here that. It's a problem fighting the physical desire to know what is happening and doubting it at the same time.

Yes, I'm afraid you are correct. These people after all know that it is Truth but again your human mind interferes, as it has done in all of us at some time and still does I tell you, in our world.

Les: Does it really?

Oh yes, of course. We do not suddenly become believers in everything, no.

Les: No, you take your reservations with you do you?

Of course, it depends on the knowledge you've gained and what you bring with you—of course it does.

Les: Absolutely, that's what I tell my friends here, we are all fitting ourselves we hope for such a place in the new world, that we won't have to go through a doubting period, but can accept it as soon as we arrive.

Yes, I'm afraid too many human beings keep 'reserves' shall we say, about what they will find, and when they arrive to us they are sometimes very surprised that what they kept in reserve was not to be. But we smile at them and help them along, because after all, you sometimes seem like small children with your doubts —

Les: Yes and of course what those people don't realise is that you already know about their reserves when they arrive, without them having to tell you.

Of course we are prepared for all who come to us, of course we are prepared.

Les: I amused one of your colleagues at the other meeting, when I said that I quite understood that a lot of people had these reservations and didn't want to discard their old religious beliefs, which they held onto like a form of insurance, just in case they were wrong.

Yes, well you'd be amazed at how many people are met at ~The Gates~ (Chuckles), because if that is what they truly expect, then that is what they will find and we stand back for a while and allow this to take place and you may be amused by what people expect to find.

(There were more chuckles, before the conversation moved on to talking about her work in the halls of healing in the spirit world.)

—I help in the making of clothes and beautiful materials. I am a helper I think you would say. I don't think I'm being immodest to say, I was a very good needle woman, when I lived on the Earth. And these talents if you like, are always put to good use, if you so desire. And because it was my life—and I don't think that is an understatement, I wanted to continue—and it is my great honour I have to say, to be involved in that type of work.

Les: What is done with the finished material? I have spoken to others in your world who do the same work, but for the benefit of my colleagues, I'm asking, what happens to the work, when you have finished it?

There are many ways that it is used, but my course of work, is used in the Healing Halls of recovery. I don't always use just the material, but I am used for—I don't know if you will fully understand, but the colours, the healing colours throughout this special material, it surrounds these sick individuals.

Les: Yes, when you say 'special material,' am I right in thinking—this is going to be difficult for us to understand, but it's the only expression I can use—am I right in thinking that you weave into the fabric, particular forms of energy for healing?

Yes, you understand a great deal. That is exactly what is happening, it is woven in the form of healing energy, but to call it colour, is simpler to explain. It is indeed special—material of course is an earthly term, but it is used for all kinds of things in our world.

Les: Yes, not only for direct healing for the remnants of physical disorders, but mainly for mental healing, when our people reach you also, I think?

That is more important yes, and I don't know if you fully understand, but there are different degrees of healing halls. I don't know if you have been told. I'm being told you have not, so I will stop there, because that is not my purpose this evening, but I hope one time someone will come to you and explain to you more.

Les: I think basically your healing halls are devoted to a specific type of ailment, which is the only expression I can use and those people are congregated together in the halls, so that the thought emanations from one illness do not interfere with the healing of other types of illness.

You would be amazed—it is almost like each individual is isolated within the energy of the 'material,' shall I say. But of course when I say 'hall,' you have to imagine wide open space; it is not a hall as you would fully understand it to be.

Les: No, I believe you only use the expression, because it encompasses certain fields of energy, within which the people are treated?

Yes, and of course the material is only one small part, but it is a great honour to be involved in any aspect of this work and for that I am so lucky and imbued with so much love, when I am involved in that work.

Les: Yes you absorb it from the very fabrics that you create, don't you?

Yes, and to be able to continue with that love, that desire, has been most joyous for me, most joyous.

Les: Yes I'm sure it would have been.

So you see, to do this occasionally, is almost like light-hearted relief. So you see without being frivolous, it is—for me it is good, it gives me an understanding of people still here, because you do lose sometimes the understanding of the physical being, when they are still on this Earth. Can you understand me?

Les: Yes we have been told that memory is faulty when they come back here, and this we can understand.

Yes, so it is good to be with you still clothed in your earthly form, it gives us pleasure.

Les: And of course I imagine it can be helpful in your work, to know that even on Earth, there are still pockets of love, as you find in a meeting such as this.

Oh I would say, I know there are differences of opinion about this, but I can only say that in the majority of people, there lies much love, there does indeed. There is much more goodness than you would see and understand. You have to see the wider scope of a person, to fully understand what they are about I think.

Les: Yes and this is what we are frequently taught by our normal visitor at these meetings, that we have to think in terms of ourselves being spiritual beings, rather than physical beings, and by that we can radiate the love we should be radiating, as a matter of course.

Yes I also was taught that too, before I could move forward and use the knowledge that I too possessed. That is something we are all taught I have to say. It is something I wish the whole of your Earth could know and understand. There IS much more goodness, than at first you would envisage.

Les: Quite, and of course you are much better able to see that now.

Yes, yes. Of course there are the elements of darkness, but that has always been. But hopefully it will be phased out in time to come.

Les: That is what many people in your realms are trying to do now I think, for the sake of our Earth, and for the sake of mankind's existence here.

Yes, I cannot comment on that, but I'm sure you are right in that assumption—yes I'm sure you must be correct. Well now I really must stop, I've said far too much. Please will you all ladies and gentlemen allow yourselves to be used? (Affirmed) Please say what you feel and open your hearts, because there are so many around. I know you feel you are small in numbers, but triple those numbers and you will find within this room, that it is quite crowded! So from me I bid you all goodnight. I thank you for your welcome and your love and the opportunity, and may I say to you, God bless you all. (General thanks + fond farewells)

There then followed one through Sarah, who thanked Les for the help he gave when they had come through at a rescue.

Some of the sitters reported feeling certain sensations. Sallie felt someone pulling her toe and Sarah had movement in one of her arms, which Les explained related to a stroke which the person with her had had, and now needed to know that they could move BOTH sides.

There then followed another very briefly, but powerfully, through Eileen:

I will say a few words to you this time. My name was Sheva. I will return to speak with you.

Les: We look forward to that.

It is time to tell much.

Les: Good, we shall all be very pleased to hear whatever you have to say.

Eileen then came out of trance and said that it was a strange feeling of being very tall and that it was Egyptian. She felt encased in gold, possibly a golden sarcophagus.

~10th February 1997~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: I'm sure you'll be pleased to know, apart from the little one, there's a full meeting tonight.

Yes it is good to see you all together once more.

Les: We're pleased that it is so and hope that the sicknesses are now gone.

I cannot say that, but we will have more meetings that are full with you all.

Les: That's very nice to hear, thank you.

I would say to you all this time that I am sure you are aware how much you have grown since we first met.

Les: Yes I think we are aware of that; anybody not? We'll take the silence as affirmation that everybody is aware.

I would say to you only this: That you can be pleased with yourselves, because the interaction of your positive thinking, with your daily lives, is now beginning to show itself to you all. I am sure you are aware of these happenings with your daily living.

Les: Speaking for myself, I am. Everybody else had awareness of that? (Affirmed) Has anybody not had that awareness? (Silence) Thank you.

So when I say to you be pleased with yourselves, I do not want you to think of this as being self-pride, but to think rather that you are growing spiritually and for that reason be pleased. You understand?

Les: Yes, we are pleased with what has been achieved and we take this opportunity of thanking you for what you have done for us in that connection.

I say to you only this, this time before we have some questions: Let me say that you all are growing at such a rate, that we can envisage much good work, more quickly than at first we thought.

Les: That also is very, very nice to hear and we are all I'm sure grateful for you telling us.

Now, can we have your questions please?

Les: Yes, if I might begin again, it refers to spiritual development. We have a lady, I'm sure you're aware, who gives time on Sunday evenings for investigative sittings and she has been doing excellent work. On the last two occasions, she's had no communications from your side at all. I think it's because she's been unwell and is not yet fully recovered. She's a little concerned that it might be something she's doing or not doing. If you can give her some reassurance, I'd be very grateful to pass it on.

I believe this question has risen before?

Les: You're quite right it has, some time ago.

Yes, let me say only this: In what you term, 'development,' there are many aspects of work used, with one individual and of course, physical well-being is one aspect of this. But it should not make too much difference, provided the mental attitude remains solid, do you understand? (Yes) It is not so important that the physical being is well, but that the mental, the mind, that part that belongs to the spiritual aspect, remains intact.

Les: Yes, she still wishes to continue doing the work.

She will, we will not allow her to go from the work now that it has started.

Les: Thank you, I told her that you wouldn't allow it. (Chuckles)

We do not wait for you, to allow you to wonder. We know some do, but then there are different and varying degrees of development. Let me say this to you: Tell her to allow her mind to be free from worry, because it is a mental block, not that we cannot use her. She needs to free the mind from these concerns. Of course too, I have to tell you that communication will not always take place, if conditions are not right, from our side of life.

Les: Yes I had explained that to her, that with my own good lady, there were times, when we had absolutely blank evenings and that we came to accept as being necessary, for some reason, which we did not know, but which we accepted.

Yes, and that is how it must be. You must give yourself willingly and in love, to be used for communication. I would say to her, to relax and allow things to take their natural course. She will be used, of course she will, but I have to say, you understand and know full well, that to do communicative work, you need to be sensitive. But this also can have a negative effect upon the physical thinking. (Yes) You see, it is like two parts of a being, you need the sensitivity to have the communication, but sometimes the sensitivity blocks what is necessary. Can you understand?

Les: I do understand and I have tried myself to explain this to others in the past, but it is very difficult to put it into words, to give a full understanding to the person listening.

Again we come back to what I have told you in past times, always there is positive and negative—one cannot exist without the other, and you must see this in all aspects of your living. This is why at this time she feels she is doing something wrong. I suppose you could say, in the true sense of the word, that indeed she is blocking, but not from any physical thing that her mind creates—she is creating obstacles, where none exist.

Les: I'll try and explain that to her.

I would say to you, tell her that those who are round and about, will continue to work with her—to give more time to quietness—she does not give enough time to this.

Les: Thank you for that, because that was my concern too, that she was trying to cram too much into her life.

You—all of you who live upon this Earth, have busy lives, we know and we understand, but if you wish to communicate with us, on a level which is good and necessary, then you must allow us time to work with you. If you do not, that does not mean to say communication will not continue, but in allowing us with you in those quiet moments, we are, shall I say, ‘grooming you,’ for much better work.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

We will help.

Les: I wanted to ask that question, for the benefit too, of those that are here developing, so that in future, if a similar thing occurs, they won’t worry about it, but will accept it for the necessity that it is on occasions. That is why I say devote some time to the quiet moments, because in those times, if there is no words of communication, you can feel the blending of spirit with us. Then the knowledge is sure within yourselves, that communication is still with you, you understand?

Les: Yes we do and thank you very, very much, for the extremely lengthy description, which is extremely useful to us all. Did someone else have a question?

Mark: I’m curious to know, if there is a good amount of time to give for sitting in silence? Various people say different things, from ten minutes to half an hour.

Yes, let me say this to you dear friend: It needs but few moments of quietness, for us to make connection with you. What is desirable is not length of time, as you know, but regular time, each day of your living—that is more desirable, than minutes of your clock. You understand? (Yes) Be guided by your own knowledge, your own feelings of what is right for you. You see you cannot say, and I know of what you say that people will try to guide you—let me say this to you: When you make communication with those of us from our side of life, that communication is personal to you only and no other being. You understand? (Yes) Therefore how can one say that you need five minutes, when those who are coming to you may wish, may desire to use you for much longer. It may be moments, it may be minutes, it may in some cases, depending on development, it may be hours—and then we begin to speak of those people who go into silence, as part of their daily living, you understand? (Yes) Be guided by yourself and those who come to you. After all, we are more aware of time, of you as individuals, of that spiritual aspect of you, which you give out. You understand? (Yes) So I say to you, do not listen to others, but do what you know must be done. All I would say is that each part of your daily living should be devoted to some quietness.

Mark: Thank you

Les: I might add to that, think of sincerity of purpose, rather than period of time—two minutes of utter sincerity, is worth more than half an hour of fiddling around. Right, now before I grab centre stage again, has anybody else got a question they’d like to ask Salumet? (Pause) No, right well I’d like to continue on our previous discussion if I may Salumet, about Thought. I think we are gradually beginning to realise the power of thought, but there are still things which confuse us and this came to my mind at our last Wednesday meeting, when two ladies from your world, who’d been very interested in horses, when on Earth, were pleased to tell us that they still have their horses and to their delight, are able to ride them in the sea, because the sea is quite warm. Now that led me to thinking that if that rider thought the sea was warm and somebody else thought it was cold, how would those thoughts conflict, or is one thought pattern stronger than another? Would it over-play another, so that one who thought it was cold, found it wasn’t cold, you understand what I mean?

I understand dear friend. Let me say, there cannot be interference in another’s thought pattern. Firstly I must make that plain to you.

Les: This is what puzzled me. I didn’t think there could be.

Let us for example, take each one within this room. If each one of you was to send a thought out to me, would there be one stronger than another? What do you think?

Les: Well I would have thought that each would arrive independently.

No, we have to discuss this a little more, for your understand. All thought belongs to the same energy pattern; I do believe you accept this now. But in the same manner that you have, say, rays from the sun, does each individual ray, interfere with each other? No it does not, it reaches where it expands to; it reaches the target, without interference from each other. It is all the same energy, it is the same energy pattern, but the lines do not cross, if you like. So let us return to your question. If you have two people with two different thought patterns, to them that thought is ACTUALITY, at that particular time, you understand? (Yes —) So one can think the sea is warm, the other can think the sea is cold. It is the power of the thought, it does not affect the sea as such, you understand?

Les: Yes, so it is the thought which is giving the feeling of warmth or cold?

It is each individualised thought pattern, which creates that situation at that time.

Les: So it doesn't alter the surroundings at all, in which they are?

It would not affect the energy pattern of the sea, you understand?

Les: Yes, I had come to that conclusion that that must be so, but I wanted confirmation, because I was only presuming that.

That has to be. You have to remember that each individual thought, is a personalised energy. You may all within this room, be thinking about shall we say, an object, but your thought-patterns will all be different, to some degree, but that does not change the structure of the object. Do you follow?

Les: Yes, to simplify that a little, if we all go on holiday to the same place, our reactions to that place as individuals, are quite different and we come back and give different descriptions and retain different feelings. But that hasn't altered the holiday place to which we went—it is still the same, (Yes) so the same would apply to the thought-patterns in your world.

That is a simplistic way of explaining it to you. Of course we can go much deeper in detail, but at this particular time in our evolution shall I say, that explanation should suffice.

Les: Yes, that will have to suffice for us at the moment, because it's all that we can sensibly understand.

(Yes) But in thinking about this and I don't expect you to comment on this at this stage, I was then thinking that there must be beings in your world, who have the power to alter the surroundings, if that was necessary, by their own extremely powerful thought patterns.

I would say to you—and I do wish to comment at this stage, that no individual being within our world, can alter what is always there. We cannot alter the eternal energy pattern which exists. What we can do is create thoughts, we can influence the thoughts of others, but we cannot CHANGE, we cannot change what has always been, you understand? (Yes) Of course there are others in my world who have 'Thought power,' if you like to use that word, who have the power to influence the thought patterns of others, if it be necessary for the good of that individual, but we cannot change the eternal energy, which after all, we belong to and from which we come.

Les: But you can use products of that energy I imagine and I refer now to something I heard a long time ago, that certain people have responsibility, for building your halls of learning, halls of healing and so on and they create the translucent blocks, from which apparently these buildings are made, and erect them by thought.

Yes, but you see dear friend, those who are within that creative work, are not changing the energy, they are using what is available to them, but they are not changing the structure of that energy.

Les: No, they are using the energy to create another form.

They are using the energy for thought patterns, shall I say. We are speaking about difficult topics here, but I say to you keep in mind, that the 'living energy,' which is what you term God, or the Creative Force, cannot be altered—it has always been and it will always be. But I understand your questions, it can be utilised, but not changed.

Les: Yes, that's a better description of course, just as we can utilise it here, in the physical sense.

It is perhaps apt at this moment in time, to compare it with say your radio waves, where they have been adapted for human use, in order that you may hear, you understand? (Yes) But you have not altered that energy pattern, you have used it to create sound. Does that make it a little more simple for you?

Les: Yes, in one way, because that would bring us to another question, because that particular wave, which is producing the sound we hear, does it in itself contain that sound, or is it silent until we convert it by our machinery, or radio set? I'm not expecting you to answer it now, it's too complex altogether.

Yes, it is complex, but I always try to simplify for you. ALL energy, the living energy of which I speak, is not only filled with colour and sound, but many, many energies of which you are not aware, on this earthly plane. Each section of energy which is utilised can be used in many ways. The energy that is used on radio waves is a light energy, you understand? (Yes) It is complex its structure, but the sound which comes from the light wave, is inherent within that energy.

Les: So it exists, even though we are not aware of it?

It always exists, but it needs to be utilised to produce the sound, you understand? (Yes) Remember I am simplifying all of these questions.

Les: I'm glad you do, because that's the only way we can understand it.

It is a complex subject, when we are speaking of the very CORE of existence, you understand? (Yes) But I hope that has been helpful to you.

Les: It has to me and everybody else I hope? (Affirmed)

And now, as I take my leave from you this time, to allow another to speak, I will say to you, that next time when we have full meeting, I will bring to you someone of interest—I promised you some time ago, but it should be a full meeting, for the benefit of you all.

Les: Thank you very much indeed, we look forward to that.

My blessings go with you all and I thank you for listening to me this time.

Les: And we thank you for all you have told us tonight and we all send our love with you and God bless you also.

There then followed on through Sue, with a message for Margaret about opening up further and being used for speech. There was then an amusing one through Eileen, with a message for Sallie, to help her with her tummy trouble:

She needs to swallow a slippery eel!

This caused much laughter. It turned out to be SLIPPERY ELM, which is indeed a digestive treatment (Often prescribed by Edgar Cayce) and did prove very useful advice.

~17th February 1997~

Good evening.

All: Good evening

Les: It's very nice to have a full house to welcome you. All members are present.

I would like to say this time, welcome to one who has been absent from us.

Les: Jo, it's a welcome to you.

Jo: Thank you.

I say to you all dear friends, thank you for your questions, which some of you have been putting out to us. I hope that you have been aware of our help and our answers to you.

Les: Is that so? Has anybody been aware?

Margaret: Yes.

I will speak to you only for a short time, because as I told you last time, I would bring to you someone of interest when we had every one of you present.

Les: Yes you did and I have been thinking a lot about that and looking forward to it and I'm sure my friends have also.

Because of this, I will answer quickly any questions and I would say to you once more, allow yourselves to be open to the communications available to you. We have with us this time, the one who came to you recently, to give to those who were absent from that meeting, the name that they should be associated with.

This information has already been added to the 13/01/97 transcript and therefore need not be repeated here. Salumet withdrew after the usual fond farewells and thanks. Our expected guest came through Eileen:

Can you hear me? (Affirmed) Thank you, my instructions are to speak with you. I believe you have been told have you?

Les: Yes we've been told by our friend Salumet, that he would be bringing somebody, whom we would find very interesting.

I am honoured that those words should have been used. Of course I am delighted to speak with you.

Les: We are certainly delighted to have you with us.

I am indeed honoured to be here, but I have to make adjustments with this one.

(Light was dimmed to help our guest get used to conditions)

— I hope that you find this discussion useful, because as far as I am aware, this knowledge is not given lightly to many. So what I am about to tell you, may at first seem strange, but I assure you that is part of my work and I hope you find it of interest.

Les: Yes I'm sure we shall. We do of course have many things which are strange, but in due course in our time, become much more understandable.

Yes, I am finding it strange to be using a human voice, so if I seem to be strange-sounding at times, then I ask your forgiveness now.

Les: Of course we do understand and we appreciate the difficulties you must have in doing this. This is why we also feel honoured that you should be with us.

Thank you. Now let me continue with what I have come to tell you. Firstly, I cannot and do not and never have belonged to your world, although I have become familiarised with it; but having said that I still find humankind to be most strange. (General agreement + light laughter)

Les: Yes, that we do understand and would agree with you completely; we must seem very strange indeed. In saying those words to you, I do not say them unkindly, but in my daily workings with you, I am often puzzled by the way you think. And in saying 'think,' I come to the core of our topic this evening. I am you see, what you would term—'Thought Energy Interceptor', (Expressions of curiosity/surprise) I would imagine that you have not heard of this.

Les: We certainly have not.

No, and that is why the great one has sent me to you, to give you a little more insight and knowledge.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

I know our teaching has been stressing to you all, about the Power of your Thought.

Les: Yes quite often he has done that.

And I have been instructed that at times you find it difficult to grasp. But you are thinking, why should it be necessary to intercept humankind's thoughts, are you not? Are you not puzzled by why that should be? Because I hear you say, but we have been told, there cannot be interference—I hear it from you!

(General chuckles) Yes, let me go on and explain more. You all know how powerful the thought can be.

(Affirmed) Not only do your thoughts reach out to each other, whilst you are living upon this planet, but that your thoughts can be transmitted to those in our worlds, yes?

Les: Yes we are aware of that.

So, this is where my task comes into play, I believe you would say? (Yes) Yes, we cannot allow harm to be done to those souls who are helpless in our world, because the power of humankind thoughts can do that to them.

Les: Is that so?

Yes, it is little known, how dangerous, how ugly and evil, humankind thought can be.

Les: I can quite understand the evil and the ugliness of our thoughts; unfortunately it is so. I think all of us would recognise and agree with that, but I don't think any of us understood that it could affect those in your world, to that extent.

Yes, because you see, 'THOUGHT,' when it leaves YOUR world, from YOUR thoughts, YOUR minds, it also becomes much more refined and can reach its 'target' shall we say, more easily. I know you are going to find what I say difficult to understand, but it is necessary that we do INTERCEPT on occasions, to protect souls from more harm.

Les: Yes we can understand that and understand the need for it, knowing the depth of depravity in some of our own thoughts.

Yes, I think it would be apt at this time, to perhaps give some examples, in order that you may find the information more easily digestible. If we have someone who passes to our side of life—an innocent soul who has left behind someone deep and full of resentment, anger and hatred, can you not see the harm that can be done by those evil thoughts, constantly being sent out into the ether?

Les: Yes, you mean resentment against the one who has passed on?

Of course.

Les: Yes that is quite clear to us.

Then my task in our world is to intercept those thoughts, in order that the soul may find its place, without further harm.

Les: It certainly is absolutely new knowledge to us.

Yes I have been told and I am aware that humankind does not fully understand the power of their thinking, as of yet.

Les: No, unfortunately though we have been told in some degree, we still of course govern our thinking by the physical concept. (Yes) We've not yet realised the refinement of the spiritual awareness.

You see, what is happening when we step forward to protect those innocent souls, you are thinking, what happens to the thought. And I know you are all aware and have been told that the thought rebounds back to the sender. (Agreed) How have you imagined that that could happen?

Les: I had wondered but I had no idea of how it happened—only that our own thoughts boomeranged back to us.

I think perhaps that you could call me the boomerang. (Laughter) You understand?

Les: Yes, so there is a definite and positive interception then?

There has to be for the protection of the innocent souls, who are not deserving of the hatred and the anger of the powerful thoughts that come from this planet, you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes we do, it's rather frightening news, in some respects.

It should not be frightening to you, it should make you more aware, it should give you more understanding, it should help you and that is my task—I am sure that I bring to you all help rather than fear.

Les: No please, I perhaps put it badly—I was meaning frightening for us to consider the power that our thought has.

I have been instructed that the teacher is endeavouring to instil in you all, that the power of your THOUGHT, is indeed the most powerful thing you will ever encounter. (Affirmed)

Les: Yes and you have amplified that for us. Certainly what you bring us is not frightening, far from it.

Sallie: May I ask a question?

Les: Just a moment please, let our friend continue for a moment—he will ask for questions later.

Yes, thank you. So my task in being here, is to instruct you a little more—not to flood you with the technicalities of how it is done, because that would indeed be useless information to you, but to clarify what the teacher has brought to you and what he has asked me to explain to you. In seeing that doing this task in rebounding these energy patterns of thought, then indeed you humankind upon this planet, should indeed think deeply, before you THINK. In all matters of THINKING, be aware and be careful! You understand do you?

Les: Well, we are understanding now yes and we do thank you for having clarified it to this extent, because although we were beginning to realise the power of thought, I don't think any of us had realised the harm it could do to those in your world, if the thought wasn't a good one.

It cannot be destroyed you see.

Les: No, it lives forever, doesn't it.

I know you understand that—I know you understand that what you give comes back, but you needed to have the understanding, of HOW it rebounds back to you. We do not interfere in the natural process of thinking. Good thoughts go ever forward, they would not be stopped or interfered with, but there are those, where we must protect the innocent souls. That is the main task, that the soul be protected from further and unnecessary harm, so that it may continue in its journey, its journey to growth, its journey of love, without the evil thoughts from humankind upon your planet and from other planets. But I am not allowed to discuss that side of it with you.

Les: No, but that does lead me to ask: From what you say it would seem, that our planet is guilty of projecting a tremendous amount of evil thinking. Is that so?

Well you are capable of it, but I would not say 'terrible amounts'—you must keep things in perspective, of good and evil. I would say in the main, that mainly good thoughts come to those who have gone.

Les: That's encouraging for us.

I would say, I think the word you would use would be 'minority.' But of course, when you consider the population of your planet, even the minority of thought is great, you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes we do, so it obviously from what you have told us is a very full-time job for you and I would imagine many like you?

There are many of us of course and as I mentioned briefly, not only from this planet, but from many others. (Yes) We speak of much work shall I say, but it is something which has to be done. It is an honour to do such work, it is a tribute to those who teach us, that we be allowed to do so and that is why I said to you, that it is not often that this knowledge has been given.

Les: No I can understand that and we greatly appreciate the trust that has been placed in us all, in that you have given that information.

I don't wish to seem condescending to you, but I think that perhaps you all should be thankful, that you have been allowed this knowledge.

Les: I'm sure we are. I think I speak for everybody, don't I in this? (Agreed) We are extremely grateful and honoured that we have had it.

Now I will take the question from whoever spoke please.

Sallie: Yes, on the Earth, when negative or evil thoughts are sent out to other people on the Earth, are they intercepted in a similar way?

No, no we cannot interfere when you are on the planet. Thoughts between people can damage the person, but we are not allowed to intercept in those cases. Our work is in protecting the soul, not the physical being. You understand do you?

Sallie: I understand what you're saying; what I don't understand is I feel that negative or evil thoughts to people living on the Earth, also rebound to the sender. Perhaps I have misunderstood that?

No, not at all—it will rebound, but it rebounds in a different capacity. You may not have that evil energy rebound, until you come to our world. It WILL rebound—you only have what you give, but it may be that you do not reap until the soul is free from the earthly garments. You understand?

Sallie: Yes I do.

I hope that is clear. No, we would not be allowed to intercept from person to person.

Sallie: Sometimes it feels like there's an intercept—I can't describe it very well, I'm stumbling, but it feels like there's almost an intercept on an earthly level. Perhaps it's just my mind, or my own imagination—What you are probably feeling and picking up, is help that is available to you, from those in our world, who are close by and are able to influence.

Sallie: Yes that makes sense to me, thank you.

But it is not an interception of the thoughts, you understand?

Sallie: Yes, it's a different thing altogether.

Yes, yes.

Sallie: I do understand now, thank you.

Les: I would imagine that the innocent souls of whom you have spoken will gradually be getting strength and teaching, on how to shield themselves from those thoughts from our planet, would they?

Innocent souls! That is the whole purpose of the interception that they should not have to shield themselves. After all, they are good souls, who are coming against evil and we cannot allow them to suffer such. You understand do you what I am trying to convey?

Les: I see, yes I do now. I just wondered, I see that your prime concern is that the goodness of any particular soul, (Yes) can evolve as it is required to do, (Yes) without interference.

Yes, now you know and understand what I am saying. (Yes) It is not easy to convey words to you, but I hope I am making myself perfectly clear.

Les: You certainly are and that leads me to another question: Since our thoughts are so powerful in a negative sense, would it be of help to those innocent souls, if we in our own praying, asked that help should be given to them?

Of course—you see good thought patterns are much more powerful, that is another topic, but they will outweigh the energy of evil thought eventually. So if you can endeavour to do that, it can only be of help.

Les: Yes I ask that because our friend Salumet has asked that we should all give thoughts to others who are lonely, distressed and consider themselves forgotten, whether on this Earth or your world and I'm sure we all do that in our praying. And it occurred to me that it could be a useful addition to our prayers, to include those in your world, positively.

Of course—remember these souls are unaware of the evil thoughts that are being directed to them. Of course some would be aware, but I am concerned with the pure souls who do not and cannot be allowed to be distressed, if that is the correct term, by negative thoughts from this planet.

Les: I see—no, I begin to understand quite fully now, why you have come to tell us this tonight, because it does give us the knowledge that those pure souls, have a duty almost, to continue in their purity, for the benefit of those with whom they are due to come into contact at other times. (Yes) And they cannot be prohibited from carrying that out.

There would seem—I know I can feel it from you, that there would seem to be so many contradictions from our world. Of course there must be, because you cannot fully understand what goes on in our world, until you come to us.

Les: Yes I think this has been made clear to us so many times, that we have no argument with it at all. We accept that we cannot possibly understand everything, until we do come to you.

I hope I have helped, I hope I have provided a little knowledge to you. I do thank you for your attention and I hope that my words have been clear to you. As I say, it is most strange to be using a voice, but I will accept that you have heard and understood me well. (Affirmed with thanks)

Les: We have heard and understood every word and as I say, we have it again to listen to, and I'm sure we shall be doing and we really can't thank you enough for what you have told us. Your knowledge has added immensely, to what we have already learned.

I need not your thanks—I say to you the honour has been mine. I thank you for this opportunity, because not only has it been an honour, but it has been of much help for me. You may not fully understand that either, but in saying those words, I assure you that this task has truly helped me on my way.

Les: We are very, very pleased to hear that and I'm going to be presumptuous, and ask whether we might expect you to come back and talk to us on another occasion? Or is that expecting too much?

I cannot give you that answer. That would be something perhaps that you could ask your teacher and if it is required, then of course I would be happy to return to you all. (Thanks expressed)

Les: That's very nice to hear and we do appreciate it. We shall certainly ask. You don't give us a name and I'm not asking, our teacher will know to whom I am referring I'm sure.

I am permitted to give you a name if you so desire, for contact purposes only. I am allowed to give you the name of Myeisha.

Les: My-eisha. Thank you very much indeed—we shall remember that with love.

So if I am permitted to return, then I will use the name.

Les: Thank you Myeisha, we shall certainly remember this evening and your name.

Now I believe I must leave you, I do wish you all much love, I wish you well, and I do say to you, be careful of your ~THINKING.~

Les: Yes, I know you say you don't need thanks, but could we with respect, congratulate you, upon your use of the human voice. (Agreed) We are all unanimous on that.

I thank you all, I thank you all, I thank you all.

Les: God bless you and take our love with you.

~24th February 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

I would like this time to begin by saying thank you to all who are present this time. I know that your dedication must be thanked and this I do this time.

Les: That's very kind of you and we'd all like to thank you for the visit of your colleague at our last meeting. It added enormously to our knowledge and we are truly grateful for it.

I was pleased that it went as well as it did, because as you know, to the communicator, it was a very new experience and one for which that soul will be eternally grateful to you all.

Les: We're certainly very grateful to him, for the effort he made and the information he gave us.

The information imparted to you, I hope has given you more food for thought.

Les: It certainly has that. I think everybody agrees, don't they? (Agreed)

That of course was our intention.

Les: It's particularly pleasing to know that it works in reverse and that our communicator also has benefited.

The communicator was indeed thankful to you all and on those words, I will leave it there. I would like to say to you this time, a little about the dedication of peoples like yourselves, who come together, for Truth, for Light, for Love; who join together, in an effort to convey the truth of Spirit. I know some of you ponder about the reaction of other people, who are void of the knowledge which you have. To you dear friends, I will say only this: Each one of you comes to life on this earthly planet, with full knowledge of what you have to achieve. We have discussed this a little and I say to you, that you bring with you also, what you call free will. In that respect I would say to you, of other people who I know say that you, I believe some would say 'spiritualists'—I would rather stay away from any titles, but I know this is a term used by many. I say this to you: Allow those people who call you simple gullible beings, allow them their own pathway; again, we return dear friends, to not judging others—allow them their way of thinking. After all, that is what they have chosen and they must come to Truth, in their own time. Do not be angry with them, but be sad if you must use any emotion at all—be sad, that they are so long in coming home to the Truth, you understand? (Yes) We know life is not easy, because after all, we who know and understand the Truth, are still in the minority in your world, I think you would agree?

Les: Yes, we would agree with that.

But we are growing, we are growing all of the time. Your Earth is coming to a time of change; your Earth is coming to a time, not only of change, but of revolution of thought. It is coming, but to you dear friends, it may seem very slow.

Les: Yes, it does seem to us of course, but we're beginning to realise that patience is the essential virtue.

When you see how many of your earthly years have existed, then you must understand that progress takes time, although from our side of life, it is nothing, as far as all of eternity goes. So dear friends, I say to you, smile upon those, who would disagree with your knowledge and your understanding and offer a thought for them. Let us return to that word once more, ~THOUGHT~. Use it wisely, use it daily for good, use it when you can utilise it for the very best in your world.

Les: Yes, I think you have already taught us, the importance of using thought in that way.

I do not apologise for constantly returning to it, because dear friend, it is what I have come to teach you and if only but one person here, comes to know and understand the true meaning of ~THOUGHT~, then indeed my task here, would have been fulfilled.

Les: I think we shall all be able to satisfy your wish in that respect, after what you have told us.

I cannot stay much longer this time. So if you have any questions, please ask now.

Les: Yes, I have one relating to energy and I thought of you several times, when I was reading an article, in which it was said the heart, is not the pumping agent, as commonly supposed. The article explained that blood is seen to be flowing through an embryo, even before the heart is properly formed, or even beginning to beat. The article went on to suggest, that the heart is merely a vehicle, for attracting energy from the Universe and it is that energy, which is responsible for the flow of blood, through the veins and arteries and capillaries of the body.

Let me respond to the subject you speak about. I have explained briefly to you that you consist of one energy—all nature on Earth is one energy in differing forms. Of course we must look at humankind, because that is the subject you have broached. When a child is conceived, when the soul decides to leave our world, to join in your world as another human being, then that energy already exists. What you term the foetus—and again we return to the subject most rife in your world, of abortion—when you speak of that foetus, you are speaking of the very energy of life. Before the heart is formed, before the limbs are formed, there flows that vital energy. So you see, the heart cannot be the most important vehicle within the body. The energy already exists within that foetus.

Les: So the article is correct in that assumption then?

I would say, mostly correct. I will send someone to you, who will elaborate more, on the way energy is used in the human body.

Les: That would be very interesting.

There are so many topics that you need to elaborate upon. For now I will say, of course the heart is a pump, in the sense that you would understand it, for the blood to flow around the physical being. But it is only part of the energy being brought to the body, by the energy of life. Do you understand?

Les: Yes thank you, because the article was quite concise, in its elaboration of the reasons, for what was said and one couldn't really argue against what was said.

Without the understanding of the life force, which after all is pure energy, then the human composition cannot be understood. After all, flesh and blood is used only as that outer skin, as the vehicle—I know you understand this. So it has to be known that the life force is always there and it is that part which will continue forward, when the physical being dies away. Is that helpful to you for this time?

Les: Thank you very much indeed, yes it is and we look forward to someone else who might come to elaborate in the future.

Energy must be spoken about and when I feel that the time is right for you all, then someone with greater extended knowledge will come to you.

Les: Thank you very much for that, it's something else we shall look forward to.

Did I not tell you, that many concepts in your world are being disputed? (Yes —) That many ideas, much knowledge has been put forward wrongfully. But now that time has come for Truth to emerge and the time is ripe for all understanding of the human life, the human potential, to be looked into more deeply, so that man can begin to understand his very beginnings.

Les: Thank you very much indeed for that. It certainly becomes more and more interesting every meeting, I would say. It increases our knowledge and our anticipation of further knowledge.

There is so much you cannot know, but our intentions are that the planet Earth must now grow; must now come forward into that greater light. I use the term, because I think that is what you will understand.

Les: Yes, we do.

But it is time for this planet to take its rightful place within the Universe, within that cosmic energy field, which is ever-moving, ever-flowing, full of love, full of divine energy, full of love and peace. (Voice becoming very faint) I must leave you this time.

Les: Yes thank you very, very much and our love goes with you, God bless you.

Eileen then channelled a light-hearted one who instructed us to be aware of those around us and try to describe any impressions/clairvoyance that we might be given.

~3rd March 1997~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

I thank you for your welcome this time and I say to some of you, that I bring to you upliftment, which is needed in your lives. I would like if I may, to work with this instrument this time.

Les: Of course.

But we have with you using lady, someone who wishes to speak to each one of you, about their own personal unfoldment.

Les: Thank you, we shall be very pleased to have that.

So I will let you continue and to say that this instrument may need extra time in returning to you.

Les: I understand and we shall of course be aware of that and act accordingly. Something before you go, you said you were bringing us upliftment, I don't know whether my colleagues felt it tonight, but I think there was a tremendous sense of peace and love and enfoldment, is the only way I can describe it.

I bring peace to you all. (Faintly)

(Thanks + farewells)

Our expected guest followed through Sue and there were a few adjustments to conditions, before we approached and stood before the communicator individually to receive our guidance:

Margaret: Good evening.

I know this one has been told that she is to be used and let me assure her, she is not forgotten. We are coming to you in sleep, to get your physical and spiritual countenances become aware of us, so that when the time comes for your work to begin, we can slip into your body, with the minimal effort.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

I know you have been told that you will have a helper here. Rest assured this is the case and you will be working closely with the little one (Jo) and much will be achieved. I wonder if you could do me the honour of helping to help her.

Margaret: I will do that yes.

You are aware I know that your colour spectrums are as one. (Margaret's and Jo's are both purple, as given at another meeting)

Margaret: Yes they are, yes.

Please may I ask in the quiet time you have, before you retire to your bed, you could sit with your hands as mine are now, think kindly thoughts of our dear little one and imagine both her and yourself enveloped in that regal colour. May I ask this boon of you?

Margaret: I will do that yes, I promise faithfully I will.

Place your hand upon mine my dear child. You are greatly, greatly loved and in Spirit you are growing beyond any means you might imagine.

Margaret: Thank you.

Now take your place and remember your work will begin shortly.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

Les: Sarah?

Sarah: Good evening to you.

Yes, you have started to develop in this room, in communication. We are most pleased with your progress, but I wish to say to you, that you must be a little more careful. It is not meant as a criticism my dear one, far from it. You have given yourself freely, to be used and that is most wonderful and we thank you for it. Your spirit shines forth from you and we are aware of your powers and what you can achieve and the love that comes from you for others. But please let yourself be guided by the leader of this group and let things come a little more slowly.

Sarah: Thank you.

Place your hands here, go in peace my dear one and continue to show your love for others as you do already.

Sarah: Thank you I will.

Les: Sallie?

In time this one will be able to describe to the others here, some wonderful scenes, scenes which come into her mind and which will at first surprise her, and enthrall her. They will form a pattern which will follow her through all the days remaining to her on this Earth. In time my child, you will be able to identify their purpose and be able to read into them messages, which you can relay to others. It will be of importance and these messages will help to change the thoughts and lives, of some who surround you. This may sound complex and confusing at present, but when your work begins, you will remember these words and your understanding will be complete. Please place one hand here. Take the strength I offer you and go forward with an open heart and with love.

Sallie: Thank you.

Les: Lilian?

Yes, this one as I know you are aware is a most precious soul. She has been working quietly and diligently by your side for many years. She is truly one of the spiritual beings, is greatly loved both on your side and on the side where the spirit dwells. So much power comes from this one, which enables others to fulfil their tasks. Her healing has brought comfort to so many and will continue to do so.

Lilian: Thank you very much.

Les: George?

I will say a little to you, because you have been told very recently of the work we are hoping to achieve with you.

George: Yes.

Keep the names foremost in your mind, let the channel to your creative spirit be open and as we have promised you, great things will come from your pen.

George: Thank you.

You are greatly loved and our dear scribes are anxious to become part of your daily life, if you will permit them. (Yes) Go in peace with much love and so your work will begin.

George: Thank you.

Les: Paul?

Could I please speak to the two gentlemen together?

Les: Yes Mark please?

Forgive me for making you share the one message, but you will be working together and it is not necessary for me to speak to you separately. You are bound together not just by blood, but by a great love, which surrounds you and comes from someone in spirit, who will be working with you closely over a period of time. We ask you please to give a little time to sit quietly each evening, not together, that is not necessary, but if it is possible, at the same time which is acceptable to both of you. If it is not possible, please do not be concerned, we can work around it; time as you are aware, is not the same on both sides of the realm. Sit quietly and think of the outdoors, think of the sky and the grass, the wind and the rain, and anything you personally feel connected with, we are hoping to be able to use you, to bring greater understanding of plant and animal life, into your lives. So much so, that in time, you will be able to feel the spirit coming from things which up till now have seemed inanimate to you. Again, this to your ears must sound incredible, and quite beyond comprehension, but we will come to you in rest periods, and explain to your spiritual being more fully. Go now and have much love between you and try to feel the things surrounding you. Try to imagine their spiritual power and discuss it amongst yourselves and see what you can see.

Mark + Paul: Thank you.

Les: Jack?

May I ask you, do you ever feel that there is someone with you?

Jack: I do yes.

When you are reading?

Jack: Sometimes yes.

There is one with you who needs, for reasons I cannot explain this time, to see through your eyes, the written word, whether it be a newspaper, a heading on a sheet of paper, a word of fiction, or even what you class as a dictionary. They need to read the written word. Would you permit please for this person to enter into your spirit, and read with you?

Jack: Yes most certainly.

Please I ask you also, if you sense that someone is with you, tell your dear lady, what you are feeling, whether you feel differently around your face and eyes and write down between you, what senses come. It will be most important for this person to know that they are succeeding in what they are trying to do. We will explain more fully, the reasons at another of your meetings. Thank you for allowing this experiment to take place.

Jack: Thank you.

I leave you now, so that the rest of the time can be used to slowly bring our dear friend back from whence she has been taken.

Les: Certainly.

I say to you before I leave you, that the group you have here, is most beloved and takes so much of itself from you my dearest friend. Without your guidance and love, your world would be a much poorer place. We will protect you and guide you, as the time continues. I leave you all with more love than you could possibly imagine.

Les: And our love goes with you and we thank you for all you have said.

~10th March 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Before I speak this time, I would say to you all, to give thoughts to that Great Force, to which we belong, to give thanks all of you, for where you are at this moment of time. I would say this to you, that all of you in this lifetime, have achieved much, much that you should be thankful for, although for a few, unquestionably, they are not aware of how much they have achieved. So on behalf of you all, I offer our humble thanks to all of those who come close to you, with much help.

Les: We would like to join you in those thanks please. We are happy to know that we have progressed to that state and thank you for telling us.

Whilst we speak of progression, I wish to say this to you that: Mankind in general upon this planet Earth, has reached an awareness which brings joy to those of us in my world, who are striving, who are striving to bring knowledge to this Earth. Surrounding this planet, there now prevails a stillness and peace, which you would not be aware of, but brings much satisfaction to us—a stillness and peace, which over your next one thousand plus years, will pervade all of mankind to such an extent, that no longer will there be the fear and the distrust shall I say, of all things termed supernatural; they will become known and natural to mankind—mankind will return to that knowledge which belongs to them. So I say to you dear friends, although you will not exist as you do now in these times to come, I extend this knowledge to you, in order that you carry it forward with you, to our side of life. Keep it with you, use it wisely and know that you have become part of it.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. I'm particularly interested that you should say this tonight, because during this last week, I have thought of you a number of times, after listening to various religious broadcasts, all of which have said the very thing which you have said, that mankind is beginning to recognise spirituality.

I have told you when first I came, that mankind will change—you must return to those values, to which it is known will be of benefit to all. This planet Earth as you know it cannot be allowed to be destroyed by mankind and I have spoken to you about this. So, if we cannot allow you to continue on the destructive pathway which you have been treading, then we have to look forward to teaching mankind to help them in their awareness. And that is why your planet at this time is being all-pervading, in all areas of living, with stillness, peace and much Love. It will come to all, although I know you will say there is so much strife within our world, how could it possibly be so? I say this to you dear friends: All things are possible, when you speak of Love and the power it can create, within all men. I accept that some men will never accept the love given to them; they are the foolish ones, who have much to learn. But good in the end will always overcome those who have doubts, those who have evil intent—and only those who refuse to accept what is given, will leave this planet, to find and accept, the love given elsewhere. But you are in an age, where there is much growth, much being given from our world. If only I could bring a little to you I would, but I hope you can accept my words instead.

Les: We certainly will accept your words and we're very grateful for them and of course a thousand years hence, is far beyond our comprehension, but do you see us again having the opportunity to work together, once we reach your realms?

The opportunity is there for you all, but I can tell you that a few of you will go in different directions.

Les: But we shall still be able to assist in this work of development and fulfilment, shall we?

Of course, I would not be giving you this information, if it were to fall by the wayside. I do not come to waste words, but to encourage you to go forward and to know that ahead of you all, is much greater work, when once you return home.

Les: Good, we're very pleased, we've not discussed it, but I'm sure everybody would be wishing that and it's very nice to know positively, that it will be so.

Dear friends, once there is spiritual links and bonds, they cannot be broken. So always remember the opportunity is open to you, but still for some time to come, even in our world, your own freewill will come into play. I would say that the majority here will eventually gather together, with many more who are in our world. You will work as a team, you will use the knowledge given to you and you will go forward, rather than return again to this planet. I do not wish to tell you at this stage, who those few are, it is not important, but in saying so, when they break away, there will be a good purpose and for them fulfilment also, you understand?

Les: Yes we do.

Now, for this time I would leave you and allow another to speak. I will remain whilst this meeting continues, with this one. And so dear friends, know as always that I enfold you all, with my love.

(Thanks + farewells)

Another communicator followed swiftly through Sue—a Native American Indian friend, who had been before:

Les: Welcome to you, thank you for joining us.

White Feather.

Les: Hello White Feather, This is an unexpected pleasure. It's a long time since you've spoken to us.

Hard for me—stay short time only. Welcome to my friend.

Les: It's certainly very nice to have you here again.

Many new peoples here, since first I came to you.

Les: Yes there are indeed.

All old souls and well-loved.

Les: That's very nice to hear. And we're very happy to know that you still work with us.

Have travelled much since we last spoke; over many oceans and through many of your years and upwards into Higher Plane.

Les: You have been busy and we feel it an honour that you should come back to us again. Am I right in thinking that there are three you would wish to speak to, who are new since you were here last?

I will speak, but not to individual peoples, those who have not heard my words before, will know I am addressing into their very hearts. I bring you many, many greetings from those who cannot travel back into your realms. You will know how difficult sometimes it can be to return. I can say to you, and you know I do not mean to cause offence, when I say this, it is a difficult thing I do this time. Due to physical body I use, I am managing to keep my voice lower than you probably have heard it before.

Les: Yes, it has been very loud in the past.

I say to you now, I come for specific purpose and will speak now, for short time only.

Les: We're always happy to listen to you of course.

I wish you to know that before your next new moon, there will be much, much to please you, coming into this room. I would ask each one here, to please in the weeks that follow now, that before you come into this most peaceful and tranquil place, you will find time, in your busy lives, to rest and meditate, before you make your journey here.

Les: Yes, we shall certainly try.

We need tranquillity of mind, body and soul and hope that with quiet meditation, it may be partly achieved, so that what is intended here, can slip in with minimum effort.

Les: Thank you, we shall certainly try and do that for you and of course, for ourselves.

To those who are unused to hearing my voice, I say to you that the next time I speak with you, it will be louder and please not to be alarmed. You are used to me I know my dear friend.

Les: Yes, when you used my lady, you were very loud.

And you can assure these people, I am more gentle, than perhaps I sound.

Les: Yes, we understand that.

I will say to you and I'm sure you know your lady is with me many, many times.

Les: Yes I am aware of that and I thank her for it.

We work as the team we were told we should be. She accompanies me on journeys and is learning so much and giving so much in return.

Les: Yes she always did that when she was here. I'm not surprised that she's continuing to do it.

She is truly amazing and most beloved person.

Les: I'm pleased to hear that.

The oceans are not large enough to take the love that emits from her soul.

Les: I was very grateful for the years I had with her here.

I will leave you now, with the blessing of White Feather. I will return at the time of your next new moon and I will speak to you and teach you something that I have learned since last we met.

Les: We look forward to that and to hearing you speak again.

We will advise you when I will return, there will be certain conditions, which with your acceptance, we wish to ask for.

Les: Yes of course, you only have to let me know and I shall be pleased to do what you wish.

Now, this little one tires of me and we do not wish to distress her further. There will be no more speech here this time. Please bring both this little one and our dear friend here back gently and then say your closing words.

Les: Yes we will do that and once more we all thank you very, very much.

White Feather say to you all, until we meet again.

Les: We look forward to it. Our love goes with you and God bless you.

White Feather happy to have been amongst you once again.

Les: We're very, very happy to have had you with us and we look forward to the next time.

White Feather then blessed us in another language: Hakinjehmorcavagarm Ekotivahh Distavarn Ekontigargo.

~24th March 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

How good it is that since we met dear friends, how much you have grown in your understanding, your understanding of living and daily lives. All of you now have come to the understanding of peace within your daily lives, peace that outshines problems that surround you, understanding of what you must do, an understanding of that true self. I say to you dear friends that each one of you, can say at last, I shine with understanding of what I am about. All of you know and feel that what I say to you is indeed Truth.

Les: Yes I don't think anybody would deny that. Everybody agrees with what Salumet has said, I take it?

(Enthusiastic agreement)

I wish to extend welcome to this one who comes another time. I would say to this one, that she is growing, but is in a hurry to achieve much. I say only to you child, there is humility to be gained by using patience. This I have told you all, but I would like to reiterate for this one. She has much to do, as you all have, but she must be patient. She feels at times, that not enough is happening in her growth. Is this not true child? (Yes) Yes, are you all not so impatient, when you begin on this pathway? Yes, all of you are. To this one I say, carry on the pathway that you have chosen. She is in dilemma at times, as to what to do. Her desire is that she do more work for us, but I say to you dear friend, the time will come, the time will be right, but carry on as you are, because your daily living is a strong force with you this time and you must allow yourself the occasion of living to the fullest at the time. You will develop along the lines that you so desire, but to give it time. I would say one last thing to you and it is this: You will take a different pathway than you would anticipate. There is much work ahead of you, but this work lies in directions not known to you, at this particular time. I leave you with those words dear friend and say to you, offer yourself always, as a channel of love, as you all do. May that Great Creative Force which enfolds us all, surround you with love and knowledge, as you tread this earthly pathway. You will succeed, you have the opportunity this time, to make of yourself what you will.

Les: Thank you very much for that.

Heather: Thank you.

Les: The lady as you no doubt are aware does some excellent work at our other meeting.

I am fully aware of what is happening in her life as a whole, because she is one segment of a whole, a whole to which I am committed, you understand? (Yes) No, there is nothing within your lives, which is not known. Your loves, your desires, all is known. But as I have said to you in the past, I do not come to guide you—your knowledge has outgrown that; I come to give you knowledge and I hope understanding of that knowledge.

Les: You are certainly doing that, thank you.

Now, before I answer questions this time, I would ask you please that when communicator uses this one here, that she will need special help in returning to you this time.

Les: We will see to that, thank you for telling me.

Now do we have questions please?

Les: Yes there is one, if I might begin. I have somebody coming for development, apart from at the meetings. The person is very sincere and genuine, but their development is so sporadic, that I sometimes wonder whether the subconscious is interfering.

May I interrupt you please?

Les: Please.

Before we continue further, I would say to you this, that the time is not right for this one. I trust that your words can be kindly, but I would perhaps say to you, to leave for a time, to allow those who have come close, and they have I assure you, to work with this one until such time that it is suitable for all to work.

Les: Yes thank you, you have rather confirmed what I suspected, which is why I asked the question.

I hope I did not be abrupt, but I did not wish to waste time on words, which were not of use.

Les: Of course not. Well thank you for what you've told me and I will deal with it in an appropriate way, without giving offence.

Yes, you must use kindly, the correct words. All of you are capable, some more than others. But there is a time when it is right to begin work and for this one, it is not at this time.

Les: I think there is a lot of impatience there too, which is preventing proper development.

It is not so much impatience as shall I say, the imagination runs wild. You understand? I don't use these words to be harsh, but I cannot let you continue under false pretence, I think you would say, in using valuable time, when it can be devoted to other things, you understand?

Les: Yes I do and thank you for the information; I'll deal with it. Any other questions for Salumet?

Sallie: Yes please. It's to do with knowing that spiritually things are going to change for people on the Earth, but in the meantime while this change is occurring, we've got a General Election coming up. Politically, I think I should be trying to do something that helps people in general while they're in this particular system, but then I think to myself, perhaps I'm going down the wrong road and should be concentrating much more on the spiritual, rather than worrying about the physical. Am I making myself understood, because I'm not saying it very well?

This dear child would like to lift this world and change it quickly, but dear friend let me say this to you: Of course all thoughts for good cannot be bad, how can they? It is difficult in your living, to get a balance of what is spiritual and what you term your daily lives, but that balance must be found. I would say to you dear friend, continue to help those in your world, because love can conquer all. It is a much used phrase in your world, but let me tell you that it is words used that are true. Send your loving thoughts to those men of power around your world, that will enable them to make sound judgement, to show love to those peoples in your world who are lacking in it. So dear child, by doing this you are growing spiritually. Do you understand? (Yes) By the outpouring of your love for your fellow man, you indeed are growing daily in that spiritual love. You are 'Love', you become 'Love'—all of us are 'LOVE'. After all, what do you suppose that Great Creative Force is? I have spoken to you about it previously. We are all sparks of eternal Love. Do you understand? (Yes) Does that help you?

Sallie: Yes it does, thank you.

Each loving thought that is sent forth out into the cosmos, is an enrichment, is a growth of spirit; it is a growth of energy, which becomes stronger and stronger and which in time, will enfold this world of yours. It will be a world of peace, it will be a heaven on Earth, as it was intended to be. Do you understand? (Yes)

Voice fades as power seems to be fading:

Now dear friends, I bathe you all in love and I will leave you this time and let another speak to you.

Les: Yes, thank you again and our love goes with you.

You are children of children of Love and peace.

Les: God be with you.

There then followed one through Sue:

You have been told that at some stage you would be visited by a facet of the great one, who has just spoken with you. It has taken much effort and we are missing one who should be here, but it was felt that the ethers were conducive to a small amount of dialogue this time. I appreciate it is difficult for you to comprehend that the one you are speaking to now, or rather, I beg your pardon, the one you are listening to now, is also part of the one who has been speaking to you previously.

Les: Yes it is difficult to comprehend; we accept it, but I'm afraid we still don't understand it.

My friend, you will have many roads to travel, before you even start to have more comprehension.

Les: Yes I think we all accept that too, that we are only at the beginning of many roads, which have to be travelled.

This time I bring no words of wisdom or teaching. I come only to introduce myself and hope that in time, my communication will be more understandable.

Les: I'm sure it will be, because as you use your instrument, so the voice will become stronger and clearer.

We have been preparing this one for some time.

Les: Yes you have indeed and we are all very pleased to see that she can be used in this way now.

There is an element of doubt in her mind, as to whether she can do such things.

Les: There shouldn't be any doubt.

It is different this time, to what has been achieved over previous years.

Les: But she should realise that that is development and that she has the inherent ability for you to use. I hope she will dispose of all those doubts and let the communication be free.

Have no worries, this one has pledged herself to be used in any way necessary. The doubts I speak of, are not connected with this work as such. It is doubts which we have found when we have visited her in her state of repose.

Les: Yes we were told that you were going to visit her during her sleep state, in order to acclimatise.

She is (?) in giving herself openly to help with healing work. We wish this to continue.

Les: Good, I'm sure that each time she is used in this way, the contact will be stronger and the continuity of the voice will be much better.

In time I say to you, you will be speaking simultaneously, to not just the great one who you speak to on a regular basis, but to this one, as a facet of the whole and also to another facet.

Les: Good, we look forward to that.

It will be something which should open up enormous possibilities for the future and hopefully the information you receive from the three, will enhance each one who hears it and give far-reaching and amazing consequences.

Les: Good and I say again, we look forward to it. We have been promised great things here.

I will take my leave of you, giving you for the first time, but not the last time, my overwhelming thoughts of love to you all.

Les: Thank you.

Dear children of the Great Creator, put your feet in the footsteps of the force that loves you, open your arms and let the force enter into your very Soul and your lives will surely be great.

Les: Thank you. Our love goes with you, God bless you for your visit. We look forward to having you with us again.

There then followed another through Eileen:

Please stand away from me. I am Thomas. I am an emissary of Light. I bring to you all the eternal flame of Light. Who will wish to receive it on your behalf?

Les: May I? I'll receive it on behalf of everyone here and at our other meetings Thomas.

This precedes many things which to you have been promised. Soon there comes to your Earth your rose, which should have meaning to you. You have seen many earthly years of the rose. But I say to you, as I bring this eternal flame, so too does it bring the eternal rose to you all. (Thanks expressed) I say to you all, be thankful that this is given to you.

Les: We are indeed. We're all very grateful and to you for bringing it to us.

My mission is over, I leave you with it, I say to you all, be aware of what is to come.

Les: Thank you.

This flame will burn ever more brightly, as you continue this work. All of you will become aware of its brightness. Please accept it from us with love.

Les: We do indeed. Thank you Thomas, we shall think of you often.

~31st March 1997~

The first channelling this evening, was through Les:

Good evening to you my friends. (Welcomes) I have been asked to begin this evening's meeting, by coming to thank you at this time of your year, to thank you on behalf of all those who in their Earth-time existence, taught their various things about what was considered to be the Truth and which they now realise was in fact far from that. They have asked me to bring to you their profound thanks for the work you have done in conjunction with your colleagues, who also come to this temple of love, to enable those who made the mistakes—though they were not aware of them as mistakes—to enable them now to shed all the information which was so wrongly put, to those on Earth. They thank you whole-heartedly for having released them all from the shackles, with which they were still bound, when they joined our planes of life. I wish it were possible for you to see the joy which surrounded each of them, when they were released from the burdens, which they had born for so many years. So my friends, I give to you again their thanks and their love and their constant blessing upon you all, for what you are, for what you do and to assist you in what you will be, in due course. God be with you, keep you and guard you all the days of all your lives, within this Creation, which is never-ending.

George: We thank all concerned for their message. God bless you. (Thanks expressed)

Les then came back and suggested that this was an Easter blessing for everybody. Salumet then began through Eileen:

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

My friend, are you fully returned?

Les: Yes thank you—very unexpected as usual. We do appreciate those people coming, when they do.

The communicator who came to you, brought to you a little of what I wish to say this time.

Les: Thank you.

Firstly let us give thanks to that Greater Force, that once more we come together.

Les: Yes we do join you in that.

The communicator, who has spoken to you this time, mentions this particular time of year, in your Christian calendar. Although much of those teachings of the time were abused, let me say this to you dear friends: I would say to you, the teaching of the Christ rising is something that should be retained by you all; call it a celebration if you must, but in that respect that it is a teaching of life everlasting, then I say to you, continue with the spiritual knowledge which you have, to uphold this time of your calendar year for that purpose, as a memory that life continues, that all of you rise from the physical clothes, that all of you go forward in spirit, in knowledge and in Love. So dear friends, I say to you, put aside the extraneous thoughts about your Easter time and concentrate on that one aspect of the teaching, that the Christ arisen is indeed Truth. You understand?

Les: Yes I don't think we have doubted that—I don't think anybody's ever doubted that, have they, that he did appear again, but of course not in a physical sense. I was going to ask you a question about that after.

Yes I know, that is why we are discussing it this time. (Thank you.) I say only this: That Truth will survive all of men's teachings—Truth of Spirit must prevail. You cannot destroy what is Truth, You understand?

Les: We do indeed.

Now I am open to your questions this time.

Les: Thank you. It has always been my belief, that the 'apparition' shall I say, which was Christ after his crucifixion, was in fact the appearance of his spiritual self; in other words what we call these days, a materialisation of the spirit body, in order that it might be visible to humanity, as a hindsight.

You are perfectly correct in that assumption. How else could it be? When the material of the body decays, it cannot return. You know and understand this well.

Les: Yes we do.

So any form that reappears shall we say, is the Spirit form and what you humans term materialisation. It is in fact the true self, the self that you all are now, but cannot be seen by others, or shall I say, can be seen by only a few. So you are correct.

Les: Right, if I might follow that with another question. We all know St. Paul's experience on the road to Damascus, when he saw a blinding light and was converted. It came back to me after the last meeting, when somebody—and we feel very honoured that it did happen, I'm sure I speak for everybody—somebody gave us the eternal Light. That brought back to me Paul's experience. He would no doubt have been experiencing what we were told about at the last meeting, of the eternal Light—eternal flame. (The atmosphere in the room from this point seemed particularly special)

Let me say a little about this please: There are in our world, many bearers of that light, that flame—the word matters not, it is eternal life, it is the eternal purpose of life, it is life itself. We can make it seem that all of these things are miraculous in your side. Dear friends, let me tell you this: That what seems to you to be miracles, to be signs of spirit life, is available to you all. It depends so much on your own spiritual awareness, as to how much you can receive. The eternal light, the eternal flame, is within each one of you, within the grasp of each of you. It is not something special that only a few can have, but it is your right, it is your right to obtain all of these gifts, as I so often hear them called. After all, I tell you once more, are you not first and foremost spiritual beings?

Les: Yes I think we accept that without question now.

So whatever belongs to spirit belongs to you. In offering the eternal Light, the eternal flame to you last time, the communicator was offering the knowledge which is attainable by all of you, do you understand?

Les: Yes now we do, thank you. Has anybody a question on that, or is everybody quite happy with the explanation? (Pause)

It—perhaps we can explain in simple terms. As a child you would not be offered any reading matter, which you had not been able to read. But you have to have attained that standard of reading, before that book would be offered to you, would you not? (Agreed) So can you see in comparison, that by offering the eternal flame to you all, does it not show you dear friends that much is within your reach? Can you see? (Agreed) So I say to each one of you: Reach out, take what is your right, take that flame of eternal existence, use it whilst in these physical bodies and use it to good advantage; use it with Love, because if it is abused, then it would be withdrawn from you. Do you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes we would certainly never wish to do anything, however slight, to damage the reception of that, or to interfere with the proper use of it.

It would be helpful I think to you all, if when you enter this place where you meet, that you see this eternal flame in the corner of your room, to focus, to visualise, to BE that flame. Is that clear to you?

Les: Yes I think we shall all do that now—no let me correct that, I don't think, we SHALL all do it.

When the time comes, when you interact with the flame, when you are part of the flame, then indeed you have grown much. Your knowledge of all things spiritual will have grown to such a degree that you can look to each other and say, 'At last I am on the road to going home.' It will not happen in days, weeks, months, but it will take for most of you, many of your earthly years, to attain that degree of knowledge. But that does not diminish the fact that it has been offered to you, because to have an emissary from our world to present it to you, should dear friends, show you that you are following your correct pathways.

Les: Yes it was a delightful experience for us all.

Now, my heart is full in speaking with you this time. So I say to you when you leave here this time, ponder my words and you will be surprised at what thoughts come to you.

Les: Yes we shall do that.

Many questions that have puzzled you will fall by the wayside, as you say. (Yes) And much will become clear to you.

Les: I would be glad if you could clarify one other thing and my colleagues would like it too, no doubt. We were also told to be aware of the coming of the eternal rose. We wondered of the significance of that statement.

I will say to you, I believe you were told many, many of your years ago, that the blooming of your earthly rose would be significant in your work. In that respect that eternal rose was offered to you, as a signal of hope. Always keep it in mind, after all, there is much to be learned by looking at that earthly bloom; the beauty and the knowledge within it, applies to you also, as regenerative human beings. The eternal rose should be compared to yourselves, in that you are beautiful, that always it blooms when your sun shines. Therefore accept the eternal rose as a symbol of eternal life and beauty. Again, it is not offered freely to all, so dear friends, accept it with the love with which it came. You understand?

Les: Yes we certainly do and are grateful also for being given that. I did wonder if it meant eternal beauty. It is eternal beauty and life, because eternal life is beauty, beauty that you cannot understand whilst living on this planet, but a beauty so magnificent, so wonderful, that you need to feel and be part of it, like you do the eternal light of love.

Les: Yes, thank you very much for the explanation. I suggest that we should all think of the rose, whilst we are concentrating on the flame, so that we can have the benefit of both, in our thoughts and our development.

While the rose blooms in your world, it will always be a time of great significance in your work here.

Les: Thank you. I remember that we were told a long time ago, that something very important would happen in our month of the roses.

Hold it in your mind and in your heart, it was not given to you lightly; but again, it is difficult to give you times. I know that all of you find time difficult to comprehend, but dear friends, it is but a hiccup in all of eternal time.

Les: Yes it is, isn't it?

So again and I feel you must grow impatient with me, when I say to you all, be patient, be patient and all will come to you.

Les: Yes we know you wouldn't say it, if it were not so.

I understand your desires and your wishes to know more; all of us in our world understand. But even those who exist in our world learn even so, that when the body has been left far behind, that patience is truly what you would term, a virtue. Now—(Pause)

Les: Thank you very, very much for what you have said.

Power seemed to fade as Salumet uttered these last words so softly/gently:

I must leave you this time, but say to you all: Thank you for listening once more. I feel your love and your welcome and it enables me to speak with you. But I say to you, each one of you brings to me great satisfaction and love to my work. I leave you and allow each one this time, to experience great love from our world, in whichever way they can receive it. To you dear friend, I say you are deserving of much; you have attained much and you will continue to achieve much. May that Creative Force be with you, be part of your very being that you can utilise in your daily life.

Les: Though you don't want it or need it, I do have to say again, we thank you immensely for what you bring; not only the knowledge, but the happiness and the love, which we can feel from you on every occasion. God be with you Salumet.

There then followed one through Eileen, with a message for Jack about needing to rest more/listen to his body, before we closed.

~7th April 1997~

At the start of the meeting, Les gave details about a rescue that had occurred in the Wednesday circle, as it was a particularly difficult one from the lower realms.

Good evening. (Welcomes)

As we begin this time, I ask each one of you to feel the energy of that all-encompassing Light, which surrounds you all. Feel from it energy and Love, because dear friends, you are in need of it this time. I do not wish to say much this time, as I would like to take this one on a journey, a journey into the Light, which feeds us all. She will return to you unaware of what has happened, but the soul aspect will find much happiness from her journey.

Les: Thank you.

I say to you all, there will be communication by others this time, but I will say only this to you this time: That your Earth planet is surrounded at this time, by much energy that has become maximised at this stage of Earth's evolution. In saying this I say to you all, that during this coming year of your Earth time, each and every one of you, will feel that magnetic pull of energy, which should uplift you all, beyond your wildest dreams, in respect of progression of your soul. Do you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes we do and we thank you for the information. That energy is increasing I imagine is it, because of the work you and your colleagues are doing for the sake of the planet?

It has to be, it is part of the plan of life; it is an important earthly year, because of this. Man should feel the benefit of it in many ways. Those foolish enough to ignore it can only be at fault with themselves.

Now I leave you dear friends, to continue this time. (Thanks expressed) I would ask you please, at the end of this time that the instrument be given gentle help to return.

Les: Yes of course.

She will not be aware of what is happening, but may feel emotional.

Les: I understand. (Les reminded us to concentrate on the light in the corner re: Eternal Flame mentioned at a recent meeting) There then followed one through Sue:

I come for a very short time, to bring you the blessings of our most sacred realms. Were I still to be amongst you in earthly form, I would offer you the sign of the cross, you understand me? (Yes) But it is not necessary for me to impart my blessings with it.

Les: No it isn't necessary, is it? The words are sufficient and the thought behind the words.

There is such strong and powerful thoughts in this place, that I do not need to say many words, for each one here I know, can feel the love which surrounds you all.

Les: Yes and we thank you for bringing it.

I ask only that they look inside themselves and find thy hidden light, which is within you all. Imagine you are going down a dark tunnel, knowing that soon the darkness will evaporate and you will be able to see what is ahead of you—that is finding the inner light within yourselves. I suggest in quiet times, when you are all alone with your thoughts, you practice walking through this tunnel. It will be of great benefit in the expansion of your knowledge.

Les: Thank you for the suggestion.

And now as I have said, words are superfluous—feel the love I have brought and bathe in its light. There is one more to speak and when that communication is over, I would ask you please, to quietly bring back into this room our dear friend, who is seated on the left of this one. We do not wish to let others through this time. You are aware of what I am saying, I'm sure. (Yes) There will be one here shortly. I leave you now with more love than your hearts could imagine.

Les: Thank you very, very much for all you bring.

I offer to you a silver rose, which will protect and guide you on the pathways you still have left to tread.

Les: Thank you for that and the protection. God bless you.

There then followed a Sister immediately through Sue, bringing much laughter and joy into the room. Les received clairvoyance during the conversation:

Goodness me that was fast. I was not expecting to speak quite so quickly. I was stood to one side and then suddenly I was here. I'm quite overwhelmed.

Les: It is surprising isn't it? But your instrument is well-practiced now and of course you and your colleagues find it fairly simple to use her. We all welcome you.

And I am pleased to be here, even though my breath is a little taken away with the speed with which I arrived. I am not used to rushing you know; I normally take things at a more sedate and leisurely pace.

Les: You do, I know—you have a routine, which you adhere to, don't you?

Goodness me, you cannot go through life without a routine, it is too much fuss and bother. I like to know what is happening every minute of my time.

Les: Don't you ever enjoy kicking over the traces a little, now that you're able to do so without being penalised for it? (Knowing laughter) Yes you do!

I didn't realise we had a mind-reader amongst us! I'm quite embarrassed that you can read what I am thinking! (More laughter) Goodness me, I think I have been making a fool of myself!

Les: Not in the least no of course not.

I tell you, I haven't got a routine! (Ha ha!) My life is chaos!

Les: It is, I know! (Laughter)

Chaos!

Les: And you enjoy it—that is your routine isn't it, kicking over the traces and enjoying the chaos.

Oh dear—goodness me!

Les: We like to do it too, but we don't have the opportunities that you have.

I tell you, I tell you truthfully now, that when I was on this Earth, I had to do things in a regimented fashion and I used to think to myself, 'I wish I could just open the door and run and run and run'—and then common sense prevailed and I couldn't and didn't—

Les: No, you had to rely upon what you were doing and where you were, in order to live a reasonable existence, but that didn't prevent your thoughts taking you.

No and I used to have many a quiet penance after these thoughts. But now—now—

Les: You can enjoy it without any penance.

I do run, I do! (Said with heartfelt joy) But I go such distances and I tell you truthfully, although I run, it isn't physical running.

Les: Oh no it's thought running—you transfer yourself by thought, don't you? But still enjoy the feeling of running?

It's still freedom—it's freedom I've never known!

Les: No, and you can do it without your skirts flapping about your ankles, can't you?

I think you're some kind of witch! (Chuckles) You know everything about me, yet I have told you nothing! I haven't told you my name, I haven't told you what I did when I was alive, and yet you know!

Les: I know reasonably—nothing that would embarrass you, but I know in the convent you used to enjoy working in the garden—of course when nobody was looking, you used to run around the plots didn't you? With as I say, your habit/skirts flapping around your ankles. (More chuckles)

You make me sound like Maria Von Trap! She was fiction—no she wasn't fiction she really was one of us, but no—no I wasn't.

Les: It was understandable.

And I think I brought something to the others.

Les: You DID, because I can tell you now—this won't embarrass you, because you will understand and so will she, when your Mother Superior was quite well aware of it on occasions, and she used to enjoy watching you do it and wished that she could, as we say, 'Let her hair down,' and do the same thing.

Ooh! If I was able to blush I think I would.

Les: It doesn't matter, she enjoyed it.

Yes I'm sure.

Les: Have you met her since you've been over?

Yes, but not in the sense you mean.

Les: Well if you do see her, ask her if she'd enjoy seeing you do it again and have some fun together.

Well, perhaps we could?

Les: She hasn't quite thrown off all the restrictions, but she's getting on towards doing that.

Yes well, she had so much responsibility I suppose it's more difficult for her to throw it off. I couldn't wait! Oh I shouldn't have said that.

Les: Why not? You're free now.

I was good, I did everything I was meant to—it's just sometimes—

Les: Sometimes it used to slip a little—never mind.

But what I did I thought was right and I did used to do some good things.

Les: Of course you did. You did as we should all try and do the best within our abilities. We can't do more than that.

No that's right, you can't.

Les: And if we're so made that we enjoy a bit of laughter on the side when we're not supposed to have it, well that's how we're made.

It is the greatest healer.

Les: Of course it is.

You cannot survive without laughter.

Les: No you can't, we absolutely agree.

And although I shouldn't say it, there are some—not in my order, there are some who—they got it wrong.

Les: Oh they did, they thought laughter was sinful.

They never spoke—how can you help people, if you don't communicate?

Les: You can't, no you just have to let them get on with it.

They are finding it difficult I think these people, because they are having to learn to live all over again.

Les: Of course, instead of being ready to take advantage of their freedom.

Complete rebirth—and that is more difficult. For me it was just one step and I had a new life. Not so far removed from my old one, but freer and I feel of more use.

Les: And much more enjoyable. Of course you're of more use to many people. You've helped many more I'm sure, since you've been over, than you were able to help on Earth.

I spend my work time healing and I have pledged that this is what I shall do, until I am needed for other things. It brings me such great joy and I do come back into these realms to assist when needed, for the healing.

Les: Good, that's interesting too. Yes you enjoyed that part of the work whilst you were on Earth, didn't you?

I did what I could, which was never enough.

Les: No of course not; we never do think we're doing enough, when we have something we're really interested in doing, but you were not able to assess the reaction of the person you were healing.

No—now I can see the light, I can see exactly where I am required to be and the extent of the help I am giving.

Les: That's interesting to be able to, isn't it?

Oh it is most wonderful and I shall continue with this work, until I'm advised otherwise.

Les: Yes I hope you will and you'll get a great deal of enjoyment out of it; we do in our work here, like this.

I have been an observer on the odd occasion in this room. I did assist some little time ago, with one of the doctors that comes here and I felt so honoured to be here.

Les: It's nice of you to say, but we always feel very, very grateful to all of you, for taking the trouble to come to us, back in this heavy atmosphere.

It surprises me how light it is this time—very easy it is this time.

Les: Very much lighter, because the power is greater and you of course bring a lot with you also and as you said, laughter is contributory.

(Spoken passionately) Oh you cannot survive without it! No, it is most, most important! And now, if you will permit before I leave, I would like please to say goodbye to everyone individually, may I?

Les: Yes of course, you can walk round to them, if you wish.

I would yes, one moment please.

(There was then some light chatter, while she moved across the room)

She then started with Lilian:

I am most honoured to meet you, I know all about you.

Lilian: Do you?

I do, but I shan't say anything.

Lilian: No it's best not to. (Chuckles)

Other than you are a sweet soul and are much loved by everyone. Peace and love be with you.

Lilian: Thank you very much

Good evening.

Jack: Hello.

I am most honoured to take your hand. May all your days be filled with much love. Go in peace my son.

Jack: Thank you, God bless you.

Sallie: Hello.

We had a dog called Sallie at the convent.

Les: Did you?

Yes we did and she was a wonderful character and I know you are too. My love goes with you.

Sallie: Thank you.

Paul: Hello.

Good evening Paul. Oh I feel a deep, deep gentleness here—yes this one runs deep waters.

Paul: Thank you.

He is a great asset to all who have dealings with him. Yes a gentle soul this.

Paul: Thank you very much.

Peace be with you my dear one.

Paul: And with you.

Sarah: Good evening to you.

An old name I know. This name goes back through the generations and is a much-loved name. Yes, this one is an old soul.

Sarah: That's interesting. Thank you.

Go in peace and love my child.

Mark: Hello.

Yes this one and I have met before.

Les: Is that so?

Mark: Can you say anything about it?

My son, do you remember the name you have been given?

Mark: Yes Raul you mean?

Yes, I work closely with him. I have been to you in sleep, I feel your spirit coming up through my hands.

Yes, your guide and I are closely linked. Therefore should you call on him, I may not be far away.

Mark: Thank you for your help.

Go in peace my dear one.

George: Thank you for being with us this evening.

So much love here for his family and for others connected with him, both in spirit and on the earthly planes. This one will surely have a golden crown one day. Much love goes with you my son.

George: Thank you.

Les: And finally Margaret.

Finally, they say finally! (Laughter) Oh I like this one.

Margaret: Thank you very much.

Yes, you bring joy to people, even though you might not be aware of it. And because of that joy, your soul burns like a bright beacon in the dark days.

Margaret: Thank you.

You too my child, will wear a crown of gold.

Margaret: I hope I'm worthy of it, thank you.

Do not detract from yourself.

Margaret: Thank you very much, thank you for coming.

And now for you! (Les) Not finally for you, not finally for the lady, but finally for you. So much has been said to you, every word of it the truth. Without your guidance, this group would never have materialised and the work you do, would not have occurred. Although you have been taught that lives are mapped out and it was written you would do this work, it is your greatness of spirit, which has made the work as important as it is. Without you my dearest one, things would be very different.

Les: Thank you very much. I too shall try to be worthy to what I have been given.

Now I leave the serious part behind. I have so enjoyed being here and speaking to you all, but I need to return to run through the wet grass. (Gentle laughter) It recharges the batteries and enables me to continue with the serious side of my work.

Les: Of course.

But I have loved being here and I still cannot believe that you knew all about me. I shall have to make sure that next time I come, I am in disguise! (Laughter) And then we will see how clever you are!

Les: Not at all clever—oh and Sister Rosetta—

Ooh! Goodness me! (Exclamation at Les knowing her name)

Les:—there's one thing before you go, would you tell Sister Angelic—and please tell her I pronounced the name 'Angelic,' and not 'Angelica,' as people used to call her and she got very annoyed at that—that she did not need to do penance, when she looked into a mirror.

Well?!

Les: I know you will see her, you have many a laugh together.

Well I was going to name myself as I went, but I don't need to. I cannot believe this man. (Giggles) Make sure you don't have any secrets because he'll find them out. (More laughter)

Les: I can only get what I'm given and it's never anything to embarrass anybody.

I am only joking, I am well aware of what you are given, but goodness me when you are on the receiving end it's a bit of a shock. I will go now.

Les: Thank you again for your company.

I hope I can return, (Enthusiastic replies) and we will see how long it takes you to discover me next time.

Les: That's a challenge, isn't it?

On a more serious note now—if you could bring our dear lady back, so that the channels can be cleared properly. I give you all my love and will think of you all and hope you may think of me sometimes. To the gentleman named Mark, I say should he need to call upon Raul, I will not be far behind.

Mark: Thank you.

(General thanks and fond farewells)

~14th April 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Dear friends, I thank you again for your warm welcome. Before I speak with you, I would like to say that next time, there will come to you someone of interest I am sure.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

I cannot say at this time which instrument will be used, but be assured that there will be much for your attention.

Les: I'm sure there will be and we'll look forward to it again.

If this one is not to be used, then again I will take the opportunity to work with her. But we will wait and see what conditions prevail.

Les: Yes we do understand that these things can't be decided accurately, because of varying circumstances.

This one here is being trained to much higher degree than at first we proposed to use her, but since my coming to you, she has grown so.

Les: She has, hasn't she—we've had some excellent information through her from your world and we're all very, very pleased about it.

Now dear friends, let me speak a little this time. We have been happy to see how many of you on your Earth at this time, have been interested in what is happening in what you term your space. (Yes) Yes, and in particular I know that each of you here, have been interested in what you term a comet. (Agreed) I would say to you this: If that powerful interest that you all show to things outside your planet, if that interest were to be turned inwards, in understanding the vehicle which you all inhabit, dear friends what a powerful force that would be.

Les: It would be, wouldn't it—incalculable.

I would say to you all only this: (Intense pause) When understanding, when knowledge is sought, when all that you wish and desire is turned towards knowing the self; then indeed are you beginning to know what you are about. (Pause) Friends, when that happens, all that lies beyond your understanding at this time, would belong to you in an instant. No longer would your skies be a mystery to you, because then dear friends, you would be part of it, you would become a living force within it; no longer would your skies seem to be a miracle, but become part of your very existence.

So friends, listen to me, turn your thinking inward, to the very depths of your understanding, reach out for that knowledge—and it is innate within you all, have no doubts about that and find the mystery within. Seek that dear friends and you will find all. Do you understand?

Les: Yes we do. We realise the difficulty of doing it of course, as you do when you tell us it's going to be difficult. But no doubt you would say: If it isn't difficult, then it isn't worth attaining.

If you are not prepared to seek and to search, then you will not find.

Les: Of course not.

These simple words I have given to you this time are the most important ones that I can say to you. Find your true self and all of the cosmos will fall into place.

Les: Is there any chance of us finding our true self, whilst we are in this physical body?

I answer with one word: YES. There is no reason why in this lifetime, you could not attain this—you my friend especially, amongst you peoples here. You have the ability; now you must apply it and you must endeavour to focus upon it to achieve what after all, you know. It is an innate knowledge that you came to this planet with and as you unfold, so should each part of you be filled with that knowledge. So to you all I say: SEEK, ASK, FIND—it is there for you, if only you should take up—shall I call it a challenge? (Yes) Now, have you questions this time?

Les: Well I would like to ask a question about what you have just said. I know we are all individuals and must lead an individual lifestyle, but is there any one overriding suggestion you can give us, as to how we can achieve this inward searching? Bearing in mind that we shall still have to continue living our existing physical lives?

You cannot free yourself from that daily living, of course you cannot. But in your quiet times, and I know most of you try to seek those quiet moments in your daily lives, but I have to tell you dear friends, that to find that inner self, you need to devote more time, more of your physical time I say, to finding the true spirit within. You cannot achieve what is greatness, if you are not prepared to sacrifice a little of your daily living. So in answer to your question this time, I would say to you: As you look towards the stars and planets in your skies, look inwards to yourself and find that eternal flame which you are, because dear friend, you are brighter than the brightest star. You have to visualise this first. You understand?

Les: Yes that certainly has given us something to guide us with. The other question I would like to ask is: Presuming that we are trying to achieve this in our physical life here, are we helped in so doing, when we visit you at night, during our sleep?

You would be given instruction yes.

Les: So it would help if when we go to our sleep, we could concentrate for a few quiet moments before we do sleep, and ask for guidance when we come over to you?

If you ask, there are many who are waiting to help. You need the help from our side of course.

Les: So we can ask for that, knowledge that we are going to receive it, even though we may not remember that? (Yes) Good and that would be of benefit in our physical attempts, to do what you have suggested?

In seeking help from those with higher knowledge shall I say, you are allowing yourself to open and for that knowledge to come forth and greater knowledge to be given in instruction and help.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. I must say and I'm sure my friends agree, that gives us more hope that we shall be able to achieve what you have suggested. We know we shall be helped in it.

Remember you are all individuals of course, but also remember that you are spirit and much is available to you, if only you will throw off the confines of this physical body. That is the problem with you humans, that however much knowledge you attain, you still cling to the knowledge that you have these physical cloaks which surround you and which some of you feel to be a protective cloak. Dear friends I tell you this, these protective cloaks are a hindrance not a help. Throw them from you when you can—when the opportunity comes, take it, take the help that is offered to you all, from those close to you from our world.

Les: Right we shall certainly do that.

Seek and you will find*. Those words should ring true to many of you, they have been said many times on your Earth plane and I would like to reinforce them for you, by saying they are true, but you must be the catalyst in seeking. YOU must do it—we cannot do it for you.

Les: No I think I can say, to use our modern expression, you have pointed us in the right direction. I don't think any would disagree, would they? (Affirmed) So we thank you for what you have said.

I wish I could show you a mirror image of what you truly are. I hope that one day when I come to you that you will say to me, I understand your words now, at last I have attained what I needed to know. I know and understand myself as I truly am. (Pause) The day will come.

Les: Good. Without wishing to seem conceited, I believe I have been on the fringe of that understanding several times.

Dear friend, although you feel your knowledge is great, which to many within this room, your knowledge seems expansive, and to them it is. I would say to you this dear friend: You have grown much and that growth has happened in your latter years. I do not speak of knowledge that you have gained in earlier years. The knowledge that has come to you latterly has been an instigator of learning much more. You are now if I can put it to you this way—you are approaching a gateway of knowledge and self-instruction, which even you had not imagined. You are on the threshold of much knowledge and I say to you, that we are helping you forward in as many ways as we can, because part of what you have been sent here for, is to instruct others in the knowledge that you yourself have gained. And dear friend I say to you, you have worked well.

May that infinite energy which surrounds you all encompass you as you go forward, in that search for ever-lasting life.

Les: Well it's going to be incredible when we do understand it. I thought I knew quite a lot now, by coming over to you, but obviously I know very little.

I do not say that to make you feel as if you know little, but to help you understand that there is much greater things ahead of you.

Les: Yes it's very nice of you to put it like that, I wasn't suggesting that you were criticising me in any way of course, but I just can't imagine the beauty that is there to be discovered, if what I already have experienced, is almost nothing.

It is but a twinkling of the eye what you have experienced. Wait until you see the full beauty of what lies ahead. You have much to give, much knowledge to impart and dear friend, much good advice, because sometimes we see too much eagerness to begin with and little patience. But that is something all you peoples on this planet Earth, seem to be afflicted with and I do not say those words unkindly, but when you know yourselves as you will eventually, then you will learn and understand, that patience is indeed what you term a virtue.

Les: Yes at the moment you're quite right, it is an affliction.

Now I will leave you this time and I will say to you, that you may find in the weeks ahead, that there may be changes as I use this instrument, because I am working closely now with her and we are making good progress.

Les: I'm very, very pleased to hear that, thank you. Just two quick things before you go. I spoke to you a little while ago about a certain person who was coming, (Yes) she accepted the instructions quite cheerfully and is prepared to wait.

Yes it needs just a little time.

Les: Yes she's quite happy about it and the other one is that I would like to thank your colleagues—I'm sure you know about it, for the information my American friend was given, during her visit this weekend. It has made her feel she is still part of the group.

I have said previously, that once the connection is made, then we do not let go easily. You may stray, you may wander, but always you will return.

Les: She was really, really thrilled with what she got—quite unexpectedly too.

Yes, she has much she's got to offer herself, but we have to wait for that one also.

Les: Yes again it's a question of waiting, isn't it?

Yes but as I have told you, time is irrelevant to us, it always will happen, if not in this lifetime, then perhaps in other ways. Now I must leave you.

Les: Yes, sorry I detained you.

No—I leave you all and I hope you will think upon my words this time. I will try to help you in your quiet times, in trying to seek your true selves, but you really must give time to it.

(Thanks + farewells)

There then followed one through Sue:

Good evening to you. I have not been waiting to speak, I have been with this one and we have been working together and I speak to you now, only to say that we will be closing this meeting now. I would say just a few words before we all leave you to resume your earthly life this time. I am sure you are all aware that the power of Love is a great power.

Les: Yes we are sure.

Are you aware that when someone is surrounded by and giving out love, they and their surroundings—the area surrounding them, is lit as if by a thousand candles. Have you been told this?

Les: We have been told that we do radiate light and that it is very strongly seen in your world.

I have to say that there is so much illumination surrounding this one. We are preparing to utilise the light which exudes. You may say it is like a generator, is that the correct word?

Les: Yes that is correct.

I apologise, but it is not normal for me to use such words.

Les: We quite understand. But you're quite right your instrument is like a generator. And you're able to use that light, are you?

It is linking with ours—it is a chain of light, which eventually returns to the source. Each link is forged by love of incoming and outgoing.

Les: And I believe that light surrounds everybody here too, is that right, to a greater or lesser degree?

Of course, you cannot have love, whether it be spiritual or physical, without illumination. Each one here is a source of light and each one here, links with another and the light grows stronger. I do hope my words have been understandable to you.

Les: Yes perfectly clear thank you.

And you have gained a little knowledge, or if not gained knowledge, have heard again from another, how powerful love can be.

Les: Yes it does confirm what we have been told several times and it's very nice to have the confirmation.

We just wish to uplift you all and let you know how much good you are doing to yourselves and others.

Les: That's kind of you to let us know that, because we are I might say, more concerned that we should be able to do it for others, rather than wanting to do it for ourselves. We know that they can't be separated, but the prime motive is that we should work for others.

Now the Spirits here this time will take their leave. You are aware I'm sure, that there are many in this room, as I speak.

Les: Yes we are sure of that now and we're very grateful to them, for all the love and the power they bring to assist us.

There is much happiness here this time and we all take our leave of you with joy in our hearts. I say to you, walk on the paths you are treading now and your days will be fulfilled. I leave you to close in the normal fashion and say to you I will return, if you will allow me to do so.

Les: Please do, we shall be glad to welcome you again.

I hope to be able to talk to you in more detail, about the interlinking chains of love and light.

(Thanks + farewells)

~21st April 1997~

Salumet had told us he would not be speaking this week, but that there would be another of interest. The first communication came through Eileen:

(Welcomes)

Good evening all. I come only to instruct you as to what we would wish this time.

Les: Thank you.

The little lady will be used this evening and in doing so, we would request some changes within the room please.

Les: Certainly.

Can we use the lady that you know as Lilian, to be placed at the right hand side of the instrument please? I will remain with this one to offer help. You must allow a little time for the communicator to come to you and we would ask that each individual within the room, concentrate on the eternal flame of Light, to increase the power here, to help the little lady.

Les: Certainly.

We hope that she returns to you, without any problems. We are sure she will, but just in case, will you help her please?

Les: Yes of course, we shall bring her back very carefully and quietly.

We have to say to you how pleased we are, with how she has grown.

Les: I'm glad you are, because we certainly are.

Yes, she has much to offer and in this respect, we wish to use her more. So this evening is one of those opportunities in which to do so.

Les: Certainly, well we shall look forward to hearing what is to be heard through her.

It may be that at times I will interrupt if it is necessary, in order that we can sustain the power for her, but I will speak only if need be.

Les: I understand and thank you for your help and co-operation. We were told to expect someone else this evening and we haven't been courteous enough to welcome you yet—we do so now.

I thank you, but there is no need, I feel your welcome without your words. So I say to you, please let us carry on and please do all of you concentrate, it is a lesson for all of you, a lesson in concentration of your minds.

Les: We understand. Is the light in the room satisfactory?

We will leave it so, but if the communicator is uncomfortable, no doubt we will tell you.

Les: Right. Thank you.

The communicator then began through Sue:

After the usual welcomes and a few adjustments, we were taken on a guided meditation:

If you are ready, I would like to take you on a journey through one of the realms, from which I have travelled.

Les: We would be very interested in that and should be happy to journey with you.

May I just request that should the vocal chords begin to fail, then the lady seated beside the instrument, could place her hand upon the back of the person.

Lilian: Yes.

Les: Of course and is the light satisfactory for you, or would you like less?

At the present time, everything is conducive to my being here.

Les: Splendid.

Now, I ask you to imagine you are all clothed in a long robe, tied at the waste with a silver chord. Each one of you is dressed in the colour which you have been given previously, as the colour of your life. Are you aware of what I speak? (Affirmed) So we begin our journey. You are barefoot, there is no need to have your feet covered. You are walking upon the softest and most delicate moss. Feel it going between your toes and feel the energy from it, travelling upwards through your limbs. Feel it as it reaches your solar plexus. Feel the energy as it travels upwards and rests around your face and head. Slowly move forwards—we are now passing through an arbour of trees, which are bending towards the centre, forming an arch, through which the love of the Creator, is dappling through, like sunlight playing on the waters of a lake. As you pass through these trees, reach out and touch the bark of them, either side of the pathway. Feel its softness and listen, as it speaks to you, as it speaks the age-old words of wisdom of the soil. We are now continuing forwards through these trees, into a meadow. The moss has now given way to lush green pasture. Feel it as it sweeps past your ankles. Feel it as it wraps itself around your feet, pulling you down into the Earth's surface. And now continue slowly. Ahead of you is a magnificent rose tree, larger and more abundant than ever you would see on this Earth that you dwell upon. I ask each one of you, to take a rose that is growing there, the rose of the colour of the robe you are wearing. Be very careful not to take a colour that does not belong to you. Look into the depths of the petals, listen to what it has to say to you, accept the love that it brings and let it flow through your fingertips, until it goes down into the Earth's surface and once more springs to life, as a separate rose tree. Look around you, can you not see them growing as I speak? Now, continue walking. Ahead of you, you should see a gateway. There are four steps leading upwards. I ask you to climb these steps and wait for me at the entrance—(Pause)

And now we go through—each one of you I ask to stand before one of the windows that are on either side of the room in which you find yourself. You will know which window to go to, because the rose you have picked will be there in magnificent coloured glass—and go to it. There are enough windows for each one of you, regardless of whether you have the same colour rose held in your hand. Now, turn and face the window and look through the panes. Ahead of you, is a shining pathway. Step through your window and stand at the beginning of your life. Everything that has passed since you were first birthed on this Earth, can be seen in the first few feet of your path. I ask you to look beyond that—you should see a glowing light in the centre. Concentrate I say to you, concentrate each one of you, on the centre of that pinprick of light and watch as it slowly spreads outwards, until it becomes a glowing orb. Reach out your right hand and place it beneath the light. Let it wash over your fingers, until you feel you could lift it, as you would a ball and slowly raise your arm until it is above your head. Now slowly bring your hand down, so that the light may come over you like a cloak of starlight. Feel it, feel it as it tingles over your skin. Feel it, feel it as it becomes part of the robe which clothes your body and feel it, as it sinks past your feet and sinks back into the sacred soil and watch, as that light becomes a parallel pathway to the one already at your feet. My children, this is the pathway given to you, to follow all the days of your life and in the life to come. You will surely recognise it as your years pass. You may stumble, you may feel that you have gone on a diversion, but know in your heart that you will find it and continue in the direction it leads you. Put that pathway deep into your heart and remember its existence, when times are especially hard and decisions you have to make, seem never-ending. That pathway is the pathway of light and love and will lead you ultimately, to the end of your rainbow. Now, turn from it and walk back through your window. Now, lay your rose at the bottom of the glass. Stand and walk towards the doorway from whence you have come. Go down the steps and wait for me to arrive. Now we walk back to the rose bushes, which you should see have grown magnificently, in the time you have been gone. Take a rose of your colour from the new trees, and walk back beneath the trees of the dappling sunlight. Listen as the leaves give you their blessing; and onward until you feel the velvet moss between your toes. I ask you to reach down and push your hands into it, until they are covered up to your wrists. From this moss, you will now have the strength to continue back into the earthly realms, from which I have just briefly taken you. Place your hands together, in supplication and offer your love to the magnificent Creator of all things that you have just seen and all things that are yet to be seen. Look at the Eternal Flame. Feel the power as it wraps itself and protects each one of you. And ask only that you may continue to do the will of that great one, whose name is different to you all.

I hope that the journey we have been on together this time, will remain in your hearts and minds, so that you may call upon its memory in times of stress, in times of unhappiness or trouble and know deep, deep in your heart and soul, that there is a magnificent and overwhelming life yet to come.

Les: We thank you for what you have said and for where you have taken us and for the marvellous spiritually emotional journey you gave. I'm sure it will remain with all of us, as you have said.

It is a small token of love and gratitude, for the work done in the name of that great spiritual love which encompasses us all. I thank you for giving the opportunity to come and ask that because of the emotions in the room in which you sit, that you finish your time quietly and allow this instrument of peace, to return to you.

Les: Yes we shall do that.

I offer you the love of the spirit. May it enter your souls and reside there for all eternity. Until we meet again, farewell.

Les: I hope we shall meet again. Farewell to you my friend and God be with you at all times. Goodbye.

Sue returned in the normal way and Les then returned to his chair expecting to close the meeting, when one came through him quite unexpectedly:

I talk quietly my friends, not to disturb those who are still with us here. You can still hear me I trust?

(Affirmed) I come only to thank you for your silence and your patience during that journey, which though seemingly simple, took much time and effort to prepare for you. As was said, it was offered as a token of love for the work you do and for the work which all of us hope that you will continue to do in the future. You have had but a little glimpse of the magnificence of Creation that awaits your passing in the course of time. And that magnificence that was explained was only in what you would term the middle realms of existence. I cannot be more explicit in explanation, but I think you all know what that means. It is but a stepping stone to the true magnificence, the unimaginable magnificence of ultimate Creation. You have this to work towards—do not neglect it I beg of you.

And now those who were instrumental in bringing power for the Master who spoke to you this time, are able to return without discomfort. So I bid you farewell and trust that your journey will remain always in your conscious mind. As was said to you, call upon it in times of pain, in times of distress, in times of doubt, in times of uncertainty; it is there for your strength, do not forget that.

George: Thank you, we appreciate your words and your message. (Agreed)

God be with you my friends, may life be good to you, but you have much better to look forward to, always remember. I bid you farewell now and again thank you for your quiet and your patience, God be with you all.

(Thanks + farewells)

Les commented that so many were gathered and helping during this evening and he joked that he felt like a little errand boy, after the two communications.

~28th April 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Before I speak with you this time, I would ask that you all devote one minute of your time, to ask for help and guidance for this your planet please. Can we join together this time?

Les: Certainly, will you lead us please, in your request and we will follow you.

Great Creative Force, from which we all come, we offer ourselves in the hope that we may be shown how to extend our love, our knowledge, to this the planet Earth. We ask that wisdom may reign, in order that all of mankind be lifted once more, to the realm of GOOD. In this we ask your blessings and for that, may we offer ourselves, as vessels of LOVE.

And I thank you—I know you will be shown your individual pathways, to continue to spread love throughout this planet. I hope that you found the last time to be interesting for you all.

Les: We certainly did, it was a wonderful evening and we thank you for it.

I do not wish to speak on any particular topic this time, so I will say only if you have questions, I will try to answer them for you.

Les: Thank you, if as usual I may begin: The little lady as you call her on your right, has as you know given everybody here their life colours, as instructed by those in your realms. She herself has not been given her colours and we wonder whether you would be able to do that for her?

It is not something I would do normally, but for this one I will. I would say only this: That she was impressed, but was unable to gather the information given to her. There is no fault in that, so let me reassure this little one, that she is not excluded from such information. You of course all know that the colour and the individual given to you are spiritual colours and not the auric colours that surround the physical bodies.

Les: Yes we do.

Was that fully explained to you?

Les: Yes we do understand that thank you.

You understand that the colours which surround the physical body are ever-changing, but the colours that each one here was given, is their own spiritual colour, dependent upon their own spiritual growth. You understand?

Les: Yes we do.

So I say to the little one, because she is in a transitional period of her spiritual development, is not one colour, but it is pink, bordering upon the purple hues. You understand?

Les: Yes thank you.

This one has grown much in recent years of your time, therefore her spirit colour is also changing.

Les: Yes we understand that.

The one who is her spiritual mentor, goes by the name of Veronique. But she will I believe answer to English name of Veronica. It is entirely up to the lady, which name she uses.

Les: Thank you, there's an interesting aside there—before we began the meeting, I thought this might not be your province and I was asking if they wished to give her the colour, would they like to do it through me and I was getting pink, but I was not getting it strongly enough, so it stayed there—

Because of the transition, you would have been confused by seeing only one colour. It is a blend, which is in the change into the purple hues, as you would know them. I have to state dear friends, that these colours are given to you for your own understanding, belonging to the colour schemes upon your Earth. But in fact they would not be truly recognisable to you, when you are truly spirit, because they are more energy than colour. I do not wish to go further, because I believe you would not fully understand. So I hope she will take the name and the colour and know that we are here to help, in all ways possible.

Les: Yes I'm sure she'll understand and of course thank you very much for what you've said. The other question is one I've been asked by somebody to put to you: There is a fraternity, I can only call them that, who follow basically what you teach us, and it is known as the Infinite Way. I was asked to ask you—this sounds rather presumptuous, whether you know or know of a Mr MacDonald Bain in your realms. He was associated with the Infinite Way teachings, has written a number of books, was said to be an excellent healer and a very knowledgeable teacher. I read one of his chapters and I would have to disagree with quite a bit of it unfortunately. But I put the question, since I was asked to do so.

I dear friend have said I do not come to answer individual questions as such, I come to teach you on a greater scale. Let me say only this to you: There are many pathways to our world, there are many ways of teaching, under different names. It matters not what each group calls itself, it is not even so important what those teachings are. What matters most is that each individual, in whatever pathway they choose, finds himself, FINDS HIMSELF. I stress those words, because each individual upon this Earth, upon this planet and in others, has to find their own way home. So if you are seeking my approval of what one individual has taught, of what they have shown whilst alive or in spirit, I will not comment upon this, because there are vast and varied peoples, ideas, thoughts, religions—I could not cover them all in one session with you. I therefore say to you, however great you think one of mankind has been, however great you may think another's teaching, they are after all, one individual who is part of a whole. That dear friend is where your religions in your world have fallen down, because they have revered single men, as if they were special Gods. You understand?

Les: Yes we do.

No one man has all knowledge. Each individual must find a pathway which is right for him. Remember my words, 'Judge not;' judge no other man and you will truly find yourself. Until mankind reaches this understanding, there will always be saviours, holy people, gods that men will revere, and you must push to one side all of these people, because although there are many great ones who come to help, they look not for adoration, nor do they seek publicity. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, I tried to explain that very thing to the person who wanted me to put the question.

Of course, if they so seek and desire, they can sit with an intermediary, a medium who may or may not give the information, but I would say it is not important.

Les: I would agree completely, I thought it was pointless, but I didn't want to upset the person, so I said I would ask.

I do not wish to seem frivolous in replying, but dear friends, there are so many more important things to discuss.

Les: Yes there are I quite agree.

And as you know, our time together is so limited, that I feel that my time spent with you, should be devoted to helping you all to grow, to enrich yourselves with knowledge and to bring to fruition, work that is meant to be. I hope you understand, I hope my answer is enough for the questioner and I hope that all of you, all of you, will think deeply upon my words and look into yourselves, for any knowledge or understanding that you need to bring to yourselves—your understanding of the teaching of others.

Les: Yes, I ask because he is trying to find himself, but I think he wanted to make sure he was on the right path.

If the words of the individual strike a note within his heart, then let him follow that pathway. He will know, he will have that innate knowledge, if it is the correct pathway for him or not. You all have it, you all have it.

Les: Yes, that is why we are all here, for your teaching, isn't it? We know this is our pathway.

That is correct and so it must apply to each individual. You must allow others to find their way back home, in whatever way. Do not say one has more knowledge than another, because how do you know?

Les: No you can't. I will pass your words on to him and I do thank you for it. If I hadn't known he was sincere, I wouldn't have asked even.

No, please always ask. I do not always promise to give you the replies that you seek, but I hope that I bring you much to think upon. And I hope that my words always will be truthful to you and if I do seem evasive at times, it is not meant to be so, but as I say, there are too many important issues for us to deal with.

Les: Of course. Do you wish to take more questions?

I will take one short one this time and then allow another to speak, whilst we continue with this meeting.

Les: Thank you. Has anybody a question they would like to ask Salumet?

Jack: Yes I have actually Salumet. Can you tell me—I seem to find myself very angry about a lot of things that seem to be a bit pointless. Basically about the way people behave to each other, to the animals, to the birds. It ends up in frustrated anger and doesn't actually get me anywhere and I'm sure the energy expended on this anger could be better directed. Could you advise me please?

Yes my son, might I suggest that you listen to the talk that I gave to you on the use of energy? (Use of energy has come up several times before, e.g.: 06/02/95 + 24/06/96) In those words you will find that anger is negative as far as energy goes—you are drawing it back to yourself. May I suggest that you speak with this one here, who leads you well—to listen to the words I have already spoken? Can you do that please?

Jack: I will do, thank you.

Your motive is good, but you must not allow it to turn to anger, because negative energy will turn inwards and you must not allow this to happen. Use it as positive energy, to send out loving thoughts for change. Can I ask you dear friend to do this for him?

Les: Yes of course I will.

We did speak quite a lot about energy and the way that it must be used.

Les: Yes you did and I will find what you said.

If still you are dissatisfied with the answer, then I would say to you, ask again and I will try to enlighten you further.

Jack: Thank you.

Now, I leave you this time, I feel your love and thank you for it. I say to you all, that soon I will give you because of your dedication, a little more knowledge of your previous times together, as a little light—how would you say, 'entertainment'? (Exclamations of delight) I know you all have pondered well and deeply, but I have to say to you, not very successfully. (Gentle laughter) I leave you with those words. (Thanks expressed)

There then followed a much-loved one, who had visited us before, through Sue:

Les: Welcome to you and greetings from us all.

Moon Feather.

Les: I know Moon Feather, it's wonderful to have you here again. I was just about to say your name when you gave it. This is a very pleasant surprise.

Say only few words. This one is not ready for me this time, but I come soon, when we have been together and will speak at some length.

Les: We look forward to hearing you.

Need practice though. Come this time to say only that whilst you have been speaking to great Master, a silver chord has been placed around each of peoples here. (Thanks expressed) Have heard of this before I know.

Les: Yes we have heard of it and we appreciate it again.

This chord has no beginning and no end. It surrounds you and holds inside spiritual Light.

Les: Thank you very, very much again.

Others not in this room also have silver chord. These peoples most spiritual peoples and are soon to join this group.

Les: Good, we're very pleased to hear that and we look forward to the knowledge that they will bring us.

Meeting now coming to close, White Feather would like to say closing words if you will permit?

Les: We shall be very pleased if he would do that.

Please to take your seat.

Les: Yes.

May you all keep running free in the Light of the Great Spirit of the skies. May the wind enrobe you, may the skies and the Earth be your blanket. Great Love can be felt in your very breath. Keep running freely and you will be forever blessed.

Then he spoke in his native tongue:

Highshcarventagan Eecarganstvah Eecarganstar Mongcarba Mongarva Moongarvah.

Until we meet again, I bid you farewell from Moon Feather.

Les: Thank you to you both from all of us. We thank you for the love you bring. Our love goes with you both. May the Great Spirit bless you always.

During our usual chatter after the meeting closed, the subject of anger was again referred to and Sallie expressed her sadness, to think that many beautiful lambs she sees in the fields each day, would probably be slaughtered for food; she could not understand people doing this. Our unseen friends had as usual been listening, and one decided to join the conversation, via Leslie:'

May I please join this conversation of yours? (Enthusiastic agreement) You, my friends are falling into the common trap of looking at one side of a question only. It is not so important that it is wrong to express anger, what is important is what you should learn from that expression of that anger, and the strength you should achieve, through being able to curtail that anger, until the time comes, when you feel no need even to express it. You have heard it said before now, on more than one occasion, it is wise to learn the difference between emotion and compassion, have you not?

Jack: Yes.

You do not sound too certain about it, my friend?

Jack: Yes, yes I have been.

If you have anger at the things you know to be wrong and justifiably know to be wrong, you have not learned the lesson.

Jack: Right.

You should exercise compassion. Does your anger do any good, towards alleviating the suffering, which distresses you?

Jack: Well you see I've always felt that anger—

You do not answer the question please.

Jack: No it doesn't, no you are right.

Thank you. So it is pointless to express anger, even to consider anger, is it not?

Jack: It is —

It is a negative action, as was said to you earlier. Now, is that not sufficient my friend, for you to build upon?

Jack: Yes I think so.

When you feel anger entering your thoughts and perhaps clouding your judgement, as to certain activities—and I say that because you do not always know the reason behind the activities, which have caused you anger, do you? (No) So I think it would not be unfair for me to say, you are jumping to conclusions, in allowing your anger to express itself. Is that not so?

Jack: It depends. I don't think so, because sometimes the actions are so clearly wrong, I don't think I'm jumping to conclusions.

My friend in what way are they so clearly wrong?

Jack: People starving, animals being tortured, all sorts of things. I don't think there's any justification for it.

Why not think there is justification?

Jack: I don't know.

Ahhh!

Jack: Because it doesn't feel right—

You have answered the question haven't you?

Jack: I believe I have yes.

You don't know?!

Jack: Still doesn't feel right though.

I'm not disputing that, but it is emotion and not compassion.

Jack: Correct yes.

So have we progressed do you think?

Jack: I believe so yes.

Splendid, splendid, do you think then, that you can control your anger, which serves no useful purpose?

Jack: I shall certainly try.

And rather look behind the activities, which distressed you, as I said and attempt to seek an answer as to why those things are happening—not achieve anger within yourself because they are happening. You understand?

Jack: I do absolutely yes.

Does that help you?

Jack: It does yes.

That is the reason I am here, not to criticise—

Jack: No absolutely—

—but so far as I am able within my limited powers to help in your problems.

Jack: No, it does help, certainly. It's something I've got to sort out myself, but it does help.

I am pleased—no, no, no, no, no—you do not have to sort it out for yourself. Here is the physical human arrogance once again. What do you think we are here for, but to help you?

Jack: That's true yes.

So if it's true, why not take advantage of it?

Jack: Okay, I'll do that.

And when you find it difficult to arrive at a conclusion or an opinion then call upon us. You have been given a name have you not? (Yes) Then have you used it?

Jack: I have.

Then use it again, as many times as is necessary, for you to recover a sense of balance within yourself, which would affect your spiritual, as well as your physical outlook. Do you understand? (Yes) You are becoming in some respects my friend, too—how shall I put this in your words—you are looking through only one doorway. You miss the others, which are open for investigation. Do you follow?

Jack: I do yes.

Good, good. And the lady who is distressed at the thought of suffering of lambs that she passes—again I suggest madam, look upon those scenes with compassion, not emotion. Do you follow? You become too emotionally involved in things, which you cannot control.

Sallie: I do try to be compassionate about it, but I also think that I can help influence.

Then certainly if you can influence, do so by all means. But still exercise compassion in your seeking to find the answers to things which distress you.

Sallie: Yes I will work harder at that.

And recognise I would suggest also please, that you can never attain or achieve more, than is within your physical ability to do. Do you understand? Things upon this Earth are sometimes designed, to test you in ways of which you have no knowledge. This of course you would not know.

Sallie: Yes, I will concentrate to be more compassionate, but I don't think it's just me who's influencing things, I find I get so much help from everywhere, that I'm not doing it on my own really. Perhaps I'm being a bit too ambitious?

You do try to do too much on your own—that is the problem. You have roads, which you see ahead of you mentally, and you would like to travel them and see a perfect world, would you not? (Yes) All that you think should not be done, in your estimation, should not be done. You are if I may say with respect, and I say this in all kindness, a little intolerant of others, in things which are beyond your power to correct. Is that so?

Sallie: I think there's a tendency there, but I think I'm less intolerant than I used to be, I think I've improved.

This is possible—this is possible that you are, which is good to know that you are learning. But the intolerance still influences your outlook dear lady. Please try to correct that a little. I do not say this unkindly and your intolerance is not of harm to others, because it is contained within your own thinking. But nevertheless it is there and it is blocking to some extent, your spiritual progress.

Sallie: If one is intolerant and you work on it, so perhaps you are not openly intolerant and you try and contain it within yourself, because you realise you don't have the right to make the judgement—so therefore you try and hold your own intolerance in. What do I do with it then? How do I get rid of it?

Do not let it be created and you will not have to get rid of it. Is that not clear?

Sallie: Yes I think so, thank you.

Again we come back to compassion. If you think along the compassionate line, you will not create intolerance within your own thinking, because it cannot BE. And if it cannot BE, there is nothing to get rid of, is there? (No) It has been said many times so you all, for what you seek, look within yourselves. The answers are all there, if only you will think of yourselves as spiritual beings and not as physical representatives, do you follow? (Affirmed) Thank you for permitting me to join. (Thanks expressed) I trust it has been of some help? (Affirmed) Now I am called back, I am told that you have your own lives to lead and I must not intrude further. (Laughter + thanks)

God be with you my children, guide you and give you strength and do not forget that we ARE there to help. Always, always there to help.

Farewell my friends farewell. (Thanks expressed)

~5TH May 1997~

This evening's first communication came through Sue, who explained a few changes this evening and that Salumet would be speaking later. She then spoke to our new member of the group:

You are most welcome my son.

Barry: Thank you very much. It is a pleasure to be here.

We have been working towards this day for some time. You would be unaware I feel, of those that have been with you, in recent days. But believe me you have been well protected and guided towards this time.

Barry: Thank you.

With the gentleman's permission, I would ask you a question.

Barry: Please ask.

Are you willing to join the people here, who so generously give their time and their Spirit, to do the work of further realms?

Barry: I would gladly do so.

Your path here has been arduous and at times, we have been unsure whether you would be willing to give yourself freely to this work. But in recent times, your spirit has shone out like a beacon of light and we knew, as we surely did, that we had not got it wrong. We know you have interests in working with our doctors and for that we are most humbly grateful. But there is other work, which we would like you to do, in conjunction with this. You are what you would call, in your words, a generator, do you understand my meaning.

Les: I think a spiritual generator.

Barry: Ah yes I would understand.

In terms that may be easier for you to understand, you are a source of energy, a source of energy which we wish to tap into, with your permission.

Barry: Please tap into the energy, but please may I ask that you would guard me against forces, which would misuse this?

Oh my son, the protection that surrounds you and each one here, I could only compare to a suit of armour, impenetrable, impenetrable only by people who are not required, but an open door to the spirits of Love and Light. Fear not, you are protected not only in this room, but wherever you are and wherever you are likely to go, both in this world and the next. Fear not my son, you can only do good, if your heart is open and your spirit is light and we know we have been observing you, that both these things, both these matters, are well taken care of.

Barry: With that assurance, I will follow your guidance and thank you very much.

Could you please take me to the lady next to this gentleman?

Les: Certainly.

My child, there is a bond of power between you and the gentleman. I ask whether you would be happy to work with him in spirit?

Joyce: Yes I would.

This meeting of spirits has taken some time to occur and we know that it is right and proper, but would do nothing, without your permission.

Joyce: Yes, I'm happy to give permission.

Can I say to you, the light that exudes from this room, is soon to be a hundred times more bright and will light the pathways of all who enter here. This is a special time and one I am privileged to be a part of as a messenger of the spiritual light and love.

Joyce: Thank you.

You will feel at first no outward change of power, but in time the differences will become apparent and you will know when you are working in conjunction with our gentleman friend. You are an old hand at this, we know. You have been assisting us over your years, with an open heart and we know we have chosen correctly, in asking you to do this. Peace, tranquillity and the spirit of Love go with you.

Joyce: Thank you very much.

And you my dear one, are you happy to agree for us to use your home, to bring much-needed spiritual guidance to others?

Les: Not only happy, but extremely happy that you would do it, we all are. And we thank you for deciding to do it here.

The work that we wish to do will become more apparent, as your weeks pass. We will instruct you, as to the progress being made and give examples of what is happening and to whom. The Master will speak at length sometimes and will instruct each one here, concerning what is happening in this room.

Les: Thank you very much indeed and we're very pleased to know it's going to be so much more powerful for everybody, not only in this room, but to be projected outside of this room.

This little lady will be used, as I believe has been said to you recently, in a deeper and more complex manner.

Les: Yes it has been said, and we shall be very happy to help her in any way we can.

And let me say, with the new power in your room, in the new gentleman and our dear lady, will be of importance to her progression.

Les: Good, that'll be very pleasant for both of them and for us to see it.

I ask please, that until we instruct you otherwise, from now on, could your light in the room, be a little lower, at each of your meetings?

Les: Yes of course.

We do not ask for total darkness, but I slightly dimmer light, would be of benefit.

Les: Yes I shall see to that.

I would like to take this last opportunity this time, to thank you, to thank you for giving yourselves to the power of light and the spirit of love. There is much to be done and with your help, we can now begin a new course.

Les: Good, yes we were told it would be happening and we're very, very pleased to be a part of it, all of us, thank you my friend.

I give to each one here, a token of our love, in the form of a glowing orb, the colour of their spirit, which has been told to them. These colours are to be of importance in the weeks to come. So I ask that they focus their minds, in quiet times, upon their spirit colour given and it will assist us, to open the channels more thoroughly. May I ask before I go, is each one here aware of their colour?

Les: Yes they will be so, if not, we can refresh their memory on that. I was going to ask each one of them that question.

That is good. And now I leave you for this time, but will return to speak again, at a later date.

Les: Thank you very much. We look forward to that, God be with you.

Please bring little lady back slowly.

Salumet then followed:

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

Les: Thank you again for being with us.

Although there has been absence of words, I have been with you.

Les: Yes I'm sure you have, thank you.

I would like to thank my forerunner who imparted to you, words of much need, in order that we can go forward.

Les: Good. Yes we certainly look forward to it.

I have been working well this time, with this instrument. I am happy to tell you, that I now have full control of the body and now we seek to master the stillness of her mind.

Les: Good, very, very pleased to hear that and I'm sure she will be.

She will be aware this time, of some difference at the beginning of our union. But dear friends, let me say this to you: Thank you once more for your love, your dedication and your great patience in what we are attempting to do here. Each one of you is important; I don't want any of you to doubt that for one second. Each one of you is used, for the purpose for which I come. (Pause) I do not intend to say much this time, but if you have questions, I will answer one.

Les: I do, but it's rather complex, I think it might be better if I left it for another meeting. It has a great bearing on what you teach us, but it's a complicated question.

So, let us ask next time, if you are agreeable, because much energy has been expended this time; all unseen by you, but dear friends, let me assure you, that your help has been much this time.

Les: Well, we are all looking forward to a brilliant future, as we would say in this world.

I would say too that your future is ever-bright, do not doubt this. But I understand that you mean brighter whilst on this Earth and of course you are right. (Thank you.) I would say only these words to you this time, because I know some pose the question: Why do we constantly seek your assurance and your permission, for things that we request of you? Because dear friends, we need to have your replies in order to continue our work, in the knowledge that each one of you, continues, continues to follow our ways, because all too often many peoples leave this work. So by constantly reaffirming your approval, we know that the work can continue unbroken. Do you understand?

Les: I do understand and I think I might say in all sincerity, I don't think I could get rid of any one of them, even if I wanted to. (Laughter)

I think I too can say in all sincerity, that I too would be loath to let them go.

Les: I think there's no fear of that at all.

So dear friends for this time I leave you, I leave you saying only this: Your patience will pay you in a manner which you cannot appreciate at this time; but what is to come, will repay you all a thousand fold. Each minute that you give to us, will be repaid in kind. (Power + voice fading)

May each one of you, be enfolded within the Love and Light of all that is Creative, throughout our worlds. May each one of you know that you are beacons of Love and Light.

(Thanks + farewells)

There then followed a merry pair through Sue and Eileen simultaneously, to help bring them back and lighten the energies. (Roger 'the dodger' + Prissy 'knickers') Priscilla reaffirmed before leaving, that this had been an important meeting.

~12th May 1997~

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

My friend, I hope you have been aware of my presence with you.

Les: Yes indeed and thank you for the healing you have given me. I've spoken to you many times.

Fear not friend, it is but a hiccup, that must be expected in many years of your life.

Les: Yes that's quite true. But I'm fortunate that I do know I receive help from you all. It's a great blessing.

Now let me say that this meeting time, there is much power with us this time and so we must use what is available to us. So I will take your question please and then I will tell you what we will try to do this time.

There was then a brief chat about light levels in the room and music, before Les asked his question:

Les: It's rather complicated, so I'll make it as simple as I can. You brought to us once a lady, who had had a particularly unpleasant death. She spoke to us for some time, in order to clear her memory of the traumatic conditions she had suffered, which came back to her, when she came into our 'memory barrier,' if I can put it that way. (Yes) During the conversation, she said that that person, referring to the one whom she had been in the 1500's, when she had this unpleasant death, that person had returned in another form. It puzzled me that if she had returned in another form, she hadn't been able to clear her mind of the trauma, when she had returned at that time. Or was it that the facilities were not then available, as they are now, for that to be done?

No my friend, your thinking is just a little misguided. Let me say this to you: Remember there are many aspects to the soul, that there are many parts to the whole. When one aspect returns, it brings with it those memories closest to the time of existence, which it brings with it. It does not mean that the soul has not 'cleared,' as you put it, those conditions, but only that returning to this dimensional time, that these memories come forth to the fore. So although the lady at the time said to you that she had returned, of course it was another aspect of the whole, of which she spoke.

Les: I wondered if it might be that, and my thinking was along the wrong lines. I was thinking in a physical sense again, of one being.

Yes, you have to dear friend, think of yourselves as more than one; if you are truly to understand yourselves, you have to know that like Time, you are many dimensions.

Les: This is difficult for us to understand.

You will never fully I do not think, but if I can help to clarify these things for you, then of course I will do so.

Les: Yes thank you, you have clarified it and again, I think it's one of those subjects which we have to accept, even though we don't understand.

Dear friend, you have to know that memory cannot be erased, it belongs to the same vibration of each lifetime and therefore is part of the whole. It is not erased, but it is shall we say, put into the correct slot of time. Do you understand?

Les: Well as I say, we accept it—I can't admit that we understand. I appreciate your question and how you put it, we can only think on it and try to let our minds accept the fact that it is so.

I cannot ask more of you and I know you will ponder it and at a future time, return with a new request for knowledge.

Les: One supplementary question I would like to ask, do those parts in any way interfere with each other in any way, during their existence?

They should not, but there are occasions when this can happen, but that is another topic for another time.

Les: Right, well thank you very much for your answer.

Are you happy with that?

Les: No! (Laughter) But I do accept that under these conditions, that that's the best possible answer you can give me and therefore yes I am happy with it.

I am pleased to hear your laughter, because it indicates to me, that you are not too serious about these deep-thinking matters. You must keep your sense of humour, when you ponder these things, otherwise dear friends, you can become too confused and then you do not understand at all.

Les: Yes I would follow that because I think it could become an obsession.

Yes, so think lightly when you think deeply, do you understand?

Les: Yes we do and thank you for the advice.

Now, for this time if you will allow, I will stop speech and tell you what we will try to achieve this time.

Les: Thank you very much.

I hope that some of you at least, will feel that the energy within this room has manifested this time, to a much greater degree, before the end of your meeting. Whilst we continue with speech, I would wish to sit quietly and try to project to you, something which I hope will be visible to your physical eyes. Do not try too hard to look and see, but allow yourselves to be lifted if you can, to that higher sense of knowledge and seeing, and we shall see at the end, what you have managed. I will try to help you all, as will those who stand close by you. And now dear friends, I will stop speaking now.

Les: Thank you very, very much. Our love goes with you, in case you don't speak to us again tonight. We'll see who's with the other lady—one of your colleagues I believe.

Good evening to you, thank you for joining us.

One then began through Sue:

I wish you good evening.

Les: And greetings to you from us all.

I will not speak to you too loudly, because I do not wish to interfere with the vibrations in the room, but with your permission, I would like to continue from where we stopped last time, when another was here with this one.

Les: Yes please do.

I would like to continue with the teaching of our new and most revered friend. Whilst I am engaged in this, I would ask you to please take your ease and sit. We do not wish you to tire yourself.

Les: Yes I will and as you probably know your instrument's voice is being recorded, so we can listen to it quite effectively later on.

I would ask please for a little assistance in standing, and then I will ask you also to assist me to the seat, so that the lady suffers little or no discomfort.

Les: Yes of course.

I would like to stand before the gentleman please. You hear me sufficiently my son?

Barry: I can.

During the days that you have been away from this room, we have been to you in your sleep state. We are much pleased with the progress made and although you are probably at this time unaware, your responses to our questions have been most pleasing. We are attempting to bring to you in sleep, the pages of a book; a book of learning. At this time you will be unaware of reading the words written, but I say to you, they will be taken into your spiritual mind, where they will be stored and will be of great benefit, to the work you will be shortly undertaking in this room. Now that we have told you that we are visiting you in your subconscious, are you still happy for us to do that?

Barry: I am—I have found more peace just recently, within my mind.

We are well pleased. I would ask of you one thing, before you retire at night times. Please to look through your eyelids as they are closed, and concentrate on the colour of your spirit, which you have been given. Try to imagine it as a pinprick of light, the colour of your spirit and let it gradually expand before you, until it fills your vision. When you feel it can no longer enlarge itself, allow it to slowly shrink back, until it becomes a pinprick once more. Whilst this is occurring, you should find that your mind clears and opens the doorway for us to enter, as you take your repose. Do not force anything. If you feel you cannot see your colour, worry not, it will be taken care of. But it will be of great benefit to both your physical and your mental and spiritual self. We have great things in store for you my child and know that you will help us greatly, to achieve these things. Do you have anything you wish to ask?

Barry: No not at this stage. I will follow your instructions and just simply await guidance and thank you for placing this trust in me.

My son, we thank you for opening yourself and allowing us to use you, in a manner, which will be of benefit to so many. Please to place your hands upon the top of the lady's. Now sit quietly and concentrate on the rose of the colour of your spirit and see if you can see it grow, into a larger and more magnificent bush. Place your hands in your lap, feel the power coming up through your feet and upwards, until it wraps itself around you, like a golden cloak. Peace be with you my child. We will visit you and speak with you and read the written words with you. And then your work will really begin.

Barry: Thank you.

There will be no more speech this time. We will remain here and see what occurs.

Les: Right, thank you very much. God be with you and our love goes with you also.

(The physical phenomenon mentioned earlier, was not successful on this occasion.)

~19th May 1997~

No Salumet this time, but another very powerful one came through Eileen:

I have been instructed to tell you this time that the one who normally comes, will not this time.

Les: I see, thank you.

I ask that all of you be open to the energies surrounding you. I have been instructed to tell you, that you my friend, the leader of this group, (Yes) would you please go around the group, place your hand upon each person's shoulder and allow them to feel the positive response to the energies available. There will be speech from one colleague, using the lady who sits here, but it will be short, because the energies being used this time are most important in our further work. Are you happy to continue in this vein this time?

Les: Of course, yes. Would you like me to start the work now?

Yes, if you would leave the communicator who will speak to last, it will give the power a chance to build. I ask only that each one here open their hearts, open their minds, open all to the Love energy surrounding each one. I am told that the one who normally comes to you, is in part with each one of you this time. And we do hope that we have positive responses from you all.

Les: Thank you. It'll be interesting to know what my colleagues feel.

I ask them not to fear, but to open themselves to love. In this way, there can be no harm come to them.

Les: Of course not.

We know that, but it is good to reiterate it from time to time.

Les: Oh we appreciate that you do. (Yes) Thank you for the instructions, I'm going to start work now. (Leslie began as instructed, which seemed to last most of the evening, until at the end, the one through him announced: 'It is done master.') Then the one through Eileen continued:

We thank you, now we will see the results of this time.

There was then a 10 minute interval, before another came through Sue:

We are completed, we are happy with results this time.

Les: Good, we're glad to know that.

We were concerned because there are people, who should be here this time, but this time my friends managed to achieve what was set out.

Les: That's very encouraging. Thank you for telling us.

We leave you now, to close as you normally do, but before you do your closing words, please to speak to each one here and ascertain that they are returned to this room.

Les: Yes of course I will.

Next time, we hope to bring to you someone who will be of interest and who will be working closely in this room, with the new partnership of energy. Do you understand my meaning here?

Les: Yes I do, we look forward to next week.

I now leave you with my blessings and say to you, much has been achieved and much more is going to be achieved here. This will be a seat of much learning and infinite power and wisdom.

Les: Thank you, I'm very, very happy to hear that.

This little one here, our dear friend, we are aware and will do what we can.

Les: Yes I'm sure you will, she will be very pleased to know that. (Thanks expressed)

Les then went round each sitter and we recounted our feelings. He said his hands were absolutely boiling as he placed them on our shoulders. There were various feelings of peace, oneness, being a part of something bigger, sensations around the head. Sue spoke of seeing energy being 'knitted' together. She also mentioned that there was something missing. She compared the energy to skeins of wool, coming together as a pattern, being knitted together, becoming a great big blanket here. All the skeins were being pulled in and knitted together.

This seemed to trigger another through Eileen:

Would you mind if I finish off the evening for you all? (General enthusiasm) I want to speak to the wee lamb. She's quite right when she speaks about the wool knitting together. The bit that's missing will come when it's all finished. Right, we're very pleased with all of you here, a grand bunch of people and that's all I've come to say to you. (Thanks expressed) So if you'd like to close the evening, I'll bid you all goodnight. (Thanks + farewells)

~26th May 1997~

No Salumet this time, but there were other communications, the first of which came through Sue:

May I speak?

Les: Good evening to you and welcome.

Before we speak to you this time, may I please ask of you two things? Please at your further meetings here, could we ask you please to no longer have the music used, if you would be so kind?

Les: Yes by all means, we haven't done the last time. But we will do without it each meeting now.

We will naturally advise you, if we wish you to restart with it.

Les: Yes of course, thank you.

And secondly, we would ask of you please, that the meetings here on this particular night, with the exception of your dear little one who has been absent for some time (Jo), with the exception only of her, we would ask you please, that until we advise you otherwise, we would ask that no others are to be included for the present.

Les: I quite understand.

I apologise if you feel we are taking a liberty in asking this, but it is of importance that the continuity that we have here now and the continuity that we have been waiting for, for so long, is not broken.

Les: Yes I do understand and it's not a liberty, I had come to that decision myself today actually, that nobody else would be invited or permitted to come, until we had permission from you.

In which case we are pleased that our thoughts were open to you and it has not come as a surprise, or a problem to you.

Les: No, it was quite a definite feeling I had this afternoon, with the exception of the little one, nobody else will be involved. So we're all in agreement on that.

She will return and will become part of the chain of 5. I say no more than that at this time, but there is an inter-linking chain of 5, which will be of great importance here. But please let me assure all our dear friends in the room that the part they will play, will also be of immense importance.

Les: Yes that I do understand too.

And now with your permission, I will leave this one and allow for one more to come, who wishes to speak to you this time. I thank you once more, for your understanding in the matters of which we have spoken and assure you that both requests are for a purpose and not lightly asked.

Les: Yes I do understand. You don't mess about, as we would say. There is always a reason for these things that I do know.

The next communicator followed—again through Sue:

I bring you greetings from our realms.

Les: And greetings to you, from all of us here.

Due to the absence of the one who normally occupies this space, we will not commence the work we anticipated starting, until she returns and 4 of the 5 are present. But if you are willing this time, I would like to take you on a path, which I hope will be of interest and give food for thought, at times when you are all away from here.

Les: Yes please do.

We were then taken on the following meditative journey:

Please to imagine that you are standing at the foot of a wide and brightly lit staircase. Remove any footwear you are wearing and be prepared to walk about these stairs. Step lightly upon the first stair and feel the energy creep through your body. Breathe deeply and prepare to ascend. As you walk up, look to the side, to the right-hand side. Look over the stairwell, there are young children stood watching you. In their hands, they are holding a silver chord, which links them together. See how they smile at you and wish you well, on your journey upwards. Look ahead of you, you are reaching the top of this magnificent staircase. In front of you, are doorways, with golden handles and a shimmering light around their frame. There is a doorway for each one of you. One at a time, I would like you please, to put out your hands and touch the handle of the door and enter it. In front of you, you will see a volume bound in the softest and most perfect Swede, emblazoned on the front cover, you will see your names. Reach out and carefully lay your hand upon the softness of the skin. Feel the energy within and know that inside, is all of your lives, before and after this moment. Reach out and slowly lift the cover, it will automatically open at a page significant to your lives at this moment. Some of you will be able to read what is inscribed upon the velum. Others of you will see nothing, but do not be disappointed or concerned, it is only that your psychic eye, is not yet developed enough to see the written word. Fear not, that which you cannot read, will be instilled upon your mind and it will be as if in sleep, you are reading the written word. From this page, you will get an insight into what is to come to you, in the future. Some of it will possibly not come as any surprise to you, but some will bring you great joy and amazement. In the corners of the page, you should see a magnificent illumination, of a rose. The colour which you should see will be that of your Spirit, the colour which now is well known to you. Watch carefully and you should see the 4 corner roses, expand and grow, until they are one large and truly magnificent bloom. Reach down and bury your face in its velvety and most wonderful petals. Take in the aroma, let it flow through you, as your blood surely flows through your veins at this time. Step back from the book, taking one last look at what is written for you, and know the truth and your lives to come. Gently return the book to its closed state and look and see how much brighter your name upon the front has become. See how the light from it, illuminates the room you find yourself in. See how the light from your name, joins and dances with the light from the window, which is immediately on your right-hand side. Turn and look through the window and you will see a silver pathway that was shown to you previously. Look, look to the end. What do you see? What you see is what you will be and what you will become. Fear not if all you see is a pathway with no end and nothing in sight. As with the written word, your psychic eye is undeveloped, you will be given an insight into what you should have seen, not necessarily in picture form, but it will be impressed upon you, so that at some very near stage, you can say, 'Ah yes, now I know what I should have seen, and what I should have read.' For those of you that can see your pathway and see what is at the end of it, I say to you that is where your future lies and that is the way you must turn your footsteps and walk towards what you know to be right. Your minds may query, you may feel the information you have been given is wrong, but let me assure you and I say this in the strongest terms possible, what you see, what will be impresses upon you, is right. Now, turn from the window and look again, at the table before you. The book is no longer there, but in its place, is a scroll tied with the softest and most gentle material. You will see it is once again, in the colour of your Spirit. Reach out and pick up this vellum. It is yours to keep in mind and Spirit, through all eternity. What is written on the page, will be with you throughout all your life and into each plane of existence. You will take the written word with you. Guard it well, for it is your future. Now go towards the door, reach out your hand to the golden handle and open it and see before you, that most magnificent staircase, from which you have come. Slowly walk down the treads, taking care to step firmly upon each step of your pathway. Look this time to your left and once again you will see the children. See how they are smiling at you. They know where you have been and what you have been privileged to see and they are most happy for you. At the bottom of the stairs turn to face these children. Hold out your scroll and let them bind it with the chord, which is in each of their hands. And now bid them farewell, for your journey has come to a close, for this time. Replace any footwear you may have had, and I bid you farewell for this time.

Les: Thank you very much for what you have told us. We shall certainly memorise it to the best of our abilities. We say farewell to you and God bless you.

~2nd June 1997~

Good evening.

Les: Good evening to you. I apologise if I caused you any inconvenience.

Let me say my dear friend, thank you for your consideration, but let me say this to you: As we always are with you previously, we would be prepared for any unsuspecting light, so do not be too concerned if it be momentary. The problem arises with those who come to you, who are not fully prepared.

Les: I see, that's interesting to know, thank you for telling us.

So, thank you again for your consideration to us. Now I would say to you all: Again thank you for the love which I feel from you all. We are making much progress; I wish you to know this. I want you to know and understand that your thoughts and patience are being rewarded, if only but slowly in your time. But as I have said to you previously, TIME to us in our world is immaterial. But I say to you, we move forward quickly, in what we are trying to achieve.

Les: Good, it's certainly encouraging to us to know that.

This time my friend, if you will permit, I ask that we deviate a little from what we normally do. I know we do not have full attendance this time, but I would ask that each one of you speak with me, in order not that 'I' know, but those who join me, know how you feel and how you have grown spiritually since first I came to you.

Les: It's very pleasing to us to know that.

Are you my friends, prepared to individually speak openly to us? (Enthusiastic agreement) I want you to tell us how you think you have grown. Can we begin with the gentleman please?

Les: With me? (Yes) Yes, certainly. It is difficult to say. I know I have grown, there's no question about that, but it is difficult to state exactly how I know it. It is an awareness of something beyond me—the only word

I can use is 'permeating' myself as an individual. And I find that I have a greater sense of understanding of what is to come, a greater feeling of compassion and a greater desire to grow still more, in the way in which it is desired that I shall grow.

In other words dear friend, you are coming to know your true self and all aspects of that self. (Yes) Although your knowledge on this subject was to most people, what you would say 'extensive,' was in fact only touching the beginning of knowledge. And yes dear friend, you have grown much and you'll grow much, much more. We are happy for your awareness.

Les: Thank you very much. I look forward to the continued growth, because I feel—we haven't the language for it actually, it is an 'awareness', but I feel a tremendous awareness of the spirituality of those around me.

My dear friend, you are tuning in to the cosmic consciousness. That is why the awareness has grown.

Les: Good, it's been worth all the time, to have that feeling.

Now may we speak to the next one please?

Les: Sue?

Not that one yet. (Sue was deep in trance)

Les: Barry?

Barry: Good evening and thank you for the opportunity to speak to you.

We are happy to do so my son.

Barry: I have recently been aware that my inner eye has been opened to look within myself. And by doing this, I feel I'm finding much more peace within myself and I'm also aware of the probability of being able to work with you in the field of healing; for this I am very grateful. I know I've only just begun to be aware what is maybe to come. I am indeed grateful at last that I've been able to recognise this and to work with you. Thank you very much.

Yes, we thank you dear friend. We have waited for you and now that the time has come, we hope that that awareness goes deeper, that you find the knowledge which is innate within you. Thank you.

Barry: Thank you very much.

Les: Lilian?

Lilian: I'd like to say thank you for the teachings that you've brought with you. Yes, I am much more spiritually aware.

My dear child, we would like to know what you feel, what awareness has come to you. We know and accept your thanks; we feel it from all of you. But how do you feel that you have grown spiritually? What have you accomplished since our first meeting?

Lilian: It's very difficult to put into words.

But for your own growth, it would help if you could.

Lilian: I'm just very much more aware of Spirit, of things to come, forgetting about the physical side of life—or trying to.

That is what we wished to hear from you. We are pleased my friend, that at last you can acknowledge that fact, that you have found your spiritual level and that you can put aside the physical being so to say. (Yes) Thank you.

Les: George?

George: Good evening and my heartfelt thanks. Yes I do find it difficult to describe my feelings. I feel a greater capacity to love. In a strange way I feel larger than my physical body, I hear more beauty in bird sound, I see more colour/beauty about me. I'm sure I'm more loving and I feel more open.

Yes. Are those words that you have spoken, are they not, I believe you would say, 'magical' to your ears? To acknowledge that you feel greater than the physical being, that truly is finding yourself. And yes my dear friend, continue to feel and to love and to give love and you will continue on the correct spiritual pathway. Thank you.

George: Thank you.

Les: Sarah?

Sarah: Yes good evening. I feel I have grown, I don't feel I have grown as much as perhaps I could have done, if I'd put more time into it. I don't think I meditate long enough, however I do feel I'm much more tolerant of everything around me and when I find myself not being tolerant, I'm very aware that I should be perhaps doing better than I am doing. I do feel I appreciate everything around me, everything that I've been given, everything that I'm able to see and do.

Yes dear child, you are beginning to open yourself to the influences around you. You are inquisitive by nature, which at times may hold you back shall we say, but you are following your pathway, do not doubt it. You will take sure steps, whilst you continue within this working group. I wish to tell you that those close to you, although you feel your progress is slow, they want you to know that they are pleased and happy with you. Thank you.

Sarah: Thank you very much.

Les: Paul?

Paul: Hello. Yes I think I've become stronger as we've gone along and I've become more appreciative of myself and my qualities and those of people around me as well. It's all linked, so I can see more/empathise with people and I can detach myself from the world a bit more. I feel a lot happier about my path and where I'm going.

Yes, my dear friend, you have stumbled a few times, but in coming to know yourself, then of course you begin to know all others. You will continue to grow, you have been told that all of you here, have been put together for a purpose and although each individual here is at separate stages of their spiritual development, each one is important to the other. So my son be pleased with your progress. (Thank you.) You have the beauty of patience, which is sorely lacking in your World. But you dear friend, have an abundance of it. (Thank you.)

Les: Mark?

Mark: Good evening. Your teaching has certainly helped me to become really aware that a lot of growth and a lot more growth is necessary. I'm more aware of my feelings when they do go out of balance. I'm more aware of the workings of my mind—the bad/negative workings of it and I think I'm more aware of the need to sort of relax from things and also I think it's helped me meeting different kinds of people. I think I'm more aware of what avenues are open when talking to people.

Yes you are, my friend. You too are taking your pathway at a steady pace, but that is not a fault, because each step you take, is a sound and sure step, which will take you forward in your development and I would say to you, that it is good to hear you use the word of love, because that alone will bring you forward in your spiritual growth. I thank you for your words dear friend.

Now I would like to say to you this time, that you probably wonder why we needed to hear those words from your hearts. I of course know what is within you all, but this exercise this time, was for the benefit of those who stand close to you in your daily lives; those people who offer you help and understanding, who lift you, who cherish you, who wait one day to welcome you home. For those people, this talking time has done much for them as well as for your selves. For that I thank you all dear friends.

Les: Before you finish, if I might add one more phrase nobody has used, which I think is very pertinent to what has been said this evening and I believe we all would acknowledge that we have within ourselves a far greater assurance of ourselves and of what we shall be.

And dear friend, what you ARE! You are coming to know, each one of you, what you truly are. You all are spiritual beings, who in this lifetime have gathered for much good. The awareness is coming to you all—you are learning the power of your thoughts, the power of your love and what we can achieve. My blessing dear friends, stays with each one of you. There is much to come, there is much knowledge ahead of you and there will be times when there will be light release. But remember that the ultimate aim is for you all to grow and for knowledge and teaching to come to you all, that you may be emissaries of the Truth, that to all peoples that you meet who have no knowledge, may you become their beacon of light, may you become the person that they find to utter their words of fear, unhappiness—May you, each one of you, be channels of Love that the peoples of this Earth seek you out, for the knowledge and the Truth, which you have attained here.

Dear friends, I leave you this time. I am happy with the words that have been uttered, I enfold you in my love and know that each day of your existence you will be protected.

Now dear friend, I will allow another to speak with you this time. I ask only that the instruments being used, be given the quietness of your time, when this meeting is finally ended.

Les: Certainly. Thank you very, very much for being with us and for what you have said tonight and for the encouragement you have given. God be with you.

There then followed one through Sue:

(Welcomes)

Little lady is not quite as large as myself and I need to be careful not to cause distress.

Les: Yes I do understand the difficulty you have in these cases. But it should become a little easier as you remain with the instrument.

I have been privileged in the past, to use both yourself and your dear lady who is now on our side.

Les: Is that so? Well we welcome you as an old friend. And thank you for telling us. Give me your hands, I believe I have to give you power, to make it easier for you to stay with the lady.

(Les then holds Sue's hands)

Thank you for that.

Les: Makes it a little easier for you.

Before I continue, I wish to say that this little lady was not omitted from previous conversations you have just had, her responses were done mentally and mentally we have replied. I know she will not be offended if I tell you that we have had to chastise her for her belief at what she knows to be correct.

Les: Mm yes, (Chuckle) we have experienced that before.

Her growth has come through being more aware of the inner voice and has been told certain aspects of her life, but her physical mind, which naturally overrides the spiritual, sometimes sends out negative responses— 'This cannot be. How can this be? Show me, give me more evidence.'

But we have told her, as you would say in the physical language, we have told her in no uncertain terms, that what she has been shown on our side can only be correct.

Les: Yes I understand.

So we leave it with her to sort out.

Les: Yes, I'm sure she will.

With your kind permission, I would speak to each one, but cannot this time move around the room. I ask a boon of you, that your friends could come and stand before me.

Les: Yes certainly. I think you are strong enough now to stay without that. (Les removes hands)

I thank you for the energy which flows through this one.

Les: I shall still be with you quietly. Barry, would you like to start?

Can you kneel before me my son. At your last meeting you were given the opportunity to look into your book of life, am I correct? (Yes) Tell me was the page before you blank? (Yes) Here my friend we have another one who does not believe what they have been given. I do not dispute that your page was not visible to you. But answer me truthfully my son, in recent times, have you not been told a little of your future footsteps.

Barry: I have been told yes.

Then I say to you, your page is not blank. What you have been told, is what is written. When you have developed, you will be able to read the words; they will become clear in your mind. This, my son is in no way any kind of reprimand to you, it is just another link in the chain of evidence, which you all require.

Les: Thank you. Lilian?

You are not alone this time my child. There is one standing at your shoulder, looking down upon you and sending out more love than you could imagine. I ask of you the same question, was your page blank, or were you aware of something written upon its surface?

Lilian: No I wasn't aware of anything on the page.

I say to you, look to the children in your family. Listen to what they have to say to you and you will be able to recognise something that will become visible to you, when you open your mind and accept what is written is true. I say to you once again, look to the children. (Thank you.)

Les: George.

And you my son are you aware of the presence of the two that we have spoken about before?

George: I have opened myself, or attempted to open myself to the two writers and any others of the guild. There have been times when I have attempted this, perhaps there was a feeling there—I'm not really certain.

You doubt too much.

George: I didn't feel it to be doubt, but—

What you consider doubt in the physical and what we know to be doubt in the spiritual, are not the same. Now I ask of you, is your page empty also?

George: There were many words on the page. I somehow could not grasp what the words were saying—certainly words were there, but I could not grasp any meaning.

Good. Now consider you use the word 'words'. (Yes) Change that in your vocabulary to 'writings,' and I think you will comprehend what it is I have been meaning. 'Writing' my son, writings on the page, writers—continue to open your channel and those who are with you constantly, can enter in and begin their work.

George: Yes thank you. I will certainly continue.

Les: Sarah.

I know you will forgive me and not take any offence when I say you are hurry, hurry, hurry, yes?

Sarah: Yes.

It will come—everything comes to those who wait. We ask you not to run before you can walk. Are you aware of that saying?

Sarah: I am yes.

Please do not consider this to be detrimental to you. We only say these things to all of you, for the good of your Spirit and the development of your soul. I ask also of you my friend, was your page visible to you? Was there anything there that you could comprehend?

Sarah: No I had a lot of difficulty that night. I didn't even see the book. So I think I had doubts about various things that evening and I rushed too much and I didn't get any feeling at all.

Do not be concerned. It was said to you that if your spiritual eye was not sufficiently developed, then what was written would at some time be given to you, whilst you were in repose and you would begin to understand what your life was to consist of. But I say to you, take time to open your channels, listen to the inner voice and you will be given the start of your journey. (Thank you.)

Les: Paul.

Paul: Hello.

Yes, this one can only be described as the opposite of our dear lady friend, who has just departed. You my son, do not hurry, hurry, hurry, do you? (No) No, you take everything at a leisurely pace and I do not mean by that that you are in any way lazy. Mentally you dissect everything; question and query and reach your own conclusions do you not?

Paul: Yes, I seem to be able to detach more from things and find my own answers.

You have been given some answers to questions that you have mentally asked your guides and I say to you, that like our little lady here, you have said 'No—how can that be?'—have you not?

Paul: Um—

No matter, you will remember of what I speak. Again, this is no criticism this is an exercise in knowing that we know you. (Ah.) Tell me my son, was your page illuminated for you, or were there dark patches you could not decipher?

Paul: I couldn't decipher it. I got a bit lost at the beginning.

Everyone at some stage leaves the path. Sometimes it is more difficult to steer them back. You my son are treading purposely on the right path. I say to you, continue in the vein that you are now and the pages will become bright and you will know how your future will continue.

Paul: That's wonderful to know.

Les: Mark.

I say to you brother of your brother and son of your father, your pathways are linked in the past and in the future. You are individual, but you are also as one. Your enquiring mind may not be quite so open as your brother, but the similarities are there. I say to you as I have said to all the others, were you able to read anything in your book of life?

Mark: No I wasn't able to read anything.

You sound disappointed my son.

Mark: Well, it would be nice to read it.

Can I say to you, open yourself more, look around you both at work and at rest, see what surrounds you, listen to the inner voice that at present you are blocking somewhat and future events will unfold and you will surely be amazed. (Thank you.)

I hope that all your friends here do not consider my words to be harsh. But we want them all to start accepting. Questions and queries these are part of life and we do not ask that they stop their questions.

Les: No they certainly won't do that I can assure you.

But it is possible to block the truth if the mind continually fails to accept.

Les: Yes one has to accept I agree. Well thank you very, very much for all you've said and we shall all assert that assurance that I spoke about.

Before I leave you, we have four this time I ask that they be linked by the placing of hand upon hand. Please may I ask that you carefully pick up the right hand of our dear lady here and place it upon this one. And now the gentleman to place his hand and the lady to place her hand upon that of the gentleman, so there are four linked. Four of the chain of five, we are well pleased. And now I leave this one. She will need help from both the gentleman and the lady to return fully into this room.

Les: Yes we shall see to it, thank you very much.

Please to remove the lady's hand.

There then followed a merry/light-hearted one through Eileen called Joey, who helped to lighten the atmosphere and gave the quick message: You don't have to be little angels, you've just got to be yourself and live your life like normal...

~16th June 1997~

No Salumet this week as Eileen was away, but there were other communications of interest, the first of which came through Les:

Good evening my friends.

All: Good evening.

This is a little unusual I know, but since our lady is not with us, we have of course to plan differently for work this time. The work will be done—we do not miss any opportunity as you know.

George: Yes.

And we would ask the two gentlemen of more years, they too I know will understand me, not the young man, but the two gentlemen with more years, to make sure please that they open their minds this time, to receive what we are able to give them. Can you understand my two friends?

George + Barry: Yes.

We do not promise, we only hope, but we shall do what we can to help your development, if you would do what is required of you, to keep open minds, is that clear?

George + Barry: Yes thank you.

God be with you my children.

(Thanks expressed)

Les Then returned to talk with another communication through Sue, who gave the name Piahdah, giving advice for Barry concerning his healing work.
There then followed a rescue through Sarah. Another through Sue then asked Barry for any feelings/thoughts that he had, whilst healing, giving further advice for Barry. Thanks were given from both sides. We were told that they were most pleased with what had been achieved this evening.

~23rd June 1997~

Firstly one speaks through Eileen with something like a cheerful/warm Jamaican accent—Salumet follows later:

Good evening everybody.

(Welcomes)

I hope you don't be upset at me coming to you. I know you were expecting somebody else.

Les: We were but we are quite happy to welcome you.

But I come to open this meeting for you this time.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. You've done this work before haven't you?

I have but I've been practising the language. I hope I'm being understood.

Les: You are being understood very clearly thank you.

I have to say to you this: This time there is communication with this group. There are so many around you at this time; I hope you are feeling them.

Les: Good, well we probably are, we are 'aware' of them yes.

I have to tell you that each one of you must open your hearts like a child, in order that you may be receptive to the thoughts that will be coming to you. Is this being understood?

Les: It is being understood, yes.

You understand I only pass on the message, I do not fully understand what I am telling you.

Les: Well what it means is we mustn't wonder what is happening or think about it, we must just accept what happens.

Yes I'm being told each one of you must open up; there is a child by each one of you.

Les: That's right.

You know? Yes, let them in and you will become receptive as they are. I am most happy to be amongst you.

Les: That's nice to hear. We're always happy to have anybody from your World, particularly when they are assisting in the work, as you are now.

Of course it is most important, of course, but I am always happy to step in when most needed, yes.

Les: You must have been practising our language for quite a time?

I have, I cannot tell you how long—it is most difficult. But as long as I'm being understood, I am happy.

Les: You certainly are and you've a very good vocabulary, if I may say so.

I'm told I try to sing the words instead of saying them, but that will come no doubt.

Les: No I wouldn't agree with that, you say them very clearly. You have a nice intonation with them your voice goes up and down, which is pleasing.

Oh I am pleased you are pleased, yes. Now I think we must speak about the work in hand this time. Yes, before we move on, we wish to tell this lady I am using, (Eileen) that she must ask for help also. She is rather inclined to refrain from asking for herself.

Les: Yes she gives so much to others, doesn't she?

Can you please pass this on to her?

Les: I certainly will and I shall be happy to do it.

Thank you. There, that has been done now what else am I needed to do? There is of course other communicators, who will speak to you further—

Les: But you're certainly doing a very good job of opening the meeting.

Has your hand been painful?

Les: Not really, a bit stiff, but not painful.

Yes, you must be careful, don't overdo it somebody's telling me.

Les: I won't. I was using some garden sheers and I'm not used to it.

Ah well, it's a good excuse isn't it, not to use them. (Chuckle)

Les: That's right! Thank you, I'll use that as an excuse.

Yes, someone's a bit concerned that you don't overdo things. Yes, this is a happy group, is it not?

Les: Well we think so. We're all very happy together.

And I'm also being informed that at the next meeting there will be the interest of the group as you were in time gone. Does it make sense to you?

Les: Yes, we were told we would be given information on what we were in previous lives.

Oh well I'm being told next time will be the time.

Les: Splendid, we must make sure we're all here.

Now dear sir, I think I have completed my task.

Les: Well thank you very much from all of us and we shall always be happy to hear you again, if ever you can come.

I would be most pleased to return to you all. Remember always be as searching children.

Salumet then followed:

Good evening friends.

(Welcomes)

Before we continue with the work, have you been aware of a great lightness of spirit this week?

Les: I have has anybody else?

Mark: Yes I've certainly felt lighter than normal.

Margaret: More contented.

We are pleased to hear that; that has been the preparation for this evening's work. Those who have felt this lightening of spirit should this evening be amenable to thoughts that will be coming to them. Have the others not been aware please?

Sarah: I have been happy this week yes.

Yes of course, that is a lightness of spirit. What is happiness if it is not an expression of love?

Les: Yes it is. Now I'm very fortunate in that I live here and I know I have felt it all week.

Yes, you are surrounded by it dear sir. Good, we are pleased.

Les: Yes I certainly am very pleased because it's been a delightful feeling. I know at one stage both my ladies were with me quite strongly.

Yes I have to tell you they are close still to you, although they both have much work to do. But still they desire to return to watch over you at times and give help.

Les: Yes I do appreciate them doing it and it was one of the strongest feelings I've had with them. (Yes) There was no question about it at all.

Not only are you as individuals becoming more aware, but the whole of the Earth planet is reaching a stage of awareness that has not been felt since its first birth.

Les: Yes that's quite true it is becoming more noticeable throughout the World.

It is indicative of cosmic change.

Les: It's certainly needed, isn't it?

Now you understand I believe that the purpose of this evening's work is experimental, as far as your work goes. So I will say to you, those of you who do not feel that feeling of love come to you, do not be disappointed; please do not be disappointed. But most of you this evening will have the awareness of thought travelling to you. You may have it in different ways, different feelings, pictures whatever—it matters not. What is important is that as a group, you are allowing yourselves to be open to that thought transference, you understand—that is what is important. It is not the end result, but that you allow yourself to be open to what can be given from afar.

Les: Yes in effect what we have to do is what we have been told a number of times, to consider ourselves as spiritual entities rather than physical human beings. (Yes) And if we can do that and make a conscious effort to do that and mentally discard the physical I think it would help all of us.

You must become part of the thought pattern, if that is understandable to you.

Les: Yes it is.

That is what you must try to achieve, and we know that you can; that is why we are trying it this time.

Now I must leave you. I thank you for your patience in listening to me.

Les: Thank you for coming to us.

And now I will let others speak if they so desire, but I think we are reaching the time, when we must sit quietly and see what comes. We will leave it in your hands, in order that you may direct each one.

Les: Certainly.

I wish you all good evening.

May that great force of Love be always with you.

(Thanks expressed)

There then followed one briefly through Sue asking that one of the ladies be seated in the centre of the room, during a quiet period in order for one of the gentlemen (Barry) to do healing.

There then followed a rescue through Sarah. Les seemed to have clairvoyance as to the appropriate responses to deal with the rescue.

Everything is going badly for me.

Les: What makes you say that?

I am not sure. I can only remember that it was not good.

Les: It wasn't good. You don't remember then what happened?

I can only remember the end.

Les: What was the end? Tell me what you remember.

I remember they killed me.

Les: You were expecting that weren't you?

I was not ready.

Les: You weren't ready?

No.

Les: That doesn't alter the fact that you were expecting it, weren't you?

I was not expecting it, I was aware I was not liked but I was not expecting it. (Spoken crossly)

Les: But it happened, didn't it? And now you want to get rid of that resentment. You can't do anything about it, it happened, your physical body was killed, but your soul still lives; that is the thing that has to concern you now. You know you are alive you're talking to me.

But I am not alive!

Les: Of course you are alive, how can you be speaking to me if you are not alive? I'm not dead, so I couldn't be conversing with you—It was only your physical body which was killed, your Spirit, your soul continues to live, that is indestructible and now you will have to accept the fact, that you always denied while you were on Earth, that there is another World, a continuity of life that is where you belong now my friend. So we must forget the physical, that old habit of the physical World that is no longer any concern of yours. You must now start living in the next World of spirit. Do you understand what I say to you? (No) You don't? You mean you don't want to understand, because you've always denied it and you feel that your denial will make it so and that's ridiculous. You have to accept the fact that there is another World to which we all go when physical death occurs. Whether you like it or not that is a fact. So you'll have to come down off that high horse of yours and accept what you cannot change. The Universe is not going to alter because you think it should be different. Do you understand? Do you understand what I tell you?

I am trying to come to terms with what you are saying.

Les: Well it's easy enough to come to terms with it—just accept it. Your physical body died, your soul/spirit is released and it takes on another body, but without the disabilities, ready for the next World and now you have to atone in that World for all the harm you did to others, which resulted in your being killed. Do you understand that?

I think I know what you mean now.

Les: Yes, now that is your project for many years to come.

I will take heed of your words.

Les: I suggest you do. I'm not criticizing you; that's not my job, but it is my job to tell you that you do have a lot of amendments to make, a lot of atoning to do. Many are in need of help and you will be shown and instructed how you can help those who are in need and by so-doing, earn yourself a proper place in the next World. Is that clear?

I now see what you mean. I am—

Les: You are what? I'll put it in a nutshell for you: You have no rights, only duties. When you've earned those rights, they will be given to you. Until then you only have duties, to help others. Is that clear enough for you? You used to like straight speaking when you were on this Earth.

I like it now as well.

Les: Well you have it, so I hope it's of help to you.

I am going to take heed of your words.

You would be wise to do it. The sooner you can begin what you have to do, the sooner you'll be free of that task.

I will commence—

Les: I will let you go then. My friends will take you they will escort you to the place where you will receive instructions. I wish you well—it won't be easy, but it must be done. Goodbye to you. God bless you.

Whilst this rescue was going on, another came through Sue taking the others on a meditative journey.

(Difficult to hear on tape, whilst rescue was in progress)

Eileen then began getting clairvoyance about a beautiful smiley flamenco dancer and the intricate hand/wrist movements involved. Another control followed through Eileen telling Les to go around the group asking each one what they were feeling.

Lillian felt heavy with the power which she described as cobwebs and Les called ectoplasm.

Jack felt similar sensations.

Sallie had earlier received visions of roses and now had physical sensations around fingers and it felt like someone was poking her in the ribs. She was asked to stand in the centre for 5 minutes to see what she could feel.

Paul felt lightness and feeling of openness/tenderness around tummy.

Sarah felt there was a lot of space in her head and energy in hands.

Mark felt warmth and comfort.

George felt arms and hands felt different/didn't belong to him + an impulse to rotate thumbs. He'd also had a childlike feeling earlier, recalling how he used to watch what shapes the flies made as they flew close to the ceiling.

Margaret felt much energy in hands.

Sue felt sensations similar to transfiguration.

Dawn felt warmth in hands.

Salumet then returned again:

Now what does the lady feel?

Sallie: It feels like they've got hold of my arms at the moment. (Giggles) Like there's someone either side of my arms. It's not unpleasant —

There are many waiting to use this one.

Les: Are there?

Many, many, but still she is pushing them back. So this time we are prepared to catch her! (Chuckles)

Les: She is still being naughty about it, is she?

Just a little.

Sallie: You can let go now if you like. (More giggles)

Yes, we will let her sit shall we? Yes, thank you.

Les: You can sit her on the floor if you like? We've done that before with some of our friends. (Chuckles)

Let's not be too hasty, otherwise she may not return!

Sallie: I think I'd like to sit of a chair actually if that's alright! (Chuckles)

Les: Well, thank you for that, you've heard what everybody said they were getting?

We are pleased. I hope that the people are too.

Les: Yes I think they are. The gentlemen particularly, felt his hands didn't belong to him—that's a good indication.

They belong to him, but also they belonged to us!

Les: Yes that's right and you're waiting to use them aren't you?

It is a slow process sometimes, but remember always that time means little to us. I feel that much has been accomplished. All those who are with me wish to say 'thank you,' for your time, for your efforts in allowing us to come so close to you. We hope that your minds and your hearts have opened a little further this evening.

Les: Does everybody feel they have? (Affirmed)

I would say before I leave you, that you will feel the benefit of this evening; that for the next few days of your time, there will be an upliftment for you all. (Thanks expressed)

Les: And we're sorry if we're so difficult to work with—we do try!

No, please no apologies. We are honoured to come to you; we are ever grateful that you allow us to come so close. We wish sometimes that this could be easier for you, but in saying so, never is anything attained which is easy, that is of any good. I hope that you can agree with this and that you continue to strive and go forward.

Les: We do yes and we certainly will continue to strive and are very grateful to all those who come close to help and much appreciate their patience.

I have to leave you now, but someone is asking me to leave with you some flowers. I believe you call then blue Delphiniums.

Les: Beautiful—thank you. (Thanks expressed)

I believe in doing so, that they are comparing you people as being tall, straight, seeking truth and beautiful. With that I leave you.

(More deep thanks expressed)

Les: We are very grateful for the flowers. I love Delphiniums personally—gorgeous blooms.

With that I leave you.

(Thanks + fond farewells)

Finally another came through Eileen conveying a message for Mark from his child in spirit:

Forgive us for returning, but we have with us a very young child who wishes to make itself known and is saying 'Daddy.' I believe this child didn't reach full term in this life, but returned to us quickly.

Les: Can the child tell us anybody in particular it would like to speak to?

Mark: Is it me?

The child I would say would seem to be about 18 months old in your time.

Les: That's about it, isn't it Mark? (Yes) Would you like to come over here?

There was grieving for this child, it was much wanted.

Mark: Yes.

Yes, but the child never intended to be born into this life, you understand? (Yes) This child is saying it's nothing that you or your partner has done, because the child feels the parents blame themselves in some way.

Mark: It is difficult to understand why these things happen. It's very nice of you to come and tell us this.

But do you know there will be another child, did you know? Yes there will be a boy child.

Mark: Yes that's right.

This child is saying yes and it is not too far away. This child is asking that you be happy.

Mark: Oh, thank you, yes I'll try.

Les: What name did you give the child Mark?

The child wants to be known by a name.

Mark: Right, we were thinking of Merlin.

Les: Well that's his name, think of him as Merlin.

Can I say this child, young as the child is, has been with you often, has tried to console you in your moments of doubt and grief, which sometimes you both still feel.

Mark: Thank you that's very nice of him.

But look forward, because you will have a son and this child is already looking forward to sending this new child with some good advice. You may find this hard, to come from a child so young, but remember in Spirit this child is old and has much knowledge.

Les: Does the one with you answer to the name of Merlin, is he happy with that?

There is much happiness here, he will respond to that name if you so desire. He wishes that you speak with him because he has much Spirit, although he did not continue to live life with you here on this planet, he is still here. He loves you, he loves you and he wants you to tell his mother.

Mark: She'll be really over the moon about it, she'll —

He is constantly with this lady, constantly. There is so much love I cannot tell you, I cannot tell you, please speak with her.

Mark: Yes she'll be very happy to hear that.

Yes and that is why this child has decided to come to you now, because now is the time to put the grieving to one side. He is happy, he is growing, he is growing in knowledge, he loves you both and he is preparing another son for you.

Mark: Oh right, that's lovely we will try to speak to him more.

I am sure you will be aware of his presence. He is a beautiful child, a beautiful child.

Mark: Are there any particular times that he comes?

No, he is around you often. You will be aware of him. He loves you so much, that is all I can say.

Mark: Maybe we'll meet him later on I expect, will we?

He will make himself close to you, especially when this other boy child comes into this World. He will be his constant companion. So you see, you have not lost a son, he is helping you to gain another. Feel his love.

Mark: I see, he's part of the family.

He always will be. He chose you as two special people for his short time. Do you understand?

Mark: Yes, I wish we could appreciate more what he's doing. I hope we will be able to appreciate it more. We couldn't understand what was happening. It's very nice of you to tell us.

But you must of course try to understand, not the physical, but the spiritual side of life.

Mark: Yes I'm sure that there's a lot of work that he's able to do from his position.

He is helping you now, he is helping you now. A beautiful soul, a beautiful soul, be proud of him.

Les: So think of him as being happy Mark, not grieve.

He is most happy—he is being cared for by so many. Do not be afraid for him, because he exudes happiness. He is indeed a child of the Spirit a beautiful, beautiful child. Now I hope that has brought a little comfort to you.

Mark: Yes it has, thank you very much.

Les: Thank you very much for bringing him and thank Merlin from all of us would you and tell him we all love him.

~30th June 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

I am happy to be with you once more and I will not stay long, because there is one I bring to you, who comes to speak and give some light relief this time and to tell you a little of what you have all desired to know. Our time is of course, limited, so for these purposes, this time will be devoted to telling each one of you just a little, but I can promise you that the communicator will return and give you much more.

Les: Thank you very much indeed Salumet. And thank you for our last meeting too even though you weren't here—it was most interesting and enjoyable.

Did I not tell you dear friend that much was to come?

Les: You did.

Now I say to you all dear friends, continue with your life as it is now—continue to grow, continue to share your life with others and allow that expression of love to go forth into the ether of time. There will be this evening two speakers, one through this instrument (Eileen) and one through the lady here (Sue) Now dear friends, I hope at our next meeting, to bring you some more news of what is happening in your world and perhaps to discuss any questions you may have.

(General thanks and farewell)

Another then spoke through Eileen:

May I begin?

Les: Yes please do.

Thank you. I believe you have been expecting me.

Les: Yes we have. I believe you have some interesting information for us.

Well, interesting or not, I am here to give it to you. (Chuckles)

Les: Right, well we look forward to having you.

Now from what I can gather, you have all been together in another time and you are anxious, so I am told, to learn a little more.

Les: That's right —

I am also told that the ladies within this group are a little surprised at finding themselves having been men, but I believe you have been told by the Higher One, that all lifetimes are female and male energies and most of you have been male energies in your time. So I say to the female people of this time: Do not find it so unusual, you will find as I speak to you that you may become aware of the time of which I speak. So shall we begin?

(Enthusiastic responses)

Now as you know and I believe you have been told, that you all were monks in time gone by.

Les: That's right, we were told.

There are of course exceptions here. The lady and gentleman at the far end of the room (Sallie and Jack) were not exactly monks, but were closely in communication with the order. So also too, is the latest gentleman belonging to this group, (Barry)—he belonged to the nearby village and was much welcomed in our community. So shall we begin?

Les: Yes please.

I feel like I am telling a story. So let us begin at the one end of the room, shall we? Let us begin with you dear sir. (Les) You my friend were in charge of the wine. You were in charge of making the oak barrels and other fine woodwork. You also made the trenchers for the food. You also were responsible for the carts that the oxen pulled. If I may say so, you were rather dour in that time but very honest.

Les: That's something to be grateful for! (Laughter)

But your responsibilities were great. After all, what can be more important than the wooden plates on which you find your supper? (Yes) I have to tell you that at times, you omitted the salt space on the trenchers, much to the dismay of some of your colleagues. (Chuckles)

Les: I could remember when I was told about it, that I used to get annoyed with one of my colleagues, because he always spilled his food down his front.

Exactly, because you see you took the trouble to make these trenchers, these wooden plates, so there was no reason for his food to spoil or spill over anywhere—that is where the annoyance came from. So perhaps you can relate to that. I have to say also that although you were fond of the oxen, you were rather irritated by them at times and sometimes had to spend some time in meditation and forgiveness, I should say.

Les: Yes, I can understand that, because they would have probably been too slow and plodding for me.

Before I move to the others, because of the time factor, I wish to tell you a little more general information that in a sense you were rather unusual, in that you were not a big abbey, but you were a commune closely knitted to a small village.

Les: That's most interesting, yes.

But you were fairly self-sufficient, but because of the close link with the village, you were supplied with goods and offerings from the people. You understand?

Les: Yes, thank you very much for that.

You all belonged to a commune situated in Myddle Wood, I believe—what you call the county of Shropshire, I'm being told. Now, let me move to the lady next to you. (Dawn) This lady was a helper; she was a helper in the garden. Now I will join her with the two gentlemen across the room, one known to you as Mark I believe and one known to you as George. These two were known as Brother Isaac and John. This lady was known as Paul. These three worked within the gardens. The lady in particular was most interested in the herbs. I have to tell you that this commune you belonged to, was in Tudor times, so the herb garden was a most important feature of your eating. The lady, or shall I say the gentlemen, was of all of you the most quiet, the most subdued, the most deep and in fact when he came to our world, realised he should not have belonged to the Order. He was unhappy; he should have lived in the outside world. You understand?

Dawn: Yes thank you.

He particularly loved one herb, and that was the plant of rosemary and I believe even to this day, the lady should be fond of this herb. Is that not so? (Yes) You realise that names you were known by, were names given to you when you joined the Order. I have also to say to you as general knowledge that you lived longer than most people of that age, because you know I suppose, or do you, that in Tudor times, people were lucky to live longer than 35 of your years. But within this commune that you all belonged to, it was not unusual for you to live to 50 years and longer. I would say it was because of the food. There was no contamination of the water, because you were by a stream and used pure water for many of your needs. You also were not shall I say, 'drawn' to the new commodity of sugar, which became rife in this era and which people took to strongly and caused much decay within the body. The two gentlemen who also belonged and had their duties in the gardens, these two, although they worked closely, were in fact dissatisfied with the work that they were given and would have preferred to work inside and work with the wine— (Laughter) So there was a little discord there, but of course you must remember, it never showed—So many harboured deep feelings which never showed themselves on this surface.

Les: No that was forbidden, wasn't it? Thank you very much for sharing all that.

May we continue with the lady next? (Yes) This one was known as Brother Joshua. (Lilian) Brother Joshua was—how shall we say, an 'outsider' to the community. He was from Swineherd Abbey in Lincolnshire, so he came to you hoping to become friends, but in fact always remained an outsider. You all found it difficult to accept him, because he came from an abbey of note, which was well known in times gone by, and he brought with him the vanity of that knowledge. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, that would not have endeared him to the others, would it?

No. So in being an outsider, he always felt alienated from the rest of you, although in saying so, he worked and was a dedicated helper. He helped to look after the writings in your books, which was necessary and I suppose you would in this day and age, you would call him a librarian. He also was responsible for using the goose quills for the writing, and he was rather pompous in the way that he displayed his skills.

Les: Thank you very much.

Lilian: Thank you. (Chuckle)

Now then, I come to the lady and the gentleman next, who were not actually monks, (Sallie and Jack) but were good friends. They were travellers, who came to your commune into the village of Myddle and wanted to join the countryside. They actually came from the cities and found the country life more to their liking. At first you discouraged their association with you, until you learned that they could endear themselves to you, with the wicked ways of the banned outside world. (Laughter) So you see you were not all so 'good!' So you enfolded them into your company and each one of you in your own time, extracted from them the wicked ways of the world at that time.

Les: I can see why they weren't any problem! (Laughter)

But they were two young brothers in their early twenties. They were joined together and remained so and actually found their place in the village of Myddle, until their death in their early thirties from the plague, which by then had spread to the countryside. But there is not much to tell you, they were good, honest lads who wanted to better themselves. Their names were Michael and Jeremiah.

Les: Most interesting for them. And now they are together again.

Of course, always the connection will return, you understand this, I believe you have been told this. (Yes) Now we come to the next gentleman, the one you know as Paul and I'm sure you'll be surprised to know, that although it was not a great Abbey but rather a commune, he was the Abbot. I knew you would all be surprised! (Laughter) But why should you? In this soul there has been much. He has brought much with him and although he seeks to learn in this lifetime, his innate knowledge of spiritual matters is great. Although he was your 'leader,' if I may use that word, which I don't really like but we will use it, he was fairly strict with you in a quiet way. His words were quiet, but his words were strong and to him the duty of keeping the commune together and in a happy state, was his task in life. He in actual fact lived to the ripe old age of 62 years old.

Les: That was really ancient, wasn't it! (Chuckles)

In that time yes, he was and he felt older by the time he came to us in Spirit. And I tell you in this time by your age standards he also will be old.

Les: Well Paul, we shan't hold anything against you from the previous life. (Laughter)

Now we come to the lady (Sarah), who is joined with the other lady (Margaret) and I have to tell you, I am glad to see them separated, because in that time there was much friction. If they could have been excommunicated from the church, (Chuckles) they would have been, had we known what thoughts were going through their minds. And the trouble was you see, they worked in the kitchens, to try to feed you all, and being two men of so different personalities, one quiet and one exuberant, they were like cat and dog shall we say—that is a term which you use at this time. (Chuckles)

Les: Yes you are right we would use that.

Each one would look at the other and the thoughts would pass between them and then they would have their penance and then they would continue with their work, like the good monks they were. There was one particular incident I think they might find amusing. You were Franciscan monks—I know you all know this. When in the kitchen, the hood of your garment was tied down by the chord at the back, for safety purposes. The lady here who was known as Brother Matthew (Margaret), decided one day he would play a little trick on the other lady. And what did he do but fill the hood with cereal. (Chuckles) Not only did he fill it with cereal, but then he suggested that the Brother put the hood on before he left the room. And what did our Brother Peter (Sarah) do but go to the Abbot and our dear Brother was in much trouble. (Chuckles) So you see, these two are well seated apart in this lifetime. (More chuckles)

Les: We'll keep an eye on them!

So I hope you did not expect me to tell you that you were all saints, because you weren't! (Laughter) You understand that even in these communities you were human beings after all.

Les: Yes, of course.

Now we come to the gentleman of the village. This one, (Barrie) let me tell you, would have desired to have been amongst you, but he had wealth, he was a land owner in the village of Myddle. He owned much of the land around and therefore was a great asset to your community in supplying many goods that you would have been without, because although we laugh, you did struggle much in those days.

Les: Yes I expect so.

Food was scarce—you had two meals a day—just a little more general knowledge for you, your dinner was always at 11:00am and your supper would be at 6:00pm.

Les: Just two meals?

Yes, only two meals and of course the supper would be fairly sparse. But this gentleman, who would have I would say, made a very good monk, was excluded because of his wealth and his ownership of land. This excluded him from any placement within the church. Well, because of the order of poverty, he could not have been allowed to join, because he would not have willingly put aside his wealth. You understand?

Les: Yes we do.

So let me tell you a little of this man, who was known as Simon Whitecliff—that was your name in those times.

Barry: Thank you.

You owned much of the village of Myddle and you supplied oxen to these monks on many occasions. You supplied barriers, you supplied plants, you supplied food to make wines. You were indeed a good friend to them all and much loved and appreciated by them all. I cannot tell you more than that, except to say how much you were loved.

Les: That's nice for you Barry.

Barry: Yes, thank you very much.

Now, we come to the lady known to you as Sue, and this one shall I say, was the one who expressed anger most and spent many hours in penance and sorry for the quick words that she fired at most of you in many ways on many occasions. (Chuckles) But to him, and he was known to you as Richard, he felt always that what he said to you all was for your own good. Whether he was right or not, he felt he was right.

Les: And we didn't always agree. (Chuckles)

And you didn't always agree—of course you didn't. His task in your community was to make candles, also sometimes to help in the garden. You did swap your duties at times, but the duties I tell you of were mainly those that you did.

Les: The garden particularly was most important wasn't it? They needed to be self-sufficient.

Of course, you needed it, you needed it to survive.

The voice suddenly faded and another spoke through Sue saying that much power had been used, which was why there was a sudden ending to the communication. We were asked whether we had been happy with the evening's information. We had indeed found it most interesting indeed and many commented on striking parallels which existed between their roles in the monastery and activities in this lifetime. For example, Les enjoyed making wine, even though he doesn't actually drink it, Lilian had worked in a local library for many years and George and Mark still very much enjoy growing veggies in the garden. Finally there was a brief communication through Eileen from someone who we had helped as monks during that lifetime and wanted to express thanks that we had taken him in and given shelter to, during difficult times.

~7th July 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

I would like to say this time, how happy I have been, to receive so much thanks from you all, since last time.

Les: That's the least we can do, it was a wonderful evening. We do thank your colleague for telling us. (Re: 30/06/97 past life information as monks)

I hope dear friends that it has brought to you, a little more understanding of yourselves. I almost said 'some light entertainment for you', but of course that was not the purpose of the exercise. I hope that each one of you, has looked inward and to that little knowledge that you attained last time, in order that you can begin to see yourselves, as a whole being. Although in saying this, we know that you are many aspects of being and the insight that you gained last time, was but a small drop in the ocean. I hope dear friends, that in thinking upon what you learned that you now at last see why you have been brought together this time.

Les: Yes I think we do, and what interests us, is that in some of us there is a continuity of what we were doing, when we were here before. We have gravitated in some cases, to roughly the same work, that we were doing then. The gentlemen in the gardens are very interested in that once more. I have been very interested in woodwork and wine-making, in earlier years, which are the things you told me I used to do, while I was here before.

Let me say this to you: That of course some of you will retain those aspects of yourself, which would be necessary in this lifetime. But remember that you have chosen to bring these with you this time and always for a purpose —do not forget this. If those amongst you cannot associate anything in that past lifetime, do not be concerned, it means only that it was not necessary to bring it forward with you this time. Please remember what I have told you, that your lives, whether this one or others, always have been decided by the soul, you understand? (Yes) So that is why some of you have retained many of those things, which you now recognise from previous times.

Les: That's interesting, thank you.

Now it has been sometime since I have allowed you to ask questions, so this time, shall we give some time to this matter?

Les: Yes please, I have two. You just mentioned again one aspect of our life. Is it possible for more than one aspect to inhabit this planet at any one time?

It is possible, but not the normal way of living. It is possible and there are those, mainly masters of their times, who can achieve such things, but I would say to you it is not the normal thing to be doing.

Therefore I would say to you now, allow one aspect of your being, to learn at any one time.

Les: I see, so it's just one aspect at one time. Now I am a little puzzled and I expect my friends are as to what constitutes an 'aspect' of life?

Now you are delving deeply my friend, are you not? An aspect of life is a part of the energy of the whole. You must remember that as beings you are energy, from the Source of all energy. In calling ourselves energy, you have to realise (Voice becomes stronger) that these energies are not of earthly making, but are of spiritual make-up. In so-saying, it is possible that energy can divide itself, into many lives and many beings and that is what I mean by an 'aspect' of being.

Les: So following that through then, our aspects that presumably return time after time, over aeons of time, could be different aspects on each reoccurrence, is that so?

Of course and I would say, that is how it has to be. If you are to grow and to learn, then each aspect in its turn, must take its turn in earthly living, or in other planes of existence. When we speak of learning, you have to think more fully, you have to allow yourself, your consciousness to expand beyond this planet.

Am I making myself clear for you?

Les: Yes and am I right in thinking, that for our ultimate progress, we have to come back as different aspects, in order to have the experience of that particular aspect—to teach us.

Of course, how else can you learn? If the one aspect of your soul was to continually return, how else would you become the whole, the whole energy pattern? Remember it is an energy pattern, which you are trying to make whole. It is a difficult topic to make you understand.

Les: I suppose it could be likened to a jigsaw puzzle.

Yes I would say that is a good comparison. What would be the point, of continually using one piece of the jigsaw? You would never complete it, would you?

Les: No, this is what puzzled me; thank you for the answer.

Remember also when we speak of aspects, there are many aspects within one aspect.

Les: Yes, so we go deeper and deeper, don't we?

So we go deeper and deeper and deeper.

Les: But from what you've said Salumet, it isn't necessary always, for every aspect, to be lived out on this planet, or a similar planet—some aspects can come into fruition, in the worlds to come—we can still be completing the jigsaw.

Let me remind you, that this universe that you belong to is already encompassed in the future. So already there are aspects of your soul, which are for 'learning,' if I may use that word, without ever having trodden this pathway. Can you understand?

Les: Yes I can understand what you say, but how would we come to terms with that, how would we know that in the future?

You will only know, when you return to that whole, which comes at the returning home, of each lifetime. You have the bigger picture of what is and what is to be. And then and only then, will you fully understand what it is you need to do.

Les: Right, I will go a little further, if I may. When we finish our life here and go over to the next plane that presumably is the end of one aspect?

Not necessarily.

Les: No? That aspect would go on in the next world?

Of course, you continue to learn, you continue to learn on our side of life, as much as you can, as much as you will allow that aspect of yourself to learn. Then I have told you, you come and you are helped and advised, in making the decision, of what you must do in time—what you call 'future,' which already as I have said, is there already. We are speaking of much deep matters here my friend, but if I can help you to understand just a little, then so be it.

Les: Yes you are indeed. So that aspect that is indestructible from what you tell us, can continue its learning in a further phase of life in your worlds, (Yes) and that could continue through your worlds, without the necessity of having to come back here to this planet, if we are learning properly?

If you will allow yourself that knowledge, if you will accept the guidance, which is available to you, and if it is part of what you term here on this planet, as your 'destiny.' Remember there is much at play here, much more than you know or understand. But the soul that you are inhabiting, or rather the body which inhabits the soul this time, has much to learn, but the soul already has that innate knowledge, which takes it further.

Les: Yes I see, so it's not obligatory in each case, to come back to this Earth?

No, no—I have told you, that the decision must always lie with the soul and the soul is not a single unit as you know, but belongs to a whole. (Yes) This is what many of you do not fully understand yet.

Les: No, I can accept that we don't.

But it becomes clear when you return home each time.

Les: Thank you, now if I may still continue to take the time, it's a completely different question: We are frequently asked to contribute charity money, for the sake of children abroad, who are suffering from various complaints—lack of water and a multitude of reasons for which they are not developing and are dying very rapidly, as you no doubt know. Now, the problem is, if we contribute money to those charities, are we interfering with the life that has been chosen by those people, when they came here?

That my dear friend is a very good question —of course, I have told you in past times that each soul knows of what it comes to. Also I have told you, that you can deviate from that life pattern. We can speak of a multiplicity of reasons here. You cannot interfere, if the soul will not allow you to. Are we clear on this point, because it is important?

Les: Yes, that is the base point, isn't it?

Of course—you, I would say in general, cannot do harm, if what you do is done with love—that is the basis of the point. Anything which comes from deep within, to try to help others, cannot be wrong, because after all dear friends, what are we, if we are not but the love energy? So I would say to you only this: If it is genuine help that you offer, do not concern yourself about interfering. If those people who accept the help, they know, they know in their souls, if that is what they should be doing. They would be the ones to answer when they return home. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I do. That makes it clear to me, because I've puzzled this for quite a long time.

It is a good question and I thank you for the opportunity of trying to explain it to you all.

Les: Yes I'd forgotten that the soul of the person there, to whom the money is given, is the final arbiter, (Yes) into whether it accepts the help or not.

And when you speak of children, I know most of you tend to say—and I believe this is a phrase you most often use by you here on earth, 'that your heartstrings are tugged at.' And that can only be good, because in this happening, it brings forward the Love that you should be extending to all of mankind. I wish so, that these spontaneous gestures, happened a little more often, without the thoughts of whether you can afford to give or not, because when the mind, or shall we say the thinking of the human brain, comes into play, then that spontaneous love is lost.

Les: Yes I would agree completely with that.

So you see, you cannot do wrong, if you are giving with Love. The onus lies in the one who is receiving.

Les: Yes because though we presume that we are interfering, that particular soul may only have a limited period of suffering here, before it can gain health. (Yes) But that suffering would have taught it something, no doubt.

My friends, again I say to you, you cannot see the wider scope of life, whilst in these bodies. You need to expand the consciousness within you all, if you are to begin to understand the workings of that Great Creative Force, to which we all belong.

Les: And to follow our own soul's instincts, without giving thought to it.

That is what I would advise you all, that after all, these instinctive feelings, come from that pure love energy and can only be for the good, not only to those you offer help, but in your own growth. It has to be good. But remember, it has to be a loving spontaneous gesture, if it is to remain pure. Do you understand?

Les: Yes of course, absolutely, that is essential I agree. Now I've taken enough time, anyone else a question?

George: Can I just extend that one a little. I think we've made a complication for ourselves, by creating in this country alone, over 23,000 registered charities; it's got very complicated. But I think you've answered this in saying that what one does, should come from the heart and from within.

Of course my friend, you after all are responsible for your own thinking, for your own actions, for what you make of your own lives. It is all too easy for you to say: 'If only this, if only that,' when what you should be saying is: 'If I, if I,' because in using the 'I', you are saying that all knowledge is within yourself. And you should—especially with the knowledge that you now all have attained, you should all know that the actions you take, whether they are genuine or not, you all have that innate knowledge. So do not say, 'If only, if only.' But there are so many words you could use, I say to you, in your hearts and in the spiritual part of your being, you know that what you do, is either 'right' or 'wrong' for you. I do not say it would be right or wrong for another being, but instinctively you should know and understand what is right for you. And dear friends, that applies to all areas of your lives.

Les: So we come back to what Jesus said, cast your bread upon the waters.

There are many sayings you can use, but I say to you simply: Extend your love to all mankind, and your footsteps will always be sure. Again, we return to the very fact that all of you are responsible for yourselves. It is a great responsibility, but one that each one of you must shoulder with love.

Les: Thank you very much—any other question?

Barry: In our world that we comprehend, energy is created by opposites. Would balancing those opposites in our physical form, enable us to create a much purer form of energy, which would become like a spirit, to therefore then lead the energy, rather than trying to push the energy along a certain path?

Yes, here we have a later member to our group and much already has been spoken about energy. When you speak of opposites, what you are speaking of my friend is of the same energy. We have had this conversation before, but I will explain it briefly to you. You are of course speaking of illness within the human frame, are you not? (Yes) Yes, and the use of the energy of which you are made. I have explained to the others, that all energy comes from the One Source. So for you human beings, to remain healthy, the energy should be well-balanced, throughout the physical being, but it is governed by the mind, which belongs to the spirit. So you can make many theories in your lifetime, but what it comes down to, is the misuse of energy, which in turn creates illnesses and all other types of difficulties in your lives. What I would say to you dear friend: The most important thing you can do, before trying to help any other being, is to ensure that your own energies can become the purest that you can make them. And in doing this, you must attempt to create within your mind—which again belongs to the spirit—you must create that all-encompassing energy, called love. Can you see the connection?

Barry: I can, and thank you.

You are helped by these words?

Barry: Thank you, they have helped to clear the picture for me.

Les: Thank you—any other question?

Sarah: It seems a bit of a silly question now—I know the past, the present and the future is all one, but where did we come from in the beginning?

Les: There was no beginning.

Sarah: There was no beginning —

Yes, all has always been, always is and always will be—you cannot separate. It is most difficult I think this topic for you to understand. When I tell you that the future has happened, I think you become too amazed in your own thinking, to fully understand. (Yes) I could sit here and tell you what future times will bring you, but what would be the point? Then dear friend, your question would arise, I would be interfering then; but it has already happened—past, present, future are one. You cannot separate, you cannot separate and I cannot give to you an answer, which you would logically understand. You are not capable just yet my dear friend—and in saying these words, I do not wish to demean you in any way, but your understanding as of now, you are not capable of the understanding.

Sarah: Thank you.

Les: Any more questions?

Sallie: Just to ask a little bit about the male and female that exists within all of us—male and female energies. I'm having a bit of a problem with my male energy and I'm a bit stuck with it at the moment and need a bit of help with it. I can't really explain it in any other way at the moment.

In what way are you confused dear friend? After all, in this lifetime, you are expressing the female energy of living. To be as a whole, as part of the whole, you have to experience many forms of the complete energy. And in many lifetimes, you come as either male or female energy. But sometimes as I have spoken of in the past, these energies are not quite pure and therefore we have situations, where energies are neither male nor female and are confused upon your earthly planet. I would say to you my dear friend, be not concerned about male or female energy; concentrate only on that energy, which you now express. After all, that is the energy which you should be living up to.

Sallie: That sounds very helpful, thank you.

If you need to interact with the male energy, do you not understand that is what draws man with woman—it is the attraction of the opposite energies, which need each other to survive. I am speaking on an earthly way of talking, but that is a simplistic way of saying, that the male and female energy belongs together. Whether you have expressed yourself in female energy or male energy, you will be attracted to the energy, which you need. Do you understand?

Sallie: Yes, yes I do.

Les: It might help our friend, if I were to comment on what you told us some time ago, that if we come over to you as male, we shall remain male, for aeons of time when we come over to you; similarly if we come as female.

You will remain with that energy, until such time as the realisation comes, that you do not belong to any gender, and that you are pure energy; both male and female. But of course, that does take much, much time. Always I have spoken to you in the past, of the attractions of the human beings, to be attracted to the energy, which they do not possess. We have spoken on this before. (Yes—see 29/01/96) It is the cause of much depravity in your world, where good and bad are attracted to each other, in the same way as male and female energy. But remember always, you all belong to the one pure energy. I hope you understand, because this is something that is not easy for your human minds.

Sallie: I suppose I'm using visualisation of having two energies within me, my male side and my feminine side —

Yes and you are confusing yourself my child.

Sallie: Probably, yes.

Yes, concentrate on the female energy which you are in this lifetime.

Sallie: That feels very comfortable, thank you.

Now, I will say to you, I have spoken enough to you this time and when next I come to you, I will speak a little. Perhaps it will help the lady to know, that we do know what the future holds and although that is not my mission, I am happy on one occasion, to tell you what is to come. (Much appreciation expressed + thanks)

Now dear friends, I leave you all, with my own love energy, which I know you will feel, and which you will take within your hearts, to hold dear, until we come together once more.

Les: Thank you very much indeed. Our love certainly goes with you; life would be very empty without you now. (Thanks + farewells)

~14th July 1997~

Good evening:

All: Good evening.

Are you well dear friend?

Les: Yes thank you, as well as I can be. I know I've been receiving a lot of help.

We are not a full presence this time, so I will leave what was intended this time.

Les: That's a pity—never mind, we quite understand.

You see, conditions are good this time and I would like the opportunity to work quietly with this one.

There are other communicators ready for you, so for this time, if you wish, just one question, I will be happy to answer it for you.

Les: Thank you, has anybody a question they would like to ask?

George: Yes I have one. I wonder if it would be good to direct an answer to the population of the world, in respect to the hopes for humanity, over the coming years, through the period of change. Our reasonable hope might be to increase in our capacity to love, increase in our awareness—increase in knowledge.

Would you care to say something about our hopes in general, in the coming years?

Yes my friend. Why should you confine your hopes, your wishes, to the population of this planet? My wish for you would be, that you could become more aware, more universally aware, cosmically aware, rather than stay within the confines of the earthly population. You have within each one of you, the ability to hope, desire and to receive all that is available to you. So if your hopes and desires are to include all of the population of the Earth, there is nothing that can stop you. Do you understand this, my friend? (Yes) All of you have the ability within, to reach out for ALL that is available. You see dear friends, you do so limit yourselves—you limit your abilities. You are after all, and again I do not ask forgiveness in repeating that you are spiritual beings and therefore you belong to much wider energies, than that within this planet. I hope you understand and that each one of you thinks about this a little more deeply than you have, up until this present moment in time.

George: Yes I follow—our spirituality goes beyond the planet.

Of course, do not confine yourselves my friends, you do yourselves an injustice. You have much to give. All of you are imbued with that love, love energy of which you come to give to others so freely, but which you should be using in a more expansive way. I hope you all understand my words.

Les: Yes we do. If I might add to that George, I began a long time ago, to try to train myself to think universally and not internationally. Unfortunately we often minimise the word universal and apply it to international. (Yes) Our concept of universality is of the planet quite often, do you follow? We've got to regard it as universally being of the Universe. It's been a much misused word unfortunately.

I want you dear friends to be children of the cosmos, because that is what you are. I would wish that you can grow enough whilst we are together, to realise that what you are, and what you have been, is spirit, which has been confined to one planet in this lifetime. We have spoken much about this, but now the time is coming, when all of your population, all peoples, no matter what colour, what race, what religion—all will come to the realisation, that we belong to the much wider scheme of life, of living, of love, of that eternal energy to which we all belong. (Thanks expressed) Now I say to you all my dear friends, each day you grow in strength, each day you grow in love, each day you come closer to knowing yourselves. In saying these words, I truly feel the love, which comes from each one of you. We have grown much my friends and we have much to do, but each time I speak to you, I take with me that element of your love, which is indeed eternal. I thank you once more for your patience, in listening to me. (Thanks expressed)

Now I ask that I be given time with this one.

Les: Certainly, God be with you.

There then followed one through Sue:

(Welcomes)

How nice it is to be here with you. You recognise me this time?

Les: Yes I do indeed and we're very happy to have you here once more. Am I right in thinking you'd wish to speak with everybody individually?

Still as wise as ever dear friend—yes, I would like to speak—

(This was organised and we approached individually, kneeling)

(Lilian) Blessings upon this one and all those of her house and family—spend some time in quiet thought, when you return to your home this time. Open up your channel and let someone in, who will help you. Remember you are never alone. Thank you, I wish you love and comfort.

Lilian: Thank you.

(Dawn) This one needs to spend more time in conversation. Too much left unsaid, which is causing slight friction here. Nothing serious, but more speech with another, can only benefit her and the people with her. Do not keep things inside yourself so much. Release them and your love channel will be much brighter. Blessings upon you my child; go in peace and love.

Dawn: Thank you.

(Jack) I am getting the name here, of Rebecca. This name will be of much importance in your life.

Remember where you first heard the name and when the time comes, all will be apparent to you.

Exercise your mind a little more; it will benefit the work we wish for you to do. Love goes with you.

Jack: Thank you.

(Sallie) This one must not keep torturing herself. Relax your thoughts a little more and you will find the answers to your questions have been there all the time. It is not necessary for you to be in what would you say, 'the doldrums,' as much as perhaps you are. Your future shines brightly before you, keep treading your pathway and everything will fall into place. Blessings upon you and those who love you.

Sallie: Thank you.

(Paul) You are a much-travelled and happy soul, but do not burn yourself out. Take the time to meditate and let your inner voice guide you on the next steps of your life. Try to slow things down a little more and the benefit to you will become apparent. You come from a much-loved and close-knit family. Let them help you when it is required. Peace and love with you now and always.

Paul: Thank you.

(Mark) Do not keep looking backwards my son—it is not good for you to look over your shoulder at what has been. Look forward with open and clear heart and eyes and the benefit to your life will be great. Let someone who is close to you help you to see the benefit of my words. Bide your time and it will become apparent to you, what you are going to achieve. May light surround you and those close to you.

Mark: Thank you.

(Sarah) This one has taken heed of previous words and has stopped moving around quite so fast. We are delighted that our words have been accepted. You have an enormous heart, but do not stretch yourself too thinly; you need time to recuperate sometimes, from the hurly-burly of your existence. You have a child who will be a great comfort to you shortly. He is an old and venerable soul; we are taking great care of you both. You are surrounded by a wall of love; feel it and know it cannot be broken down.

Sarah: Thank you

(George) This one is a wise owl. Greatly read and learned in many aspects of human life. Give to others, the benefit of your knowledge. You are here at this time of life, to spread the word of the Spirit. Keep tight control of that mind of yours, it sometimes runs away a little fast. You are one of the family of which I spoke earlier. Look to each other, you will be of great help, to not only yourselves, but those whose lives touch yours. Go with our grateful thanks, for what we know you are about to do.

George: Thank you, thank you very much.

(Les) I thank you my old friend, for coming before me, but I would have been happy for you to have stayed in a little more comfort.

Les: That's kind of you, but I am only one with the others—there should be no priority, though I appreciate your help and concern.

I know that the others will not mind my saying, that there are a few spring chickens and you I know will not mind my saying, are a venerable gentleman. (Chuckles)

Les: I thank you for the title.

We know what you do here and for others and this time, have no words other than praise and thanks to you. All I will say is 'slow it down.' You need to be razor sharp for this work, do you not? (Yes) So keep yourself in the peak of fitness.

Les: I shall do my best to do that.

We are with you to help you reach this goal. (Thank you —) We come to you in mental state and I know you are aware of the presence of Spirit. (Yes —) In the time which is shortly to come, when we are expecting great work here, we will be visiting you on a more regular basis and hope to instil in your mind, some of the duties we hope you will undertake for us.

Les: I shall certainly be pleased to know of them and to do them for you.

Thank you for having been with us tonight, it's been delightful again and we do appreciate it.

There are others not present this time I believe.

Les: That's right there are three who are usually here, but who are not tonight.

I would speak to one lady and one gentleman next time; important work coming shortly. Each one needs to be given guidance before it starts.

Les: Thank you. Yes, I'm sure Salumet will let us know and agree with that.

So my friend, all being well, I will speak with you briefly at your next meeting, providing that the power source is available and strong. (Thanks + farewells)

~21st July 1997~

(Welcomes)

Good evening. Thank you once again—your love has helped to bring me to you. My dear friend, I have to say to you, that much is being taken from you, because of the increase in power, which we need to be using. Some of you since last we met have felt pressure upon your beings. Do not be concerned—we have been close to you, but the Earth energies at this moment of your time, are such that there surrounds you, some negativity. But it should not concern you, only in as much that in small ways, because of your sensitivities, you feel somehow, as if the weight of the world is upon you. I'm sure you can confirm this for each other. (4 sitters confirmed this) I would say that each one has in their own and different ways. But I would say to you dear friends, be pleased that you feel this way, because it should, it should confirm for you, how much you have grown in your own sensitivity to living. There is nothing you can do to change these conditions at this time, but I will say to you all, we are working well, we send much love to this planet, and soon these feelings of pressure will be lifted. Because you are human, you sometimes feel that when these pressures are upon you, that it is in some way connected to your own thinking—I say to you this dear friends: Not always—accept the feelings and allow them to dispel, as surely they do.

Les: I don't think any of us would object to it, now that we know those feelings are instrumental in helping with the work.

Only those who are sensitive to the energies of your planet will feel these pressures, at the times when the energies are rather depleted. At this time I do not wish to enter into any greater detail about this matter, only to assure you that all of you are doing so well, in your spiritual unfoldment.

Les: We're very happy to know that and thank you.

I would say to you, on our next meeting, I will speak to you about what is to come. We put it to one side last time, so I say to you at your next meeting, we will have a discussion on these matters, if you so desire.

Les: Yes we would like that, because we do have one concern coming into our mind right now. The house next door is going to be occupied by somebody else in due course and I'm hoping that it's not going to interfere with the work at all.

My dear friend, nothing will be allowed to interfere with the work that is being done within this temple of light. We would not have come to you, if it had not been the correct time. We will not allow anything to interrupt the course of events, which is to take place within these four walls.

Les: Thank you very much, that does comfort us all, because I know we were concerned, we had discussed it and I perhaps shouldn't have asked the question, because it implies doubt of what you've told us—one of my human failings came to the fore and I knew you wouldn't mind my asking for confirmation.

Of course not, did I not tell you, that it would be sorted out—the problems which arose? I have to say to you dear friends, once more your impatience is forgivable.

Les: Thank you very much. Yes you did say it would be sorted out, and we remembered that and spoke about it. But as I said, being human we do ask these things, and thank you for the answer—it's comforting. Yes—do not concern yourselves about it, but let us continue to be positive in our thinking. After all, have I not told you, that the power of your thinking is all-enfolding, when it comes to changing your world?

Les: Yes, we are using that power of thought.

Not only in your world, but your own lives. Now if we have questions this time, I am happy to answer them for you.

Les: Does anybody have a question? (Pause)

Dear friend let me say this: If I invoke within you thoughts and questions, even if you do not ask me, the fact that it creates discussion amongst you, can only be good. Would you not agree?

Les: Yes we do, but it puzzles me sometimes that we all discuss these things, but don't ask questions of you, when we have the chance.

Again I say it is forgivable. After all, you are so often like small children, you have many questions at the wrong time.

Les: That's true.

Sarah: I did have one question, I was interested to know that when we pass over, how much can we see of what's going on, on the Earth plane? I understand that those that have gone over, they see them as energy, as lights. (Yes) Can they see objects, for example a carpenter who's made a beautiful cabinet, can he still see somebody admiring it?

You have to understand that in using your word 'seeing,' it does not apply in the same way as you use it here. I would rather you use the term, 'you have full awareness.' After all, take your dream state—you are not actually 'seeing,' are you, as you would say, 'in the flesh,' but all that you see is positive. (Yes) Yes, in a sense, it is a feeling, an awareness and not the vision of the physical eyes. After all, when you come to our world, you have disrobed from this physical garment, you no longer have the physical seeing. Do you understand?

Sarah: Yes I do yes.

So although you 'see,' your awareness is greater, it is a spiritual seeing. That is what enables you to know and understand what continues on this earthly plane.

Sarah: Thank you.

Les: I know many people in the past have asked me: 'If they can be seen by those who've gone over, what happens at times at times when it would be embarrassing for them to be seen?' And I've explained that there is a blockage, a memory or vision blockage if I can put it that way, which would not allow interference with anything which could be embarrassing, to that one on Earth.

Sallie: May I ask a question please? (Yes) It's to do with fear and it's to do with trying to get to the stage, where you can relinquish the ego and, if you like, go into some sort of form of surrender to the Universe, to the higher spirit, to the connection. And it's the fear of actual total surrender of the ego and also to do with—it keeps coming back—you think you've got rid of it for a while, and it comes back again —

Yes, I understand what you are asking. You dear child, have brought with you to this lifetime, many fears, many past fears. But when you speak of connection to your higher self, it is inevitable, because after all you are human, that that fear is imminent. To relinquish that being that you have come to know and to love—it is not unusual that you should feel fear. But after all, let me say only this to you: All of you relinquish that fear in your sleep state and you do connect to your higher selves, as you call it, each time you close your eyes in sleep. So I would say to you this: Continue, continue to try, and fear should dissipate. It will, I can tell you, but like all aspects of your living, it is a matter of continuing to try. Fear belongs to you as a human being. I am sure if I spoke individually to each person within the room, they would say they have fear of one thing or another.

Les: Yes, I've no doubt you're right.

But never be afraid to let go, because you see, once the connection is made with us in our side of life, you will be protected my child. No harm could come to you and if you would use the power of your mind to tell yourself this, then you would find, that the fear would gradually go. Do you understand?

Sallie: Yes I think I do. It's a habitual thing I think, that one's brought with you and it just takes a lot of work sometimes. (Yes) Thank you.

Les: And I suppose one can say positive thinking is necessary again, because I've been through all that for many years Sallie, having fear of this and that and the other and wondering if this or that—like asking the question about next door. (Yes) I should not have asked it, but I had to ask from a human point of view.

It is the human element, which holds onto fear. Your higher self knows no fear and will try to help, but remember whilst you inhabit these physical 'coats' that you possess, always the human side of you will win; it will and I know many of you would doubt this, but please do not doubt this, after all, you are endowed with free thinking and you do have that power, to use it. And we cannot interfere with that thinking, whilst you inhabit these human coats. Do you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: I think sometimes it could be classified as 'worry' rather than fear; wouldn't you agree generally? We worry about things, which need not cause worry.

I do believe the fear the lady feels, is that she has, or would lose the power of control. That is what the basic fear is, that no longer would you be in control of your own destiny. Please think about these words and you will come to the realisation that it is that which you most fear, because you do I know, want to connect to the very highest that you can. It is within you and you can do it, but you must achieve it by yourself, you understand?

Sallie: Yes I do.

I will try to help you, but I cannot interfere.

Sallie: Thank you.

George: I think a modern fear, is the fear of embarrassment, of losing one's train of thought, mid conversation, which is why I so admire actors and actresses on stage.

I understand your comment dear friend, but I am sure if you spoke to those people, they would tell you that before they enter their roles, they are, some of them, crippled by fear. After all, acting as you know it is role-playing. It is not the true individual showing themselves.

Les: If I might add to that George, sometime ago I read an article about several very well-known actors and each said that before a performance, they were literally petrified and they used to ask heaven for help, in assisting them to go on and do what they do.

If only you could see more deeply, you would know that many in our life, in this side of life, are ready to help those who ask for help, to relinquish their fear. We have many who have been what you term actors and actresses and I am sure many of you have heard stories about past people seen within your houses of plays.

Les: Yes, you're right.

So you see, I would say only this to conclude on this subject: That you must allow that inner being to come to the fore, if you are to let go of any fears. You all have them—do not be ashamed of fear. After all, if you did not feel fear, how could you know what the opposite would feel like? Remember that your lives always are positive and negative. If you could come to the realisation that all of your life is almost like parallel pathways of positive and negative feelings, then you will begin to grasp that life is pushing you in the correct directions. So accept your fears, but do not hold onto them. Allow them to be and then let go. Do you understand my friends?

Les: Yes, we must just tell ourselves not to be silly.

George: It's very reassuring.

Well, I would not call you, how you say 'silly.' (Chuckle) But, be more positive in your thinking. Again I say to you: The power of your thoughts, are the most powerful thing you will ever have. It can achieve all for you, if only you would use it.

Les: Yes, we don't doubt you for one minute. I think the problem lies in our not accepting it fully, (Yes) that it is so powerful.

Yes, and once that realisation comes, there is nothing, nothing, nothing that you could not achieve.

Les: And we must all practice more fully. Any more questions, if not I have one.

Sarah: I have a quick one. Going back to dreams, you said we become aware that things are quite real, although we can't see them, they seem very real. Are in fact our dreams things that are happening to us while we're dreaming, or are they, is it just our minds, working over the day's events?

We have my dear friend, discussed this on previous conversations. But I will say to you quickly, that both apply. Of course your mind, your physical thinking, as your scientists will tell you, is confirmation of the thoughts that lie within your subconscious mind. But of course, in the dream state, there are those areas of your dreaming, which are real, what I would term is reality and you would term 'dream state.'

Sarah: Thank you.

But we have spoken on this before.

Les: Yes thank you, Debbie asked the same question, some time ago.

Sarah: Oh I'm sorry. Thank you anyway very much.

Les: Anymore? (Pause) I'm going to ask one of you Salumet—I can understand if you'd prefer not to answer, but I ask it, because of our very great love for you. Again it's a human failing that makes me ask, but you've told us that you have never walked upon this Earth. (Yes) Are you able to give us a little more information on that, where you did live, or where you do exist, if we are capable of understanding it? It's not idle curiosity.

I know dear friend and I accept the question. When first I came to you, I told you that I was a conglomeration of beings. That statement still stands. We have to go into deep matters here, to try to explain to you. When I say I have never trodden this earthly path, that is true, I have not inhabited human form, as you know it. I—and you may find this difficult to accept, I have and always have been, part of energy, which comes together for the good of, shall we say, the cosmos. I have not trodden in any kind of human form, but when I accepted this task, as many have—and by saying that, I do not mean that others have not taken human form, because they have. I come to you only as a voice. I will explain a little more at another time. But I say to you, you must only accept me as a voice through this instrument, because that is all the energy that I can be to you. It is a deep subject, but I will try to tell you a little more.

Les: Thank you we look forward to that, because I'm sure all of us have tried to imagine you as a personality and you now give us something else to think about, in trying to imagine you just as energy, pure and simple; or not simple, but pure energy. That's very intriguing and does give us a lot to think about.

You have to also remember that energy is malleable. Here it can be used in many aspects of this work. But as you know, for means of communication, we still at this moment in time need what you call instruments, in order that the energy be voiced. But I will, I say to you I will try to explain and I have to emphasise 'try,' because I do believe you are not yet ready for that explanation.

Les: No, we will accept your verdict on that, but at the same time, we shall look forward, to an explanation, if you consider we are ready for it. (Yes) because it's fascinating to us (Yes) and it does confirm—not that I wanted confirmation, but it reiterates something that was said at one of our other meetings, by somebody that said that he worked—I say 'he,' if I may use that expression—he worked on 32 different planets, and my natural question was, 'How do you cope with all the different forms and languages?' His reply was: 'You humans do amuse us—I am energy!'

Yes, you also my dear friends are energy. But you are energy so dense, so dense, that you need these human forms, to be able to use the energy, at this stage of your development. Do you begin to understand?

Les: Yes, it may amuse you, but I have a very real mental picture—I think somebody's giving it to me, of a pot of thick porridge, which is us! I had to pass that onto you, it was so clear. (Chuckles) So now we know what we look like to our friends.

Yes, I do believe the comparison is quite good. You have so much to learn, but in saying that, I do not want to denigrate the effort that you put into your learning.

Les: No, well we were told that in development, we are at the bottom of the pile, so anything we can do to begin to get out of it, we shall be happy to do.

Although your knowledge is not great, you—I have to say this to you: It is such a wonderful feeling of love that we get from you, because of your little knowledge and your simplicity. It makes me feel almost as if I have your human feeling, of tears, when I think of you all trying so hard to understand the knowledge that I bring to you.

Les: That's very, very kind of you and it leads us then to put another question: That energy can have feelings then?

Not in the sense that you mean. When you return to pure energy—and again, we have many stages of development, before that can be achieved. After all, none of us are infallible in any way—none of us. So all of us are seeking to return to the purest energy from which we came. Again we are going into deep subjects.

Les: Yes and the one word is predominant through all this, isn't it—that is Love.

That is the purest energy that you can have. It is what sustains you, it is what uplifts you in your daily lives, it is what makes you grow, it is the all-encompassing energy, it is Life. And with those words my dear friends, I will leave you now. I thank you for your patience in listening to me and I say to you, that you will feel a little more uplifted in your daily lives, before we meet again.

Les: Thank you very much indeed—thank you for all the love you bring. God be with you.

There followed one through Eileen, with a message for Lilian, to say that she should be painting, because she has much talent/gifts with hands. There was also a child around her gifted in this way, who needed to be encouraged in painting too:

—You'll find as you grow older, that you'll find much peace from it. (Painting) So please do accept, because those who come to tell me this love you very much. And your grandmother is often around you. Because you see, the artistic side comes from her, although she never had the opportunity. Well, she's smiling at me now, so I'll leave you with it. (Thanks expressed)

~28th July 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Les: We thank you for being with us once more. We certainly look forward to your company.

And I do yours, my dear friends.

Les: Thank you.

I would like to speak with you this time, as I promised to do, to give you a little more foresight into the future of this planet.

Les: Yes you did and we have been hoping that you would be able to.

When first I came to you, I told you that many in my world had gathered in order that this planet be saved from human self-destruction.

Les: Yes and I have been asking that you should all be helped in that.

I do not retract those words. Much has been spoken in your world, of devastation, and I have to say to you, it will not happen to the degree that you can imagine of.

Les: That's comforting for us to know.

But I will tell you that this planet will continue in its evolution, and in so doing, there will be for many of your years to come, natural disasters, but we would not consider them to be all manmade, you understand?

Les: Yes, it's difficult to say which disaster is because of man's stupidity, or whether it's the natural evolution of the planet.

Yes, always remember in your thinking, that the planet has a plan of its own. I do not always think that you humans fully understand the workings of your own planet.

Les: I'm sure we wouldn't have understood that it is in effect, it's keeper of its own destiny.

Of course I have explained a little, that all has already happened, you understand? (Yes) So what I tell you now is what is to come, what has been foreseen, if you prefer to use that term, but I would prefer to say, it is the planet Earth's own evolution. Let me speak a little about one problem in your world, which concerns most people. In this I speak of the illness that you name, as I believe 'Aids.' I feel that your earthly planet, has at this moment in time, become a little complacent, but I will tell you dear friend, you have not seen, you have not seen this disease at its height yet. It will spread to all parts of your world, but what I want to tell you is that there will be a cure; but not before it has reached all corners of your world. The cure will come, I am sure you will be most interested in work that is being done, on what you call 'outer space.' It will come.

Les: From outer space?

From work that is being done, in connection with this.

Les: I can only say that we are very grateful to whoever or whatever energy is doing that work, because it does sound from what you say, that the population on this planet, is going to be considerably decimated.

Yes and I have to tell you, that there will be devastation, in many areas of your planet, but I do not want you to feel, that this is what so many of you call, nuclear devastation; a lot of it will be the evolution of your planet—it would have happened without the knowledge of nuclear matters, you understand?

Les: Yes we do, thank you for the information.

There are areas in your world—and I do have to say, not within any of your lifetimes here, I speak of many years to come, because I have told you, that within the next thousand years, there WILL BE A CHANGE, in the way of thinking of mankind—there will be a spiritual brotherhood of man. So for that to happen, there has to be many changes; I am sure you can reason with this and accept that fact.

Les: Yes, I was going to ask if we would be right in presuming that the devastation to come will be the trigger for the moral regeneration?

Yes, yes, there will come and I will tell you not to make you afraid, but to enlighten you to many aspects of life upon this planet, that there will be a nuclear accident, but it will not extinguish this planet.

Les: Is that so? (Yes)—A nuclear accident outside the scope of this planet?

No, within the planet, but it will not have the repercussions that mankind expects, you understand?

Les: I see, yes thank you that does make it clear.

I know so many of you human beings live in fear of this disaster—it will not happen, IT WILL NOT HAPPEN.

Now, if I may return to what I said previously about space. I want you to know dear friends, and we have spoken briefly, that in your next century, there will be space people come to this Earth and will make themselves known to all. The time is coming and it is not too far distant in your time.

Les: I'm sorry we shan't be here to see it perhaps, except from your world.

It has been building, in the last 200 years of your Earth time that these communicators are interested in your living, in your way of life, in human beings in general. There is much dispute I know in your world, about these matters. But you cannot deny that there exists other life forms, many, many life forms and the time is nigh, when there will be one particular race, of what you call 'aliens,' who will present themselves to the world, who will stagger you with their knowledge and their spirituality.

Les: We can only hope that whoever is alive in those years is going to be sensible enough to welcome them properly.

They will be welcomed dear friend. It is coming that your political spheres throughout your world—they have been influenced for many years. We have spoken that they have been denying the knowledge, but the time must come, when all will come together and it will be accepted. This is your destiny that this life form must come to you.

Les: Well, thank you very much for telling us that, because I'm sure we've all hoped for many years, that these aliens as they are called and we don't really look upon them as that, we look upon them as forthcoming friends, who would be welcomed in a charitable way, rather than the methods which have been used to alienate them and deny them.

There will always be fear, but once your political leaders accept, then the common people will also accept.

Les: Good. I think the common people are ready to accept them now. They are well aware that a lot has been hidden and denied.

I want to go now onto your world religions. I would like to tell you also, that you enter into a new century, that some of your most powerful church leaders will fall. I speak in particular of one religion which has held power over many for too long and that is the one ruled by the papal institution.

Les: Well, we shouldn't say we're glad to hear that. (No) But, well of course, it's difficult to say, but we would be glad to hear it in one sense, but sorry for them, in another.

Of course you must keep your hearts open, but you must also realise that all peoples must be free to know and gather their own thinking. There is coming new religions, mainly in the countries that you term Middle Eastern countries, where much discord, much strife to this day, still continues. There will continue for much time, discord in these lands. But also there, the time is coming when a new religion will show itself. I have to tell you also, that the nation that you know as the Arab people will pay for their injustices; they will reap their own rewards, for the harm they have caused, throughout those countries.

Les: Yes I'm sure they will, because the law is the law, as you have told us. (Yes) But I'm particularly pleased and we all are I know, to hear that people will be freed, from the dogmatic shackles that have been holding them.

It has already happened. We have seen, have we not, the freedom of the peoples who have been bound by communism? It is only a name, but it is that people have been held back in being allowed to know themselves, to know their inner God, to know that they have freedom to search for what they truly believe.

Les: Good. So it would seem that the work that all of you have gathered to do, is going to come to fruition. We have much happening and it will help, it will help. I don't say to you it is easy, it is not, it is not, but also what we do is our destiny. Always remember that whatever happens should be. There is nothing that happens, that is outside the laws of that Divine Power, which we all belong to. All is natural, even all of your disasters, but I wish that you could look on your planet, with more open eyes, with more understanding and I think you would find, that your understanding would grow.

Les: Yes, I think it certainly will now, after what you've told us. We can begin to really help, in our thoughts for them, those who are going to have to relinquish their ideas and hope that it will happen before too many years have passed, for the sake of those on this planet.

There is much to come for this planet. It is still in its growing stages. But mankind is coming to the realisation that he has some power, he has the power of his mind, he has the power of his love, that he must allow himself to be open to all men, to all situations, to be open to those cosmic forces which surround your planet. Once you can strive to achieve these things, there would be no fear in your world.

Les: I can understand what you mean.

I encompass you all now dear friends, I hope you can feel the peace, which I place around each one of you. I trust that your hearts can be opened a little more, to this great work, that you are trying to achieve and that all of us who come to help you, will in time look back and say, that what we have achieved, is Love, with Love and within the Love of that Great Power.

Les: I'm sure we shall open our hearts more, with the help you and your colleagues constantly give us.

What I want to leave you with, is the knowledge that this planet will go forward, will complete its evolution. It will not be destroyed by man. When the time comes that it must extinguish itself, and this we have spoken of dear friends, it will be a natural thing. You understand?

Les: We do and again we thank you for the information. It does enable us to realise that we still have to work more deliberately, towards the awareness of spirituality. It is not going to be cut short, by a sudden planetary destruction.

I want you to fully understand that it is so natural, what you are working towards. Do not feel that any destruction, famine, wars, loss of life are not known of. You have to look to the wider scope of life, to fully understand what mankind, is doing to himself. And to know that some of these, what you term 'catastrophes,' are not catastrophes in the sense you understand, but are what you call your earthly fate. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I think we do, does everybody understand that? (Affirmed) Thank you for the explanation.

So continue with your love, with your openness, and you certainly can help those others who are lost in the darkness in your world.

Les: I shall certainly keep trying.

Now I leave you with my love, blessing and I will continue to work with this instrument this time.

Les: Right. Before you go, there's just one thing I would like to say, at the last meeting, you asked me how I was and I made rather a foolish reply, when I said, 'As well as I can be.' Because that would indicate that I'm ignoring all you've taught about positive thinking. It was a silly remark and I want to withdraw it, because I do think positively every day of your teaching, and that I could be better.

Yes, I—you have no need to retract dear friend, because I do know what is in your hearts. But as I come to you, to use your human words, it is natural that I should enquire of you.

Les: Yes, I appreciate the fact that you do.

But you well know and understand, as most of you do, and I do not apologise dear friends, for saying once more, the power of your thought, is the most powerful tool, you will ever possess. Please use it.

Les: I certainly use it every day. Thank you again for your teaching tonight, our love goes with you.

There then followed one briefly through Sue, who was bringing healing to one of the sitters. This was followed by a rescue through Sarah. Finally another came through Sarah, known as Running Dog:

May I have your permission to speak?

Les: Yes please, we're waiting for you to do that.

Am I too loud?

Les: No, there's nobody next door. (Laughter)

I see that we are amusing?

Les: No, just the volume of the voice. If there were anyone next door, they'd be wondering who was speaking in that voice.

I come to speak with you to ask, I think you say favour?

Les: Yes of course, anything we can do for you.

I have known this one for many, many years; she has been told of me, but we do not have close connection and it is time that we do. I would like if she could please sit quietly and think of me sometime. I know I am not a great one, but that doesn't matter, does it?

Les: Well that's relative, we're all great in our own ways, we're all unimportant in other ways. To us you are a great one.

I thank you. I would just like to make some closer communication with this one.

Les: With the one you are using?

Yes, because it is time that we continue with some work.

Les: I'm sure she'll be pleased to do that and I think she knows you by name?

Yes, yes I am her Running Dog.

Les: It's a long time since we've heard your name.

I have been here with you, but I have been with this one, for many, many of your years.

Les: Yes I'm sure she'll be pleased to know you're with her and wish to get closer.

How are you?

Les: How am I? Very happy that you're here; looking forward to the day I join you, I shouldn't be, but I am.

Why are you so eager to join us?

Les: Because I'm sure it's much nicer in your world, than it is in this one.

But you have work to do, you must be grateful to the Great Spirit, for what you have to do.

Les: Yes I am. I don't have a death wish, I'm merely being honest, in saying it would be nice to be with you.

You can wish for death, but it will not come.

(Laughter)

Les: No, it won't make a scrap of difference, it'll come when it's due, I know that.

We all have our beginnings and we all have our ends and it will come, but not because you want it to.

Les: Quite. No, we joke about it between ourselves.

Yes. I wished I could have stayed longer, when I was with you, but I was rather, how you say, impetuous? I was foolish and I took too many risks. I did not follow my grandfather's teachings too well.

Les: And you took one risk too many.

And I did indeed take one risk too many.

Les: And it was an enormous bear, wasn't it?

Yes. I wish I had been named Running Bear.

(Laughter) Instead I am Running Dog.

Les: Yes, but you didn't run fast enough that time.

I think there is no comparison, what say you friend?

Les: No, I think not. No it wasn't pleasant for you, but it happened, that was your fate.

We always were grateful for all animals, which came to us, but being grateful for them, did not help me in the end.

Les: No it didn't did it? (Laughter)

But I think I have spoken enough, I thank you for your time and it is good to speak with you, old friend.

Les: It is very, very good to have you here.

Yes, there are many who would like to come back, but you have moved on, I believe, like so many of us, we don't have many options left open to us! (Said laughing) There is work to do and we must do it.

Les: I'm very lucky in having very dedicated colleagues here with me.

Yes I don't know all of them, you have changed much since last I came to you.

Les: Yes, a number of new people, but all wishing to do the same work.

All still pale-faced! (Laughter)

Les: All still pale-faced yes.

Yes, I will not hold that against you friends.

Les: Ah, that's nice to know.

Yes, now I say I must leave you and I thank you for your time.

Les: It's been a great pleasure having you again and I will tell the lady and I'm sure she will try and make time, so that you can be closer to her and we all send you with our love.

Yes I thank you for that friends—I give you thoughts from those who stand close to me and those that you remember. I do not need to name them.

Les: No, White Feather, Moon Feather, Silver Star—all good friends of ours.

Yes, but the loud one in particular, has to be remembered! (More laughter) You know who I mean?

Les: Yes I know.

Yes, he is not so loud these days, since your lady has gone.

Les: Is that so?

No. I think she must have had words with him.

Les: That wouldn't surprise me.

Now I must leave you, thank you all once again.

Les: Thank you very, very much. It's been lovely having your company, goodbye and God bless you.

~4th August 1997~

The recording begins slightly late this time, after a quick adjustment of the light level in the room:

Thank you for making conditions more comfortable this time.

Les: I'm sorry if it was too much for you, it was slightly more than usual.

If you would allow this time, I would like to speak to every individual, because although I know what is within each soul, I think this time, it would be beneficial to each one, to hear each individual speak, of what lessons they think they have learned since my coming to you.

Les: Yes, we should be very happy to do that. Would you like them to come close to you here, one at a time?

That is not necessary. I think we should begin with the gentleman at the end of the room.

What my dear friend, do you think you have gained so far?

Jack: It's difficult to say—generally more understanding around other people I think and probably more understanding of myself.

Yes, this one dear friends, is gaining the lesson of tolerance towards others and their thoughts. I think you now can listen more intently to another?

Jack: I think that's probably true yes.

Yes I can tell you, you are much more tolerant of others now. Thank you. (Thank you.)

Now, your lady please.

Sallie: I think, I'm still learning this lesson, but I think it's a lot to do with forgiveness more than anything. It's a question I've been asking myself recently and the answer that comes to me is to do with forgiveness and that's what I'm trying to do, I think.

You are working well, but what you have achieved dear one, is your awareness of self and the knowledge that you have become a stronger person. In gaining this insight, this awareness, you now move forward onto other lessons; but the understanding of yourself, has been your main achievement.

Sallie: Thank you for always somehow answering the question—

I of course know much which is within your hearts and your minds, but sometimes it is good for you all to voice what you feel amongst yourselves, because in expressing yourself with words, you are opening your heart to others. Do you all understand this? (Affirmed) Thank you. Now the gentleman please.

Paul: I think I'm growing in trust—there are less doubts now. It's something I'm still working with, but trusting in life, and in people and in the future.

Yes my son, also trusting in your own thoughts—that is the most important lesson for you. But yes, you are right, trust is a big issue with you in this lifetime. So I say only this to you: Continue and you will grow.

Paul: Thank you, yes I suppose it's something I've got to learn with experience?

It is within your heart; express it well and with experience—always you have more knowledge, of course. But all that you need to know, lies within your heart, thank you.

Paul: Thank you. (Yes)

Les: Mark?

Mark: I'm starting to understand that I've got a pathway, but I don't really feel I've integrated it, I don't feel I've really integrated my pathway with my everyday awareness yet.

Yes, is there any more?

Mark: I'm sure I've learned lots of things, but it's been very gradual, your teaching's been very gradual and it's difficult to remember how you were exactly.

Yes, this one here, has the lesson of hope, to which he is still struggling, but let me say this to you: It will come to you, before your lifetime here has ended. You have struggled with many doubts and thoughts, on all aspects of living, but you will attain the lesson of hope, it is within your grasp. So continue with your journey and you will achieve your goal. Thank you.

Mark: Thank you.

Les: Sarah?

Sarah: I thoroughly enjoy learning all that you have to teach us and I find it very easy now to go out amongst people and try and feel my way and get others to respond to what I have to say, in a very gentle way. I also find it very easy now to be with people and make people happy. So I think where I've improved, is I'm beginning to understand people much better and I'm less critical, trying to see the good in them, and not the bad.

Yes, this one dear friends, what you are speaking of is the lesson of modesty, when it comes to association with many peoples. I hope you take the word modesty, in the way that I give it to you. You need my dear friend, to calm your thoughts, at times. But yes, you do move forward and you bring with you enthusiasm. That lesson of modesty, which prevents you from forcing yourself upon others, you understand?

Sarah: Yes, thank you.

That is the lesson that you are learning. Thank you.

Margaret: I don't know what to say, because I'm so happy when I come here and I've learned a lot about happiness and making people happy. (Yes) And I'm more contented in my life now, than I've ever been.

Yes, and your lesson my friend, this time around has been one of patience, patience. And I think you will agree with me, when I say that you find it more increasingly easier to tolerate others and to show more patience with them.

Margaret: Yes that's true, thank you.

Thank you.

Les: Lilian?

Lilian: I've found great strength from the teachings that you've given to us. I do fall a bit short, when times are not quite so easy, when I find it hard to remember, but I do find great strength from them. (Yes) I hope I've grown spiritually as well.

Yes, my dear friends, there can be no doubt that you all have grown so much since first we met—please do not doubt this. There is no question that each one of you has grown. I wish you could see how bright you shine, since first I came to you. But as you cannot, then please accept my words, when I tell you that you are beacons of individual light, when you leave this room. Before your lights were dimmer, but now I say to you, each one grows brighter and brighter, as our association continues. Now let me return to the lady. This one has needed much strength in her lifetime and she has suffered from many doubts. So her lesson for herself, has been strength in her own convictions and she also still struggles, she brings these doubts to herself and always questions what she knows to be right. I think she would agree with me please? She gives much upliftment to others, but fails to do so for herself, thank you.

Lilian: Yes I understand that thank you.

Les: Dawn?

Dawn: I just feel that I'm going with the flow, following my intuition.

Yes, but you my dear friend, have struggled throughout this lifetime with fear, fear of many things—fear of yourself also, would you not agree? (Yes) Yes, but as life continues for you, you have developed a sense of strength within yourself, although it does not subside the fears within you. Your lesson this time around, is fear. And you must, my dear friend, learn to let go of all fear. It is negative energy, which you can do without. Fear not, you are protected well. (Thank you.) This is a lady, who also can teach others to fear not, but does not teach herself the same lessons. I think she would understand this.

Dawn: Yes. Thank you.

Yes. Thank you

Les: That just leaves me then. Well I have been and am conscious of, the only way I can put it is, great vistas of opportunity ahead and great happiness, as somebody else has mentioned and a tremendous companionship all the time; it is something I never used to experience and I find it difficult to fully realise the amount of companionship, I do get now and I know it does exist and I think you'll understand when I say I am learning the secret of spiritual growth, and giving to others, in spite of myself.

Yes, I think your words clarify what is going on in your life at this time. In this lifetime dear friend, you have learned to encapsulate the love given by many; you have given much and you have received much. But you needed to learn in this lifetime, that what you give, you must receive tenfold and as you reach your mature years, you have reached the understanding, you have reached that 'vista', as you put it, the vista of love, which surrounds you always. Your lessons this time, have been lessons of loss, which you have coped with well and I would say that for the main part, you have achieved, but sometimes creeps in a little sadness at that loss, when you should be rejoicing, instead of allowing sadness to creep in, you understand?

Les: Yes I do, it doesn't often happen, it's just very occasionally.

No, but let me say dear friend, that in this lifetime, you have learned well. (Thank you.)

I would say to each one of you, that it makes me so happy to be associated with each one, with your own individual patterns of existence. To see you come together, as one force of light, to bring with you the love and the strength of the whole. Now I will say about the lady who cannot speak at this time.

(Sue) That she has much also to learn from this lifetime. Her pathway at times has been quite rocky I would say. So I would say also, that this one has come to learn the lesson of forgiveness and patience. Each important in its own way, and again I would say she struggles with both, but ultimately will gain, as life continues for her.

So dear friend, if you have question this time, I will take one before I leave you.

Les: Thank you, yes I have one which I think will interest everybody. We have heard much about your schools of learning, halls of learning and we have had people speaking to us from your world, who classify themselves as, 'Keepers of the Records,' and have explained the types of records they were interested in. But in view of the incomprehensible number of records there must be of people in your world, I have wondered how they are stored and how access is allowed. Are they stored as a form of energy, which can be drawn upon, by those conversant with the process? They can't all be inscribed on vellum I imagine.

No, no, no—we have spoken before of rooms of knowledge, but when we speak of storing all of these lives, it is a thought-form. It can be materialised onto—you call 'vellum', but it is a different material we speak of. But it is stored in the thought energy form.

Les: I thought it must be.

We do not keep libraries as you know them on the Earth planet. But you know the power of thought can produce anything you so desire. But to be able to be in touch with these records, we have keepers, as you know, who would be, shall we say, 'In charge,' but that is not the correct words to use. We have keepers of records, when they are allowed to materialise. You see, people who wish to look at these records and all of you, could if you so wished and desired, take that step into our world to look at these records—there is no reason why you could not. So you understand that they would not be able to use the thought-form, so we have to provide something they are familiar with, you understand?

Les: Yes I do, the thought-form is beyond them, beyond their understanding.

Yes, so it is made available to them, in our schools of learning and in our halls of records.

Les: And that is the job of the keepers, (Yes) to translate them, from the thought pattern, into an acceptable method for the inquirer to understand?

Yes, yes, it is not as simple as it would seem, but for your earthly understanding, we use the term 'records,' and 'schools of learning,' because those are terms that you would understand in words that are available to you, on your planet. When we speak of deep matters, always the difficulty is, in trying to translate spiritual aspects of living, to those of you who—(?)

Les: Yes I imagine it must be very, very difficult. It's like a newly born child trying to understand a computer.

Yes, if you can equate that, then you begin to have a little understanding, of the gap between us and thereof, there are so many stages which you must pass through, to begin to understand, the pure energies of balance. When that stage is reached, there is no need of explanation; it is there, the understanding is there, therefore no words are necessary, no records are necessary, no teachers are necessary; for all is of the same energy. Is that a little clearer to you?

Les: Yes it is. Of course we don't understand it, but it certainly is clearer. It removes a lot of misconceptions I had, about the keeping of records.

Yes, you are visualising rooms, you are seeing earthly visions, when in fact you should be expanding vision to higher ideals. (True.)

Now I think this time I must leave you and I say to you all dear friends: Continue your lives in love and hope, in the knowledge that each one is surrounded by those loved ones and helpers, who are close to you. Know that what we aim to achieve, is and will be a reality and if you can continue to be patient, we can achieve so much. (Thanks expressed)

Les: Thank you very much, we all thank you very sincerely for what you have told us tonight and our love goes with you.

One swiftly followed through Eileen, with a message for Margaret, from her grandmother followed by another, who called himself Jacko and who did a very good job of lightening/clearing the energies, before we closed.

~11th August 1997~

Forgive me if I seem slow starting this time, but there are reasons for this, as you may well know.

Les: Of course. The time doesn't matter—the main thing is you're here with us.

We have with us this time, one who feels a little trepidation of the occasion. Let me assure her, that we come only in love and she will be encompassed within that great love.

Les: I'm sure she will and thank you for letting her know. She is very interested in the work we do and as you probably know, she attends our other meetings.

Yes, it is known. Let me say this to you: This one has spent much time in fear and ill-knowledge that has been given to her. It warms us to know, that now she has been welcomed into our fold, if you accept the term please. This one has much spiritual knowledge, but is in fear of it still. But now we have her, we can help her along. (Good.) I will say only this to her, on this occasion, that the latter number of her years, will be devoted fully, to the work of spirit.

Les: You hear that Dee?

Dee: Yes, thank you.

We have little doubts, but let me assure her, it will come to pass.

Les: Good, I know you wouldn't say it, if it wouldn't come true, I know. You have so much experience with you, we have no doubt.

I would like to say to one more individual, before we have some questions please. I wish to speak to the one known to you are Lilian. I hope she has been feeling much more uplifted since last we met, because many are around her, at this particular time. She should now be feeling the lethargy, which she has felt for some time, it now should be lifting and life should be feeling good with you.

Les: Have you been feeling that Lilian?

Lilian: Yes, thank you, especially at one time today.

Yes, you have been given much help, since last we spoke.

Lilian: Thank you very much.

It is always good to hear the spoken word, as I told you last time, not for me because I know, but in order that the others here, may know that we are aware of what is happening in your lives, you understand?

Les: Yes we do, and it would be of help us all if we remembered that more frequently. I'm afraid we don't and I'm right in saying this I believe, we don't think of it nearly often enough.

Well, can I repeat once more: After all, you are only human. (Chuckles)

Les: Yes, thank you for your patience with us and your understanding.

Now, do we have questions this time?

Les: One I would like to follow on from what you said about the lady Dee, about being accepted into the halls of learning.

No, no, no, no I did not say that. I said that we are happy that she has been taken into the folds of your group.

Les: Oh I see sorry, I misunderstood you.

That we enfold her, into our love and we have waited for her to come to us.

Les: Good. These things happen when they're intended, don't they?

Unfortunately my friend, she is quite some way, before she would be likely to join us in our halls of learning.

Les: Ah yes, I misunderstood, that's why I wanted to clarify it, (Yes) thank you. I think my age is affecting my hearing.

Do not allow it, my dear friend.

Les: No, I ignore it.

No do not ignore it, work upon it, work upon it.

Les: Yes I will. It's not too bad, but occasionally the words get a little bit blurred I must say, but I will work upon it. I've had so many things to work upon—(Laughter)—I'd forgotten that, but I will do it, thank you!

Does it not keep you interested?

Les: Yes, now does anybody have a question?

Lilian: Yes, I wondered if you could explain a little more about our Higher Selves.

What aspect do you wish me to explain to you?

Lilian: Well, it's just that we understand that there is a Higher Self, but what is the Higher Self exactly?

It—I do believe we have spoken before, but I will say a few words more, to help you understand. I think that when you speak about your Higher Selves, you kind of separate this physical being, from the Higher Self—this is not so. Remember you are Spirit, clothed in these physical beings. The Higher Self is the true self, the all-knowing self, which is within each one of you, here and now. It is not a separate entity that you can tap into, it is YOU—it is the spiritual aspect of you.

Lilian: Yes, that makes much more sense.

You felt that the Higher Self was separate from you?

Lilian: Yes I did.

Yes, I think too many people on this planet see it such that they do not fully understand when we speak to them that they are Spirit. Are you happy now, with that explanation?

Lilian: Yes thank you that makes it much clearer.

Les: Yes, you've told us many times Salumet that we'd better understand if we thought of ourselves as spiritual beings, rather than physical beings. I think we are working on that everybody, aren't we? (Agreed)

If you want to continue to grow, you must work with that self, that spiritual being, that being that has all-knowledge. And I know those words do not come easily to you, but dear friends, you have all-knowing powers within you, in what you call the higher self; knowledge which you can 'tap into'—I believe that is the expression used by many. You can tap into the Higher Self, but remember this: The Higher Self IS you, it is you—I would say the real you. Forget about the physical being; see yourselves as the great Spirits you have become. Know that all things are possible to you, if you so desire to work towards them. It is all there for you—do not separate that real knowledge, from what you have now and know to be the knowledge of the physical. The Higher Self encompasses the physical, the physical does not encompass the Higher Self. Do you understand my friends? (Affirmed) If you have any doubts, let us clear them this time.

Les: Has anyone any doubt? It's difficult to understand I know, but can we accept the principal, everybody? (Agreed) That's the main thing—then of course we can work towards that principal, all the time, that our Higher Self exists, in spite of everything else, that we can't do anything about it, so we might as well aim for it.

The Higher Self is eternal—you cannot be rid of it; it is the very spark of your being.

Les: And would it be right to classify that also as what we call the mind, not the brain, which we know is physical—but the mind.

The term 'mind,' is used as belonging to the spirit. Yes, there have been many descriptions, over your earthly years. But yes, the mind is the part of the spirit, which is the all-knowing part. The mind is spirit—you cannot separate into little compartments, different parts of spirit. Although we have spoken about many aspects, we are speaking on a different subject when we say that. But the mind, the mind is all things.

Les: Yes, I wanted to make sure we all understood, the mind is completely separate from the brain, which is merely a physical organ (Yes) and the mind is spirit.

Yes. There has been much spoken about these subjects upon your Earth. Many of your scientists try to explain the mind, but they cannot, because the mind after all is spirit and they cannot use logic only, to explain it. You can explain the brain, because it is physical and it must come to pass that the brain dies, when the physical body is about to be expired, you understand?

Les: Yes we do, that the mind continues to exist, as the Higher Self.

Call it what you will dear friends. I prefer that you know yourselves just as spirit—it simplifies all other aspects of knowledge. You are eternal spirit, you return to that eternal spark of life, from which we all come. It is simple and I would like you to try to visualise it as such. There is too much extraneous matters talked about, which is unnecessary and is most confusing.

Les: Yes, I would agree with you completely.

It creates too many questions, too many queries and we find that when many come to our side of life, they are puzzled by what they have been told, when in fact it is simple and should be taught so. So my dear friends, let us begin anew this time, let us say to each one, we will think with a simple mind, because spirit is simple. It is real, it is all love and no other explanation really is necessary for you.

Les: No, I was thinking about that today as I was watching a flock of birds reeling about, all moving as one and it occurred to me that our conditioning within the universal consciousness, must be something like that?

Yes, the concept of the cosmos, is also another subject, which creates havoc amongst the thinking of you human beings. But if you can find your own analogies, then I would say to you, think about it, but don't become so engrossed, that you become confused. Think upon it each day, if you must—always look for the most simple explanations or analogy that you can find. In so doing, your understanding will be greater.

Les: I must admit, it did help me, when I suddenly thought of that—one bird being a part of the whole and not being aware of any differentiation at all.

Let us take another example, each one of you here this time, feels part of the whole I am sure, when you sit together on these evenings. I am sure as you come together, you blend in unity. So you have become a stronger aspect of yourselves, do you follow me? (Affirmed)

Les: And I think that blending is done by the Higher Selves of each of us, without our physical selves being aware of it.

Yes, it is simple and you have not constricted the thinking, by using the physical brain. It happens naturally and it is a joy to see. I hope that has clarified a little for you, the subject of your what you term, 'Higher Self,' but what we from now on will call simply: The real YOU —SPIRIT.

Les: Right, everybody happy with that? (Agreement + thanks) Are you able to take another question?

I will answer one more please.

Les: One more question somebody? (Pause) Well I will ask one: You told us a long time ago Salumet, that when we were discussing the impact of free will, upon the plans made for each entry into this planet, that if free will created by somebody else, caused an earlier departure from the planet than had been anticipated, that soul or spirit, is cocooned, if I can use that word, until such time as he or she would have come normally. Is that so?

Yes, they are protected, we cannot allow innocent souls—we are speaking again on deep matters, but when soul is returned to us, caused by the free will of another, this cannot be allowed, because in fact it is interference of another's life.

Les: That's what I thought.

Yes, so we must protect the soul from harm. Was there a specific point that you wish to know?

Les: No, that covers it all, thank you very much, because several times I've thought about the impact of free will upon the predetermined plan for the soul, but since you do shelter it until the arranged time becomes due, then that's the whole answer. (Yes) Thank you very much indeed.

Mark: Could I say just—when that person is sheltered, presumably they have to be given knowledge from experiences they should have had on Earth, wouldn't they, to catch up with later on?

They would be given the opportunity, as all souls have—they would be helped and instructed in what has happened, because sometimes they do not fully understand, or can be reconciled to why their earthly time was terminated, when they knew that they had longer to live. Do you understand? (Yes) Therefore, they would be helped in making judgement on whether to return and fulfil those plans which they intended to follow, or whether they can continue within our world, and continue to learn. Always, always we have choice, you follow? (Yes)

Les: Any other question on that? (Pause) Well, thank you very much Salumet, for a most interesting evening again—we do appreciate it.

Our new lady here will be feeling a little confused by the subjects this time, but her understanding will come and I feel that she will have many questions for you afterwards.

Les: I'm sure she will and I'll be quite happy to answer them and if she wishes to come another time, and wishes to learn more, she'd be welcome again.

She can contribute much.

Les: Yes she has a lot of power I know; we have found that on the Wednesday meetings.

Now dear friends, I leave you this time—I leave you all, with much to think upon once more. I do believe that you will consider my words this time and that enlightenment will come, as I know it already has, to the lady who asked the question to begin with.

Lilian: Yes, thank you

It is almost like we see little lights being shone within the being of the person, who suddenly realises, 'Ah—it is not so difficult now, to understand.'

Les: Good, yes we thank you once more for your explanations; every meeting our knowledge increases and our gratitude to you increases.

No, I ask not for gratitude my friend.

Les: No I know you don't, but it's a human thing we like to do.

Yes I see that you now can blame your human aspect of yourself, on many things. (Chuckle)

But I know and I accept the love which you give to me—and let me leave you and say that that love is returned many-fold. (Thanks + farewells)

~25th August 1997~

No Salumet this week as Eileen was absent.

Les gives this introduction to the tape for this session:

Some months ago there was published a book by author Michael Drosnin, called 'The Bible Code.' It gives a wealth of detail, about hitherto unknown codes, hidden within the original Hebrew version of the Bible, the Torah. (First 5 books of the Old Testament) This book is the result of years of research by biblical scholars and mathematicians. The information given is so extraordinary and prophecies given so accurate, as to be almost unbelievable. In late May of this year, the Daily Mail newspaper published three days of extracts from the book and each member of our group was given a copy. At this evening's meeting, it was decided that we would discuss this, because of the absence of Eileen and Sue, the mediums most commonly used, and two or three others. George had since our last meeting, read much of the book, and began speaking about it, when a communicator came through Leslie. Because of the information we were then given, this tape will be included with other recordings from Salumet, since the subject matter is much the same. At the end, when the communicator said, 'I was one of the writers,' Leslie felt great emotion from the speaker and an awareness of memory of it having been a single honour to be so used. This evening's recording now begins:

Apologises for the time it takes on this occasion, but you understand there is much less power available. I'll be with you in a few minutes.

George: Yes we understand.

We were pleased to hear you say, you would have a discussion on spiritual matters and we would suggest if we may, that we shall whilst listening, be ready to—not interfere, but to join in your discussion, if you are agreeable to this happening?

George: Yes that would be wonderful.

I would dispute the use of your word 'wonderful,' my friend—I'm not yet in that category. We have certain information perhaps, that we can give you, but we would not say yet that we are wonderful—perhaps we think so ourselves, but we do not expect others to think so. (Chuckles) Nevertheless, we do understand and appreciate your kindness.

George: Well, I still tend to think of the between-worlds communication, as a wonderful thing.

It is indeed, it is indeed and you are fortunate in being able to experience it at this stage in your lives, because when you join us, you will not have to go through the usual inconveniences of explanations and wonderment and puzzlement, as to the differences between what you find and what perhaps you've frequently been told, during your stay upon this planet. You are fortunate in being together again and also fortunate in having the opportunity to learn so much, which of course, you will not have to learn, when you come to us.

George: Yes, we appreciate that and we appreciate you coming through, with what must be so little power, at this time.

I will leave you now my friends, to your physical discussion, and if necessary and if it seems desirable, I will take the liberty, of joining you again, or if I do not, then one of my colleagues, more versed in the particular matter, that you may be discussing, will use this instrument instead. (Thanks expressed) God be with you my friends and thank you for attending, in what we know to be one of your so-called holidays.

Our discussion began shortly afterwards, after a bit of light adjustments and chatter:

George: Well, Margaret has done very well in getting an early copy of this book, which has been published this year. It seems to be a very, very important book, and it concerns the first 5 books of the Bible—the Old Testament, which is sometimes referred to as the Pentateuch. I think in the Jewish genre, it would be called the Torah. It has been known for some time, that you can apply a 'skip code,' to the original Hebrew letters—I believe within the Jewish faith, they've been careful to keep to the original Hebrew script. It's believed that the Commandments and these first 5 books were handed to Moses on Mount Sinai. It's been known for quite some time, that if you keep all the letters of those first 5 books in their proper order, but if you take the first letter of each chapter and then jump 50 letters, and another 50 and another 50 and so on, using a crude 50-jump skip code, the word Torah, is spelled out, for each of those 5 books—it seems to be a marker.

Les: I believe George that everyone has read the summary that you had, so they know all that at the moment. Have you all read it? (Affirmed) So it saves you going over all that we know.

George: Yes I did read it. Having read the book as well, I'm likely to confuse the two a little, but Doctor Eli Rips is the mathematician, who has given it a more sophisticated treatment and he has devised a computer program, such that all these letters of the first 5 books, are maintained in their order, but they can be given various line-lengths. So you could have rows of 20 or 3000 letters.

Sallie: Could I ask a very basic question? You've said that for years it's been known that if you took every 50th letter, it would come up with like a key—why did people start doing that initially? Why did they start playing around with it?

George: There is a suggestion with the Bible writings themselves, that there is something special—a book within a book, a sealed book, is the term used, so people like Sir Isaac Newton, carefully looked at the Bible, to investigate the possibility.

Sallie: Do you know where in the Bible, that's implied.

George: Several places, in Ezekiel, for one.

It comes in Revelation as well.

Les: And until the computer was available, nobody was able to break the code.

Sarah: I don't know if it would be too much of a question to ask, if they could tell us who actually wrote the Bible in the first place?

Les: Many people.

Sarah: But I mean, to get this code in there —

George: Well, so far as we know, this book, the Torah, was given to Moses on Mount Sinai.

Sarah: But someone has written the book, haven't they? It must have been somebody with this higher intelligence —

George: Some would suggest that it was inspired by God, via—unknown.

Les: It was the work of many people, let's be brief on it, many learned people. The Dead Sea Scrolls for instance, were buried for thousands of years and didn't come to light till comparatively recently—a number of people are responsible for the—not one person, not one origin —

Leslie begins to breathe deeply and channelling begins:

As we suspected might happen my friends, you have come to the first hurdle. Now we know that you call what is known as God, or whatever you prefer, you call the Great Creator—there is a simple explanation for the writing of so many words. You will understand that the Master Jesus, did not himself deliver all the speeches that are attributed to him, neither did he deal with all the people he is supposed to have dealt with. Did he not have disciples to do the work for him? (Agreed) Similarly, in the writing of the great words to which you now refer—and we shall not call it the Bible or the Torah, or whatever—we do not wish to classify the words under any particular name; they originate from the Great Creator and the Great Creator as you may well know, has many, many, many helpers, at the command of his wishes—we say 'him' and 'his,' but of course there is no sex involved, as you will appreciate. We use it merely for convenience of speech, please let us be clear on this. (Agreed)

George: Yes, we appreciate our language is limited on this.

You have been told on numerous occasions, that the Great Creator is energy, energy in many, many forms and many of those forms are beyond your awareness, or understanding, or even comprehension. (Yes) They will not become apparent to you, until such time, as you have developed much, much further, upon the spiritual pathways before you. But, through the Great Creator's energy, energy is dissipated through others, who HAVE attained, much nearer perfection, in their spiritual lives and it is they, regardless of their name, their country, their race, their habits, their clothing, their wealth, their poverty—it is they, who are responsible for the original writings, which you now classify under different names. Do you understand me? (Affirmed) There is only one Source and that is from the Great Creator of not only this planet not only your lives, but of the Universe—KEEP THIS IN MIND. You tend to put too small a significance on the Creator; you cannot imagine the power of the thought that is there. So do not give credit to any one person, to any one dozen of people; the credit is due to the thought, which has been relayed from the Great Creator, to the thought patterns and energies, of those worthy to write the words required to be written. Is this clear? (Agreement + thanks) So do not make the mistake of giving credit to any one person, any one place, any one time. It is a combination of many events that is culminating now, in your awareness which is encompassing your world.

George: Yes, we appreciate The Source and your word, 'worthiness' in regard to those who help.

It is unfortunate that in the human race, the application of a word often indicates infallibility and if such and such is in the Bible, then it must be so—if such and such is in the Torah, it must be so—if such and such is elsewhere, it must be so. All that must be so is that it need NOT be so, because though those worthy people were entrusted with the tasks of writing the word from the Great Creator, they were not infallible and unfortunately they were sometimes using their own thought-patterns, to colour what they wrote. Do you understand? (Affirmed)

Sallie: Can I ask you something?

Yes please.

Sallie: Could that be perhaps the reason why there is a hidden code within the book, because the Bible, though it was mainly created through the Creative Forces pattern, it was relayed by people and therefore I understand why it could have been misconstrued by so many different cultures and different interpretations put on it. So could that be why there is a code, to try and give a clearer understanding of what was trying to be relayed?

That is a good question my lady and you are right in your assumptions—there was fallibility as I said. There was also you remember, much duplicity in the hierarchy of your world, during the many generations of its existence. Satisfaction had to be given to the rulers—things were changed according to the demands of the time and the responsibility of the power of those who had that responsibility. Therefore things were altered from what was intended in the original writing. Your own Bible has had seven major translations, each of which varies from the other. Why do you think there are so many notations in the columns of your church bibles, only because there is a lack of understanding of the actual meaning of the word or phrase. There are many possibilities, according to the interpretation and according to the bias placed on the original writing, by the author. Does that answer your question so far?

Sallie: Yes it does.

You have been told also, that all has been always—all will be. Therefore in the wisdom of the Great Creator, it was known that many mistakes would be made in the interpretation of the writings. It was also known, that at this period, from within your physical world, your scientists would produce the means, of discovering the ‘book within the book.’ You would NOT as human beings, up to this time, have had an inkling, of how to deal with the information that is now available and which will pull upon you, in the future. Your machines, which I think you call computers, will verify much that has been imagined and because of the power which they will have, you as human beings becoming enlightened—not yet enlightened, but becoming enlightened, will, because of the energy inherent in those machines, be able to accept what is said, because you know they cannot lie—any misinformation which will be placed in them, will in due course, itself be segregated and shown to be false. This is something you have to look forward to! You do not realise the power that is and can be generated in these new instruments. They will seek out falsehoods in their own capacities. Keep this in mind. They will not in the future, be subject to human interference, to human dictatorship—not when TRUTH is at stake.

George: Yes, we can be grateful to the computer logic and can rely upon it.

It is logic my friends, such as you have no comprehension of at this stage. Computer logic will, as a result of directions from the Great Creator, overcome what is called ‘human logic,’—not in your lifetime, but it will come and falsehoods, will no longer be tolerated. Do you understand this? (Affirmed) You talk much about the millennium, but you cannot have any conception of what the millennium will bring to this planet. Some of you will begin to see SOME of the beginning. But most, I’m sorry I have to tell you, will not be apparent upon this Earth, until you have joined us in our worlds, when you can then look down and remember what is being told to you now—because you quite possibly in your enlightened spiritual awareness, will be part of the ‘creative necessity,’ which is planned for this Earth. Do you understand? (Affirmed) Now do you have any questions upon what I have told you?

George: Well I’d just like to say that’s all very good news and very good to hear. We have our confused thoughts on things—it’s very good to have things made clearer.

I’m glad to hear that it is clearer for you, because I must confess myself, I do not fully understand what is going to be given to this planet. There is a limit to what I am permitted to know, because I too can be fallible and to tell to too much, may be incorrect. Therefore I tell you what I am permitted to tell and hope that it will give you courage to continue in your work and to enlighten you still further, for your journeys upon your respective spiritual pathways. (Thanks expressed) Now if you have no more questions I will leave you and give this throat a rest, it is becoming difficult for the instrument. (Les had a cough) God be with you my children. (Thanks expressed) I will tell you one last thing I’m permitted to say—you will probably be surprised: I was one of the original writers given power by the Great Creative Force. God bless you—

General thanks + farewells and we discussed what had been said for the remainder of the meeting.

~1st September 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

This time, my dear friends, let us begin by joining together. Let me speak for you:

We ask Oh Great Creative Force, help us to control our wayward senses, help us to know the player of them, help us to control fear with hope, despair with joy, sadness with happiness. Help us to gather that power and light within us that we may go forward, to help all of mankind. Of these things, we ask help and encouragement and light.

(Thanks)

Do we have questions this time?

Les: Yes I do have one. I don't know whether you would be able to answer, but I'm going to ask it. We have just had a very tragic loss, in the lady we call Princess Diana, and I was thinking about all the good work she has done and the tremendous emotional response, her passing has engendered in the population as a whole—most extraordinary. I come to the question answered before, about leaving according to the prearranged plan, or leaving this life earlier, by the exercise of freewill on the part of another, or others. Are there ever any circumstances, in which you in your world would be permitted to interfere with freewill, because of the plans which had been made for good work to be done here?

I understand and I await your questions. We know and feel of the great emotional love, which has arisen from your planet. I will say only this to you my dear friend: The endeavour to work well in your world, does not give you a passport to eternity. We know and we understand that when someone who has touched the hearts of many, passes to our world, it leaves you all feeling at a loss. But let me say this to you: Freewill cannot be interfered with, whilst you remain on this earthly planet; there is no circumstance, which would allow us to make that interference—it will not happen. You know and you understand that when you come to this life, you know when you will return to us. We can help, we can support, we can encourage, but we cannot interfere; we cannot interfere with free will. I do not feel that you can truly understand the great plan that lies before. When you see a young woman such as you speak of, you see her only in her physical clothing, who has done good in your world. Let me say this to you: Rejoice my friends, for she has returned home, as have the others who were with her. It is not for any one of you, to consider these happenings as what you term 'tragedies,' they are not, they are part of the plan of living in your world. I can tell you, that this lady, who has become known to you all, had a premonition of her life's end. But because of the pace of living, she would never have spoken openly about it. She was indeed a spiritual being, who had grown much over the last few years of her living. This may not be known to you, but her spiritual knowledge was quite great. And therefore, that is why the humanitarian side of her nature came to the fore, as she grew older in your earthly years.

Les: Yes, she certainly did change an awful lot.

I would like to say to you all, she has become an idol in your world. You feel sad at her passing, because of young years, because of the goodness that could be seen. I say this to you my dear friends: Look not to any idol in your world, because in doing so, you diminish the expression of love that belongs, or should belong to all of mankind. I know you may find my words to be harsh, they do not mean to sound so, but I wish you all to look beyond your physical thinking once more. Always we must return to the spiritual being and what lies ahead.

Les: Thank you for that. And another one you may not wish to answer, would I be right in presuming that it was her time to depart this Earth?

Of course—she had the knowledge of this passing, because of her own spirituality, but she would not have accepted any degree of restraint, whilst living her life here.

Les: Right well we shall try to think of her in those terms then and not be sad, but be happy that she's with you.

Rejoice for her, for the life that she has led. Although she has endured many troubles, as most of you do. After all, how can you grow, if you do not face adversity? (Agreed)

She is special only to you, because of her position in life. She has achieved no more than many unknown people, who are exercising their love of humanity, with (?) around your planet.

Les: Yes we can understand that and accept it.

So, in realising this dear friends, send out joy for the life that she lead, for the love she bestowed on others and look forward to knowing that she will continue in giving love to those she has left behind.

Les: Good, I'm sure we're all comforted to know that—I am anyway I know. (Agreed)

She was with us quickly, if that will ease your burden of mind.

Les: Thank you very much.

I would wish that your whole planet could move away from these occasions of deep mourning. When will you realise that death is not for sorrow, death is to rejoice, because to us my dear friends, it is your birth, it is your birth in returning home to those who have loved and who have helped you throughout your earthly trials.

Les: That has given us a great deal of comfort and we do appreciate you having told us, particularly that it wasn't an act of freewill, on the part of others.

Her time was here—her time had come.

Les: Good. Then we wish her God's speed.

Do not mourn her; she will know that she has been much-loved—she is aware! I do not wish you to speak of anyone who passes to this world, as if they are forgotten; they are vibrant, they are alive, more alive than you my dear friends.

Les: Yes we can accept that too! (Chuckles)

So, mourn not, but rejoice in the life that she has lived.

Les: And we hope that she will be with her companion too, who went with her.

I know much was spoken in your world, because she was someone well-known. Throughout your world, the awareness of this 'great love,' as you call it, was not in fact a great love, but a great compassion, a great feeling that both could share. I can tell you—perhaps I should not, it is not what I come to teach, but she truly was in love with the one that she called husband. But that is more than enough on that subject.

Les: Yes, well we shan't mention it outside this room. We appreciate the confidence and shall respect it—thank you for telling us Salumet, it gives me great comfort. It was difficult for us to understand the reasons, but now you've said her time had come, we are happy for her.

She did not suffer, she was with us quickly, as was the others—I can assure you the suffering that you peoples think upon, did not exist.

Les: Thank you very much for that—we do hope that in time this whole planet will be aware that they should not mourn, but be joyful when death occurs.

I would like to say only this to you: If only you could feel the vibrations of grief that exudes from your world, when occasions such as we speak of occur, you would be shocked by them. The whole energy pattern which surrounds your planet is affected by such grief. It affects not only the vibrations of your Earth, but those who await those who come to us. It is difficult to surround the planet with love, when so much grief abounds. That is why I ask you dear friends, in your individual thoughts, hopes and desires, that you replace grief with love, with loving thoughts for all those who are in need.

Les: We shall be able to do that with confidence now, shan't we? (Agreed) And again I do want to thank you for what you have told us.

I know I have said my task is not to personalise details, but sometimes I feel that you need the comfort of these small details, to encourage you, to uplift you, to help you to understand, that life is so much more than you fully understand at this time.

Les: Yes and when you talk to us like this, it does help us to a greater understanding of it, which is why we're so appreciative of the words.

Now, dear friends, I will take my leave this time. I encompass you in love, in order that you too, can extend your love to others. (Thanks expressed)

There then followed a sweet little girl through Eileen called Alison. She talked with that special child's simplicity, about her life in the Spirit realms, her love of the little animals, a pet dormouse called Tiny, singing trees and her new friends—

Another followed through Eileen, briefly bringing news about next meeting—it will be one of much good heart and lightness—an evening of pleasure. This is what I have come to say, and this is all I wish to say—

~8th September 1997~

Due to the gloom that seemed to surround the planet after the death of Princess Diana, a light/fun evening was planned. Salumet did not speak—all of the communicators came through Eileen:

Why I have been chosen to open this evening, I do not know. I am told there will be much laughter this time; something I was not familiar with I have to add. So I think they are amused that I have been given an instrument, with things on these! (Laughter)

Les: Earrings yes. You didn't wear them I gather.

Gentlemen do not wear such things, do they?

Lilian: They do these days. (Agreed)

Not in my day. I would be most offended if I had been alive in your—

Les: Well I wouldn't dream of wearing them, but many men do nowadays. I think it's a silly habit, but there you are. They prefer to do it, so —

Now I understand I have colour on my lips! I hope they are amused. (Chuckles)

Les: If it's any consolation, sometimes they do it in reverse you know—they put a lady through a gentleman.

I was told I could make a choice—obviously not! (Laughter)

Les: You're taking it with good humour and we appreciate it, because it is a special evening I know tonight, to dispel all the gloom that is around the world.

I am happy you are happy—you send me back in gloom! No I do not mean that my friends. Now let us be serious, because this time I'm told that there will be much laughter, that all of you will feel inclined at some time during this evening, to feel amused by something or another. Can you all please, however silly it may seem, either say, or smile or laugh, or do whatever comes intuitively to you all. (Agreed)

Les: Yes of course, we look forward to joining in with the humour.

That my friend includes you also—you may feel things are out of your control this evening, but be assured, we hold full responsibility—

Les: I happily leave it with you.

Now, may I say I happily take your leave—

Another followed guffawing with infectious laughter, (One who'd been before) through Eileen. This really got the evening going—raising spirits.

One followed through Eileen, joking about someone with itchy feet. Mark had a verruca, and had been scratching his feet a bit that day, which had caused amusement. He relayed an incident involving the acidic treatment and how some must have got onto his pants as he pulled them up, because something started stinging once he'd pulled them up! (Of course, this had caused much amusement in spirit realm at the time who were around Mark)

The next speaker encouraged us to be aware of someone around us, as we all had someone with us as we sat. She also talked to Sallie about when she used to cut her dolly's hair, as a child. Sitters voiced sensations around the face, as of sunshiny smiles and Sarah had an encounter with a weasel.

We then recited a nursery rhyme (Jack and Jill) and 'Twinkle twinkle little star,' for a group of children brought to us from the other side.

Several sitters sang/said other amusing and/ or sweet little rhymes, which amused the girl (Wilma) who came through Eileen, and probably the other children who we were told had gathered.

The evening came to a close with one through Eileen called Sister Marietta:

We, as we often say, are most grateful to you all, for your loyalty, your dedication to the work that you do. And feel that at times, you need to have a little upliftment from serious work, which goes on within this room. I therefore come to you to end this evening, to say to each one of you thank you for your time, and your patience and your continued loyalty to your work, which we endeavour to do. (Thanks expressed) Always when there are children involved, you will find me close by. I hope that you have enjoyed their company, those unseen children—but nevertheless, many have been here with you, this time. Their openness and their natural joy, is something that you should all treasure. If only your world could be more as children behave in your adult lives, all would maintain a degree of happiness, which is so easily lost, when you reach adulthood. Once more, we thank you all. I leave you with God's blessing and hope that each one of you leaves this place, enriched in the knowledge that you are surrounded by love and by those people, who come so close to you. We know that although most of you are unaware of their presence that will come to you, as time progresses. (Thanks expressed) Thank you for your time and I will say God bless and goodnight.

Les: Before you go, may I have your permission to give my colleagues your name to call on, if they have difficulties with children? (Of course.) This is Sister (Voice change as Les begins to channel) Marietta to call upon in time of trouble or need, when you deal with children. Whether your children or not is immaterial—Sister Marietta, will answer your call for help. Is this understood? (Affirmed) Thank you my friends, thank you. The Sister will be greatly pleased that you will use her powers to assist you, in the years to come. God be with you my children, God bless you all. (Thanks expressed)

After our usual closing prayer, there was another through Les offering a blessing/prayer:

May the peace of the Lord be with you at all times.

God protect and cherish you throughout your nights and days.

May you receive the love you give to others.

And may this evening have lightened your hearts and your spirits,

To overcome the mourning, which has surrounded so many in these last few of your earthly days.

God bless you all my children.

~22nd September 1997~

No Salumet this evening, but another communicator of high knowledge came through Eileen:

Please to forgive the delay. I have been asked to approach you on this occasion.

Les: You're very welcome, thank you.

I'm told this is a full meeting this time.

Les: Yes it is.

I think I am now ready to speak to you all.

Les: Thank you very much indeed.

If I do not make sense, please stop me. I am endeavouring to do my best on this occasion, but it is not something I am usually accustomed to.

Les: We do appreciate you doing it for us.

I come to tell you perhaps some things you do not fully understand or know. I come to instruct you a little, on the plurality of yourselves, of the whole, of the energy which you are. I know you have been instructed, that you are more than one—that you are many beings, which come together as a whole. I wish to instruct you this time that in this lifetime, the energy that you are, encompasses all knowledge. So therefore you are miniatures of all energies.

Les: That's very interesting to know.

You are not singular, in your personalities in one lifetime. All energy, all knowledge is contained within you and I wish to instruct you this time. Perhaps I can teach you a little, in getting to know yourselves a little better.

Les: We should be glad of that, because we are very confused very confused, quite often.

All of you, are what you term 'multiple personality'—encompassing you all as such. After all, do you not understand, do you not see within each one of you, these different traits—the tenderness, the gentleness, the anger, stubbornness? All of these belong to different parts of you.

Les: Is that so?

You bring them from other parts of you, because you are more than a single unit—that knowledge is contained within you, within the soul. And all of you are unaware, of how much power you could use, if only you but had the knowledge to use it.

Les: Yes, we have frequently been told that, the power of thought, has incredible power.

I know that the master has brought to you much in words and yet we know that you do not fully understand his words, simple as they may be, because he is a master of few words, but of simple words.

Les: True, we've learned a great deal from him, but we do find difficulty in realising that we are multiple personalities. He has explained it to us, but we still find it difficult to accept.

We know and we understand. I want to tell you just a little of my work. I am what I believe you would call a keeper of those who inspire others. All of you are aware no doubt, of the inspiration which comes to you at times? (Agreed) All of you should realise, know and understand, that at times in your living, there are times when the inspiration is strong. (Agreed) That is my task, that I control those who wish to help and to inspire you. It is a little known fact that such as I exist, but I bring this knowledge to you, because I have been instructed to. I know many of you believe and try to understand that there are many who surround you, who wish to help, to uphold and to uplift you.

Les: Yes we do believe that.

But you are not aware, that they also are under control, they also are helped and inspired and taught to use that inspiration wisely. That is my task; it is a complex one, it is an important one I feel and I can assure you, I have been honoured in being able to help so many.

Les: I'm sure it must be a very difficult and complex task for you?

But I don't say this, to make myself seem good to your eyes, I tell you this in order that you realise that the scheme of life of all of your lives, is much more complex, but also simple in its daily workings.

Les: And I can see the need for control that you may exercise, over those that perhaps become too enthusiastic in their help.

After all, when you possess plural personalities within your body, those who want to inspire you, how could they know which area of your life needs to be inspired?

Les: No, they couldn't, could they?

They need to be guided by those of us, who are aware of the wider scheme of life.

Les: We begin to see now I think, why we've been told frequently, that we are well protected; we can understand that.

Yes I do hope you can fully accept, because not only is it truth, but it is a necessary part of your living this life.

Les: It's cleared up a lot of things for us I'm sure, hasn't it? (Agreed)

Is there anything you would like to ask me?

Les: Yes, it indirectly bears on what you've been telling us tonight and I'm sure you'd be in a position to answer. At our other meeting, (Wednesday circle) we had some visitors, who after I had asked some questions, said that they came from another place, had heard of us and had been inquisitive enough, to want to come to see us. And we had an interesting conversation, which resulted in them telling us, that in effect, they are still primitive life forms and they described their appearance to us, which to us would indicate being partly like a jellyfish and partly like an insect, which our visitors likened to one of our ants. They then went on to say that they exist by absorbing energy, but when they were in the—I can only say physical term—they ate algae. This would indicate they were very primitive beings. But from what was said about them being energy, would indicate that that planet wherever it is, has planes of existence, following the physical, as this one has, which leads me to think that even embryonic life has a soul? Is that so?

The breathing became deeper/different, before the communicator spoke again:

I have to enquire where that information came from?

Les: From somebody we presumed to be a communicator, but we don't know where from. It was through one of our regular experienced mediums.

I have to tell you, you must reject that information.

(Breathing took a few moments to return to normal)

Forgive us.

Les: Yes of course. We only want to get to the truth of these things.

Whatever information has been given to you on that subject, you must reject. I do not say the communicator is at fault, but there has been entry here, which should not have been happening. This instruction comes not from me, but from a higher source.

Les: Thank you. It was one reason I asked the question, because I had suspicions myself.

But I am instructed to tell you, all energy is living, all form of life comes from the Source of all living. This conversation is changing course this time, because it is imperative that only truth be maintained. So I say to you, my instructions to you are this: Listen wisely, listen quietly, but listen here—you have the knowledge to know that what comes to you, may not always be the truth, even in such a place as this that is protected—always there is the chance, the opportunity for those free spirits, who wish, not always to cause mischief or trouble, but those who seek the Light, to enter and to give false information. It is not that the communicator is wrong, please do not accept that. It is that in our world that sometimes these things happen, even within well protected groups, as you are. You understand?

Les: Yes I do, I have had it occur before —

It does not happen often, but on this occasion, I am instructed to tell you to reject the information.

Les: Thank you, I was suspicious of what had been said, not of the medium, or the communicator, but the information which was being given.

Yes, yes and also it returns—I am being instructed this time to tell you, that I shall return on another occasion, in order to speak as was intended.

Les: I am sorry if I interrupted what was planned, (No) but I think it was important to clear the other matter.

We—I was not aware myself, but I know it is known and I will be instructed and have to tell you that I must leave you this time.

Les: I'm sorry if I caused you to leave.

It is no doing of yours, but I will return.

Les: Thank you we look forward to it, God bless you.

There then followed one through Sue:

There have been changes this time. The energy patterns have been—how can I tell you—they have been moved around this room, to accommodate the new perspective that we were given. Do you understand my meaning?

Les: I think so.

It may be a little difficult for you to comprehend, but before anyone here communicates through your friends, the energy patterns in the room, are set at certain levels and positions. Is that clear to you?

Les: Yes, I do follow that.

But because of the nature of your enquiry, try to imagine that energy flooded across the room, like waves upon your seashore and filtered through into this one, so that it was easier for that answer to be given. Can you comprehend a little of what I say to you?

Les: Yes I do and I'm sorry I interrupted the previous plan that you had, but it was a very important thing, that I had to get clear.

Of course, it is necessary for you to feel these—shall we say idiosyncrasies? You were aware that something was not quite as it should be, am I right?

Les: That's right.

Therefore, it is good that you picked up, how shall we say, the 'wrong vibrations.' It is good because now steps can be taken on our side, to ensure that this sort of problem happens very infrequently in the future.

Les: Yes it has happened very infrequently in the past. This is only about the third occasion, in all the years I've been working here, but it's something I wanted to clarify.

We are indebted to you, for bringing it to our attention, but to return to the energy waves—now unfortunately—how can I say, these energy waves, are like breakwaters upon shingle and they need to be calmed, ready for the next time your friends are all gathered in this room. (Thank you.) So we will spend a little quiet time now, with your permission, before we close this meeting, to try to shall we say, 'Iron out the wrinkles.' (Thank you.) Once again I say to you, we are indebted to you and will return as soon as we are able, to continue with the original discussion as planned.

Les: We look forward to that and give my apologies to the one who was speaking please.

No apology is required, or expected. (Thank you.) And now if you could give us just a small amount of quiet, we close in your normal way.

Les: Yes I think there is someone else wishing to speak to me first, but we shall be quiet anyway I thank you and wish you farewell.

(There were no other communications this evening in fact, but the speaker did indeed return on 06/10/1997)

~29th September 1997~

Good evening. (Welcomes)

This time I thank you for your patience, but it has enabled us to blend with each one of you here.

Les: Good.

You may not realise that each one of you moves on different vibrations, according to your own consciousness. So pauses to blend with each one of you in unison, requires some special work on our part.

Les: I don't think any of us realised that.

No, it is another part of the knowledge, which we wish to bring to you. (Thank you.) If you take runners in a race, the more advanced would be quicker and faster along the road, would they not? So it is with your spiritual development and consciousness, which gives to you, whilst inhabiting these heavy bodies, the right to vibrate at different speeds of energy.

Les: So we all vibrate at different rates, do we?

According to spiritual development only—of course you all belong to the one energy, but if you take the piece of wood, which also belongs to the same energy, the density and the heaviness, isolates the wood from quicker vibration. Do you follow?

Les: Yes we do. So if any of us had virtually no spiritual development, or no knowledge of spiritual life to come, we would be in effect, similar to a block of wood, would we, so far as spiritual vibrations are concerned?

Yes, that is a simplistic comparison, but yes.

Les: Yes it is simplistic I agree, but it illustrates what you have said.

So you see, each one of you within this room, varies slightly, according to your individual developments. Nevertheless, in unison, you become strength and create such vibration, enabling us to come to you. But this time, we have tried to mobilise and bring together, your individual vibrations together as one, in one space of time. Do you understand?

Les: Yes and what particular advantage does that serve? Does it enable you to give closer communication with us?

Not only will it enable each one of you to be closer to those around you, but we hope that it will endeavour us to enable myself to come to you more quickly. That is the purpose of this exercise.

Les: Thank you very much and having done it on this occasion, does that mean you'll be able to do it in future? Does the energy that you have manufactured, if I can put it that way, does it remain so that you can use it in future?

It is not static in that sense, but it has enabled us to know how to come more quickly to you. Therefore that knowledge, if I may use that word, will bring forth quicker communication next time.

Les: That's most interesting, because again, it parallels what you have said about the power of thought, doesn't it?

Yes, this has not been just one experiment I believe you might say, it has taken many of your earthly months to achieve.

Les: Thank you very much, for the effort you're making on our behalf.

I want to tell you dear friends, much is happening in our world, that you are not aware of—much which pleases us greatly, that all that is occurring within this temple of light, has brought us much joy, much hope that all good work will continue. I believe you might say, we have achieved a breakthrough. For this we will be eternally grateful, to all who enter this house. (Thank you.) I wish to say to you this time that the communicator who came to you last time, will return at a future stage, to continue what was to come last time.

Les: Thank you, we're pleased to know that. I'm sorry that I had to interrupt it—not intentionally, but with my question.

It was known, but it must be addressed, when the thought becomes alive—it has to be addressed. Therefore do not feel badly dear friend, there will be other times for speaking on the matters, which he brought to you.

Les: Good, we're very happy to know that he will be back.

And once more, it will be when all are present.

Les: Yes that's understandable, thank you.

I would like to say this time, that there are some of you, who are becoming aware of flashes of past times in your existence, but who feel that it is imagination. I speak mainly of the lady across the room, the one I believe is known to you are Sallie.

Les: Have you been having flashes of the past Sallie?

Sallie: I don't know—I don't really know.

It matters not, if her awareness at this time is not clear, but she should know that what she receives—and I can say it will be clear to her—then she must learn to accept.

Les: Thank you—you heard that Sallie?

Sallie: Yes I did, thank you.

Les: Do you have a question?

Sallie: Well, I don't know—I'm sorry my mind's not very clear at the moment. I'm very grateful for what you've said, I just have a bit of a muddily mind, I'm sorry.

Not to be concerned. Do we have questions this time, before I leave you?

Les: Yes, you were talking earlier of course about the blending of the vibrations of each of us. Would the vibrations of those who are not here tonight, interfere with what you have done when they do come here? Or would you be able to take them into it?

We have as I have said dear friend, worked for many months of your time, does that answer your question?

Les: It does indeed thank you, I had forgotten that —my faulty human memory again.

I did not wish to remind you.

Les: No, we appreciate your tact. (Chuckles)

I do try, because I understand that sometimes the human element of your souls, can be what you term, 'offended,' and we wish not to offend anyone, dear friend.

Les: I know that and that's why we love you so much and all of you who come here.

It has taken many aeons of time, for us to discover that human beings, have so many frailties. So therefore in all communications with you, we are very careful in trying to choose our words for you.

Les: You certainly do that and we appreciate it. Does anybody else have a question?

Let us say that for this time, I will leave you and allow those who work with all of you, to come even closer this time. (Thank you.) I would ask that anyone who feels any closeness, to respond and to tell you please.

Les: Yes, I hope they will. Thank you very much again for having been here with us. God bless you.

I leave you all with my love.

(Thanks + farewells)

There then followed one through Sue, who gave the name Red Fire, who said he was hoping to work more closely with Sue over the coming months.

There was a brief one through Sarah, who seemed to be coming, to demonstrate to another that it could be done.

Finally there was one through Eileen who asked that in our daily lives, could we send loving thoughts to those lost and lonely souls who find it difficult to come out of the darkness in those realm of spirit. She explained that though it is sometimes thought that there is help enough on their side of life, there can never be enough help: http://www.salumetandfriends.org/resources/1997_09_29+sister-help4lost+in+mist-7mins.mp3

...before we depart from you all this time, I come to you all with a desire, if you don't mind me saying so, to ask you dearly, if each one of you, could send thoughts to those dearly departed, who are so lost in our world. So many send thoughts for those in your world, who are sick, who are lonely, who are in need of our help. But my lovelies, can I say to you, there are so many in need of those thoughts, within our world. It is thought that they have help enough, but there can never be enough help. So I come to you this time, to ask each one of you that in your daily thoughts, could you send a thought, for the lost and lonely souls, who find it so difficult to come out of the darkness. (We all expressed our happiness to do this) I knew before I came to you that it would be a 'yes,' from you all, but indeed I felt it necessary to come and ask you personally.

Les: Good —there will certainly be a lot of thoughts flowing towards them. (Agreed)

There are so many who need help.

Les: —so many are not aware of what they have to expect.

My task is to help children, who I must say, are not lost for too long, but my plea to you, is for those others, who find it difficult to be helped. It is for them that I come to you, for that extra help.

Les: Those who won't open their minds, to what you want to give them.

Yes, for them and all others, who are in need, I thank you from the bottom of my heart and may I say that all of you will be rewarded for your efforts.

Les: Our reward will be in knowing that they can be helped.

They can and they will, but if only people on Earth would realise that they are not restricted to helping those in the human form. We know you have done much to help those in distress, we know you understand, so for this reason I come to you this time.

Les: We're very pleased to know that our thoughts can be of such help in your world.

I am being instructed to tell you, once more you are being taught the power of thought. I hope you understand that message and I will say to you my lovelies, may God be with you always, may there always be love within your hearts.

Les: God be with you sister.

Thank you.

Les: Goodbye to you and all those with you.

This was then immediately followed by one of these lost souls, who was found:

Hello mister, I've come just for a minute mister.

Les: You can come for as long as you wish.

Yes I just want to say mister, you can be helped, cos I was helped. Yes I was helped. I was all lost in a mist and I didn't know where I was. So I want you all to know that you can help.

Les: Yes we certainly believe we can.

Yes, that's all I want to say mister.

Les: Well thank you very much for coming to tell us. You're out of the mists for good now are you? (Yes) Enjoying the sunshine? (Yes) Good, that's lovely. And I know you're trying to help other's get out of the mist too aren't you?

Yes I am mister, yes I am.

Les: I know you are, that's very kind of you and we shall certainly send all our thoughts, as often as we can, for all those who are still in the mists and the dark.

My name's Georgie and you knew a George didn't you mister?

Les: Yes I did

Yes, anyway I'm off.

Les: Ok Georgie, God bless you, we're very happy to know you're in the sunshine. Goodbye to you.

~6th October 1997~

No Salumet this week, but we were revisited by the one who came before (22.09.97) who had described himself as 'a keeper who inspires others.' He had not been able to complete his teaching on the previous visit:

Hello. (Welcomes)

All are in attendance this time.

Les: All that normally come, yes.

Let us continue where we left you last time.

Les: You were talking to us about energy, weren't you?

Am I being heard clearly? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes I hope it's easier for you this time? (Much, much —) Yes your voice is very clear.

There was much to think upon when I left you last time.

Les: There was indeed.

And I wish to say again, to all of you: Whatever you cannot accept, please reject, with love in your hearts and you will not go wrong. Now let that be the end of that. (Thank you.) We were asking questions last time. Do you wish to continue that way?

Les: There is one question I would like to ask: We are all aware and we all accept, I have no doubt, that every living thing, in some degree radiates some form of energy. (Yes) Many people believe implicitly, that they themselves can absorb energy, from trees and some go to the extent of putting their arms around the tree, or pressing their foreheads up against the bark of the tree. I wonder whether they would absorb energy, similar to that which is living in the tree. In other words, an oak tree no doubt, would possess a very strong and vibrant energy, whereas another sapling, could possess an entirely different form of energy, or am I wrong in that assumption?

No, you are not wrong. After all, as humans vary in their degree of knowledge and spirituality, so too do those trees of nature, as in all areas of your nature. Some wax and wane in their energies—that should be realised. But let me say this to you: When you say, 'Do peoples absorb the energies from trees and other such items?' let me tell you what is happening. They are not absorbing an extraneous energy, they are blending with the one energy, that belongs to humans and to nature, as you call it. It is a blending of the energies, which belong together. After all, the tree is part of you and you are part of the tree.

(Yes) It is a universal consciousness of energy, to which you all belong. Do you understand?

Les: Yes I think so, but would they gain any benefit, from imagining they are absorbing energy from the tree?

Only in as such, as that blending would create the rising of the energy within themselves. They do not take energy from the tree, but the blending of both, creates an upliftment of energy, which to them, may seem more powerful.

Les: Very interesting, thank you very much. I couldn't quite see how they were able to absorb, what to some extent, must be an energy, though coming from the same source, is nevertheless alien to the energy peculiar to the human being.

Yes, yes, there is much we could discuss along those lines, but always remember that the energies which belong to you, to every living thing— which after all IS living—everything is alive, everything is energy. You must remember this, if you are to begin to understand what this living energy is. After all, do you not feel better, when you come into contact with other human beings and you feel that great pull of energy from them?

Les: From some of them, yes.

Do you not meet others, who you want to remove yourself from?

Les: You're quite right, we do. I have always said that though we don't know it physically perhaps, the auras are attracting or repelling that other person.

Yes, again I repeat to you, your energy depends on spiritual progress. Do we have questions, whilst we are on this subject?

Les: Anybody else have a question on energy?

Silence?

Les: Right I will continue. We're right I believe in accepting, that energy is inherent in and therefore radiating from, every object which we call inanimate. (Yes) So of course that is effectively a wrong term, isn't it?

What you must understand and let us clear it for you now: It is not inherent—I do not like the word, forgive me. It is not part of you, you our energy.

Les: Yes I see what you mean.

You cannot be a PART of energy, when you ARE energy. Do you understand?

Les: Yes, now it's pointed out to us, I'm sure we do, but of course we had the mental stipulation that we were only part.

Yes, you must remember, all of you are part of each other, although you see yourselves as separate entities. You all possess the energy from which we all have come. We may be vibrating on different levels—of course we are—again I say it depends on your spiritual development, whilst you are clothed in these bodies. But all of your planet is just one mass of energy, in which you are ALL part. Imagine your seas of this planet, do they not flow and ebb, but still they are there?

Les: Yes, that's quite right.

Imagine yourself as that sea that at times you are stronger and at times you recede, but always that energy remains the same. Do you follow me?

Les: I believe so, it's not easy for us to understand that it remains the same, even though it's ebbing and flowing, or increasing and decreasing I think, would be more understandable to us.

Yes, it is something that we are trying to simplify for you, (Thank you.) because it is a subject which will never be truly understood by people on your planet.

Les: I can well believe that.

After all, you have to understand that this Earth planet is indeed part of the fuller energy of the Universe, of the Cosmic Consciousness. It is a wide area to be discussing, but I have been instructed to try to help you to understand a little more.

Les: Yes I believe we are slowly beginning to understand it. I might perhaps follow that with another question. We all know that our Earth is in an electrical orbit—that's why we have summer and winter. At the same time it is turning on its axis —

'How is this so?' Are you going to ask me?

Les: Yes you've got my question?

Yes, how is this so?

Les: Yes, what is the energy that continues this incessant movement, year after year?

You have to try to understand the Universe. If you can see your planet, in its true place within the Universe, then perhaps you might begin to understand what is happening. You are a universe within many. You are encompassed—each planet, within that universal energy, which surrounds all planets and to which your individual planet, is but one iota of energy. If you are wanting explanations in a physical sense, of why your Earth rotates as it does, then I would be unable to answer, because the answer is too complex, too widespread for your understanding.

Les: Yes we quite appreciate that. It's impossible to explain it to us in terms we could understand fully.

You are but one bubble in a vessel of water. Is not the bubble suspended? Is it not individualised within that vessel of water? (Yes) If you can visualise your planet as such, then it gives you some small inkling, as to what the energy pattern surrounding your planet is.

Les: Yes I have wondered myself — I haven't spoken about it, but I have wondered, since all is energy, gravity itself is energy —

Of course, now we have some understanding.

Les: So, why doesn't that energy pull the planets from their orbits?

Because it belongs to the wider scheme of energy; energy which has purified in the way that each individual here, differs in their spiritual attainment and spiritual energy. So too, do the planets have their own energy, can you follow me?

Les: Yes, and that counteracts the energy of gravity does it?

Yes, yes, now you are beginning to understand just a little.

Les: Yes that does explain something which has occurred to me in the past, why these two were not in opposition to each other.

You cannot have opposites, in the Great Scheme of Life. There cannot be that 'tug,' I believe that is one of your terms?

Les: True, it is.

You cannot have opposition, to what in fact is perfection.

Les: Yes I was coming to that, because there must be perfection, since the creator originally did all this complexity?

You are but a dot in that perfection. Your understanding, as my own is, is very little, in the Great Complex of Life.

Les: So our efforts to attain perfection in our own spiritual development, I imagine would ultimately itself, result in us becoming part of that purified energy?

That would be the ultimate goal and that is what each of us strives towards. And what I have to tell you from my own knowledge is it seems unobtainable, because there is always a wider scope of knowledge to reach out for. You understand that energy is ever-refining itself, towards that purity, which we know as the Great Creation of Love. After all, let us simplify all energy: What is it, but the creation of great love. So each one of you in your own way, whether you fully understand what you are about, whether you understand where your planet lies within its own universe, whether you come closer to that creative energy, let me say this: Please know that each one of us strives for refinement of energy.

Les: That is what we are striving for also, isn't it?

All living things strive for refinement of the energy, to which we all belong. There is no mystery, although you people on this earthly planet, are very good at creating problems, where none exist.

Les: Yes we do create problems, don't we? You may have anticipated my next question. I was going to ask, since there are so many on this planet, who have no conception of spiritual development, does their method of living, which to put it bluntly must be operating in a very coarse type of energy, does that effect what you are trying to do, for universal refinement of energy?

Of course it makes a difference, but we do not work with the energy pattern of one lifetime. (No...) You must understand that as human beings, you have not lived only ONCE, that your spiritual knowledge is far greater, than most of you fully understand. So from our world, we can utilise the spirituality of that person, even if in this lifetime, that energy has become dulled. We would try to utilise that innate knowledge within them, to create what we try to achieve. (I see.) We are going onto another subject, but I hope it has clarified it to you a little.

Les: It has to me, has it to everybody else? (Agreed) Because energy itself can never be destroyed, can it?

How can it be?

Les: No, because even if it were possible, then energy itself, is causing the destruction, so it cannot destroy itself.

Everything, all of Creation, always has been, always will be—cannot be destroyed. It can be altered, it can be changed, but never can it be destroyed.

Les: No, of course that's something which we just cannot grasp, because having in mind the ultimate ending of the physical body, it rather colours our outlook and I think for most of us, it's very difficult to imagine anything, which doesn't ultimately cease.

Why should you be puzzled when I tell you this? After all, you have the knowledge, that you are spirit and you will continue. Spirit is only a word, another word for Living Energy.

Les: Yes I think the puzzlement is always becoming less.

That is what we are trying to achieve.

Les: I don't think anybody has any doubt about that, have they? We're far less puzzled than we were in days gone by and I know I'm beginning to understand the conception of eternity much better.

Yes, there are those on your Earth, who when they leave this lifetime, will become blended with the purest of energies. But I would say they are very few. Most of you who leave these bodies, these useless bodies, when you come to us, but you will need, or desire at times, to return again, to a physical being. That is only because there has been work, or energy, or however you wish to describe your lives—that there are things undone. You do not have the purity of the energy to go forward, so sometimes the need to return is great. That is when the energy needs to recede and to grow stronger once more. We are on difficult subjects here; I do not wish to confuse you too much.

Les: Thank you for that.

If I have enlightened you on just one matter, then my task has been done.

Les: I'm sure you have, but is anyone puzzled about anything on which you'd like to ask our friend a question. Now is your time.

George: Yes regarding the physical counterpart of our energy, are we—

Stop, stop, stop please. There is no physical counterpart, ALL is energy. You cannot separate. Energy is energy.

George: Yes, I phrased it badly. I appreciate we're all beings of spirit, first and foremost, but a part of our being, is what we call physical, on Earth. On the universal scale, is our condition fairly rare, or would it be fairly common, or do purely spiritual beings, vastly outnumber those beings such as ourselves?

We have to touch upon another subject here. You are counting numbers physically; you are not fully understanding what spiritual energy is. I have to return to what the master has taught you before, that you are more than one. You belong to one energy, all of you, but each individual spirit, has more than one facet to their energy pattern. Is that clear?

Les: Yes we have been told many times that.

When you leave this physical cloak behind, you will return to the whole and only then will your energy show itself, in its truest form, do you understand?

George: Yes, yes indeed, thank you.

It is not easy I know, it is not easy for any of you here on this planet, to understand the workings of the Great Creator. None of us fully understand, but those of us who have extended knowledge, try to bring to you just a little more, in order that your lives here, can become enriched, that your understanding can grow, in order that the energy which you all are can gain in strength and that you all become beings of Love. After all, that is the purpose of your lives. Love, love, is the purest energy, the universal energy—consciousness, as many of you refer to it—love will take you to the very peaks of spiritual energy, if only you will allow it to do so.

Les: Yes, I think we are often our own worst enemies in that respect. If we let our human thinking deny what our spiritual side is trying to tell us—I think we've all been guilty of that and probably still are, but I hope much less guilty than we were, before these teachings began.

That is the purpose—that is my purpose, small as it may be—that we bring you more knowledge, in order that you can see yourselves more clearly.

Les: We do greatly appreciate all the teaching and help we are given, because we can to some little degree, appreciate your difficulties, in trying to explain love when love itself I believe, cannot be analysed.

I could not begin to tell you, what the true meaning of this word is. You have to understand that when energy becomes so refined, words are so unnecessary; it is a knowing, it is a part, it is a blending together of all who have attained such positions and it is an on-going course, towards the purest energy that is attainable to us.

Sallie: Could I ask something please? (Yes please.) Love is energy, therefore, fear—fear I would consider as emotion, but it's also energy, isn't it?

All things are energy. Fear is the opposite of love, is it not? Therefore it is energy condensed; it is a less refined form of that love energy, but nevertheless, the same energy. Do you follow?

Sallie: Yes, I hadn't thought about fear as energy. I believe I'm understanding all things are energy, but for some reason —

You did not fully understand.

Sallie: No

No. All of life is energy, all of existence, all of your planets, all of your Universe—you cannot distinguish between any two things. Energy is ONE, whether it is the most refined energy, or the densest, it still belongs to the ONE energy. Do you understand?

Sallie: Yes, yes I do understand.

Do you all understand, because this is the basis of all understanding of energy, that it is only ONE energy, but in varying degrees. Do you understand please? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes I do, does everybody else? Does anybody have a further question on it? Our friend does want us to be clear. (Yes)

George: I think I understand that love would be the purest form.

Yes, it would be the quickest vibration of energy, which you could achieve. And when we speak of Love, we are not using the word 'love,' as you would do here. Do you also understand this?

Les: Yes, your conception of love, which you are trying to give to us, is such an overwhelming love, that we have no ability really, to understand it.

No, but try to find a capability, of at least searching your hearts towards it.

Les: Quite, well we'll do that.

You cannot do more, you cannot do more.

Les: I remember being told by various communicators, that your job here in this life, is to sow the seeds. You may never see the blooms, but continue to sow the seeds, of what you know to be true.

I would like to extend that for you: To be yourself, to be as full of love, as you know how, needs no example, because that energy would stand forth, as a shining example, on its own merit. Do you understand? (Affirmed) When you have attained a certain degree of that love energy, then your light shines forth to all who can come forth. And like the question about the tree and the person seeking energy from it, so too does your pure light of energy attract others.

Les: I think I'm right in saying that your being here tonight with your love, has brought a tremendous love into this room.

I am extending the power of love to you ALL. I hope it is being felt, it is an exercise in showing you that in shining forth with love energy I can draw you closer to me.

Les: I certainly can feel it, I hope everybody else can as I can? (Affirmed)

Can I suggest that we stay quiet for one moment, to let you feel this energy, which I bring to you now?

(Yes) I will then leave you. I hope that what I have brought to you this time, has once more given you something to think about—that you will know, that the Love that you extend to others, will be returned to you, more than you will ever know or understand whilst you tread this planet. Now I give you all part of my own love energy.

There then followed one through Sue, after we had sat in silence as instructed:

I come to bring you only the blessings of love from us all. What I hope you have felt this time—there are no more words that I need say to you. Place your hands my dearest child upon mine, and take with you, for all of you, so much love that my heart is too full to explain.

Les: We can feel it, I'm sure everyone can and we thank you for it.

Send some of this love, to the little children suffering in your world, for reasons which we cannot explain. It will strengthen them in their purpose.

Les: We shall do that.

I send you my love and blessings and say to you, there is someone with you, all of you, who loves you and will respond, whenever they are called upon, in times of trouble. I wish you farewell and good health, happiness and joy to you all.

Les: Thank you. God bless you all. There are no words to thank you for what you bring us.

Finally there was one through Eileen briefly, before we finished:

Thank you for helping me to come through this time. I have to say just a few words before we end this meeting.

Les: Please do.

Someone has been pondering upon their own departure from this life.

Les: Really? (Yes!) Dear, dear, dear! (Chuckles)

And I am not going to tolerate it.

Les: You're not going to tolerate it? (No) Good for you! (Yes) I'm glad you're not, they shouldn't be pondering, should they?

No, there's too much to be done! (Chuckles)

Les: That's right, you tick them off—I can't.

I intend to, but I will do it most politely. (Thank you.) We will have no thoughts of passing to our side just yet please, because the time is not ready for any of you—so if you wish to ponder, ponder for someone else! (Laughter) That is all I wish to say.

Les: Right, thank you very much for telling us. So we can work together for some time yet—thank you. And shall we all make a promise that we won't ponder? (Laughter)

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Thank you my friends, I am always happy to be with you all. (Thanks expressed)

Les: I'm sorry that numbers are low tonight, I know that it does lessen the power available.

Do you dear friend not remember what you have been told, that we have utilised power available here?

Les: Yes you have; I'm pleased to hear that.

Therefore when peoples are absent, it will make no difference.

Les: Good, that's comforting to us. We all have been concerned that it would affect your being here and your colleagues who come and we're very glad to know that it doesn't.

I hope that you found last time interesting for you? (Affirmed)

Les: It was—every time is, but that was particularly so.

Let me say this to you: This time I think we should speak if you don't mind, about the power of your prayer.

Les: Yes, that would be interesting.

I know each one of you indulges in 'daily prayer,' as you call it. Your invocations to the Great Power, is interesting for us to listen to. But this time I want to ask you all a question about your prayer. What do you think is happening, when you speak your words of desires? Can you answer dear friend?

Les: I will answer for everybody then others can correct me, if I'm not answering adequately for their purpose. It's interesting that you should bring up the subject tonight, because I had wanted to ask you—I can't specifically say that I can think of my prayer as doing anything in any particular way. I hope that my thoughts are being taken in the way in which they are issued and the fact that they are so issued, is sufficient for them to be used—altered perhaps, to meet the circumstances in which you can use them. I wanted to ask you, because I have to admit that sometimes my mind does stray from the prayer I am making and I have to keep bringing it back. I wonder whether you notice that in others, or whether I am not concentrating sufficiently. It does bother me that it happens. (Others added that their concentration also wandered at times) I thought it might happen to everybody, so I wanted to raise it.

Dear friend, why are you surprised by my knowing what is in your mind?

Les: No, I might have known that you would have known. (Chuckles)

Firstly, let me say this to you: It is not a failing on your part, when you say your mind wanders. After all, it is the human element, is it not? (Yes) But what is more important, is the realisation of the power of your prayer and what you can achieve from them. All too often your prayers—and now I speak generally about mankind, and not about any of you individually—mankind in general speaks to a higher source of power. All of you know and understand and I have tried to teach you—at least I hope I have given you a little insight, into the power that you all have.

Les: You've certainly given us that.

So what I would wish you all to know and understand is this: That each individual here comes from that same source of power. Therefore your ability is inherent to achieve that prayer, which you speak in words. But because of your human failings, or your denser 'power,' if you'd like to say it that way, you are speaking words to us to help, are you not? (Affirmed) And of course, because of our extended knowledge, that is what we try to achieve for you, but it is the power of your word, which makes it happen. I want you all dear friends to realise, whatever you so desire, you have the power to achieve. Therefore, I want you when next you use your words of prayer, to know that that power is within you. After all, each of us are the sparks from the same Source. Are you beginning to understand what I am trying to say to you? (Affirmed) If anyone is unsure, please ask me now, before I continue.

Mark: Are we saying that what we dream for is what actually helps to create the reality?

In using your words, you are expressing the deep-felt desire, which you can obtain by yourselves. The power is within you all; can you not see that? I do not think that you do.

Margaret: When I say my prayers I say them in my thoughts. Is that all right, or do I have to say them out loud?

No, have I not told you that your thought is the most powerful thing you can possess? (Yes)

Les: I never say mine out loud—it's all thoughts. (Agreed) I think we all use mental prayer, don't we? (Affirmed)

And in using your thought, you can create what you are using those mental words for. Do you see? You hesitate. I do not think you understand me.

Sarah: I don't think I fully understand.

No, no, there is a lack of understanding here. I think that for this time, we will leave it there for you to ponder upon and I will return to it another time.

Les: Would I be right—to help our enquirer there, would I be right if I said that our thoughts are automatically turned into actions in your world, when you receive our thoughts?

By using the thought, you create the desire. Your thought is the power.

Les: So that creates the action, (Yes) which we wish to happen? (Yes) Does that answer you Sarah?

Sarah: Yes it does, but I was just thinking, for example, I always ask for leaders of countries, who are doing bad things, to try and see the right way. It helps, but it doesn't actually make it happen —

How do you know?

Sarah: Well I suppose I don't know, but things still continue to happen. Perhaps it's just getting better? I don't know.

What you are doing my dear friends, is giving credit to us—to those in my world, when what you really are doing, is expressing your own thought patterns—whether they be good or bad, you are creating the reality, by those thought-forms.

Sarah: Right, so what I'm asking—in my mind I'm asking for the 'right' thing, but in actual fact sometimes it may not be the right thing that I'm asking for. So I'm creating 'good' from my point of view, but it doesn't necessarily —

Les: But if you are asking for the right thing, it must be good, because you are asking for mankind, aren't you? (Yes) So it must be good.

The reasoning behind the thought is what she is trying to express, (Right.) yes. But I feel this time, that perhaps your understanding on this matter is not great enough. So I will help you, until I can speak to you again on this matter—(Thanks expressed) that means all of you and not just the lady.

Les: But if we continue to use our present method of praying mentally (Yes) and try to concentrate more on what we are saying in our prayers, that's all we can do at present, yes?

Yes. Dear friends, I do not want you to feel that I criticise you—that is not my intention.

Les: Of course not, we know that your desire is only to help us to understand more.

Yes, I would like you to know why you do these things—and again I am returning to the power of your Thought. Always I will return to that most important subject.

Les: So basically, the detail is not so important, as the power of thought. All our prayers should be doing good in whatever way they can best be used.

Remember this, that as the creator of the thought-form, you have the ability to make it happen. You are not subservient to other beings who take your thought-forms from you and accomplish what you wish. YOU are the main bearer of that thought-form. Therefore the responsibility is yours.

Les: I see, thank you.

But now we will leave it with you this time.

Les: Well thank you for what you have told us, it gives us more to think about and to work upon.

I do not wish to overburden your minds, but at times it is good that you think about these things.

Les: It is good and essential for our own development, isn't it?

Of course and is that not what we are trying to achieve?

Les: Absolutely! Thank you again; we shall all do some serious thinking.

Now, I will take questions if you so wish and if you will, I ask that we finish this time, when I work quietly with this instrument, that you speak quietly amongst yourselves, on whatever comes to your hearts.

Les: Certainly. Yes there was one question I would like to ask please and I know we will all be interested in the answer. I have frequently wondered and I'm sure my friends have, what happens to people who come over to your world, who have been responsible for such diabolical behaviour on this Earth. I will mention the last dictator—there have been many of course, but the last one known as Hitler. Now his impact upon the world was incalculable. He was directly as you'll know and indirectly responsible for millions of deaths and a disaster for people, impossible for us even to visualise, because we have not suffered it. How does he begin when he comes over to you? I know there are lower regions and we would think he goes to the lower regions. But I can't imagine where he would be or how he would be treated, or how he would react himself.

Yes, I will try to explain a little to you. (Thank you.) You speak of a soul who has committed despicable acts upon other human beings. (Yes) There are many in your world who do such things, even if it is on a smaller scale. Each deed is indeed so wrong; it has caused injury to many souls, many innocents, and of course the soul responsible, places itself into an apt situation, when it returns to us. The soul on its departure, would find itself immediately in conditions, which it has created for others, whilst upon this earthly plain.

Les: Is that so?

The individual you speak of, found himself in darkness, lost within a mist, feeling pain, loneliness, heartache and all the emotions, which he had created for others.

Les: He would feel all that?

He would feel each and every emotion that he had caused to others. He would be destitute within his own pain, his own loneliness, his own anger. It all exists within the region, which he would find himself.

Les: Presumably he would be with others, who had committed similar crimes, against souls here?

Not necessarily—because of the extent of his crimes, I believe you would say, and I will use such words to help you to understand—(Thank you.) because of the crimes which he had committed, he would be isolated, he would be lost by himself, until such time as recognition of what he had done comes to him.

Les: Is that so? And that could be an incalculable time, couldn't it, as we know it?

It could be an eternity in your time. We cannot measure time in your earthly years, because when you come to our world, time is not negotiable, as you will understand.

Les: But he would have to suffer for that whole period, whatever we might call it?

He would and only, only at certain time of his own recognition of what he has done, would he then be joined with others of like-mind.

Les: I see, so it would be a very, very slow progress upwards?

He could not possibly remove himself from such conditions, unless the recognition of the pain and the suffering, which he had bestowed on others, was recognised and he was truly repentant of what he had done. Only then, could those in our world—and let me assure you, that although he would be 'lost,' if I may use that word, within those terrible conditions, he is surrounded by those who work and are trying to help him. No soul is ever lost; there always is a spark of good in each soul, even if it takes many, many aeons of time, for that recognition to come.

Les: Yes, that brings me to the second part of my question, if I might: During the time he was here, he would have been exercising his free will. Within the exercising of that free will, there would be motives of course. To him of course, his motive would have been 'right' and 'just,' in his own opinion. (Yes) Now again presumably there are those in your world, who will assess the correctness of his motives, or whether he was deceiving himself, before he was condemned to that utter loneliness?

He would be told and instructed. You have to understand that when the soul leaves this world, there is always recognition of the knowledge which he has, which should have been done, the knowledge from those who have been there to guide him. It is instantaneous—it is difficult to explain to you, until such time as you return home to us. That knowledge would be there for him to know instantly, as he enters those conditions that he is suitable for.

Les: So basically, he would know that he has been responsible, for the conditions in which he now finds himself?

He will have the knowledge, of what he has done. But whether he recognises that he is responsible is another matter. You understand?

Les: Yes, that clears a point, thank you. Everybody understand that? (Affirmed)—because I know all of us have been concerned at one time or another, as to what happens to such people. So you now accept the answer that Salumet gives us? (Agreed)

Sarah: Yes, just one point. I think it was George that mentioned that Hitler had syphilis, which left him off-balance—

George: Which led to a condition we call 'megalomania,' which may well have had an influence on what he'd done.

Les: But he was still responsible you see, for having contracted it—

His free will enabled him to act in the way that he chose. Always remember when you speak of the actions of others, that even as you are human, you have the innate knowledge of Spirit within you. It is only when the human clothing is dropped, that all is clear. In saying such words, you are I am afraid dear friend, making what you call 'excuses,' for the soul.

Sarah: Right, thank you.

You understand?

George: Yes it puts that in perspective.

Les: Thank you very much.

Now if you are willing, I would like some time to work with this one. (Eileen)

Les: Yes of course, thank you for your sufferance of my questions. We do appreciate it.

I thank you and I appreciate your tolerance and you time.

Les: God be with you, and our love goes with you too.

We then began a discussion about prayer. Les suggested we send out thoughts for the good of humanity, to those on the other side, who have much more knowledge, to convert them to their own usage, because as Les put it, 'Their power of thought is infinitely more than ours and is capable of accepting the charge we are giving, to their batteries.'

There followed a rescue through Sarah, which Les dealt with quietly.

Finally there was a cheeky one through Eileen (Aris or Harris), to end the evening on a light note. He was a farmer whilst on Earth and was fond of cows and now spent his time, helping vets look after cows. He wasn't too happy with vets, but said he could influence their hands, as they worked on the cows.

~20th October 1997~

Good evening.

(Welcomes)

Let us begin this time, with thanks for this union of Spirit. Let us give thanks for all that we receive. Let us send these thanks, without the spoken word this time. May each one of you receive the love, which you are entitled to.

Les: Thank you.

Before I speak with you, I wish to say a few words this time, to the one who is known to us as Lilian. This lady will need upliftment and help in the coming months. I would hope that this will be forthcoming from you, as it will from our side.

Les: Of course it will. We shall be very pleased to help her in any way we can.

I would like her to know that she is surrounded by many. Much love is already sustaining her, but she will be in need of a little more.

Les: Thank you for telling us. We will all try to subscribe to that.

You also my friend, are feeling a little tired, are you not?

Les: Yes sometimes I do.

Don't be concerned—know that we are constantly with you.

Les: Yes I'll do that thank you. It's encouraging to have the confirmation.

Now, this time if I may, I wish to touch upon something which we spoke about last time. (Yes —) You asked what happens to people who you term, 'evil,' in this lifetime and what happens to them. I hope I explained briefly to you, that which does happen. But on this occasion, I would like to say to you all, what you should be trying to achieve, each one of you whilst you tread this Earth. My dear friends, when you make a chance meeting with someone, it is not chance; there is no such thing as chance meetings—all is ordained to be.

Les: Yes we can accept that, because we've all come to that conclusion, that the main things are certainly never chance.

I know that you fully understand those words, but what I want you to know and to understand fully, is this: How you view that person, is how you view yourself. How you think of that person, is how you think of yourself.

Les: Yes, I think we understand what you mean—since we are part of him and he part of us.

Yes, and in doing so in these meetings of all peoples, dear friends you either find yourself or lose yourself. Do you understand what I tell you?

Les: Yes, you're referring to our actions, when we meet such a person whom we might consider to be 'evil,' by our reactions we find ourselves or lose ourselves?

Not only 'evil' people—all persons. In other words—again I reiterate earlier words: Do not judge, because what you do is judge yourself. If within those people you find fault, then what you see are your own faults.

Les: Yes it's difficult to grasp, but I think we understand what you mean. Of course we cannot disassociate ourselves from anybody else.

If you do not understand these words, then you will have problems in understanding what you are about. Therefore I feel that I should continually remind you of the power of your thinking, the power of your judgement, the power of your very being. These are simple words, but behind them lies powerful meaning.

Les: Yes it does come back to what you've told us before more than once, that we must think of ourselves as spiritual beings and not as physical beings.

In saying this I will return to our discussion last time, perhaps then you can understand that in the thinking of the person you named, (Hitler) came back to him everything he had thought about, in all the destruction of those many peoples. Can you now begin to understand, why these peoples would be lost for such a long time?

Les: Yes—we could have been in that position.

I would say that each one of you within this room, has lost themselves—the true essence of themselves, on many occasions. But the difference being, that you know and understand 'good' and therefore you have rectified hopefully those negative energies, which have been sent forth from you. Do you understand?

Les: Yes we do, because again it is not good and evil, but force and counter force, isn't it—which you have spoken about.

You must have balance within your lives, but you must endeavour always to reach out for the very best within you.

Sallie: Could I ask you a question? (Of course.) As I understand it, when we meet other people and we manage to see goodness in people, my feeling is like a mirror, a mirror of the goodness perhaps that we have within us. And when we have relationships with people, who reflect something which we find very, very difficult to understand, or that we don't like, that's also an opposite mirror somehow, within us.

Yes, the fault lies within your soul, not with the other person. Judge not and you will not be judged. I know it is difficult for you, when you think that you encounter another (who) as you say, 'mirrors evil,' of works that you do not approve of. I know you find it difficult to accept that it could possibly be anything to do with your own thinking. I tell you here and now dear friends, judge not others, until you are yourselves sure, that you be perfect—and whilst you tread this Earth, you cannot be that. But what I do say to you is that you must strive towards only good and that includes finding the spark of goodness, in every soul, which you encounter. So yes, you are correct in your assumption.

Sallie: So if I come across somebody who mirrors something that I find uncomfortable, or displeasing, the only way I'm going to stop seeing that mirror, is to find where that lies within me?

You send out loving thoughts. In that way, you dispel what you term 'evil,' but which is in fact an aspect of the soul, which you have not come to terms with. It may not be that what you find upsetting, belongs to the soul or spirit of this lifetime, but is an essence of that soul, which has not been dealt with at one time or another. Now do you begin to understand? (Yes)

Les: Yes that I think we do forget, that there are many souls that have to be considered.

Yes, it may be that in this lifetime, your actions have been almost exemplary, but never forget there are many aspects to the soul and it is the spiritual aspect which reflects through, when you make judgement upon another.

Les: So from what you are saying, we ourselves could conceivably through ourselves, have been responsible for that person's ill-doing, in the past?

There are many conditions which could apply here. I do not want you to limit the options, but only to realise, do not judge, because as the lady has aptly put it, they are mirror reflections, if you find them displeasing in another. Do you understand, because I feel a little hesitancy on your part, may I say.

Les: Perhaps the hesitancy is only because we are trying to work it out.

I would rather we discussed fully this time, in order that all of you can at least begin to have a clear picture, because I do feel that until you accept these conditions of self, you limit that goodness within yourself, to go forward. Do you understand? (Affirmed)

Les: It's not an easy thing for us to accept, as you'll appreciate.

Of course not, I do not expect you to fully understand, but if at least you can reason with yourself—and after all you have all knowledge, if you so desire—if you can reason and look within, then the answers become easier for you to accept.

Les: Yes I can see that they would do. So each of us has to do some very deep thinking on this, (Yes) which leads me to another question: If everybody gave out loving thoughts towards an 'evil' person, could he be prevented from performing those 'evil' actions, because of the love that was expressed towards him?

It would indeed help, but it would depend on the power of his own thought—it would depend on the power of his free will, which you cannot—you cannot take charge of anyone's free will, you cannot have power over that, but you can influence for good, yes of course you can.

Sallie: Would one other theory apply as well? Where at a previous time before we decide to come back to Earth and live this particular life, while we were in spirit form, we or groups of us made a choice to actually come back and work on a particular area, where we perhaps did poorly. If that's one possible option amongst the many, would we then be given opportunities, to see that fault mirrored, to give us experience in trying to rectify where we had made mistakes before?

Yes, let me say this to you: That is no theory that is exactly what happens. I believe we have spoken about this in time past. Of course you fully know and understand why you return and the opportunities are presented in this lifetime for you to achieve those goals, if you wish to call them such. Of course the opportunities are there, and that is where your free will comes into play of course and that is where you either find yourself, or lose yourself.

Sallie: Somehow it helps me and I imagine it helps others, to sometimes think that when I'm in these situations, to think I've actually chosen this, to put right a wrong, or to assist—I'm not sure why I said that, but I just find it helpful.

Yes, let me say this to you dear friend: In whatever way you find—and each one of you after all, is individual in your ways of living—if you find certain conditions are right for you, if you find that it is easier for you to accept, then by all means accept; whatever conditions you wish to reject, then also do that, because your individuality, makes this something which must be done for your own self-good. Do you understand? (Yes) Whatever you find is right for you—that is what you will achieve. Go along with your heart's desire, because you have the innate knowledge to guide you, to uplift you, and to help you.

Sallie: Sometimes these decisions that we make with our innate knowledge, or our inside, are conflicting with our rational mind, but they are nearly always right, aren't they?

Of course, because what you have is spirit versus the human personality. Always your inner knowledge will win, because it knows no wrong. So be guided by that still voice within—always, always.

Sallie: Thank you.

Les: Yes to confirm that Sallie, I could say that many times when I've had rescues to deal with, I have sometimes physically not wanted to help, but something within me has made me continue, until that person has been helped and that must be the spiritual knowledge, of which we are endowed.

Let me just say one more thing about this please: There will be peoples in your world, who you feel the need to step away from. There is a difference between stepping backwards from that person, than trying to make judgement upon them. There are peoples you will not be able to make contact with. But that is not the same as making judgement. Do you understand that difference? (Affirmed)

Les: Yes, it is quite an important difference, isn't it?

Yes, you must make that difference—you must differentiate between the two.

Les: So if we step back, we are not in effect going to be condemned for that; (No) not as we would be condemned if I can use that word, for making judgement.

Yes, it is better that you step back, give loving thoughts and move onwards.

Les: I see, thank you.

Sallie: It's just knowing who we should be stepping back from, and who we should be persevering with.

Why do you need to know? Listen to that inner voice and all knowledge is there. You do not make judgements; you are speaking of physical judgements once more.

Sallie: Again it's just going within yourself?

It is the spirit who knows which individual you need to step away from. You have all knowledge, each one of you. I would wish that you could cultivate this knowing more. You can only benefit from it, you can only come to know and understand yourselves more fully. And in doing so, you have extended your love throughout this world, this planet, where all situations become less grief-stricken to you; your judgement becomes sharpened, because that inner voice knows all. I ask you all dear friends, to ponder my words this time, because I ask you all to cultivate this knowledge within you, to cultivate the understanding for one-another, to expand your love for all human beings upon this planet. In doing so, you create your own 'heavens,' if I can use that term. You will create a heaven upon this Earth, if only you could fully understand my words this time. And that dear friends, would be my desire for each one of you.

Les: After what you have said Salumet, I think we shall certainly all be trying very, very hard to understand ourselves more fully.

It is imperative, if you wish to develop fully, that spiritual aspect of you, whilst upon this Earth. You need to grow—you cannot allow yourselves to become stagnant in knowledge. After all, knowledge of spirit is endless. I do not want you to wait until you return to us, before you can continue to grow fully. My desire for you all dear friends is that this task be started, whilst you remain in these bodies.

Les: It certainly would be for our own benefit, so we'd be rather foolish, not to heed what you say.

Now we will leave it there this time and if any one of you wishes to return another time with questions, I will be only too happy to answer them for you.

Les: Thank you, I think we all appreciate that, because in our attempt to understand ourselves, I'm sure there are going to be things which we must question individually because of lack of understanding. So if we might ask questions another time, I'm sure it'll help enormously.

I fully expect many questions.

Les: Good. Right, now we start learning! (Chuckles)

Now, do we have any questions this time?

Les: Yes I have one, which almost has a bearing on what you've been saying. We hear many times of course that a woman who is carrying a child, must/mustn't do certain things, because of its effect upon that child. That led me to wonder whether the mother's spiritual awareness, would affect the development of the spiritual awareness of the child, while it is within her womb, because you have told us that the soul arrives at the moment of conception.

Yes, I understand your question. Of course the spiritual aspect of the mother and the child, have previously made the 'contract,' if you like, of joining together at the time of conception, through to birth. That spirit or soul, would already know that this was about to happen. But once you have incarnated into flesh, then memory is often erased. But spiritual knowledge can never be erased. So the spirit aspect of both mother and child know fully what is expected of them. It perhaps seems strange to you, but we speak upon two separate issues here. The foetus within the mother's womb, of course has to apply to itself the issues of human life, within the cloaks of bodily tissue. But the spiritual aspects of both mother and child, know what is expected, and what will happen. So no matter what the physical outcome is, the soul knows what is about to happen and nothing can alter it. Do you understand? This is a complex issue and one I do not think you would understand fully, because we are speaking as I said, on two separate issues here.

Les: Yes, because the soul of the mother would have free will presumably. And if because of that free will, it departed from what had been agreed before conception that surely would affect the spiritual development of the child?

No, no, we must make something clear to you here and now. Whenever there is abortion, and I think perhaps that is one issue that you have in mind—that is already known. Only when the child comes to full term and is born, is there the opportunity for interference. Do you understand? (I see.) That soul—let us speak of the soul, rather than the child. If that soul is to be aborted, it would know beforehand.

Les: Yes, that's part of the prearranged plan then?

I would say in most cases—there are the odd cases, when there are alterations to plan, but the soul would know of this beforehand.

Les: I see, yes it certainly is complicated, isn't it?

It is complex issues and something, which we have touched upon, but mainly when the soul affects another, it is not a mother and child—that is too soon and all would be known beforehand in any case.

Les: Yes, this is what's difficult for us to understand fully.

Yes, I do not feel the time is right for us to enter into this topic, because your knowledge at present is not fully comprehensive enough. I do not mean to push you aside with your question, but what would be the point in explaining to you, when I know your understanding would not reach out and touch and fully understand.

Les: No, you're quite right, there wouldn't be any point. So as far as I'm concerned personally, I've got to do some more thinking, to try and understand the complexity of the existence of the soul, within the physical shell.

Can I say this to you dear friends? (Yes please.) All of life is never as simple as you may feel. There are many complexities, when it comes to spirit, enjoined with the human body. It is never as straightforward, as is sometimes spoken of in your world.

Les: I'm beginning to realise that.

Therefore, I wish you to try to know and understand, that that is why people such as I, come to your world at this time, to put right any misconceptions, any ideas which have been put forward, which have been simplified to suit the human mind. You understand? (Yes —) And much of this has taken place in time past, not because of any grievous intent, but because knowledge was scarce, communication was not as well-founded as it is in this time of your existence. Therefore as we progress forward, it is imperative that knowledge grows also and be given its true status within your world.

Les: That's beginning to make it a lot clearer and I remember now, something which was said many years ago by somebody from your side: 'Your life here is full of contradictions, which you'll never fully understand.'

That is most apt, and that is one expression I fully agree with and one which I will try to help all of you with, in your understanding.

Les: You certainly have helped all of us I believe tonight. (Agreed) I could never quite understand that phrase, 'life being full of contradictions,' but now you've clarified it for me.

Yes, if you do not have contradiction, then you have static energy. (Yes —) How can that be, in an everlasting expanse of energy, to which we all belong? You cannot, it would not make sense and I would not be doing my work, if I told you these things. I wish to dispel any discrepancies which have arisen, not because there have been mistakes—that I cannot accept, but people who have brought knowledge to you all in the past, have been limited by their own knowledge. You understand?

Les: Yes I do—that also gives clarification to much.

Too often we hear within your world people say: 'Why does this one say that, when another says such?' They can only express what they know. It makes neither one nor the other right or wrong, only different. Do you understand my words?

Les: Yes we do understand them fully, thank you.

Now I think for this time I have given you much to think upon. I know we will return and hopefully answer your queries, because I know there will be many. But I hope that you reach the understanding, of how deep and how complex you human beings are. And that you must search within these shells, these outer shells and go deep within, to find the true you, in order that you can reach understanding and knowledge of that part of yourself, which is the real you.

Les: I think you have opened many doors for us all tonight and I'm right I believe in thanking you on behalf of everybody, on what you've said; it is a great lesson for us all and we do appreciate it.

I leave you with only one thought, let it be this: How best can we extend that love for each other, how can we grow, how can we come to know ourselves? Think upon these words dear friends and you will see the unfoldment of that inner knowledge come to each one of you. Until we come together once more, I leave you all, I thank you all, I ask that that Great Creative Force, be with each one of you, in your understanding. (Thanks + farewells)

There then followed a nun through Eileen, whose thoughts were not always as 'pure' as she would have liked, which connecting somewhat with what Salumet had been speaking about earlier:

—I don't know why you need to know this, but I'm told I have to say that my thoughts are not always pure.

Les: Well you're in good company. (Chuckles)

Ah! I see, that is why I have returned is it?

Les: That's why you're very welcome! You're one of the fraternity now. Our thoughts are certainly not always pure. (More chuckles)

But you see mine should have been, but they were not. Anyway, I have to tell you—oh dear, I find it difficult even now to repeat what I felt. I was not too kind to the mother-superior.

Les: We can understand that.

She was rather harsh at times and my image of her was that she was rather a little bit of a dragon and I should not have harboured those thoughts.

Les: Well you can hardly help it when you're in the company of a dragon, can you?

But what I need to tell you all is that I had to confront that thinking, when I went to Spirit. That those thoughts faced me squarely, when I reached Spirit and I was shocked, because I thought I had hidden them well, (Chuckles) but let me tell you all, nothing is well hidden.

Les: No, so we've been told tonight actually, and in the past.

Perhaps that is my purpose, to reinforce those words.

Les: When you say they faced you squarely, you were conscious of them mentally, were you?

Oh yes, my thinking was there in front of me and I was not honest, was I? I was not honest in my thinking, so therefore they returned to me.

Les: Well, I would doubt that, because you probably were honest in your thinking, but that honesty wasn't suitable for your spiritual development.

Yes, because I was devoted to Truth and I was not showing Truth was I, I was harbouring doubts and unkind thoughts.

Les: You were supposed to be devoted to Truth, but how can any human being be fully truthful all the time, every time?

No, you cannot. But that is the sad part of the people who join—I nearly said 'profession,' but of course it is not, it is a calling. But I think we are supposed to honour and look up to our Mother-Superiors.

Les: Yes you're supposed to try to, but I don't see how it can reasonably be expected that you would do.

I know now that it is impossible—we are human. But no matter, what I need to tell you is that all thoughts that you think are shown to you and you have to make judgement upon them.

Les: Now you've got us really worried. (Laughter)

Well, perhaps I have come to the right place after all. I spent many devotional hours I have to tell you, in saying sorry. But still I was faced with all of my thoughts, which I have to say, rendered me so helpless, speechless.

Les: Because they're living things thoughts, aren't they?

Yes, you cannot dispel them, they are always there.

Les: They are always there, so it does behove us all not to have the wrong thoughts, if it can be avoided.

(Yes) Then again, we have to accept that we can't always have those pure thoughts.

Oh I know you are speaking to the right person! I know full well what you speak of! (Laughter)

Les: Well we're very happy to welcome you into our group you know, because you're one of us. I don't want to bring you down to our level, but —

May I ask what 'one of you' are?

Les: Like you.

Oh no I don't think so, we would never have allowed men! (Laughter)

Les: There are ladies here too and they are just as untruthful as we are. (More chuckles)

Well, we'll see, the reckoning time is coming for you all!

Les: I know, don't remind us.

No, and I do have to tell you one other thing, I may as well confess all, may I? Yes, I had the most beautiful rosary beads given to me by my father, when I entered the convent—and I hid them.

Les: You hid them?

Yes and I am not about to reveal where!

Les: Why did you hide them?

Because they were not permitted, they were much too grand.

Les: Were they?

We had wooden beads.

Les: Of course—simplicity.

Yes, they were the most beautiful mother-of-pearl you could ever wish to see.

Les: Do you have them now?

Oh yes, I have them with me! But of course you cannot see them I don't suppose.

Les: But as long as you've taken them out of hiding, because the gift was one of love, wasn't it?

Of course, and how can such beauty be wrong.

Les: No of course it can't. This is one of the contradictions we have to face all the time.

I have learned so much I tell you, since I have come here—I enjoy the communication with other people—that is something I sadly lacked and missed. Again I should not have thought that way, but there you go. I know now, I probably should not have entered the order. I had too many doubts—

Les: None of us propose entering anything! (Laughter)

Oh well, what can I say? I am lost for words and that doesn't happen very often. I think you could be doing with a few Hail Mary's.

Les: Oh thank you. Will you do them for us?

Oh no, you do your own. No I am only joking, I would not dare to put that upon any of you.

Les: No, that's the human side of us coming out.

Yes, you are your own judges, know that too. There is no judgement upon you. Know that also that you face up to what you have done. All will be shown to you, I assure you of that! (Chuckles)

Les: Right, that's very much indeed for your comfort! (Laughing)

Yes, I hope I have not led you to have a sleepless evening. I did not wish that to be my intent! (More chuckles)

Les: No, we shall probably be doing some self-examination. I think I must put my thoughts in a sealed bag!

Yes—they will escape! Don't worry. Never mind, I've enjoyed myself everybody, thank you.

Les: We've enjoyed having you, thank you very, very much. (Affirmed)

It's been lovely to be with you.

Les: You feel happier after your confession now?

I've already given it to others, so I'm not too concerned. But I thought I'd tell you anyway.

Sarah: Do you get on well with Mother-Superior now?

Yes of course I do. She's not so bad—I know now that she was a good person. It was my thoughts that were not quite up to scratch, I think you would say.

Les: Like ours.

Yes, but there you go, that's personalities for you. And we cannot like everyone can we? It matters not what anyone tells you, if you are human you have failings.

Les: Quite, and some of them are enjoyable. (More laughter)

I wouldn't know about that you see. I was deprived of much, I have to tell you—we will not enter into that conversation. Now, yes I think this one (Les) needs to be taken in hand. (More chuckles) I will leave that task to another. I can come back another time, if you would like?

Les: Yes please. Are you going to give us a name to remember you by?

All right, I'll tell you the name I was known by shall I? (Yes please.) I was known as Sister Veronica—

(General thanks and cheerful farewells)

~27th October 1997~

At the beginning of this meeting, Les told us about a most distressing incident involving his family in Canada, who were attacked by a violent thief, resulting in the loss of life and the possibility of a child suffering brain damage. This was the boy that our healing thoughts were directed to and to which Salumet refers:

Good evening. (Welcomes)

Let me begin this time by upliftment for you all. I feel the sorrow in your hearts, which I will speak to you about. But firstly allow us to come closer to you, in order that upliftment for you all can take place.

(Thank you.) I hope dear friends, that indeed you feel just a little lighter now. (Affirmed) Let me say this to you my dear friends: As you are stunned and shocked by such news as has been given at the beginning of our meeting this time, let me say this to you: We fully understand your reaction, because you are human beings. But let me return to what I have said to you in the past that these 'evil' deeds and atrocities as you call them, are dealt with on the spiritual level, in a different manner. Spiritually, these 'evil' people as you call them, are seeking for themselves the energy of love and light, because they cannot by themselves move forward and are 'stuck,' if I may use that phrase, in the darker energies, or the coarser energy, because of their free will and their mode of human living. I know this does not make it any easier for you to accept, but if you could look upon it in a spiritual way, your understanding of these 'evil' deeds, that mankind do to one another, may become a little clearer. Do you understand my friends?

Les: Yes we understand what you say. Of course it is extremely difficult for us to be sufficiently developed spiritually, to accept that fully. We want to, but still our human emotions somewhat prevent it.

Yes, I understand and accept that you are limited whilst in these bodies. You will never fully accept what you term 'evil doing.' But let me say a little about the person that your thoughts have gone to. Although that soul is young in your earthly years, it is an old soul, who spiritually will be able to cope with what has happened. I know these words are difficult for you, but try dear friends, try to look upon it more spiritually. Open your hearts, know that goodness will always be the winner of evil deeds.

Les: You know that the boy is an old soul, do you then?

I tell you this I do. (Thank you.) Although it does not make this lifetime easy for those who are around him, the soul will cope with this lifetime.

Les: That is somewhat of a comfort to them—thank you, because my daughter will hear these words and will I hope be able to give some comfort to those around the boy.

Know always, that those souls who have moved in this direction, who have used their free will in negative ways, who have lost themselves and committed these deeds which you human beings find so atrocious—they will be faced with what they have done. Again we return to what I told you last time: You cannot escape deeds, actions, words, thoughts—any aspect of your daily living is noted and shown to you, when you return to our world. It is no comfort to you I know, but all that exists is balanced—no one can escape their own judgement. Know then that this soul, who has committed these deeds, will have to face those deeds, when he returns to us. Try to look it in the eye spiritually and understanding may begin to come forward to you.

Les: Yes I think we can understand it a little more, if we remember what you have said about the soul being aware of the circumstances that will face it, when it returns to this Earth.

Yes it is the human emotion, which plays such a large part in your lives and of course why should they not? That is why you have come to this planet, to be human, to live as humans, to learn; but in so doing, to bring forward to the fore that spiritual aspect, which encompasses all things and which should make your lives upon this planet much more comfortable. It would not matter what terrible deeds would happen around you, if you could but attain this knowledge, which each one of you has within.

Les: Yes, when I look back over what you have taught us over these years, I can understand more fully, why people go into monasteries and to closed orders and in effect withdraw from the world. I don't say that is the right thing for them to do or wrong, I begin to understand more why they do.

Always try dear friends—judge not another, because you do not know their life passage, you do not know what they have chosen to do. Therefore judge not any one of your fellow men, because in doing so, you would be in some way interfering with their life pattern—and again, I touch upon the pattern and power of your thought. It is a complicated subject for you to accept, as many things I have brought to you have been, but nevertheless the more we discuss them, the more questions you ask, the more I try to simplify these things for you, and the more your wisdom, knowledge and understanding, will come to the fore.
