

~24th April 2000~

Good evening. (general welcomes)

It is with an open heart that I join with you this time. I feel your love as I hope each one of you feels our love towards you. This time, my dear friends I wish to speak with you about matters perhaps you are not aware of, but as we continue I will leave open to you time for any questions about the subject I am about to discuss. As you well know, my dear friends, the Divine Law always runs smoothly. There can be no discussion upon this point, because that is Truth. But what I wish to say to you is this: Within our world there has to be some kind of order, some kind of encouragement and upliftment to those who need help. Therefore I know that you are aware that there are many who you call 'masters'; I would prefer for this evening to use the word 'teachers'. We have spoken much about my world and so many aspects within it, but without the teachers within our world, it would not be quite so simple for those souls who are looking to grow and to go forward. Many teachers in our world are able to descend into many realms or planes as you call them, in order to help others. These souls do this work because the desire to help is great. They of course would be much more comfortable within their own realm of existence. What you may not know is that there are teachers of many kinds who come to teach in all areas of living. You have heard of the great halls of music, the great halls of teaching, our hospitals—you know all of these things, but what I wish to discuss with you is the work of some of the teachers which inhabit these places. 'What is a teacher?', I might hear you say. They are enlightened beings, beings of heightened awareness and knowledge who come to give great love to all those in need. But the teacher I wish to tell you about this time are those beings who help the soul who has grown in awareness, but who needs guidance before they can join what you term a higher plane or realm within our world. These beings, these teachers have specific tasks. I do not think you are aware of them, my dear friends, are you? (No.) No, because little is known of their work. You know and have been taught that thought is the ruler in our world, that thought creates reality. Yes, of course, but what you are mostly unaware of is the guidance behind that instantaneous thought, which moves the soul forward. There is wise counsel for these souls. These are the listening ears of the soul who reaches out for knowledge and awareness and desires to go forward. These teachers come from great planes as you call them. They descend to help others but their time is limited because of the density of the surroundings. Of all the masters who oversee so many things in our world, the teachers of awareness, they are indeed teachers of great magnitude, great love, great spiritual awareness. Before I continue, shall we have some discussion about what I have said thus far?

Lilian: These teachers, would they have gone through the stages which we all have to go through and then reached this?

No, these particular teachers as we are calling them, have no need of these earthly experiences, but they are aware and have great knowledge of all that drives the soul, they have a knowledge deep within which can expose the soul, which knows the very energy—basic energy that that soul has. So these teachers are not of your world, they come from much further. That is why I have selected them for you this time, because little is known of them. The reason I give you this information this time is that as your own awareness, your own divinity grows—and we know you have spoken on physical terms about how the soul should grow and how you must listen to that inner voice—these teachers sometimes are your inner voice, not only your own soul. They do not come often to this plane of existence, because as you know this is a plane of much density, of heaviness but you have heard I am sure of cases where people feel that it is not only their inner voice that they hear but something outside of themselves. Think upon these teachers, because they have much awareness that is little known to many souls. Do we have more questions before I continue?

George: I would just like to observe that it brings home to us even more just how small we are to the cosmos and how indebted we can feel toward other beings within it.

Yes, that is why I am speaking with you this time, because I feel that your understanding now has become much more heightened by the knowledge you have gained, that this new knowledge, not known to many, can be accepted by you and be taken and can be thought-provoking to you. That is why I bring it to you and, yes, within the Divine, the Divinity, the cosmos—all of you are but a dot. But that should not prevent you from trying to understand the greater scheme of life. After all my dear friends, I would say to you that since we came together your own spiritual awareness has reached such heights as you would not have imagined. I believe this to be true. I, of course, can see you as you truly are, but because you are clothed in this human form, the view of yourselves is rather blinkered.

Mark: Do these energies come to uphold the Divine Law and at the same they are part of the Divine Law?

Of course. All law is the Divine Law, it always has been, but as energy is always moving, so is understanding. That is what changes, is the understanding. But the great teachers of awareness are the teachers of Divine energy. Their time which they give to all souls in their own personal development is limited, because they come from much higher planes of existence. Their sacrifices are great, their motives unselfish, their love abounding and, as I have taught you, overall there is no one soul more important than any other as far as the Divine knowledge goes—You have to look towards these teachers of awareness as beings of great love who offer of themselves much, who sacrifice much in their own personal development, only in the sense that they could go much further forward, but because of the great love they desire to help those less fortunate. And although within Divine Law their own souls are developing, it is still in a sense, and for your own understanding, a sacrifice which they make. Do you understand?

(affirmations) I do not wish you to look upon the word 'sacrifice' in the human sense—that is not what I am trying to tell you, but at this moment in time I find no more suitable word to use. Of course they are growing because they give of themselves, but the great love towards all souls is tantamount to no greater love that you could find upon this earth. So, for this time that is what I wish you to think about, the great masters or teachers of our hospitals or our music halls or our schools and each one is indeed a teacher and their work most important. But I wish you to think upon our teachers of awareness and development and growth. Do you have more questions, please?

Lilian: I was just thinking that it must be wonderful to be in the presence of one of these teachers, the feeling that would be there.

The soul in the presence of these teachers are quite comfortable. They cannot see other than the beauty of their guidance and their teaching and the soul instinctively knows that what help is being given is indeed correct for them.

Mark: So there wouldn't be any point in trying to distinguish between the voice of one of these and your own inner voice.

All is one when it comes to you with love, yes, but for your own self-awareness, we have to make some distinctions at this time. Do you understand? (affirmations) Are you sure my dear friends? Do you understand what I am trying to tell you? If you have doubts or questions, now is the time for us to discuss them because I will not return to this matter again.

George: The teaching souls, they have their own continuing evolution (Yes.) and it is part of that that they are sacrificing in devoting their time to teaching?

Yes, but of course be careful of the word sacrifice because they are evolving, of course, otherwise what would be the purpose? But at this moment in time I use the word sacrifice cautiously. It is a physical word remember, and to the teaching soul it would mean nothing at all. Do you understand? (affirmations) Any more questions, please?

George: These teaching souls would have had their past lives, albeit not on this planet and not necessarily on planets?

Yes, we are speaking here of the teaching souls whose evolution as you call it, their awareness, their growth, is such that all knowledge is known to them. May I put it to you in that way?

Lilian: Would any part of...

No, no; I understand your question. No, some of the other teachers have followed the course of physical living and continue in that way. In the halls of music, in the halls of teaching, in the hospitals then this case is correct, but for the teachers of awareness, of growth, of knowing the soul, then they are all-knowing. That is why I have taken them apart from the others. They are the teachers of knowledge least known.

Lilian: And when the soul is ready and they can come along and help move forward...

my blessings until next time. (general thanks and farewells)

There comes a point when the soul needs to go forward that sometimes they are confused, they wish to remain in a comfortable level of existence when in fact spiritually they have grown. That is the time when the soul of teaching comes close. Try not to imagine teachers as you see them—this is always the problem also that they are made known to the soul but in an entirely different concept than you may imagine. But I do not wish to enter into that now—that would be too confusing for you. But the teaching soul would come close to the soul who is trying to grow and move forward and in an instant the soul would know what the teaching would be. Remember the concept of time is different, the understanding is greater, the soul is more aware of spiritual contact as it should be. Do we have questions, please?

(pause) I think you need some time to digest what I have said. That is my intention for you, that it is a little more knowledge for you to ponder upon.

Lilian: It's comforting to know that we are helped even more.

The soul is never left alone. I sometimes feel that human beings think that the only people who surround them with love and knowledge are those loved ones who have gone before them or those people they have known throughout their lives and are known to them as guides or helpers. This is a very wrong impression to have, because do you not see how limiting that can be when there is so much that can be tapped into? The whole of the cosmos is within you, so much help, so much upliftment and so much love to surround you all. Try to view my words this time on the greater scale of life. Let your soul do the thinking, let your soul feel, let your soul grow and then the awareness and understanding will be greater. I feel that for this time the words which I have given to you are enough for you to contemplate this time. Therefore, I will withdraw and allow some quiet thinking time. I would say to you, my dear friends, that as you sit quietly, allow those who stand by you this time, to come even closer and I leave it with the dear lady (Lilian) that whatever you feel you may discuss and I say quietly please until this instrument is back with you—but quietly discuss between yourselves what you are feeling. I leave you as always with my love and
