

20th August 2012

One of the South American pyramid builders, bringing his very considerable experiential knowledge concerning Extraterrestrial influence/friendship from our distant past:

May I say some words to you?

George: Yes please—welcome to you.

You have shown much interest in the last few sessions about pyramids (ah!) and I would just like to tell you for some more interest to you (thank you) that I was one of those who was working with the pyramids at that time.

George: Wonderful! Could we enquire which pyramids those were?

These pyramids were in the South of what you call America.

George: Yes—right!

I was much involved with the comings and goings of those who were brought in to help us.

George: Wonderful! I see, so you were of the Earth—you were humankind and extraterrestrial beings were coming in to help. Is that correct?

That is quite correct.

George: Wonderful!

It was a time of much discovery for both our worlds, and I was greatly influenced by those you call 'extraterrestrials'.

George: Would it be true to say: you were learning from each other?

It was—yes, quite true. But I have to say that I think us Earth people were learning more from the extraterrestrials (yes) than the other way around.

George: Might I ask if in South America, this would have been what we call the 'Nazca Plateau' region?

Pause

I am afraid I cannot tell you that.

George: No—the reason I asked, that region has a number of lines across it in different directions and—

Paul: Depicted animals.

I can tell you yes, that we became very much more aware of animals and we were most keen to put this down on whatever surface we could, so that others could learn from it (ah). So if you are talking about art form and animals, this could well be the place where we were at.

George: Yes, we are aware of very large animal designs and lines which may have related to—I think they did relate to space travel vehicles.

Could I also say that some of those animals were influenced by the extraterrestrials? They were not just our human Earth animals. They have been influenced from the other planet.

George: Are you saying that they depict animals that are from that other planet?

I am saying they were —the extraterrestrials influenced us in their design of animals, but I cannot say if they were exactly how the extraterrestrials view them on their own planet. But they did influence the drawings of those that you, I understand can see today.

George: That's all very interesting—yes wonderful.

Paul: Can I ask if the extraterrestrials appeared in human form or a different form?

They were in, as you can imagine, a solid form, but they were different and although they were solid, they also took on a slightly opaque appearance. So I would not say they were totally like us. But they did have arms and they did have legs. But they were—how can I say?—they were not quite so wide as us, and they were much shorter, but they did have quite large heads. You would not, when you saw them, be afraid of what you were seeing. They were not so very unlike us but they were not completely as we were.

George: Yes, we have awareness of some who have visited some different parts of the planet, and, might I ask: how many fingers did they have on the hands?

I would say there were three.

George: Ah yes, well we have rock drawings that depict three-fingered beings. Their heads were quite wide (yes)—they had sensory regions, I believe, on the sides of their heads.

Yes, they were able to—ah—go about their business, rather I would say, like your bats—able to fly in the dark. They were able to move around, and although they had eyes, they were not really necessary for their movement.

George: Was their movement actual flying or would we describe it as ‘teleporting themselves’? They could indeed yes, do that, but whilst they were working with us, they tended to behave more like a human being (yes) so that we were able to interact more easily. So I would say that they could walk and so, when they were around us they would walk with us (wonderful), but if they needed to get somewhere, they did not walk.

Paul: And how did you communicate with them? We started by using a form of sign language, but we were also able to use our minds (ah yes). We were not quite so good as them, but in the time that they were with us, we did improve. So what we were not able to achieve by our mind communication, we would use our hands (yes—wonderful).

Rod: Were there many of them with you at the time—tens or hundreds?

I would say, at one time, there were possibly fifty.

George: Yes, well we have been privileged to speak with beings that answer your description, and they referred to an earlier teleported visit when their pictures were drawn on what is known as the ‘Atlatl Rock’ in the Nevada Desert. So we have actually been able to speak with beings that answer your description.

Well, I think this is very good news and I hope that this will continue (yes indeed), because I can tell you: this relationship is a very satisfactory and enjoyable one (yes indeed).

Paul: Did they stick around throughout your whole lifetime?

They were there for the last part of my lifetime. So I am afraid I cannot tell you how much longer they stayed after I moved back into spirit. But there was quite a lot of—when I said there were about fifty, they were not necessarily the same fifty all the time, because they could come and go as they pleased. So I would say to you that their travel was most easy for them.

George: Well, one of our number, who is not here this evening, was able to see them clairvoyantly and she said there was a party of about fifty!

Chuckles

Well I think we are all in agreement, and it is this agreement that I would wish for the whole of this planet, because it is a peaceful living amongst all—not just Earth beings but extraterrestrials and whatever you like to call them.

George: We are one big family.

—That is so harmonious, and if we could all work towards this (yes) it would be a most wonderful drift.

George: Yes, we are all one big family.

Rod: Did they design and oversee the whole project and leave you to do the hard work/the donkey work?

They would never let people do all the hard work. They made our lives so easy. They were able to do so many things that we were not able, and we tried very hard to learn from them, and it was hoped that what we learnt we would be able to pass on. But I can see, from life today on this planet, we did not do a very good job in passing this information on.

Mark: Would you be able to speak now about any of the things you wanted passed on?

Well, I can say to you that all heavy work need not be heavy.

George: This is work involving dematerialisation and power-of-thought I imagine?

Yes, that is correct.

Paul: Did you gain some ability to move heavy stones and objects?

I was able to do some, but it was not normally by myself. It would take a group of us Earth people together to be able to do what one extraterrestrial could do.

George: We can understand that.

Paul: Was it a simple case of imagining these big heavy rocks to be lightweight?

I would say it was more a case of putting yourself into a mindset where you were actually being helped to do it. So you would wish for something to happen, and then put yourself into that—I would not say meditation—but getting towards that way where you are not quite in your body and not quite out of it.

Sara: Sort of light trance—

Yes, perhaps you could say that. And it is at this point that you can then begin to work with the—whatever it is you wish to do. So yes, you do not need to concentrate too hard, but you do need to get yourself away from total Earth thinking, yes..

George: Can you give us a name to know you by?

There followed a pause with sound of sighing

George: Not to worry if names are no longer important to you.

Ah—ah, I cannot get the name exactly but I think you could translate it as ‘Theodor’.

George: Theodor. Thank you.

Paul: I suppose I think I’m right in thinking that they still can’t translate hieroglyphs in that part of the world that are still on the pyramids—I guess they’ll work it out.

Yes, I believe that some of this has actually been done by the extraterrestrials (oh). So I think they will find that what they cannot decipher will not be in the same format as what they have been able to do so far. So they will need to start afresh with new forms.

Paul: We’d love to have these extraterrestrials visit again. They’d be very welcome to come and visit us. What did you call them? Were they named from where their planet was?

First of all, I can remember this. We called them ‘the Greens’ (the Greens) because they had a slight green tinge, but once we got to know them better we had names for them—individual names—I think I will find hard to remember, but ‘the Greens’ I do remember, because of the colour.

Paul: And do you remember the name for their planet?

I think I did not know the name. I think we use to call it ‘The Green Planet’, but I think I cannot remember, yes.

George: And were you aware of pyramid energies? Were the pyramids built in order to produce energy?

It was something that the extraterrestrials taught us, and yes we were aware of the extra energy inside. And this energy was also used to boost the energy of the return journey to their planet.

George: I see, and was a vehicle used for that return journey?

Yes, they had a small craft that was to us, not solid enough to take anybody without collapsing (ah). But it was very strong and it needed just a little extra energy to be able to take off from the heavy Earth pull. And this energy from the pyramid was enough to set them back on homeward course.

George: Yes, a nice description, thank you.

Sara: Can I just recap on something you said? I was just thinking about what you said about going into light trance, and in that state would you then focus on what it was you wanted to do? We found that so long as we had asked for the help to do whatever it was we needed to know; for example: to dig a hole in the rock. As long as we had focussed on that, before we went into this trance, we were then just able to do it.

Sara: Ah that’s interesting, so would one apply that perhaps to anything one wanted to achieve—provided the desire was there?

If we could do it as Earth people, then there is no reason why you cannot do it either. We were no different from you. So I think that gives you the answer.

Sara: And so the help came from spirit to you—the power came from spirit to you?

Yes, it is really a concentration of energy and this is what produces the actual movement. It is a state of mind, and it is the use of energy.

Rod: We've noticed the great accuracy of these pyramids. Did they have instrumentation to create that accuracy?

They were able to do it without instruments (ah). They knew how to do it, and they told us what we should do and they informed us of what they were doing. It was very much a combined effort, in learning for both parties.

Rod: You must have been very proud of what you have done.

I have to say 'yes', we were proud of the finished article, but we were also—how can I say?—'surprised' is not the word. But we were quite in awe of what had been achieved. (Yes) Yes. It was, I have to say, a very good time.

George: Have you remained in spirit since that life or have you had further lives?

I have had other lives, but they have not been in the same vein as this one, so long ago.

George: Have you any idea of how long ago that was?

Ah—I—it was—I cannot tell you in your Earth years, but I know it was an extremely long time ago (yes) and it was also before what you would call 'general education'. So all of those who were working with these extraterrestrials were all very spiritual people, and those who were not quite so spiritual were not involved in the pyramid construction. There was not any bad feeling between the two sets of Earth people.

George: Was it a peaceful time on Earth at that time?

It was peaceful. It was peaceful, but it was a time of lack of understanding. (yes) So I would say that so long as the two groups did not come into contact with one another, each group led peaceful lives. But lack of understanding can create many problems.

Rod: It's wonderful to think you've got a remarkable memory for all this that took place so many thousands of years ago—it's wonderful!

Paul: Can you remember a little bit about the geography of the area, because we might be able to know where it is—whether it was desert or jungle?

It was—it was quite low, this particular pyramid—it was in a valley and—

Paul: Any water around?

Yes, there was water—there was water, and there was plenty of food. There were lots of trees on the sides of the slopes. It was a fertile part, it was not desert.

George: It's sad that this culture, this civilisation came to an end. Are you aware of the end of that wonderful period?

No, I am not aware.

George: No, that came later.

Of course, I know now, but at the time I was not aware. Once I had taken myself back into spirit, I then moved away from the Earth plane, because I had learnt so much about spirit that the Earth was no longer of importance to me.

Sara: Could I ask a question? Did you, prior to this kind of work you were involved in, could you tell us any other achievements you felt proud of prior to that—it may have nothing to do with that but—

Are you talking about when I was on the Earth (yes) before the pyramids?

Sara: Yes, perhaps in the same incarnation even—any more about that lifetime?

Yes, as a child, I was living in a simple family and we lived on what we could gather. We were a peaceful group but we were also very much aware of spirit. I learnt this from my parents and they learnt it from their parents. So we were very spiritual, and when we had the opportunity to be involved with these extraterrestrials it came as a progression of our lives.

Mark: I guess there would have been forewarning of their coming, would there?

It was known for some time that something would happen.

George: Ah yes. So, in the first instance you were living spiritually and very close to nature—almost living within nature (yes); and did that change after they came?

To an extent, because we gained more knowledge and we were able to live in a larger group, and when you are with more people you do not have so many responsibilities. So moving to the pyramids, we were able to lead what you might call a more sophisticated life

George: Yes, and responsibilities were shared.

Yes, but the spiritual side did not change.

Sara: But you could probably give more time to it—

We always had time for spirit but what we learnt from the extraterrestrials we were able to incorporate into our daily lives.

Sara: Right, yes I understand.

Mark: Can you remember the kinds of food you used to eat?

I can tell you that it was mainly from the vegetation and from the river. We did not eat animals.

George: Did you eat fish?

Yes, we did eat fish, yes, from the river.

George: You obviously know about the Earth today, and have some idea about how we live and how we are—and shall I say, ‘less spiritual’. Does this sadden you to see the Earth today? Or do you feel that we live with reasonable hope?—hope to progress.

There can only always be hope that you will progress. But I have to say, if I were to come back as an Earthling, I would not know where to begin (yes). I do, yes, feel somewhat sad that so many have grown away from spirit (yes), but when you reach the bottom you cannot go further down, you can only go up.

Laughs

So I would say to you that you are on the way up.

George: Well, I think we’re with you there. We share—we in this group share the sadness of not enough spiritual recognition in our world and too much violence. So, as a group, I think we recognise that, and we share that thought with you.

Yes and I can tell you: it was very easy to come to you this time, because the light and love is so abundant that I was drawn very easily to you.

George: Oh, thank you. That is very nice to know, and I would guess by the same token, the extraterrestrials were drawn to you and your people.

Yes, I believe there was contact for quite some generations before they actually arrived.

So now I think I must return, but it has been a great pleasure to talk with you.

George: It has been certainly a great pleasure to listen, and thank you very, very much for joining with us.

Enthusiastic thanks and this great opportunity

George: And it’s been a nice long session. Thank you very much indeed.

Rod: Hope you can come again.

It will be my pleasure to come.

George: Please do feel free to come again if you so wish.

Thank you, I will if there is the opportunity. So I leave you with the hope that you will gain spiritual knowledge to the greatest degree possible in your human lifetime.

(General thanks)

George: Thank you for that thought—our love goes with you Theodor.

NOTES:

1: Nazca Plateau region: This is generally rated as an area of great mystery with its numerous lines running in various directions across the plateau and many, slightly odd as depicted, large animal designs. The famed Cahuachi pyramid is about one mile from the Nazca river and the Nazca river valley might possibly have been Theodor’s valley location and source of water and food. Salumet had in an early meeting indicated that the Nazca lines, or many of them, relate to space travel.

2: Slim ET-beings with wide heads and three-fingered hands who could teleport themselves:

During our exchanges with Bonniol we have met with beings answering this description and one of us, Jan, had clear clairvoyance of a group of around fifty that she was able to describe and sketch. This had led to our Google search discovery of the Atlatl rock petro-glyphs, Valley of Fire, Nevada Desert, which match.

Atlatl Rock Petro-glyphs: Two beings depicted with three-fingered hands. (Other detail relates to their birth sequence on 'Crogaria' ... their name for their home planet.

Jan's rough sketch to illustrate the form of the being with 3-fingered hands and extra wide heads with sensory regions—drawn on the evening of our meeting immediately following the Bonniol / Crogarian exchange. This was several days before any of us had knowledge of the Atlatl Rock or its petro-glyphs.

3: Pyramid Energy: So we have confirmation of what has been said in earlier exchanges—that one of the uses of the energy generated by the pyramid structure is to facilitate space-travel. And that is why the early, enormous and can't-see-how-they-were-built pyramids have their extraterrestrial association. And that may be why the Bosnian pyramid excavations are only reported on the Internet and as a book publication and here on our website.

4: Extraterrestrials: It was clear that our visitor was not used to the term 'extraterrestrial' and sometimes hesitated in using the word. It later became clear as we progressed that the Earth people of that time had always referred to them as 'greens'.

4: Understanding our past and the cosmos: So—scientists, materialists, intellectual boffins—and news media—this is a WAKE UP CALL! In order to reach for the stars and begin to understand the first principles of the cosmos, you can only do it with spiritual methodology. Neil Armstrong was a 20th-century hero, whom we all acknowledge, and rightly so. But rocketry, sophisticated technology and gigantic funding are no longer the logical requirements.
