

SALUMET — 14th March 2016.

This evening began with clairvoyant messages from Eileen to Jan, all of which made perfect sense.

Lengthy pause

Lilian: Good evening Salumet—welcome.

Good evening.

All: Good evening.

There are many who are with you this time, so I will not stay too long, because this my dear friends, should be a year of much more awareness to you all as individuals. I have said this to you in past times and the development that is with you has not always been achieved. So this coming year of your time, we will endeavour to come ever closer to each one of you, no matter your circumstance, no matter what you desire, know that we in spirit will be very close. We will try to sustain and uplift you in all matters of your daily living.

Lilian: That's very kind.

You know my dear friends that life can be harsh at times, but all I wish to say is that these hard times make you much stronger—the spirit grows stronger, and that is what I would like you all to focus upon.

Lilian: Yes, I've tried thinking that and I'm sure when a better time comes along and we realise maybe how we've grown (yes) and got through the bad times—

Yes, it is only by surviving the harder times of life that you appreciate all of the goodness in your lives—that is quite correct. So, that is all I wish to say to you at this moment in time. So if you have any questions, I will be happy to answer them for you.

Pause

George: This Salumet, may be an inappropriate question. It comes from someone we have mentioned before. He is seeking, and his name is Tom Kerr and to those in spirit he is known as 'Uncle Tom'. He is inquiring—I think he is seeking the meaning of those in spirit who have 'all knowledge'. He says: 'Do you know who he is and what circle he is with?' His medium is known as 'Douglas' and his wife 'Nell'. And I understand his medium is in Australia; and Tom Kerr is here in the UK. So it may be an inappropriate question, but he is inquiring if you know of these people and their circle.

All things are known if you desire. But what I do not do, is apply for those who seek information that they can discover for themselves. So, in that sense it is inappropriate to ask me to help them. They know very well what they have to do or who they have to contact if indeed their medium is a true one.

George: Yes, I felt it would be something like that. Yes, that is all I wish to say about this. There are many, many mediums upon this Earth who are in contact with spirit, all to varying degrees of knowledge. So whatever degree of knowledge the medium has through those in spirit—that should be enough to sustain, to uphold them to inquire further. And I have not come, as you know, to talk to people on these matters—matters that can be found for themselves (yes). So I hope that is helpful to you.

George: Well, that answer I well understand (yes)—thank you Salumet.

George: There is another question—there has been much talk on the planet about 'gender equality', but of course, genders are not equal. The female is naturally—for the most part—loving and caring. The male—for the most part—is or can be aggressive and of a warring nature. We have discussed this a little and we feel that the blending of the male and female energies is important. And I just wondered if you would care to elaborate a little further on this?

Yes, I was about to say that this had been discussed before, but you have to remember when we speak of gender, it is a physical instance (yes). When we come to spirit, gender is immaterial; it is important for a short while again, for recognition purposes, but nevertheless it is unimportant in the spirit world that you remain with a certain gender; after all, you are made up of both male and female. Therefore it is unnecessary for you on the Earth to become so interested in what is happening with male and female. I agree that upon this planet it is assumed that the male is more powerful—more warlike, but I would like to dispute that with you. You must remember, my dear friend, that at certain times you will find that the numbers of the female or the male gender outnumbers the other; and this is part of the human being's quest for living, and it is also part of the Great Spirit's intent that all must remain balanced at all times. So I hope this helps you in your equation of both male and female.

George: Yes, and I sometimes feel that government would be more successful with more female representation.

Yes—are you not aware of the many female warriors that have existed in your world?

George: Yes indeed.

Yes—so therefore be careful not to cloak them all in the same garb.

George: I speak of majority numbers.

Yes—yes. So I hope that helps you a little. But in general I would agree, the female does seem to be more gentle (yes), more refined; but within the breast of that female lies the same energies as that of the male (yes). Yes, you must try to see them as non-male or female, but try to see each individual as an individual and as a spiritual being.

George: With both qualities.

—With both qualities, yes.

Sarah: Salumet—is the male and female beings on this planet—practically all nature is male and female—is this peculiar to this planet, or is it the same in all the universes that we have?

Whatever the planet—whatever form the being takes, these are energies we are speaking of. So, yes I would say you would have to have a balance of both energies. Does that help you?

Sarah: Yes thank you—yes. Yes, because I was thinking: they're a lot more advanced than us—you've told us (yes) and in spirit you don't need male or female. So I just wondered if they were advanced, if they had some other way of reproducing than we do.

There are many possibilities, and many that you as yet do not know of. But yes, I have told you in previous times that energy can be transmuted; so that perhaps would give you the clue as to how these superior races have worked in the past. It gives you something to think about.

Sarah: It certainly does yes—thank you.

Jan: Salumet, going back to what you initially said this evening on development (yes)—please may I have the name of the type of clairvoyance that I have when I sit in this room?

Yes, you have a mixture of 'Clairsentience' and 'Clear hearing'. You may not be aware of the hearing yet, but it is there to be developed (right) and that is why I say: each one of you in this year to come, should work upon the awareness that you already have and develop what is your potential.

Jan: So in my quiet moments, when I'm not in this room, is there anything in particular that I could be doing within my meditational quiet times to enhance those feelings?

—Only to give of yourself freely, to allow yourself to open naturally, and just to allow those who are close to you to help (right). What you do not do enough—all of you within the room, is to ask for our help enough—We are there to help in all manner of ways.

Jan: We're very good at asking for help when we need it for our own—

—For others, yes, but not for yourselves.

Jan: Yes, not for ourselves or our own development—that certainly gets missed out quite a bit.

Yes, and also for your health you must allow others to help you. If you have a blockage we cannot come close enough—you understand?

Jan: Yes.

Good. Now, my dear friends, I will take my leave of you and allow each and every one of you to feel who is close by. I would like you this time to speak out about what you feel, and I assure you that there are many within the room waiting, to be allowed a little closer to you. So my dear friends, as I take my leave, I cloak you with all my love, and until we come together once more I leave that love with you.

General thanks and farewells, followed by a period of silence

George: Perhaps I should mention this: I have a Spring-time scene—wonderful snowdrops.

Eileen: Continue to sit quietly and we'll see what happens.

Sarah: I don't know who it is, but I saw these jewels and gems. Somebody's giving them to me, saying that they belong to me, but I don't know who it is.

Pause

Eileen: We've been shown a name; it's William Sawyer.

There was some discussion regarding the possible significance of the name

Jan: Sarah was right—they left for India in 1947 (right)—they said the British were signing over India's independence, still worked for the government, and they were sent to India. I think we're all being given one thing that's tying together.

Sallie: I don't know what's going on but I've had this man in my brain for the last ten weeks or so—'Ronald'.

Eileen: 'Ronald'—you don't necessarily have to know them—you just accept.

Pause

Eileen: I'm being shown a train—

Pause

Eileen: This train's green and I can see the word 'EXPRESS'.

Sarah: It's connected with India again, I think.

Eileen: Is it?—don't know much about trains.

Jan: I got the word 'Delhi' come up in big letters when you said the word train—I'm still with the Indian connection here. I've just got a tremendous feeling of expansion—my heads growing.

Sarah: I've got a feeling that something not very nice went on in India—I've got very cold..

Paul: I started off with a small golden object—a bit like a toffee with a shiny wrapper, but it's now more like a gentle golden light shining on the face—very nice. There seems to be a man there as well—in working jeans, sort of dungarees.

Jan: That's the train driver.

Sarah: It's all past now, but I think I died out in India actually.

Eileen: So you thought you were William Sawyer?

Sarah: No (no?). I think I was a woman—I think I was an Indian woman.

Eileen: Have you got any more Jan?

Jan: No, the expansion has stopped. I have a feeling that I've been impressed to see something that happened on this particular train journey. I've still got very much a connection with India and the train. They're showing me a person similar to what Paul described—dark denim dungarees—as the train driver, and I have the feeling that something quite horrific that they will have encountered.

Eileen: Are you are having the feeling that it could have been a train crash (yes).

Eileen: Yes—that's what's just come into my head now that there was a very severe crash. Does that connect with you Sarah?

Sarah: I've got a lot of goose pimples, so it probably does (okay).

Ben: All I could see was lightning—like a storm.

Jan: It could tie in with the fact that I'm being shown that the train was attacked. This could be what we know today—we call it a terror attack, but it's part of—the 1947 bit is really quite significant—there were a lot of killings around that year.

Sarah: I did get the feeling that it was something nasty rather than an accident. I didn't know what it was at the beginning, but I did get that sudden feeling that it was something that wasn't very nice.

Jan: I think we have people in the room with us on that were on that train.

Sarah: Actually, you saying that, I think the people that are in the room are the people that did it and have come to say 'sorry'.

Jan: You are going to have somebody with you in a minute. (Meaning a rescue)

Pause

Sarah: So whatever it was, they've gone now.

Eileen: I think to clear that I think you should be seeing a loved one of some kind, showing themselves to you—perhaps you'll let them come forward.

Pause

Eileen: If you don't see anyone, you may have a touch or something of that kind.

Jan: I've had mine.

Sarah: I haven't seen anybody, but I have got a feeling that it's actually three people. I think it's a mum, her mum and her mother's mother—all 3 of them.

This seemed to conclude the Indian clairvoyance.

Eileen then stated: I hate to tell Sally, but I think she's sitting on my husband's knee!

This caused laughter and lightened the mood.

There followed a further session of clairvoyant readings for Jan via Eileen that made perfect sense for her. This was followed by one for Mark from Ann.

NOTES:

1: Salumet's Mission: At the outset in 1994, Salumet declared his mission to have two parts — (1) to divert us from nuclear oblivion that we were at that time rushing into, and (2) to teach the truth of spiritual existence. He has also made it clear that he can only teach to the ability of the pupil (that changes), and he does not teach details that we had best discover for ourselves.

2: Gender: It is now made very clear that we each have both male and female energies, and so it is unnecessary to dwell on the attributes of one or the other. Balance is important, and there may be a semblance of loving partnership in spirit just for an initial period.

3: 1947 Indian Express Train Disaster: On 22nd September 1947, the train carrying 4500 Muslim refugees was attacked by armed Hindus and Sikhs at Amritsa station. The train was fired on for 3-hours. 3418 were killed or missing and 1328 wounded.
