

CHAPTER 20 – HAARP AND CHEMTRAILS

We have the free-will to either appreciate the beauty of creation, or as we become more intelligent, to interfere with it. Science and scientific thinking have gathered pace with not a little confusion since the mid-20th century, and is looked upon by some with considerable misgivings. Through this period there have been a number of ‘high altitude scientific projects’ funded largely by US military that should be mentioned. In Project Argus (1958), nuclear bombs were exploded at heights of 160 and 480 Km and world-wide effects noted. In further ionosphere tests, codenamed Project Starfish (1962), megaton bombs were exploded at similar high altitudes; seriously perturbing the Van Allen Belt—a charged particle layer held in place by Earth’s magnetic field. UK’s Astronomer Royal Sir Martin Ryle, realizing the possible dire consequences, filed objection to this project. Later that same year Russia continued with similar detonations. The combined series of tests has permanently changed the Van Allen Belt. In the following year (1963), President John F Kennedy signed the Limited Test Ban Treaty (LTBT), banning such testing and all nuclear tests with the exception of underground testing. The LTBT was signed and ratified by US, Soviet Union and UK governments. The later developed Orbit Manoeuvring System (OMS, 1981), facilitated space-lab passes over ground-based observatories, to study the effect of ejecting gases into the ionosphere. It was discovered that this produced ionosphere holes. Experiments of this nature have continued. A six second OMS release 68 Km above Connecticut (1985) produced an air-glow extending 400,000 square Km across the sky. The space shuttle is propelled by solid fuel rockets. Over the years, solid fuel rockets have ejected more than 200 tons of the ozone-destroying element chlorine into the stratosphere, home to our planet’s protective ozone layer. These are happenings concerning Earth’s ionosphere and stratosphere that precede the development of HAARP—High-frequency Active Auroral Research Program.

HAARP is a system and ground-based apparatus for generating a huge 3.6 Gigawatts of energy and beaming circularly polarized electromagnetic radiation into selected ionosphere regions, thus heating those regions to around 50,000 °C so as to distort and lift. This forms the basis of a world weather controlling device which also has other implications. This I know sounds like wild fantasy but it is not. But it is necessary to begin with irrefutable fact—because there has been so much denial and reference to conspiracy theory hocus-pocus from supposedly authoritative sources; also there has been avoidance of this desperately important matter by national news channels. A set of filed patents should represent proof of such a serious undertaking; so we will begin at the United States Patent Office:

US Patent 4686605, (1987): This describes an apparatus and procedure for altering selected regions of Earth’s atmosphere, ionosphere and / or magnetosphere. In one embodiment, circularly polarized electromagnetic (EM) radiation is beamed upwards through the target region, heating and exciting charged particles. This ionizes neutral particles, thus increasing overall charged particle density. Weather modification is possible by altering upper atmosphere wind patterns or by introducing plumes of atmospheric particles to act as a lens or focusing device.

US Patent 5038664, (1991): A method is described for producing a shell of relativistic high energy particles at an altitude of around 1500 Km above the Earth. Circularly polarized EM radiation is transmitted at a first frequency to produce heating of plasma at 250 Km or higher. This lifts the plasma to at least 1500 Km where it is subjected to a second frequency to expand it. The modified plasma will be trapped between adjacent magnetic field lines, to form a shell of relativistic particles around the Earth.

US Patent 4712155, (1987): A method and apparatus for creating an artificial electron cyclotron heating region of plasma.

US Patent 5068669, (1991): This patent describes a power beaming system.

US Patent 5218374, (1993): This patent concerns a power beaming system which has printed circuit radiating elements with resonating cavities.

US Patent 5202689, (1993): A lightweight focusing reflector for space.

US Patent 5041834, (1991): An ionosphere mirror composed of a plasma layer that can be tilted.

US Patent 4999637, (1991): This patent concerns the creation of artificial ionization clouds above the Earth.

US Patent 4817495, (1989): This patent describes a defence system capable of discriminating between armed and unarmed objects re-entering from space.

US Patent 3813875, (1973): This describes a rocket fuel system designed for barium release to produce barium ion clouds in the upper atmosphere.

US Patent 5003186, (1991): Concerning the addition of metal oxides, for example aluminium oxide, to jetliner fuel for emission at cruising altitude—this it is stated, is for the purpose of reducing infra red radiation to work against global warming.

US Patent 4412654, (1983): This patent refers to a method of aerial spraying of liquids from the wings of aircraft. The liquid drops flow from a slot at the trailing edge of the streamlined body to discharge into the slipstream.

The fact is that the above twelve patents clearly refer to the HAARP system and to the injection of metal ions into atmosphere and stratosphere. A 'chemtrail' is a trail of chemicals deliberately discharged into the atmosphere from aircraft, favoured chemicals being barium titanate and methyl aluminium. A 'contrail' is the usual condensation trail left by jetliners flying at high altitude. BUT if the question is asked: what is the difference between a 'chemtrail' and a 'contrail'?—in view of the last two patents, the answer might well be 'none'. But chemtrails, by virtue of their composition, take longer to disperse than the true contrails.

Having established beyond any doubt the reality of what is going on as a clandestine operation, I can now briefly summarise in more digestible form:

Jetliners spray chemtrails containing barium titanate, methyl aluminium and potassium salts into the stratosphere. The plumes of chemicals reflect and absorb the energies / frequencies beamed by HAARP, such that the high altitude jet streams are manipulated to change world weather patterns. This manipulation can result in storms, drought, extremes of hot and cold and more. Clearly, such manipulation can be with good intent, bad intent, can go wrong, and might also have serious side effects. The United States has been a lead nation in attempting to control weather in this way, but a number of world governments are also now heavily involved. Information has been withheld from public, and I must confess I knew nothing of this until Serena asked the question of Salumet on 6th May 2013: ‘What are Chemtrails and what are they for?’ Salumet, of course, knows all, but clearly felt obliged to go slowly and to make no differentiation between chemtrails and their big brother HAARP (this correctly so because of course, as we can now see, they each form part of a single world-wide project). Salumet now responded:

~ “What are they? They are—I will not use the word ‘invention’, because I do not like that word. All thoughts (inspirations) stem from spirit, but what happens is that mankind uses information—either for good or for bad; or sometimes they take information and unfortunately not meant for bad, but they do not realise that sometimes what they achieve is not for the betterment of man. I want to say to you that much has been happening since human beings have had air travel. That is my first reply to your question. This is not something new; it is something that has been happening for some time. It is of course the interference of many energies—trying to achieve something that I have to tell you my dear friends, is not at this moment in time possible. It can and will be we feel, destructive. What is happening is happening within all countries — it is happening throughout your world. And it does not even belong to the ‘common scientists’ of your world, but belongs to space travel and travel within your world. They have been able to use energies, put them together and (they) tell you as a human being, that it is for the best. I am here to say it is not for the best — but we are aware of what is happening.”

We listened intently—this was a serious statement, phrased as seen from afar. I had recently read of CIA experiments in mind control, and for clarification, asked if I would be correct in thinking there to be no connection:

~ “I would not say completely, no — but yes, you are on the right track—of man interfering with what could be used for good. Not just that organization (CIA), but many throughout your world — they have the knowledge but they are misusing it. It is again I have to say, some matter of control, control of the masses, and of course — I do not like to use the word ‘wars’, but it can be used against each other.”

George: “Well thank you for that Salumet, I had read about experiments in ‘mind control’, that sound absolutely awful, and I didn’t know whether to believe it or not, but I think you’re confirming that there are such experiments going on.”

~ “Yes — as always, mankind has always assumed they have a higher knowledge and I have told you in times past, that mankind interferes in so many ways, and I know you understand that what has been meant for good, can also be used for ‘evil’, though I am not happy with that word.”

Mark: “Would these sprays also be harmful to nature?”

~ “Any prolonged use of these subtle energies of course could be harmful to some. And again, as in all things, it may not be harmful to begin with — but we are trying to deal with it, so do not be too concerned.”

Sarah: “The people who are trying to combine these energies, are they aware of the danger?”

~ “They think they are doing something good — it is mostly related to military.”

Sarah: “Oh right! — with nuclear power, you’ve said that’s actually a good energy, but we’re using it the wrong way.”

~ “It should have been used for good and was abused, as this is at this time.”

Paul enquired about awareness:

~ “Most people are unaware—there have been murmurings within your world, but because it is military it is being kept quite quiet.”

Paul: “I’m still not clear on the effect that it’s having on the populations.”

~ “It, if used constantly, will have the effect of changing the whole unification of the human body, as it would in animals, as it would change your atmosphere — so many different ways that it could create change.”

Paul: “And they presumably think —“

~ “They feel that they are helping. But I have to say to them: it is just experimental at the moment.”

Paul: “It is mankind interfering again, not having enough intelligence —“

~ “—Enough knowledge, yes — as in all things, until it is used, you do not have a result. It sometimes takes time to find the correct result—as many things within your medical profession have seemed to be good medicine and would seem to be wrong for some — you cannot say: it is always wrong for all. BUT WHAT IS HAPPENING NOW WILL HAVE A SUBTLE ALTERATION TO THE ATMOSPHERE OF YOUR WORLD.”

Sarah: “And will it be able to change back again, or is it irreversible?”

~ “Nothing is ever irreversible, but of course it will have to be addressed.”

Mark: “I was just wondering what it is that these people think they’re achieving, or think they might be able to achieve?”

~ “Mankind has always been inquisitive.”

Mark: “So they are having a go to see what happens?”

Well, I will say—and perhaps you will speak to the dear gentleman of scientific mind—that whatever is looked at, they always have to go a little further. It is that inquisitiveness which drives them forward and of course many good things come from scientific experiments. So you cannot always say it is bad, because that would not be true.”

I think Salumet refers to the feeling of satisfaction that a scientist has from extending humanity’s knowledge, making new discovery etc. I suggested that it is bad if the principle is used for mind control to suit one’s own ends:

~ “Yes, you do not have the right to interfere in any way with any other human being. IF THEY ARE MISUSING ANYTHING, IT SHOULD BE KNOWN BY THE POPULATION OF THE WORLD.”

Well, that with certainty endorses the work of whistle-blowers, who have risked much in the cause of truth and openness. It has indeed been suggested by some that they ought to be in receipt of peace prize nominations—I and our group would all add our names to that!

There was opportunity for further commentary from Salumet at our 10th June meeting:

George: “You spoke to us about ‘chemtrails’ and you very correctly and logically spoke of chemtrails plus a device called HAARP—High-Energy Auroral Active Research Program—a device that projects high energy into the ionosphere around our planet, to produce a heat effect which distorts it. HAARP and chemtrails can be worked together, and some hope that it can be used to control the weather in an advantageous way. But you were saying that this is insufficiently understood and that there are dangers. Now that we have researched through the Internet articles on this matter, are you able to confirm what I've said and take the matter further?"

~ "I would like to say just this: that in all events that take place in your world, there are always two sides to the coin, as you may say. Whatever is used in your world, can be used for either good or for negative reasons. This applies to what is taking place and what has been taking place for a number of your Earthly years. Of course, when good can come from any of these happenings, that has to be applauded—not only by human beings, but by those of us in spirit who have helped and inspired. Of course, when the negative side appears, this too is a concern for us—because we have tried to inspire for the good. But these things take their own course in the same way — let us use nuclear power (as example). Nuclear power has advantages and disadvantages, but it has to be allowed to evolve. Are you following what I am telling you?"

We gave assurance.

~ "Yes—so I would say to you: what is happening is well known throughout different countries of your world; it is also well noted in our world. I would say to you my dear friends, do not allow this to create fear within you, because we are doing what we can to create less of the negativity.

George: "Well that's very good to know. My concern was really that I know that a university in Alaska is very much involved in this, and I imagine they would represent the positive side."

~ "Yes, of course."

George: "And there is also a great military interest, which I imagine would be the negative aspect."

~ "Yes, and I would suggest to all of you my dear friends, to ask continually for help for those people involved—that whatever good can come from these things, (they) must, MUST take place—and that negative aspect be diluted."

George: "I imagine part of the negative aspect would be the metal ions used in the chemtrail work, how they spoil the pureness of the atmosphere and how this will affect growing crops."

~ "Yes, but I again reiterate to you my dear friends: do not allow this to colour your judgements too much, because as I have said, we in our world are aware of what is happening and as in all things, provided it (what we do) does not interfere with the evolution of your planet, we will do what we can—as with other topics and subjects that probably you are not even aware of at this time."

George: "Wonderful! I think in the group here we seek understanding rather than judgement."

~ "Yes, I am aware of this. But it does not matter what you feel in a physical sense, I want you to think about these things on a spiritual level. I want you to rise above all of the problems on Earth and to create a good and loving situation for all people, all lands—all happenings within your world."

Sarah: "So — take away the judgement. "

~ "Yes."

So we may now summarize this complex matter as follows:

- The HAARP / chemtrail project is undeniable reality and nothing new.
- Chemtrails are used in conjunction with HAARP to affect weather and people.
- There is ample patent office proof of the project details.
- There are attendant proving statements from Angelic Realms.
- The atmosphere of our planet is already being significantly altered.
- There are several procedures used in making the chemtrails.
- This is a world-wide happening known to many in authority.
- Governments and standard news media are withholding from public.
- Whistle-blowers supporting truth and openness should be revered.
- The happening has become part of Earthly evolution.
- The spiritual way forward is prayer and non-judgement.
- Do not underestimate the good influence from spirit.

These are the undeniable cross-referenced facts that explain observations seen in our skies and reported world-wide; also the likely cause of some reported weather extremes and sadly, a number of illnesses. There is more that should be said concerning illnesses of humans and indeed of all mammals. A development has been extensive use in chemtrails of aluminium nanoparticles. What is a nanoparticle? I will explain. One millimetre (10^{-3} m) can be easily visualised as the smallest division on a metric ruler. One micrometer is one thousandth of that (10^{-6} m). One nanometer is one millionth of one millimetre (10^{-9} m). So what are termed 'nanoparticles', are exceedingly small, and many patents describe clever methods for their manufacture. This degree of smallness is beyond Brownian motion—such particles vibrate, are rarely static and are both chemically and biologically very reactive. Particles of this minute size no longer exhibit properties typical of their parent metal, so that distribution of them in the atmosphere opens a Pandora's box of possibilities, that is only in part understood. Our medical literature makes it clear that the breathed particles can adversely affect brain and spinal cord^{30, 31}; also there is a link between aluminium and neurological diseases such as Alzheimer's and Parkinson's. Nanoparticles can reach the brain via several body processes and the particles cannot be removed from air by filtration systems. Nanoaluminium inhaled into the lungs will increase the burden of asthma sufferers. Nanobarium has the effect of suppressing the body's immune system³² and so is equally bad news. The two nanometals acting together is a double whammy for humankind and animals alike. It may be that this explains the observed increase in neurological conditions of recent years.

Whilst these are deeply serious matters, we are advised not to be overly concerned—planetary evolution must take its course and spiritual influence is already in place. Quite so, but as Salumet has indicated, the matter has to be addressed. Perhaps this means that those in spirit will manage to influence our thinking. Perhaps they will inspire development of our own remedial atmospheric flushing procedure, or perhaps guide those in authority to be less secretive. I feel that an important aspect is for us to give our heartfelt support to the whistleblowers—Julian Assange, Bradley Manning, Edward Snowden and others—for simply upholding truth and openness. This has to be seen as honourable stance. Public who fund their governments surely deserve to know how their moneys are being spent. How can they be responsible citizens if secrecy abounds and they do not know?
